NOT USEFUL.

Wild-cat politicians are not useful to the cause of Republicanism in Alabama or elsewhere. A hint to the wise ought to be sufficient.

"REPUBLICAN."

We direct attention to a letter on our second page, signed "Republican." The disposition for compromise has been on the part of the regular Republicans, and not by the disorganizers, as supposed by the writer.

AN IDIOT-ASS.

The Mobile Register of the fourth inst. contains an insulting article headed "The New Marshal," which establishes the fact that its author has written himself down an idiot-ass. Some asses have a little hard stubborn sense, but this poor ass has nothing of the kind.

COL. GEO. TURNER'S LETTER.

We print a letter to-day from our popular and able United States Marshal, Col. Geo. Turner. It is long, but is brim full of brains, and should be read with the greatest care and attention. Its points are well taken and peculiarly striking. They are the words of a full grown man, whose statements are too clear, comprehensive, and conclusive to be successfully refuted. We say again, read it by all means.

SENATOR SPENCER.—THE ARGUMENT.

The argument before the Committee on Privileges and Elections of the Senate of the United States, inquiring into the manner of the election of Hon. George E. Spencer, to the United States Senate, will be printed in our issue of ☞TO-MORROW, SUNDAY.☜ We will print a large extra edition of the JOURNAL, so that all may read and understand the real facts in the uncalled-for investigation. The argument is by Charles E. Mayer, Esq., which is conclusive, powerful and unanswerable. Persons wishing extra copies of the JOURNAL will please send in their orders at an early hour to-day.

NEW YORK TIMES.

The attention of the New York Times is specially directed to a communication in to-day's JOURNAL signed "New York" in which its correspondent "H. C." is handled without gloves. The brutal attacks by "H. C." upon Senator Spencer and his friends are fully met and refuted. The Times will do well to spank its impudent "H. C." and send him off to bed, and feed him, for a week or two on dry bread and weak tea. "H. C." has evidently been feeding too high on other people's change. In a word, he needs depleting. If this course of treatment don't win he should be promptly bored for the simples.

VICTORY IN INDIANA.

The triumph of the Republican party in the Indiana town elections is a grand one and a glorious earnest of what is to follow this fall. In nearly every important town of the State, with the exception of New Albany, the Republican ticket shows handsome gains. Sweeping majorities are reported from Bloomington, Centerville, Connersville, Crawfordsville, Elkhart, Franklin, Greencastle, Kokomo, Lafayette, Laporte, Madison, Terre Haute, Warsaw, Ft. Wayne, Lebanon, Shelbyville, Wabash and Greensburg.

In Franklin a Republican Mayor is elected, for the first time in six years, and in Shelbyville, the home of Governor Hendricks, the Republicans have swept every ward, with magnificent gains over former years.

But in Indianapolis the triumph is most complete and glorious. The Democratic Council, only a week before the election, passed a gerrymandering ordinance, which they confidently believed would insure them the city. At the last election they had carried the Council, and missed electing their Mayor only by a hair's-breadth. They awoke this morning to find their trickery, their frauds, and their violence have proved in vain. The strong Republican sentiment has been awakened, and the Democrats are fairly swept from their feet. The Republican popular majority reaches the astonishing height of 4,315, and out of the thirteen members of Council voted for, eleven Republicans are elected.

The meaning of so remarkable a victory in a Presidential year cannot be mistaken. Coupled with the evidences from New Hampshire and elsewhere, it demonstrates the certainty of Republican success this fall, provided the party is put upon a sound platform and headed by a tried and able leader whose name will be a guarantee that the sacred principles of Republicanism will not be departed from. Indiana has been looked at by the Republicans as a doubtful State—has been counted by the Democracy in their favor. Yesterday's glorious work shows where it will stand provided the issue is sharply drawn between Republicanism and Democracy. There must be no longer any hesitation, no longer any warring among factions who prefer this man or that—we must go straight forward to victory in the future as in the past, under the lead of an honest, able, unequivocal Republican.—Cincinnati Times, May 3d.

GEN. U. S. GRANT.

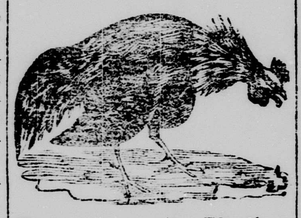
President Grant is ten-fold more popular and powerful with the American people to-day than he was at the close of the war. So much for newspaper abuse. We trust the JUDAS-ISCARIOTS, of the press may be induced to howl on. They have aided in making the President much stronger than the popular party, of which he is the acknowledged head, the opinions of "Harper's Weekly," to the contrary notwithstanding. Gen. Grant is the idol of his party and the glory and pride of the Nation.

While in Washington last winter, Senator Conkling told us, that in a great National emergency, he would infinitely rather trust him, than any other American statesman. Mr. Conkling is a splendid judge of men, and his opinion of President Grant is warmly seconded by the wisest and purest men of the country.

The General ranks among the wisest and ablest of our illustrious Presidents, and the impartial historian will award him a distinguished place among the best and purest of American soldiers and statesmen. Truth is eternal and it will live after great nature has grown weary with fatigue and the old sun has become dim with age. We simply propose in this brief article to render unto Cæsar the things that belong to Cæsar. Let us do justice though the heavens fall. Grant is a great, good and wise man. That's all.

INDIANA.

This poor old gent is sick unto death. We turn him over to our good and charitable neighbor, the Advertiser, to be doctored. He needs medicine.



The Indianapolis Election.

A Clean Republican Sweep, Which is the Forerunner of Greater Things to Come.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 2.

The Republicans have carried the city election, to-day, by over 4,000 majority, and electing eleven out of the thirteen Councilmen, notwithstanding the redistricting of the city only a few day ago. Both parties were well organized, and the election was warmly contested, both parties exercising the utmost vigilance to prevent illegal voting by their opponents. Disturbances of a minor character took place in several of the wards during the day.

After the closing of the polls a serious fight was commenced near the Sixth Ward voting place, which was continued northward on Illinois street to the vicinity of the Grand and Bates Hotels, when it assumed the character of a riot, lasting for twenty or thirty minutes, during which time pistols, clubs and bricks were freely used, resulting in the killing of one and probably fatally injuring two colored men. There are at present eight wounded persons at the Surgical Institute, and several others, black and whites, are known to have been taken to their homes, more or less hurt. It is impossible, from the many conflicting accounts, to give the immediate cause of the fight. No further trouble is apprehended.

Special telegrams to the city papers from points in the State show mostly Republican gains.

COL. TURNER'S BOND.

The empty statement that Judge Bruce approved Col. Turner's bond in a hurry is a falsehood from the whole cloth. The Judge held the bond under consideration for several days. This is but another evidence that a lie can always run a mile while truth is putting on its boots.

The approval of Mr. Turner's bond by his honor Judge Bruce, is ample evidence of the soundness of the instrument. Here ends the first lesson. Let us now unite in prayer, for all slanderers and liars.

AN HISTORICAL POINT AS TO THE ELECTION OF PRESIDENTS.

The assertion that has so often gone the rounds of the newspapers that no President has yet been elected without the vote of Pennsylvania, is not historically true. We take occasion now to refer to two instances in the history of our country when Presidents were chosen without the electoral or Congressional vote of that State. In 1797 John Adams was elected President notwithstanding the thirty electoral votes of Pennsylvania were cast for Thomas Jefferson. In 1825 Andrew Jackson received the twenty-eight electoral votes of Pennsylvania, and the vote of that State in the House of Representatives and yet John Quincy Adams was chosen President.

AN ABLE LETTER FROM COL. GEO. TURNER.

MONTGOMERY, May 4th, 1876.

Editor State Journal: In my reply to Judge Rice published in your issue of the 29th ult., I endeavored to show that there was no principle of expediency or necessity that called for a reorganization of the Republican Executive Committee of Alabama. I endeavored to show further that there was no recognized principle of party government, which permitted an enlargement of a committee by its own members. Whether or not I succeeded in my endeavor is for others to say. It occurs to me however that there can be no doubt of the soundness of both propositions.

I will recapitulate them.

1. The Convention of 1874 appointed a State Executive Committee and fixed its number at twelve. In order that each section of the State might be represented on that committee the then existing six Congressional Districts were taken as fair divisions of the different sections, and two members from each of said sections were appointed. The voice of the people through the Convention was thus expressed on this important matter. How did the change in the Congressional Districts render any change in this arrangement, so plainly and unmistakably fixed by the State Convention, either necessary or proper? Judge Rice in his letter appearing on the streets yesterday, but published where or when or by whom nobody knows, does not attempt to answer this question, for the obvious reason that he cannot do so without a palpable failure.

2. Representative Conventions are rendered necessary for political parties of any magnitude, as Legislative bodies are for States or nations, because of the impossibility of the whole party assembling at any given time and place for the expression of their wishes. Conventions are therefore called whenever it becomes necessary for a party to express its views either as to candidates or party principles. But parties are not created for the mere expression of views. They endeavor to enforce these views on the people, and to obtain a majority of votes in their favor at the ballot box. In order to do this a directing head is necessary, and as the Convention, from the varying business interests of its members, cannot stay in session for this purpose, a smaller body of gentlemen are selected, usually styled an Executive Committee, who are deputized to do all acts necessary to secure a successful Nomination and enforcement of the views and policy of the party which the people who are called on to vote "by ballot" at this committee can add to itself an hundred fold, especially when there is no necessity or reason therefor, or that it can alter or modify the form or constitution in any way, seems to me to be elevating the creature certainly up to the standard of power of the creator. After the enrollment of the Convention as the party party matter in which the creatures, the Committee, can have no voice, is the very constitution, and I repeat again that there is no power on earth that can change, alter or modify that constitution, until the people have again had a chance to speak through a Convention. I do not of course mean, as Judge Rice seems to think, that if the people were to meet in mass they could not do this without the intervention of a Convention. But it being impossible for them to meet in that way it can only be done through a Convention regularly delegated for the purpose.

In the unfavorable event suggested by Judge Rice, that the committee might not call a Convention, the divine right of revolution against tyrannical rulers exists, as well in matters of party as of civil government. I suppose that Judge Rice looks on the meeting of December 29th, as a great revolutionary uprising in accordance with this principle, but I can inform him that the mass of the Republicans in the State look on it as a mob. Very few gentlemen were present from abroad. All attempts to ascertain the real representative strength of the meeting by a call of counties were voted down by the mob composed of Judge Rices' local retainers. All attempts to limit the vote of Montgomery county to the number allowed other counties of like magnitude, were likewise voted down. It was only too apparent to those who attended from abroad in response to the clap trap circular about "Centennial harmony," that they had been tricked and duped in to submitting the affairs of the party into the hands of a lot of local Montgomery politicians. If anything can be gathered from Judge Rices' letters, however, he does not predicate his position on the right of revolution, but insists on the regularity of his committee.

Notwithstanding these incontrovertible facts, if the committee appointed by the Convention of 1874 had fairly reorganized itself in accordance with the demands of any body of Republicans, even the small following of Judge Rice and Ex-Governor Smith, I would be the last person in the world to countenance a breach of the arrangement. But the committee never did make any such arrangement, and a majority of them are now, and always have been opposed to it, deeming it an insolent invasion of their rights by a body of turbulent men, many of whom have for years past been openly affiliating or secretly coquetting with the Democratic party.

The meeting of nine gentlemen in Montgomery on the 29th day of December, did not constitute the Republican Executive committee of the State of Alabama. Although they may in person or by proxy, have represented nine members of the committee, yet they were not called together on that day by the chairman or any other authorized power, for the purpose of re-organizing the committee or for any purpose. They were individual Republicans, having no more power under the circumstances than any other like number of Republicans. Part of the committee were absent. They had no more authority under these circumstances to transact party business of any character, than a quorum of the House and Senate of the Alabama Legislature would have to meet at a time other than that fixed by law, and pass statutes for the government of the State without notice to their colleagues. The principle that would render laws so passed invalid, is applicable to business so transacted by an Executive Committee, and renders it irregular. The point that in this case that a majority of the committee, if all had been present or represented, would have been opposed to any such revolutionary and unauthorized procedure, is evidence of the soundness of this principle.

Even with the nine persons present the proposed re-organization would have failed had it not been for the treachery of one of the proxies, who deliberately violated the instructions of his principal, as we will be able to conclusively demonstrate at the proper time. Had this person voted according to his instructions, and the views therein contained and now acted on by his principal, the present difficulty would not exist, unless Judge Rice's friends at the court house had carried out their threats to bolt and organize another committee, if their wishes were not complied with. This gross fraud would of itself vitiate the proceeding even if all else were regular.

The only mistake, I think, made by the members of the committee, was that they did not retire when they found themselves outwitted by fraud, and let the court house crowd do its worst. But as the whole thing was irregular and improper, in a party sense, from the beginning, I do not think the members of the committee who afterwards repudiated the transaction, are liable to the strictures of Judge Rice for inconsistency. That a majority of them did assemble together at the call of their chairman, and then and there repudiated the transaction, is indisputable.

The weakest pretext of all on the part of the reorganizers, is that the committee after it invited in the new members on the 29th, deposed Mr. Mayer from the chairmanship of the committee. This claim is based on the minutes of that meeting, signed by Mr. McAfee as temporary chairman, and Mr. Doreen as temporary secretary, as follows:

"The committee then invited in the new members and perfected their organization by selecting Mr. N. S. McAfee as temporary chairman, and Mr. J. W. Doreen as temporary secretary."

This simply shows how language may be made to express what the writer did not intend. The intention was to express the fact that the organization was perfected by inviting in the new members, not that it was perfected by the election of a temporary chairman and secretary. The secretary and many members of the committee who participated in the meeting of the 29th, are unanimous in saying that there was no intention on their part, nor was any expressed on the part of others, to remove Mr. Mayer from the chairmanship. As an evidence of this the so-called reorganized committee adjourned until the 2d day of February. Why? To meet in accordance with the call of Mr. Mayer, at that time standing in the JOURNAL, for a meeting on said day.

Mr. Mayer appeared in this city on the 2d day of February. After consultation with the original members of the committee, he published a notice in the JOURNAL of that morning, designating the place for the assembling of the committee. That notice was broad enough in its terms to include all who considered themselves members of the committee, old or new, and it was made so designedly. There was considerable discussion as to what course should be pursued with reference to the so-called new members, and it was determined to give them an opportunity to appear at the meeting, and after a full and free conference, to decide as to their status. I believe a majority of them would have responded if left to themselves, but this was not decided by the demagogues who headed the movement, as they always do all new movements. Like the secessionists of '61, they clamored for the first drop of blood in order that their feeling might become intensified and the chasm widened. They therefore stirred the before unheard-of and unthought-of theory, that Mr. Mayer had been deposed from the office of Chairman, and with a full knowledge of his call and without an attempt to induce him to withdraw it if they believed it wrong, they succeeded in having Mr. McAfee make another and different call, designating a different place for the meeting of the committee. Eight of the old members answered to the call of Mr. Mayer. The other four may or may not have answered to that of Mr. McAfee. Hence I stated in my other letter that the question of the regularity of the so-called reorganized committee rested on the call of Mr. McAfee.

This call of Mr. McAfee saved the committee from an embarrassing question, and the action of the new members in responding to it, put the seal of irregularity on their supposed membership of the Republican Executive Committee, of the State of Alabama; forever. The subsequent action of both committees is familiar to all.

I have written this, Mr. Editor, not because I am vain enough to suppose that I can write it better or even as well as others, but because the facts were in my possession, and I thought it imperatively necessary for the good of the party that they should be made known, in your influential and widely circulated journal. So many perversions and misrepresentations of the facts have been sown broadcast over the State, that a clear and impartial statement of them at length was demanded. To my mind there is but one course for Republicans acquainted with them to pursue. That is to stand by the regular organization and trown down all departures therefrom, let them come from what source they may.

I hope, Mr. Editor, I may be pardoned for enlarging this already long communication, by briefly paying my respects to Judge Rice. I am accused by him of perversions and untruths, but the instances pointed out by him are too puerile to demand attention. I will give one sample gravely stated by the Judge as an untruth. He says I call the reorganized committee "Judge Rice's Committee," when he is not even a member of it. I plead guilty to whatever of untruth there may be in this, but would like the Judge to inform me of one thing—to whom is an apology due, to him or the committee?

Judge Rice seems to think any ordinary reader ought to know as much about the affairs of Alabama Republicans as myself. This may be so, Still with all deference to the Judge, I think I know as much about them as he does. I came to Alabama from my native state in the Spring of 1869. This was about the time, or a little before the Judge first left the Democratic party. We therefore started about even. The Judge doubtless thinks, however, that his greater capacity for learning has enabled him to outstrip me during this time. I admit the possibility but offset it by reminding him that he has since 1869, made at least two diversions into the Democratic Camp, both of remarkably great length for him, while I have remained steadfastly, drinking in knowledge at the pure fountain of Republicanism.

The Judge is becoming inquisitive too. He wants to know where I was during the campaigns of 1875 on the calling of the convention, and the ratification of the constitution. I will satisfy him: During the first of said campaigns I was in Mobile, and can say without egotism, that next to Charles E. Mayer, I did more work to defeat the calling of the convention than any other Republican in Alabama; and had Judge Rice and others seconded our efforts to defeat the convention instead of bending their energies to be elected thereto, so that they might show off their extraordinary talents, the result might have been different. As it was, with the inadequate means at our disposal and the want of co-operation of those who should have seconded us, the result was better than any had a right to expect. During the succeeding campaigns I was absent from the State for my health. As the Judge said, some of his friends seem to have a mania on the subject of Colorado, I will state for their edification that I was never in my life within less than fifteen hundred miles of that State.

I have answered the inquiries of Judge Rice candidly. I hope he will be equally candid in answering a few to be propounded on my part.

Who was it in the fall of 1872 that gave the Democratic Secretary of State such advice as induced him to withhold from the regularly elected members of the Legislature their certificates, and thus rendered a union of all good and true Republicans necessary, in order to preserve the fruits of our hard earned victory of that year? Did Judge Rice do any thing unless his advocacy of the Democratic cause was something, to earn us that victory?

Did not Judge Rice state before the Congressional Investigating Committee visiting Alabama, in 1875, that he was a Democrat?

If in answer to the last preceding interrogatory he answers yea, at what precise time since then did he experience a change of heart and again turn to be a Republican?

Is he a Republican now? If so, why did he work so persistently to unseat a Republican United States Senator in order that a Democrat might be elected to fill his place?

In view of Judge Rices' known connection with the Court House Legislature in any other role than its champion, is not his virtuous indignation at Senator Spencer, for some unknown meditated treachery toward it, decidedly rich?

Judge Rice says Senator Spencer opposed and defeated ex-Senator Warner and ex-Governor Smith in 1870. With reference to Mr. Warner I have no data to go upon in denial of the charge. Neither have I ever seen any or heard of any being produced in its support. I can say this however, that later developments have proved that it was a right eous act, if he did do it. The only difference between ex-Senator Warner and Schurz, and Fenton, and that class of statesmen, is one of degree, and the fewer men of that class we have in the Senate the better it is for the country, and certainly for the Republican party.

With reference to the defeat of ex-Governor Smith I have always heard that Judge Rice laid it at the door of Judge James Q. Smith.

The Governor certainly heaped more maledictions on his head than on that of Senator Spencer. They were undeserved however. Judge Smith simply performed a sworn duty.

My intention Mr. Editor, in thus again appearing before the public, is not to defend Senator Spencer or myself from the insinuations or charges of Judge Rice, nor is it to make counter charges. I wished to lay a plain unvarnished statement of the difficulties and dangers with which the Republican party of our State is environed before the people, in order that they might not be deceived by the specious reasoning of Judge Rice or his fellow revolutionists.

Having done this I am not vain enough to suppose that anything further from my pen can be of interest to your readers.

Very Respectfully,
GEORGE TURNER.

"H. C."

MONTGOMERY, May 5.

Editor State Journal: I have been a guest at the leading hotel of your city for some time. I was fortunate enough when the correspondent of the New York Times, "H. C." was here, to receive an introduction to him. Being a New Yorker myself I was desirous of cultivating the acquaintance of a representative of the ablest newspaper in my native city. I did not take to "H. C." much. He was fond of being flattered by gentlemen about the hotel, who, as I was told by [illegible] are the leaders of the Democratic party in your State. I also discovered that "H. C." was inordinately fond of drink, at the expense of your Bourbon leaders here. Much to my chagrin I also discovered that he drank to excess, and while his brain was exhilirated with champaigne, he was quite intimate and confidential with certain persons, who are, as an attendant informed me, the strikers of the extreme element of the Bourbon Democracy here.

Seeing all these things, I was tempted to inquire into the ways of "H. C." in your city. You may be able, perhaps, to imagine my horror upon finding, beyond doubt, that he associated with questionable characters. I was informed by an ex-officer of your police that on one occasion this correspondent of the Times, made fast time from a house of ill-repute, in order to avoid arrest for having been in a crowd of persons disturbing the peace by their boisterous and intoxicated conduct.

I mention these things thus publicly for this reason: I see in the Times of a recent date, a letter from this man "H. C." in which he abuses and traduces your Senator in Congress, and the friends of that gentleman in this State. As I formed the acquaintance of a number of Gen. Spencer's friends here, and found them all to be intelligent and agreeable gentlemen, I desire, as a citizen of New York, to express my dissent from the brutal assaults upon these gentlemen by this man Carroll. I have made inquiry as to the Federal officials whom he denounces as being followers of Gen. Spencer, and I desire also to add that I discovered the following facts: The postmaster in this city is no follower of your Senator; the clerk of the United States Court is not; the United States District Attorney is not; and as these comprise all the Federal officials in your city, I put this against Mr. Carroll's assertion that Spencer is running this State with corrupt Federal officials. I failed to find but one Federal official, proper, in your city, who is really an open supporter of Senator S., viz: Col. George Turner, the United States Marshal. I found two gentlemen holding insignificant Federal appointments who informed me they were friends of General Spencer, viz.—the Deputy Collector of Revenue, and an United States Gauger. I also found that Carroll did not visit any of the friends of the administration, but got all his notes from the leading Democrats, and their allies in the persons of so-called Republicans. I also found that Carroll associated altogether with the enemies of the government.

Now, it occurs to me, that the proprietors of the New York Times cannot afford to lend their columns to the detraction and slander of the supporters of the government in the South. I want to find one Federal officer who [illegible] for the position he holds. I found on the contrary, that nine-tenths of the Federal officers in your State are opponents of Senator Spencer and in good favor with the Democratic leaders. None of the latter would name to me a single Federal office holder of questionable reputation.

Therefore, as a citizen of New York, I am led to believe that the whole matter is reduced to this: "The outs against the ins." Yours, NEW YORK.

SIR—Referring to a letter of this department, addressed to you under date of the 20th of March, last, in relation to a proposed change in the existing tariff as to the classification of imported sugars, I now have the honor to enclose herewith a copy of a communication of the 27th ultimo, from Professor Joseph Henry, chairman of the National Academy on Sciences, on the subject, and to call the special attention of the committee to the concluding paragraph thereof, which is as follows: "Since a high grade of sugar can be made to assume the appearance of a low grade, by artificial coloring, the plan adopted of rating its tariff as exhibited by color, is defective. The ratio of duties corresponding with its per centage of crystalizable sugar, is the proper basis for taxation, and the only one by which frauds on the government can be prevented."

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 5.—A special from Atlanta, Ga., says the Republican Convention yesterday held three sessions, and adjourned late last night.

The proceedings were characterized by angry and exciting passages between white and colored delegates on the subject of appointment of delegates to Cincinnati. The delegation stands about as follows: For Conkling 8; Morton 7; Bristow 4; Blaine 3. The negroes made big fight for Morton.

Late Havana advices report that the Cuban Chamber of Representatives at Los Nuero on the 29th of March, elected Thomas Estada Padna as President of Cuban Republic, in place of ad interim President Ipoturas. The new President has issued addresses to all Cubans abroad appealing for aid in the fight for independence.

The Superintendent in this city of the Direct Cable Company announces that there will be no increase of rates either to the public or to the press in consequence of the break in the Anglo-American Cables, and he suggests that messages be made as brief as possible in order that everybody may be accommodated.

The Western Union Telegraph Co takes business up to six p. m. to-day, for the Anglo-American Cable, and will make connection by steamer between St Pierrie and Pleasant. They hope by to morrow to have a through cable again.

CLEVELAND, May 5.—Some weeks since the laborers in the co-operative stove works in this city struck for higher wages, and their places were filled by non-Union men, but beyond one or two personal encounters, nothing serious occurred until last evening, when twelve working members were attacked as they were going home by fifteen or twenty strikers, who were armed with clubs and bricks. Several pistol shots were fired, and a non-Union man, named H. R. Cattler, was shot and seriously wounded. No arrests have yet been made.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1876.

LETTER FROM A REPUBLICAN.

MARION, May 2d 1876

Editor Journal—It is gratifying to all true Republicans throughout the State to witness the recent disposition shown among the leading members of the two factions of the State Executive Committee to harmonize and settle all the troubles which have been existing between them for some time, giving just apprehension of an overwhelming defeat to the Republican party in the State in the present campaign. If there is anything that we need it is harmony in the party, and without it there is not a shadow of hope before us to inspire and encourage us to go into the campaign with any prospect of success and should the Republican cause be defeated by a large Democratic majority at the August election it would have very much to do in defeating us at the November election. With complete harmony restored in our own party we will have very much to encourage us in the future. There has been no period in the history of Republicanism in the State that there has been so much dissatisfaction and division in the ranks of the enemy as at the present time. They are a party of promise and have gone into power under promises to their constituency to redeem the State from destruction hanging over it, like a nightmare, caused by Radical rule. They represented to the people, in the campaign of 1874, that the State government was in the hands of a lot of fools and thieves, who had no interest in the prosperity of the country, and that they had increased taxation until it had become such a burden that the people could not endure it any longer, and at the same time the State Treasury was empty, with a debt hanging over the State so large that it was beyond any reasonable calculation to ever think of paying it, and unless the State government should be wrested from the hands of the Democratic party, claiming for themselves all the intelligence, virtue and honesty in the country, (they take a great deal more of these noble qualities to themselves than others give to them,) that the people would be reduced by taxation to the lowest depths of poverty, and the State would be made bankrupt for all time to come by a reckless squandering of the revenue. Now it will be remembered that this same Democratic party, possessed of all its wisdom, virtue and honesty, had entrusted to its management the State government of Alabama in 1861, when the State, along with her other sister States of this Union, was in the very zenith of its prosperity, then, as now, they beleiving the Democratic party the only political party competent to administer the government, were determined to rule or ruin; so they went off under that idea into secession and war, and wound up in defeat, ruin and bankruptcy, not only bankruptcy of property but bankruptcy of the morals of the whole country. So they are justly chargable with all the evils of the country for they are all the outgrowth of the unholy war brought on the country by the Democratic party, not only of Alabama, but of all the Southern States. The Democratic party stands charged to-day with all these evils, and it is guilty. And after all this, with its multitude of promises to the State in 1874, coupled with fraud in many parts of the State, it wrested the government from the hands of these fools and thieves, in the elections of that year, and went into authority pledged to restore to the State its former prosperity, but have wound up by furnishing to the world another evidence of its want of capacity to administer the affairs of a State government. Retrenchment was one of the promises made in the campaign of 1874. Some few little things have been done in that direction to deceive their constituency, such as cutting down the salaries of the State officers a few hundred dollars and abolishing the office of Commissioner of Industrial Resources with a salary of five hundred dollars per annum, and also by abolishing the office of Lieutenant Governor with a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per annum, and in the face of this the Democratic Legislature at its session of 1874-5 created two new State offices which are now filled by two commissioners, to help the party to repudiate the honest debts of the State. The salaries of the officers are fixed at thirty five hundred dollars each, making seven thousand dollars per annum.

Two sessions of the Legislature have been held under this Democratic administration—one of one hundred and one days and the other of seventy-two days, at the cost of something in the neighborhood of eleven hundred dollars per day, and a great deal of this time was consumed in such legislation as looked to partizan ends. Such, for instance, as getting up a committee to sit during recess, with power to send for persons and papers and to take testimony to be used against George E. Spencer in contesting his right to a seat in the United States Senate. And right here I might state that this patriotic committee performed its work faithfully for its party in taking the testimony of some forty odd witnesses, which, when printed, made a volume of one hundred and eighty-two pages, with a memorial presented to the United States Senate, setting out that George E. Spencer was not elected by the General Assembly of Alabama, to the United States Senate. This memorial was adopted by the vote of every Democratic member of the General Assembly, and when adopted, a resolution was passed to have these sacred documents sent to Washington by some trustworthy messenger, which was done at the expense of the State. When this volume of evidence was examined by the committee on Privileges and Elections, of the United States Senate, it was found to contain nothing to sustain any charges brought against George E. Spencer, of using any corrupt means in procuring his election to the U. S. Senate. Gen. Spencer will be fully vindicated and will show himself to be master of the situation, and all of this wrong perpetrated on him will be but another evidence to the world showing to what extent the Democrats will go in this State to destroy an honest republican. The U. S. Senate will learn from the testimony in this case what kind of testimony a Republican can be convicted on in this country. It is fortunate for Hon. George. E. Spencer that he can have his trial before an impartial jury. If he had been put on trial before the Alabama Democratic partisan legislature with the testimony taken by the legislative committee he would have been convicted without the benefit of clergy. A resolution was passed by the General Assembly to authorize the Governor to sent an attorney to go to Washington to prosecute Gen. Spencer, which was done. This was all done at the expense of the State to try to get out of the U. S. Senate a Republican Senator and get in a Democratic Senator. It will not be known what this will all cost the State, until the auditor's report comes out. I have no doubt but that it will cost the State some fifteen or twenty thousand dollars, and it is said that it will cost the United States fifty thousand dollars to investigate this matter before the U. S. Senate. So much for Democratic rule in Alabama, and still it is not all told. But I will forbear for the present.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of the delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosperity and enjoyment of all official distinctions and of an economical administration of the government by honest and faithful officers, who are in favor of a system of [illegible] and [illegible] which will [illegible] the [illegible] from time to time [illegible] opposed to impair the credit of the nation by delay of payment of its soldiers, and in favor of such legislation as will secure to the National Government such control over the National finances and currency as will enable it to meet promptly all its obligations, and which will restore and maintain permanently the specie basis; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them, as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to call the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principle is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—and the other than cost—and the holder of a bond may obtain a premium either $500, $1,000, $2,000, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders, is in this case distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, and shall receive his usual rate of interest, but in consideration of taking this small rate of interest he has a chance in the above mentioned premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, and it has drawn a premium when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is duly authorized to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I added to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 6,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

A ROSEBUD.

I saw a rosebud early in the morn,
Its tender petals scarcely were in view,
Sweet scented on the parent stem it grew.

At noon I looked again upon the rose,
In glorious symmetry its leaves were spread,
Upon the air its dainty perfume shed.

I longed to pluck the blossom from the stem,
But conscience bade me stay my hand awhile,
For envious toil, and strife, and ruin from the bud,

At eve my mind once more to the rosebud sought,
And I sent my footsteps o'er the velvet lawn,
I did intend to pluck the treasure that I loved,
When lo! the rosebud from the stem was gone.

I wondered and in grief I stood amazed,
Assailants manly o'ercame by cunning foes,
I looked once more upon the fractured stem,
Another hand had plucked my blushing rose.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thus it "wet down and ran together" Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us: the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility.

However obscure the causes may be which originate to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is undoubtedly true, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, of what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, consequently, when and how far to run its course without the aid of curative remedies.

[illegible] Nov 6, 1875

Dr. Lovejoy—

Sir: I have been using your Syricum and Tonic Pills, and find them to be just what they are recommended to be. I have now been taking about [illegible] and have every reason to be satisfied with the result. I know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had seldom been accustomed to the use of nostrums. I thought that nothing short of the most powerful effects could possibly meet my case, and I am still of the opinion that my only hope was that your remedy would operate powerfully on and through the liver. Before taking a month I felt as though I was getting well, and I have continued taking it ever since, and I am happy to say that it has proved the most effectual remedy I ever used. I have no hesitancy in recommending it to all who are afflicted with Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, or Debility, as I believe it will do them good. When I left home I had to use a cane, but now I can walk without it. I have no hesitancy in saying that the Syricum and Tonic Pills are the second best medicine I ever used for the liver, the best being Dr. Lovejoy's Liver Pills. I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia and Nervousness, but I never found any relief from them until I commenced using your medicines. I feel that I am entirely cured of Dyspepsia, Nervousness and Sleeplessness. I have also used your Liver Pills and find them to be just what they are recommended to be. I have no hesitancy in saying that they

THE police court was devoid of news items yesterday.

ATTENTION is respectfully called to the special notice of Mr. Charles R. Dickinson, soliciting orders for work, brick, etc. Mr. Dickinson is deservedly popular in our city, as a mechanic, and we commend him to our readers, as worthy of their patronage.

JOB PRINTING. We are now turning out some splendid specimens of job printing. Our work is pronounced the best ever done in this city. We respectfully invite our business men to come and inspect our styles and facilities for doing good work. We will be glad to see you.

IF those gentlemen in the city council who are so anxious to cut down the police force, will only take the officers out of their own wards, and let the balance of us who want, and need, police protection, they would show their sincerity more strikingly than in any other manner we can imagine.

BEFORE the Mayor, this morning, an interesting and amusing case will come on for trial. The capacity of the tongue to overawe law will, perhaps, be exemplified, and the lawyer for the plaintiff will, no doubt, be lectured in the latest style of the virago. Our reporter has been instructed to take notes.

CITY ASSESSMENTS.—Maj. R. B. Snodgrass, the efficient city clerk, gives notice to property holders that the assessments will begin on the 15th of this month, and be continued till the 5th of June. All those who have property within the city limits will please take notice, as by being prompt in giving their attention to this matter, they may save themselves a great deal of trouble and expense.

THE two policemen who were arraigned before the police committee, upon charges preferred by Dr. James, were honorably acquitted. The charges against them were not established to the satisfaction of the committee, and it is regretted that anything of the kind occurred. The complainant was mistaken as men frequently are, and we have no doubt he is perfectly satisfied at the verdict of the committee.

ON account of the breaking of our press, the paper has been blurred in its publication several days. Being unable to repair the break at once, we were forced to publish the paper as best we could. We have made arrangements to repair the portion of the press broken, and in the meantime we must beg the indulgence of our readers.

ONE of the boys just before returning to the Auburn College, the other day sent a young lady friend of his a cake of Lubin's finest variety of toilet soap, with the request that she would draw no inferences on receiving such a gift. The next day the young man was somewhat astonished when he received a letter from the young lady containing a present of a fine tooth-comb, with the request that he draw no inferences therefrom.

FINE BEEF.—Our old friend Mr. Adam Schuessler, has just received from Tennessee, one of the finest beeves ever slaughtered in this city. It is not only a fat beef, but a young and tender one, and the roasts and steaks are perfectly delicious. When you go to the market this afternoon, remember to call on Mr. Schuessler, at his stalls, and get some of this excellent meat, or anything in the meat line you may wish.

MADISON HOUSE.—This excellent hotel has changed hands, and is now under the management of Capt. F. A. Hervey and Mr. Hugh Elliott, recently of Opelika. These popular gentlemen intend to keep the Madison in the front rank of Southern hotels, and to set the best table ever known in Montgomery. The traveling public will take notice, and remember the Madison House, when traveling in this section.

THE Sunday-school children of the Presbyterian church, had a very pleasant picnic at Whitehall yesterday. The attendance was unusually large, the weather was everything that could be desired, and nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion. The children enjoyed the excursion to the highest degree, and all who were so fortunate as to attend, were entertained delightfully. The only regret experienced by the excursionists was when the hour arrived for their return home.

UNION SPRINGS PICNIC.—We learn from a gentleman who attended the military picnic at Union Springs, Thursday, that it was a great success, about 1200 persons being present. Several citizens of Montgomery were in attendance, among whom was Capt. Wiuter of the "Greys." In the evening a game of base ball was played, the Alabama boys winning by a score of 30 to 14 against Columbus. The target shooting was very spirited. A prize of a silver cup was offered for the best marksman, and was won by a Columbus man. The brass band of Union Springs furnished the music, which is said to have been very fine. The day passed away in pleasant entertainments—nothing happening to cause regret to any one.

ENCOURAGING PROSPECTS FOR THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE—A BLAST AT HOUSTON'S PERSONAL GOVERNMENT AND RING LEGISLATURE.

ATHENS, May 2d, 1876.

Editor Journal:—Please find enclosed $—— for your splendid WEEKLY JOURNAL. The Republicans up here politically profess but one faith, one Lord, and one baptism, and consequently are anxious that our party should present a united front to the enemy of the people in the coming canvass. The Republican masses here are united—and so should the leaders be everywhere.

The masses of the Democracy here are soured on Houston and his Legislature. The average Democratic tax-payer is just now interviewing the "Assessiate" with reference to the new revenue law so-called. You can hear some of them "cuss" a mile. They declare that they have got their fill of latter day Democracy. This section is full of Conservative men—old Whigs, who have been driven like cattle to the poles to vote for men whom they knew were unfit to operate government. Under the cry of "down with nigger government," our people have been induced to bring the State to a precipice, beneath which there is nothing but disaster and sorrow to our entire State. This prescription has done its work, and our people here are not were a year ago. Democratic editors can no more whip them into doing what their conscience rebels at. Yours, J.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and all our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, ¾4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other food. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per peck, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "breadstuffs" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

GENERAL GRANT.

President Grant has more quiet, solid sense than any man in America. His head is always level. The Democratic members of the United States House of Representatives are just beginning to discover this all important fact. The thinking people have known it all the time. The people are, as a general rule, always right, the opinions of rotten politicians to the contrary, notwithstanding.

THAT CALF.

A calf editor not a thousand miles from Montgomery, can't write over two lines to save his life, without glossing Senator Spencer and the Republican party. The bellowing of a last calf is very annoying at an early hour in the morning. Well, what's done can't be helped, but we shall go to the dogs if that black calf on Lawrence street don't quit bellowing at so early an hour in the morning.

GEN. GRANT.

Never was a man execrated (by the Democratic press) with more venom and bitterness than General Grant. If all the Democratic curses on him were concentrated into one whirlwind, it would be powerful enough to scatter the "WHITE HOUSE" over his head.

GENERAL SPENCER.

We find it exceedingly hard to classify the enemies of Senator Spencer. They are a mixed set of birds. Some of them have the gait of a duck, the face of an owl, the voice of a guinea hen, and the morals of a chicken-hawk.

THE THIRD TERM.

If President Grant is not re-nominated for the Presidency at Cincinnati, it will be because he won't accept a third term. He is five-fold stronger with the American people to-day than he was at the surrender. Democratic newspaper abuse has brought his real mental and moral strength to the surface.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

Poor old Mr. Charles Francis Adams of Quincy, Mass., is being made a fool of by such sheets as the New York Herald. Adams has as much chance for the Presidency as a first class politician has to reach heaven.

SENATOR O. P. MORTON.

Senator Morton made a personal explanation in the Senate in regard to the slander published in the Washington correspondence of the New York World, charging him with peculation in the disbursement of $25,000 received from the Government for war purposes in Indiana in 1862. If there ever was a barefaced, malicious, unmitigated and willful lie this charge against Senator Morton takes precedence, and that gentleman, in his speech proved it such to the complete satisfaction of every member of the Senate, both Democrat and Republican. The facts the Senator gave not only prove the untruth of the charge, but bring up vividly, and in a manner that cannot be mistaken, the motives which led the authors to give it publicity. Mr. Congressman Springer and his brethern of the Knights of the Golden Circle and the Sons of Liberty, and the whole House, had better try again. Their efforts to injure the characters of the honest leaders who saved the Union have thus far failed to act, except as recoiling boomerangs to the injury of the Democracy.

A VOICE FROM LOWNDES.

At a Republican Convention held in Hayneville, on Saturday the 6th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent the county of Lowndes in the Republican State Convention to be held in Montgomery, Alabama, on the 24th day of May, 1876, the following named persons were selected, to wit: James T. Rapier, L. J. Bryan, Leonard Roberts, John W. Jones, W. H. Hunter, Raif Robinson.

For Alternates—Murphey Adams, W. A. Anthony, R. J. Mayberry, Sampson Tyson, B. P. Bland, Mack Ross, Sam'l Ransom.

S. M. RANSOM, Chairman.
R. J. MAYBERRY, Secretary.

Note—A large majority of the delegates appointed under the call of Judge McDuffie, the Chirman of the Co. Executive Committee, who favored the 16th movement, did not participate with him but favored the regular Republican State Convention of the 24th of May.

WE will inform the Rome (Ga.) Courier, that we never become restive at the hissing of a toothless viper.

THE total contraction of the currency, in the past twenty-two months, is estimated at fifty millions of dollars.

WHO WOULD BE PRESIDENT?

Address of Attorney-General Pierrepont at the Chamber of Commerce Dinner in New York.

The first toast of the evening—"The President of the United States"—was responded to by Attorney General Pierrepont, who spoke as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Chamber of Commerce—It must be a very delightful thing to gain the Presidency of the United States. I am sure it must be very delightful. I judge of this from the fact that I find so many men of great sense anxious to get that place, striving for it, taking all honorable means to gain it. They are all eminent men, and I believe they are all honorable men. Some of them are Republicans, some of them are Liberal Republicans, and some, I lately find, are Reform Republicans, and some of them are Democrats without any prefix. Now, I am acquainted with one man, very well acquainted with him, who has been President of the United States for the last nearly eight years, and I have had some private talks with him of the delights of that place; and I am able to communicate something to these men who are anxious to get that place, how very charming it is. When this man of whom I speak was forty six years old, you called him from a great office which he held for life and insisted that he should be President of the United States. And you placed him in that responsible station when he was utterly unused to public affairs, wholly inexperienced in politics, knowing nothing of the tricks and the tactics which belong to that life. You placed him there, at the end of a great civil war, when you had released from bondage 4,000,000 of ignorant slaves, when the country was utterly demoralized by war, corrupted by the overissue of paper money, and there you placed this inexperienced soldier, and, as honest men, I ask you, did you expect that he could commit no blunders, that he could make no mistakes? I think you could not have expected such an impossibility and a thing so unreasonable. He will tell you that he has committed blunders, that he has made mistakes; but he will tell you, and every man will tell you, that when malignity has done its worst, that when the boundaries of the insane asylum have collected their witnesses, his friends may defy any man to find in his entire record a single thing that will be a blot upon his integrity. And I know that the people of this country, remembering the services which he did do, will not allow his name to perish [great applause], but they will place him on the roll of imperishable renown, and they will say that whatever faults he may have committed, he was an honest man to the last. [Applause.]

Now, my friends, he has gone through a fiery trial—it is not done yet—but don't have any doubt that he will come out of it unstinged, and that you will find this great General on whom you have reposed and whom you have so admired deserving of all the favor and all the admiration which you have bestowed. He is so generous a man, gentlemen, that he will not be unwilling to see any good, honest, patriotic man take his place at the end of eight months, and he will be willing to see him enjoy all the luxuries, and the delights, and the charms, and the undisturbed repose which belongs to that place; and if there is any man here who is thinking at all about that place, I can assure him that when General Grant has stepped out of that place, he will look seriously on and see him enjoy the luxurious repose of that place without a single twinge of envy. I admit, gentlemen, that the vapor from the breath of many enemies, some of whom have been disappointed, some of whom have not been satisfied, has at times been generated into a cloud which has absorbed for an hour the bright reputation of that great man; but, so sure as there is a sun in the heavens, it so surely will pass away, and when he goes out of that place, as he soon will do, his fame will become as bright as you said it should, when he, a poor man, received the sword of Lee, when, after he had unlimited power in the army and by a scrape of his pen could have put untold millions in his pocket, he came out utterly poor and scarce knew where to lay his head. [Applause.] Lincoln was murdered at the beginning of his second term, and wise men think his was the happiest ending of a noble life. Most men think that had Lincoln lived to have passed through eight years, that envy and malignity would have blacked his fame.

THE PRESIDENT.

A correspondent wishes to know why we are so persistent in our unqualified support of President Grant, over all other politicians and statesmen. Our answer shall be brief, and, we trust, to the point to-wit: He is nearly always right. We can state no better reason than this, for our course toward the best abused man on the American Continent. The President has made fewer serious mistakes than any statesman of modern times. Truth is truth and all the powers of earth cannot gainsay it. The President is understood and appreciated by the best and purest men of both political parties, who rise infinitely above the contemptible slang of paid correspondents and a degraded venal newspaper press.

"BEANS."

An editor living in Louisiana, by the name of Beans, calls "Sam Bard" some very hard names! We reluctantly confess that we don't know Beans.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

In view of the fact that the time is rapidly approaching when the Republican party will be again called upon to enter the field in opposition to the Bourbon Democratic Party, which is so earnestly seeking to perpetrate its baneful rule in this State, by the suppression of free schools, the collection of unjust taxes, and other measures abhorrent to every lover of free government; and, also, in view of the fact that no steps have been taken to secure a true representation of the Republicans of Montgomery county at the approaching State Convention to BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., which will nominate candidates for the various State offices, and select delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati, the undersigned members of the Republican party, respectfully request the Republican voters of Montgomery county to meet in their various beats on Monday the 15th day of May, 1876, and select delegates to a County Convention to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1876, at 12 o'clock, m., at the Court House in the city of Montgomery, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention TO BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., and nominating a Legislative ticket for Montgomery county. The County Convention will also select delegates to the Congressional Convention, and transact such other business as may properly come before it.

The usual apportionment will be observed in the selection of delegates from the various beats as follows:

THE PRESIDENT'S VACATION.

It is so seldom that we have to thank the blind and unreasoning opposition of the Democracy for valuable contributions to the cause of good government, that we thank them most heartily for having put an end to the silly talk about the Presidential absence from Washington, by means of a resolution of the House. The meaningless and irresponsible gossip about Long Branch, the summer capital, etc., has floated from paper to paper; drifted through the empty heads that thoughtlessly repeated it, and become a stock portion of the opposition to Republicanism, without, however, rising to the dignity of deserving an answer. But when this silly gossip is taken up by Congress and made the subject of a formal application to the Executive, all that is needed is for the Executive to speak once, and thereafter the gossips will hold their peace on the subject.

President Grant has rarely been called on to speak in his own defense, and in his seven years' Administration he has uniformly preferred to allow his enemies to weary themselves with talking rather than to encourage them with the notice of a reply. But his dignified and yet crushing rebuke to the official impertinence of Congress is a proof that his silence has not proceeded from any lack of ability on his part to defend himself properly. There is nothing to add to the force of his message, nothing to deepen the sting of its courteous retort. He fails to find in the Constitution the authority given to the House to require of the Executive an account of his discharge of his appropriate and partly executive offices, acts and duties. The information requested of him by the House is not necessary for the proper discharge of its powers of legislation or impeachment. If it is sought in view of an impeachment, the President indulges in the mild sarcasm of requesting the protection of that constitutional guarantee which protects every citizen against being made a witness against himself. However, in recognition of a laudable thirst for information on the part of the House, he will inform them that he, like his predecessors, has been in the habit of absenting himself at times from the National Capital, and that during such absences he did not neglect or forego the obligations or duties of his office, but continued to discharge all of the executive offices, acts and duties which were required of him as President of the United States.

If Congress wants any more information, it can get it from the same source, but we opine that Congress has gotten all the information it wants, and perhaps a little more. The message shows that the Presidents of the United States, without exception, have been in the habit of absenting themselves from the seat of Government, and the only reason why Congress has never inquired into the matter before is because there has never been a Congress idiotic enough to expose itself to the humiliation of such a reply as has rewarded the zeal of the Forty-fourth Congress. A legislative body which recognizes no safer guide than the silly gossip of irresponsible scandal-mongers, which knows no higher standard of work and duty than to echo a foolish clamor from the outside, which lays aside the grave and serious work of framing the laws and perfecting the Government of forty millions of people to ascertain the exact number of days which the President has spent at the seaside, will meet with little sympathy, no matter how severe its punishment; and it must be admitted that the punishment of Congress has been severe.

Within a week that body has been insulted by the offer of Mr. Kilbourne to allow them to examine his books, after they had sentenced him to imprisonment in the vain attempt to examine his books, without his consent; it has been insulted by Davenport's producing the vouchers for the money paid out by him to suppress Democratic election frauds in New York, and now, we presume, that if the Judiciary Committee shall ever allude to the message which has been referred to them for entombment, they will consider it an insult. But the common sense of the world will declare that if Congress had had any ground for charging the President with a neglect of official duty or a sacrifice of public interests, they would have rushed to make it. As it is, they have succeeded in revealing only a great deal of malice and very little wit on their own part, have given the President a very good opportunity of disposing forever of charges that were none the less annoying because they were frivolous and meaningless.—St Louis Globe-Democrat.

LETTER FROM HUNTSVILLE.

Some Strong Points Well-Taken and Vigorously Stated—Facts for Earnest Men to Consider.

HUNTSVILLE, ALA., May 6.

Editor Journal—Under date of April 28th, a circular was issued, signed by William H. Smith, chairman, etc., which reached this section a few days since, and I presume has been circulated among private individuals throughout the State. The pith of the circular consisted of attacks upon Senator Spencer, and a notice of a forthcoming newspaper, which I copy:

"The Alabama Republican, a large weekly paper will be brought out on Monday next, and every Monday thereafter during the canvass—edited by the re-organized committee."

This was followed by a request to send lists of prominent Republicans, to whom the first issue of the paper would be sent. Without otherwise characterizing it, this, to say the least, anomalous and unprecedented circular, excited curiosity as to the forthcoming newspaper, and very naturally, I looked for a large weekly, filled with matter in quality and quantity comporting with the massive cerebral concrete (the reorganized committee) from which it emanated. Up to time the paper came, not a large weekly, but a very moderate-sized sheet, filled with diatribes and accusations against Senator Spencer. Its salutatory, after declaring that "this paper will not begin or inaugurate a war upon any man who calls himself a Republican, launches forthwith into a vindictive personal assault upon Senator Spencer. So petty is its spite that it has not the courtesy—not to say decency—to speak of him as Senator, but calls him "Spencer" simply; and so malignant is its hatred that in accusing Senator Spencer, it spares neither the living nor the dead, when necessary to reflect upon them, in order to assail him.

It says, referring to Senator Spencer: He opposed the re-nomination of Gov. Smith in 1870 * * * * and failing to defeat Smith's re-nomination he plotted with a prominent citizen of North Alabama to put unpopular men on the State ticket in order to defeat the Republican party."

To those familiar with the proceedings of the convention of 1870, held in Selma, at which Gov. Smith was renominated, it is readily understood that Col. Nick Davis (now deceased) was the prominent citizen of North Alabama, and Mr. Rapier the unpopular man (for there was but one) alluded to, in the above extract. In the convention Davis made a speech in favor of Rapier—one of those fervid, brilliant appeals for which he was so eminently distinguished. It took the convention by storm, and Rapier was nominated. The speech was the result of the occasion—and the nomination—of the speech. There was no premeditation about it, other than that Davis wanted a colored man from North Alabama on the ticket—and Rapier was from North Alabama.

Senator Spencer could not have plotted with Davis, after the nomination of Smith, and those who knew Davis, as the writer knew him, know that he was the last man in the world to plot and especially to revenge himself upon another by plotting against him. Davis was open and frank to a fault. He was bold, defiant and brave, and never, in thought or deed, did he contemplate to, or do another a secret injury. No man ever made a clearer record, with both friend and foe, than Nick Davis. His ardent temperament and fiery impulses may have led him into indiscretions but his noble spirit never descended to low intrigues—to plotting—to gratify his resentments.

This, Mr. Editor, is a sample of the accusations, and the spirit which prompts them, in the Alabama Republican—a public newspaper gotten up openly to minister to private hatreds; a paper professing to be Republican, established to hunt down a man who, three years ago, was elected by the unanimous vote of the Republican members of the General Assembly of Alabama to the Senate of the United States. Does the history of journalism show another example of such perversion of a public press? or the history of parties such a fatuitous spirit of revenge?

That paper and the so-called re-organized committee cannot deprive Senator Spencer of his seat in the Senate of the United States; or of the power and influence which rightfully, according to all senatorial precedent, belongs to that high and responsible position. But they can breed faction and discord among Republicans, and they may destroy the party, temporarily, in Alabama. This will so obviously be the result of the course they are pursuing, that nothing but personal respect for some of those engaged in the dreadful work of destruction, withholds the conviction that such is their willful, deliberate and determined purpose. Such is the judgment of all calm and dispassionate Republican citizens of this section.

On this train was the President, with Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Col. Fred Grant, and on the same car were Secretaries Fish, Bristow, Chandler, Postmaster General Jewell and Attorney General Pierrepont. Some of them were accompanied by families. The diplomatic corps were represented on the train by Sir Edward Thornton, the Japanese, German, Portuguese, Danish and the Turkish Ministers and representatives of other Governments. There were besides the officials some two hundred and twenty five persons.

The grand jury of the Criminal Court of the District of Columbia to-day found a true bill of indictment against W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War. Marsh, with intent to have his decision and action on the question pending influenced, and did appoint one John S. Evans, and did retain John S. Evans as post trader in consideration of having received the said sum. The additional counts charge him with receiving $15,000 for the same purpose from November 4th 1873, to January 15th 1876.

BROOKLYN, May 9.—The Argus of this morning, gives the following account of the death of Rubenstein, the murderer of Sarah Alexander:

Rubenstein, the condemned murderer of Sarah Alexander, was found dead in his cell this morning, at 10 o'clock. He was lying on the floor, foaming at the mouth, and had just breathed his last when the jail officials found him. No post mortem examination has yet been held, but it is supposed that he committed suicide. The sheriff says the prisoner died of weakness, at 10 a. m. He refused to eat anything.

There were twenty-seven passengers on the street car which fell from the elevator at Jersey City heights last night none were killed out right, but several received injuries which may prove fatal, eight or ten others were hurt, most of them seriously, but none dangerously. The cause of the accident is attributed to carelessness of the truckman who rang the bell for the engineer to go ahead before the car had passed safely on the truck.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 9.—A letter received here from Santa Fe, New Mexico, dated April 23d, asserts that it is a well known fact that seven hundred Mormon families during the past year living in that vicinity have located on the border between Arizona and New Mexico. The Mormon Bishops have been there some time in intimate relation with Gov. Axtell, who it is openly charged, is a Bishop in Brigham's church. The letter also says it is a fact worthy of note, in relation to this scheme that one of the principal Spanish papers openly advocated Mormonism and defended its practices. It closes by portraying the ignorance and degradation of the mass of the population of New Mexico, numbering one hundred thousand, of whom not more than 500 speak the English language.

The Italian consul informed the government of the state of affairs, and troops were sent to the relief of the American consul, who was besieged by a rabble.

THE INDIANAPOLIS RIOT.

Where the Responsibility For it Rests

[From the Indianapolis Journal.]

About dark, last evening, there occurred, in the southwestern portion of the city, a riot of considerable magnitude and fatal results. During the day the election proceeded quietly and peaceably with small interruptions. Towards sundown it became evident to everybody that the Democracy were beaten, and they themselves gave up the fight. At this time they grew desperate in all parts of the city. Their conduct and management showed them equal to any desperate emergency.

Shortly before 6 o'clock, a mounted Democratic courier galloped from the Sixth to the Fourth Ward with the report that there was a fight going on in the former ward. As a matter of fact, there was no fight in the Sixth Ward. There had been no disturbance, and none was apprehended there. The message of the courier was a trick and lie. The result was according to the expectations of the managers. The negroes, excited and uninformed, started down toward the Sixth Ward, under the false belief that there was rioting there, and that their colored friends were in danger. They were unarmed and had no bad intentions. They were simply honest men misled by a trick. They rushed toward the reported place of riot, but before they reached the polls they were met by policemen, armed with revolvers and aided by scores of howling Democratic bullies. The instant the collision occurred the policemen commenced firing. There were about twelve or fifteen of these despicable banditti, and they were backed by a party of armed Democrats, who also began to fire at the unarmed colored men. The latter at once broke and ran and reached Illinois street and adjacent streets and alleys. The police and their backers pursued them, firing as they went, until they reached the corner of Illinois and Washington streets. Here a great crowd assembled, and the excitement continued. The policemen and their backers in the crowd fired right and left. As a result several colored men were killed or wounded. One was dragged off the ground by two policemen, who cursed him at every step. The excited crowd assembled at this corner was only dispersed late in the evening, by the united appeals of good citizens.

We have no hesitation in saying that the riot was of Democratic origin. It occured after the polls were closed. The Democrats knew they beaten, and that fairly. They were incensed and desperate. Their frauds had been met and defeated. They were practically overwhelmed by a righteous public indignation. This being the case, they proposed to break their fall by getting up a riot. The colored men of the Fourth Ward were to be the instruments of it. A suppositious riot in the Sixth Ward was the prepared occasion. Armed policemen and the rabble were in readiness to meet the unarmed negroes. The whole thing was a desperate trick gotten up by reckless Democrats to break the force of their fall. The facts are correctly stated here. The policemen and their backers did the shooting. Not a white man was injured by so much as a scratch, and none of the wounded men had arms on their persons. The law abiding citizens may justly hold the Democratic leaders responsible for this great outrage and crime. They are responsible for the bloodshed and the disgrace. It is to be deplored that the fair fame of our prosperous city should be thus jeopardized by such brutal and inhuman conduct for the simble purpose of bolstering up a corrupt and defeated party.

THE WINSLOW CASE.

England Refuses to Surrender the Fugitive—Secretary Fish Charges the British Government with Evasion—The Treaty to be Abrogated.

A despatch from Washington says Representative Faulkner, Chairman pro tem. of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, had an interview with Secretary Fish, and learned from him that at a meeting of the British Cabinet, at which they determined to adhere to their former position not to return Winslow to the United States as requested by our Government. In other words, they are governed by the act of Parliament of 1870, which provides that the British Government shall insist on the insertion in all future extradition treaties of a provision making such treaties inoperative, unless assurance be given that the accused whom it is proposed to surrender shall not be tried for an offence other than that with which he is charged.

The protest of the Secretary of State, which the British Cabinet had before them shows that such an evasion of treaty stipulations was never before suggested by any Government. The Secretary streegthens his protest by citing a number of precedents, alluding to the fact that Parliamentary enactment seems to be considered by the British Government of more binding force than a solemn treaty existing between two nations, and which provides for extradition under the circumstances presented in the case under consideration. As our Government will not give such assurance as Great Britian requires, and as the latter is unyielding, Winslow will be unconditionally discharged. On the reception of official intelligence of this fact the Secretary of State will transmit all the correspondence in the case to the House of Representatives. There is no doubt that the action of the British Government will lead to measures having in view the repeal of the extradition clause of the Ashburton treaty.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

Chairman Republican National Committee.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State officers: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the fourteenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In accordance with the usage of Congressional Districts entitled by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have not organizations perfected, it was resolved that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts should, while attending the Convention, select two delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

POND'S EXTRACT

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: ask for POND'S EXTRACT.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative power stands unrivalled.

CHILDREN.—No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains or Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, prevents mortification and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES.—It always relieves pain in the back and kidneys, fulness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo, etc.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES.—Blind or bleeding—most prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or of long standing, resists its regular use.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and bowels.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, Toothache, and Earache are in like relieved, as I often personally attest.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for their own families. In addition to the foregoing, they order it for Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, Piles and Chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, Chapped Hands, Face, &c. Blood Diseases of every description.

TOILET USE.—Removes Soreness, Roughness, and Chapping, Pimples, Eruptions and Pimples. It restores, invigorates, and refreshes while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS.—Pond's Extract. No Stock Farm in the country. Every American should be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery stables, Sporting Men and Horse Owners in New York City. It cures all lameness, sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleeding, Fever-sores, Poll-evil, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, etc. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is indispensable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Stable. Horses and cattle will drink it when mixed with water. It is valuable to the Dairyman, as a few drops in the pail of milk will prevent the animal from contracting disease.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine is sold only in buff wrappers. Pond's Extract is known by the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Beware of worthless preparations of Witch Hazel. Pond's Extract is the only preparation used by Physicians, and in the hospitals. Avoid all the nostrums of the day.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties needing to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to their character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county where the applicant resides. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent resides, as well as every city establishment, be it even an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the duties, powers and objects of the Company, and the duties of agents, so that no agent of said papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company's aim is to accomplish the following: To issue a large number of drawing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but when there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 will secure a ticket in the drawing, which may result in the control and disposition of a $100,000 prize, or $50,000, $25,000, $10,000, $5,000 or $1,000, or to obtain a premium either of $20, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000, $50,000 or $100,000, which sums, added to the principal invested, will be to all the bondholders a handsome profit, and the loan thus to be united by citizens. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest, and he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole amount.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, and when not drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, has the authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of the enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation, and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other legal privileges.

Every American knows understands the purposes of this company will, as a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry energy and mechanical genius of the American people.

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 3,329,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1876.

RATHER cool last night.

THE city is crowded with strangers.

THE lilac bushes are very beautiful now.

THE chronic juror can now be seen at early morn wending his way to the new city buildings.

HON. JOHN M. CHILTON, of Opelika, was in the city yesterday, attending the U. S. Courts.

REMEMBER the German Military Band appears at our theatre to-morrow night. Get reserved seats if you wish to have good positions.

THE Centennial opens to-day. On our inside pages will be found some beautiful poetry prepared for the occasion. It is very eloquent. Read it.

OUR readers generally will be glad to learn that our honored friend, Dr. Gwin, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has consented to withhold his resignation.

JUVENILE TEMPLARS.—The following officers of Patton Juvenile Templars No. 2 of this city, were elected on Sunday last: J. C. Finch, W. C. T.; Miss Emma Dreher, W. V. T.; N.W. Blue, W. R. S.; Wallace Glass, W. F. S.; Richard Barry, W. T.; Henry Dimon, W. C.; S. Warner, W. M.; Miss Ella Lewis, W. I. G.; Joseph Barry, W. S.

WE again state that no paper is issued in the JOURNAL job office. We do not lease our job office to anybody, nor do we permit outsiders to come in and use it. Those who appear to have such an interest in our business affairs will please remember this. Perhaps it may hurt somebody that we get so much work to do—and the cash for it.

THE pic-nic excursion of the school of Kahl Montgomery, to Whitehall was a grand success, notwithstanding the unpleasant weather. The Selma school met the Montgomery school at Whitehall, and the union pic-nic was a most enjoyable affair. The amusements were such as are usually enjoyed on such occasions, and the young people made the most of their excursion. Our pic-nic season is now fully inaugurated, and we may expect that all our citizens will have an opportunity of spending a day in the cool shades of the country. It is the only source of amusement now left us.

WE were shown yesterday a letter to one of his former pupils in this city, from Mr. Enoch L. Childs, the first principal of the "Montgomery Academy." This idstitution was under his able and successful management from January, 1841, till January, 1847. Mr. Childs is now in the 68th year of his age, and resides in Concord, New Hampshire. He writes to his old friend that if able to travel he would prefer to visit Montgomery to any other spot on earth—the pleasant scene of his early labors and activities. His surviving pupils, we know, will be glad to learn that he still lives and still retains his old affection for them.

To the Republican Voters of Montgomery County.

We direct special attention to the call, to be found in another column headed "To the Republican Voters of Montgomery County." This call is an important one to every true Republican in the State. It is requested that the various beats hold meetings on Monday, the 15th inst., to nominate delegates to the County Convention, which meets at the Court House in this city at 12 m., on Tuesday the 16th inst. The County Convention will select delegates to the Congressional Convention. Let every Republican favorable to the call constitute himself a committee of the whole and go to work with a terrible earnestness for the success of the cause.

PERSONALS.—We had the pleasure yesterday of greeting our distinguished friend, the Hon. Alex. White, who is in the city attending the United States court. Judge White is looking in excellent health, and his hosts of friends in the city were highly pleased at meeting him again. Judge White has recently declined a most important and responsible official position in our State as he desires to practice his profession free from all restraints. We are glad to learn that he has decided to remain at his home among his old friends, and not take up his residence in Washington, as has been reported. Judge White is an honor to the bar of Alabama, an upright and patriotic citizen, and Alabama could ill afford to lose him. We hope his future may be bright and prosperous and happy—as he richly deserves to be—and that his life may be spared many long years to continued usefulness to the people. Judge White is stopping at the Madison House.

Hon. Lewis E. Parsons, of Talladega, is in the city, in attendance upon the U S. Courts. He is registered at the Madison House.

Our popular citizen Capt. Herman Kenneworth, will leave the city in a short time to visit his friends and relatives in his native land—Denmark. He expects to remain absent for some time. His hosts of friends in Montgomery wish him a pleasant journey and safe return to his home among us.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or strangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "mortgages" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL.

BY T. C. BINGHAM & CO. "The Union------It Must and Shall be Preserved." Terms---$8 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1876 NUMBER 201

SAM BARD.....Editor.

THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1876.

FOR SALE.

The able argument before the Senate Committee of the U. S. Senate, in the Spencer case, as printed in our issue of Sandwich last, is for sale at our business counter. It should be read by every elector in Alabama. Send in your orders at once.

Much smoking kills live men and cures dead swine.

SEE CALL.

SENATOR MORTON.

Senator Morton's explanation will carry conviction with it of the utter falsity of the scandalous rumor reflecting upon his official integrity while Governor of Indiana. He has crushed the lie, and in crushing it gave to the Republican party a campaign document of inestimable value. "It is an ill wind that blows no body good."

CORRECT.

Sam Bard, editor of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL, says: "It is about as hard for an Alabama Bourbon Democratic editor to be honest as it would be for a snake to stand upright and walk upon the tip end of his tail."—New York Herald, May 8th.

Absolutely correct.

MRS. PRESIDENT POLK.

An exchange says: "Ex-President Polk's widow has been invited by Col. Tom Scott to visit the Centennial in a special car placed at her disposal." That's right, Tom; let the elegant widow go Scott free.

HOLD HIS OWN NOSE.

The Selma Republican of the 10th instant contains a very angry article on Senator Spencer and the editor of this paper.

The writer of the article, should hold his own nose, pinch it, pull it, and twist it, as much as he pleases. He can save better men the trouble.

BARKING DOGS.

All the dirty dogs in Alabama are barking and snapping at the JOURNAL. Bark on, until you get tired—Blanche, Tray and Sweetheart. Barking dogs seldom bite.

TILDEN.

Samuel J. Tilden, of New York, President of the United States, with Thurman, of Ohio, and Bayard, of Delaware, in his Cabinet, would lead the nation back to the best days of the Republic, and win for us once more the respect of the world.—[New York Herald.

Yes, in the little end of a horn.

LETTER FROM NORTH ALABAMA.

On our second page will be found a letter, signed, "NORTH ALABAMA." While it is rather long it is full of interest, and the editor of the New York Times, as well as others, should read it with close attention. The writer makes some strong points, as to Senator Spencer, Mr. Mayer, and others. We ask a careful and impartial reading by all who read the JOURNAL.

GOV. TILDEN.

The assertion that Governor Tilden would willingly accept the second place on the Democratic ticket to be nominated at St. Louis next month is made seriously and upon good authority. It seems that the Indiana, Maryland, North Carolina and other Southern Democrats have been quietly manipulating affairs, and have succeeded in effecting a compromise between Hendricks and Tilden which will result in a combination of their respective friends to secure the defeat of other aspirants. Their "pool" is Hendricks and Tilden against the field. But their schemes will come to naught. Indiana has never had a President, and will never have one who is foolish enough to run on the Democratic ticket. It is a long time since New York had a Vice President, and it will be longer still.

GOV. SEYMOUR.

The last letter of Gov. Seymour declining the Presidency reminds one of his Democratic friends of the ancient maiden who declared her purpose never to marry, and made a record of it on frosted glass—on which a wag commented as follows:

This lovely pretty lass
Hath her resolution spoken,
And writes it down on glass
In hopes it may be broken.

IF the Democratic critics had any valid reasons against the Apportionment bill, they would bring them forward. But the less argument they have, the more epithets and vituperation they are compelled to employ. Hence, the vehemence with which they denounce it as "infamous" and "villainous." The intemperance of their adjectives marks the weakness of their logic.

CONKLING AND CURTIS.

It is a notable article we print to-day from the Troy Times, regarding Mr. Conkling and Mr. Curtis. Why does not Mr. Conkling deserve now all that Mr. Curtis said of him in 1872? Is it Mr. Conkling who has changed, or Mr. Curtis?

A HARD HIT.

Referring to the President's hard hit at the House the Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.) says: The message seems not only to have the law on the House, but it has decidedly the advantage in facts and precedents, and has left the House of Representatives in the attitude of not being conversant with some of the most familiar facts and practices in our history. * * * The resolution was ill-advised, the action of the House in adopting it was hasty and ill-considered, and what was intended as a blow has recoiled with a very audible tap on the intelligence of the body that directed it. * * * It is true, the clerks of the various departments have to remain in Washington all summer, but there is neither reason nor propriety in putting the chief executive under the discipline provided for a clerk; and those who take a contrary view of the proper requirements of the office have very little conception of the exalted dignity of the position.

GEN. GRANT.

Is is agreed upon all hands that the President made a decided hit in his message to the House in answer to the Democratic impertinence. It is being observed, also, that the President is pretty well read in the history of his country, and knows when he is on the ground made safe by established precedents. The following, from the New York Herald's special, is an illustration:

The President has been, during his whole administration, very careful on one point. He has never traveled out of the boundaries of the United States. During his visits to Niagara Falls he has even refused to cross to the Clifton House. When visiting a friend at Thousand Islands, he would not cross to the Canada shore. When, in 1871, he was presented at the opening of the European and North American Railroad, he stopped at Vanceborough, near the Canada line. He carefully refused to cross even the little river St. Croix, which forms the boundary line there. So far as is now remembered here, there is but one instance of a President of the United States going into a foreign country. Mr. Van Buren went to Kingston, in Canada, in 1839, and he was much criticised for his journey at the time.

INDIANA.

The Republicans won a notable victory in Indianapolis, carrying the city by more than four thousand majority and electing eleven of the thirteen councilmen. The town meetings generally throughout the State also show large Republican gains. This does not look much as though Indiana should be considered one of the doubtful States in the Presidential contest, as has been widely claimed.

The result in Indianapolis is the more gratifying from the fact that the Democrats made the most heroican effort to gain the day. These bellicose Democrats had passed gory resolutions to the effect that they were prepared to wade to their armpits in blood, if need be, to carry the election. The dastardly declarations had the effect to inaugurate a riot in which blood was shed, but the ballot-box stuffing Democracy did not carry the election after all, thanks to the true and earnest men of Indianapolis.

PRESIDENT GRANT'S REPLY TO HIS INQUISITORS.

[From the New York Herald.]

The investigating busybodies at Washington "waked up the wrong passenger" when they called the President to account for his absence from the national capital. These meddlers are doing a great deal to make all their labors ridiculous by their headlong zeal to arraign persons in positions of trust. They blunt the effect of the most necessary investigations by barking like unruly curs at the heels of every passer-by as if he were a thief. If they had known anything of our history they would not have set upon President Grant and have sent him a resolution which was an arraignment for doing things which his predecessors, from Washington down, have done without blame or question. They did not need to know any history, but only the plain text of the constitution, to have saved them from so obviously a blunder. By the constitution the President is made Commander-in-Chief of the Army, which he can command in the field in person whenever he chooses and still exercise the civil duties of his office. There is no part of the United States in which he may not perform any executive act without impairing its validity.

When Congress is in session our Presidents, Grant included, have always remained within easy reach of that body for the convenience of official intercourse. In the recess of Congress they have always felt at liberty, in time of peace, to be absent from the seat of government for health, business or recreation, and nobody thought of accusing them. Washington spent much of his time during recesses of Congress at Mount Vernon, when the seat of government was New York and Philadelphia, although the journey was formidable with such facilities of travel as then existed and communication by mail was tedious. President Adams used to leave Washington in May or June for his home in Quincy, where he stayed until September or October; and Jefferson, in like manner, spent his summers at Monticello and Poplar Forest.

Before the establishment of railroads and the telegraph such absences might sometimes cause inconvenience, but the heads of departments conducted the routine business, and in graver matters waited until they could hear from the President by post. At present the absence of the President in the recess of Congress is not even attended with inconvenience. He can hold instant communication with the capital at all hours of the day and the night, and there is no more difficulty in referring matters to him and getting his decision than if he never stepped outside of the executive mansion.

President Grant's message on this subject is a very telling document, and his overwhelming array of facts and precedents should make the authors of the resolution of inquiry blush, if they are capable of blushing.

CONKLING AND THE PRESIDENCY.

Curtis Against Curtis.

[From the Troy Daily Times.]

Mr. Curtis is thus arrayed against Mr. Curtis. Mr. Conkling has not changed. He is the same man to-day that he was when the commendation that we quote was written of him. Then Mr. Conkling was made the target of unjust and ungenerous assault, just as he is made now; and it is curious to note that the basis of the attack upon him was very much the same in character that it is now. But it is still more strange to see that Mr. Curtis then defended Mr. Conkling against these peculiar assaults. He upheld his conduct—he praised him for what he had done and was doing. These words from the article we quote are especially significant: "The persistent aspersions of the Senator as a malign friend of the President has dauntless prejudiced many persons; but they will observe that what is said in hostility to the one, is as vague as all that was urged against the other during the campaign." Mr. Curtis most unaccountably seems to have imbibed the prejudice which is here denounced, and from the same vague and uncertain source. But the words he then wrote in defense of Mr. Conkling now confront him, and are the best answere to the "persistent aspersion" that is heaped upon our eminent Senator at the present time.

Mr. Curtis can not say that though Mr. Conkling has not changed, the times have. They have not changed. The leading and representative men of the Republican party are maligned to-day as they were in 1872. Almost daily we are told the President has been "caught" in dishonest practices, and his impeachment is threatened. Mr. Blaine, Mr. Bristow, Mr. Morton and Mr. Conkling, are each and all assailed. Star Chamber courts are sitting at Washington whose sole purpose is to prove that these distinguished statesmen are thieves and scoundrels. Even lunacy is pressed upon the stand to swear away the reputation of the President, and the most unblushing perjury is brought into requisition to blast the names of Republican leaders. In one instance only has an official culprit been exposed; and the same shot that brought him down also brought down a prominent aspirant to the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, and an ex candidate of the same party for the Vice Presidential office. A chivalric sense of duty to his party and its representative men so wantonly traduced should lead every Republican to stand by them in this hour of universal calumny, and to defend them as Mr. Curtis defended Mr. Conkling from like assault in 1872. The words he then uttered were truthful and just, but not more so then than now. Mr. Conkling is as honest to-day as he was in 1872. He has not in the intervening years fallen away from the principles of a lifetime. He is as much of a patriot to-day as he was then. The country never knew a purer allegiance than he bears it. He is as devoted to the principles of the Republican party, and as brave and chivalrous in defence of them, now as he was then. If others have proved recreant to those principles and followed after abstractions, or indulged in vague and persistent aspersion of the truest and most loyal defenders of Republican faith, Mr. Conkling has pressed onward in the path of duty, and never for a moment been confounded by the noise and clamor around him. No false guides have, for a single instant, turned his steps aside.

NOT SO.

PRATTVILLE, ALA., May 9, 1876

Editor Journal: The Montgomery Weekly Bulletin of the 6th inst., states that the Republicans of this county have decided to send delegates to the Convention of May 16th. This is not so. Autauga will have no delegates in the Convention.

The movements of the new committee does not give satisfaction here.

REPUBLICAN.

A GREAT CLATTER.

From the great clatter made by the Democratic curs who have been yelping at the heels of the several Republican gentlemen who are talked of as possible candidates for the Presidency, the astounded public were almost persuaded that every one of them was more deserving of a residence in the penitentiary than in the White House. But the issue is confusion to the accusers rather than to the accused. Blaine has literally demolished his libelers. Morton, by a single word, silenced his enemies and crushed out a whole nest of copperheads. Bristow promptly lashed his accusers into silence, and Conkling has demonstrated, to every one's satisfaction, that the malicious whisperers against his integrity are both knaves and fools. It is certainly gratifying, not only to all Republicans but to all fair men of all parties, that, after the most persistent efforts to tarnish the honor of these distinguished gentlemen, their vindictive enemies have failed to detect even so much as the smell of smoke upon their garments.

If there are any people who, after reading Gov. Seymour's letter, see more than they saw before, they must look between the lines. The lines themselves are as inconclusive as every previous declaration from him.

PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—Dom Pedro and suite arrived here last night. At the depot they took carriages and were driven quietly to the Centennial Hotel, and afterwards were taken to the Centennial buildings and were offered a private view of the Brazilian exhibition.

To day being a legal holiday in this State, all places of business in the city are closed and bunting is displayed in profusion on all the thoroughfares and to-night there is a grand illumination. The gates of the exhibition were promptly opened at 9, a. m. Since that hour there has been at all the different entrances a continuous jam. The ceremonies opened at precisely 10:15, a. m. The national airs of all nations were performed by the large orchestras. It is estimated that 50,000 people are on the grounds and the people are still pressing in at all of the various entrances.

At 10:30 a. m. Dom Pedro arrived and was escorted to his seat by Gen. Hawley. At 10:45, Gen. Philip Sheridan and wife passed over from the building to stand in front of the Memorial Hall during the recital of the national airs, and he was greeted with great applause, which he gracefully acknowledged. He was closely followed by Hon. J. G. Blaine, and Senator Jones and wife, of Novada. At 10:50 the President entered through the Memorial Hall, and was conducted to a seat on the front of the platform. The platform presented a fine appearance, as the diplomatic officers and attaches were in full uniform, and there were many military officers from all parts of the country present. The orchestra was all in place before 10 o'clock, and at 15 minutes past 10 Gen. Hawley waved a signal for the commencement of the national airs of all nations.

At 2 minutes past 11 the Emperor of Brazil and party came to the platform and were loudly cheered. The orchestra played the Braziilian national hymn as he mounted the steps and was greeted by Gen. Hawley and others of the commission. At 10:45 the signal was given for the music to stop, and the President escorted by Gen. Hawley, advanced to the front of the platform and was loudly cheered, and the music closed. At 11:10 Gen. Hawley announced that Bishop Simpson would invoke the divine blessing. Conversation ceased, and throughout the prayer the entire assemblage maintained excellent order without any exception. Mr. Welsh, President of the Centennial Board of Finance then at 11:26 presented the building to the United States Centennial Commissioners. Mr. Welsh was frequently applauded. Gen. Hawley then arose and said the President of the Centennial Commission accepted the great trust confided to him by the board of finance. At 11:48 began the presentation speech by Gen. Hawley, turning the exhibition buildings over to the President of the United States.

At 5 minutes of 12 o'clock, amid great applause, the President delivered his speech accepting the trust, and was loudly cheered, the Emperor of Brazil rising in his seat and joining in the demonstration by removing his hat. It is estimated that there were not far from 100,000 people in the assemblage at this time—12 o'clock. At a signal from General Hawley, the American flag was unfurled from the main building. The hallelujah chorus was rendered with orchestral and organ accompaniment. A salute of 100 guns was fired from George's Hill, together with the ringing of chimes from different parts of the ground.

During the performance of the chorus the foreign commissioners passed from the platform to the main building, and took places upon the centre aisle before their respective departments, after which President Grant, accompanied by Director Gen. Goshorn, followed by the guests of the day passed into the main building, and from thence to Machinery Hall, and from there to the Judges' quarters, where a reception by the President was held. The procession headed by President Grant, after passing through the main Exhibition building passed to Machinery Hall, where the President at 12:20 p. m. put in motion the general engine, thus starting all the machinery in that building. This closed the formal ceremonies of the day.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The parties indicted by the grand jury in the United States Cucuit Court, yesterday, on the charge of complicity in crooked whisky frauds, are being arrested and brought in to-day by deputy marshals. The names of the parties thus far arrested are Edgar P. Hill, F. O. Boyd, Joseph Anthony, and Wm. S. Miller. Bail is fixed in each case at from $10,000 to $20,000, with two sureties.

A Paris special gives some incidents of the recent Salonica riot. It appears that Mr. Lazzaro, the American consulate agent, interfered at the railway station to rescue a young Christian girl from a band of Musselmen, who were forcing her to a mosque, when she screamed for assistance. Lazzaro conveyed the girl to the United States consulate in his carriage. The house was immediately surrounded by a mob. The German and French Consuls also went to the United States consulate to protect her. They were cruelly beaten to death with benches and iron bars. The American consulate was saved from destruction by the military, who were ordered on duty by the government as soon as informed of the state of affairs by the Italian Consul.

BROOKLYN, May 10.—An inquest was held to-day over the body of Pesach N. Rubenstein, at the Brooklyn morgue. The jury rendered a verdict as follows: "Death resulted from incipient pulmonary tuberculosio, produced by self deprivation of nourishment and nervous prostration.

This morning Israel Rubenstein, father of the murderer, said to a bystander: "Oh, my dear, innocent son. I knew he was innocent all the time, and it just killed him to put him in that prison. My son was not the murderer of Sarah Alexander. He was a pious man. He wouldn't commit such a crime." When Israel Rubenstein caught sight of Detective Gundi, who was present, he accused him of having been the cause of the death of his son. He was very much excited and shook his fist menacingly at the detective, threatening to shoot him. The body was interred in the Jewish cemetery on Cypress Hill.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 10.—The French, German and British governments have ordered war ships to proceed to Salonica for the preservation of peace and the protection of their respective subjects and christians generally.

It is stated in diplomatic circles here that efforts are being made at Berlin to hold Austria morally responsible for the outrage at Salonica, on the ground that the Austrian policy was a direct encouragement to Turkish fanaticism and tyranny.

The Times considers that the Khedive's decree establishing a board of control in accordance with Mr. Cave's recommendation, and placing one-half of the founders' shares in the Suez Canal at the disposal of Britain, gives no real control to England in the matter.

The Times' money article to-day says American bonds are without special feature.

The failure of Messrs. Turner, Natt & Strong, provision merchants of Bristol is announced to-day with liabilities of 85,000 pounds.

The Winslow case will remain in statue quo until the termination on Saturday of his remand. Several members of the House of Commons are proposing that the Government place a man of war at the disposal of the members visiting the Philadelphia Centennial as a proof of the friendship existing between England and America.

A dispatch to the Times from Madrid says Castellar spoke yesterday in Congress in favor of complete liberty of conscience, and argued the alteration and extension of article eleven of the new constitution.

The Morning Post says 108 members of Parliament have already signed the memorial, asking for the release of the Fenian prisoners.

The Scottish small bore marksmen recently held a number of meetings at Edinburgh and Glasgow for the purpose of maturing arrangements for the selection of a team to represent Scotland at the American Centennial Rifle Match. Col. McDonald of Queen's Edinburgh rifles, volunteer brigade, and sheriff of Invernesshire, has been elected captain of the team, and Col. Wilson of Sterlingshire rifle batalion, adjutant. It has been determined that the team shall form a company at the Centennial, and already $3,000 has been privately subscribed to assist in defraying expenses of the trip. About twenty of the crack shots of Scotland have signified their intention to participate in competing for the selection of a team, and more are expected when shooting begins.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, May 10.—In regard to Dr. Lenopan's exhibit of affairs of the Methodist book concern in the West, and to his charge of the insolvency of the concern before the Conference at Baltimore, Dr. Hight, editor of the Western Christian Advocate, answers that charge is not true, and the exhibit unfair; that the large building corner of 4th and Home and 8th and Main streets in this city is worth $300,000, and were not included in the assets; that the Western concern was not established to make money and declare dividends, but as a Missionary effort to publish and circulate periodicals that were not self-sustaining. The one hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of checks Dr. Lenopan displayed as having been stolen, Dr. Hight asserts every one of them is cancelled, and of no value whatever.

CLEVELAND, May 10.—A company of militia left Missillon this morning en route to Lawrence, to make arrests of persons indicted by the grand jury, for riot. No opposition was made; 8 arrests were made and the prisoners was sent to Canton. One miner who refused to stop when ordered to do so was shot through the bowels, and has since died. Much excitement prevails among the strikers, and it is stated that a mass meeting of miners of the entire Tuscarora valley, will be held to-day or to morrow.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 10.—It is reported that a new project will be proposed at the approaching Berlin Conference with a view to the establishment of two separate jurisdictions to the Turkish Territory; the one for Christians, other for Mohamedans. The latter will be under the control of the Sultan, and the former under a Christian Prince, similar to the arrangements which existed in Servia, before her independence. It is thought this proposal will receive the support of Gortschakoff, Andrassy and Bismarck.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1876.

LETTER FROM NORTH ALABAMA.

Editor State Journal: DEAR SIR—I received from some one, unknown to me, last evening, a copy of the "New York Times," of date May 31. This paper contains two marked articles one by the editor, I suppose, the other by a correspondent over the signature of "H. C." I do not know who "H. C." is, or where he lives—nor do I care. He is evidently a stranger to Alabama politics and the history of the Republican party of the State. Said correspondent most certainly did eat, drink and sleep with, or obtained all his information from some disorganizor, or attempted disorganizor of the Republican party in Alabama, at any rate his whole statement from first to last is made in the interest of the Smith faction and not in the interest of truth or of the good of the Republican party of Alabama. I am a Republican, a native of Alabama, and, further, I am not an office-holder, State or Federal, nor am I on either of the committees that called the two conventions, and I say further, that I only have the good of Alabama and the success of the Republican party at heart. I would censure Senator Spencer for a wrong act as soon as Gov. Smith or Hon. Samuel F. Rice, or that of any other friend in the State. My purpose is to vindicate the truth, let it hurt whom it may. The correspondent of the Times attempts to cast a stigma upon the Republicans of Alabama by a slang reference to the "court-house legislature" as a notorious body and intimates that its action should not be sustained. Any one conversant with the history of the election in 1872, and the events that followed, know that the Republicans of Alabama carried the State by a large majority. That of the members elected to both houses of the Legislature the Republicans had a decided majority, that the unscrupulous Democrats then in power, by the timidity of Gov. Smith, in not holding on to his office of governor to which he had been elected in 1870, refused to give certificates of election to members of the Assembly who had been duly elected, though attempting to rob the Republicans of their hard earned victory. Senator Spencer contributed as much or more than any one man in Alabama to such victory. I was in said campaign as one of the Presidential electors for the State at large and know whereof I speak, so much for this part of the letter of "H. C."

Now, as to his statement in regard to the executive committee of which Charles E. Mayer is chairman, he appears to be as ignorant of, as of the other things about which he writes. The Convention of Republicans in 1874, selected an executive committee which consisted of twelve members. This committee selected Col. Mayer as its chairman. This was regular, and no objection made to the committee or its chairman until the fall or winter of 1875, so far as I have ever heard. I was in the convention of 1874 and know what occurred. It is true that in 1874 we were defeated. Mr. Mayer is not responsible for the defeat, I, as chairman of the County Executive Committee of Jackson corresponded with Mayer and others in the State during that campaign, and I am satisfied that the cause of defeat is not attributable to any want of diligence or inefficiency of the State Executive Committee or the chairman thereof, but was owing to the disaffection of Judge Busteed and others, who refused to support the State and Congressional ticket. In the two elections in 1875, if the advice of Mayer had been adhered to in the election on the call of the constitutional Convention it would have been defeated, but leading Republicans throughout the State, refused to do so, but said, give the Democrats a chance, let them have a Convention, that by so doing they will effectually destroy themselves and strengthen the Republican party. This policy I agree with Mayer was ruinous, yet the leaders of some sections could not, or would not, see it—and hence our defeat. The State once in the hands of the Bourbon Democracy, they were too sharp to loose their hold, and brought on the election to adopt the constitution at as early a day as they could, so that they could hurry it through without giving the people time to consider of its provisions. This action was the cause of our defeat.

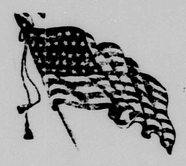
But I will return to the question of the Executive Committee. It is well-known to every one and certainly to "H.C." and his friends or advisers that no power exists outside of the Convention to reorganize or change the creature of the convention. This committee with its chairman are but the agents of the Convention empowered to do certain things, when these things are accomplished, then the duty ends. One of the duties of such committee was to call at the proper time, a Convention of the Republicans of Alabama in 1876, this Mr. Mayer did, by and with the consent of at least a majority of the committee appointed by the Convention of 1874. There never existed—outside the Convention—any conventionary right, authority or usage of any party to reorganize the committee of such Convention and the attempt to do such a thing is simply irregular—more, it is absolutely void, and no one knows this better than the "Times" writer, "H. C." or the writer of the comments on said letter of "H. C."

The convention called by Mr. Mayer will, when convened, so re arrange the State Executive Committee, appoint a chairman, and do whatever else the pleasure of the convention may indicate is necessary for the success of the cause of good government in Alabama, and that of the Republican party. The "Times" correspondent, "H. C." shows his want of information, I mean correct information, when he asserts that the respectable portion of the Republicans of Alabama are all on the side of Smith and Rice. This correspondent makes this strange statement which is entirely false, he says: "I find enrolled under 'the bar-tender Senator,' all the low political wir pullers, pot-house politicans, ruffians and bullies who have disgraced the Republican party in this State. Among the rest there are many thieves and at least two murderers." Now this statement is very far from true. There may be some who belong to the Republican party in Alabama, who are not what they ought to be, but can this be helped. Let "H.C." look to every investigation into the short comings of Republicans in Alabama, and he will then see who has failed to come up to the full measure of their duty. The majority of those who are at this time playing the disorganizers in this State are not and have not been altogether what they should have been, it is true, but if "H. C." had stayed in North Alabama he would have learned a very different state of facts. Because there are a few malcontents, about Montgomery and other cities in the State, that does not argue that the mass of the Republicans are dissatisfied with Mayer or Spencer or any one else. The mass of of the people are only ashamed that such men as Gov. Smith and Hon. S. F. Rice, will bind themselves to any move that is calculated to injure the Republican party and wound their friends in their own household. Every man, Democrat or Republican, in Alabama, knows, who knows anything of the history of the past ten or twelve years, that the war upon Senator Spencer, has emenated from a class of disappointed Republicans and miserable trickstering radical Democrats. We lost the election in 1870 and in 1874 and 1875 by the same element who are now making such a feeble effort to divide and distract the party in the State. I feel personally the fling of the Times' correspondent, and am conscious that thousands of others do so too, because of the charge, that none but disreputable men are following the lead of Senator Spencer, if they desire to have it stated that way. The said correspondent of the Times intimates that the appointments made through the influence of Gen. Spencer are a disgrace to the party. Now, I would ask the gentleman, be he who he may, if he has reference to Judge Bruce. Calvin Goodloe, R. P. Barker, J. J. Martin, George Turner, E. Latham or any other Federal office-holder in Alabama, who has been guilty of any wrongful practice as an officer. Do not be afraid to speak out, name the man and point out his misdoings and see how quickly he will be sent to the rear. I do not propose to champion any man or set of men, but what I do want, is justice and fair dealing. I would not have written this much, but for the fact, that I feel that the article referred to, was wrong and in palpable violation of the truth, and against the facts, and that this much was necessary for the vindication of the Republicans, who dare differ with those who are slow to act, unless their personal interest is to be subserved.

Yours, etc, NORTH ALABAMA.

Scottsboro, May 8, 1876.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.



In view of the fact that the time is rapidly approaching when the Republican party will be again called upon to enter the field in opposition to the Bourbon Democratic Party, which is so earnestly seeking to perpetuate its baneful rule in this State, by the suppression of free schools, the collection of unjust taxes, and other measures abhorrent to every lover of free government; and, also, in view of the fact that no steps have been taken to secure a true representation of the Republicans of Montgomery county at the approaching State Convention to BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., which will nominate candidates for the various State offices, and select delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati, the undersigned members of the Republican party, respectfully request the Republican voters of Montgomery county to meet in their various beats on Monday the 15th day of May, 1876, and select delegates to a County Convention to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1876, at 12 o'clock, m., at the Court House in the city of Montgomery, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention TO BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., and nominating a Legislative ticket for Montgomery county. The County Convention will also select delegates to the Congressional Convention, and transact such other business as may properly come before it.

The usual apportionment will be observed in the selection of delegates from the various beats as follows:

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,

Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

ROOMS REPUBLICAN STATE EX. COM.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 2, '76.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State offices: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the fourteenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In consequence of the change of Congressional Districts caused by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have no organizations perfected it is recommended that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts should, while attending the Convention, select two delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

Autauga, 2; Blount, 2; Clark, 2; Conecuh, 2; Covington, 2; Coffee, 2; Crenshaw, 2; Cleburne, 2; Calhoun, 2; Coosa, 2; Colbert, 2; Escambia, 2; Etowah, 2; Fayette, 2; Franklin, 2; Geneva, 2; Jackson, 4; Jefferson, 2; Lauderdale, 2; Lawrence, 4; Marengo, 6; Marshall, 2; Montgomery, 10; Marion, 2, Pike, 2; Pickens, 4; Randolph, 2; Sanford, 2; Baldwin, 2, Barbour, 6; Bibb, 2; Bullock, 6; Butler, 2; Chilton, 2; Choctaw, 2, Cherokee, 2; Chambers, 4; Clay, 2; Dallas, 10; Dale, 2; DeKalb, 2; Elmore, 2; Greene, 4; Hale, 4; Henry, 2; Lowndes, 6; Lee, 4; Limestone, 2; Monroe, 2; Mobile, 10; Madison, 6; Macon, 4; Morgan, 2; Perry, 6; Russell, 4; Shelby, 2; St. Clair, 2; Tuskaloosa, 4; Tallapoosa, 4; Washington, 2; Winston, 2; Sumter, 6; Talladega, 4; Wilcox, 6; Walker, 2.

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER, Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.

POND'S EXTRACT

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: ask for POND'S EXTRACT.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN.—No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains or Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Stings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discolorations and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESS.—It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fullness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES—Blind or Bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use.

VARICOSE VEINS.—It is the only sure cure for this painful affliction, and Congestion of the Womb in such cases is always relieved.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific,) Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE.—Removes Soreness, Roughness, and Smarting, heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It refines, invigorates, and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS.—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Spavins, Hardness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleeding, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, etc. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Farm-house. Let it be tried once, and you will never be without it.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.
An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent pr poses to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $20 0, $500, $1,000, $3,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is customarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,329,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring, Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

SOLD.

...Bring on the beautiful a knell,
...A knell for the young and fair,
...While starts to its sound of the marriage bell
...One sad long walk with despair:
...O'er a life long in your belfry high,
...Swing and ring to the sunny sky,
...Gaudy bells, to the sunny sky,
...But your voices are knells,
...And the pean that swells
...In the wing'les'
...Is a wail of woe, but in tones most clear
...Ye are shouting far to the listening ear—
...Sold! Sold! Sold!

...A thousand eyes are eager to see
...That glittering prize of price;
...But the sweet bride walketh wearily,
...And her eyes are dim, alas!
...And her heart, in the gilt she brings;
...Hark, the heart, is the gift she sings,
...Duty, not love is her strain she sings,
...And her visions are fraught
...With cankering thought
...And direful imaginings.
...Her heart should be light, but its beat is slow,
...Sobbing and throbbing, sad and low—
...Sold! Sold! Sold!

...Sold for a million of glittering gold!

...Orange flowers in her shining hair,
...Ill concealed by gossamer lace;
...O, she is lovely beyond compare,
...Fresh and sweet is her girlish face;
...Scarce jewels on hand and breast,
...Gems of the Orient, gifts of the West,
...In glimmering play,
...Seem laughingly to say—
...We are the price of unrest—
...But the song is sung and the rites read,
...The pageant over, the vows are said
...Sold! Sold! Sold!

...Sold for a million of perishing gold!

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1876.

KEEP the streets well sprinkled now.

RAILROAD agents are now stirring around lively.

THE Alabama river was rising at Selma, yesterday.

THERE was considerable movement in cotton yesterday.

AN excursion to Pensacola and the forts is on the tapis.

THE Board of Revenue of this county is now a constitutional fact.

THE United States District Court meets at 10 o'clock this morning.

OUR fair grounds will be the most beautiful and attractive in the State, when completed.

THE "Greys" have decided to have target practice on Tuesday, the 23d of this month.

SEVERAL ugly holes on Montgomery street have been repaired this week by the street force.

THE theatre will be occupied to-night by the German Military Band. See about seats to-day.

THE boarding houses are all in a flourishing condition now. The United States Court is the explanation.

THE splendid selections of dry goods at LeGrand's attracts hundreds of ladies to the "Temple Stores" every day.

SEVERAL of our citizens will leave for Philadelphia in a few days to attend the Centennial, it having opened yesterday.

YESTERDAY was one of those warm, genial days, when the pedestrian finds it very pleasant to carry an umbrella and fan.

THERE will be no trials of cases arising under the enforcement acts, probably, at the present term of the United States District Court.

THOSE who favor the reduction of the police force, ought not to claim any protection themselves while others ask for it, and really need it.

THE school vacations will soon be inaugurated in the city, and we are promised several Concerts by the proprietors of different colleges.

IN the United States District Court yesterday, the case of the United States vs. Geo. F. Beach, late deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, was set for trial on Monday the 22d of this month.

DRY Goods are very cheap now. Calicoes are selling as low as five cents per yard, and other qualities of goods about the same proportion. The scarcity of money, we presume, is the cause of this decline in dry goods.

OUR accomplished townslady, Mrs. Lewis Owen, will give one of her most entertaining and instructive readings at the M. E. church, on the evening of Monday, 15th inst. It will be a rare literary treat, and the church will be crowded with appreciative listeners.

AT the evening session of the United States Court yesterday, the cases of the United States vs. W. E. Payne, Thomas J. Burnett, Thomas Ingraham, William Cargill and several others for violations of the enforcement acts of Congress, were dismissed on demurrer.

THE United States Court was engaged nearly the whole of yesterday in hearing the case of the United States vs. Joseph Irvin, charged with illicit distilling, in Tallapoosa county. Governor Parsons and Smith represented Irvin and District Attorney McAfee represented the Government.

WE are glad to learn that Mr. Wm. L. Corbin, the popular and efficient Chief Deputy in Collector Barker's office, at Selma, has sufficiently recovered from a late serious illness, as to resume his accustomed place. Mr. Corbin is deservedly popular with the public, and possesses Collector Barker's entire confidence.

AT a meeting of the Young Mens' Christian Association, Tuesday night, the following officers were elected to serve as the Directory, the ensuing term: O. F. Warner, W. L. Chandler, T. G. Jones, W. B. Davidson, C. D. Bayne, W. S. Thorington, J. H. Lakin, E. P. Morisett, Silas Cater, W. P. Bell, J. M. Falkner, and M. M. Sweatt.

THE crops in Montgomery county are very promising. Several farmers in the city yesterday stated that the prospects for a good crop was cheering, and should seasons ahead be good, full crops would surely be realized. And ...is is the information which reaches us from different parts of the State. A good crop this year would put our people on their feet once more. We hope that their brightest expectations may be realized.

A GOOD MAN GONE.—We regret to announce the death, very unexpectedly yesterday morning, of Mr. Jacob Hasselton, for sixteen years a driver for the Southern Express Company of this city. Mr. Hasselton was one of the most faithful men we have ever known. During all the period of his service for the Southern Express Company, he never failed to be at his post on time, on any occasion. He was prompt in all his dealings, and believing that his time belonged to his employers, he gave it to them entirely. He was an honest, upright citizen, open and frank in all his dealings, and won the confidence and respect of all who knew him. His funeral will take place this morning, when his remains will be carried to the cemetery in the wagon of the Express Company which he attended. This wagon will be draped in mourning by the Express Company, as a token of their respect for his memory.

THE fare to and from the Centennial must be reduced, if the railroads expect to make anything or do any business. Our people here, are not able to pay the present fare, and they are not going to do so either. Thousands of people can pay $25 who cannot pay $50.

THE First Baptist Church is being beautifully repainted and otherwise repaired. The auditorium is one of the most pleasant and attractive in the city and possesses acoustic advantages which surpass most of the buildings of the kind we have ever seen. Alderman Kennedy is the contractor for this work and is finishing the job quite creditably.

OUR UNION DEPOT.—Speaking of our Union depot, the Warrior Tribune says:—The South and North Alabama Railroad Co. have decided to erect a large and commodious Union Depot at the foot of Commerce street in Montgomery. The work is to be begun during the summer. This is an improvement, which will add greatly to the welfare of that city and will be of great convenience to the traveling public.

The managers of that popular road are entitled to deserved credit for the pains they take to accommodate their patrons.

QUAINT TEXT.—"The devil as a roaring lion, walketh about seeking whom he may devour." Now, my friends, we will divide the subject of our text into four heads: First, we shall seek to learn "who the devil he was;" secondly, we shall inquire into his geographical position, namely, "where the devil he was, and where the devil he was going;" thirdly, (and this is of a personal character) "who the devil he was seeking;" and fourthly, we shall endeavor to solve a question which has never been solved yet, "what the devil he was roaring about."

THE COLUMBUS SCANDAL.—From the Columbus papers of yesterday, we glean the following particulars concerning the Kendrick case:

About 10 o'clock yesterday the Grand Jury came in the Superior Court with a true bill against Rev. (?) C. A. Kendrick for seduction. Reese Crawford, Esq., one of the counsel for the prosecution, asked his Honor to assess a bond, as they (the prosecution) did not care to be troubled about a writ of habeas corpus.

Ex-Judge Williams, one of the counsel for the defense, said that he hoped his Honor would not deem if necessary to assess a bond then, as it would come before his Honor sooner or later. They (the defense) did not think of suing out a writ of habeas corpus, nor intend to offer a bond. The bond was not assessed.

Judge Crawford said that he would sit upon the case at any time that the defense might wish to give bond.

Court then adjourned to 9 a. m. Monday.

A bench warrant was issued and served upon Kendrick. This prevents his coming befsre the three justices, and compels him to appear before Judge Crawford if he should offer bond.

WHITEHALL.

THE MONTGOMERY SHOOTING CLUB PICNIC THERE TO-DAY.

The warm weather is now upon us "for good." Excursions to the country will naturally follow as part of our summer life, and we apprehend that no one who is able to join an excursion to the country will fail to do so. An opportunity will be offered to-day to spend a few hours at the delightful bower of Whitehall, where the cool shades and sparkling waters invite nothing but joy and happiness.

The Montgomery Shooting Club give their first picnic excursion of the season, at that beautiful retreat, and we are sure that a day of genuine amusement is in store for all who attend.

The programme of the day's sport embraces many enjoyable features, and the enterprising gentlemen who have charge of the affair, are so well known for their efficiency in this respect, that it is not necessary for us to say anything on that score. The club was kind enough to invite us to participate in the pleasures of the occasion, with them, and we shall instruct our reporter to take down full notes, in order that we may inform our readers to-morrow of all that shall occur. The train departs at an early hour this morning, and all those who have been so fortunate as to secure tickets, will not fail to be at the depot in good time.

Gentlemen of the club, and your guests! We wish you a day of unalloyed pleasure, amidst the majestic oaks of fair Whitehall.

AT LAST.—The rose of spring has undoubtedly, at last, been heard in the land, and the uncertain glory of this Mayday gives promise of an early and ferocious summer. The green yute of a singularly mild winter, has not as yet fulfilled the predictions of those who looked for an unhealthy spring. Still the doctor comes up smiling and rubs his hands at the prospects of typhoid fever and ague and pnuemonia. He does not yet despair and as he anxiously inquires of his trusty apothecary how much demand there is for quinine, he mentally consoles himself with the hope that in the absence of the other ills he can yet fall back upon spring and general debility. The coroner is also cheerful. If nothing particularly brilliant in the explosions or boiler-bursting line has come to mark the post lenten season, he scents blood in the air. The angry passions of man have begun to rise, and the shouts of "hang him" sound as music to his ear. Passion begets apoplexy and sudden death, and alcoholic consolations lead to stretchers. Railroad and steamboat accidents have not been quite so frequent as in former years, but while there's life, there's hope. The streets already daily show the effects of spring weather in the crowds of beautiful ladies who promenade them, from early morn till dewy eve, making their pilgrimages to and from the shrines of novelty and fashion. All the sights and sounds are springlike and if nothing unforseen occurs to marr the general joy amongst the denizens of the barnyard, we may soon be gladdened by the annual cleaning and the cheerful sight of the mop and dust pan.

Let every farmer read the advertisement in this paper of "Chufas and Japan Peas." If one-half that is claimed for these crops by the best authorities be true they are indeed a godsend to the South. 3-26d&wlm.

IN ARREST.

THE UNION SPRINGS L'OVARIO IN THE TOILS OF LAW—IS WAIVES EXAMINATION, GIVES BOND, AND ABSCONDS.

Mr. Baumont who, it is said to have betrayed and destroyed Miss Hasky, of Union Springs, has been in this city ever since the evening on which his confiding and unfortunate victim took her own life. It appears that, upon learning from her that her parents had become acquainted with the sin, Baumont hastily packed up a valise, boarded a Montgomery bound train on the M. & E. railroad and arrived in this city that night. He repaired at once, on foot, according to the testimony of neighbors here, to the house in rear of the Capitol, occupied by Sallie McGee, another of his victims. The latter woman is the mother of two children and Baumont is their father. She has resided in this city about three years. When she first came here, she represented to a respectable lady, at whose house she secured board, that her husband was a commercial traveler by the name of Belmont, and owing to the fact that he had to traverse the country continually, he would not visit her often. The first year of her residence in this city, was passed at the house of the lady referred to above, and we are informed that this libertine did not call to see her but twice in that time. But her board was promptly paid, she conducted herself modestly, no one came to visit her, and her real character was not discovered until after a year's residence there.

She was then told that no husband could remain absent from his wife, under any honest pretext, for a year, and that she must seek other quarters to reside. This she did, renting a small house in rear of the Capitol, where she has ever since resided. Deputy Sheriffs Robinson and Toole were placed in possession of warrants yesterday morning, to arrest Baumont and Sallie McGee, upon a charge of adultery. Repairing to the house above stated, the officers found both persons, and arrested them. They were carried before Esquire Shorter for examination, with a view of their committment, but Baumont waived any hearing before the Magistrate and succeeded, without any trouble, in giving bond for their appearance at the next term of the City Court, to answer an indictment, should the grand jury find one. Justice Shorter then discharged them, and they walked out of his office with a boldness and indifference which caused considerable discussion among the numerous persons who had congregated in and about the office of Mr. Justice Shorter. The grand jury, we learn, will meet sometime in the early part of July. Until then, we presume, all further speculation will have to cease.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to test these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

INDIANAPOLIS REPORTED "OUR FORM."

WHO WILL WIN.

It is yet too early to determine who is ahead in the Presidential race. Very few delegates have been instructed, and there has been no such distinct expression of opinion by Conventions whose delegates are not instructed, to intelligently determine their preferences. Whatever estimates are now made so far as anything appears upon the surface, are made upon the merest conjecture, and favor this candidate or that according to the wishes of those who make up the tables.

The Tribune gives Blaine an aggregate of [illegible] votes thus far, although only [illegible] have been instructed. While there is no doubt that [illegible] from their location [illegible] by which they were [illegible] that many of the non-instructed delegates are properly classified, there is room for argument upon which [illegible] and it would [illegible] the estimate of the ultimate action of the Republican National Convention. THROWING MUD

The Democracy are struggling hard to intrench themselves in power. They have no prestige upon which to fall back, having lost all hold upon public respect and popular sentiment by their outrageous conduct before, during and since the war. Hence they are floundering about like a whale deserted by the tide, in the vain hope of striking something by which they may again force themselves into water deep enough to swim in.

During their recent installment in power in the lower branch of Congress the amount of mud they have thrown is simply prodigious. Sometimes it has struck an adversary with telling effect, and sometimes by an adverse current it has returned with blinding force upon the party throwing it. To throw mud is their only hobby. They have no advanced, practical or elevating principles upon which to stand; there is no confidence abiding with the people in which they can cast anchor; they have no hope of success, except in the defamation of character and criminal abuse of a few individuals who have held, or now hold, offices in the party in power, in the other branches of the government. They never think for a moment that the Republican party is just as anxious as themselves to ferret out existing corruptions, and that it has been using all its efforts to purge itself of the same. There is a vast difference, however, in the animus of the two parties. While the Republican party is engaged in pruning the poisonous vines which have insidiously entwined its various branches, in order that they may bring forth more generous fruit for the nourishment and growth of the great principles which it inaugurated, and which it has struggled so valiantly to perpetuate, the Democracy have no other motive but to secure the power which will enable them to undo all that has been done for the advancement of the people, and, eventually, perhaps, plunge the country again into a condition from which, at such a fearful cost of blood and treasure, it has so recently emerged.

The people are aware of this fact, and will not be hoodwinked by the hollow pretensions of a party boasting of such sudden conversion. They will rather trust to the tried patriotism and good faith of the party now in power, than to a party which has covered itself with infamy, and thus far done nothing to redeem its character.—Washington Chronicle.

THE INTERVENING ELECTIONS.

The Republican National Convention will convene five weeks from next Wednesday. The Democratic will be held at St. Louis two weeks later. With the nomination of Presidential candidates, and the adoption of national party platforms, the vital campaign of 1876 will be fairly inaugurated.

Important elections will occur this year in a large number of the States. In New York a Governor is to be elected, who will hold office for three years under the amended Constitution. A Lieutenant-Governor and several other State officers are also to be chosen. A full Assembly, and thirty-three members of the Forty-fifth Congress will likewise be elected on the same day. Besides all this, the fact that the Empire State, with its million of voters, is likely to be the great battle-field of the Centennial Presidential contest will render the campaign here one of the hottest known for years.

There will be no State election before October, that will be a trustworthy index of the popular pulse. North Carolina has changed its general election to November so that its familiar utterance heretofore in August during the Presidential year will not be heard. Kentucky will, of course cling as usual to its Democratic moorings, and whether the majority is larger or smaller will likely go for little. Maine and Vermont will speak in September, and good round Republican majorities may be taken for granted in advance. And while the majorities will doubtless be materially larger than at the last elections, no data is probable from which the results of the grand battle can be assuredly predicted.

We shall miss the October verdict of Pennsylvania this year, as it does not vote until November. But Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska will put in an appearance to tell us what the people are thinking, and to indicate very clearly how they will cast their ballots on the seventh of November. October is five months ahead, and there is no knowing what may take place within that time. Yet, it is about as certain as any event of the future can be that the October verdict will be in favor of the Republicans. Concerning Ohio, Iowa and Nebraska there can be no reasonable doubt. Indiana now has a Democratic government. If the Democrats carry it in October, they will simply hold their own. And this is all they can hope from the October elections. In 1872 they elected their Governor only to be beaten by more than twenty-two thousand a month later. But the outlook in the State differs greatly from that of four years ago. Gov. Hendricks was an unusually strong candidate. Mr. Williams, the present Democratic gubernatorial nominee is an unusually weak candidate, while his Republican opponent, Mr. Orth, is a stronger selection than has lately been made in Indiana by either party. The odds are greatly in his favor. And the recent charter elections throughout the State point unmistakably to a Republican victory both in October and in November.

The last six months have witnessed a general strengthening of the Republican lines. Ohio was redeemed from Democratic control last October. In November Republican successes prevailed in a number of States, while on all hands there was a notable cutting down of Democratic majorities—our own State furnishing a conspicuous example of this sort. The grand victory in New Hampshire, the reduced Democratic majority in Connecticut, the gain of two hundred and eighteen Republican Supervisors in New York, and of about one hundred in Michigan, together with unprecedented Republican gains in the municipal elections this Spring, in the several States, all point clearly and distinctly to a Republican victory in November.—Albany Evening Journal.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud; who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

In view of the fact that the time is rapidly approaching when the Republican party will be again called upon to enter the field in opposition to the Bourbon Democratic Party, which is so earnestly seeking to perpetuate its baneful rule in this State, by the suppression of free schools, the collection of unjust taxes, and other measures abhorrent to every lover of free government; and, also, in view of the fact that no steps have been taken to secure a true representation of the Republicans of Montgomery county at the approaching State Convention to BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., which will nominate candidates for the various State offices, and select delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati, the undersigned members of the Republican party, respectfully request the Republican voters of Montgomery county to meet in their various beats on Monday the 15th day of May, 1876, and select delegates to a County Convention to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1876, at 12 o'clock, m., at the Court House in the city of Montgomery, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention TO BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., and nominating a Legislative ticket for Montgomery county. The County Convention will also select delegates to the Congressional Convention, and transact such other business as may properly come before it.

The usual apportionment will be observed in the selection of delegates from the various beats as follows:

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

ROOMS REPUBLICAN STATE EX. COM.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 2, '76.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State officers: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney-General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the fourteenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In consequence of the change of Congressional Districts caused by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have no organizations perfected it was resolved that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts, should, while attending the Convention, select two delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

Autauga, 2; Blount, 2; Clark, 2; Conecuh, 2; Covington, 2; Coffee, 2; Crenshaw, 2; Cherokee, 2; Calhoun, 2; Coosa, 2; Colbert, 2; Escambia, 2; Etowah, 2; Fayett, 2; Franklin, 2; Geneva, 2; Jackson, 3; Jefferson, 2; Lauderdale, 2; Lawrence, 4; Marengo, 6; Marshall, 2; Montgomery, 10; Marion, 2, Pike, 2; Pickens, 4; Randolph, 2; Sanford, 2; Baldwin, 2, Barbour, 6; Bibb, 2; Bullock, 6; Butler, 2; Chilton, 2; Choctaw, 2, Cherokee, 2; Chambers, 4; Clay, 2; Dallas, 10; Dale, 2; DeKalb, 2; Elmore, 2; Greene, 4; Hale, 4; Henry, 2; Lowndes, 6; Lee, 4; Limestone, 2; Monroe, 2; Mobile, 10; Madison, 6; Macon, 4; Morgan, 2; Perry, 6; Russell, 4; Shelby, 2; St. Clair, 2; Tuskaloosa, 4; Tallapoosa, 4; Washington, 2; Winston, 2; Sumter, 6; Talladega, 4; Wilcox, 6; Walker, 2.

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER,
Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.

LIFE SAVING SUIT
FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA

And the almost countless lives that have been lost, during the past year, by the foundering of passenger steamers, more than half of which might easily and safely be saved by the use of the great public demand for a Life Saving Suit Company now presented.

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, who pronounce it perfect, and the only one of the kind ever invented, for the protection of life from death by drowning. The invention now offered for sale has the superiority over all inventions in that it floats the body in a vertical position to the position best adapted for the natural and easy respiration of the lungs, preserving the natural circulation of the blood, and thereby avoiding congestion of the brain, and all danger of apoplexy. It is made in the most durable manner, of the best materials, and is so constructed as to be packed in small space, and is always ready for use. It is not cumbersome, but is so light and portable as to be worn with ease and comfort, and without attracting attention. It is adapted to persons of all ages and sizes.

The suit consists of three principles which are independent of each other, viz:

First—A buoyant jacket, which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural position.

Second—Protection from water and weather, and consequent health.

Third—Ample room, at short notice, to which is attached a bag, in which may be carried any valuables, etc.

The suit is put on over ordinary clothing, except shoes and hat, and can be put on and off in a few minutes and is as easy as a person in ordinary transaction. It can be put on in the water.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and issued by the editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent pr poses to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be favored with an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds, when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $21—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $20, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is to dispatch distributed to all the holders of bonds, is the loan drawn by chance. The purchaser of a bond therefore knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of his thus small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is withdrawn, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds by Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessment for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in assisting it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the splendid edifice erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building in the world; has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,520,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1876.

THE FIRST SNOW FALL.

The snow had begun in the gloaming,
And busily all the night
Had been heaping field and highway
With a silence deep and white.

Every pine, and fir, and hemlock,
Wore ermine too dear for an earl,
And the poorest twig on the elm tree
Was fringed inch deep with pearl.

I stood and watched by the window
The noiseless work of the sky,
And the sudden flurries of snow birds,
Like brown leaves whirling by.

I thought of a mound in sweet Auburn,
Where a little headstone stood,
How the flakes were folding it gently,
As the robins the babes in the wood.

Up spoke our own little Mabel,
Saying, "Father, who makes it snow?"
And I told her of Him whose goodness
And love rules the frost and the snow.

Again I looked at the snow fall,
And thought of the leaden sky
That arched o'er our first great sorrow
When the mound was heaped so high.

I remembered the gradual patience
That fell with the snow in showers,
Lips hushed, eyes closed, and hearts broken
Fell dazed, drifting deeper than snow flakes;
One patient grief of the heart.

And again to the child I whispered,
"The snow that hushes it all,
Darling, the dear Lord gathers
Alone can make it fall."

Then, with eyes that saw not, I kissed her,
And she, kissing back, could not know
That my kiss was given to her sister,
Folded deep in the dear drifting snow.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 250 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace Yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However, from the causes may be which contribute to render our civilization a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a undeniably fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase in the number of victims from the various ills to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be enabled to distinguish by their own unaided judgment what exact they are suffering from, and what exact they require by this publication, aiming to health, comfort and happiness, it has been our object to furnish the means of relief to those afflicted with the above and every symptom, and our prompt application to obtain the same.

Nazareth, Penn., Nov. 6, 1874.

Dr. Lobenstine: We found here the good news to send you a report of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills. Regarding the first, I have now used four bottles, and I feel perfectly cured, and have every reason to be about the remedy, as I know that I obtained relief from it in a short time, and I feel as well as ever I did in my life. You know that I obtained it by what you call a trial of opinion. I thought that nothing could help me, as I had so long doubted in every thing until I tried your remedy, but my only sorrow is that I did not get it sooner, for then I would have saved myself much suffering. I feel confident that the Cordial Balm will cure any one afflicted with the complaints it is intended for, as it never for a moment failed me in the time I used it. Regarding the Pills, I have no complaint to make, but the healthful effect I have experienced desire for it now. When I left it off all began to take the Syricum. I felt necessary for a week or so, but the headache seemed to pay me up, and after a few days the desire for opium began to grow less and less, feeling for opium left me entirely. I never felt better in my life, and after a few days the desire to again realize relief from the Cordial Balm was gone. I am a poor man, and have had a hard struggle with poverty and disease, but I could always depend on your remedies, and I feel confident that I could always depend on your remedies, and I feel confident that I could always depend on your remedies, and I feel confident that

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1876.

BLACKBERRIES are now in the market.

IT was a little dull in the city yesterday, owing to the absence of so many citizens at Whitehall.

THE United States Court was engaged yesterday in hearing discussions upon demurrers to indictments under the enforcement acts.

WE understand that some of our citizens are getting up an excursion, or going to get up one, to Eufaula, to take place within three weeks.

THE German Military Band is one of the finest looking bodies of men we have ever seen. They are all handsome, healthy and fine looking gentlemen.

IT seems almost impossible for working men to get money nowadays. While money is not so very scarce, those who hold it seem to be indisposed to let it out.

WE are requested to remind the Republican voters of the county, of the local meetings on the 15th instant, next Monday. The county convention will be held on the 16th, next Tuesday. It is desired that all the Republicans attend the local meetings, and participate in the proceedings.

A visit to the State House yesterday developed the fact that the State Government, Auditor Smith and Treasurer Crawford excepted, are in the mountains cooling off. That's what they get paid for. Business is dull any way, and the taxes grind out so slowly—like the mills of the gods—that it is hardly necessary even for the Auditor and Treasurer to keep open. They do, however, and stand it out on the Micawber style.

WITH the opening of the warm season, our popular "old" friend, Capt. Towles of the well known Blount Springs Hotel comes forward, as usual, with polite invitations to his friends, throughout the country, to visit those delightful springs, and take up quarters with him. A more popular caterer than Capt. Towles does not live, and it would be hard to find a better hotel than the Jackson House, at Blount Springs.

THE CONCERT.—The Concert given at the Theatre, last night, by the famous German Band, was one of the most pleasing and entertaining performances we have ever attended. The music was, by far, the most beautiful and soul-touching we ever heard, and the audience was thrilled from the opening to the close. We are glad that this band was greeted by so large and fashionable an audience. It would have made a bad impression upon them had they not been received with a full house. They are musicians who have been taught and reared in that delightful art, and their own countrymen are votaries at the shrine of Terpsichore, who have no equals. To-night we hope they will have another full house. If our people desire to hear music in all its fresh sweetness, purity and soul-stirring tones, they should attend the theatre to-night. We may never have such an opportunity again.

THE TOURING PILGRIM.

A LOUISVILLE DRUMMER TURNED DOWN BY AN ALABAMA GIRL.

A gentleman who arrived in Montgomery yesterday, tells us the following story, and knowing his reputation for veracity and truth to be unquestioned—even above suspicion—we, with all our readers, we apprehend, would like to know the name of the "touring pilgrim."

It was a clear, bright day, but a short time since, when the young drummer who was making his first tour through the South—was seen smiling complacently on a fair damsel sitting at his right, and diagonally opposite him on the South bound train of the South & North Alabama Railroad. She was fair and beautiful to behold, as he thought, when he approached her thus:

"My good lady it seems as if you were traveling alone?"

"I am," was her reply.

"Well," said the drummer, "nothing gives me more true pleasure, than to play the gallant to the fair sex who, like yourself, are companionless; and if I do not presume too much, I will be happy to be your escort as far as we travel together."

"How far are you going?" she asked.

"To Montgomery," was his reply.

"I shall go that far myself," she smilingly said.

"Well, then, surely we will have a nice ride together," said he rubbing his hands in glee.

"But, pray sir, if I am not too impertinent, may I ask what sort of business you are in?"

"Oh, not at all, not at all, my fair lady; with pleasure I can say that I am a touring pilgrim for a commercial house in Louisville, Kentucky."

They sped on at the rate of twenty miles an hour, busily engaged in conversation, until they arrived at Birmingham. By this time he had changed his seat to one directly behind her's. When the train stopped their eyes fell upon a poor looking donkey, when he, thinking to make the young lady blush, was heard to say:

"Fair lady! I, having been raised in a city, and totally unacquainted with the different animals that inhabit the country, will you please tell me what sort or kind of an animal that is over the way there?" at the same time pointing his finger at the donkey.

She replied by making a mischievous wink at her father, who had not long since taken a seat near enough to hear the conversation.

"I, too, have been raised in a city, and am, like you, unacquainted with the animals that inhabit the country; but if I would be left to judge, I would emphatically say, from his silly look and long ears, that he must be a touring pilgrim for a commercial house in Louisville, Kentucky. Don't you think so, papa?"

"I do, I do, my daughter."

The drummer wilted, and has not been heard from since.

THE PICNIC YESTERDAY.

THE MONTGOMERY RIFLE CLUB AND THEIR FRIENDS AT WHITEHALL.

The weather yesterday was beautifully bright, and charming in its warmth. It was all that could have been wished for an excursion to the country, and our readers may rest assured that the Montgomery Rifle Club, and their friends enjoyed the day

AT WHITEHALL.

As early as yesterday morning, the cars bound from of the Western railroad, was ready to move away from the depot with a load of precious living freight. We cannot say what the exact number of the excursionists was, but we have never witnessed a happier and more cheerful crowd. The trip from Montgomery to Whitehall is made through one of the most beautiful sections of this fair State. On either side of the road are fields clad in living green—the cotton and corn, fruit and the beautiful trees of the forest. All nature wore a smiling face as if the very earth itself were moving to kiss the genial sunshine, or welcome the soft breezes. It is only us of this loved Southern land who enjoy such scenery, such beautiful days and balmy climate. How proud we should be that sweet peace chants her songs throughout the length and breadth of our native land!

The train arrived at Whitehall at half past 9 o'clock, and as the hundreds of gallant men and fair women debarked we had an opportunity of seeing the pleasant faces which were then and there giving so much joyousness. Many of the most substantial and valued citizens and many of the most beautiful and accomplished ladies of Montgomery composed the excursion party, and as they all appeared at the station after alight it was a scene never to be forgotten. After entering the grounds near the station the excursionists repaired into supper and enjoyed themselves unrestrained. The Western railroad company have beautified this charming spot. THE DINNER.

The dinner was one of the most magnificent we have ever enjoyed, and the universal verdict was that no greater success was ever achieved by a club in Montgomery. It consisted of fascinating meats of every description, delicious kinds of the most tempting kinds also lemonades, ice water and other delicacies which were all free, and never was a repast more heartily enjoyed. The lateness of the hour forces us to curtail our report considerably, which we regret, as we intended to put before our readers a detailed account of this splendid day's enjoyment, among the cool shades of that lovely country arbor. The shooting club deserves the plaudits of all their friends, who participated with them in the festivities of this most pleasant occasion.

A PUBLIC OUTRAGE.

It seems that some of the opponents of the "regular Republican organization," in this city, are determined to overpower it by violence. It would appear that they are afraid of a peaceable and fair contest as becomes all law-abiding citizens, because they know that in any measurement of strength the regular Republican party of Montgomery is largely in the ascendant. Therefore, the leaders of the factionists are determined to oppress the friends of the regular organization who sustain Senator Spencer. As an evidence of this the following facts as reported to us speak for themselves:

At about 9 o'clock on Wednesday night, Mr. Adolph Munter, one of the most inoffensive, law abiding and peaceably disposed citizens of this city, went into the saloon of Messrs. Shields &

COL. GEO. TURNER

Is giving entire satisfaction as United States Marshal, and all who are having business in the United States courts speak in very complimentary terms of his polite and accommodating manners. His unassuming manner, prompt attention to business, and kind treatment to visitors to his office—all mark him as a perfect gentleman. We predict a brilliant career for Col Turner, and a popularity which will be the envy of every official in the State. He deserves the esteem of the public and the confidence of the government he so worthily and ably serves.

GEORGIA.

There are many conflicting statements regarding the result of the late Georgia Republican State Convention. The most reliable reports, however, show that a majority of the delegates chosen to Cincinnati divided in favor of Senators Morton and Conkling, the minority being divided between Messrs. Blaine and Bristow. It is explained that the resolution of preference for Blaine was not regularly adopted, but passed amid great confusion, the gas being turned off in the convention hall, and an adjournment being declared without the formality of a vote. Mr. Blaine cannot be held responsible for this disgraceful act. His friends and admirers are not always as discreet as they should be in the advocacy of his claims, and we regret to say that frequent repetition of these indiscretions has had the effect to injure his prospects.—[Washington Republican.

Is THERE not something delightfully Hibernian in the action of the Fenians of New York, who are reported to be raising a "skirmishing fund," to be used, as we are told, "in recruiting soldiers to go to England and skirmish for Irish independence"? Let us hope that in order to save work the same Fenians who pass around the subscription lists—to which $5,000 has already been subscribed—will at the same time circulate the petitions for amnesty to the imprisoned Fenians in Manchester, and strengthen the movement which urges the Government of this country to interfere in behalf of Condon.

SANKEY'S songs have been translated into Chinese, for the benefit of the millions of Pagans who are said to be desirous of singing them. As missionaries quite as laborious and fully as self-sacrificing as Sankey have been laboring among the Chinese in California ever since Chinese immigration began, and have accomplished nothing, it is not likely that Sankey's hymns will go very far towards converting the disciples of Confucius.

THE young king of Spain in re-admitting to their former rank in the army twelve hundred officers who deserted it to serve under Don Carlos, has shown a magnanimity quite unexpected in that quarter of the globe. Perhaps as a matter of policy this action will do more to strengthen the government and prevent a recurrence of international strife than the wholesale punishment and ostracism of the offenders.

A genius has patented a whisky-punch machine, by which all the ingredients, whisky, lemon and hot water, are judiciously mingled by simply touching a series of stops. Now, if he would endear himself to the American people let him turn to and invent another machine which will enable a man after drinking the punch, to get out of the door without paying for it.

SENATOR MORTON'S vindication was so complete and telling that the Washington Democrats are saying that he caused it to be made himself for the purpose of making the explanation.

THE Philadelphia Bulletin says: "The annual sermon before the National Base Ball Association will be preached from the text, 'Where are the nine?'"

THE Mobile Register says that "Sam Tilden may be struck by lightning, but he will never receive a Democratic nomination for the Presidency."

Grand Opening of the Centennial Exhibition.

Presentation Ceremonies—A Speech by President Grant, Etc.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—The morning was very rainy, with the prospect of a steady rain all day, but the indications are now that the clouds will break, the rain cease and the original programme of the opening ceremonies be carried out. The city is crowded with visitors, the trains last evening and this morning having come from all directions with crowds of passengers from abroad. The streets are all abloze with flags, and notwithstanding the rain, patriotic decorations are numerous and fine.

The Exposition opening is the only theme of conversation, and since early in the morning throngs of people on foot, street cars, carriages, wagons and steam cars have been pouring toward the Centennial grounds, in anticipation of the opening of the gates.

This morning early the military parade, comprising portions of the first division, took place, passing through the principal streets of the city. The display was fine, though not nearly so large as it would have been had the weather been favorable. If the weather becomes clear the opening of the Exposition will be a great success.

1:30 P. M.—The sky has cleared and the weather is beautiful and sunny, but not too warm. The grounds are in very good condition, in spite of the hard and long continued rains, though there is much mud. The gates opened a little after 12 o'clock, and crowds have been pouring in ever since. It is roughly estimated that there are 50,000 people now on the grounds, and still there is a constant rush of people through all the gates. The favorable change in the weather will permit the original programme to be carried out, though arrangements had been partly made to conduct the inauguration ceremonies in the main building in case of continued rain.

A spacious platform has been erected at the side of Memorial Hall, north of the center and main building. Seats are arranged on the platform for official and other invited guests. At the right of the center are the seats of the President and members of his cabinet, and further to the right are the seats of the Governors of the various States with their staffs, various State officers, Supreme Court and Legislature of Pennsylvania, and representatives of the army and navy, Smithsonian Institute, United States Judges, officers of the Executive, of Bureaus and members of the Women's Centennial Committee. On the left of the center are seats for members of the Diplomatic corps and members of the Centennial commission, Board of Finance, Women's Executive Committee, Foreign Commissions, Mayor, Councils, and others officials of Philadelphia, Mayors of other cities, State Centennial Boards, Board of Award, Judges, yacht and rifle clubs, and along the front of the platform are seats for members of the press.

An orchestra of 150 pieces and a chorus of 1000 voices, under the direction of Theodore Thomas and Dudley Buck, are stationed directly in front of the platform at the side of the main building. The space in front of the platform, except that needed for passageway, is open to the public until after the inauguration. The main building, Machinery Hall and Memorial Hall are reserved for invited guests, and closed to the public. All guests pass through the main building, entering at the east and west end or at the south side, and thence through the center door at the north side to the platform. The space about the platform, and for such distance that to see and hear are impossible, is crowded densely with people waiting for the opening exercises.

11:30—At 11 o'clock the President's party, accompanied by the officials previously designated, proceeded to the platform, the President having been escorted to the grounds by Gov. Hartranft, with a division of the military. The platform was at once crowded and all the surrounding space and all available points of elevation in the neighborhood were already occupied by crowds of visitors. The orchestra, while the seats were being secured, played national airs, and after the party on the platform had arranged themselves, played Wagner's Centennial March, which was received with applause.

PRAYER WAS OFFERED BY BISHOP SIMPSON:

Almighty and Everlasting God, our Heavenly Father, heaven is Thy throne and the earth is Thy footstool; before Thy majesty and holiness the angels veil their faces, and the spirits of the just make perfect, bow in humble adoration. Thou art the creator of all things, the preserver of all that exists, whether they be thrones or dominions, or principalities or powers, the minute and the vast atoms and worlds alike attest the ubiquity of Thy presence and the omnipotence of Thy sway. Thou alone art the Sovereign Ruler of nations; Thou raiseth up one and casteth down another, and Thou givest the kingdoms of the world to whomsoever Thou will. The past with all its records is the unfolding of Thy counsels, and the realizations of Thy grand designs. We hail Thee as our rightful ruler, the King eternal, immortal and invisible, the only true God, blessed forever more. We come on this glad day, O Thou God of our fathers into these dates with praise. We bless Thee for Thy wonderful goodness in the past, for the land which Thou gavest to our fathers—a land veiled for ages from the ancient world, but revealed in the fullness of time to Thy chosen people whom Thou didst lead by Thine own hand, through the billows of the deep, a land of vast extent, of towering mountains and broad plains of unnumbered products and of untold treasures. We thank Thee for the fathers of our countrymen, of mind and of might, who endured privations and sacrifices; who multiplied dangers rather than defile their consciences, or be untrue to their God; men who laid on the broad foundation of truth and justice the grand schemes of civil freedom. We praise Thee for the closing century; for the founders of the Republic; for the immortal Washington, and his grand associates; for the wisdom with which he planned, and the firmness and heroism which, under Thy blessing, led them to triumph and success. Thou was their shield in hours of danger, their pillow of cloud by day and their pillow of fire by night. May we, their sons, walk in their footsteps and imitate their virtues. We thank Thee for social and national prosperity, and progress, for valuable discoveries and multiplied inventions, for labor-saving machinery relieving the toiling masses, for schools free as the morning light for the millions of the rising generations, for books and periodicals scattered like the leaves of autumn over the land, for arts and science, for freedom to worship God according to the dictates of conscience, for a church unfettered by trammels of State. Bless, we pray Thee, the President of the United States and his constitutional advisers, the Judges of the Supreme Court, the Senators and Representatives in Congress, the Governors of our several Commonwealths, the officers of the army and navy, and all who are in official position throughout our land; guide them, we pray Thee, with counsels of wisdom, and may they ever rule in righteousness. We ask Thy blessing to rest upon the President and members of the Centennial Commission and upon those associated with them in the various departments who have labored long and earnestly amidst anxieties and difficulties for the success of this enterprise. May Thy special blessing, O Thou God of all nations of the earth, rest upon our national guests, our visitors from distant lands. We welcome them to our shores, and we rejoice in their presence among us, whether they represent thrones or culture or researche, or whether they come to exhibit the triumphs of genius and art in the development of industry or the progress of civilization; preserve Thou them, we beseech Thee, in health and safety, and in due time may they be welcomed by loved ones again in their own native lands. Let Thy blessing rest richly on this Centennial celebration. May the lives and health of all interested be precious in Thy sight. Preside in its assemblies. Grant this association in effect may bind more closely together every part of our great Republic, so that our Union may be perpetual and indissoluble. Let its influence draw the nations of earth into a happier unity hereafter, we pray Thee. May all disputed questions be settled by arbitration and not by the sword, and may wars forever cease among the sons of men; may the new century be better than the past more radiant with the light of true, philosophy; warmer with the animations of world-wide sympathy. May capital, genius and labor be freed from all antagonism by the establishment and application of such principles of justice and equity as shall reconcile the diversified interests and bind in inseparable bonds all parts of society. We pray the benediction especially on the women of America, who for the first time in the history of our race, take so conspicuous a place in the national celebration. May the light of their intelligence, purity and enterprise shed its beams afar until in the distant lands their sisters may realize the beauty and glory of christian freedom and elevation. We beseech Thee, Almighty Father, that our beloved Republic may be strengthened in every element of true greatness until her mission be accomplished by presenting to the world an illustration of the happiness of a free people, with a free church in a free State, under the laws of their own enactment, and under rulers of their own selection, acknowledging supreme allegiance only to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, and as Thou didst give to one of its illustrious sons first to draw experimentally the electric spark from heaven, which has since girdled the globe in its celestial whisper of "Glory to God in the highest, peace on earth and good will to men," so to the latest time may the mission of America, under Divine inspiration, be one of affection, brotherhood and love for all our race, and may the coming centuries be filled with the glory of our Christian civilization, and unto Thee, our Father, through Him whose life is the light of men, will we ascribe glory and power, now and forever. Amen.

WHITTIER'S CENTENNIAL HYMN

was sung, after which John Welsh, President of the Centennial Board of Finance, then formally presented the buildings to the United States Centennial Commission, concluding his address as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen—If in the past we have met with disappointments, difficulties and trials, they have been overcome by the consciousness that no sacrifice can be too great which is made to honor the memories of those who brought our nation into being. This commemoration of the events of 1776 excites our present gratitude. The assemblage here to-day of so many foreign representatives, uniting with us in this reverential tribute, is our reward. We congratulate you on the occurrence of this day. Many of the nations have gathered here in peaceful competition, and each may profit by association. This exhibition is but a school; the more thoroughly its lessons are learned the greater will be the gain, and when it shall have closed, if by that study nations engaged in it shall have learned respect for each other, then it may be hoped that veneration for Him who rules on high will become universal, and angel's song once more be heard, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace and good will towards men." Next followed the singing of the Sidney Lanier Cantata by a full chorus, accompanied by the orchestra. The applause of the vast crowd was enthusiastic. Part of the music was encored, specially the basso solo sung by Mr. Whitney of Boston.

Joseph I. Hawley, President of the Centennial Commission, in the following speech made the

PRESENTATION OF THE EXHIBITION

To the President of the United States:

Mr. President, five years ago the President of the United States declared it fitting that the completion of the first century of our national existence should be commemorated by an exhibition of the national resources of the country, and their development, and of its progress in those arts which benefit mankind, and ordered that an exhibition of American and foreign arts and products and manufactures should be held, under the auspices of the Government of the United States, in the city of Philadelphia, in the year 1876. To put into effect the several laws relating to the exhibition, the United States Centennial Commission was consequently composed of two Commissioners from each State and Territory, nominated by their respective Governors and appointed by the President. Congress also created an auxiliary and associate corporation, the Centennial Board of Finance, whose unexpected heavy burden has been nobly borne, and a remarkable and prolonged disturbance of the finances and industries of the country has gloriously magnified the task, but we hope for favorable judgement of the degree of success attained.

July 4, '73, this ground was dedicated to its present use. Twenty-one months ago this Memorial Hall was begun; all the other 120 buildings within the inclosure have been erected within twelve months. All the buildings embraced in the plans of the Commission itself are finished. The demands of applicants exceeded the space, and strenuous and continuous efforts have been made to get every exhibit ready in time. By general consent the exhibition is appropriately held in the City of Brotherly Love, and almost within your view stands the venerable edifice wherein occurred the event this work is designated to commemorate, and the Hall in which the first Continental Congress assembled. Within the present limits of this great park were the homes of the eminent patriots of that era where Washington and his associates received generous hospitality and able counsel. You have observed the surpassing beauty of the situation placed at our disposal. In harmony with all this fitness is the liberal support given the enterprise by the State, the city and the people individually.

In the name of the United States you extended a respectful and cordial invitation to the Governments of other nations to be represented and to participate in this exhibition. You know the very acceptable terms in which they responded from even the most distant regions. Their Commissioners are here and you will soon see with what energy and brilliancy they have entered on this friendly competition in the arts of peace. It has been the fervent hope of the Commission that during this festival year the people from all States and sections, and churches, all parties and classes, burying all resentments, would come up together to this birthplace of liberty to measure the progress of one hundred years, and to examine to their profit the wonderful products of other lands, but especially to join hands in perfect fraternity and promise the God of our fathers that the new country shall surpass the old in the true glories of civilization, and furthermore that from association here of visitors from all nations there may result not alone great benefits to invention, manufactures, agriculture, trade and commerce, but also stronger international friendship and more lasting peace. Thus reporting to you, Mr. President, under the laws of government and usage of similar occasions in the name of the United States Centennial Commission, I present to your view the International Exhibition of 1876.

THE PRESIDENT'S RESPONSE.

When President Grant rose to respond, he was greeted with enthusiastic applause, followed by three cheers and a tiger, led by Gen. Hawley. President Grant read his response to the presentation address:

"My countrymen, it has been thought appropriate upon this Centennial occasion to bring together in Philadelphia, for popular inspection, specimens of our attainments in the industrial and fine arts, and in literature, science and philosophy, as well as in the great business of agriculture and of commerce that we may the more thoroughly appreciate the excellencies and deficiencies of our achievements, and also to give emphatic expression to our earnest desire to cultivate the friendship of our fellow members of this great family of nations. The enlightened agricultural, commercial and manufacturing people of the world have been united to send hither corresponding specimens of their skill to exhibit on equal terms, in friendly competition with our own. To this invitation they have generously responded. For so doing we render them our hearty thanks. The beauty and utility of the contributions will this day be submitted to your inspection by the managers of this exhibition. We are glad to know that a view of specimens of the style of all nations, will afford to you another pleasure, as well as yield to you a valuable practical knowledge of so many of the remarkable results of the wonderful skill existing in enlightened communities One hundred years ago our country was new and but partially settled. Our necessities have compelled us to chiefly use every means and time in felling forests, subduing prairies and building dwellings, factories, shops, docks, warehouses, roads, canals, machinery, etc. Most of our schools, churches, libraries and asylums have been established within 100 years, burthened by these great primal works of necessity which could not be delayed. We yet have done what this exhibition will show in the direction of rivaling the more advanced nations in law, medicine and theology; in science, literature, philosophy and the fine arts. While we are proud of what we have done, we regret that we have not done more, our achievements have been great enough, however, to make it easy for our people to acknowledge superior merit wherever found, and now, fellow citizens, I hope a careful examination of what is about to be exhibited to you, will not only inspire you with a profound respect for the skill and taste of our friends from other nations, but also satisfy you with the attainments made by our own people during the past 100 years. I invoke your generous cooperation with the worthy Commissioners to secure a brilliant success to this International Exhibition and to make the stay of our foreign visitors, to whom we extend a hearty welcome, both profitable and pleasant to them. I declare

THE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION NOW OPEN."

The close of the President's brief address was followed by the raising of the flag on the main building, the signal that the exhibition was open. Salutes were fired, bells commenced ringing, the chorus began singing Hallelujah, chorus chimes commenced ringing famous airs and the President and invited guests and cheers from the crowd began the procession through the main building and Machinery Hall.

The exhibition is now open. Progress through the buildings has just been concluded. President Grant, secretary Fish, and other members of the cabinet have just driven from the grounds. Cordons of guards have been removed from the approaches to the Main Hall, Memorial Hall, and the Machinery Hall, and all parts of the Exposition are now open to the public. Crowds which have heretofore lined both sides of all approaches where the procession passed, have dispersed to all parts of the grounds. Cheers are resounding on all sides, bells are ringing, bands are playing in all directions and the Centennial Exposition of 1876 is formally opened.

A GRAND ILLUMINATION.

After the ceremonies at the Centennial grounds this afternoon, Governors Hartranft, of Pennsylvania, Bedle, of New Jersey, Carroll, of Maryland, and Rice, of Massachusetts, visited the buildings erected by their States respectively and held informal receptions.

The illumination in the city to-night was on a grand scale. The State house was the great centre of attraction, and at one time the crowd was so great on Chestnut street that it was almost impossible to pass. Calcium lights were thrown upon the historical building, and everything was as brilliant as in daytime. The illumination was continued until midnight. To night President Grant was serenaded at the residence of George W. Childs. There were no speeches.

PITTSBURGH.

PITTSBURGH, May 10.—To-day is being observed as a holiday, all the banks being closed and business generally suspended in honor of the opening of the Centennial. At 11:41 a. m., the time of opening the Exposition at Philadelphia, the Fire Department struck the alarm bell in City Hall and all the gongs of the Department. These rang until twelve o'clock, and with the clamors of church chimes and the bells and whistles of engines and boats, made a noise seldom heard. An old bell which has for years hung in the rotunda of the Courthouse as a relic, was rung to-day for the first time in many years. It was cast in 1800, and is said to be the oldest bell west of the Allegheny mountains. In olden times it was used to summon children to school and give notice of fires.

WASHINGTON.

Senate

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Mr. Edmunds inquired whether there was a quorum present, and on the roll being called 33 Senators answered to their names, four less than a quorum.

Mr. Ingalls moved that the Sergeant-at-arms be directed to request the attendance of the absentees.

In a few minutes several Senators entered and a quorum was secured.

Mr. Sargeant presented a memorial of certain stock holders of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, complaining that certain managers of the road had formed a ring and built the road so as to insure to their profits, charging prices greatly in excess of cost; that the ties and rails and the depots, workshops, etc., are constructed of the poorest material and that if Congress will appoint a competent commission of engineers to examine the road, it will be found that the cost should not have exceeded $35,000,000. The petitioners also sets forth a variety of grievances in the management of the road for which they ask redress at the hands of Congress, and charges dishonesty upon Crocker, Huntington and other managers of the company. In conclusion they ask the appointment of a committee to set in San Francisco during the recess, and take testimony on the subject. Referred to the committee on credentials.

House.

The House was called to order by Mr. Adams, the Clerk, who announced that Speaker Kerr was still absent.

On motion of Mr. Morrison, of Illinois, Mr. Cox was elected Speaker during the present temporary absence of the Speaker, and the Clerk was directed to notify the President and Senate accordingly.

On motion of Mr. Holman the House went into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill, Mr. Springer in the chair.

The pending question was on the motion of Mr. Mutchler to strike out the proviso limiting free delivery system to cities of 40,000 inhabitants. After long discussion the amendment to strike out words "and may be continued in cities of not less than 4,000 inhabitants where now established" was rejected. The question was then taken on striking out the whole proviso which limits the delivery system to cities of 40,000 inhabitants and over, and the motion to strike out was agreed to.

Mr. Glover, of Missouri, has prepared a resolution which he will offer at the first opportunity, setting forth that it is the sense of the House of Representatives that L. H. Fitzhugh, its door-keeper, should resign.

Hon. Jas. F. Wilson, of Iowa, has arrived in this city to testify before the Congressional committee investigation on affairs of the U. P. R. R., in connection with the Little Rock and Fort Smith Road of Arkansas. The investigation will begin on Monday next.

There has been comparatively very small demand upon the Treasury for silver, in exchange for fractional currency within 2 or 3 days, and the amount of silver coin paid in cashing ordinary checks according to recent direction of Secretary Bristow has not been so great as it was expected it would be.

A World special says that Public Printer Clapp will resign, in order to relieve the Senate from embarrassment on charges preferred by the House against one of the Senate officers.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—The crowd at the Centennial grounds is not as large as yesterday. Work is still going on in the buildings and a great improvement is noticeable. A gang of laborers are employed on Belmont Avenue in clearing away the rubbish, etc.

In Machinery Hall many people were astonished by numerous printing presses upon which editions of the New York papers are being worked off.

The Executive Commissioners of the Woman Centennial Union met this morning at the Woman pavillion, and discussed various routine matters.

Gen. Hawley stated this morning that the list will be published very soon.

The Emperor and Empress of Brazil and suite, numbering sixteen persons, left this city at ten a. m., to-day in a special train by the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Mississippi Railroads to St. Louis.

The committee who have charge of the traveling arrangements in this country, for Dom Pedro, announce that the Imperial party, after leaving Louisville and the Mammoth Cave on Thursday next, will leave for New Orleans by the steamer Great Republic. They will return to Washington by the way of Mobile, Montgomery, Atlanta and Knoxville. The tour will be completed by visits to Niagra Falls, Montreal, Quebec, White Mountain, Saratoga, Albany and New York.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 12.—The rumors of a general European Conference on the situation in Turkey are premature, but it is thought that the question of holding one will be considered, should Turkey herself propose such a course to the guaranteeing powers. The first conference of the three imperial chancellors, Count Andrassy, Princes Gortschakoff and Bismarck was held yesterday at the Prince Bismarck's residence. It's understood that Count Andrassy's note will form the basis of their conference. The Turkish embassador has been instructed to express to the representatives of the great powers the Porte's deep regret at the Colonica outrages, and to give assurance that the guilty persons will be punished. He is also instructed to declare that the Porte is willing to meet the members of these Emperors regarding the execution of the programme embodied in Count Andrassy's note, and will raise no objection to the guarantees which may be required by the powers.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Union League Club last night refused to admit Secretary Bristow to membership, there being twelve black balls.

O'Fallon appeared last night before the largest and most fashionable audience ever assembled in Gilmore's Garden.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—The steamship Hudson, from New York, of the Cromwell line, 1872 tons register, drawing 11 feet 6 inches, passed through the jetties this evening under full speed, without any detention whatever. She is the first ocean steamer that has passed through the South pass and its jetties. The tide was on the ebb and was six inches below average high tide at the time.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1876.

THE ORIGINAL DECLARATION RESTORED TO INDEPENDENCE HALL.

On Saturday afternoon, in the presence of many persons, including the members of the Centennial Commission, and the representatives of the press, the original Declaration of Independence, which has been restored to the Hall of Independence, was replaced in the frame in which it was originally placed, there to remain for all future time, as it is hoped, for the edification of the citizens of this country and of the world. The ceremony was made in the presence of the Mayor, the President of Councils, Col. Frank Riddle, Chairman of the Committee on Restoration of the Hall, several ladies and gentlemen of the select committee, and a few other persons. The ceremony was quiet and simple, but impressive as it was, the placing of the venerated document once more in the old Hall was deeply impressive. A part of the proceedings will be found in another column.

The instrument thus restored to the Hall consists of the Congress of 1776—To end to the immediate chamber in which it was signed, in the official copy of the same as performed, as ordered by a Resolution of Congress on the 19th of July, 1776, when Hawkins we copy from the Secret Journal of the proceedings of that day, as follows:

"Resolved, That the Declaration passed on the 4th be fairly engrossed on parchment, with the style and title of 'The UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,' and that the same, when engrossed, be signed by every member of Congress."

The instrument on the journal is now missing. [Dated July 19, 1776—the Declaration of Independence having engrossed and signed by the members.]

As already stated, the Declaration thus ordered to be engrossed and signed is the instrument ordered to Independence Hall on Saturday. The parchment scroll is now framed and glazed for protection, and is deposited in a fire-proof safe especially designed for both preservation and convenient display. It appears to be, of course, faded and time-worn. The text is fully legible, but the major part of the signatures are so pale as to be only dimly discernible in the strongest light, a few remain decipherable, and some are wholly invisible, the spaces which contained them presenting only a blank.

It is a most impressive thing to stand in that Hall and, looking at the venerated relic, to experience the thoughts, feelings and emotions excited by the document and its surroundings. Here, the troops of the New Declaration of political freedom, traced upon the parchment and its signatures, are made. Here assembled the representatives of the thirteen colonies, and by the new appointment, and by the new appointments have been instituted. It was here that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts elected, while attending the Convention, met the delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the state at large in said Convention.

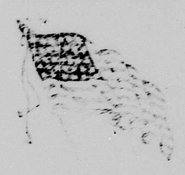
It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the state Convention to that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two by the same rule.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

Autauga, 2; Bibb, 2; Clark, 2; Conecuh, 2; Dallas, 2; Lauderdale, 2; Limestone, 2; Lowndes, 2; Marengo, 2; Marshall, 2; Montgomery, 2; Pike, 2; Perkens, 2; Russell, 2; Shelby, 2; St. Clair, 2; Talladega, 2; Tallapoosa, 2; Washington, 2; Winston, 2; Sumter, 2; Talladega, 2; Wilcox, 2; Walker, 2.

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the selection of delegates to the state Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER,
Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.
C. C. SHEATS, Secretary pro tem.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY



In view of the fact that the time rapidly approaching when the Republican party will be again called upon to enter the field in opposition to the Bourbon Democratic Party, which is so recently seeking to perpetuate its baneful rule in this State, by the suppression of free schools, the collection of unjust taxes, and other measures abhorrent to every lover of free government, and also, in view of the fact that no steps have been taken to secure a true representation of the Republicans of Montgomery county at the approaching State Convention to be held on the 24th inst., which will nominate candidates for the various State offices, and select delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati, the undersigned members of the Republican party, respectfully request the Republican voters of Montgomery county to meet in their various beats on Monday the 15th day of May, 1876, and select delegates to a County Convention to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1876, at 12 o'clock, m., at the Court House in the city of Montgomery, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention to be held on the 24th inst., and nominating a Legislative ticket for Montgomery county. The County Convention will also select delegates to the Congressional Convention, and transact such other business as may properly come before it.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress, and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

LORD CLYMER.

Lord Clymer was a noble lord,
A lord of high degree;
And when he was at home he paid for his board,
As other men must be.

Among the rustics in Berks county—tee—tee,
He was a favorite guest;
For he was going to Washingtown
To be President—sir—ee,
If the people only knew.

One night at night and he traveled full fast,
He came to a railroad car,
Where a weary washer-woman sat,
Who had just come from the city, he stayed him at last,
And thus to her he began:
"Pray tell me, sir Bilkins, the warrior so bold,
Who fought for that I was one,
Who at last got his head shot off?" Straightway he was told
That the witness had jumped the chuck—tee—tee,
As was in British territories.

Then he sighed and he asked for more help,
But the supply was done;
Whereupon—sigh Robbins—with a pitiful sigh—
Said, "I'm confined by you're old committee—
Committee—tee—tee,
I'm confined on my own committee."

Then he hasted to the committee room,
And waiting at the door
Was a message from Kentuckie—ee—
Which brought him very low by this new broom,
The investigating committee—tee—tee,
Which he'd put in People's box.

But the snarl it grew more complicated by far,
And it went over the angle committee,
And it went over the angle committee—tee—tee,
For your humble servant, "it is no—no—no,"
Is the only answer I've got.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ag we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "wet down and ran together." Upon inve-tigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us: the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of just ce, not to let the rascality of another in jure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE GREAT
English Remedy.
The Cordial Balm of Syrienm and Tonic Pills.
Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render one's debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness almost hourly instances of her fell affections from the slightest neeranga to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by what means they are to be cured, and to what extent they are attacked by the insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, if left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of correct remedies.

Newport, Nov. 6, 1874.

Mr. Lovingood: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Tonic of Syrienm and Tonic Pills as speedily as you can? I have now used them for three months, and have every reason to be pleased with its effects. You know that I was taking a large quantity of opium without doing any good, as I had so long dosed myself with the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; but, rather, I became to the conclusion that I must continue the use of opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment expected that the Cordial Balm would cure me of the habit of opium. But I being in need of one of the articles for opium. But I being in need of one of the articles for opium. But I have now left off opium. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syrienm I felt uneasy for a week or two, but the medicine seemed to keep me up, and after a few days the craving for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirium weakness and I desire to assure you that what I used to call the Cordial Balm was a perfect cure for opium. But I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm.

Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,
PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 96 to 144 pages. Three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by investors, of different kinds. If the stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it's a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."

A GAME of base-ball was played yesterday between the Thomas nine and the Storks—the former winning by a score of 28 to 17.

PERSONAL.—Hon. S. F. Rice returned home yesterday from a brief legal absence. He argued the Buckley case before the Supreme Court yesterday.

BEFORE the Mayor yesterday Messrs R. H. Knox and Ed. Owens took an appeal from the Mayor's judgment to the Circuit Court, for assaulting Mr. Munter.

WE were glad to see Mr. Adolph Munter out on the streets yesterday. His face was considerably black and blue from the blows received Wednesday night, but his eyes were greatly improved.

IN the U. S. District Court yesterday, Gov. Smith made a motion for a new trial, in the case of Jesse C. Knight, convicted of setting up a still. Judge Bruce did not give any judgment in the matter.

THE United States Court was engaged yesterday principally in settling disputed law points. Judge Bruce is giving entire satisfaction to the bar and the public in his decisions. The court room yesterday was not so crowded as it has been during the past five days.

THE JOURNAL compositor who put in type the score on which Mr. Hough's shots were tallied, knowing that Mr. H. is one of the finest shots in this country, give him the credit of having won the prize which Mr. Barnes of Selma secured. This is our apology for the mistake of having credited Mr. Hough with the prize.

FINE MEATS.—Those of our readers who desire this evening to get some elegant meats for their tables to-morrow, should call on Mr. Adam Scheussler, at his stall in the market. He will have for sale some of the finest beefsteaks and roasts ever offered in the market. And also a splendid lot of other fresh meats, veal, mutton, etc. Mr. Scheussler has taken great pains to supply his customers with these splendid meats, and they should not fail to call and see him this evening.

THE scholars of Mrs. Thomas G. Chilton's large school had a delightful excursion to Whitehall yesterday. There was a large number of beautifully dressed young misses, and also several accomplished young ladies who composed the party, and they enjoyed themselves very highly. Mrs. Chilton is one of the most popular and successful teachers in Montgomery, and she has a large and flourishing school. Her success as a teacher has become so well known that it is now considered quite an honor for a young lady to have attended her excellent school. We are glad to learn that she is constantly enlarging her work, and trust she will meet with the success she so richly deserves.

WE advise our nervous and unhappy friend, Reid, of the Bulletin, to keep cool in the future, and attend to his own business. We once knew a man who made a very large fortune by attending to his own affairs, and thereby leaving his neighbors to attend to theirs. By constantly interfering with the business of others, a man soon becomes soured and unhappy. There is no good sense, nor logic in constantly interfering with, or attempting to meddle in the business affairs of those who do not need the advice or services. Our soured friend over the way has of late exhibited a remarkable disposition to meddle with the JOURNAL's affairs. We do not need his services, nor his advice. We are running this paper in our own quite way so as to serve the people the most we can. If our ways do not please him, he needn't get in way of them. That is all. Take salts, brother Reid, take salts.

COTTON has taken a decided tumble during the past week. We regret to learn that some of our friends have lost considerable money on speculations in this staple. We do not see how it is, however, that our cotton crop should not bring a better price. The people of the South depend altogether upon the cotton crop for their sustenance, and yet it looks as if it would hardly pay to plant the staple at present prices. It would pay far better in our judgment to raise corn and wheat as the principal means of living, and only enough cotton to supply our wants. In that event, the price of the staple would soon go up to figures which would be an inducement to keep the crop at just such figures as would pay our farmers handsomely for the raising. The idea of a yard of calico selling for five cents is not very encouraging to farmers. It can't be made for that price.

THE water from our pipes was muddy yesterday. Why is it the Water-Works' Company cannot provide against this? Numbers of our citizens now depend altogether upon the supply of water from the water-works, and it is very annoying to have the water as muddy as it was yesterday. We will throw out this hint to the Company, in order that they may remove the obstacles and induce more of our citizens to patronize them. It may be that the Company does not know the condition of the water, and are losing money every day because citizens refuse to use the works while the water is so bad. We would be glad to see every house supplied with water-works by this Company, because it is an enterprise which is far more valuable than any other in our midst. The health of our people is largely dependent upon these works during the heated term. By proper management the officers of the Company can extend their business tenfold. We hope they may do so.

IN the United States District Court yesterday, the case the of U. S. vs. B. C. Tarver, was disposed of in favor of the defendant. The charge preferred failed to show any violation of the law whatever. Capt. Tarver is a member of the bar of this city and is esteemed as a law-abiding and peaceable citizen.

EXPLANATORY.—Mr. J. B. Baumont, of Union Springs, called to see us yesterday in reference to publications made in this journal recently, concerning the unfortunate Miss Hasky and himself. The statements we have made in these columns were based upon facts to some extent, and street rumors which were prevalent just after the sad tragedy at Union Springs. In this connection we desire to state, emphatically, that we have no respect for men who invade peaceable and virtuous homes and debauch and destroy them. In our humble judgement there is no reparation sufficient to wipe away the sting of seduction, and no man is fit to live on this green earth who perpetrates this awful crime; and the mark of Cain should be branded in every lineament and feature of the dastard who drags down a pure and innocent girl from her high estate of virtuous womanhood to dishonor, shame and remorse.

Mr. Baumont informs us that he is not guilty of this infamous crime—but on the contrary is absolutely innocent. He states that he never led the unfortunate young lady astray, and would not under any circumstances do such a thing. He thinks that the public mind has been wrought to a high state of excitement under a misapprehension as to the truth of the affair, and he puts his heretofore unimpeached reputation in the community, in the scales against all that is now alleged against him. So far as we are concerned, we would not wrong the humblest creature that lives, and as Mr. Baumont desires his statement to reach those who have heard the other side, we give him the benefit of our humble influence in his demand for justice. He disclaims having led either of the young girls astray and submitted proofs which we have no inclination to challenge.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

THE COUNTIES COMPOSING THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ALABAMA, IN THE U. S. COURTS.

A question has been raised in the U. S. District Court, relative to certain counties in this State, and their assignment to the Districts, which involves more real importance than any question which Judge Bruce has probably had to consider at this term of his Court. If we are not mistaken the act of Congress creating the districts in Alabama was passed in 1855. All the counties then in existence in this State were assigned to the Northern, Middle and Southern districts, so as to make each one not too remote from the place of holding the Court. Since that time several new counties have been created, and it has been usual to regard such counties in one or the other of the districts as its convenience and location suggested. For instance, Geneva, Escambia and perhaps others, have been considered as portions of the Middle District, and so with others as regards the Northern and Southern Districts.

It appears that the act of Congress of last year which provides for a Revision of the Statutes, as affecting the districts in this State, has failed to recite the new counties in the districts as they are now being regarded, but does name the old counties, and then provides that all others shall be attached to the Northern division—thus making the county of Escambia in the Southern portion of the State a part of the Northern district.

Col. V. S. Murphey raised the question in the U. S. District Court, some days ago, and it has been examined into by all the attorneys—because it involves considerable interests. In the U. S. Court yesterday, District Attorney McAfee, Gov. Smith, Col. Semple, Mr. Patrick and other lawyers discussed the question, and Judge Bruce himself has for several days been inquiring into it closely. It was clearly an oversight on the part of Congress, and we think that the error should at once be remedied by that body. If there is the least doubt upon the subject, it should be removed at once by an act of Congress, fixing the counties in the districts as they ought to be. It would be very expensive to have all past verdicts set aside in the Court, because of this evident omission on the part of Congress. It is too grave a matter to rest where it is.

MAYOR'S COURT.—Quite a large crowd of persons were in attendance at the Mayor's Court yesterday morning drawn hither by interest felt in the case of the City against R. H. Knox, Ed Owen and Dick Johnson, charged with assault and battery on Adolph Munter. Mayor Moses and Ald. Jones presided. The case was called; the defendants were represented by Mr. Ed Graham, and the prosecution by Mr. Bullock.

About 9½ o'clock Wednesday night Mr. Munter came into my saloon; he was sitting at a table; saw Knox and Owen come in; I then went into the back room; come out and saw them fighting; saw Owen strike Munter; saw Dick Johnson kick Munter; didn't see first of the fight.

Cross-examined:—First saw Munter down; saw them all striking and kicking Munter; saw Johnson with a stick striking and kicking Munter; the fight took place at my bar-room on Court street, about 9½ o'clock; saw Munter with no weapons.

Mr. Campbell was called and said, about 9:30 o'clock myself, Henry Krentner and Gordon Ewing heard a noise in Shields' saloon; went there and saw Knox and Ed Owens on Munter, saw nobody else but Shields.

By prosecution—saw Knox have Munter on or near the counter with one arm around his neck striking him; policeman Cook run in and parted them.

John Englehardt was called and said: went in the saloon to get a lunch, saw Knox, Owens and Johnson at a table talking to Munter, heard Munter say he would not stay there if they used indecent language; then were teasing him, Munter, about Sarah; then Munter started out; Knox and Owens attacked him; saw Owens strike him once; think Shields was behind the counter; didn't see Dick Johnson.

Levystine was called and said: Saw them fighting; a glimpse of Owen, but he jerked away and said, turn him loose, or he would hit me; saw Dick Johnson kick at Munter; saw Munter lying on the floor; Knox and Owen were standing up; saw Knox strike Munter.

Policeman Cook was sworn and testified as follows: Was standing near bank corner; heard some one call for the police; went to Shield's Saloon; saw Mr. Knox, Owen and Munter; saw they had Munter in close quarters; saw Knox hit Munter with a stick; Owen had his arm around Munter's neck or shoulder; saw Dick Johnson, he was standing up by the counter, with a piece of board in his hand; Munter was not making any defence; I took Owen off, and then got Munter out of the house; didn't see Munter on the floor. This closed the testimony for the prosecution. The defence had no witnesses to introduce, and the case was submitted without argument. Munter was discharged. Knox and Owen were fined $20 each and costs, and Dick Johnson $5 and cost.

Cuzco and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Cuzco is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $1 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 200 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and embellishment for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 14, 1876 NUMBER 204

SAM BARD,.....Editor.

SUNDAY, MAY 14, 1876.

JUDGE BIBB.

We direct special attention to an article on our second page headed "Judge Bibb." It is full of interest to our Montgomery readers.

BULLOCK COUNTY.

We have good tidings from old Bullock. They send a delegation to the 24th of May convention. Let us look up, thank God, and take courage.

SENATOR SPENCER.

We are happy to state that Senator Spencer will obtain a leave of absence, and be in attendance upon our State Convention, to meet in this city on the 24th of this month.

MARENGO COUNTY.

We have advices that the Republicans of this county met in convention yesterday and elected delegates to the 24th of May Convention. The new lights don't seem to prosper in that locality. Our campfires are burning brightly all along the line—let the ball speed on.

A FIZZLE.

The Advertiser's thing at Col. Turner in its issue of yesterday is not altogether the thing for the great organ of all the "Bourbon Democracy" of Alabama. In place of being a muzzle the paragraph turns out to be a first-class fizzle. The excellent editor of the Advertiser seems never to admire anybody but himself.

GOV. McKINSTRY.

We are most happy to learn that ex-Lieut. Gov. McKinstry favors the regular Republican Convention, which is to meet in this city, on the 24th of this month. The Governor is a solid Republican, and is a lawyer of marked ability. As a gentleman he stands preeminently high—whose personal and political integrity cannot be questioned.

GOOD TIDINGS.

We are glad to be able to announce, on authority of a letter from Hon. D. B. Booth, Chairman Republican Executive Committee of Autauga county, that that staunch Republican county will not be represented in the irregular convention of the 16th, but will be represented in the true and regular convention of the 24th of this month.

THE MOBILE REGISTER.

The idiot-editor of the Mobile Register has a wonderful propensity for mixing National politics and indulges in a large amount of unnecessary abuse of Senators Cameron and Spencer and Mr. Charles E. Mayer. We presume these gentlemen will survive the assaults of the Register, and will ask, if necessary, another pardon for its editor-in-chief.

THE SPENCER GRIP.

The Huntsville Independent is exceedingly angered over what it terms the "Spencer Grip." It contains a twenty-nine line article abusive of Senator Spencer, because of his influence upon President Grant. It praises our friend Col. McAfee, and abuses Charles A. Mayer, Esq., with a hearty will. Well, we are glad it can afford to speak well of one Republican at least. Let God be praised for small favors.

SENATOR SPENCER AND THE MINORITY.

After whipping the fight in Washington, Senator Spencer came forward like a true patriot, and proposed a plan of compromise, which was fair and just to both wings of the Republican party in Alabama, and which, we are sorry to say, was promptly refused by the so-called reformers. The Senator's plan was both wise and practical, and presented the only hope by which our ranks might be closed up against the common enemy.

Most Senators after having achieved such a victory as he has, would have spurned and ignored the minority of his party who are working in concert with the Democratic Party, which, however, unpleasant for us to admit, is nevertheless a practical fact. We have no personal feelings of unkindness toward any Republican in Alabama, but we propose to state the truth, though the devil himself, should stand at the door, with a forty-five pounder, and a torch from the infernal regions with which to set it off. We have heard rumors of personal violence and all that sort of stuff, which with us don't amount to a pinch of snuff. The JOURNAL, under its present management, will advance—our policy being upward and onward. The Democracy "advance backward." The editor of this journal is not a Democrat. He only is a brave man, who dare do right.

We have been more than ready to proclaim, through these columns, to the world the glorious tidings of a genuine and honest compromise, but our cherished hopes have been dashed, scattered, and we fear forever dissipated. With this understanding we again call upon the gallant old regulars to go forward, leaving the rebellious to act upon their own responsibility, and to take the consequences whatever they may be.

We learn that the disorganizers hope to win seats in the "Cincinnati Convention" through the influence of the Bristow and Blaine Delegations. If this be so, we are sorry for them, for "straight is the gate and REGULAR is the way." The Cincinnati Convention will be composed of regularly elected delegates. Rebellion means destruction, to healthy party organization. Persons, therefore, having on irregular badges will be permitted to walk the streets, attend theatres, etc., but when they presume to ask either "whole" or "half-seats," in the Convention, they will hear a loud and distinct voice from within, "we know you not." It will then be all important to hold regular credentials, and above all things to have on the wedding garment. We do trust that brothers Smith and Rice will go quickly, and tell their disciples.

A little journey with them toward Emmaus might "quicken the understanding," "that they might understand." God grant it—amen.

THE WINSLOW CASE.

The letter of Mr. Fish on the Winslow case, which our charge d'affaires at London was directed to present to the attention of Lord Derby, is made public. The reply of the British ministry has not yet been received. The letter is very long. Mr. Fish says: "It cannot readily be believed that Parliament intended to alter the treaties in existence without notice to the other governments, or interpose new conditions upon foreign governments seeking extradition under the treaties in existence prior to that act. The United States has declined to become subject to the British act of 1870, and with the knowledge of this the government of Great Britain has continued to ask and obtain extraditions under the treaty of 1842 and since the refusal of the United States to negotiate a new treaty under the provision of that act, and since the passage of the act of 1870, Great Britain has obtained from this government some thirteen warrants of extradition and has instituted a much larger number of proceedings to obtain extradition. In no instance has Great Britain thought it necessary to tender any such stipulation as she now asks from the United States or to present her requests for extradition in anyway different from that in which they were presented prior to 1870. The United States at the same time have instituted numerous proceedings, and at this moment have three criminals in London in custody upon charges of forgery whose extradition this government is seeking in the usual manner provided by treaty. During this period no intimation has reached this government that the treaty of 1842 was not in full force or that the act of 1870 was claimed to limit operation or to impose upon this government the necessity either of changing its laws or of giving stipulations not known to the provisions of the treaty and not heretofore suggested, nor has any representation been made to this government by that of Great Britain on account of any proceedings taken in the case of Lawrence mentioned in an opinion attributed to the Home office in the note of Lord Derby to Gen. Schenck before referred to, but now with three important cases pending in London at the present time for extradition, in one of which at least all the formalities have been complied with. We are informed in substance that it had been supposed up to the present time by the British Home office that our law as to trials for other than extradition offenses was in agreement with the law of 1870, but finding it to be otherwise we are confronted with the requirement of a stipulation in order to obtain what is guaranteed by the treaty of 1842, whereby the United States must recognize the right of the British Parliament by statute to change the executory treaties and to impose upon this government conditions and stipulations to which it had not given its assent. As relates to the particular case of the fugitive Winslow there is not, so far as I am aware, any intention of trying him for any offenses other than those on which indictments were transmitted and for which his surrender was demanded, but the United States will give no stipulation which the treaty does not authorize. The demand or the stipulation or condition is demanded by Great Britain as a right. The right of demand must be established. The President rejects that condition, which in his judgment is without any justification under the treaty. He regards the question, thus presented, as of a grave and serious character, on the final solution of which must probably depend the continuance of the extradition article of the treaty of 1842. He cannot recognize the right of any other power to change at its pleasure and without the assent of the United States, the terms and conditions of an executory agreement in a treaty solemnly ratified between the United States and that power. He thinks that the twenty-seventh section of the British act of 1870 was specially intended to exempt the treaty with the United States from the application of any of the new conditions or provisions embodied in that act, and to leave that treaty to be construed and the surrender of fugitives thereupon to be made as had been previously done. He hopes that on a further consideration her majesty's government will be in the section referred to the effect which he supposed it was designed to have, but he recognizes that it is for the British government to construe and enforce its own statutes; and should her majesty's government finally conclude that the British parliament has attached a new condition to compliance by that government of its engagement with the United States under the 10th article of the treaty of 1842, relating to extradition, requiring from the United States stipulations not provided or contemplated in the treaty, he deeply regrets the necessity which will thereby be imposed upon him, and does not see how he can avoid regarding the refusal by Great Britain to adhere to the provisions of the treaty, as they have been reciprocally understood and construed from its date to the present time, or the exaction by that government of a condition heretofore unknown as the infraction and termination of that provision of the treaty. You are not authorized to enter into any stipulation or understanding as to the trial of Winslow in case he be delivered up to justice. His surrender is asked under and in accordance with the provisions of the 10th article between the United States and Great Britain, of the 9th of August, 1842. He is charged with a crime included within the list of crimes enumerated in the treaty. That crime was committed within the jurisdiction of the United States, and he has sought an asylum and been found within the territories of Great Britain, and the United States have produced such evidence of his criminality as according to the laws of Great Britain, would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial of the crime or offense had it been committed in Great Britain. You will communicate the substance of this to Lord Derby, and should he desire it, you may read it to him.

"I am, sir, your obedient servant,
HAMILTON FISH."

Heyman and Lanier on the War Path.

[Special to the Journal.]

OPELIKA, ALA., May 13.—The deception of the Smith wing has been nipped in the bud. Auditor Smith appears here and collects a few of his friends for a caucus. A secret movement was started here this afternoon, headed by R. T. Smith to manufacture delegates for his convention on the 16th inst. It was a most diminutive caucus. Republicans here generally condemn this fraud, and will so express themselves at the county convention which meets here next week. From this it is reasonable to infer that the most of their delegates to the 16th of May convention have been manufactured to order, and without any regard to the people's will. Heyman and Lanier are on the war path and will attend to their side according to the will of the people.

REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The government has decided to become a bidder at the Harper's Ferry property, which is advertised to take place on Thursday the 20th day of July next, at Harper's Ferry.

The shipment of legal tenders for the week ending to-day, amount to $1,229,639; shipment of silver, $23,578.

The Department of State is officially advised that the British government will not discharge Winslow to-day, but again remand him to custody to await the action of this government on the note sent by Earl Derby in reply to one from Secretary Fish, which was published several days since. The note of Earl Derby is expected to reach here by the middle of next week, and in order to facilitate a final decision of the case, a special meeting of the cabinet will be held, provided the note does not reach here on regular cabinet day, to consider the note and the nature of the reply to be made. It is not believed in administration circles that the British government can advance any one argument that will alter the position assumed by the United States government, as stated in the note of Secretary Fish, alluded to above; consequently very little hope is entertained of an arrangement being secured by which the extradition of Winslow will be returned.

On Monday next Secretary Fish will send to the House the full text of the correspondence in the Winslow case, which is very voluminous, covering several hundred pages of manuscript.

The Attorney General this morning received from St. Louis the report of District Attorney Dyer regarding the applications for the pardon of McKee and McGuire, which were forwarded to him some time since. The report is unfavorable in both instances. McGuire is in the city, and this morning called in person upon the Attorney General, who declined to see him, and stated that the only way for him to communicate with him was through his counsel.

Senate not in session to-day.

House.

Mr. Knott from committee on judiciary to which had been referred certain memorials of Albert Grant in relation to the official conduct of Andrew Wylie, one of the justices of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, submitted a report that the committee say they have given the manuscript a hearing and it appears from his statement that an investigation of the subject matter of Democrats will receive examination of several quite conflicting questions in equity, and examination of a large number of witnesses. The committee have forwarded no application of the truth or falsity of the charges, but the committee are satisfied that they cannot make the examination and do justice to other questions submitted to their consideration by the House. They therefore asked to be discharged from further consideration of the memorials, and that they be referred to a special committee. The recommendation of the committee was agreed to.

Mr. Durham rose to a personal explanation, and said he had received a letter written by G. F. Welsh and published in the Louisville Courier-Journal of May 5th, relate to his (Durham's) knowledge of perjury and other crimes on his part of L. H. Fitzhugh, door keeper of the House of Representatives. Mr. Durham then said he was acquainted with circumstances only so far that when Fitzhugh was indicted for three offenses was tried and acquitted, he (Durham) was one of his counsel. Afterwards a negro named Tom Scott sued in the Federal courts for damages, the suit being against some very respectible citizens of Kentucky, who were charged with complicity in that they had accused said Scott of crime. At that trial Mr. Fitzhugh was summoned as a witness, he (Durham) was also summoned and examined at trial. He (Durham) recollected all the circumstances distinctly, and Mr. Fitzhugh made statements which were contradictory and irreconcilable, and at variance with the truth, as he (Durham) remembered owing to sickness in his family. Mr. Durham did not reach Washington in December until the Monday of the organization of the House; the caucus to select officers was held on the proceeding Saturday, and he was not aware that Col. E. Fitzhugh was a candidate; had he been here on the Saturday of the caucus he would have stated the facts as he understood them, and let them and the rest of the caucus judge if Fitzhugh was the proper person to be elected as an officer of the House.

Mr. White, of Kentucky, also rose to a question of propriety, and sent to the Clerk's desk to have read an article from the National Republican, of a few days ago, charging Mr. Fitzhugh with having been guilty of crimes while in Texas.

Messrs. Randal and Holman made the point that it was not a question of privilege.

The Speaker ruled that it was a question of privilege, as it effected an officer of the House.

Mr. White said it was his duty to investigate the matter, and if Mr. Fitzhugh is guilty he should be dismissed. He hoped that the House would adopt this resolution, and that the committee would not fall asleep.

Mr. Glover, upon motion, offered as a substitute to Mr. White's proposal declaring it to be the sense of the House that Fitzhugh is not a proper person to hold the honorable responsible position of door-keeper of the House of Representatives, and that he be dismissed from that office.

Mr. Hoar said he trusted that the House would take no action in a case which would stamp this man with crime. It was admitted that he wrote the foolish letter which had been read, as it showed that he was not competent to hold an office here. He therefore suggested that the resolution be so modified as to declare that his dismissal was on account of that letter.

Mr. Glover accepted the modification, and Mr. White accepted Mr. Glover's resolution as modified.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill; Mr. Springer of Illinois, in the chair, but no quorum present.

On motion of Mr. Holman the House at 4:40 p. m. adjourned.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Herald speaking of the rejection of Secretary Bristow by the Union League Club says: "Politically it has no effect unless it may react to his benefit." It is fair to say the moral and numerical influence of the Union League Club was preponderatingly in his favor, and it should, as a body of considerable influence in politics, be acquitted of any intention to insult the Secretary of the Treasury.

A Herald Washington special says the next sensation in Congress will be investigation of the action of the Union Pacific Railroad, as to the matter of the $610,000 in the Little Rock bonds, with which Blaine's name was lately connected. The fact remains that an irregular, not to say dishonorable transaction stands recorded in the books of the Railroad. Subpoenies have been issued for a large number of witnesses, of whom several have arrived, including J. S. C. Harrison, of Indianapolis, Mr. Millard, of Omaha, and Jas. M. Wilson, of Iowa. E. P. Rollins, of New York, who had a charge against Blaine is en route here.

Judge Dowling died at 5:30 a. m., to-day.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 13.—The remand in the case of Winslow, the forger, having expired to-day, solicitor Monter made another application to Baron Aphlette in chambers this forenoon for Winslow's release. The motion was opposed by the Attorney-General, who asked for a further remand of ten days to allow Secretary Fish's reply to arrive. He said that if no reply was received in time he would withdraw his opposition to release the prisoner. Winslow was then further remanded for ten days. His health remains good.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

COLUMBIA, May 13.—The Diocesan Convention assembled at 10 o'clock this morning and proceeded with the usual routine of business until 1 o'clock, when St. Phillip's church, Charleston was fixed for the next annual meeting, and the Convention adjourned sine die at one o'clock p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—The weather to-day is clear and the rush of visitors to the grounds is very large. Car loads of exhibits still continue to arrive. In the agricultural department nearly all the American exhibits have been received.

The hotels are still crowded, although many prominent guests have returned to their homes. In consequence of the pressure of work upon the bureau charged with the installation of objects, the number of exhibits do not correspond with the numbers in the official catalogue, which rather puzzles visitors. The inaccuracies are now being corrected.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, May 13.—There is no truth in the statement that the Light Guards have given up the march to the Centennial. The programme will be carried out precisely as laid down.

JUDGE BIBB.

A Chat With one of the Pioneers of Alabama. His Description of General Lafayette as he Entered Montgomery in 1825—the Free Trade Convention at Philadelphia in 1831.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 24, 1876.

The Hon. Benajah S. Bibb, of Montgomery, who is now in his eighteenth year, belongs to one of the oldest families in the State, with the history of which their name is intimately connected. When in 1817, Mississippi was admitted into the Union the territory east of the new State was erected into a territorial government and received the name of Alabama Territory, from the great river which drains its centre. William Wyatt Bibb, the eldest brother of this gentleman, was appointed Territorial Governor by President Monroe, and when, in 1819, Alabama was admitted into the Union was elected its first Governor. He then the subsequent year and was succeeded in the gubernatorial office by his brother, Thomas Bibb. Mr. Benajah S. Bibb, or Judge Bibb, as he is more popularly known through Alabama, has also essentially contributed toward shaping the course of events in this State, having held several public positions. He was born at the town of Petersburg, in Elbert county, Ga., on September 30, 1793, and came to Alabama in 1822. In 1823 he was elected Judge of the County Court of Montgomery county, serving several terms in the Legislature, and in 1827 was again elected Judge of the County Court, in which office he remained until 1831. He was then again returned to the Legislature, and exerted his influence for having the State capital removed from Tuscaloosa to Montgomery. In 1864 he was elected Judge of the Criminal Court for the city and county of Montgomery, but was removed from office the following year by Governor Smith, not being of that gentleman's political faith. Judge Bibb's public career has been a useful and honorable one, and, though he now leads a retired life, he still takes a lively interest in the events of the day.

WHEN I ARRIVED

At Judge Bibb's residence I was somewhat surprised in finding a large number of middle aged and young ladies assembled there, and could not well account for the presence of so many rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes in the house of a gentleman who had recently received his discharge. I learned, however, that the ladies were members of the Montgomery Association, which Mrs. Bibb is President, and were meeting at Judge Bibb's for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for a suitable decoration the first week of the graves of the Confederate dead in the Montgomery Cemetery.

A HEALTHY OCTOGENARIAN.

The Herald correspondent was cordially received by Judge Bibb. I found him well preserved for his advanced age, and was not long seated at his side before I learned to esteem him as a gentleman of courtly manners, of fine intellect, of strong and deep-rooted convictions and great and varied experience. Though now in his eighteenth year, he bears himself as erect as a pine, and his eye, clear and bright, has lost none of the fascination which an azure hiebe imparts.

While I was pleasantly chatting with Judge Bibb I took occasion to remark: "Judge, it seems to me that the history of Alabama has never been fully written. Pickett's history, though carefully written and reliable work, appears to be defective in some important particulars, and he abruptly leaves off just as he arrived at the administration of Governor Thomas Bibb. Brewer's "Alabama" is more of a statistical and biographical work than a history, though as far as it goes it is a valuable compilation. Garrett's "Public Men in Alabama" only comprises a period of thirty years. What, under these drawbacks, is the journalist, who is charged with the laborious task of writing up old reminiscences, to do?"

"Well, sir," smilingly replied the old Judge, "you will have to obtain your material fresh from the lips of the old settlers."

Acting upon this advice, I thought I would try whether I could or not obtain some information from the Judge in reference to a personage who acted an important part in the Revolutionary War. In Brewer's "Alabama" is this reference to GENERAL LAFAYETTE.

"The illustrious General Lafayette, of France, visited Alabama in 1825. He came through the Muscogee country to Montgomery, then to Cahaba, where he was received by Governor Pickens as the guest of the State; whence he proceeded to New Orleans, by way of Claiborne and Mobile. He was everywhere received with cordial demonstrations of joy and affection."

Under the sub-division of Russell county Brewer has another brief allusion to General Lafayette's visit. In the other two works (Pickett's and Garrett's) there is no allusion whatever to this event. I called Judge Bibb's attention to this defect, and succeeded in obtaining from him some details regarding LAFAYETTE'S VISIT TO ALABAMA.

"Ah! sir," said Judge Bibb, while his eye brightened with the recollection of early days and early associations, "I vividly remember General Lafayette's visit to Alabama. I also distinctly remember the appearance of our illustrious guest. At the time of his visit, he was still well preserved and of floral complexion, which quite strangely contrasted with his gray head. He was of medium size and substantially built, and bore himself very erect. He was very polite in his manners and easily accessible. In his whole deportment he showed the polished and courtly cavalier, and the whole population was captivated by his ease and graceful manner. His trip was a triumphal march all through the South. When he arrived at Fort Mitchell, on the Georgia line, he was met by General Woodward with an armed escort. My brother, John Dandridge Bibb, was one of the escorts, and delivered an address of welcome. A large number of whites and Indians were assembled to welcome General Lafayette. The Indians, not desiring, it seems, to be out-done by the whites in their ovation, placed the General in a sulky, and fifty painted warriors, under the lead of McIntosh, drew the sulky some distance. General Lafayette was met four miles from Montgomery by a cavalcade of gentlemen, Colonel Arthur P. Haynes, of South Carolina, was the chief marshal on that occasion, and I was one of the assistant marshals. Our distinguished visitor was received at the hill where now stands the State Capitol, in a tent erected for that purpose. Governor Pickens delivered the reception speech. There was a dinner given here in honor of General Lafayette, in which a large number of the prominent men of the State participated. The General Government presented General Lafayette with a township near Tallahassee, Florida. The land has since passed into the hands of different parties."

POPULATION OF MONTGOMERY.

"What was the population of Montgomery at the time of Lafayette's visit?"

"Somewhere between 1,000 and 1,500."

[The census of 1870 gives Montgomery a population of 4,405 whites and 5,183 blacks.]

"The means of communication at that time were quite limited, I presume?"

"I remember the time when the first steamboat arrived here from Mobile. It was the Tensaw, an old rickety and slow affair. The boats at that time carried a small cannon, and on nearing a landing they gave notice of their arrival by discharging it. There were no steam whistles then."

MAIL FACILITIES IN 1820.

"Your mail facilities were equally slow and defective, it is to be supposed?"

Judge Bibb—There was a regular mail route from Washington City to Montgomery. The mail was forwarded by stage coaches, and took fully ten days for a letter to reach its destination. On the interior routes, of which there were very few, mail riders were employed. The postage on a letter was twenty-five cents, and it was usually paid at the delivery, as postage stamps had not yet come into use. This was about the year 1820. Correspondence then was very limited, and was too expensive a luxury to be much indulged in.

"Traveling, I suppose, was also quite expensive and tedious?"

"The only extensive trip I made in those early days was when I attended the Free Trade Convention in Philadelphia, in 1831. Myself and the other delegates travelled from Montgomery to Baltimore entirely in stage coaches. We progressed at a very slow and tedious rate, and the trip was exceedingly fatiguing. At Baltimore we took a steamboat up the bay to the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, and thence to Philadelphia, which we reached in about two weeks from Montgomery. If it interests you, sir, I can give you a brief outline of the Free Trade Convention."

"In 1831 there was great excitement between the Free Trade and Tariff parties. A Free Trade Convention was called by the celebrated political economist, Matthew Cary, to meet in Philadelphia. The Convention was held in October, 1831, at the Musical Fund Hall, and was largely attended. The delegates from Alabama were—General John A. Elmore, General Enoch Parsons, Alfred B. Scott, R. S. Bibb, Howell Rose and several others whose name I cannot now recall. I am the only survivor of the gentlemen I have named. Perhaps in the United States there never met a more dignified, a more aristocratic and more intellectual body. Virginia had sent Chief Justice Marshall; South Carolina had her Jeffrey and Pettigru. Indeed, the States seemed eager to send their most distinguished men. There was also present a Mr. Fish, of New York, who, it is probable, was the father of Secretary Fish. A committee of one delegate from each State represented was appointed to draft an address to the people of the United States on the subject of free trade. John M. Berrien, of Georgia, was the chairman of this committee. The committee adopted an address which was largely circulated. Such was the profound logic and such were the correct constitutional views contained in that address that it was not without its effect on the public mind. Its effect was, however, not strong enough to arrest together the tide of public opinion which seems to have permeated the Northern or manufacturing States.

"Over the North, Judge, did you travel?"

"Yes. I also called on President Jackson, to whom I was introduced by General Enoch Parsons, who was his intimate personal friend, and served with him in the Creek war.

WHAT JACKSON THOUGHT OF FREE TRADE.

"Myself and General Parsons having been delegates to the Free Trade Convention, were the subjects of free trade and protective tariff mentioned when you called on President Jackson?"

"It was the subject of quite an animated discussion. General Jackson advocated a judicious tariff as being the best method of raising means for the support of the Government, and being preferable to direct taxation. 'In this matter of the tariff,' said General Jackson, 'you of the South are as far behind the age as the North is in advance.'

"Judge, do you still remember the personal appearance of General Jackson at the time of your visit at the White House?"

"Quite distinctly, sir; and I must say that I was agreeably disappointed. I had conceived that that roughness which is engendered by the turmoil of border warfare would cling to him still, but, to my surprise, I found him a most polite, cognified and courtly gentleman. There was an ease and grace in his manner that impressed me very favorably indeed.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each state equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress, and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

ROOMS REPUBLICAN STATE EX. COM.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 2, '76.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State offices: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the fourteenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In consequence of the change of Congressional Districts caused by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have no organizations perfected it was resolved that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts should, while attending the Convention, select two delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER,
Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.
C. C. SHEATS, Secretary pro tem.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

In view of the fact that the time is rapidly approaching when the Republican party will be again called upon to enter the field in opposition to the Bourbon Democratic Party, which is so earnestly seeking to perpetuate its baneful rule in this state, by the suppression of free schools, the collection of unjust taxes, and other measures abhorrent to every lover of free government; and, also, in view of the fact that no steps have been taken to secure a true representation of the Republicans of Montgomery county at the approaching State Convention to BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., which will nominate candidates for the various State offices, and select delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati, the undersigned members of the Republican party, respectfully request the Republican voters of Montgomery county to meet in their various beats on Monday the 15th day of May, 1876, and select delegates to a County Convention to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1876, at 12 o'clock, m., at the Court House in the city of Montgomery, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention TO BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., and nominating a Legislative ticket for Montgomery county. The County Convention will also select delegates to the Congressional Convention, and transact such other business as may properly come before it.

The usual apportionment will be observed in the selection of delegates from the various beats as follows:

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We quote below a few commendations from eminent members of the profession, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order it for use for swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed every form of skin disease.

TOILET USE.—Removes Soreness, Roughness, and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It renders inexperient and restores, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS.—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder or Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen of New York City. It is also equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleeding, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, etc. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every family, as it is in every farm house. Let it be tried once, and you will use no other.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine only has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians and in the hospitals of Europe and America.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SUNDAY, MAY 14, 1876.

SO WE GROW OLD.

A morning child heart from an hour of play;
A morning that no Christians ideals brought;
A tangled lesson, full of tangled thought;
A glimpse of life, when bid the curtains rise
Fold over fold,
Enfolding the picture, like a boundless sea—
The world, all action and reality—
So we grow old.

A pelting and a tender wife's caress;
A darling babe the parents' life to bless;
A helping and co-operation, in equal part;
A weary watching, with a heavy heart;
And Hope and Courage bidding Sorrow wait,
Or loose her hold;
A new made grave, and then a brave return
To life of the fires of life triumphant burn—
So we grow old.

A crime and a confirmed need of fame,
A careful rain and a tarnished name;
A slipping off of week, and month, and year,
A slipping off of hope, and love, and fear,
Faster, and faster, as the seconds draws nearer,
And today and now, with to-morrow's light,
A sound to-day, and with to-morrow night
A presence that transforms the sullenest night
From head to gold;
A shifting winter of unchanging storm;
A spring replete with sadness and sunset warm—
So we grow old.

Old fortresses, but children yet to be
In the strongholds of eternity.

POETICAL SOAP.

Messrs. Water and Oil
One day had a broil,
As down in the grass they were dropping,
And would not make
But continued to scrap,
Without any prospect of stopping.

Mr. Pearlash Gerhard, cold, quick, as a lizard,
He jumped in the midst of the shindig;
When all three agreed,
And gave it with speed,
And soap cut a cake to pay for Washing.

ABSOLUTE SAFETY

At Sea.

LIFE SAVING SUIT

FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA

And the almost countless lives that have been lost, urge the introduction of more effective appliances for saving the life than have yet been generally adopted. In response to the great public demand, the American Life Saving Suit Company now present a

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, we now offer as a means of absolute safety from death by drowning. The invention now offered claims its superiority over all inventions in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the roughest sea, preserves the natural caloric of the body for any number of hours, with capacity for carrying provisions for two days, and signals to attract attention from passing vessels.

This suit embodies three principles which are incorporated in a life saving dress—

First—A buoyancy which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural law.

Second—Protection from water and weather and consequent chill.

Third—A commissariat department, to which is attached signals, with capacity for carrying valuables, etc., etc.

This suit is put on over ordinary clothing, except shoes and hat, and can be put on inside of five minutes, and are let to passengers on transatlantic steamers at the low price of

FIVE DOLLARS A TRIP.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy a lot of 500 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "sweat down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we have this appeal to your sense of just ice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which they propose to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $41—or double her investment—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $20,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is annually distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole bond.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, and if thus drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is an authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation for a period of ten years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will at a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it in a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the splendid edifice with his money can have erected to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people.

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for they see that it is to be their house, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 4,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,

PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 96 to 80 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer, that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."

SOME of our Aldermen, in their thirst for reform and economy, would turn the city over to the mercy of midnight thieves.

SEVERAL juvenile base ball clubs have recently been organized in the city. The season has now fully opened, and we may look for a number of games.

CITIZENS residing in the suburbs must not remain away from home after dark. The police force is to be reduced, and the city placed at the mercy of highway robbers.

THE repairs on the First Baptist church having been completed, there will be services held in the church this morning. Rev. Jefferson Falkner will preach the sermon.

WE have received from Judge McDuffie, of Lowndes county, a certificate that Mr. Charles Gardner is County Surveyor of that county, he having been regularly appointed to said office.

THE splendid store of Mr. D. Abraham, on Court Street, has just been repaired, and is now one of the most handsome stores in the city, and adds considerably to the appearance of the block in which it is situated.

BEFORE the United States Circuit Court yesterday, Judge Bruce, presiding, Mr. Louis Goetter of this city, filed his oath of allegiance as a citizen of the United States, and renounced his allegiance to Emperor Wilhem.

A CRUST of bread, a pitcher of water, a thatched roof and love—there is happiness for you, says a Montgomery man. Whether the day be rainy or sunny. It is the heart that makes the home, whether the eye rests on a potato patch or a flower garden. It is, it is.

IF we may judge from the number of convicts recently carried through this city to the Penitentiary, we should suppose that institution, pretty full at the time. Several convicts from some of the lower counties passed through here yesterday in charge of proper officers.

WE fear the Emperor of Brazil will not form a very "high" opinion of most of our merchants, by examining the city papers. There are hundreds of merchants in the city who do not advertise. If each one of them would spend $10 every six months in advertising, they would be gladly surprised at the difference in their sales.

IN the U. S. Court yesterday, Judge Bruce did not give any opinion in reference to the question raised by Col. Murphey as to the new counties and their proper assignment in the Districts. But all the cases from these counties were continued till the next Court, and all the jurors and witnesses were allowed to return to their homes.

THOSE of our readers who reside beyond the bounds of the business portion of the city, must get home hereafter before dark, as some of our reform and economy Aldermen are going to have the police force abolished, and every man must be his own protector. It is a nice state of affairs in a city of near 20,000 people, but reform and economy must be instituted. It is the other extreme of rule or ruin.

OUR columns were so crowded yesterday morning, that we were unable to notice the second concert of the German military band—which was attended by a very large and appreciative audience. The music was as charming as the heart could wish. Selections from all the great authors were performed with a skill and sweetness which cannot be surpassed. Mr. Carl Beck, the director, is a young man, but he is a thorough musician, and the band is as well trained as possible. The performances here were a great success.

SENTENCED.—In the U. S. District Court yesterday, Judge Bruce imposed sentence upon Mr. Jesse C. Knight, convicted of illicit distilling. Gov. Smith, counsel for Knight, made a motion for a new trial, but Judge Bruce refused to grant it. The sentence was then imposed, being thirty days imprisonment in the jail of Montgomery county, and a fine of one hundred and fifty dollars and costs. This was the lowest fine that could be imposed, and as there were some mitigating circumstances, the imprisonment was also fixed at the lowest.

SOME of our Tallapoosa farmer friends are very anxious to get back home and look after their crops. If they will hereafter frown down illicit distilling and other lawless acts, in their midst, it will not be necessary to trouble them about coming to Courts to give evidence or serve as jurors. Any community can put a stop to lawlessness, by simply frowning it down, and refusing to recognize as good citizens those who so violate the laws and corrupt society.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure yesterday of meeting Dr. David D. Dinsmay, who has returned to our city from a very successful lecturing tour. We trust he will consent to repeat his very able lecture in our city.

THE Democratic Convention of Montgomery county, met at the Court House, yesterday at 12 m. Mr Henry C. Semple was elected chairman, and Messrs. W. W. Screws and S. C. Gilder were chosen secretaries. Delegates to the District and State conventions were elected, and the following gentlemen nominated for the General Assembly:

Senate.—M. D. Graham.

THE State Fair Association only requires about five thousand dollars more to complete all the arrangements necessary for the grandest fair ever held in Alabama. We think that our enlightened business men owe it to themselves to see that the fair association secures this small amount at once. We must do all we can to make our approaching fair a success. Thousands of strangers will be here, and we should make the best exhibit possible of our vast resources and energies. If we succeed in this, Alabama will at once begin to rise in the scale of prosperity.

NOTICE.—All the Republican citizens of wards 4 and 5 who favor the call for the regular organization of the party, are requested to assemble in their beats to select delegates to the county convention, tomorrow. The county convention meets Tuesday, the 16th. A peaceable and fair canvass is desired, and we are requested to beg those who attend the beat meetings to engage in no disputes or wrangles with those who differ from them. Let there be nothing but open, honorable and peaceable meetings, and the public will not fail to indorse it.

THE picnic of the Mechanics and Blacksmith's Union will take place at Pickett Springs on the 17th inst., next Wednesday. It will be a pleasant entertainment, and those of our citizens who desire to spend a delightful day in this beautiful park, should not fail to attend the picnic. The M. & B. Union is one of the most valuable and deserving of our local organizations, and they should receive the encouragement of all our public spirited citizens. Remember Wednesday, the 17th inst., at Pickett Springs park.

WE understand that an effort will be made to-morrow night at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen, to reduce the police force. Don't do it, gentlemen of the Board! You are doing a wrong to hundreds of good citizens in trying to deprive them of police protection. Those Aldermen who favor this wrong, should have the police assigned to their wards withdrawn, and let those who do want police protection have it. If you are so anxious to reduce the force, take those out of your wards, and leave the others as they are. There is scarcely a night passes, but some of our citizens lose property, which is stolen from them because we have no police officers. Such a wrong ought not to be perpetrated upon the citizens of this city. If you are determined to reduce the present inadequate force, abolish the police altogether, and then our citizens can come together and employ men to guard their homes and their property.

ROYALTY.

THE EMPEROR OF BRAZIL COMING TO MONTGOMERY.

The press telegrams of yesterday contained the welcome intelligence that His Majesty, Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, will soon visit the city of Montgomery. The Emperor is traveling in our country as simply Dom Pedro de Alcantara, his title as a citizen. He desires no ceremonies of an official character extended to him, but simply the kind greeting and warm welcome of our people. He desires neither sycophantic fawning nor fulsome flattery bestowed upon him, for the simple reason that he came to our country to learn something, and not to show himself. He is accompanied by several distinguished personages of his own empire, and attached to his court. We have made these statements for the information of our readers—all of whom we presume, will be glad to extend to this wise monarch the open hearted welcome so characteristic of our people. We have never enjoyed the honor of welcoming to our city, a guest who occupies such a prominent position as Dom Pedro. His own countrymen esteem him as one of the most liberal, enlightened, and humane of crowned rulers. His government is wonderfully progressive, because he recognizes the fact that the peace and happiness of a nation can only be secured by wise and enlightened rule. Had we the space, it would afford us much pleasure to paint a sketch of the Emperor's life, and the many achievements of the empire of Brazil under his reign.

But, notwithstanding the Emperor desires no official ceremonies in his behalf, we think it would be quite proper for the Board of Aldermen to inaugurate a public reception for his Majesty. Many of our people exiled themselves to Brazil, after the close of the late war, and although nearly all of them have since returned with a stronger love for our own free land than ever, they were well received in that country, and we have heard it stated that the Emperor did some of them many acts of kindness. We ought to show that we appreciate this, and that the open welcome extended our unfortunate countrymen in their hour of need, is not forgotten. We know that the city is not in a condition to have a very great reception, but as the Emperor does not wish any extravagant demonstrations, we propose a simple, unaffected welcome, and a tender of the hospitalities of the city. This much would be due to any distinguished citizen who had rendered valuable public service to the country. In this case we have a monarch who is seeking to gain information of our people and our governments, local, State and National, with a view of inaugurating such reforms in his own empire as will tend to make Brazil as near Republican as possible. For these, and other reasons, let us make the Emperor's visit as pleasant and instructive as we can.

TAKE NOTICE.—Calicoes at 5 cts. New Dollar Store, No. 5, Court Square.

WE understand that a number of gentlemen in this city are making up a party consisting of ladies and gentlemen for the purpose of visiting the Centennial exhibition at an early day. It is proposed to get up a party of about thirty or forty, lease a sleeping car, with good accommodations, and include New York, Niagara, Chicago, St. Louis, and maybe, San Francisco, in the trip. We heard no particular names mentioned of those who are interested in the trip, nor to what extent the cost of each would probably be limited, so we cannot say whether such a movement would likely be successful. There are plenty of citizens able to join in such a trip if they desired so to do, but we do not believe that our people are willing to pay the present rates of fare. They are too high and unreasonable.

As calicoes have gone down to five cents per yard, and soda water is selling at five cents per glass, Mr. L. Adler, at his Court street saloon is selling Weber's splendid Cincinnati Lager Beer, fresh from the brewery at 5 cents per glass. Beer is considered the greatest summer beverage, extant—and 5 cents per glass is reasonable enough.

Charles and Japan Teas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 75c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other food. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 25c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we can not make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "mild omen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 16, 1876 NUMBER 205

TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1876.

We are in receipt of the proceedings of the Republican Convention of Chambers county, but were unable to get them in todays issue.

Chambers county sends one set of delegates, instructing them to attend both the Conventions of the sixteenth and twenty fourth, in the interest of harmony and peace.

HALF FARE.

Arrangements are being perfected by the State Executive Committee with the various railroads in the State to transport delegates to the State Convention, to be held in this city on the 24th instant, for half fare.

No effort will be spared by the committee to make the stay of the delegates in Montgomery as pleasant and economical as possible.

AN EXCELLENT LETTER.

Congressman Hays to Ex-Governor W. H. Smith.

The following letter from the Hon. Charles Hays to Ex-Governor W. H. Smith, will be read with deep interest by all who desire the present and future success of the Republican party in Alabama. We heartily commend the general tone and spirit of the letter and devoutly trust that it may be the means of bringing about happy and enduring results. The Republican party in Alabama should be a unit and its members should stand shoulder to shoulder as against the common enemy. Here's the letter, read it:

WASHINGTON, D C, May 4, 1876.

Hon. W. H. Smith, Wetumpka, Ala.: DEAR GOVERNOR:

Your letter of April 29th was received two days since, and would have been replied to even earlier than this, had not sickness prevented.

It is proper that I should promise my reply by stating that I recognize in yourself one of the truest and staunchest Republicans in Alabama.

Together we have battled and bled shot and shell of many a bitter struggle with the Democracy in Alabama, and I feel that if perchance we should now differ your course would be dictated by what you honestly believed to be a conscientious discharge of your duty.

I feel highly complimented at your frank avowal that my proposition for a compromise between the two wings of the Republican party in our State should meet with your "personal approval." I reconvinces me that the proposition was fair, honorable and just, and should have been cheerfully accepted by all, who are in truth (as I believe you are) working for the "right of the Republican people to govern themselves." Had the proposition been acquiesced in, what power on earth could have prevented the consummation for which both wings are struggling?

If perchance Senator Spencer had been followed by a majority of the "Republican people" of Alabama, undoubtedly they would have completed the organization and selected a delegation to Cincinnati. If, on the other hand, you had been followed by a majority of the "Republican people" of Alabama, the same result would have been reached. In either event a majority of the "Republican people" of Alabama would have governed themselves and then at least we would have presented an unbroken front to the Democratic enemy. Why would the party not heed such a call? Why cannot the Convention of May 16th and May 24th even now be adjourned to some future day, if you only so will it, and name the day.

The rank and file of our party in Alabama are free and independent men. They owe no allegiance to any man or set of men and I honestly believe that a proposition of this kind would meet with their hearty approval because it would give us union, strength and a fair prospect of victory. I am informed that Mr. Spencer would acquiesce in and advise such a cause. Can you be less patriotic than he?

You do me the honor to suggest a path that I should follow, that "I should not lie still and allow Spencer to remove all the good Federal office-holders in Alabama."

If you had been acquainted with the manner of doing things in Washington those lines would never have been penned. I have opposed very many of Mr. Spencer's appointments. I think some of them unfortunate for him and the party, but still it is a conceded Sentorial prerogative; that he should name a majority of the Federal office-holders in Alabama.

Whatever I can do for good men or against bad ones will be heartily done. In this hour of extremity when our flag in Alabama is tugging in the dust of defeat, good men like yourself should by all personal piques upon the altar of forgetfulness.

It is no time to fight among ourselves. The enemy's guns are even now training upon us, and if we fail all must suffer alike, no matter under what Republican flag they fought.

As for myself I am about to retire from public life. I shall cheerfully yield to some one else, for my greatest ambition is to live henceforth in peace and harmony with all my fellow men. Looking back over the past it is but natural that there should be some things to regret, but I beg you to remember that it is not my Republican record. I stand now where I have ever stood, a lover of liberty, and the friend of the oppressed.

In future days my earnest hope shall be for the triumph and life of Republican principles, and the success of all who strive to attain this end. With great respect, your obedient servant,

CHARLES HAYS.

COLUMBIA WELCOMING THE NATIONS.

These verses are full of meat, and every American should read and echo them with pride. Long live Columbia.

L. P. MEYERS, ESQ.

The gifted, accomplished and popular correspondent, Mr. L. P. Meyers, of the Cincinnati Gazette, honored us with a call yesterday. Mr. M. will spend a few days in our beautiful city, and will be warmly greeted by our generous and noble people.

DON'T FAIL.

Don't fail to read on our second page, the hearty welcome of "COLUMBIA to the NATIONS." It is full of good feeling and should warm and inspire the heart of every man, woman and child living under the stars and stripes of American liberty.

PRINCE OF WALES.

"WALES" has got back from India, and is once more safely in the bosom of his family. His Imperial-Royal Highness returns browner, balder, fatter, and uglier than when he set out; all of which was needless. If his corpulency continues to increase he will soon become a rival in obesity to George IV or Henry VIII.

MADISON COUNTY.

We are in receipt of the call issued by Hon. I. D. Sibley, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Madison county, for the assembling of the Convention of said county on the 20th inst., to nominate candidates for the legislature, and to elect delegates to the Convention of the 24th inst. Mr. Sibley assures us that no county in North Alabama has responded to the call for the bogus convention, and that if any person in said bogus Convention pretends to represent any North Alabama county, it will be a fraud.

DALLAS COUNTY CONVENTION.

SELMA, ALA., May 13, 1876.

Pursuant to a call of many Republicans issued at a meeting held in the city of Selma, on the 5th day of April, 1876, of which call the following is a copy:

REPUBLICANS OF DALLAS COUNTY!—SAVE THE PARTY!

At a meeting of Republicans, held in the city of Selma, April 5, 1876, the following resolutions were adopted, and ordered to be printed in circular form, and distributed in all the election precincts in this county.

Resolved, That the Republicans of Dallas county, who are friendly to the call for a State Convention of the Republican party, to meet in Montgomery, on the 24th day of May, 1876, are hereby requested to meet in county convention, in the city of Selma, on the 13th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of selecting delegates to said State Convention, at Montgomery; and to transact such other business as may properly come before it.

Resolved, That the several beats in this county be entitled to the following number of delegates to each, in said county convention. Athens, 8; Orrville, 9; Lexington, 6; Cahaba, 8; Believue, 8; Harrell's X Roads, 8; Summerfield, 6; Plantersville, 5; Pleasant Hill, 6; Old Town, 6; Pine Flat, 6; River, 6; Warrenton, 6; Portland, 6; Woodlawn, 6; Selma, 35. Therefore, the Convention was called to order this day, 13th of May, 1876, by Alfred Wilson, Esq., when, on motion, Hon. Thomas Walker was called to the chair.

Mr. A. Wilson then moved that A. D. Evans and J. C. Duke act as secretaries, which motion was adopted.

In stating the object for which the Convention had met, Mr. Walker said that it was to select delegates to the State Convention to be held in the city of Montgomery, Alabama, on the 24th day of the present month; that there was no disposition to make war upon any man or set of men, but that the Republicans of Dallas county desired that their county should be represented in the regular State Convention of the party, on the 24th day of May, 1876. He was satisfied from the large delegations present from the various beats, that the Republican party of Dallas county was terribly in earnest about this movement. He requested every sincere Republican to give all his aid and influence, in perserving good order and decorum.

Alfred Wilson moved that a committee of five be appointed on credentials.

Whereupon the chair appointed Alfred Wilson, D. E. Coon, J. C. Duke, C. H. Myatt and C. J. Brooks.

On motion, Hon. Alex. White was called upon to address the Convention during the absence of the Committee on Credentials.

Col. White proceeded to address the Convention at considerable length—giving a full history of the difficulties now pending in the Republican party in this State: After which he appealed to all present to not be disheartened, but to be assured that a bright future was not far distant; that these little party divisions would soon be settled and the party go on to victory. He expressed the utmost good feeling for those Republicans who were following the lead of ex-Governor Smith. He thought their views in regard to the Convention of the sixteenth of May were erroneous—and were mistakes of the head and not of the heart. He spoke in the highest terms of Gov. Smith, Judge Rice, Gen. Healy and others connected with the Convention of the sixteenth. His speech was listened to with marked attention, and applauded at different times, to such an extent as to require the interference of the chair to preserve order.

No. 1, Selma beat, 35 delegates; 2, Cahaba beat, 8 delegates; 3, Orrville, beat, 9 delegates; 4, Woodlawn beat, 6 delegates; 5, Warrenton beat, 6 delehates; 6, Harrell's X Road's beat, 8 delegates; 7, Belleview beat, 8 delegates; 8, Old Town beat, 6 delegates; 9, Pleasant Hil beat, 6 delegates; 10, Athens beat, 8 delegates; 11, Plantersville beat, 6 delegates; 12, Summerfield beat, 6 delegates; 13, Pine Flat beat, 6 delegates: 14, River beat, 6 delegates.

All the beats in the county are represented except two. On motion the report of the committee was unanimously adopted.

On motion of Hon. H. Cochran, a committee of seven was appointed to recommend proper persons as delegates to the State convention.

The chair appointed Hon. Henry Cochran, chairman, and W. G. Grover, Robt. Dillard, Alfred Wilson, P. D. Barker, D. E. Coon, R. B. Thomas, as said committee.

The committee on delegation then made the following report through their chairman, Capt. H. Cochran, viz:

Delegates:—Alex. White, P. D. Barker, J. C. Blevins, H. Cochran, E. Morris, Thos. Walker, R. B. Thomas, D. E. Coon, W. G. Groves, Alfred Wilson.

On motion the report was received and unanimously adopted.

A. Foman, Esq., made a motion for a committee of five to select delegates to the district (Marion) Convention, which was ruled out of order by the chair.

Hon. B. S. Turner was called upon for a speech, but excused himself on the ground that it was too late and was time to adjourn to enable the delegates from the county to go home.

P. A. Latimore, of Cahaba, moved that the Convention adjourn sine die, which motion was called.

THOS. WALKER, Chairman.

Mr. Sargent introduced a bill to restrict the immigration of Chinese into the United States. Report was laid on the table.

Mr. Mitchell desiring to submit some remarks upon it, legislative and executive business was then suspended.

On motion of Mr. Ingalls the galleries and doors were closed.

House.

Under the regular Monday call of States for bills, [illegible] and these were mostly [illegible] private claims. Among the [illegible] bills were the following, which were referred:

Mr. Jones, of Kentucky, [illegible] a railway from the Southern [illegible] seaboard to the lakes.

Mr. Willis, of New York, [illegible] for the repeal of [illegible] and profits of Notions.

Mr. Scales, of Miss[illegible] for entering suits [illegible] of internal revenue.

Mr. Young, of Tennessee, to provide for refunding of direct taxes illegally assessed.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of resolutions on the calendar, upon which debate had arisen, but which were laid over under the rules.

The following, offered by Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, Dec. 14, was then taken up: "Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby directed to transmit to the House copies of all letters, telegrams, orders, and instructions relating to the organization and prosecution of the present movement against the so-called whisky rings at St. Louis, Chicago and Milwaukee."

Mr. Page, of California, had no objection to the resolution if it was made respectful. He wanted the words inserted "If not incompatible with the public service."

Mr. Randall declined to modify his resolution, and the yeas and nays were demanded. The resolution was adopted. Yeas 141, nays 69.

Mr. Payne, of Ohio, moved to suspend the rules and press the joint resolution heretofore agreed upon by the banking and currency committee, authorizing the issue of ten million dollars in silver, in exchange for greenbacks, the latter to be re-issued upon receipt of a like amount of fractional currency. The bill was rejected by a vote of 133 yeas to 73 nays.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President, in relation to the Venezuelian claims, which was referred. The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day: Andrew J. Evans, U. S. Attorney for the Western District of Texas; Virgil S. Buck, as Attorney for the Western District of North Carolina.

Secretary Bristow says that the published statement that there is a letter in St. Louis, written by him, which sets forth that he resigned his colonelcy in the army because negroes were enlisted, is unqualitiedly false.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.-J. A. Waybin, the oldest member of the bar, and an ancient philanthropist, died to-day, aged 81.

The origin of the troubles in West Felicinana is in doubt. It is stated that a body of armed negroes attacked the store of Max Aarousteen on the Bayou Sara and Woodville road, near the Mississippi line, and shot and killed him. Great excitement ensued; the regulators rallied and killed a body of negroes.

Gov. Antoine received a dispatch this morning that seventeen negro men had been killed.

A special to the Republican says: "This is what I consider as reliable as to the relust of Saturday night's doings. Eight colored men have been shot dead and four hanged. About twenty were mounted. No whites killed. Persons just from the scene report sixty blacks killed, but this statement, I think exaggerated, 20 colored men are reported to be held as prisoners. Their fate is uncertain, but the supposition is they will be killed, also that the number of negroes killed will never be ascertained; precautions having been taken to remove the dead s[illegible] number of regulators [illegible] from East [illegible] and West Felicia[illegible] county, Mississippi. The colored people were said to be arming in self defence Saturday and Sunday nights. Numbers of colored men crossed to Point Coupee, to escape those who are hunting them.

Later.—There has been a regular engagement at Laurel Hill, between white and colored men. Three whites reported killed. God only knows where this will end. The country is ablaze with excitement. All the whites are armed and in the saddle.

There was a great gathering of [illegible] and a procession headed by members dressed [illegible] was one of the [illegible] the occasion. A cantata was sung and addresses delivered. The statue is a very [illegible] and stands some distance from his birth place.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even to life itself, if left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWARK, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTTROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of your Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish more relief to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no more craving desire for it now. When I left it off suddenly, to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to-day me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I feel a return of my delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm. Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1876.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

In view of the fact that the time is rapidly approaching when the Republican party will be again called upon to enter the field in opposition to the Bourbon Democratic Party, which is so earnestly seeking to perpetuate its baneful rule in this State, by the suppression of free schools, the collection of unjust taxes, and other measures abhorrent to every lover of free government; and, also, in view of the fact that no steps have been taken to secure a true representation of the Republicans of Montgomery county at the approaching State Convention to be held on the 24th inst., which will nominate candidates for the various State offices, and select delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati, the undersigned members of the Republican party, respectfully request the Republican voters of Montgomery county to meet in their various beats on Monday the 15th day of May, 1876, and select delegates to a County Convention to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1876, at 12 o'clock, m., at the Court House in the city of Montgomery, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention to be HELD ON THE 24th inst., and nominating a Legislative ticket for Montgomery county. REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

ROOMS REPUBLICAN STATE EX. COM.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 2, '76.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock m., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State offices: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the fourteenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In consequence of the change of Congressional Districts caused by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have no organizations perfected it was resolved that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts should, while attending the Convention, select two delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

Autauga, 2; Blount, 2; Clark, 2; Conecuh, 2; Covington, 2; Coffee, 2; Crenshaw, 2; Cleburne, 2; Calhoun, 2; Coosa, 2; Colbert, 2; Escambia, 2; Etowah, 2; Fayette, 2; Franklin, 2; Geneva, 2; Jackson, 4; Jefferson, 2; Lauderdale, 2; Lawrence, 4; Marengo, 6; Marshall, 2; Montgomery, 10; Marion, 2; Pike, 2; Pickens, 4; Randolph, 2; Sanford, 2; Baldwin, 2, Barbour, 6; Bibb, 2; Bullock, 6; Butler, 2; Chilton, 2; Choctaw, 2; Cherokee, 2; Chambers, 4; Clay, 2; Dallas, 10; Hale, 2; DeKalb, 2; Elmore, 2; Greene, 4; Hale, 4; Henry, 2; Lowndes, 6; Lee, 4; Limestone, 2; Monroe, 2; Mobile, 10; Madison, 6; Macon, 4; Morgan, 2; Perry, 6; Russell, 4; Shelby, 2; St. Clair, 2; Tuskaloosa, 4; Tallapoosa, 4; Washington, 2; Winston, 2; Sumter, 6; Talladega, 4; Wilcox, 6; Walker, 2.

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER,
Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.
C. C. SHEATS, Secretary pro tem.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud; who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

COLUMBIA WELCOMING THE NATIONS.

"Now Welcome to these Western shores!" behold, Columbia cries:
A glory round her star girt brow and in her beaming eyes,

She waits in gentle majesty upon the soil where Penn
First taught to the troubled Western World the brotherhood of men,
His spirit lingers in her look, his tones within her voice,
That calls aloud throughout the earth, "Come ye, with me rejoice!
Come ye like armies, but without the slow and measured tramp;
Nor rank nor file; forgotten all the insignia of the camp.
Come ye in peace; no war-cloud now casts shadow o'er the land;
No thought of strife; like host and guest, we meet with clasped hand."

Behold! they come: their steeds are fire, outspread the swelling sail;
Their footsteps touch our eager shores; the nation cries, "All hail!"
They come! the stranger's foot is set on friendship's hallowed ground.

Amid the glittering array, fair Spain claims greeting first:
The iron bands of ignorance her sons had strength to burst:
When locked within a watery world none other dared to brave,
Columbus rose in might, and wrung the secret from the wave.
The Queen had manned the deck he trod to triumph o'er the main:
Thou land of sunshine, thine the praise—All hail to thee, O Spain!

To England, then, whose pilgrim band first upon our sod
Their altars sacred to the names of Liberty and God.
Thine impress lies upon our life, O England, proud and bold
Foremost among thy children's names our own is still enrolled.
Thou would'st have curbed the adult strength that struggled to be free;
Yet grown up children can not cling around a mother's knee.
We only shook thy shackles loose that we might clasp thy hand,
As sons their sires, when, side by side, of equal height they stand.
Nearest to us of all who come, we spring to thy embrace,
Our mother England! we are not a strange or alien race.
Thou hear'st to visit us to-day thy proud ancestral domes,
As one who journeys to behold her children in new homes.

Hail to thee, France! Thy noble sons did many a valiant deed,
Thine arm sustained our failing strength in hour of direst need.
Behold the name of Lafayette! we write it side by side
With his, the Father of our land, her savior and her pride.
Baptized with fire, the war-cloud since has darkened o'er thy brow;
Yet, like a giant, animed a while, thy strength returneth now.
True to thyself, as true to us, the furnace seven times hot
Through which thy suffering feet have trod, the long shall be forgot.
Come ye greet's thee as of old, thou great and glorious France!

The language that was learned beside the River of the Vine
Rings out a welcome on the air; its accents greet thine ear;
The children of the Father-land, they spring to meet thee here.
With foreign soil beneath thy feet, to be a ranger in the land.
The tidings of thy warlike deeds have sounded o'er the sea;
Mighty in war, thou lovest peace. Germania! hail to thee!

Thus one by one before her eyes they pass in proud review;
The nations of the earth arise, the Old World and the New,
With trophies from the glowing South and from the frozen North,
Columbia bows her stately head; no younger land can vie
With all the storied wealth that glows beneath an Eastern sky.
The fabrics spun by Europe's looms she may not match in hue;

And ye who come from Europe's shores, expect not to behold
Within the New World's borders all the wonders of the Old;
Our nation is of yesterday, and all but Nature young;
From forest and from wilderness our towns and cities sprung;
No gorgeous palaces have we to match your stately piles—
Cathedrals old and gray with time, in whose dim lighted aisles
The feet of many centuries have worn the graven stones
Beneath whose sculptured effigies sleep many hero's bones;
We can not boast the treasured art of Athens and of Rome:
Nor these we offer to your gaze in Freedom's Western home.

Our labors are of sterner mould; Columbia may not boast,
But yet we may point with modesty that e'en becomes a host
Who leads a guest throughout his hall—one who desires to know
What of the richest and the best their master has to show.
Behold our lands, their wide extent; and yet from sea to sea
Our steeds of fire on paths of steel sweep on triumphantly.
Behold the lightning chained and bound, whose flash can well reveal
Each impulse at the nation's heart that guides the common weal.
And threaded by the silver streams traced out by man's own hand,
The produce of our prairies wide flows forth to all the land.
A thousand cities fleck the plains their towers and steeples high,
They shimmer in the glittering sun, and point toward the sky.
Our ships ride on the swelling wave, and each one as it goes
Reveals the story of the wealth with which our land o'erflows.
Our tasks were homely, but when sate the firm foundation lies,
Naught lacks but time: the years shall see the glorious fabric rise.

A hundred years of weal and woe; and thus our work has sped:
And yet within the century that o'er her life has fled
Three times Columbia bared her breast to meet a mortal shock:
Three times her pure and peaceful home was the war god rose to mock.
She bent beneath the weight of blood and fire and sword;
And, purified like saint's gold, her voice rings out abroad.
"Come forth to your suffering and your poor!" To them the summons goes;
Behold! to them the wilderness shall blossom as the rose:
The forests yield, the wheat fields rise, the rocks retire apace,
And richest harvests crown the land in Freedom's dwelling-place:
Our sons, like Judah's, sit beneath the fig-tree and the vine;
The olive and the Sharon Rose around our homes entwine.

O ye that journey from afar, from every clime of earth,
Who come to join a sister land in her Centennial mirth,
Take to your heart the welcoming that, heartfelt, we extend,
And hail the auspicious reign of peace, God grant may never end!
Hushed to the brazen throat of war the battle-flags lie furled;
The right that beamed from Bethlehem's star shines over all the world;
The gracious message that was heard of old in Galilee,
Re-echo now from pole to pole, and ring from sea to sea!
United now as never before, since Time's first cycles ran,
Earth learns the Fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man!

Practical Life

This and having the most scientific and now offer to a new by drowning. The its superiority over all the body in a vertical position, preserves the head above the water for a number of days, with ordinary exertions for ten days or more, thus saving from passing over it.

This and embodies the following principles in a life preserver:

First.—A buoyancy sufficient to support the body in a vertical position, and to keep the head above water.

Second.—Protection against the consequences of cold.

Third.—A convenient method of attaching signals, whereby the whereabouts of the wearer may be ascertained.

This and is put on in a moment, and is kept ready for use at all times, even when the wearer is in bed. It will not interfere with the movements of the body in swimming, and is not cumbersome or inconvenient to wear.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

A glowing lingered o'er the land,
I met her at the meadow stile;
In mine she laid her dainty hand,
Her lips were lighted with a smile.
And when I stooped those lips to kiss,
I would have felt in heaven—but oh!
That baleful banisher of bliss,
That corn upon my little toe!

She babbled pretty foolish words,
In virginal, primitive ways;
While o'er head some sleepy birds
Chirped softly to the dying day.
"O, my cheek is pale," she said at length;
"Your eyes possess a fevered glow,"
I naively cursed, with all my strength,
That corn upon my little toe!

"'Tis naught," I murmured; "have no fear!"
But to my love could only win
The second edition of a tear,
The sister relation of a sin.
I knew she nursed a jealous doubt;
Within her soul I felt it grow,
Yet dared not breath one word about
That corn upon my little toe!

So each of each we took our leave:
Her manner seemed reserved and grave,
And when I said, "To-morrow eve,"
Cold was the answer that she gave.
The morning came—and then I slow
Return at noon, and hastily show
The books of one who fails to wear
A corn upon his little toe!

For though I waved it still so far
But for the stile, she never came;
And scarcely in a month from then
She took a fated train to Maine,
And sleeping in a palace car,
Was killed by a collision;
And when my ghost shall walk afar
A corn upon its—Hush, foe!

LIFE SAVING SUIT

FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA

And the almost countless lives that have been lost, urge the introduction of more effective appliances for saving life than have yet been generally adopted. In response to the great public demand, the American Life Saving Suit Company [illegible] present a

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, we [illegible] offer as a means of [illegible] death by drowning. The invention now offered claims its superiority over all inventions in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the roughest sea, preserves the natural [illegible] of the body for any number of days, with capacity for carrying provisions for ten days, and signals to attract attention from passing vessels.

This suit combines three principles which are important in a life saving dress:—

First—A buoyancy which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural law.

Second—Protection from water and weather and consequent chill.

Third—A commissariat department, to which is attached signals, with capacity for carrying valuables, etc., etc.

The suit is put on over ordinary clothing, except shoes and hat, and can be put on inside of five minutes, and are let to passengers on transatlantic steamers at the low price of

FIVE DOLLARS A TRIP.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago, we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "set down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We collected all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of just ce, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which a bond for pieces to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will be inserted in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of raising funds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $4 besides the big money that—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $20 $500, $1,000, $5,000, $50,000, $100,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is semi-annually collected, is all the bondholder receives, as in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking the small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, and it has always a premium, when the bond surrendered the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The importance of this fact, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

KEEP on the shady side of the street now.

THERE is little of interest going on in the courts.

DOG-FIGHTING are selling on the streets at 10 cents per quart.

REV. C. A. STAKELY has given bond, the sum being $5,000.

AN excursion to Atlanta and Kennesaw is on the tapis.

THE Post-master has been busy up in the United States court.

IT POURED down yesterday. There was a difference which was almost unendurable.

THE weather was rather unfavorable for ball playing, and was quite cool.

A FEW of our citizens are talking about the Centennial. The masses are not interested.

SEVERAL of the persons from the up country who were attending the United States courts have gone home.

FARMERS are exhibiting the best of watermelons just now. They are very good prices for them, too.

THE churches were all largely attended on Sunday, although the weather was very warm and oppressive.

MANY of our citizens are having their premises whitewashed and thoroughly disinfected for the summer campaign.

THE streets should now be put in thorough order for the summer, and should be well watered every day and kept as clean as possible.

THE Emperor of Brazil is expected to reach Montgomery next Wednesday—to-morrow week. He will be accompanied by all the notables who came with him to this country.

BUSINESS along Commerce street was only fair yesterday. The retail stores are doing well, as their goods are being sold at such prices as to induce people to buy them whether they really need them or not.

IT is the duty of the business men of Montgomery to see that the fair associations get all the aid necessary to complete the arrangements for the fair this fall. We must not fail in that.

THE sheriff of Perry county passed through the city yesterday, enroute for Wetumpka, with Albert Long and Buck Billingsley, sentenced to the penitentiary for two years each, from that county.

A FINE rain last night, laid the dust thoroughly and made the gardeners about the city very happy. The farmers were a little in need of rain, and we are very glad they were favored with such a nice shower.

WE are in receipt of a lot of handsomely printed weeds of recent publication, through our popular book dealer, Joel White, on Market street. We will notice them more fully hereafter.

MISSISSIPPI'S challenge to play Alabama a match game of base ball, has been accepted, and the game will be played at Demopolis the 25th day of next month.

A BASE BALL club of first-class players is being organized in this city. Nine Eufaula, Columbus and Union Springs can be accommodated if they think they can play ball.

SEVERAL of the street lamps were burning oil lights last night. Their dimness was sufficient to condemn the policy of abolishing gas. The winds are too heavy in this section for oil lamps, and we fear that our very public spirited aldermen are endeavoring to do that which will result only in expense and failure. We hope not, but our convictions force us to the conclusion that it will never do in a small city to substitute oil for gas.

THE following resolution was adopted in beats 4 and 5 last night, by the Republican beat Conventions, and we understand was adopted at all the beats in the county:

Whereas, This meeting has elected a sufficient number of alternates for the county convention; therefore, be it

Resolved, That no delegate will be allowed to give a proxy but that all absentees shall be represented by the alternates, commencing with the first on the list, and continuing through in regular order.

LECTURE.—Dr. David D. Lindsay will deliver his eloquent and interesting lecture on the life and character of Robert Burns, in the United States court-room to-night. This lecture is one of the most interesting we have ever had the pleasure of listening to, and we can assure our readers that it is a real literary treat to hear it. The price of admission is really very small, considering the value of the lecture, and we advise all our readers to go and hear it.

A NEW BOOK.—We have just received from the publishers, Messrs. G. W. Carleton & Co., through our popular friend, Mr. Joel White, the interesting book by "John Paul," entitled "Parodies." This book is gotten up in Carleton's best style, and is in both prose and verse. It is numerously illustrated with spirited engravings, and is decidedly a most entertaining and amusing work. We advise our readers to get it during the dull days to keep off the blues.

In the United States Circuit Court on yesterday, Judge Bruce presiding, the case of John W. Keeton against Tallapoosa county, was called and tried. A. A. Wiley for the plaintiff and ex-Gov. Watts for the defendant. Mr. Keeton is a citizen of Texas and holder of certain bonds issued by the defendants in aid of the Savannah & Memphis Railroad company, upon the coupons of which suit was instituted. Several nice legal points were argued by counsel and decided by the court. There was a jury and verdict for the full amount claimed.

REAL MEETINGS.—The meetings of the negro Republicans of beats No. 4 and 5 last night, were large and enthusiastic. The most perfect good order prevailed, and everything was harmonious and to the point. Both beats elected full delegations to the county convention which assembles to-day. We were surprised to see such large meetings, and were most happily disappointed in the harmonious proceedings. Our friends throughout the State can rely upon their comrades in this county as being fully in earnest in the great work of redeeming our fair State from incompetency and misrule.

IT must be evident to all our people that the one great need of Montgomery is a public park. There are two unoccupied squares within the city limits, either one of which would make a most attractive public resort. The one near the State House is well suited to the purposes of a park, but there are some objections to which could be urged as rendering one more convenient than some others. The two public squares in front of McTyeire's residence is the most suitable one we know of. It is well shaded, and but very little grading would be necessary to fit it up for a park. We hope that some enterprising citizen will take hold of this matter, and push it forward to success. It would win for such a man the lasting gratitude of our people.

THE FIRST WATERMELON.—In addition to the usual conference room news, what the reporter of the New York Herald gave of his interview recently with Judge E. S. Bish, and Parliamentarian as a convention in relation to certain alterations that ever reached Montgomery. Judge Bish, with a mistaken idea, sent to the Herald office for a copy of the Parliamentary Manual of Alabama, and not the Tribune. The Hon. Capt. Morrill, arrived on Monday, October 21, 1867, in Montgomery from Mobile. Mr. Neil Bish is probably the only one of our present citizens who witnessed her landing, as he is the only son at this period who was of adult age. The Montgomery Republican of the 21st October, 1867, thus announces the important arrival:

"On Monday last, the citizens of this town were gratified with the arrival of the steamboat Harriet from Mobile and many flocked to the landing to welcome her to Montgomery. This being the first steamboat which ever ascended the Alabama river as high as this place, it attracted a great deal of curiosity among those who had never before seen one, and all were highly pleased. On Tuesday afternoon, the Lord's party of ladies and gentlemen on an excursion of pleasure down seven miles up the river, which she performed at the rate of nearly six miles an hour against the current."

A COMPLETE MANURE.—Wilie, a practical French Chemist and experimenter, after many years of trial and experiment adopted the following formula, which he pronounced a complete manure, because in proper application to the field invariably produced a remunerative crop. The composition is as follows:

Acid Phosphate of Lime, 355 lbs.
Sulphate of Potash,	175 "
Sulphate of Ammonia,	221 "
Sulphate of Lime,	221 "

Costing in France $25.00, and in the United States $30.15.

This dose to an acre of worn out land in Virginia has produced, according to Ex-Governor William Smith, a most satisfactory crop. In Miss Howard's translation of Villé's celebrated Lectures and Appendix, is the following result of this manure:

The complete manure gave a crop of 50.44 bushels of wheat.

The complete manure without lime, 50.22 bushels of wheat.

The complete manure without potash, 49.44 bushels of wheat.

The complete manure without Azotic Matter, 14.66 bushels of wheat.

Without any fertilizer, 11.66 bushels of wheat.

One of the most considerable items of expense with us, in the composition of the "complete fertilizer" is the potash, costing nine cents a pound. But the 177 pounds of potash may be substituted by 328 pounds of sulphate of Potash, containing 54 per cent. of actual potash, which can be bought in New York, at 3½ cents per pound, thus naturally reducing the aggregate cost. The sulphate of Ammonia may give place to Peruvian Guano, or to nitrate of soda, or to dried or ground horns and meat preparation, either of which will supply the requisite azote or nitrogen, as well as the sulphate of ammonia, and for a less price.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 17, 1876 NUMBER 206

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1876.

"The Great American Fluctuator" is what they are disposed to call Seymour since Charles Francis Adams catalogued him.

WHEN Susan B. Anthony arose, calm, and pale, and solemn," says a New York reporter, Susan would be an ornament to Democratic meetings about this time.

WM. H. BARNUM was the only old Democratic Representative whom Speaker Kerr did not think fit for the chairmanship of a committee.

THE two principal Southern journals which are opposed to Gov. Tilden now are the Nashville American and the Richmond Enquirer. Both object to him on the ground that he cannot surely carry his own State.

THIS is the reason why E. B. Washburne declined to run for the Illinois Governorship, viz: He says "he had become satisfied that the use of his name would draw many of his friends into personal controversies in which he felt he had no right to involve them."

A CONNECTICUT Democrat was found with a newspaper in his hands laughing as if he would split. It seems that after reading about the money bags contest for the Senatorship in that State, he had stumbled upon Horatio Seymour's reference to "the simple virtues, principles of honesty, and wisdom of our fathers, which the Democratic Party has ever upheld!"

THE idea lately expressed by a contemporary that cremation had gone out of fashion, and would never again be revived, is evidently a mistake. Societies for cremating the bodies of the members are said to be increasing in numbers over Europe, and next month is to be marked by a Cremation Congress at Dresden. The delegates are going to strengthen each other's resolution in the cremation business, and will endeavor to secure a State recognition of the ancient method of disposing of the dead.

A PURCHASED SENATORSHIP.

The Boston Journal asserts that the United States Senatorship in Connecticut was virtually put up at auction, and bid off by Wm. H. Barnum. The style of the transaction, according to the Journal, has been a little peculiar in order to fit it to the political market, but the pecuniary and the mercenary features stand out as distinctly as if the scene had been an auction room or a broker's office. The object of the competitors—two of the richest men in the State—was to secure a favorable Legislature, and the simplest way, and to these men the most effectual, was to buy in their friends as members. One of them, the present Senator English, is said to have laid out $21,500 in the canvass, and his friends for some time thought he had a sure thing of it. The other, Mr. Barnum, proved to be the better financier, not only because he kept his own counsel, or to use the politico-commercial dialect, "covered his tracks" better, but because he "double-discounted English," as he claims, in his actual expenditures. And so the Senatorship is his, because he has bought it, with hard cash down on the nail. His stocks and bonds and his iron mills are not held by a more obvious title. Talk about his representing Connecticut—the Connecticut Legislature represents him, and hands over to his charge the Senatorship which had been, for a consideration pledged to him, and which secured his election.

We wish there were any other view to be taken of this affair. Wm. H. Barnum, it is true, has been a member of the National House of Representatives for four terms, but who ever heard of his business efficiency in that body? On the contrary, he has been chiefly noted for his absence from the House sessions. No other member has been so negligent of the public business. Even his rival, Mr. English, though far from being up to the New England standard of Senatorial qualifications, has much more worthily and honestly filled the various offices with which he has been entrusted, besides showing at times marked liberality and fairness for a Democrat. Perhaps the latter qualities embarrassed him in the present race. But there was no need of confining the canvass to these two men. The Connecticut Democracy are not wanting in leaders like Gov. Ingersoll, R. D. Hubbard, Judge Foster and others, who combine high character and excellent abilities calculated to give them good rank in the Senate and the respect of all parties. All these gentlemen, however, were passed over, because money has come to be of more weight with the Connecticut Democracy than brains or principles. And this is the reform party, which aspires to get control of the Government in order to elevate and improve public life and purify the official service! One such deliberate instance, too characteristic in all its features, is enough to open the eyes of the people and to give a needed warning in season. A party that throws Senatorships into the market will not get a chance to haggle over the trusts of the nation.

DOM PEDRO AT DINNER.

[From the World.]

About Dom Pedro, a gentleman in Brazil writes us in a private letter: "You would let the Emperor severely alone in the United States if you knew how utterly he detests entertainments and publicities of all kinds. At home he never takes more than twenty minutes for dinner, except on the day when he invites the Portuguese Ambassador to celebrate the birthday of the King of Portugal. Then he gives that august diplomatic functionary ten minutes extra time to feed. So tell my dear countrymen to handle their splendid American Emperor with tender consideration for these infirmities, if they wish him to carry back to Brazil agreeable recollections of his flying journey to the great republic.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The regular Republican County Convention, which assembled in this city yesterday, was by far the most representative body of Republicans we have ever known in the county. Its harmonious and hightoned action demands the respect of every good citizen. A more fair and orderly Convention was never witnessed in this city. The delegates seemed to be actuated solely by a desire to secure harmony and peace in the party, and they have set an example in their own action in Convention, which deserves to be imitated by Republicans throughout the State. Heretofore our Conventions have been noted for the disorder and wrangling which characterized them; but in this case, we are happy to state, not a single unpleasant word was uttered, nor was there any act of the Convention which will not bear the full light of day, or fail to command the respect of good men everywhere. It was emphatically a convention of working men.

Those who took active part in the proceedings of the convention, exhibited their earnest desire to heal up every wound in the party, and nothing was done or said which could in the remotest degree contribute to further alienation of those who should be friends. While asserting their own determination to press forward in the great work before us, they did not hesitate to declare their hope of an early adjustment of all the differences now existing in the ranks of the party. No abuse of those who differ from them, was indulged in by any of the delegates, but it was the expression of every one present that some mode of redress of individual or personal grievances might be suggested, which would lead to the burying out of sight of all the troubles which now environ the Republican party of Alabama, and threaten new defeats and continued disasters. The spirit of the convention was absolutely one of peace, and because its deliberations were characterized by a hightoned and harmonious spirit, we claim that it justly merits the respect and confidence of all good citizens.

The gentlemen selected as delegates to the State Convention are all well known citizens. They are equally as well known Republicans, and while neither of them sought the distinction their selection was the work of a harmonious deliberation as to who were the most suitable persons for this trust. The gentlemen put forward as candidates for the General Assembly are all tax-payers, and deeply interested in the welfare of the State. The candidate for Senator is a colored man who enjoys the confidence and respect of all his neighbors, regardless of party, and is recognized as an honest, upright citizen. The colored people are very largely in the ascendant in this county; and upon every principle of justice and fair dealing, and of representative government, they are entitled to be heard in the Legislative halls of the State. The candidates for the House of Representatives are all well known citizens, and are deeply interested in securing good government to the people of the State. It is useless to dwell at length upon this subject, and we respectfully submit the work of the convention to the candid judgment and impartial consideration of the people of Montgomery county, confident that they will find nothing in its action which they cannot freely and fully indorse.

We submit that a fair and peaceable canvass is all that is desired to convince the people of the justice of the work which now appeals for judgment. While advocating the cause of those we believe to represent the regular party organization with whatever ability we may possess, we shall drag down no man's name, nor attempt to injure any citizen, however widely he may differ from us. Our efforts shall be directed to the success of true Republicanism—on a high-toned and honorable scale. Abuse and slander and detraction will be no part or parcel of our canvass; but we shall move forward with upright purpose to secure the triumph of Republicanism throughout the country—Republicanism which demands no vilification or slander of any citizen, but which appeals to the heads and hearts of good men as the only hope of the future for this great country. Onward and upward is our motto.

THE Democracy of Pike county are quarreling among themselves, and there is a likelihood of a split which will enable the liberal people of that county to throw off the galling yoke of Bourbon rule. From the signs now visible it is very probable that two setts of delegates will come from "Old Pike" to the Democratic State Convention. The only way for the people to get rid of Bourbon misrule in these counties, is to let the office seekers and their strikers fall out among themselves. When rogues fall out, honest men get their dues.

WITH five provinces in a state of revolution, Mexico cannot well be denominated prosperous, particularly as there is so much disatisfaction with the present Government and President, that an outbreak in the Capital is daily expected. Diaz himself does not appear to have much force or influence; but is merely an instrument in the hands of others, and is put forward as a representative of the popular spirit of discontent. Mexican official's stand like a row of bricks; knock one down, and he throws all the balance over in his fall.

GOV. CHAMBERLAIN appears likely to be renominated. In view of the situation the Democrats are advising that they put up no candidate against Gov. Chamberlain, but concentrate their strength on the minor officers. The Charleston News and Courier does not favor a Democratic indorsement of Gov. Chamberlain, but thinks no candidate should be run against him.

THE GREAT EXHIBITION OPEN.

Patriotism had full possession of Philadelphia yesterday. Never in the history of our city has there been so brilliant a scene, such an assemblage of distinguished and illustrious visitors, such a unanimous outpouring of the people. We have had memorable days in Philadelphia, when the population has been strongly moved, when all the principal streets have been thronged, when the highest manifestations of popular favor and respect have been paid to living presidents, soldiers and statesmen, when profound homage has been paid to the memory of the patriotic dead, when the city has been gaily decorated and the people have surged through the thoroughfares, impelled by all manner of motives, from mere curiosity to the most intense feeling, but never have we had such a day as yesterday. Notable days were those which witnessed the ovation to Lafayette, the centenary celebration of Washington's birthday in 1832, the reception of General Jackson, the welcome home of our soldiers after the Mexican war, the funeral solemnities of General Meade, the incoming of New Year's Day of the present year, and the observance of the last 22d of February,—but none of these rivalled yesterday and the 10th of May, 1876, will now stand as the great day in Philadelphia until equalled, if not surpassed, by the Centennial Fourth of July, now so near at hand.

This is due to the exalted character of the great event, of which all this is commemorative. It is this which has brought here the grand array of representatives of nations, kingdoms, States, empires, and peoples; it is this which has led to the impressive procession of historic characters, eminent and illustrious men, accompanying the President of the United States, his Cabinet, the foreign embassies, the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, the distinguished leaders of the army and navy, the Legislature of the nation; it is this which made the walls of all houses brilliant with the colors of all countries; it is this which has its hold deep in the hearts of the people, and which packed the streets with multitudes in mass.

The day beginning with an unfavorable sky, followed by lowering clouds and occasional chilling showers and then bursting into bright sunshine, remaining clear and pleasant until the inaugural ceremonies were over, was perfectly typical of the fortunes of the Centennial undertaking itself. It had its inception under quite discouraging conditions, followed by many adverse events threatening its discomfiture and defeat, all of which were eventually cleared away, the sunlight of success coming out clear, cheery and invigorating. This similitude between the gradually brightening aspect of the skies yesterday, after the preceding rainstorm, must have come to the minds of many of those participating in the ceremonies, who had been among the laborers during the unpromising and gloomy days which have since been crowned by glorious success. when the sun did break through the clouds yesterday, and, dispersing them, lit up the bright colors of the brilliant and profuse and universal display of bunting and decorations, the city was just one glory all over. Nearly every house was ornamented in some way, and the ornamentation ranged through the whole scale of patriotism, from the tiny specimens of the Stars and Stripes on very humble dwellings to the costly and elaborate displays of the opulent, and upon the more conspicuous private and public buildings. The almost universal decoration of the humbler classes of dwellings in the small side street and up the little narrow courts was remarkable, and was one of the most pleasing characteristics of this memorable time.

The scene on the broad space between Memorial Hall and the Main Building during the ceremonial attending the formal opening of the Exhibition, was of a character to be fully understood only by those who saw it. No pen or printed description can do justice to it. The presence of the assembled dignitaries of our own country and of the world—the men whose deeds and words make up human history; the splendid instrumental music prepared for the occasion, executed with surpassing skill and effect; the swelling and magnificent harmonies of the grand chorus of human voices; the electrical influence upon the tens of thousands of spectators as the flags were unfurled when the President of the United States pronounced the words, "I now declare this Exhibition open," when the "joybells" rang out, and the organs pealed, and the mighty hallelujah chorus went up, and the multitudinous audience by one spontaneous impulse gave vent to their satisfaction by the waving of myriads of hats and handkerchiefs and enthusiastic cheers—all these are things which one must see and be a part of to rightly understand, for the best trained reporter and the most experienced writer is here at fault. Just as no writer has ever been able to reproduce in words the mighty grandeur of Niagara Falls or of the Yo Semite Valley, so none can give verbal expression to the feeling and emotion produced by scenes and events like those of yesterday.

So we leave the subject for the present, with brief mention of two other points. It should be acknowledged of record that the Emperor and Empress of Brazil have done a most grateful and welcome act in coming to the United States as a private gentleman and lady to grace this occasion with their presence. The American people will not forget that.

And now the great Exhibition of the products, the industries and the arts of the world is open to exert its refining and civilizing influences, and to do that work of education which the President made such pointed mention of yesterday. The Centennial Commissioners and the American people should not forget this while discussing the subject as to what days the Exhibition shall or shall not be open.—[Philadelphia Ledger, May 11.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A new petition for the pardon of Wm. O. Avery is being prepared for presentation to the Attorney General.

The steamer Powhattan, which has been ordered to convey West Point Cadets to the Centennial, will leave on her mission July 1st.

The cabinet meeting to-day was quite a long one.

Recent troubles in Louisiana between blacks and whites are being the subject of consideration.

The comptroller of currency has called for a report showing the condition of the National Banks at the close of business on Friday, May 12th, 1876.

Gen. Sherman and Secretary Taft had a conference yesterday on the proposal to arm friendly Indians in Arizona, to help subdue hostile Indians. The matter was referred to General Kautz.

The Commissioner of Patents has written a letter to the Secretary of Interior, which exonerates Senator Conkling from the charges against him in connection with the chronometer lock interference case.

Mr. Orth, our minister to Austria, is here to settle his accounts. He expects to have them adjusted within 10 days, at the expiration of which time will tender his resignation and proceed to Indiana and enter actively into the gubernatorial contest.

The committee on rules took up doorkeeper Fitzhugh's case to-day, but reached no decision. Several witnesses have been subpoenaed, and the investigation promises to last several days; meanwhile Fitzhugh sticks and declares that he is all right.

Quite a sharp and somewhat acrimonious passage took place between Mr. Conkling and Mr. Edwards in the Senate to-day, which created for the time something of a sensation. It grew out of a motion of Mr. Sargent to refer his Chinese bill to the committee on commerce.

Mr. Conkling, who is chairman of that committee, suggested that if it met with the wishes of the Senator from California the bill be refered to the committee on foreign relations, to which he thought it should go.

Mr. Edmunds interposed an objection contending somewhat sarcastically that it should be referred to the committee on commerce.

Mr. Conkling in reply in his peculiar manner arraigned Mr. Edmunds as a chronic objector, and intimated that since Mr. Sargent was willing to allow the bill to go to the foreign relations committee, he (Mr. Edmunds,) had been guilty of discourtesy. Mr. Edmunds has made a mock apology for having offended the gentleman from New York, and promised never to do so any more. The matter ended by the reference of the bill to the foreign committee, as Mr. Conkling desired.

Senate.

Mr. Sherman, from committee on finance, reported adversely on bills relating to receivers.

Mr. Edmunds, from committee on judiciary, reported the bill of Senator Morton to amend the 2d, 4th and 5th sections of the enforcement act, with amendments.

Mr. Edmunds said this bill was intended to meet the objections suggested by the Supreme Court to the enforcement act. He gave notice that at a very early day he would call it up for action.

Mr. Sherman, from committee on finance, reported adversely on bill of Mr. Wright to reduce the interest upon the public debt; to provide for a safe and elastic currency; for the speedy appreciation of the value of treasury notes, and national bank notes to that of coin, and to guard against panics and inflation of bank credits. It was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Mitchell, in accordance with notice heretofore given by him, proceeded to address the Senate on the Chinese problem.

House.

Mr. Vance from committee on printing called up a motion offered on Friday last to reconsider the vote whereby a report in relation to the government printing office was recommitted.

Mr. Hollman said he would be compelled to raise the question of consideration of the post office appropriation bill unless it was agreed that the printing bill should occupy only two hours time. The agreement was agreed by unanimous consent.

Mr. Hopkins asked leave to offer a resolution reciting that it was alleged that certain leading railroad corporations engaged in the transportation of inland commerce had continued to control the transportation, and had made unjust discrimination whereby certain industries were crippled and prostrated and authorizing the appointment of courts to investigate the allegations.

Mr. Payne objected, and the House then proceeded to the consideration of resolutions reported on Friday in relation to the government printing office.

The question was first taken on the resolution to transmit the evidence in the case to the criminal court of the district with a view of Mr. Clapp's indictment which were agreed to by yeas 137, nays 74.

The House then at 4:25 adjourned.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, May 16.—The cause of the disturbances in West Feliciana has come to light, and the circumstances put a much better aspect on the face of affairs It is a fact that the depredations of negroes in this parish have been such that no kind of property was safe and the stock of the planters in the parish has been almost entirely destroyed by nocturnal marauders. These robberies were carried to such an extent that the colored people, for their own protection and that of their property, organized a mutual protective union, one of the provisions of which was that any negro found guilty of thieving should be speedily whipped. Aaronstein, who was killed, resided in the neighborhood of Lowell Hill. Not long since he detected four negro men in the act of killing some of his cattle. He informed upon them and they were given 500 lashes by the colored people. Several nights afterwards, animated by a revengeful desire, they came to the house and shot Aaronstein and a colored man who stayed in the house with him, killing the first and wounding the latter in the hand. He recognized the murderers and informed upon them. Whereupon the whites in the neighborhood captured and executed the two leaders of the band of assassins. No further intelligence has been received by Marshall Packard from the parish.

The contents of the latest dispatches to the Lieut. Governor were not made public, but the State officers interpret them as conveying the impression that the sheriff is unable to preserve the peace. The Lieut. Governor would like to secure the intervention of United States troops if it could be effected, but upon communicating with Gen. Augur, commanding the department, the latter informed him that his instructions did not permit any use of troops except where the officers or soldiers were molested or government property disturbed.

Antoine telegraphed to Governor Kellogg in Washington, and doubtless the matter has been brought to the attention of the war department.

NEW ORLEANS, May 16.—A letter received here this morning by a merchant of this city from a friend of Aronstien, says he was shot down without warning by a band of armed regulators. He had been accused of buying cotton from negroes, and had refused to trust the parties for whiskey at his store.

There have been two engagements fought inside the Mississippi lines between armed parties of whites and blacks but no reliable details are furnished. Gen. Angur has received orders to prevent any further disturbance.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1876.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

Pursuant to a call of the Chairman of the County Executive Committee the Republicans of Chambers assembled at La Fayette, Ala., at 8 o'clock p. m. Friday, May 12th, 1876.

On motion the Convention was permanently organized with Antony Barrow as chairman, M. E. Taylor and Lewis Tablot, as secretaries.

J. J. McLemore offered the following resolutions, which were enthusiastically and unanimously adopted.

Whereas the Democracy in accepting by State and National action, the essential principles and theories of Republicanism have settled and removed past differences of opinion, the present is peculiarly an opportune time for measures and movements of relief and general welfare. And whereas, as is evidenced by the current that underlies public opinion, those measures and movements relate to the future of the races as effected by freedom; to the establishment of a sound national currency; and to incorruptibility and integrity in official positions. And whereas, progress, improvement, the well-being of society, and the development of the highest type of civilization of which man is capable, coupled with the most thorough, equitable and self-sustaining system of self-government; a just, humane, impartial and honest administration thereof, are the spirit, essence, aims and ends of Republicanism, therefore be it resolved by the Republican party of Chambers in County Convention assembled, as follows, viz:

1. That the true and only wise solution of the questions resultant from freedom, is found in the voluntary, gradual colonization of the colored man, upon the bases of humanity, philanthropy and christianity, and at the distance, expense and abrahamic endowment of the Federal government, to a home and country to be his own. And that in this movement, and this alone we recognize obligations discharged, christian statesmanship at a premium, society adjusted, and prosperity and the general welfare secured, as also, prophecy fulfilled, the ethiopian with his hands again outstretched to God, and in the cycle of the centuries assuming his place among the civilized nations of the earth.

2. That money is not merely a medium of exchange but primarily and essentially a standard of values, as weights are of gravities, and like the latter its creation, regulation and issue, under the constitutional specification of coinage, belong exclusively to the Federal government, and therefore all monetary circulations in violation of that specification should cease, and the Federal government be required to furnish a currency, receivable in payment of all the dues private and public, of every class, character and kind, convertible into specie at the pleasure of the holder, and having as a basis the aggregated assets and revenues of the government.

3. That all corruption, dishonesty, infidelity and other malfeasance in office meets and merits our unqualified condemnation, and we hereby pledge ourselves to the punishment of all such or other official prostitution, and to the support and countenance alone of honest men and an honest administration of public affairs.

4. That to the dissemination of the views and the inauguration of the measures indicated in the 1st, 2d and 3d resolutions, as also, in promotion of co-operation upon the basis thereof, we advise the holding of a mass meeting at the courthouse in this place (La Fayette, Ala.) on Saturday, June 10th, and to that meeting we cordially invite as equal participants all who favor such measures of relief and progress, and to it delegate the nomination or endorsement of candidates and the creation of an executive county committee to conduct the canvass.

5. That we appoint four delegates, to represent in person, or by proxy, the Republicans of Chambers in the State Conventions to be held in Montgomery, Ala., on the 16th and 24th of May, 1876, and that said delegates be instructed to use their influence in behalf of harmony, and the incorporation of the principles and policies herein set forth into the Republican State platform.

6. That the La Fayette Clipper, Alabama STATE JOURNAL, Alabama Republican, Selma Republican, National Republican (Washington D. C.) and New York Times, are requested to publish the proceedings of this Convention.

In compliance with the foregoing 5th resolution, J. J. McLemore, J. A. Grace, M. E. Taylor, and Lewis Talbot, were appointed delegates to represent the Republicans of Chambers, in the State Conventions 16th and 24th insts.

There being no further business the Convention adjourned sine die.

ANTHONY BARROW, Chairman.
M. E. Taylor, Lewis Talbot, Secretaries.

CURRENT NOTES.

Golden Silvers is the name of a resident of Topeka, Kansas.

A wag, upon visiting a medical museum was shown some dwarfs and specimens of mortality all preserved in alcohol. "Well," said he, "I never thought the dead could be in such spirits."

The class which is to graduate this year from the High School at Adrian, Mich., contains some admirable material for wives. The young ladies will wear calico dresses on graduation day. That shows common sense.

The Shakspeare Club of Birmingham, England, has probably the most extensive Shakspearan library in Great Britain. Several valuable additions have been made to it during the past year, and a careful catalogue published extending to 210 pages.

And now historians tell us that Montezuma was not such a huge fellow after all, but only a simple Indian chief, minus marble halls, bags of diamonds, and mountains of gold and silver, just like the rest of us.

An old lady had married a young and rather fast man. On one occasion, shortly after their marriage, the husband was about to set off on a journey. His wife accompanied him to the railway station, and there bade him adieu. "Charles," she said, "remember that you are married." "Caroline," he rejoined, with alacrity, "I will make a memorandum of it." And he at once tied a knot in his handkerchief.

Colds in the head have been very prevalent in London, and Dr. Ferrier of King's College has suggested a snuff which is said to work wonders. It is composed of the following ingredients: Hydrochlerate of morphia, two grains; acacia-powder, two drachms; trisnitate of bismuth, six drachms—the whole making up a quantity of powder of which from one quarter to one-half may be safely taken, if necessary, in the course of twenty-four hours.

The Saturday Review thinks that Mr. Appleton in his Nile Journal is somewhat flowery, and cites as illustrations: "This journal gets launched out of the embayed sweetness of our earlier hours." "How unlike last evening, when Egypt melted our being in its twilight, and we hung like flies in amber in the golden peace around us!" Next day, "as the sky began to clarify," and the "ghostly films of clouds were smoothing into the deep, thoughtful brow of Egyptian day," the voyagers experienced the strange physical or psychological phenomenon of "tapping the sunshine with their northern nerves."

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

In view of the fact that the time is rapidly approaching when the Republican party will be again called upon to enter the field in opposition to the Bourbon Democratic Party, which is so earnestly seeking to perpetuate its baneful rule in this State, by the suppression of free schools, the collection of unjust taxes, and other measures abhorrent to every lover of free government; and, also, in view of the fact that no steps have been taken to secure a true representation of the Republicans of Montgomery county at the approaching State Convention to BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., which will nominate candidates for the various State offices, and select delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Cincinnati, the undersigned members of the Republican party, respectfully request the Republican voters of Montgomery county to meet in their various beats on Monday the 15th day of May, 1876, and select delegates to a County Convention to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1876, at 12 o'clock, m., at the Court House in the city of Montgomery, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention TO BE HELD ON THE 24th INST., and nominating a Legislative ticket for Montgomery county. The County Convention will also select delegates to the Congressional Convention, and transact such other business as may properly come before it.

The usual apportionment will be observed in the selection of delegates from the various beats as follows:

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State offices: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1876.

THE DAY OF JUBILEE HAS COME.

The Graphic of May 10 has a Centennial picture described in these lines:

Here he comes to town again,
Yankee Doodle Dandy!
Riding on the republic's steeds
Fleet in trial o'er board nassly.

Kaiser Wilhina bears him up.
No 'tis the largest operating;
Lo, on Victoria rides a hawk,
And good queen Vic is dancing.

Austria, the Imperial, cheers,
Prussia sings with pleasure,
And the inflamed Turk himself
Performs a lively measure.

France, his stanchy friend of old,
True to love perennial,
Rocks him bravely once again
In this his year Centennial.

Yankee Doodle keep it up,
Brace and bear you sprightly;
Seize the sun or some star of hers aboard
A thousand Years sit lightly!

IT NEVER PAYS.

Because I have to forward grain
Before I get things off per,
The price of bread will push ahead,
And strike the bearer blow;
For luck is wack,
And flour is thick
Should I not lament their doom,
But yield the pay,
And clear the way,
That better men leave room.

It never pays to foster pride,
And squabble for wealth in show,
For friends come when you agree to run
In unison want or woe;
The noblest worth
Of all the earth,
And to the heart and brain,
Is peace, and love,
And hand without a stain.

It never pays to wreck the health,
In dodging fleet gains,
All pleasure thinks that gold
Is not worth what it pains.
A thousand times
Is the sweet rose kiss'd
By the dew's pearl drop,
Ere one sees
The rose bud open.

Never pay a debt twice,
Nor a debt unjust,
Nor a debt you do not owe,
Nor a debt at all,
If you have the cash
Or the property
Or the labor
Or the friendship
Or the favor
Or the influence
Or the anything
That will buy
Or exchange
For the thing
Demanded.

Never pay a debt before the time
Unless you have a discount
Or a receipt
Or a release
Or a note
Or a bill
Or a due bill
Or a check
Or a draft
Or a bond
Or a mortgage
Or a deed
Or a lease
Or a contract
Or a writing
Or a witness
Or a lawyer
Or a judge
Or a jury
Or a sheriff
Or a constable
Or a jail
Or a penitentiary
Or a gallows
Or a grave
Or a hell.

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However much the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, alarming, as it does, nearly one half of our adult population, it is unfortunately true, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest pecuniary gain to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It matters but little how important, then, that individuals should be informed as to the nature of the nerves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, to enjoyment and even life itself, if let to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of ...curative remedies.

Newmarket, Nov. 6, 1874.

Dr. LOFTMAN: Will you have the goodness to send to me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about two months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced with the Candy, and only ...found it doing me good. As I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium, I thought it ...a failing, should I stop it entirely, and my only safety was in continuing it. I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your preparation would in time remove ...and relieve me from its injurious effects. I never for ...moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going ...to prevent the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left off and began to take the Syricum I felt unusual depression at the medicine ...seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the ...craving for opium began to grow less and less. ...Sometimes I felt a sort of nervous weakness and a desire to lie down, which I used to call the ...feeling, and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm. Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 500 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace your's, and we make this appeal to your sense of just so, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation from some banker or responsible man, and signed by the editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which he may propose to act. The Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $500, $1000, $2,500, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000, $100,000, $250,000 or $500,000. The late est, which is now all ready distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance to receive one of the prizes, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, and if not drawn a premium, when it is surrendered the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is now authorized to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of the enterprise, has exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

OWING to the inclemency of the weather Monday evening, Mrs. Owen was forced to postpone her thrilling lecture, or reading, detailing the scenes and incidents of her visit to the Holy Land. We regret to learn that she has postponed the reading to an indefinite period, owing to the warm weather.

DURING his speech before the convention at the State House, Tuesday, Congressman Haralson asserted that Mr. Joseph F. Johnson, of Selma had visited Washington to aid Bromberg in contesting his (Haralson's) seat, but that he (Haralson) pulled out a letter on Johnson which drove the latter in haste from Washington. The speaker hinted that Johnson had attempted to corrupt a certain member of Congress.

DURING the session of the Convention at the capitol yesterday, calls were made upon Ex-Governor Smith, Ex-Senator Warner, and Congressman Haralson, to make speeches. Each of these at first declined. Mr. Paul Strobach was in the gallery of the House at the time, and seeing each of the above named parties declined to speak, some one in the Convention called upon Mr. Strobach, who declined also, saying he would speak in the Convention of next Tuesday, the 24th instant.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

The regular convention of the Republican party of Montgomery county, assembled in the city of Montgomery, on Tuesday, May 16, 1876.

On motion Charles Steele was called to the chair, and J. M. Levey was requested to act as secretary.

The credentials of delegates being called for, it was found that all the beats in the county were represented by regularly elected delegates. A roll being made, the names of the several delegates were called and nearly all of the delegates answered thereto—alternates being present to fill the places of such as were absent. Mr. Strobach was called upon address the convention, and responded to in a speech of some length, advocating harmony and peace in the party ranks, and urging upon the delegates present the great duty of carrying on a fair, honorable and peaceable canvass, thereby to win the respect of all good citizens.

Mr. James K. Green then addressed the convention admonishing the delegates against wrangling or quarreling, and advising them to conduct themselves, in all respects, during the canvass as good citizens, and to exert themselves to restore peace and harmony in the party ranks.

On motion a committee of seven was appointed to suggest the names of suitable persons for delegates to the regular Republican State Convention on the 24th day of the present month. The committee retired for consultation, and reported the following named gentlemen for delegates to the said State Convention:

Delegates—Paul Strobach, Charles Steele, T. C. Bingham, Richard Stowers, Geo H Patrick, Wm M Loftin, Randall Clinton, Jas K P Lucas, B McDaniel, A Montgomery. Alternates—Harry Adams, Mark Chapman, Wesley Harvey, Peter Holton, Sidney Scott, Wilks Manning, Anthony Early John Blount, Wm Gary, Abram Taylor.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted.

On motion, a committee of five was appointed to present to the convention the names of gentlemen for a County Executive Committee. The said committee retired for consultation, and submitted the following named gentlemen as a County Executive Committee:

Paul Strobach, Chairman,
T. C. Bingham, Secretary.

Clark Evans,	Charles Loper,
Wm. M. Loftin,	Geo. Allen,
Wm. J. Maxwell,	Absalom Davis,
Wm. Anthony,	Brown McDaniel,
Thos. Oliver,	Charles Johnson,
Aug. Montgomery,	Joseph Barnett,
Randall Clinton.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted, and the above named gentlemen declared to be the Republican County Executive Committee of Montgomery county.

Mr. Strobach introduced the following resolutions, which were adopted without dissent:

Whereas, It has always been the rule of the Republican party in Montgomery county, to hold a regular County Convention, in which all the Republicans of the county were represented by delegates regularly selected by the voters in the various beats, and

Whereas, The body styling itself the Republican County Executive Committee, of which Mr. Robert Barber is chairman, has seen fit to deny the Republican voters of the various beats any representation whatever, by refusing to make and publish a call for a County Convention, and

Whereas, Said Robert Barber, as chairman of said committee, with a view to deprive the people of their just representation, sent out a secret notice for a "Mass Meeting," and, Whereas, Said "Mass Meeting" was composed of only a few persons, gathered from the two city beats, and

Whereas, Said meeting, calling itself a "Mass Meeting," proceeded, in violation of all party precedent, to select delegates to represent the county in a State Convention called by a few disaffected and disorganizing Republicans, to be held on the 16th (this day), and

Whereas, The said list of delegates is composed almost entirely of county office-holders, who are seeking to save themselves in office by turning the State over to the Democratic party, and are making an unjust war upon the only Republican Senator from this State—the Hon. George E. Spencer—with a view of having his seat in the United States Senate declared vacant, and a Democrat appointed in his place, and

Whereas, The movement inaugurated by these persons is daily receiving encouragement from the Montgomery Advertiser and other Democratic papers throughout the State, thereby showing the intense satisfaction experienced by our political enemies at this bold attempt to overthrow the Republican party in Alabama, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, as representatives of the Republican voters of Montgomery county, most cordially unite in denouncing this attempt of a few office-holders and weak-kneed Republicans to destroy the organization of the party in this State.

Be it further Resolved, That the attempt of the so-called County Executive Committee to stifle the voice of the Republican voters of Montgomery county, is regarded as a part and parcel of the programme in the new movement in which many of the participants received their first instructions in the rooms of the late Democratic Legislative committees.

Be it further Resolved, That we hereby reiterate and declare our adherence to the principles of the National Republican party, and also condemn, in unmeasured terms, the effort of a few so-called Republicans in harmony with the Democratic party, to destroy the influence due to our only Republican Senator in the National administration, and earnestly appeal to all the people to stand by their party organization, and teach these sore-heads the lesson which they seem to have forgotten, that the "voice of the people is the voice of God."

The Convention then proceeded to nominate candidates for the General Assembly. On motion, Charles Steele was unanimously nominated as a candidate for the Senate. The following gentlemen were then nominated as candidates for the House of Representatives:

T. C. Bingham,	W. H. Crusius,
Jas. K. Greene,	J. K. P. Lucas.

On motion the Chairman of the delegation to the State Convention was authorized to cast the votes of the said delegation upon all questions brought before the State Convention.

On motion the County Executive Committee was authorized to fill all vacancies which may occur on said committee or the Legislative ticket.

The county executive committee was authorized to elect delegates to the Congressional Convention at the proper time.

Col. Farden being present in the Convention, was called upon to deliver an address, which he did, advising harmony and peace in the party ranks, and giving much encouraging information of the condition of affairs at Washington and elsewhere. His address was quite short, but was listened to with profound attention.

On motion the Secretary was directed to have the proceedings of this Convention published in the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL.

NOTE.—This Convention was called to meet at the Court House, but three or four days before the day appointed for the meeting thereof, the Sheriff notified Mr. Strobach that the Judge of the Circuit Court declined to allow the use of the Court House, on account of holding his Courts therein.

On motion, the thanks of the Convention were returned to the officers thereof.

The Convention then adjourned sine die.

CHARLES STEELE, Chairman.

THE RICE-SMITH CONVENTION.

The Convention headed by Judge Rice and ex-Gov. Smith, met at the State House, at 12 m. yesterday.

Gov. Smith called the meeting to order and called Maj. D. Wickersham to the chair, who made a short speech, saying that from all parts of the State responses had come up that had given unqualified endorsement to the call of this Convention. This Convention was to give the rights of freemen to all men and equal protection to all men. He deplored sectional contest for President. He made an appeal to protect Alabama from national interference in elections; 14th amendment gave ample protection to all. Appealed to all that if any were deprived of ballot that the party doing so would be deprived of representation on the floor of Congress. Asked under the constitution of the State, imperfect and unjust as he considered it, the full rights of freemen. He would join the Democrats in making a constitution to prevent voting millions of money to wild railroads. Asked to pass over bickerings and make national contest in the Centennial year one of power.

Mr. Rice moved that H. A. Wilson act as temporary secretary—carried.

Mr. Rice also moved that representatives of the press to invited to seats on the floor—carried.

Mr. Knox moved for a committee of 7 on credentials—carried.

Mr. Screws, of the Advertiser, requested Mr. Wilson, the secretary to call the roll and see who was present.

The chair appointed the following committee on credentials: R H Knox, Montgomery; Dr J H Henry, Dallas; M Lardner, Monroe, Dr R A Moseley, Talladega, Elmira Baldwin, Wilcox; Louis McKenzie, Calhoun; H V Cashin, Montgomery.

Judge Saffold moved a recess till 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. Knox explained that the difficulty had occurred in the fact that the committee had found that the delegation from many counties had informal papers, and were not regularly elected.

A delegate from Elmore county arose and said he was the regular delegate but his name had not been called, and when asked to present his credentials he refused to do so.

A delegate from Coosa county said he was the regular delegate from Coosa, but his name had not been called. He was asked to send his credentials, but he refused to do so.

Mr. Lewis, of Perry, asked to strike out the name of Temple as a delegate from Perry, and insert the name of some one else.

A delegate from Mobile said his name was left out, and it was put in the list.

Mr. Delemos moved to adopt the report of the committee. Carried.

The chair announced as committee on permanent organization: Spencer Terrell of Mobile, S. F. Rice, Wm. Henderson, Wilcox, G. M. Duskin, J. V. McDuffie.

Mr. Lewis of Perry, and Mr. Blevins of Dallas, were appointed a committee to invite Hon. Jere Haralson to address the Convention.

The committee reported that Mr. Haralson declined to speak, as he was indisposed.

Gov. Smith was asked to speak, but declined also.

Mr. Burke moved that Hon. Willard Warner be invited to a seat on the floor and also to address the Convention.

He thanked the Convention, but did not think it proper to speak now.

Hon. B. F. Saffold was elected chairman, and said he was proud of the honor conferred, and arraigned the Democratic party for their bad legislation.

Mr. Wickersham moved to go into the nomination of State officers.

Hon. Jere Haralson was opposed to nominating a State ticket at this time, and advised caution and care.

Mr. Higgins moved to lay all the motions and amendments on the table. Carried.

Gen. Healy moved that a committee on order of business be appointed.

Gen. Healy, S. F. Rice, R. A. Mosely, A. P. Wilson and J. V. McDuffie were appointed as said committee.

Dr. J. H. Henry was called upon and made a strong speech in support of Republican principles, and gave the Democrats a terrible scathing in unmeasured terms. He was opposed to independent candidates. He would rather take a straight Democrat. He said that Conkling of New York, and Hayes of Ohio, could be elected President and Vice President, or that Evarts and Hayes could be elected, but he would not vote for Blaine, and Blaine could not be elected.

Gen. Healy made a report on the order of business of the Convention.

The report was adopted, when

Hon. Jere. Haralson moved that the vote be reconsidered and made a very able and unanswerable argument against nominating a State ticket. He said as Chairman of the Convention of Dallas county, he did not understand that a State ticket was to be nominated. He said the whole State was not represented, that North Alabama was not here to-day, by its representative men that proxies would not do to elect men with. [Some one asked him where the North Alabamians were in the last election. He answered that some of them were at the polls doing good work, and some were doing what the Republicans of Lowndes county did, scratching the names of good and true men off the ticket.] He thought all should have accepted the compromise of the National and Congressional Committees submitted, and thought so still. He had asked this convention to adjourn to the 24th, but the leaders were opposed to him, and he might as well tell them to turn the river up stream. But some said if we nominate a ticket, the convention of the 24th will endorse it. But he would say that convention would not endorse the action of this convention, and this convention would not endorse what the 24th convention did. He asked that there be harmony and unity, and wait till the 24th convention is over. He gave the Democratic party and the Democratic Legislature, a terrible scathing, and said the Democracy would help widen the breach in our ranks, in order to defeat us. There could be nothing gained by nominating a ticket to-day. All that either faction could gain was to get admitted at Cincinnati, and it was more in attempting to get control of the Federal patronage in Alabama, to say who should be postmasters or revenue officers. He wanted to carry the State for the Republican party, and it could not be done with two tickets in the field. He wanted to turn out the Democratic Legislature, which had overtaxed the poor people of Alabama, who had destroyed offices and created new offices for Democrats. They pretended they had reduced the State debt to $10,000,000, but it was much larger. They had paid the chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee $300 to carry a little pamphlet of charges preferred by the Democrats against Senator Spencer, when they could have sent it for half a dollar. He continued for some time, and concluded by begging the Convention not to nominate a State ticket.

Hon. S. F. Rice made a speech in favor of nominating a State ticket. He was called to order by Mr. Higgins, who said it was not a question to be discussed as to Senator Spencer or Mr. Mayer, but whether a State ticket shall be nominated.

Hon. B. F. Saffold then addressed the convention at length, in favor of nominating a State ticket, and said the executive committee could have the discretion if a proper "independent ticket," was run they could withdraw this ticket.

Night Session.

After a number of speeches were made for and against nominating a State ticket and an angry discussion upon the subject, the following ticket was nominated:

For Governor, Thomas M. Peters, of Lawrence.

Secretary of State, J J McLemore, of Chambers.

Attorney-General, J S Clark, of Marengo.

State Treasurer, W B Harris, of Russell.

Auditor, C Cadle, Jr., of Dallas.

Superintendent of Education, J H Houston, of Perry.

Mr. Terrell withdrew the name of Hon. Jere Haralson.

After repeatedly declining to be a delegate to Cincinnati from the State at large, in person and through his friends, the convention elected him by acclamation.

Mr. McDuffie offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That Hon. Jere Haralson, Willard Warner, S. F. Rice and W. H. Smith, be elected as delegates at large to the National Republican Convention at Cincinnati.

Mr. Wickersham moved that each congressional district select three members each of the State Executive Committee.

A recess was taken, when the following were reported:

Second District—Elector: R W Healy; delegates to Cincinnati convention, R H Knox, H V Cashin; alternates, Pat Robinson, G W Seawell.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 18, 1876 NUMBER 207

THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1876.

THE WORK OF TUESDAY.

The Republican citizens who assembled in convention at the State-house on Tuesday, have presented to the people of the State a ticket for their suffrages at the August election. We recognize in the persons of the gentlemen so nominated, representative men of the disaffected faction of the Republican party of Alabama here. So far as the personal reputations of the gentlemen are concerned, we have simply to say that, on any ordinary occasion, we should not hesitate to commend them to the favor of their fellow citizens. But the unprecedented and unusual course by which they are put forward, forces us to oppose them and all the claims which are asserted in their behalf. They stand upon a platform which they are following a myth. They have nothing substantial to stand upon, and they cannot themselves explain, on any reasonable hypothesis, the causes which prompt them to break away from their party organization, and from all the precedents of the past. Some of our mis-guided friends assert that they are endeavoring to overthrow Senator Spencer and to break down his influence in the State. They claim that Senator Spencer has filled the Federal offices of Alabama with corrupt men and unscrupulous men, and that he is now building up an organization in the State for selfish and personal purposes. Now, we exceedingly regret that any well informed Republican citizen of Alabama should assert a proposition of this character, without having any evidence whatever to sustain it. There are not exceeding three or four Federal officers in Alabama filled by appointees of Senator Spencer. The Federal officials in Alabama were appointed by the immediate ex-Congressman White, Pelham, Register and Sayers, and by Congressman Hays. Senator Spencer simply assented to the appointments by the Executive, and that the President makes appointments upon the recommendations and suggestions of members of Congress and Senators. The charge made by our Republican friends that Senator Spencer is now endeavoring to have every Federal officer in Alabama removed, who refuses to do his bidding, is very far from the truth. It has not occurred to our friends that there are other gentlemen who believe that a number of men would be made, and that so far from Senator Spencer's interfering for such a purpose, he declined on numerous occasions to a five any removals. Federal officials in Alabama who owe their appointments to Senator Spencer are now engaged in a movement which seeks to destroy his influence, to blacken his name and to injure his standing amongst his Senatorial peers. Would any of our complaining friends submit to such treacherous ingratitude quietly and without comment?

But that is not to our purpose. It is plain that the Convention of Tuesday has done a great wrong to the Republican party of Alabama. Not more than one-half of the counties in the State were represented, and many of these were represented by persons who do not reside in them, and have no knowledge of the sentiments or condition of the people. Persons who live in Montgomery represented various counties which not only oppose the movement, but have elected delegates regularly to attend the Convention of the 24th. These are the facts, and we contend that Gov. Smith and Judge Rice---the leaders of the Convention---cannot be ignorant of them. The Federal officials who took part in the Convention have laid themselves liable to reprimand at the hands of the National authorities, for we contend that no officer has the right to sprout a scorn and discussion. Gentlemen have a perfect right to attend Conventions, but it is not the part of propriety to assail the National authorities. President Grant makes the appointments over which their appears to be so much discussion and angry feeling, and those who denounce them cannot do so with aspersing the President. It looks a little assumptious for one Federal officer to get up in a public assemblage and denounce the administration for appointing another Federal officer. Yet it is all these things which are now going on in the Republican party, and some of the best citizens of the State are engaged in the work. We appeal to these citizens to cease any further steps in this unhappy movement, and come forward as patriots to the union of the party at the regular Convention to assemble on the 24th inst. The cause is worthy of the sacrifice. It is utterly impossible to elect the ticket nominated on Tuesday, and we see no reason for further division in the party ranks. Senator Spencer and his friends are willing to make every reasonable sacrifice to heal the wounds which our disaffected friends have made, and we know that his friends will clasp hands in harmony with proud hearts and resolute purpose. Once more, Republican friends, we appeal for peace and unity, and for concert of action at the regular party organization, for our Convention of the 24th may not succeed every active, in Alabama.

SECRETIVE.

In the Proceedings of the Republican Convention, as printed in the city papers on the 17th inst., it appears that the chairman of the delegation to the State convention was not to be counted in the vote of the said delegation at said convention. This is secret. The proceedings should have said that a majority of the delegates shall have the right to cast, though he be chairman, the casting vote of the delegation.

In the absence of the county Executive Committee appointed by the convention of the 17th inst., Messrs. Parish Phillips and John [illegible] were heavenly inspired to select two members completes the committee of Seventeen.

PERSONAL.

We are informed by several gentlemen that a person in this city whose enmity, it appears, the JOURNAL has quite recently aroused, is secretly circulating rumors to the effect that our newspaper property is soon to be put in the hands of a receiver, and other rumors as false as they are unjust; and we deem it due alike to ourselves and our patrons to say that the only foundation for these scandalous rumors is the fact that a suit has been instituted, by an individual in the Chancery Court, seeking to accomplish in a sacred court of law that which he could not secure for the want of means---an interest in the JOURNAL property. Our excellent Chancellor will, no doubt, be surprised and mortified alike when he hears all the facts---surprised at the audacity of the suit, and mortified that his honorable court has been sought to accomplish a wrong.

THE MARSHAL'S BOND.

The Mobile Register appears to be greatly interested in the bond of Marshal Turner. It endeavors to arouse the impression upon the public mind that this bond is worthless, and thus to cast suspicion upon the responsibility of the United States Marshal. In doing this the Register simply does an injustice to Col. Turner, for which there is neither excuse or justification. It is not only a reflection upon the Marshal, but it is an absolute imputation upon Judge Bruce, who approved the bond. In the first place, Col. Turner is not the man to present a worthless bond for approval, and in the second place Judge Bruce is not the man to approve a worthless bond. If any good citizen has been deceived by the assaults upon the bond of the U. S. Marshal, we have simply to say that he can easily learn the truth by applying at the proper place. Col. Turner's bond is just as good as the bond of any officer in the State. He would not serve in any responsible station without a good bond, and as he does not seek to involve people in law for the purpose of handling their means, we do not see any point in the baseless and slanderous assaults upon him and his bond. Col. Turner has been in office but a short time, and yet he has succeeded in winning the confidence and esteem of all who have come in contact with him. His pleasant manner and accommodating disposition have secured for him the respect of the bar and the public. That he will soon be one of the most popular officials in the State, we have not the least doubt, and we take pleasure in commending him to the public as a gentleman of moral and intellectual worth.

The Toronto Globe in speaking of the Winslow matter, remarks: We are not surprised to learn that the United States has formally abrogated the extradition clause of the Ashburton treaty of 1842. This step is taken avowedly because Great Britain has already informally abrogated the same clause by refusing to surrender Winslow and Gray. It is clear that if Great Britain chooses to impose conditions on the surrender of an extraditable criminal that are unknown to the treaty, and which have never been made by either nation in former cases of extradition, the United States cannot be blamed for practically doing the same thing in another manner. The Globe concludes that the English government is desirous, by practically abrogating the treaty so far as extradition is concerned, to cause discussion upon the subject with a view to new and uniform arrangements.

ALABAMA.

CONVENTION OF THE ANTI-SPENCER REPUBLICANS---THEY RESOLVE TO NOMINATE A STATE TICKET.

MONTGOMERY, May 16.---The Republican State Convention called by the committee of which ex-Governor Smith is chairman, as contra-distinguished from the committee known as the Spencer committee, met to-day with about fifty counties represented, which includes the Republican strongholds. The counties are represented by delegates, about half black and half white.

The Convention organized and a resolution was offered to select a State ticket.

This caused a long debate, many desiring to postpone the nomination till after the other convention, called for Wednesday of next week, should act.

The motion to nominate a ticket finally prevailed, but it was impossible to complete the work before morning.

The above is the dispatch sent from Montgomery by the agent of the Associated Press here. This gentleman was well aware, at the time of the session of the Convention on Friday, and must have known that not near one-half of the counties in this State were regularly represented in the Convention. He knows that numbers of persons residing in Montgomery represented distant counties, and that the attendance of delegates was very small. It is not exactly the proper thing for a press agent to exaggerate facts, especially when people at a distance will be deceived thereby.

That "complete letter writer," which his name is Pleasants, is about to tender his resignation as the Great Bogam of the House of Representatives---going to meet the man who named his son "J. Wilkes Booth." Pleasants's "spanking team," of which he made ingloriously less, has not come round yet; but some ugly documents in the shape of old indictments for assault and battery and perjury are showing odd specimens of his dignity. The Texas delegation, for whom his election was favored, have signified that Pleasants will render his resignation a hot one to get himself liberated from the gentleman that was thrust upon him. We hope that the Democratic majority in the House will not give us any more of their "coiled doves."

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

The southern ports, seven in number, south of the Potomac, had in 1860 an aggregate foreign trade amounting to $255,700,000 and in 1874 it was but $197,200,000. Perhaps the most painful fact in this connection is that these ports lost $12,500,000 in the four years ending 1874, showing that in fact they are really not regaining what they had lost, while at the same time all the northern ports, including Baltimore, were gaining. And this change is going on at the present time, thus arguing that southern prosperity is not returning as had been supposed. Our readers may draw their own conclusions as to the cause of this remarkable condition of things. At several points there is marked and regular progress as in the foreign trade of the ports of Wilmington, N. C., Savannah, and Texas, but this is only in the exportation of domestic produce. The foreign import trade of the south there set nowhere. Whether this is because of the increasing power of the interned [illegible] system of the south and its connection with the mouths of railways we cannot say. But the fact is beyond dispute. The south seems to be more dependent commercially on the northern ports than at any time before the war, and even he is diverted to be no other cities by the railways. The revolution seems to be resistless.

The Methodist Church in the United States, all branches included, has a total lay membership of 3,117,239, with 20,257 itinerant ministers and 24,784 local preachers. But it seems from the census of 1870 that there must be more churches than ministers; for though the Church official statistics of 1875 show but 24,784 local preachers, there were in 1870 no less than 25,2.8 congregations. This is entirely the growth of the century now closing, as the Church seems to have disappeared during the Revolution. The first General Conference was held in Baltimore in 1796. But the American Methodists, after the Republic was established developed a church polity in great contrast with the timid one of their English brethren. They became a distinct, well-organized body, elected bishops, and struck out manfully for themselves. The great division on the slavery question has never yet been healed, but some overtures on the subject have been passed between the two sections. In 1850 the church edifices were reported to number 21,337, and the value of the property was given at $9,854,121, but in 1875 the church edifices and parsonages of the Methodist Episcopal Church alone had risen to $81,0?1,852. The continuance of the sectional division in this great Church is now without any reason or justification, and is most unfortunate for all the national interests, as this is the leading religious denomination in the Republic and seems likely to continue so.

CARD FROM DR. J. H. HENRY.

MONTGOMERY, May 17, 1876.

Ed. Advertiser:

In the issue of your red-hot Democratic sheet of Wednesday last, you represented me as ridiculing the people of the South, where I was born, for revering the memory of their departed heroes, Lee and Jackson, and for hanging these portraits in their parlors, and for decorating the graves of our fallen braves. You have misconstrued my remarks in the recent State Convention. I said that the Republican party was a party of justice, and had shown no disposition to oppress the people of the South, for no other nation had allowed the graves of those who had rebelled against the government to be decorated annually, and allowed them to retain their property when they had endeavored to overthrow the government. We have been charged with being thieves and fools, without honor and self-respect, which you know as editor of the Advertiser, to be false, and that Republicans are as much entitled to respect as Democrats. I said that the Republican party and the people of the North respected the names of Grant, Sherman and Thomas as much as the people of the South respected the memory of Lee, Jackson and Johnson and that no Republican or Union man should be ordered for hanging their portraits in his parlor, as no one objected to the respect paid to the departed heroes of the South. Let us forget the past, since equal sincerity is due to the people of each section. I was severe on men who had no decided political preferences, and said that the devil would refuse them admittance to hell, they knocked at the door for admittance. I declared the Democracy, one who carried no hatred in his breast for a man on account of his being a Republican. I hope, my Democratic friend, you will keep cool. I think the Republican party, by its division in the State of Alabama, is too much in a collapsed state with a consecutive chill, on account of the unjust treatment by the political party of which I am one, for you to so unintentionally misrepresent me in my weak and feeble condition as a sick Republican. I hope, my dear Advertiser, you will give me rather a soothing dose of bromide of potassium. My advice to you is to take a little more ice water and keep cool. Truly, and most respectfully, a Republican.

DR. JOHN H. HENRY.

Texas estimates its yearly increase of population at 50,000. A general preference is expressed for northern over southern emigrants, because the northern farmer almost always takes along enough money to buy land and enough stock and implements, together with an abundance of industry, to at once begin cultivation without incurring any debt.

READ the communication in this morning's JOURNAL, signed "Looker on." There are some facts stated therein which should be known to the people. Let us all know exactly how we stand before each other. We have nothing on our side of the question to conceal or hide away.

DOORKEEPER Pilcher rebukes the Democrats that no man should be allowed to resign under charges. He will hold on to the door knob while there is a salary left, or a spanking government team to drive.

INDIFFERENCE AT HOME.

[Cincinnati Trade List.]

Ingratitude and indifference sometimes mar the character of men. A husband returns from his business at evening. During his absence and throughout the livelong day, the wife has been busy with mind and hands preparing some unexpected pleasure to make his home more attractive than ever. He enters, seemingly sees no more of what has been done to please him than if he were a blind man, and has nothing more to say about it than if he were dumb. Many a young wife has borne in her heart an aching sorrow day after day from causes like this, until, in process of time, the fire and enthusiasm of her original nature have burned out, and mental upliftness spreads its pall over the household.

SUDDEN'S COMMANDMENTS.

"Be gentleness, overcome anger; by good, evil; by liberality, greed; by openness and truth, discovering and falsehood.

"Speak the truth; yield not to anger; give when asked, of little thou hast; by these three steps thou shalt go near the gods.

"The evil doer mourns in this world, and he shall mourn in the next; in both worlds has he joy. He rejoices, because he has done the duty of his deed.

"A man slothful, giving many good things but not doing them, is like a herdsman counting the kine of others, but owning none."

A GIRL OF THE PERIOD.

On the arrival of a freight train at Reading Penn., on Thursday, a detective discovered a well-dressed and rather pretty girl, about 15 years of age, riding on the bumper of a car. He assisted her off the car, and told her she was in danger of meeting with a fatal accident. She retorted, "Meeting with accident is my look out not yours; you just go mind your business and let me alone; I can take care of myself. I came from Lebanon on the bumpers, and I am going to watch my chance to ride the same way to New York City, where I am going to live." She walked away from the depot, and that was the last that was seen of her.---Reading Eagle.

Most people in Connecticut, however, cannot see the joke. To sink in a year from Buckingham and Percy to Eaton and Barnum---"that a fellow's there, any countryman!"

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 17---Mr. Wallace presented a memorial of the Philadelphia Board of Trade, against any reduction of the appropriations for the patent office. Referred to the committee on appropriations.

Mr. Whyte, from committee on naval affairs, reported adversely on the bill to compensate Robt. Small for the capture of the steamer Planter. Report concurred in.

Mr. Wright called attention to the House bill left over from last session, to provide for the payment of certain commissioner's and quartermaster claims, which he said he would call up to-morrow, if possible.

Mr. Cooper called up the House bill to further provide for building a custom-house, postoffice, courtrooms, etc., in the city of Memphis, Tennessee. Passed.

Legislative business was then suspended, and the Senate proceeded, with closed doors, to the consideration of the impeachment against W. W. Belknap, Secretary of War.

House.

Mr. Wood, of New York, from committee of ways and means, reported a bill to correct an error in the sixth section of chapter 127, of revised statutes, in relation to savings banks. The bill, as reported, provides that no stamp tax shall be required on the receipts of saving institutions and banks having no capital and which are doing no business except to receive deposits and invest them for the benefit of depositors. Passed.

Mr. Whitethorne, of Tennessee, from committee on naval affairs, reported the following bills, which were ordered printed and recommitted, viz:

To reduce the pay of officers of the navy and to fix the number of officers of the line staff.

To reorganize the marine corps.

To retain certain navy yards and to abolish others.

Mr. Garfield, of Ohio, from committee on ways and means, asked leave to report a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to make allowance of additional compensation to the collectors of internal revenue who went out of office in February, 1875, and whose territory was so widespread that they could not make settlements early. Provided, that the additional compensation shall not exceed pay at the rate of $4,500 per annum.

Mr. Randall of Pennsylvania, objected.

Mr. Miller, of New York, offered a resolution directing the committee on postoffices to take into consideration the whole subject of compensation to railroads for mail transportation, and to report at an early day of the next session of Congress, a practicable plan to secure efficient railway service, and at the same time, to protect the best interests of the government. Referred.

Mr. Edin, of Illinois, from committee on war claims reported a bill to pay claims allowed by the Southern Claims Commission, under the act of March, 1871. Made special order for Friday next.

On motion of Mr. Townsend of Pennsylvania, the banking and currency committee was discharged from the further consideration of the memorial of the New York Chamber of Commerce, in relation to silver coinage. Referred.

On motion of Mr. Danford, from Ohio, the secretary of war was authorized to loan certain tents and arms to the soldier's reunion at Cacwalder.

On motion of Mr. Hoiner, the House went in to committee of the whole, on the post office appropriation bill; Mr. Springer in the chair.

After considerable debate the committee arose and the bill as amended was reported to the House.

The amendments of the committee of the whole were concurred in and the bill passed.

Mr. Singleton, of Mississippi, from committee on printing, reported back the resolutions recommitted, providing for the relation to incorporate certain claims in the sundry civil appropriation bill, changing the salaries of the government printer and making a contract with Franklin & Rivers for printing the record.

Pending consideration, the House at 5:15 adjourned.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 17.---The Herald editorially discussed the conference at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and its probable political effect, at some length. It considers the address as lacking both in vigor of thought and force of expression. It is [illegible] Schurz as a compromise [illegible] gates [illegible] on either party. [illegible] was the downfall of his political [illegible] and consequent loss of influence with citizens who remain in his ranks.

The Times thinks the action of the conference will meet with the hearty approval of a large body of citizens. It says the opinion of the class in sympathy with those who met yesterday should not be ignored by the Republican National Convention. But it considers it impossible for the Cincinnati convention to name a candidate who would not be regarded by superior to any presented by the Democrats and announces its intention to support the Cincinnati candidate.

The World ridicules the action of the conference, especially the speech of Evarts, declaring in favor of either Bristow or Tilden.

The Tribune says it made a reproach to independent reformers; that they are the men who have failed in politics and quarreled with both great party organizations. It assumes not only that conference can do nothing, but that its presuming to assemble and express an opinion is a piece of impudence.

In the criminal branch of the United States Circuit Court to-day, F. O. Boyd, Phillip H. Dyas, Wm. H. Rose, Wm. M. Hughes, Samuel Estes, Edgar P. Hill, Wm. Sandifer, Jno. On motion of the counsel Messrs. Boyd and Dyas were allowed until Monday next to put in their pleas, and all the [illegible] defendants [illegible] days next.

TRENTON, May 17.---The Republican State Convention met to-day in Keylers' Opera House. Between 800 and 900 delegates were present. The Convention was called to order at 12 o'clock, by Mr. Joseph Cox, chairman of the State executive Committee, who nominated Alfred Mills, of Morris, as temporary chairman, and J. W. Nevins, secretary. The usual committees were appointed. A platform was adopted as a platform, declaring the House of Representatives corrupt and imbecile, and appeals to the people to prevent this corruption by sending to the Senate and Executive Departments. It demands purity in public service, a legal tender redemption in coin, insists on free and unsectarian schools and payment in full of the public debt. Also the enforcement of the Constitutional amendments and a protective tariff. It sets forth that delegates to Cincinnati shall be unpledged without other instructions than that there shall be no compromise of principle. The convention then adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Pursuant to a call of the Republican County Executive Committee of Marengo County, the County Convention met this day in Demopolis, and was at 10 o'clock called to order by Hon. F. H. On taking the chair Mr. Threet thanked the Convention for the confidence reposed in him, and expressed the hope that peace and harmony would ever characterize the action of the Convention.

The report of the committee was received and concurred in.

On motion of the Hon. C. S. Wood, a committee of five was appointed to select the names of suitable persons for delegates to the State Convention to be held at Montgomery, May 24th, 1876, and also to select delegates for the District Convention.

The committee retired and after due deliberation returned and made the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

Mr. President:—Your committee appointed to select the names of suitable persons to represent this County in our State Convention to be held at Montgomery, May 24, 1876, and for our District Convention, beg leave to report that they have maturely considered the matter and would respectfully recommend the election of the following named persons as delegates to our State and District Conventions, viz:

The above named persons were duly elected delegates and alternates in accordance with the report of the committee.

The Convention then proceeded to the nomination of a candidate for State Senator. The name of F. H. Threet was placed in nomination, and there being no other nomination Mr. Threet was nominated for State Senator by acclamation.

Nominations for candidates for the House of Representatives were in order, the names of Hon. C. S. Wood and Wm. Mathews were placed in nomination. There being no other nominations, Mr. Wood and Mr. Mathews were duly nominated as candidates for representatives to the General Assembly, by acclamation.

Hon. F. H. Threet was duly elected chairman of the County Executive Committee for the ensuing two years, and the Republicans of each beat requested to select the name of one of their number to act as a member of said Executive Committee.

Mr. Mathews offered the following resolution, which was unanimously and enthusiastically adopted, viz:

Whereas, We, the Republicans of Marengo county, in convention assembled, have learned with regret of dissension and discord among our party friends in this State; and

Whereas, In our opinion, unity, concord and peace in our ranks is necessary and should prevail among all who honestly desire the success of Republican principles, and

Whereas, The success of Republican principles are essential to the maintenance of all we hold dear; among which are the blessings of public liberty which can only be insured to us by the success of the Republican party. Therefore,

1. Resolved, That we respectfully, but earnestly call upon all our party friends throughout the State, to cease their personal bickerings, and unite as one man to defeat the machinations of the Democracy, that powerful enemy of Republicanism, free education, progress and human liberty.

2. That our delegates to the State Convention to be held in Montgomery on the 24th of May, 1876, are hereby instructed to select only true and tried Republicans as our standard bearers in the coming campaign.

3. That in case the day now set for holding the Republican State Convention should, from any cause, be changed to an earlier or later day, then, and in that event, the delegates selected by this Convention to attend at Montgomery on the 24th instant, are hereby authorized and instructed to attend on any such other day as may be selected by our State Executive Committee.

4. That, recognizing the fact that this county has never sent delegates to any convention or meeting for the purpose of changing or reorganizing the State Executive Committee appointed by the State Convention of 1871, and inasmuch as our delegates to said State Convention, of 1874, were the only persons authorized to act for us in any such capacity we cannot recognize any other committee than the one then appointed.

Mr. Wood presented the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention, appreciating the zeal and ability of the Hon. F. H. Threet, hereby instruct our delegates to the District Convention to present his name and urge his claims, as a suitable candidate for Congress from this the First Congressional District.

On motion of Hon. C. S. Wood, it was

Resolved, That a copy of the proceedings of this Convention be sent to the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL with a request that the same be published.

There being no further business the Convention adjourned sine die.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized Territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates the Committee recommend to invite all Republican electors and all other citizens, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

Chairman Republican National Committee.

ABSOLUTE SAFETY
At Sea.
LIFE SAVING SUIT
FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA.

And the almost countless lives that have been lost, urge the introduction of more effective appliances than have yet been generally adopted. In response to the great public demand, the American Life Saving Suit Company now presents a

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, we offer it as a sure preventive of loss by death by drowning. The invention now offered commends its superiority over all inventions in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the roughest sea, thereby preventing the head from being buried for any number of days, with capacity for carrying provisions for ten days, and signals to attract attention from passing vessels.

It possesses three principles which are important in a life saving dress:

First—A buoyancy which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural land.

Second—Protection from water and weather and encouragement shift.

Third—A communication department, to which is attached signals, whereby in emergency valuables, etc., etc.

The suit is put on over ordinary clothing, except the coat, and can be packed in small space, is unincumbering, and are for passengers on transatlantic steamers at the low price of

FIVE DOLLARS A TRIP.

The purchaser of a bond has once [illegible] to get back his investment, with a small interest interest added, and in consideration of taking the small rate of interest, he has a chance to the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1876.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

MONTGOMERY, May 15, 1876.

On and after this date, no liabilities contracted on account of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL, without a written order from T. C. Bingham & Co., countersigned by T. C. Bingham will be paid by us. T. C. BINGHAM & CO.,

dtf. Proprietors.

HALF FARE.—We are authorized by the officers of the Mobile & Montgomery, Montgomery & Eufaula, Western & South & North Alabama railroads to state that these roads will pass delegates to the Republican State Convention of the 24th inst., at half fare. We tender the thanks of the various delegates to these officers for their liberality.

In the Supreme Court yesterday, Judge Stone read the opinion of the court in the Beasley case, declaring the impeachment law of the late partisan Legislature unconstitutional. The heart of every patriot in the State will leap for joy when the glad news is spread abroad that we have a Supreme Court above the prejudices of the hour. All hail to the Supreme Court!

We are glad to learn that the Ladies' Memorial Association succeeded in securing enough funds to meet expenses on the day of interment. And we observe that an agreement has been made with our townsman, M. H. P. NIX, to supply headstones to all the graves of the soldier dead. The Memorial Association request subscriptions from our citizens in carrying out their determination to supply headstones, asking at least every one who is able to subscribe be one headstone or the value thereof, $100. We notice that quite a number of ladies subscribed both money and headstones. Every one who has a friend or comrade numbered amongst these "unknown" patriots ought to aid in erecting headstones on their graves. The amount is small and will never cause any one regret who may subscribe.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A MAN ATTEMPTS TO KILL HIMSELF.

Last night about 9 o'clock Mr. Charley Ford, well known to many of our citizens, attempted to take his own life, by cutting his throat with a sharp knife. When first discovered, after perpetrating the deed, he was walking slowly in front of the Sueter building, corner Monroe and Court streets. Some persons standing on the sidewalk saw the blood flowing from his wounds, and on taking hold of him saw that he had attempted to cut his throat. The wound is not considered dangerous, but serious. He was carried home and medical attention secured. These are all the facts our reporter could gather last night.

THE M. & B. PICNIC.

The crowd in attendance yesterday at the picnic of the Mechanics, at Pickett Springs Park could safely be estimated at one thousand. The 8 and 10 o'clock trains were both crowded, and the 1230 o'clock train brought a large number. The dance began early and was kept up through the entire day, in the large exhibition building, under the leadership of Prof. McDonald. The music was splendid. There was any quantity of amusement, in any shape—such as swings, ringtesters, shooting-galleries, etc. The first thing on the programme was the throwing of a sledge hammer, prize, a ten dollar box of cigars, which was won by T. J. Wiggins; distance, 19 yards. The next prize to be contested for was a beautiful silver butter-dish, valued at $20.

A basket was suspended from a tree, and every young lady who paid her dime had a right to be blindfolded and march toward it with a long pole, and if she struck it the prize was hers—several tried the experiment and failed, and it was left for Miss Agnes Guendem, to strike it and take the prize. The sack race was next, and there was about twelve entries, from the mere small boy to the grown man. A good start was made, and there was some lively hopping. Mr. Foster, we believe, got the prize, $5. Some gentleman made up another purse for a second race, which was won by Frank Griffin. Mr. Geo. M. Stubbs won the $1 prize for balancing a poll on his chin the longest distance.

The foot race, quarter of a mile distance, was won by Charley Murphy—prize, a ten dollar pair of boots.

The most exciting contest was the wheelbarrow race. The entries for this race were numerous—about thirteen. They were all drawn off in line and blindfolded, and considerable time was consumed in getting ready for the go. It was lively, and they went in every direction, running into each other, turning somersaults, and it is a wonder some of them didn't get killed. One chap was going at the rate of 20 miles an hour in the opposite direction from where he should have gone, when he struck a post, and Kelly, the champion vaulter, never went higher in the air than that chap did. The same little fellow, Frank Griffin, who excelled in the sack race, won the prize—$5.

A shooting match, by young ladies, for a ten dollar, plain gold ring, was won by Miss Lizzie Gillespie, by a center shot.

Nothing occurred to mar the pleasures of the occasion. Everybody seemed to be well pleased with the day's sport. Much credit is due the committee who conducted the affair.

THE LATE CONVENTION

Facts by a Looker On.

EDITOR JOURNAL: Montgomery, May 17, 1876. The press agent in this city having dispatched the "associated press" that the convention of the disaffected Republicans, which met in this city on Tuesday last, was so largely attended, he claiming that over fifty counties were represented, I have taken the pains to get a correct list of the counties which were represented in the Convention by actual citizens thereof; and also the counties that were represented by proxies, as well as the names of the persons who pretended to represent a majority of the counties. In addition to this claim of the press agent, all the speakers in the convention claimed with great gusto that this was a "representative convention of the Republican people" of Alabama. Now, I will proceed to give you the facts as they actually exist, as taken from the reports of the said convention, as published in the JOURNAL and the Advertiser both of this date.

The counties of Autauga, Bibb, Barbour, Bullock, Cherokee, Choctaw, Colbert, Dale, DeKalb, Elmore, Etowah, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Jackson, Jefferson, Lauderdale, Limestone, Lawrence, Marengo, Marion, Madison, Morgan, Perkins, Sanford, St. Clair, Tuscaloosa, Walker and Winston, making a total of TWENTY-NINE counties were not represented either by delegates or proxies.

I find further that the counties of Baldwin, Blount, Chilton, Chambers, Coffee, Clarke, Cleburne, Conecuh, Coosa, Covington, Crenshaw, Geneva, Monroe, Randolph and Washington, making a total of FIFTEEN other counties were represented by proxies in the persons of citizens who were not residents of said counties. This makes a grand total of FORTY FOUR counties which were either not represented at all, or if represented, it was with proxies of persons who were not citizens of the said counties. Subtract the above forty-four counties from the total sixty-five counties of the State, and I find it leaves only the meagre number of TWENTY ONE counties, which were really represented in the Convention under any pretense of regular or representative delegates, and from many of these, there were but two or three from some of the very largest counties in the State.

I find the total number of persons who sat in that convention, claiming to be delegates, to be but EIGHTY-FIVE. Of this number I find that Montgomery county furnished TWENTY-FIVE persons and Mobile county furnished EIGHTEEN, making FORTY-THREE, or more than one-half of the entire convention, when these counties were really entitled to but TWENTY delegates all told.

I find that Montgomery county furnished proxies for the counties of Blount, Clifton, Chambers, Coffee, Coosa, Covington, Crenshaw, Geneva and Randolph; and that Mobile county furnished proxies for Baldwin, Cleburne, Conecuh, Monroe and Washington.

Now, Mr. Editor, I have given you a plain statement, based upon reports in the city papers, of the character of this convention, and challenge a truthful denial thereof; and in face of these facts, what becomes of the boast made by the leaders in the above cited movement, that their convention of the 15th would "represent the masses of the Republican people" of Alabama? So long as these men could mislead and deceive the people with their speeches and their writings, it ought to do, but when their professions are put to the test, we find that they compose a very small part, really, of the Republican party of this State.

I find, further, the Third Congressional District of the State was not represented at all in the convention. More anon.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of the above we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per peck, $10 per bushel. These seeds are of my own growth, and as I have a large stock on hand and can easily fill any order promptly, we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or planters.

When Southern planters grow their own stock feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "mortgagement" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 19, 1876 NUMBER 208

FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1876.

THAT SUIT.

As the individual who has sought the honorable Chancery Court of this county to get an interest in property which he had not the money to purchase, seems to be quite glib in his threats, we propose to place before our readers all the facts touching this absurd and ridiculous suit. We will publish the bill filed, the reply and all the little incidents and according the matter from its beginning to the date when our eyes were rudely opened to the monstrous fraud which was being perpetrated upon us. This community will then see one of the most audacious and unprincipled attempts to get possession of our property ever practiced in a civilized land. The facts are absolutely startling, and every honest man will exclaim, upon reading them, that hoodwinking has been outdone.

OUR FREE SCHOOLS.

The free schools of this country are the fundamental support of the Republic, as if of the welldoing of the nation generally. They are really at the bottom of most of our scientific progress, and all success in commercial, manufacturing and agricultural enterprises. Hence the hostility manifested toward the public school system in those of our southern states in which the Democracy have obtained control of the local governments seems incomprehensible. Granted, even, that these States are poor, and that there is an imperative demand for the practice of the most rigid economy in worthless, there is plenty of room for economy in almost every family so as to enable them to pay their school taxes. There are also many other fields in the administration of public affairs in which economy might be introduced with advantage. There are other causes of high taxes than our public school system. For instance, the prosecution and punishment of crime, which our public schools try to lessen by teaching honesty, truth, science and skill. These States are doing the most foolish thing in the world in crippling the free public schools for the sake of saving a few dollars. The people of Alabama will not, in our judgment, indorse the destruction of the public schools in this State. They cannot do so without declaring themselves in favor of ignorance and crime. Our free schools are the safeguards of all good society. In these institutions are accumulated a treasury belonging to the whole nation, and the money expended for it still remains in the country. Rather should it be the aim of every State, instead of lessening their power for good, to increase their opportunities of usefulness as to become a blessing to all—rich and poor. The time is now at hand when the blind and furious partisans who destroyed our free schools should be held up for the scorn and execration of the free people of Alabama; and we propose in the canvass now before us to make a distinct issue with the hidebound Bourbons upon this subject. We propose to make them answer to the people of Alabama, for having closed our school houses against the poor people of the State, and thus setting a premium upon ignorance and consequent crime. They shall not escape from this issue by any cry of corruption or misgovernment. The crime of throttling our free schools must and shall be answered for.

The Cincinnati Gazette of the 17th inst. contains a dispatch from Indianapolis which exposes the corruption of the Democratic Supreme Court Judges of Indiana. It appears that these judges have been living off the people's money for several years, and have furnished their houses elegantly with funds stolen or corruptly taken from the State treasury. It is proven that one of the judges used the people's money to buy wedding outfits and presents for his daughter and other relations; and that on one occasion, Judge Buskirk permitted a certain lawyer to write an opinion for the court. The dispatch is as follows:

INDIANAPOLIS, May 16.—One of Bloomington's most prominent citizens has written a private letter to a friend in this city, in which the statement is made that Judge Buskirk gave Judge Eckels his now famous decision in the Corey Carter School case some time before it was rendered from the bench, and asked him to take it home and make it stronger if possible, and to fill up where it was wanting. The writer adds that a second gentleman was present when Judge Eckels informed him of this fact. He says, further: "I also know that when Emma Buskirk was married, in February, 1874, and his niece, Belle Buskirk, in June (22d), 1875, that he (Judge Buskirk) presented them both with fine silver-mounted, red Russia leather satchels. I also know of there being four other fine satchels in the family, and of his giving Emma, Belle, and Anna Buskirk (the two last are nieces), fine gold pens with pearl holders, and other things too numerous to mention, though I have a list of them." The writer adds, in conclusion, that he does not want his name mentioned unless Judge Buskirk denies his statements, and in that event he is ready to make affidavit, and secure the affidavit of the other gentleman, who is knowing to the Judge Eckles matter. The leading Democrats of the Eighth District, he says, are terribly excited over the telling exposition, and declare that they will not vote for a single Democratic Judge on the ticket. Comparing the dates of the Buskirk marriages with the dates of "satchel vouchers," and it will be seen that they sufficiently "consist" to make the Bloomington story very plausible. It is stated on reliable authority, that several persons in this city are writing on Supreme Court note paper, and that Judge Buskirk knows their names.

The theory of contraction and expansion by cold and heat is as broad as the days are short, and long in winter and summer.

There is a ring of silver in the voice of the people and the politicians. Look at the vote in the House of Representatives.

AT WORK IN THE SOUTH.

The Cincinnati Times thinks that the grounds on which the Democrats hope for success in the coming Presidential contest is the carrying of all the Southern States with the exception of South Carolina. The electoral votes of these States are as follows:

Alabama	10	Mississippi	8
Arkansas	6	Missouri	15
Delaware	3	North Carolina	10
Florida	4	South Carolina	7
Georgia	11	Tennessee	12
Kentucky	12	Texas	8
Louisiana	8	Virginia	11
Maryland	8	West Virginia	5
Total			138

Of these, leaving out South Carolina, they expect to carry 131 votes. Counting Colorado's 3 votes, the whole number in the Electoral College is 369, and necessary to a choice, 185. Should they get, therefore, the 131 votes relied upon from the South, they will need 54 votes more from the free States, and these they hope to receive from the East or West, according to the prevailing opinions of the differing factions.

Now, what we desire to point out is that there is no ground for any such confidence of carrying the South as they exhibit, except in their ability to drive the negroes away from the polls as they have done in Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia. Given a fair election, and a candidate acceptable to Southern Republicans, we should carry North Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, and Mississippi. Virginia voted for Grant in 1872, and would be a debatable State now under a fair election. The Richmond Enquirer does not hesitate to declare that there is danger of our carrying all of these States now, should the Democrats put up an Eastern candidate, and lose Indiana and Ohio in October.

But the Confederate managers know the danger in these States, and propose to make sure of them by the same process which secured to them Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. They have already commenced their campaign work. The reports of the bloody assaults upon negroes in Louisiana foretell a campaign of violence and outrage, in which citizens are to be deprived of the right to express their free opinions at the ballot box; or if they endeavor to express them, are to be annihilated by murderers of the kuklux type. The dispatches from Louisiana are enough to bring the blush to the check of every good citizen. Eight colored men shot dead, four hanged and twenty wounded are the figures. "No whites killed." It is the old story; and it will be kept up right through the campaign. The colored man is taught that he can only keep his life by keeping out of politics. That is the way in which they hope to secure the 131 electoral votes aforementioned.

Now, as we take it, the Republican party will make a great mistake if it confines its battlefield to the North. The sole reliance of the Democrats is the South—if they lose three or four of the States mentioned their hopes are gone—they cannot retrieve the loss elsewhere. That this can be accomplished we have little doubt, provided the Southern Republicans are given a candidate in whose disposition and ability to stand by their cause they can have firm reliance. Given a candidate in whose firmness and faith they cannot trust, and the fear of their limbs, lives, and Kuklux vengeance, will keep them from the polls, and thus secure to the Democracy the 131 votes on which they so confidently count.

WHO IS GOVERNOR?

Governor Houston, Col. L. R. Davis his private Secretary, and R. K. Boyd, are all absent from the State Capital and have been absent for about two weeks. Who is acting Governor, or is our Governor following in the footsteps of Grant and attending to public business at a distance from the seat of Government?—Tuscumbia Times.

Oh, it is all right for a Bourbon Governor to do as he pleases, you know. The people only pay him a small salary, and they ought not to expect much service from him. So far as the other officers are concerned, you can't expect them to do any better when the Governor sets the example. When a Republican was Governor it was very wrong for him to remain away from the capital. But a Bourbon is something better, and is entitled to more privileges!

The indications are that the entire strength of the Tammany organization will be wielded against Governor Tilden, though the delegation of the State, as a whole, will possibly obey the instructions of the Convention. A good deal of opposition to Mr. Tilden, heretofore unsuspected on the part of the general public, has been developed within a few days. The South is not by any means a unit for him, on the ground chiefly, that it is very doubtful if he could carry his own State. The New York Express is free to say that while the instructions should be obeyed, Mr. Tilden must not be passed at the risk of the inactness of the party. Ordinarily this would not mean much, but the side comments give the announcement a peculiar meaning.

Mr. Superintendent McKleroy, of the Bureau of Education, has been nominated by the Democracy of Barbour county as candidate for the House of Representatives of the General Assembly. We have this much to say in behalf of Mr. McKleroy, that he is the friend of free schools and universal education of rich and poor, and white and black alike. If a Democrat is to fill the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, the people will have occasion to regret that Mr. Mc Kleroy is not the man. Alabama's only hope is in free schools and free speech, and when a Democrat is found with the nerve to advocate these essentials of free government, we have no hesitation in according him all honor for his enlightened opinions.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF ALABAMA.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., May 18th, '76.

You are aware that an irregular organization, pretending to be the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, has been in existence for some time. This organization has heretofore claimed that it superseded and took the place of your committee created by the last State Convention, and that the great mass of the Republicans of Alabama were in harmony with and supported its pretentions. It therefore called, through its chairman, Ex-Governor Wm. H. Smith, a Convention which assembled in this city on May 16th inst.

As showing the utter absurdity of the claim that the Republicans of the State are in harmony with said organization we present the following analysis of the Convention, showing the number and residence of the delegates to said Convention, and the number of counties represented therein:

The counties of Autauga, Bibb, Barbour, Bullock, Cherokee, Choctaw, Colbert, Dale, DeKalb, Elmore, Etowah, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Jackson, Jefferson, Lauderdale, Limestone, Lawrence, Marengo, Marion, Madison, Morgan, Pickens, Sanford, St. Clair, Tuscaloosa, Walker and Winston, making a total of TWENTY-NINE counties were not represented either by delegates or proxies.

Further, the counties of Baldwin, Blount, Chilton, Chambers, Conecah, Coosa, Clarke, Coffee, Cleburne, Covington, Crenshaw, Geneva, Monroe, Randolph and Washington, making a total of FIFTEEN other counties were represented by proxies in the persons of citizens who were not residents of said counties. This makes a grand total of forty-four counties which were either not represented at all, or if represented, it was with proxies of persons who were not citizens of the counties. Subtract the above forty-four counties from the total sixty-five counties of the State, and it leaves only the meagre number of twenty-one counties, which were really represented in the Convention under any pretense of regular or representative delegates, and from many of these, there were but two or three from some of the very largest counties in the State.

The total number of persons who sat in that convention, claiming to be delegates, numbered eighty-five. Of this number Montgomery county furnished twenty five persons and Mobile county furnished eighteen, making forty-three, or more than one-half of the entire convention, when these counties were really entitled to but twenty delegates all told.

Montgomery county furnished proxies for the counties of Blount, Chilton, Chambers, Coffee, Coosa, Covington, Crenshaw, Geneva and Randolph; and Mobile county furnished proxies for Baldwin, Cleburne, Conecuh, Monroe and Washington.

We print herewith the report of the committee on credentials of said convention verbatum, [with remarks in brackets] and the Republicans of Alabama can examine and scrutinize it, and see if the analysis we make thereof is not correct.

Can it be possible that the great Republican party of Alabama, composed of ninety odd thousand voters, and distributed over the sixty-five counties of the State, are going to tamely submit to such unblushing impudence as that exhibited by the leaders who engineered the convention of the 16th? Of sixty-five counties only twenty-one were represented, and with two or three exceptions their representatives were self-constituted.

Of a convention called to number over two hundred delegates, only eighty-five persons could be induced to attend, and the greater number of these were made up of local political bummers from Mobile and Montgomery, having no political standing or influence, and sandwiched in for the purpose of giving the so called convention a respectable appearance as to numbers. Those who attended for honest purposes and in the interest of their party, found that they had committed themselves and the fortunes of their party, into the hands of a lot of local and irresponsible politicians, who steadily and persistently voted down every proposition submitted in the interests of harmony, and drove on over the heads of those who really represented constituencies, their factions and destructive measures.

We can give no better illustration of the character of this insignificant gathering, than to name the temporary chairman, M. D. Wickersham, who was well known as a Greeley man until the October elections of 1874, and the names of two of their delegates at large to Cincinnati, to-wit: Willard Warner and Sam F. Rice, who lacked the discretion of Wickersham and did not leave the Greeley concern until it had been overwhelmed by the honest Republican masses of the country.

The Republican Executive Committee of Alabama, call on all honest and earnest Republicans in the State, to persistently frown down the action of these political tricksters, who are attempting to prostrate a great party for personal ends, and by a full and respectable representation of every county in the State, in the Republican Convention of May 24th, next, to show that they are in honest sympathy with the effort of the regularly constituted authorities of our party, to once more redeem our noble State from the hands of the Democratic party.

CHAS. E. MAYER,
Chairman Republican Executive Committee of Alabama.

BULLOCK COUNTY.

Whereas: The Republican County Executive Committee being composed of a representative from each beat in the county, and, whereas it is impracticable to hold a regular delegate County Convention and having consulted with the leading Republicans of the county.

Resolved, 1st. Therefore be it resolved by the County Executive Committee that we recognize the regular State Convention to be held on the 24th of May as the proper and legal Convention duly and lawfully called to assemble, and while we can only regret the difference of feeling and opinions in our ranks ,we can see no good reason why the Republicans of Bullock shall take sides with either of those wings, therefore we recognize that call for a State Convention which has conformed to all the customs and usages of political parties.

Resolved, 2nd, That the within named W. H. Black, H. G. McCall, Benjamin Royal, William Picket, A. A. Mabson and L. S. Speed shall represent this county in the State Convention to meet in Montgomery the 24th day of May.

Resolved 3d, That we recommend and endorse W. H. Black as a suitable delegate to the National Convention to meet in Cincinnati on the 14th day of June, and hereby instruct our delegates to the District Convention to nominate him in the Convention to represent this Congressional district.

W. H. BLACK, Chairman.
PERRY MATHEWS, Sec'y.

Of all the forms of money ever invented the thing called in America fractional currency, that is shinplasters professing to represent denominations less than a dollar, exceeds all others in wastefulness and extravagance. During the period it has been in circulation 'sixteen millions of dollars of it has been lost entirely to the holders of it by destruction in various ways. The Treasury has gained that much, but the people have allowed themselves to be taxed to that extent without knowing it. To this must be added the cost of printing, assorting, renewal, etc., for all of which the taxpayers have been obliged to pay in some way. Economy is seriously discouraged by the use of such a currency. Let the use of coin become general again and it will be found that currency will be increased and there will be less haste to get rid of money. The fact is undeniable and defies all attempts to argue it away.

Amendment, and not repeal, appears to be the prevailing cry, with regard to the Bankrupt law; and it is thought Congress will listen to it.

WASHINGTON.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Mr. Morton entered a motion to reconsider the vote censuring the adverse report of Robert Small for capturing the steamer Planter, and the report was recommitted to the committee on naval affairs.

Mr. Conkling introduced a bill to punish the counterfeiting of trade marks and the dealing therein. Referred.

Mr. Burnside from committee on military affairs reported the following bill: To establish the rank of Paymaster General.

Mr. Morton submitted a resolution instructing the select committee on Mississippi affairs to investigate the alleged killing of people near the Mississippi and Louisiana line. He read a dispatch received by Gov. Kellogg late last night from his private secretary, to the effect that late arrivals from Feleciana reported a horrible condition of affairs, that sixty negroes were reported killed and four hundred whites were under arms; and also giving other details of the outrages. Resolution was adopted.

Mr. Thurman called up House bill authorizing the appointment of receivers of national banks, and for other purposes which was variously amended. The bill finally passed.

Legislative and executive business was then suspended, and the Senate with closed doors proceeded to consider articles of impeachment against W. W. Belknap.

House.

The Speaker pro tem. laid before the House a communication from Hon. Geo. M. Adams, clerk of the House, in which he quoted an extract telegraphed from Washington to the Chicago Inter-Ocean, stating that Mr. Adams is the next man to be investigated, charging him with having sold his patronage for sums ranging from $100 to $500. Mr. Adams then says that he regrets to intrude this matter upon the House, but it affects his honor as a man and his conduct as an officer; and, lest silence should be wrongfully construed, he asks the House to order an immediate investigation, and desires all who profess to have proof, to be summoned to appear in order that the truth or falsity of the charges may be ascertained. He would add that all such charges are infamous slanders, there being not a shadow of foundation on which to base them.

Mr. Brown, of Kentucky, offered a resolution directing the committee on rules to investigate the matter. He said he had no doubt the House would accede to the request for an investigation. This scandal had been spread all over the land, and it had to be investigated. He had known M. Adams for years, and he always enjoyed the confidence of those who knew him. He believed Mr. Adams to be a gentleman of integrity and honor, and that belief was entertained by all his friends.

Mr. Banks suggested reference to a special committee of five.

Mr. Brown, of Kentucky, accepted the suggestion, but hoped no Democrat from Kentucky would be placed on the committee.

The resolution was then adopted.

The resolutions submitted by the committee on printing were read. They requested the committee on appropriations to inquire into the propriety of inserting a section in sundry civil appropriation bill to change the mode of appointing public printer; regulating the manner of printing, and making a contract with Franklin Rives for printing the Congressional Record for six years.

Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, offered an amendment providing that the printing of the Record for the second session of the 44th Congress, as well as for future sessions, shall be by contract, and subject to competition.

The previous question was then ordered and the resolutions were adopted as amended by Mr. Randall in relation to giving the printing by contract.

Mr. Ward, of New York, obtained the floor, and addressed the House on the subject of trade with Canada and Mexico, and in relation to reciprocity treaties with these countries—especially with Canada.

On motion of Mr. Blount, the House went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill—Mr. Clymer in the chair.

But little debate was done, and the House took a recess until 7:30 p. m.

Governor Kellogg, of Louisiana, saw the President this morning in relation to the subject of their interview yesterday. The interview was very brief, the President informing Kellogg that the matter was in the hands of the Attorney General, and suggested that Kellogg see Pierrepont. Subsequently Kellogg visited the Department of Justice and had an interview with the Attorney General. The latter informed him in substance that the only aid the general government could afford the State authorities of Louisiana, was such as is provided for in the constitution, and only whenever asked for as specified in the constitution.

Recent reports from Louisiana show that the riots in East Feliciana were not so serious as was at first supposed, and that colored people were the aggressors.

The Treasury Department to-day received $100,000 in quarters, from San Francisco, and $100,000 more in coin is soon expected, which will complete the recent order upon San Francisco for half a million dollars. An order for an additional $100,000 in silver has been sent to Carson City.

Internal revenue receipts to-day $491,879.99; customs receipts, $562,190.88; national bank notes received to-day for redemption $1,576,805.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Herald editorially discussing the action of the Democratic convention at Cincinnati, yesterday says the victory of the soft money Democrats made it certain that this question will come up at St. Louis, and be of sharp controversy. It will be very likely to happen that a motion will be carried to adopt a platform before balloting for candidates, and the inflationists will try to make it of such character that no promise of hard money candidate can stand upon it. If they succeed in this they will destroy all chances for Democratic success in the electoral college, and a hard money man would be the wisest thing, or the e would be a possibility of throwing the election into the hands of a possible, where one or the other of the Democratic candidates would succeed, but the chances are that the hard money men will preponderate at St. Louis and by making concessions in the platform will nominate hard money candidates.

The Herald thinks the victory of the platform Democrats does not help Gov. Hayes' chances, and that through the action of the convention yesterday, the Republicans with any candidate can carry the State.

The Times on the same subject says the adoption of the platform and resolutions destroys Thurman's chances at St. Louis and makes the nomination there of any man not acceptable to inflationists extremely impossible.

The World says the convention adopted a declaration of financial principles embodying contradictory heresies which secured the defeat of the Democratic party in Ohio last year, and resolved to present to the St. Louis convention the name of Wm. Allen, who was last year remitted to private life, and the country will be left in doubt whether the local politicians of Cincinnati who accomplished this brilliant result were more eager to prevent the adoption of the St. Louis convention of the Democratic candidate from Ohio or to secure the adoption by the Cincinnati convention of a Republican candidate from Ohio. They certainly accomplished the first of these objects and have done more than has been done by all other political facts to accomplish the second of these objects. Republican leaders will be strongly tempted by yesterday's events to make a determined effort at swelling their already probable majority at the October election in Ohio by nominating Henry Hayes for the Presidential conflict in November.

The Herald publishes an interview with Hon. Thurlow Weed, in which he says he attended the Fifth Avenue Hotel Conference. He was satisfied with the addresses, but not with Adams' speech, and therefore retired. He opposes Tilden's nomination. Grant's nomination he says is impossible, and should Conkling, Morton and Cameron attempt to transfer their strength and influence in the convention to Grant and secure his nomination a third ticket would be successfully run. He attributes the depression in trade to the demoralization following the war and to unwise legislation by Congress.

The great mustang race at Fleetwood park commenced this morning; the race to be 305 miles inside of 15 hours, 20 horses and one rider. At exactly four o'clock Parker mounted the first horse. The first mile was made in 2:20, second 2:50, third 2:30, fourth 2:35, fifth 2:32½, sixth 2:45, seventh 1:39½, eighth 2:33½, ninth 2:36½, tenth 2:41½, up to this time Parker had three minutes to spare from this time to nine o'clock. The average time was better after that rate of speed began to diminish. But few spectators were present early in the morning, except newspaper representatives. The general impression seemed to be that the race would be a failure.

At 5:12 after completing the twenty-fifth mile Parker was as fresh as ever, he had taken no refreshments, except a glass of water. At 5:20 new horses were put on the track but they proved mulish. The first hundred miles were completed in 4 hours and 41 minutes.

A dispatch just received from Panama, May 16, says, Gautemala has triumphed over Salvador. President Valle has left for California, and Gonzales has fled to Donoma.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 18.—A dispatch received here this afternoon reports the assassination of Kuhlman, Director of Turkish railways.

The government has ordered a fleet of British vessels to proceed to Salonica, to protect British subjects and British interests there.

In the House of Commons to-day Sir Stafford Northcote, in reply to an inquiry stated that the government had not yet received any report from the American government relative to the disposal of the Alabama awards.

A dispatch from Alexandria, Egypt, says the Khedive refuses to submit to the decision of law courts in the matter of creditors against the Diara property, and contends that he is only bound by international law. The courts of appeals recently decided that the Diara property which is the Khedive's private estate, is liable to execution.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18.—The Independent National Convention re-assembled this morning. The platform adopted condemns the two political parties for adhering to a financial policy of contraction which is ruining the country. It demands the unconditional repeal of the redemption act, and advocates that government money is only redeemable in uncovertible bonds, and demands in the words of Thomas Jefferson that bank paper must be suppressed and circulation restored to the nation to whom it belongs. It insists that it is the pronounced duty of the government to keep in view the full development of all legitimate business. The convention then nominated Peter Cooper, of New York for President by acclamation, and Senator Newton Booth, of California for Vice President.

CENTENNIAL ITEMS.

The mass meeting, at Philadelphia, on Saturday night, in favor of opening the Exposition Sundays, was a monster affair. It was presided over by Rev. Dr. Furness, and had among its Vice Presidents such men as Archbishop Wood, Rev. Joseph May, Rev. H. W. Beecher, Henry C. Carey, Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie, John W. Forney, Morton McMichael, G. W. Biddle, Fairman Rogers, and a host of others. A long set of resolutions was adopted, and the prevailing opinion is that the managers will have to yield to the increasing strength of the movement.

Work on the unfinished portions of the departments, buildings and grounds, is being pressed with great energy, and the middle of next month, if not sooner, will see everything complete. The building of new roads, the grading of ground, the planting of trees, the completion of State buildings, and the finishing of the Flower Hall are going ahead with astonishing rapidity.

The New York Tribune, of Saturday, published a partial list of the Centennial Judges, which is not yet officially announced, and has the following to say of the new method of awards:

The method of awards adopted by the American Centennial Commission differs from the preceding systems. It dispenses with the international jury and substitutes a body of judges, one-half foreign, chosen individually for their high qualifications. It dispenses, also, with the system of awards by graduated medals, and requires of the judges written reports on the inherent and comparative merits of each product thought worthy of an award, setting forth the properties and qualities, presenting the considerations forming the grounds of the award, and avouching each report by the signature of their authors. The professional judgment and moral responsibility of judges being thus involved assures the integrity of their reports. To exhibitors such reports will be more valuable than medals. Their collected republication of handbooks will form valuable guides for all classes to the most advanced products of every country.

One point of the superiority of American manufactures—which those who have visited our Cincinnati Expositions will not find it difficult to believe—is in the production of silverware. The English make a fine showing in this department, but the American goods are away beyond competition, not only in variety and richness, but in beauty of design, elegance of workmanship, and richness of fancy. It is not surprising that this should be so, with our great silver product to work upon—half the product of the whole world—but what is surprising, in the face of this fact, is that some gentlemen should be anxious to depreciate the value of American silver. The time will come when we shall supply most of the civilized world with silver goods and silver coin.

The Centennial Fire and Medical Departments are both well arranged and efficiently conducted. In the former there are one hundred and sixty-nine men, divided into three companies, one of which continually patrols the building, while on all hands are extinguishers and fire plugs enough to put out old Vesuvius her self. The Medical Department has a large force of skilled physicians, surgeons, and assistants, ready to take care of all who are so unfortunate as to be suddenly ill or injured. Amid the rush of the first day, they had thirty or forty cases of exhaustion, and several of slight injuries. The police are well up to their work, and have promptly disposed of such few pickpockets as have their appearance.

Complaints against the restaurants for exortion continue, but it is noticeable that they are leveled only at the "swell" establishments. There is abundance of more modest places where one can get just as good fare, with better attendance, and at a very reasonable price. There appears to be one other ground of complaint against which the managers should take prompt remedy—it is the constant and impudent pestering of those who have been given the right to peddle little thing about the grounds—guidebooks' bouquets, peanuts, ect. They are worse than the beggars of Rome, thrusting themselves in upon every one like the old hackmen of Niagara, and making life a burden to the rural visitors. They should be brought up with a round turn. An occasional employe, too forgets his business, and tries extortion, as, for instance, demanding a fee in return for any information that may be asked of him. Visitors should promptly report these cases, and see that punishment is meted out to the offenders. The employes are paid to be civil, and the fee system of Europe does not obtain in America.

As we presume nine tenths of the people who visit the Exposition go for mental improvement and culture, we may throw in a word as to the best means of getting the most money. Don't do too much in a day—don't scatter too much—or you will be as dizzy and screwnecked as if looking at a kaleidoscope for a fortnight, and will have gathered a sabes incongesta of information that will be as useless as none at all. Lay out your work beforehand, according to your time. Go to Italy in the morning, and France in the afternoon. Do England the next morning, and visit the Oriental nations after lunch. Save three or four days for art, as long as you like for machinery, and reserve your last days for the American departments. Then you will have gathered something like an accurate idea of each country, and be able to make your comparisons intelligently and with profit.

A new paper has been started at Hamilton, Ohio, called the Gooroo. This pales the ineffectual fires of the Sedalia Bazoo, and Texas Jimplecute.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon. It will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several states are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to the living control of the South and desire to promote friendly feeling and unity throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing the civil rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, and who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of unsectional administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest, who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

POND'S EXTRACT

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: ask for POND'S EXTRACT.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT.—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and from citations and prompt cures is considered indispensable.

CHILDREN.—No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, heals wounds and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES.—It always relieves pain in the back, kidneys, loins, and womb. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES.—Blind or bleeding.—Most prompt relief and speedy cure. No case, however chronic or of long standing, can long resist its regular use.

KIDNEY DISEASES.—It has no equal for permanent relief.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of recommendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, Piles and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, for which it is a specific; Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, etc. Indeed in numerous cases of skin diseases.

TOILET USE.—Removes Soreness, Roughness, and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It renews, invigorates and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS.—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder or Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and First Hotels in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleeding, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, etc. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is indispensable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Farm-house. Let it be tried once, and it will be found that it will not be without it.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. Every genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. They are the only ones offered by Druggists and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

ABSOLUTE SAFETY
At Sea.
LIFE SAVING SUIT
FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA

And the almost daily lives that have been saved by the introduction of more effective appliances for saving life than have yet been generally in use, in recent fearful disasters, prove the Life Saving Suit Company now presents

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, will be found a means of absolute safety from death by drowning. It is simple, cheap, and reliable. Its superiority over all others is in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the water, thereby retaining the natural respiration of the lungs, and thus preventing the water from entering them.

It is composed of three parts, which are packed in a valise, and can be put on in a few seconds by any person. It supports the body in a perpendicular position, and maintains it at rest in a heavy sea.

It protects from storm and weather and from cold.

It is the only garment by which a person can save valuable property.

It is put on over ordinary clothing, exposes no more surface to the action of the water than the ordinary dress, and does not impede the action of the limbs in swimming.

It is the only life-saving garment that can be worn with ease and comfort in the ordinary dress of civilized life.

Each suit is packed in a valise, and can be carried in the hand as easily as a carpet-bag.

Each individual who has a valuable interest on board, either as owner and an interested party, and when he views the situation created with his money on say, I added to greet in our country the most magnificent display of the products of the arts and industries, of the resources of the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people.

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of the enterprise for the sum that it will afford them opportunities to have their goods and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 1,800,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as Agents or to purchase Bonds will address

Practical Life Saving Suit.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish an able seaman with the Life Saving Suit.

Each person applies for four brethren each. Your application must be accompanied by a draft, or the money forwarded at the premium paid, and this is cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter granted by the Legislature of New York, April 4, 1876, will hold yearly exhibitions. The first future exhibitions will arise from the receipts of the entrance fees, sale exemption of the Bonds, and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other privileges.

Every American who understands the purpose of this Company will at once recognize that a great blessing is conferred.

Each individual who buys a Bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, I added to greet in our country the most magnificent display of the products of the arts and industries, of the resources of the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people.

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of the enterprise for the sum that it will afford them opportunities to have their goods and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

BRIGHTLY SHONE HER BEAMING EYES.

SONG—To H.

BY DAISY T. CARLOS.

Brightly shone her beaming eyes,
...ptibly, yet so tender—
...Like the moon in autumn skies,
...With a mellow splendor.
...Like the flowers of morning
...Her blooming cheeks appear,
...By the modest lily
...Her rose buddies near.

...Her singles dancing
...Almost for little head,
...Her work
...Her movement speed,
...Her eyes are pitied
...Her voice gentle,
...Her heart fairly beating
...Her accident blows.

...Her smallest, dearest charm
...Her form, graceful form,
...Her lovely, graceful form,
...Her voice flowing;
...Her eyes sometimes sad,
...Her heart sometimes smile,
...Her singles and arbiters,
...Her heart free from guiles.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ag we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 100 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "sweat down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We collect all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,

PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 36 to 40 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over 1,000 pages of matter, consisting of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the stalls, stables and farmhouses.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is vastly enriched thereby. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so large ly interested. Such a paper should be considered A Farmer's Business Paper.

THERE is an excursion, of colored people, to Atlanta to-morrow—fare $1.50.

THE Good Templars of Union Springs had a picnic yesterday. Several from here attended.

There will be a practice game of base ball this afternoon on the grounds foot of Perry street.

You can't eat enough in one week to last a whole year, and you can't advertise on that plan either.

THE proceedings of the County Executive Committee of Bullock county, are printed elsewhere in this morning's JOURNAL.

No young man should think of sending poetry to a publisher without sending the names of a few subscribers as an atonement.

SEVERAL persons left the city yesterday morning to attend the opening ball of the season at the Jackson House, Blount Springs.

It is said that the summer duster for gentlemen will be made with a tail, and will be striped with red, white and blue down the back.

THE Baptist Sunday School have a picnic at Whitehall to-day. The train leaves foot of Commerce street at 8 o'clock. Round trip 50 cents.

"BLIND BOB" took part in both the sack and wheelbarrow races at the Mechanics pic-nic, and in the latter race was blindfolded the same as the rest.

THE M. E. Sunday School picnicked at Verbena yesterday. There was a train full of bright, happy little ones, and numerous large ones, all dressed up in their Sunday clothes.

THE lady who accidentally got hold of the wrong parasol at the Mechanics' picnic Wednesday, will please send it to this office, and oblige the owner. The parasol is a black silk one.

WE are gratified to see so many of the ladies and children of our city dressed in white. It is the color of the robes that angels wear, belongs to the spotless beings above, that circle around the great white throne.

So writes an Atlanta editor who hasn't had on a clean shirt in two weeks.

AN intoxicated individual was staggering along Perry street last evening, and when near the Madison House he fell and struck his head against a barber's pole. On being raised from the ground he asked: "What's zat woman wiz (hic) striped stockin's on got (hic) agin me?"

A CUNNING book agent has been divulging the secrets of his success. He says when he went to a house and a middle-aged lady appeared, he always said, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I wished to see your mother.'' The lady would smile and say she was the mistress of the house, and rarely failed to subscribe for a book.

WE respectfully solicit from all our readers items of news, short communications upon current events, reports of campaign meetings, conventions, etc. Correspondents will please make their contributions as brief as possible, and remember to write on one side of the sheet only. We have not time to re-write communications.

THE circulation of the JOURNAL is increasing very rapidly now. We received a large number of names yesterday for the campaign JOURNAL. Our business men would do well to make a note of this. Our subscription list is not confined to party. In every direction the demand comes for the JOURNAL, and advertisers will see the benefits of sending us their favors.

CORRECTION.—In our report of the proceedings of the Convention Tuesday last, Mr. Screws, of the Advertiser, is represented as requesting the Secretary to have the counties called. He did this only for the purpose of getting the list of delegates for himself and other reporters, for their respective papers, who like himself, were present taking the proceedings.

THE press excursion up the South and North Alabama railroad will take place about the 1st of June. The meeting of the Press Association will take place in this city on Tuesday, May 30th. The JOURNAL is a member of the Alabama Press Association, and will continue to be so as long as it is not a political concern, and we shall contribute everything in our power to the success of the Association.

ENCOURAGING.—We received a letter from Opelika Yesterday, enclosing the names of a number of subscribers to the daily JOURNAL, and expressing much admiration for the general tone and conduct of our paper. Our correspondent informs us that the JOURNAL is rapidly growing in popular favor, and is eagerly sought after by the leading citizens of the community. This is the reward of publishing a real, live newspaper these days.

THERE was a cutting scrape night before last near the Western depot between Billy Sullivan and ——— Berry, in which both received several wounds. They were arrested by policeman O'Connor. The case will come up before the Mayor this morning.

WE have received the first number of the Bullock County Guide, published at Union Springs, by M. James G. Cowan, more familiarly known as "Zack." It is rather small just now but there is no telling how large it may grow in the future. "Zack" is going to give up the fishing business and his office as Justice of the Peace and devote his whole attention to the Guide, so he intimates. It is Democratic $1.00 per year.

JUDGE BRICKELL rendered his decision yesterday in regard to pending cases before the U. S. District Court, from counties not named in the law dividing the state into judicial districts—holding that all offenses committed in the new counties created by the State Legislature, since the passage of the law by Congress creating such districts, are considered as having been committed in the counties from which the new ones were formed. Therefore such cases must be tried in the court of the district in which such old counties are named.

HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.—We have just received from the celebrated publishing house of Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass., three volumes of Bancroft's history of the United States. This is the centenary edition of Mr. Bancroft's popular histories, comprised in six volumes altogether and brings down the record of events to the present time. These volumes are elegantly gotten up in handsome library style, and every family ought to have them. Our popular friend, Mr. Joel White has them for sale, and we advise every reader of the Journal to get these volumes at once.

POST OFFICE CHANGES.—Recently the postmaster at Montgomery has employed in his office Mr. Neil W. Blue and J. T. Coleman, in the places of Messrs. David Johnson and E. L. Alley. The two former are excellent men and will give entire satisfaction to the public. So far as we know there was no complaint as to the competency of the retiring clerks. The changes were made in a spirit of party justice, and those who go in are capable and efficient clerks, so that the public service will realize no harm. Mr. Pine is one of the most modest and retiring young men we know, and Mr Coleman is a clever gentleman who lost his leg in the late war.

A LOOK AT MONTGOMERY.—A correspondent of the Columbus Enquirer of a late date seems to labor under the impression that Montgomery is a dull city. He speaks well of one of the hotels, however, which disproves to some extent his assertions of dullness here. Good hotels and dull times dont go together. Here is what he says:

Monopoly of trade with the larger houses and dullness among the smaller dealers, are the complaints with us at present, and are the occasion of my removal from this place to Columbus, which hasn't the rush and go of neighboring cities, still, for solidity and steadiness of different branches of trade, is unsurpassed by any.

After seeing my little family off to the Promised Land, I sought quarters at the Madison House—a hotel well-known to the public, but never in such good hands as at present. Mr. Frank Harvey & Co., proprietors, of the Bedell House, in Opelika, took charge yesterday, and they certainly understand how to minister to the comfort and convenience of the most fastidious. The dinner on yesterday was one over which Lucullus himself would have smacked his epicurian lips, and all retired therefrom in a state of well fed complacency—feeling amiable towards all mankind, and their host in particular.

NO POLICE CHANGES.—After a hard struggle the Board of Aldermen has decided not to turn over the city to the midnight prowlers. On Monday night, at a meeting of the Board, Alderman Jones combatted the proposition to reduce the police force, with such spirit and energy that he was quite indisposed yesterday and the day before, from the effects of his efforts. It seems to us that the city has gone far enough in this matter, and that to reduce the force any further would simply be giving license to outlawry. It is only the vigilance and pluck of our police officers that prevents lawlessness. It is well known that we have some turbulent and evil disposed characters among us, and it is only their fear of the police which prevents them from engaging in thieving, burglary, etc. Some of our citizens are even now at the mercy of this class, simply because we have not police officers enough to patrol all portions of the city. Out in the suburbs thieving goes on without any abatement, and it is impossible for citizens to raise chickens, hogs or even vegetables. The spirit of reform which has seized upon some of our city fathers, seems to be totally reckless of the public interests. No doubt these honorable gentlemen really believe that they would save the city something by having no police officers. But do they ever consider that the thousands of people who reside on the outskirts of the city, and who pay their taxes promptly, are just as much entitled to the protection of the city as those who reside in the very heart of the community? We have had complaints time and again made to us for publication, from suburban residents, that outrage after outrage had been perpetrated upon citizens in the suburbs, and that instead of reducing the police force, these tax-payers demanded an increase of the force. Occasionally we have referred to the subject, but now-a days some people are so narrow-minded and hide bound that we have considered it useless for the JOURNAL to take any part in the matter. But Maj. Jones and one or two other liberal and enlightened aldermen exhibited an earnest desire to respect the public sentiment in relation to this "police reform." and we were encouraged to express our own views and those of numbers of good citizens who had expressed themselves to us. Now, that the Board has decided not to reduce the force, we must applaud their action, and sustain their resolution as far as it goes.

NEW recommendations freighted with praise and entire satisfaction, are constantly being tendered to Daniel F. Beatty, Esq., proprietor and manufacturer of instruments of rare merit, known as the Beatty, Piano, and Beatty's Golden TongueOrgans. Advertisement elsewhere.

THE COLUMBUS CANDAL.

MR. KENDRICK BEFORE THE PUBLIC AGAIN

As the readers of the JOURNAL have manifested an interest in the case of the Rev. Mr. Kendrick, of Columbus, we clip from the Columbus Enquirer the following concerning him:

Since his release from jail, Mr. Kendrick has remained very quietly at home. He did not attend church service on Sunday, nor has he left his home except for short walks. He has not yet appeared upon our business streets. His wife, we hear, is much better and out of danger.

Wilbur Col. Clarke, of the Atlanta Constitution, was in Columbus last week he wrote to Mr. K. that no attempted defense or explanation from him had yet reached the public, and the columns of his paper were at his disposal. The following reply was returned:

DEAR SIR.—Your note received. Thank you for your courteous offer, and I expect soon to furnish you with a simple, full statement of the case. I will send it to you and if you choose you can make this announcement. It is true that I still assert my innocence; am confident that it will, ere long, be apparent to an astonished public.

Yours, very truly,
C. A. KENDRICK.

If Mr. Kendrick has any defense or explanation to make against the overwhelming array of testimony brought against him on the trial, the people of Columbus are exceedingly anxious to know it, and these columns are open to him for such a purpose. As no evidence on his part was introduced in the preliminary investigation, our citizens feel some interest in knowing what he has to say in vindication of himself. It is with him whether or not to avail himself of the offer.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and all our animals cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 500 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 25c a package, 40c a pint, 75c a quart by express, $1 a peck, $3 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 200 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use, (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, 50c per peck, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "mortgages." Try it this year and you will be both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL.

BY T. C. BINGHAM & CO. "The Union------It Must and Shall be Preserved." Terms---$8 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 20, 1876 NUMBER 209

SATURDAY, MAY 20, 1876.

NOTICE.

For the information of the public, we desire to state that the local editor of the JOURNAL is employed to get up the news of the city, for publication, and that he is in no manner responsible for the conduct of the paper. T. C. Bingham & Co., are the editors and Proprietors of this journal, and they will answer for its course. During the past ten months the person employed as editor of the paper, much to our surprise and mortification, proved to be wholly incompetent for the position, by reason of being unable either to write or read proof sheets, and he imposed nearly all the work upon the local editor, who wrote at his dictation; and is no responsible for the emanations in any sense whatever. The silly whinings of this person to gentlemen about responsibility for his coarse effusions, is but another proof of his incompetency for so exalted a position.

BLACKMAIL.

The Blackmailer of the Talladega Home has 214 lines of leaded matter, in his last issue, devoted to abuse of Hon. Arthur Bingham. We have in our possession the only file of the Home, in Montgomery, which contains the blackmailer's anti-Republican record—his abuse and denunciation of President Grant, even after the latter's re-election, and nearly every leading Republican in Alabama. If we believed the game worth the powder to kill the baby Republican, weighing 230 pounds, we would notice him now! Perhaps we may, hereafter.

GOOD.—We hear of a farmer who has made with the same scythe for twenty-five years, and expects to use it until he is no mower.—[Russell Register.

THE Republican citizens of Alabama will now feel secure against the wrongs and outrages of Bourbon malice and hate. Our Democratic Supreme Court Judges have refused to perjure their souls and throttle human liberty. Let every honest man rejoice!

THE proceedings of the Tallapoosa county Republican Convention will be found on the second page of this edition of the JOURNAL. The delegates selected were instructed to attend the regular State Convention of the 24th inst. The Republicans of Tallapoosa take a correct view of the troubles in the party, when they refer to them as personal in their character.

THE Bourbon partisans who sought to make our Supreme Court an engine of oppression and persecution of Republican citizens, are now gnashing their teeth in impotent rage, and swearing vengeance against R. C. Brickell, George W. Stone and A. R. Manning, the Judges of the Supreme Court who killed their snake, and buried the poson.

MEN whom the people of Montgomery county refused to elect to the county offices attempted to use our Supreme Court for the purpose of crushing the will of the people, and thus gaining possession of the offices which the people failed to elect them for. But our Supreme Court replied that justice was not yet dead in the land, and that the voice of the people is still the voice of God.

GEN. MORGAN ought to take the stump against Houston in North Alabama. It was Houston who set Morgan on that cold trail of ousting Senator Spencer. The only way to avenge his terrible defeat in the Spencer case, is to prevent Houston's renomination. We have no doubt that Senator Spencer would contribute a few dollars to assist Morgan in such an undertaking, as the Senator is a liberal man, and feels very sorry just now for Morgan. Although he administered a severe castigation to John T. we feel assured that Gen. Spencer entertains no unkind feelings for him, but, on the contrary, would give him a lift in any contest with the "bald eagle."

THE charge that Senator Spencer has been organizing for the defeat of Mr. Bristow is without any foundation whatever. Senator Spencer has been in Washington attending to his duties as Senator, and has organized for the defeat of no one. So far from having attempted to interfere with the will of his party, Senator Spencer has advocated the fullest liberty in the selection of delegations. He is satisfied that the party will support the Cincinnati nominee, and he has not found it necessary, as our Democratic Governor has, to leave his duties and meddle in local conventions. Thus another falsehood is uncovered.

THE liberal and enterprising merchants of Montgomery are asked to assist the State Fair Association in providing for the success of the exhibition this fall. Among the names of the stockholders are many of the best citizens of the city, and we would be glad to know that the required amount is forthcoming at the proper time. The State fair is to some extent involved in the good name and reputation of our city, and we refer to the matter to suggest to those of our enterprising merchants who have not done so, that they ought to subscribe such amounts as they are able, in order to insure a successful exhibition. Every citizen owes it to himself to render all the aid possible to this important public enterprise.

A COLORED man at Athens has a letter on the second page relative to the delegate who pretended to represent Limestone county in the late convention at the capitol.

THINK of Vinnie Ream's pretty little fingers feeling of Lamar's face and neck and shoulders, to get their exact measure for a bust. Yum, yum!

AN HONEST SUPREME COURT.

The STATE JOURNAL, for, and on behalf of the Republican citizens of Alabama, congratulates the honorable Judges of the Supreme Court for the courage, the patriotism and the enlightened policy they have exhibited in the judgment just delivered in the Buckley case. So far as Mr. Buckley is personally concerned, the effort to deprive him of the office to which he was elected by the Republicans of Montgomery county is a matter of little importance but the great principle involved was a question of such magnitude as to embrace the very essence of personal freedom in its adjudication.

The so-called impeachment law enacted by the late assembly, and under which the effort to oust Mr. Buckley was made, was one of the most monstrous wrongs ever inflicted upon a civilized people. In all the history of American freedom, never was so bold and unblushing a stab made at the very life of civil liberty. All the inquisitions of Spain, the Star chambers of Cromwellian times, and the bastiles of revolutionary France pale into utter insignificance before this infamy. Under its tyrannical provisions three men, from whose decision there was no appeal, were invested with a power which none of the crowned despots of monarchical Europe would dare to exercise. It was a power which sought to crush down the will of the people, and drive from official position all those whose political opinions do not chime in with the Bourbon-hide-bound sentiments of the time. The three Judges of our Supreme Court born and reared in this free land, spurned the power thus invested in them, and rose to the lofty dignity of Patriots. They scorned to accept a power which sought to deprive numbers of their fellow citizens of the rights secured to them by the Constitution and laws of the land; they refused to perpetrate the outrage of driving from office those who were honestly and legally elected by the people, at the same election which elevated them to the Supreme bench.

They refused to drag down human liberty and the sacred muniments of justice, to gratify the malice and spleen of the pot house politicians of Montgomery who were overwhelmed at the polls. They refused to reverse the American verdict as to expost facto laws, and set up in these days a despotism for the infliction of outrage and wrong upon the majority of the people—even though that majority comprises negroes.

For having the courage to face the storm of partisan prejudice which gathered about them, the three Judges of the Supreme Court of Alabama deserve the thanks and the gratitude of all honest men. Here, fellow citizens of Alabama, is your bulwark! We have a Supreme Court, within whose sacred portals, our rights and our liberties are safe. The demons of hate and prejudice and partisan malice may rage without, but when they come within the sacred precincts of our Supreme Court, they must lash and cease their fury.

All hail to the unfettered and undaunted Supreme Court of Alabama!

CONTEMPTIBLE.

A low, filthy creature of Radicalism, one "Dr. J. H. Henry of Selma," in a speech before the anti-Spencer Republican Convention, in Montgomery, Tuesday, "ridiculed Southern people for reverring Stonewall Jackson and Robert E. Lee and having their pictures in their parlors instead of having Grant, Sherman and Sheridan." The three last named celebrities are doubtless more appropriate subjects of admiration for this blackguard. Grant is a known bribe-taker and possibly a thief, Sherman is an acknowledged liar and "bummer," while "Little Phil" is a cruel, heartless murderer of innocent women and children.
[Opelika Observer.

The above extract shows how easily a citizen may be misrepresented and outraged in the South. In no other section of this free land are editors permitted to blacken their columns with foul and vindictive language and retain respect and social recognition. No matter what provocation an editor may have he must not degrade journalism by the employment of vulgar and abusive language. But it seems to be a sort of recommendation in our parts for an editor to bluster through his paper like a street bully at public men whom he does not like. In this case Dr. Henry not only did not say what his abusers allege, but said directly the contrary. The Advertiser put this misrepresentation on foot one day, and out of sheer shame for its injustice to Dr. Henry, hastened the next day to correct its wrong. But it appears that the falsehood is on its rounds, and is to verify again the old adage that a lie will travel a mile while truth is putting on its boots.

THE "May Conference," has ended in the glittering generalities and ideal aspirations after governmental perfection, without any practical step towards the accomplishment of its avowed objects, or the suggestion of any candidate for the Presidency whose nomination would secure the votes of these exalted patriots. The memorial is in parts as libelous upon the American Government, and as scandalous in its unsustained and unwarranted assumptions of universal corruption in official stations of every kind, as the daily rantings of the New York Sun and other Opposition journals which are working for the restoration of the Confederate Democracy to power. The real friends of reform have nothing to hope from such sentimental growlers, and their work will be without perceptible result. Should they carry out their implied threat of organizing a third party, these "very select" patriots will fail to make themselves a disturbing element of any practical importance in our National politics.

THIS Salonica where the trouble is was the ancient Thessalonica that the Apostle Paul wrote to. The Salonica world has not progressed.

OUR COTTON MANUFACTURING.

The New York Bulletin of a recent date contains a most elaborate and instructive article on cotton manufacturing at the South, in which statistics are given to show the advantages we possess for this great work. The Bulletin says "though the advance is probably less than it would have been had there been fewer burthens upon capital by political distractions and labor troubles, the increase in the number of spindles is an important industrial fact. Annexed is a statement showing the number of mills and spindles worked in the years 1860, 1870, and 1875.

	1860		1870		1875
	No. of Mills.	No. of Spindles.	No. of Mills.	No. of Spindles.	No. of Mills.	No. of Spindles.
Alabama	14	35,749	13	24,046	14	58,480
Arkansas	2	1,155	2	1,125	2	1,741
Georgia	33	85,183	34	85,022	47	131,340
Kentucky	6	8,192	5	7,744	3	9,514
Louisiana	2	6,725	4	13,084	3	2,260
Mississi'i	4	6,344	5	3,536	9	18,296
Missouri	2	5,000	3	16,715	3	19,700
N. Caro'a	20	41,884	33	38,897	31	54,409
S. Caro'a	17	30,899	12	34,949	18	70,282
Tennes'e	30	29,840	28	27,953	40	55,358
Texas	1	2,500	4	8,878	2	5,700
Virginia	19	49,449	14	77,116	9	54,623

"Here, it will be observed that between the years 1860 and 1870 the number of mills decreased from 165 to 154, while the number of spindles was increased 42,530, or about 14 per cent. This indicates a material enlargement in the size of the factories. Turning to the statistics for 1875, we find that the entire number of mills operated in that year was 181, and the number of spindles 481,785, an increase of 27 compared with 1870, and 15 compared with 1860; also an increase of 136,189 and 178,639 spindles compared with 1870 and 1860 respectively. In other words, this industry appears, in most localities, to have more than regained the loss occasioned by the war, and in the aggregate shows a complete recovery. Previous to the war, North Carolina took the lead, followed by Georgia and Tennessee respectively; the first named in 1860 having in operation 39 mills, Georgia 33 mills, and the last named State 30 mills. During the past fifteen years, however, quite a change has occurred. In 1875, Georgia ranks foremost, with 47 mills and 131,340 spindles, followed by Tennessee with 40 mills and 55,358 spindles, North Carolina 31 mills and 54,500 spindles, and Alabama with 14 mills 58,480 spindles. On the average, Alabama has 4,177 spindles per mill; Georgia, 2,696; North Carolina, 1,755, and Tennessee, 1,384. It will be observed that the industry has increased more rapidly in Georgia than any other State, and if attended with success, the new mills now in course of construction there will give the "Empire State of the South" still more prominence. Even now it ranks ninth in position among the prominent cotton manufacturing States of the Union."

WE regret to learn that there is little or no interest manifested in the great portion of our county, in this campaign. But few beat meetings have been held, and the people generally, seem indifferent and apathetic on the subject of politics.—Tuskaloosa Times.

The want of interest in politics as complained of by the Times, finds explanation in the fact that the honest and enlightened people of Alabama are sick and disgusted with Bourbon rule. They have had enough of persecution and prosecution of men because of their political opinions, and they have been discouraged by the partisanship exhibited on all occasions by the last Legislature. The good people of Alabama want liberal and progressive government, based upon the free and untrammeled expression of the majority of citizens through the ballot box.

THE debate upon the proposition to abolish the letter-carrier system in cities of less than 40,000 inhabitants was made the occasion of some rather sharp hits in the House. Mr. Reagan, late confederate, vigorously supported the proposition. He said the postal service ought to be self-supporting. Upon which Mr. Harrison retorted that the effect of Mr. Reagan's theory would be to deprive the entire State of Texas of mail facilities. A self-surporting mail service in a country so vast as ours, and so sparsely populated, cannot be had at present. A government is bound to equalize mail accommodations to the extent of its ability. The mail service is a public convenience.

THE New Orleans Democrat thus speaks of Fitzhugh, the doorkeeper of the House of Representatives at Washington:

A shallow-pated fellow from Texas, named Fitzhugh, was elected by the Democrats to the high and noble office of doorkeeper of the House, and it has turned the little brains he had. He writes to his friend in Texas of the grandeur of his position, of the humility of members of Congress, Secretaries and Senators before his mightiness. He is a "bigger man than old Grant;" clerks, lacqueys, book-keepers and coachmen are at his beck and call, and the government furnishes him with a spanking team. Poor Fitzhugh's simple friend took all this in as true, and printed the glory of his countryman, and the Mobile Register, instead of being impressed by the solemn majesty of Fitz, heads an article about his letter in this irreverent manner: "Another Jacka ss."

A SUPREME Court which recognizes the constitution and laws of the country as embracing within their protecting provisions, citizens of all classes, colors and conditions, has given a stunning blow to Bourbon hate. One more such, and the free people of Alabama will be perfectly secure.

THE assaults upon Senator Spencer, by persons claiming to be Republicans, come with poor grace, when it is known that if by any possible sort of engineering he was deprived of his seat, a pure Democrat would be his successor. The people of Alabama prefer Geo. E. Spencer to any hide-bound Democrat.

MUNICIPAL AND TOWN ELECTIONS.

The drift wood floating on a stream indicate often the force of the current. Straws, says the old adage, show which way the wind blows. With all due respect to the local self pride which may be affected by being looked at as drift wood or straws, it is worth while to note somewhat in consecutive order the results of the various local elections throughout the country during the past three months.

From the beginning of the current year (1876) the great majority of the municipal elections have, as is usual in the Presidential period, been decided on partisan proclivities and interests. It is not, as a rule, a good year for Independents, and the rule holds more than good at the present time.

The New England town elections all tended toward one point—an increased Republican activity. In New Hampshire especially their results clearly indicated the later triumph had in the State. In Connecticut, too, they gave reasonable hope of a similar result. The disappointment seems due to apathy and want of capacity in conducting the campaign. The Maine elections were very significant, the city of Portland, among others, being carried by the Republicans the first time for several years.

In the State of New York elections for supervisors are always closely watched by the politicians who "make slates" and forecast probabilities. Especially is this the case in the Presidential year. The Republican party made large gains, carrying nearly one hundred more supervisors than it did in 1875.

Along the whole line of cities and States, especially those regarded as doubtful, the Republicans made clear and positive gains.

In Michigan for instance, where last spring the reaction almost reached to the "bed-rock," the political complexion of the supervisors elected is more than satisfactory. The results given is forty-six counties of that State as compared with last year will prove this. Counting the liberals and independents as Democrats and in the forty-six counties alluded to the Republicans gained fifty-six supervisors. The totals were as follows:

Republicans	472	528
Democrats	333	279
Majority	139	249

The county elections in New Jersey follow, as a general thing, the same rule as those of New York. At the elections last fall, when members of the Legislature and sheriffs were to be elected, the result was an almost complete reversal of the Democratic gains of the year preceding. At the recent local elections the same result is seen. A majority of the counties elect Republicans.

Mercer county gave a marked victory. In Jersey City, the Republican mayor was elected by about 400 majority against a Democratic majority last year of 3,000. In Union, Passaic, and Morris counties the Board of Chosen Freeholders will be Republican.

But Indiana as a decidedly "doubtful" State, has been watched with great interest. The results of the municipal elections therein surprise even the most sanguine Republicans. The city of Indianapolis was carried by a Republican majority of 4,315, and this, too, in the face of an apportionment expressly made by a Democratic Common Council to prevent it, and despite of a violent riot designed to deter voters.

The Republicans also carried Lafayette, Fort Wayne, South Bend, Terre Haute, Laporte, Richmond, Rochester, Wabash, Franklin, Warsaw, Lebanon, Crawfordsville, Elkhart, Greensburg, Greencastle, Shelbyville, Kokomo, Bloomington, Connorsville, and Madison out of the twenty-five principal places in the State. Plymouth, Valparaiso, Logansport, and New Albany alone were carried by the Democracy. In Shelbyville, usually Democratic and the home of Governor Hendricks, the Republicans carried every ward. There were many other changes quite as striking.

Similar reports come from all quarters. The Illinois town elections were generally in the same groove. So with those of Kansas, Nebraska, California, etc. If, as political managers, these indications are signs of significant portent, then the prospects for a Republican victory, through hard work and strong nominations, are very encouraging.

ONE of the rolling chair brigade, at the Centennial, has gone crazy with trying to dodge the feet of Chicago girls.

SENATOR BAYARD, who writes paragraphs for the Brooklyn Argus, has gone to abusing President Grant. And yet he expects to be President himself, some day.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Immediately after the reading of the journal the Senate closed doors and proceeded to consider the articles of impeachment against W. W. Belknap.

House.

Mr. Morrill offered a resolution for the adjournment of Congress on June 12th, which was referred to committee on ways and means.

Mr. Douglass from committee on investigation of the Freedmen's Bank, submitted a report which was ordered to be printed and re-committed.

Mr. Southard from committee on Territories, submitted the reported resolution as to the organization of New Mexico as a State. Ordered printed and re-committed.

The House went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill, Mr. Clymer in the chair.

Several gentlemen spoke on the bill, and at 4:45 p. m. the House took a recess till 7:30 p. m.

Speaker Kerr did not return to Washington to-day.

The House special committee on Louisiana affairs will leave for Louisiana on Saturday.

At the Cabinet session to-day the note of Early Derby mentioned in the Star of Wednesday last was read and considered. The note reaffirmed the British position on the question of the extradition of Winslow, and advises additional argument, and quotes what was considered as a misstatement of the precedent in support thereof. It was the unanimous opinion of the President and Cabinet that Earl Derby's note contained nothing to justify this government in altering in the least its position in the question as stated in Secretary Fish's last note already published.

Secretary Fish will shortly reply to Earl Derby's note and reaffirm the position of this government. This will, it is believed, will close the correspodence, and Winslow will be released, for which the President will certify facts to the Senate and note such recommitting as the case requires. After the disposal of this matter, recent riots were brought up in the discussion when the Secretary of War read a telegram from Gen. Auger, stating that the disturbances were ended, and that they were mostly in Mississippi and not in Louisiana. The assurance of the Attorney-General given to Gov. Kellogg that the government would render to the State officials of Louisiana on the requisition of the Governor, such aid in case of riot or bloodshed as is provided for in the constitution, were considered as covering this case entirely.

Representative Hewitt, who was deputized to prepare the report on General Schenck has completed it, and will lay it before the committee on foreign relations at its next meeting. The report acquits General Schenck of intentional fraud but censures him severely for the utter impropriety of his whole connection with the Emma Mine and his entire lack of perception of the proprieties of his office.

The friends of Senator Morton telegraphs from Nashville that twenty of the delegates to the Republican nominating convention are favorable forhim.

Private dispatches received here report that the New Jersey delegates are all without exception for Mr. Blaine.

The Supreme Court of the District today decided the case of Commander Collins, agent of the Florida. The court dismissed the libel. It will be remembered that during the late war the rebel ram Florida, was captured at the harbor of Bahia, Brazil, and at the time the question was raised that the action of Commander Collins was in violation of the law of nations, as Brazil was a neutral power and the Florida was entitled to protection as long as she was in the waters of that country. Considerable correspondence was occasioned by this act, and it resulted in an apology being made by the government.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 19.—A special to the Herald from Cheyenne, says that a party of forty men attempted to reach the Black Hills but were forced to return, reaching Cheyenne yesterday. The march both ways was a series of fights. They were surprised on the 9th at Indian Creek, by Sioux, under Little Big Man. He and another savage were killed. Henry Long, one of the party, was killed, scalped and his body was mutilated. Capt. Egan has again moved forward. The ranches about the post are deserted and all frontiersmen fear vengeance. All the forces under General Crook will probably be concentrated at Fetterman by Tuesday, where the Indians are supposed to be. There is great rejoicing over the killing of Little Big Man.

The Herald, speaking of the mustang race yesterday, thinks that Parker should try it again; that on a favorable day, with animals better used to the track, he could accomplish it.

The Times says there is no evidence to sustain the statement that $10,000 was at stake on the mustang race, and believes that the only money that changed hands was $10,000 paid in admission fees. Parker did his work.

After Mr. Henry C. Bowen's expulsion from Plymouth Church last night, a company of reporters called upon him, to whom he expressed the opinion that the last of the scandal had not yet been heard, but refused to say whether he himself intended to prosecute the matter further.

Mr. W. Irving Bishop gave an exhibition at Chickering Hall last night, being an exposure of spiritualism. The exhibition was in aid of the poor of the city through the agency of St. John's Guild, and was a perfect success. Bishop performs all the spiritual wonders with his hands tied and behind a curtain. He afterwards performed the tricks in view of the audience. He offers to do anything that any medium can do, stipulating that in case of failure, to give $500 to St. John's Guild.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 19.—Private telegrams received here from Buenos Ayres yesterday announced the National bank known here as the Provistonal bank of Buenos Ayres has suspended.

Specie payments and numerous failures including that of a private bank, have occurred. Argentine banks fell heavily in the consequence.

The Official Gazette of yesterday says that nothing is known in official quarters of the rumored further assassination of Germans in Turkey; moreover, dispatches from Herr Gillet, German consul at Pera, dated Saloniea, May 16th, and the latest telegrams from the German embassy, do not mention the alleged assassinations either of Kuhlman, director of the Roumelian Railway, which was reported, or of other German railway officials or other German citizens living in Turkey.

To-day being holiday in London there will be no quotations issued from the Stock Exchange.

It is stated semi-officially that the English government discountenanced the proposal for the conference of all European powers to settle the question of Turkish reformation on the ground that new embarrassments would result.

WYOMING TERRITORY.

FORT LARAMIE, May 19.—Gen. Crook returned here yesterday. He was unsuccessful in getting the Sioux to join him in the expedition into the Powder river country; the Indians talking in an insolent manner. Subsequently on the road to this post Crook narrowly escaped an ambuscade.

The mail carrier, Charles Clark, for Red Cloud, was however shot and killed. Jim Saunders, an old mountaineer, with others, were killed by Indians a few days ago. It is believed that the long expected war has come.

NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, May 19.—A fire broke out last night in the pottery works of Young & Sons, on Brunswick avenue. The fire was principally confined to the press wire department. The loss is estimated at $10,000; fully insured. The fire originated in the engine room.

Some thief entered St. John's Catholic Church and carried away the golden chalice, used for sacramental purposes. They also broke open the poor box and took away money deposited there.

The Boston base ball club have engaged as pitcher Dick McBride, formerly of the Athletics—the contract having been signed Wednesday night.

CHICAGO, May 19.—In the five hundred mile walking tournament the score stands: Smith 250, Guyon 290, Titield 260, Davis 227, Russell 200, Stowell 208, Roach 330. The match excited much interest.

W. E. Harding, of New York, and J. J. Gereharty, of St. Louis are matched for 25 miles on Saturday.

The game of base ball between the Chicago and St. Louis clubs has been postponed until to-morrow on account of the rain yesterday.

POTTSVILLE, May 19.—Upon the assembling of the court this morning the physician in attendance on the sick juror testified that that gentleman was not in a proper state of health to be present at the trial. Whereupon the court adjourned until Monday morning.

FROM A COLORED MAN OF NORTH ALABAMA.

ATHENS, ALA., May 18, 1876.

Editor Journal: As one of the colored Republicans of Limestone county, I want to know by what authority Charles P. Gordon was appointed a delegate to the convention of the 16th. As the colored people comprise nine-tenths of the Republicans of this county, and as they do not recognize Mr. Gordon as a Republican at all, of course I have a right to ask this question. In the language of Judge Rice, "I want to know it." I asked of Mr. Gordon the names of his convention "informed meeting," or whatever it was, and he refused to give them. The Republicans of this county will hold a convention on the 22d to elect delegates to the convention of May 24th. In that convention colored men will have a voice. J. H. THOMASON.

FROM TALLAPOOSA COUNTY.

DADEVILLE, May 16, 1876

The convention was called to order by William Paige, chairman of the county executive committee, and upon motion Dublin Vaughan was called to the chair and G. P. Franklin elected Secretary.

On motion Wiliam Paige, Esq., addressed the convention in an eloquent and telling speech, and submitted the following resolutions which were read and unanimously adopted:

Resolved 1, That we will elect two delegates and two alternates to represent the Republican party of Tallapoosa county in Republican State Convention to be held at Montgomery on the 24th inst.

Resolved 2, That we heartily approve and endorse the administration of Gen. Grant as it best subserves the interest of the laboring class of the United States, and that we recommend hereafter that we attach to the name of the Republican party, Republican Working man's Party.

Resolved 3, That it is with regret that we have to recognize the rupture of the Republican party in Alabama; and as the cause of the rupture seems to be more of a personal character than otherwise, and as we believe that all past difficulties can be healed without sacrifice of honor or principle, to this end we heartily recommend the plan suggested by the chairman of the National Executive committee as a settlement, and that all true Republicans unite in the common cause to secure the entire strength of the party in the coming election.

On motion Joseph Knox, Esq., and Duplin Vaughan were elected delegates and Jack Smith and Henry Rainy alternates, to represent the Republican party of Tallapoosa county in State Republican convention to be held in Montgomery on the 24th inst.

On motion, the Alabama STATE JOURNAL and Ala. Republican were respectfully requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

DUBLIN VAUGHAN, President.
T. F. Franklin, Secretary.

FROM LIMESTONE COUNTY.

ATHENS, ALA., May 18th 1876.

Editor State Journal: I see from yesterday's Advertiser that the, so-called, reorganized Republican State Committee's Convention met on the 16th. Among other delegates I see the name of Chas. P. Gordon, from Limestone. Mr. Gordon is marked in the Advertiser as one of those present at the Convention, whereas he never left Athens on the 16th, and is still here. The name of Chas. P. Gordon as a delegate to a Republican Convention will create great astonishment among the Republicans of this county. No Republican, so far as I can find out, ever heard of his being appointed a delegate to that Convention. How, when, where, or by what means he was made to appear as a delegate from a county containing over 1500 Republican voters when not over one dozen Republicans in this county endorse the Convention of the 16th is more than I can understand. I, as Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Limestone county, have called a county Convention to meet in Athens on Monday, May 22nd, to elect delegates to the State Convention of May 24th, 1876, have published the call in both papers in the place in order to have a full representation. After diligent inquiries among Republicans I am unable to find out any one who participated in the "Convention" which sent Gordon as a delegate. As Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee for this county, I demand the names of these signing the credentials of Chas. P. Gordon. Perhaps Judge Rice can give the names. The Republicans of this county have the right to know who they are. We desire to do nothing in the dark. True Republicanism is never afraid to show its colors.

I see that Jere Haralson opposed nominating a State ticket for the present, while Judge Rice favored it. I was astonished at this since Judge Rice while here, less than two weeks ago, said in my presence, that he was opposed to making State nominations till after the Cincinnati Convention.

I regret that the course of Haralson, and also of Rice of ten days ago, did not prevail, for it would have shown to my mind more of a spirit of harmony than the course of making nominations.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

ROOMS REPUBLICAN STATE EX COM.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 2, '76.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State offices: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the tenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In consequence of the change of Congressional Districts caused by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have no organizations perfected it was resolved that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts should, while attending the Convention select two delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

Wilcox, 6; Walker, 2.

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the election of delegates to the State Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER, Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.

C. C. SHEATS, Secretary pro tem.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

POND'S EXTRACT.

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: ask for POND'S EXTRACT.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN.—No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains or Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflamation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discolorations and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES.—It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fullness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES—blind or bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use.

VARICOSE VEINS.—It is the only sure cure for this distressing and dangerous condition.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific,) Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE.—Removes Soreness, Roughness, and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. Restores, invigorates, and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS.—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Liveryman can afford to be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness galls or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleeding, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, etc. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Farm-house. Let it be tried once, and you will never be without it.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

HISTORY AND USES OF POND'S EXTRACT, in pamphlet form, sent free on application to POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, 98 Maiden Lane, New York.

ABSOLUTE SAFETY At Sea.

LIFE SAVING SUIT FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA.

And the almost countless lives that have been lost, urge the introduction of more effective appliances for saving life than have yet been generally adopted. In response to the great public demand, the American Life Saving Suit Company now present a

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, we now offer as a means of absolute safety from death by drowning. The invention now offered claims its superiority over all inventions in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the roughest sea, preserves the natural calorie of the body for any number of days, with capacity for carrying provisions for ten days, and signals to attract attention from passing vessels.

The suit combines three principles which are impossible in a life saving dress—

First—A buoyancy which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural law.

Second—Protection from water and weather and consequent chill.

Third—A commissariat department, to which is attached signals, with capacity for carrying valuables, etc., etc.

This suit is put on over ordinary clothing, except shoes and hat, and can be put on inside of five minutes; and are let to passengers on transatlantic steamers at the low price of

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application with a deposit of two dollars as a guarantee of good faith and responsibility, and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and thus explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan of using in this country the European government issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $4—perhaps far more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 or $100,000. The fate of which is entirely obtainable, to obtain the bond holders premium, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in no event parts with the money at a low rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

SHEAVES.

BY EDGAR FAWCETT.

All day the reapers on the hill
Have filled their task with sturdy will,
But now the field is void and still;

And, wandering thither, I have found
The bearded spears in sheaves well-bound,
And stacked in many a golden mound.

And while cool evening suavely grows,
And o'er the sunset's dying rose
The first great white star throbs and glows,

And from the clear east, red of glare,
The exultant harvest moon floats fair
Through dreamy deeps of purple air,

And in among the slanted sheaves
A tender figure its glamour weaves,
A lovely light that laces, deceives—

Then, swayed by Fancy's dear command,
And the past I seem to stand,
In hallowed Beth'lem's harvest-land!

And the nigh the dim field, vague-deserted,
A lonely host of shadows glide,
And sickles gleam on every side.

Shadows of men in maid I trace,
With shapes of a rapt and shapes of grace
Yet a fair boy, in a single file—

And still below, still smooth with youth,
A regal maid's name, Ruth!—
The sweetest, saddest gleaner, Ruth!

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syrieum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to popular nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest hysteria gig to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, if left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWARK, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LEMOIR: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syrieum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of determination, being greatly worked, as I had so long been a confirmed victim to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment it seemed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I began it well. I never in especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syrieum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the craving for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I had a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always look beyond its depth to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm. Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ag... we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "wet down and ran together" Upon inve...tigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you hav many, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the ...sonality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,

PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 36 to 40 pages, three columns to a page—forming in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making profits. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered A Farmer's Business Paper.

THE fire alarm last night was false.

STRAWBERRIES are going begging in this city.

THE Alabama Tribune has moved to Birmingham.

A BOAT excursion to Wetumpka is being talked of.

GIRLS don't wear ribbon bows on your hair any more; its common.

YESTERDAY was another scorcher—guess everybody knows it, though.

THE Mary was at the wharf yesterday, and left in the afternoon for Mobile.

CHECKED grenadines will be fashionable again this summer, also velvet striped grenadines.

SEVERAL sportsmen visited Whetstone's lake yesterday, and spent the day with their fishing apparatus.

CITIZENS are respectfully referred to the notice of the Chief of Police relative to scavenger carts and disinfectants.

MOBILE has commenced summer-night concerts at Frascati. It is a pity Montgomery cannot have something of this kind.

MR. CHARLES FORD, the person who recently attempted to take his own life, is recovering from the wounds he inflicted.

THE Selma Shooting Club will have a little fun and practice next Tuesday. A number of gentlemen from Montgomery will go down to participate.

MRS. T. J. JACKSON, relict of the late Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson, passed through the city yesterday morning going to Selma, where she has a brother.

EVERY man who has a patch of ground should make a garden. He can spade and plant and hoe, and all that sort of thing, and if he raises nothing it will not be his fault.

THE "Guards" have challenged the "Greys" for a match drill at the theatre, of eight members from each company. We presume the "Greys" will respond promptly to the challenge.

HALF a dozen men may go down consecutively on the same piece of banana peel, and yet each will express himself as differently as if he had been brought up in a separate language.

THE published report that Miss Mary Hasky, the girl who recently suicided in Union Springs, was only an adopted daughter, turns out to be incorrect. She was Mr. John Hasky's only daughter.

IN referring to the employment of Mr. Coleman, in the postoffice, we stated that he had lost a leg in the army. We are informed that this is an error. Mr. Coleman lost his leg in early youth. He was, however, conscripted by the Confederate authorities and forced into the army, notwithstanding he had but one leg. Mr. Coleman does not desire credit to which he is not fully entitled, and while he would not be ashamed of having lost a leg in the army, there are those who know the facts concerning his misfortune, and they would think he was trying to deceive the public.

FINE MEATS.—Those who intend to visit the market this evening for the purpose of getting some fine meats for to-morrow, must not forget that the old champion, Adam Scheussler, will be on hand with a fresh assortment of fresh meats of all kinds. We recommend his meats to all our readers as being just exactly what he represents. Mr. Scheussler will have every kind of meat, beefsteaks, chops, porter-house steaks, tender-loins, roasts, veal and all other kinds. They are just the thing for the warm weather. Remember to call at the stall of Adam Scheussler.

WE tender our thanks to the Vermont Judge who the other day, in pronouncing upon a divorce suit laid, down the opinion that when a woman marries a man of known intemperate habits, she takes her happiness, prosperity and welfare in her own hands, and has no claim for riddance of him thereafter. We have great pity for the wife who is joined to an intemperate husband, but we tremble for the fate of the woman who marries an intemperate man. If these words reach the eye of any woman under engagement of marriage to such a man, we most solemnly appeal to her to pause before she imperil her well-being by accepting any such risk.

ON Thursday, the Grand Commandery of the State elected the following gentlemen as officers to serve for the ensuing year:

R. E. G. C., John G. Smith, of Selma.
D. G. C., William S. Foster, of Mobile.
G. G., S. H. Beasley, of Montgomery.
G. C. G., Daniel Smith, of Mobile.
G. P., James E. Cobb, of Tuskegee.
G. S. W., J. M. Ware, of Birmingham.
G. T., W. H. Dingley, of Montgomery.
G. R., Daniel Sayre, of Montgomery.
G. Standard Bearer, Bernard Jacob, of Selma.
G. Sword Bearer, J. R. Adams, of Tuskegee.
G. W., Adam R. Baker, of Montgomery.
G. C. G., James Davidson, of Montgomery.

After the election the officers were installed by Peleg Brown, of Mobile, Past Grand Commander. A beautiful jewel was presented to W. L. Bragg, Past Grand Commander, by Jas. E. Cobb, Grand Prelate, on behalf of the Grand Commandery. The next annual conclave will be held in Mobile, on the third Wednesday in May, 1877.

THE Baptist Sunday school children had a delightful pic-nic at Whitehall yesterday. Many of our citizens accompanied the little folks to the scene of the festival, and the day was spent in most pleasant enjoyment among the cool shades. The children were happy beyond expression, and were verry sorry when the hour came for their return to the city. All reached home in perfect safety.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.—The Grand Lodge of the K. of P. which has been in session in our city, has completed its work and adjourned. The following gentlemen were elected to serve as officers during the ensuing term:

Past Grand Chancellor, W. A. McBride, Montgomery.
Grand Chancellor, R. Hugh Nesbitt, of Opelika.
Grand Vice Chancellor, Geo. F. Taylor, of Montgomery.
Grand Prelate, W. A. Johnson, of Montgomery.
Grand K. of R. & S., Chas. A. Barnes, of Opelika.
Grand M. of E., J. R. Hockstadter, of Birmingham.
Grand I. G., A. B. Moore, Uniontown.
Grand O. G., W. P. Bell, of Montgomery.
Representative to Supreme Lodge, two years, B. F. Ludwig, of Huntsville.
Representative to Supreme Lodge, one year, J. D. Wilkins, of Selma.
Place of holding next session, Montgomery.

The officers elect were installed by P. G. Chancellor W. A. McBryde, and the Lodge adjourned. The members of the Lodge were highly delighted at their reception and treatment in our city, and tendered hearty thanks to Lodge No. 9, for the welcome extended them.

DISGUSTING PROFANITY.—Boys of tender age who stand about on the corners of the streets, in front of the most prominent buildings, and elsewhere, at night, and engage in disgusting conversations and talking politics to the great disgust of decent people, and the scandal of the community, would feel very unhappy if their mothers and sisters knew the amount of profane and vulgar language they indulge in. On Wednesday night a crowd of boys were congregated on a prominent corner in the business portion of the city, and engaged in cursing and abusing citizens who were at that time at their homes in bed as all good citizens were. There is not a Republican in this city, however humble, who would exchange his position for that of the youth who daily pollutes society and whose chief occupation is the taking of God's name in vain. These young persons are marching straight to the penitentiary, or to dishonorable ends of some sort. The pure air we breathe in this free land, should never waft out on the night breezes such foul curses as we heard uttered by boys who claim to be decent. If they think that they are doing "smart" deeds by taking the Lord's name in vain, they will soon learn that they are woefully mistaken. The mark of Cain is upon them, and their course, brutal natures are so plainly visible that all good men will shun them as they would the leper. After all, however, they are the legitimate fruits of the times.

THE STATE FAIR.

AN APPEAL FOR CO-OPERATION AND SUCCESS—LIST OF STOCKHOLDERS, &C.

The people of Montgomery owe it to themselves to make the approaching State fair a success. The future prosperity of our city depends very largely upon the exhibition to be made at this fair. There are those who would secretly rejoice to defeat our efforts in this direction, and while we are inactive and careless, these enemies are active and vigilant. Considering the importance of this enterprise we are bound to say that some of our citizens have not exhibited that spirit of liberality and pride which should actuate us in any movement directed to the advancement of our commercial interests. Relying upon a few of our public spirited citizens to carry out the enterprise, we have permitted the gentlemen having the work directly in charge to make public appeals to us for assistance. We do hope this appeal is not in vain. For the information of our readers we print the following list of stockholders, which embraces many of our best citizens, and we hope that all will now come forward and do their duty:

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and till our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Peas, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

SUNDAY, MAY 21, 1876.

A TICKET.

Elsewhere we print a communication from a Republican citizen of Talladega suggesting a compromise ticket for the consideration of the popular convention of the party on the 24th inst. The author of the communication is a staunch Republican, in thorough accord with the regular organization and precedents of the party, and as the great desire of every Republican citizen of Alabama is to secure harmony in the party, we add our mite to the effort suggested in this good work. We simply suggest consideration of our correspondent's views, as expressed in the communication. The JOURNAL will cheerfully support any ticket the party may nominate.

THE POSTAL LAWS.

The Advertiser of yesterday calls the attention of District Attorney McAfee to a recent circular of Mr. Chairman Mayer, of the Republican State Executive Committee, which that paper alleges has been distributed through the mails in folded copies of this paper. We know nothing of the distribution of the circular as alleged, but we are authorized by the District Attorney to inform the editors of the Advertiser that if they will make the proper affidavit in such cases, he will proceed to enforce the laws in the regular way. If there has been any violation of law we hope that the editors of the Advertiser will promptly step forward and make the proper affidavits.

THE ALABAMA DELEGATES

The Alabama Republican State Convention, reported to have been held on Tuesday last, and to have chosen delegates "understood to be in favor of Bristow," was an irregular body, and does not represent the Republican party of that State. The committee that called it was chosen at a mass meeting of malcontents, to supersede the regularly appointed State Central Committee. In the interest of harmony the regular committee submitted the questions of difference to Senator Simon Cameron, Chairman, and the Hon. William E. Chandler, Secretary, of the National Republican Committee, and the basis of adjustment suggested by them was promptly accepted by the regulars, but rejected by the seceders. This arrangement was entirely fair to both factions, providing arbitrarily for the temporary organization of the convention without prejudice or advantage to either, leaving all subsequent proceedings to the control of the majority. This proposition having been rejected, the regular committee proceeded to call a convention (for the 24th inst., we think). Then the seceders called a convention for the 16th, which is the one reported as having chosen Bristow delegates. * * * * * * The delegation chosen by the convention of the 16th does not stand the ghost of a chance for seats in the National Republican Convention.—Chicago Inter Ocean, May 18.

PIPER, the Boston murderer, turns out to be, under his own confession, the best sample of a totally depraved criminal extant—a monster of most complete proportions, who should have been strangled in his cradle. What with Jesse Pomeroy and Piper, Boston has the misfortune of producing vampires fully equal to the extreme creations of German myth, exemplifying the adage that "truth is stranger than fiction." That Piper should have so long escaped the clutches of the law and survived his crimes to this extent, is most marvelous, considering the existence of the detective and police system. It also proves how much crime is perpetrated without discovery and punishment in our large cities. The members of unfortunates daily found drowned in the waters surrounding that city, is convincing proof that murder does not always "out," and that human lifeless small value when deemed necessary to sacrifice to the commission of robbery.

The Alabama Republicans did not do anything of the kind. Of the whole number of disaffected Republicans who met in convention on the 16th, we do not suppose that one dozen were supporters of Mr. Bristow. If this is the way Bristow delegations are being made throughout the country, that gentleman will find himself a long ways behind at Cincinnati. We advise the friends of Mr. Bristow to deal fairly with the public, and do justice to the other Republican citizens who have been named for the Presidency. This way of manufacturing Bristow delegations out of wind will end in a fearful collapse on the 14th of June. The truth is mighty and will prevail.

There is a class of newspaper editors who, judging from their columns, think that the primary duty of a journalist is to misrepresent and denounce public men and prominent individuals with whom they happen to differ in political sentiment. In no other country is this abuse of the privileges of a free press carried to such an extent as in the United States. Yet there are no direct means of reaching redress by legal process.

"It wounds indeed,
To bear affronts too great to be forgiven;
And not have power to punish."

THE latest demonstration of the Greenback party took place at Sedalia, Missouri, on the 11th inst. "Several gentlemen" representing half a dozen counties of that State were present and organized a "general greenback party." If, now, the Sedalians can induce Messrs. John Cochrane and Ethan Allen to consolidate themselves with the new movement, the combination may be able to fill all the chairs of the next convention

LET US REASON TOGETHER.

The STATE JOURNAL has no greater ambition than to assist in securing good government and prosperity to the people of Alabama. We hold that the highest duty of every citizen is to contribute whatever effort he can to the advancement of the State in her agricultural, commercial and political spheres. The present administration of our State Government is too narrow and selfish, too retrogressive and illiberal to benefit any class of people. There is so much partisanship and prejudice combined in our authorities, and the ruling powers are bent so much upon crushing and humiliating the Republican citizens of the State that every interest of the commonwealth is decaying, and every vestige of public spirit is slowly dying. Our Governor is absent from the capitol on a junket through the Northern portion of the State, making political speeches in the effort to secure his re-election. Others of our State officials are also absent no doubt engaged in securing their re-election. Thus we have the spectable of a State Government gibing away in the midst of the Centennial year, while its heads are here and there trying to fix up delegations to vote for their re-election to the offices which are now running themselves.

We also witness the blighting effect of this Bourbon-partisan rule in the general want of confidence on the part of the people in every section of the State. The violent and oppressive laws enacted by the last legislature are bearing their legitimate fruit, while stagnation is everywhere supreme. In view of these facts, we appeal to our Republican friends to cease their quarrels, and strike hands now for the overthrow of the dreadful dynasty of partisanship and malice which is so rapidly destroying the life of the State. Thousands of good citizens who have heretofore been driven to the support of the Bourbon party, are determined to assert their rights as freemen, and combine for good Government in Alabama. They look with an earnest longing for the establishment of harmony in the Republican party, so that they can have something substantial to appeal to in the good work of regeneration and reform. Our Republican friends who are abusing each other must remember that they will be held responsible for the success of Bourbonism in this State. Divided they must fall. But united, and the good people of the State are with us! Come, then, Republicans to the great reunion of the party on the 24th of this month. Lay down all your personal differences, and your private grievances on the altar of the party's good. We appeal to Gov. Smith, to Judge Rice, to all who have considered that it was their duty to organize a new party machinery to yield something for the public good. We make this appeal from the earnest conviction that we owe every sacrifice to the cause which seeks only to secure for the people of Alabama the blessings of an enlightened and progressive local Government, in thorough accord with the National spirit and advancement. On behalf of regular organization and party precedent, we appeal to our disaffected friends to join with us in the great work of redeeming Alabama from the withering blight of the Bourbon-partisan rule of hate and prejudice. We ask no sacrifice of pride, of personal liberty or individual rights, but we do plead for a sacrifice of personal interests and individual grievances upon the altar of patriotism. Our friends owe it to their own professions of Republicanism to cease any further efforts at divisions and discord. There can be no hope for success in divided counsels; and we make this last appeal for party unity. The time is growing short, and the Republican party frankly demands peace within its ranks, to insure success at the coming election. The regular organization is going to move forward with determined purpose no matter whether our disaffected friends assist us, or not. We believe that the people of Alabama are thoroughly disgusted with Democratic misrule, as exemplified in the career of Houston and his partisan Legislature, and that they are ready to support liberal and progressive men, who are able to place the State in line with the progress of the Nation. We look to the convention of the 24th inst., as our only hope of deliverance from the oppressive rule of hide-bound Bourbon-Democracy.

A CURIOUS little illustration of the exact amount of interest some of the Fifth Avenue Conference people have taken in politics is afforded by the speech of Mr. Parke Godwin. He is reported in the Herald as ignoring from the recent speech of Mr. George F. Hoar, on the impeachment question, and ascribing it to Senator Hoar. The Cincinnati Times very pithily observes that there is hardly a school-boy in the country that does not know that Mr. Hoar was never in the Senate, nor was his brother, and that he is one of the managers of the House in the impeachment trial. Mr. Godwin said he "was no politician, and disdained the politician's art." He might have said, with equal truth, that he disdained the politician's knowledge. He is a man who has never done his part toward reforming abuses of which he now complains. He has wilfully resigned all work to others, and now comes forward, inconsistently, to growl because they have not been managed to his notion. With this growl he will think he has satisfied all the public has any right to demand of him. He will try to set up a new party, but will suffer it, for all of deed or words of his, to fall into the hands of managers like those who controlled the Greeley movement. He thinks politics ought to be reformed. Why doesn't he take hold and help reform it?

YOUNG boys should keep as far as possible from bar-rooms.

A COMPROMISE TICKET.

TALLADEGA, May 19, 1876.

Editor State Journal: Permit me as an old time Republican, who has faithfully battled for the cause since the organization of the party in this State, and one who has no further interest than its success, to suggest the following State ticket, which if nominated by the convention to be held in your city on the 24th inst., I am satisfied will meet with the hearty approval of not only all true Republicans, but also with the great mass of conservative voters of Alabama.

For Governor—Adam C. Felder, of Montgomery.

For Auditor—William Miller, of Tuscaloosa.

For State Treasurer—Joseph C. Bradley, of Madison.

For Attorney General — Alexander White, of Dallas.

THE MEXICAN INSURRECTION.

It is gratifying to learn that the recent official advices from the Rio Grande state that the Government troops will undoubtedly conquer the insurgents at Matamoras, and that the only trouble now will be the same which has existed heretofore and for which the remedy is yet to be obtained, namely, the raiding of cattle-thieves across the boundary. By the last accounts from Matamoras Gen. Escobedo, commanding the Government troops, was approaching the city a hundred miles distant with three thousand men, who would be reinforced with two thousand coming by another route. How many Diaz has to meet them with does not appear. A well-informed Mexican paper recently said that Cortina's thieving band never numbered over 2,000 all told, and that if Diaz secured these, or whatever portion of them might be willing to give up marauding for the more disagreeable business of soldiering, he would not be likely to accumulate a greater available force than 2500, or 3000 at the most. They might be individually daring enough, but they would be a poor force to rely upon, from their independence and irregular habits. This estimate both as to the numbers and the character of Diaz's supporters would seem to be confirmed by the fact that his attempt to assume the offensive quickly failed and he was obliged to fall back on Matamoras, which is now the sole seat of the boasted "revolution" of but a short time ago.

There are undoubtedly disaffected materials in several of the Mexican States, like Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon and Coahuila, but they are not of common origin and for the most part are easily controlled by the loyal populations of each State. The States themselves remain faithful to the National Government. It may be assumed, therefore, that the Diaz insurrection is a failure. Cooped up in Matamoras, its leader, by means of forced loans and the arbitrary use of all the means supplied by so wealthy a city, may be able to make a protracted defense against the Government troops; but his complete discomfiture is only a question of time, if this should be the result it will have a strengthening influence on the Mexican Government, for it will show that, if insurrections are not yet wholly outlived in that country, each demonstration of the kind grows weaker and weaker, pointing to the stability and satisfaction which ever attend popular institutions in the main.

It would be well for parties visiting Philadelphia to agree for the price of their rooms and fare at the hotel at which they may stop before taking possession. To do so would prevent such an unpleasant result as befell a party whose experience is told in the New York Evening Post, as follows:

"A party of my friends went to see it, and, finding no vacant rooms at the Continental Hotel, they made application at what they supposed to be the 'next best.' The gentleman and his wife took one good sized room; their married daughter took a smaller room, and their unmarried daughter took a smaller room. When the bill came in the prices were, respectively, for the gentleman and wife, twenty-five dollars a day; for the married lady, sixteen dollars a day, and for the young lady, fifteen dollars a day—in all, for the party of four persons, fifty-six dollars a day. Who wouldn't keep a hotel?"

POOR Fitzhugh can't for the life of him see why he is being held up to ridicule. He says there was nothing but truth in that letter, not excepting the assertion that "I am a bigger man than old Grant," and further maintains that few Congressmen can spell better than he. As Fitzhugh is pretty well acquainted with the Democratic members of the House, we do not feel called upon to dispute his position.

WE observe from our Atlanta exchanges of yesterday, that Ex—Gov. Bullock has returned to that city, having been arrested at his home in Albion N. Y. a few days since upon a requisition from the Governor of Georgia. He made a bond in Atlanta which the Times says is good for a million of dollars. If this is the case, the ex-Governor must have some first class friends in Georgia.

A MAJORITY of the delegation chosen by the Tennessee Republican Convention, are said to favor Senator Morton for the Presidency. Out of the twenty-four delegates, fifteen to eighteen are counted as Morton men. The others are said to be divided between Blaine and Bristow.

It may complicate affairs somewhat if the Indianapolis Independents nominate William Allen without requiring his formal acceptance.

LETTER FROM HON. C. C. SHEATS.

DECATUR, ALA., May 18th, 1876.

Mr. George Turner, Montgomery, Ala.

DEAR SIR: Every county in North Alabama will be fully represented in the Regular Republican State Convention of the 24th.

We have forborne giving any utterance to our opinion until the last hope of reconciliation was gone. Now that the farce of a convention of the malcontents is over, and the true Republicans of the State see that it is left to them to bring the party out of chaos into order; and organize for the coming election, we have gone to work in earnest and are determined to snatch victory from our enemies.

We have no feeling in the matter that is personal to any member of the opposition. We know that there were many good and true men in the convention of the 16th, who seriously wished the good of the party, but we also know that the spirits that prompted the action of the 16th convention had no higher ambition than their own aggrandisement. The Republicans of North Alabama are actuated by higher and holier motives, and they stand as solid as a stone wall against the enemies of freedom wherever they appear, in whatever shape they present themselves.

We invite all friends of the Republican party, whatever faction they may have belonged to heretofore, to meet us on the 24th to make nominations for a State ticket that will carry Alabama triumphantly through the struggle upon which we are almost entering. We want no division. We want harmony and success. Let our motto be: Front face, march: and our victory is sure.

Yours truly,
C. C. SHEATS.

[From our regular correspondent.]

THE ARKANSAS VALLEY.

PEACE KANSAS, May 15, 1876.

Editor Journal: Not only the wonderfully rapid settlement of the country from a wild expanse of unbroken prairie only three years ago, to the scene of busy towns and thickly dotted farms, with all the accomplishments of a highly advanced state of society; but it is a theme of praise to every one who visits it, and only needs to be seen to be appreciated.

Its principal attractions are the largest area of rich bottom lands in one body on the continent; its abundant supply of good water, and in the growing season, almost constant sunshine; its remarkable healthfulness, which is attributable to its altitude which is 1500 to 3500 feet above the sea level, and the entire absence of swamps for hundreds of miles in all directions; its mild and short winters, and ready market and good prices for all the surplus farm, garden, dairy and orchard products, and its direct railway facilities with all parts of the country.

Three years ago it would have been in vain for any man, woman or child to have searched for Peace here, for there was no Peace, near the confluence of the Rattlesnake with the Arkansas, but now the traveler along the Arkansas Valley cannot fail to find Peace on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, about two hundred miles west of Topeka, on the north bank of the river, in Rice county, which like Reno county, is traversed by the Arkansas and two of its tributaries, viz: Cow creek and Rattlesnake, and has a large area of excellent bottom land, mostly sloping southeast, protecting the surface from the northwest winds of winter, and giving it the full benefit of the morning and noonday sun, insuring remarkably fine crops of winter wheat, the average of which, in this region is now more than double that of last year, very beautiful and promising. Peace already has an enterprising population of about six hundred, which is rapidly increasing. Schools and churches are well attended and sustain both in the town and country.

All things considered I am impressed that Peace is a very much better place to go to than to come from, as investments in lands here cannot be otherwise than profitable, because it is a good farming, fruit growing and grazing country, with lands cheap, markets good, climate mild and healthful, and land rapidly increasing in value.

Government land may be pre-empted, homestead or timber claimed within fifteen miles of the town, or be bought of the railroad company at from three to eight dollars per acre, for cash, or on eleven years credit, within two or three miles of Peace.

More about Peace next month. But should any of your readers desire detailed information of this region before June they will receive it by addressing Hon. J. R. Smith, Peace, Kansas.

EXAMINER.

THE Methodist Episcopal Conference at Baltimore has received a memorial from certain colored ministers setting forth that there are 180,000 members of that denomination who are persons of African descent, and requesting the appointment of a Bishop for the colored people of their Church. The memorial was not favorably considered by the Conference, though final action has not yet been taken upon the subject.

This is but one instance among a good many where the colored people are making a great mistake against their own interests and injuriously to their future welfare. Their aim should be to avoid all such separations of races on the "color line" where the subject matter under consideration is one of common right and of common faith. In matters appertaining to the church and religion, of all others, this division of members upon the color line would be most inappropriate and unwise.

It may possibly be alleged that the colored members of their church are not sufficiently cared for under the superintendency of the Bishops as commonly appointed; and that a Bishop of their own race might be found more attentive to their spiritual wants, or more acceptable to their wishes. But we do not think so.

If in matters of this kind the colored people can not accept the situation of things, it would seem hopeless for them to be satisfied with the social order of the country. It should be their aim to wipe out the color line on all possible occasions. Instead of that, in the present instance, they are seeking to establish that line when it is altogether needless, and where it could work only mischief to themselves and evil to their church.

WASHINGTON.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Mr. Patterson reported a memorial of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce in reference to the signal service. Referred.

Mr. Sherman from committee on printing reported in reference to the House resolution to print five thousand copies of the addresses on the late representative Starkweather. He said the committee on printing had agreed not to report any more of these resolutions, but as Mr. Starkweather's death had occurred before that time they concluded to report this resolution. The resolution passed.

Mr. Sargent from committee on naval affairs reported adversely on a portion of commander Davis and crew of the U. S steamer Colorado, for prize money at the capture of the New Orleans, and report was concurred in.

Mr. Morton from committee on privileges and elections, submitted a report in the case of Senator Spencer.

Mr. Saulsbury of the same committee said that while he concurred in the conclusions of the committee, he differed as to the proprieties of the executing of certain testimony.

Mr. Mitchell called up the bill for the relief of G. B. Taylor and E. S. Stuckett, which had been returned by the President with his objections, and it was passed by a unanimous vote over the veto.

Legislative and executive business was then suspended and the Senate with closed doors proceeded to consider the the articles of impeachment against W. W. Belknap.

House.

The committee not having been called for several days a large number of bills were this morning reported in reference to the private calendar, most of them being from the committee on claims.

Mr. Gause, of Arkansas, introduced a bill for the sale of the Hot Springs reservations in Arkansas. Referred.

Mr. Hoar, by order of the committee on judiciary, offered a resolution making an order that hereafter all persons and corporations employing a counsel or agent to represent their interests in regard to any measure pending at any time before the House or any committee thereof, shall cause the name and authority of several counsellors and agents to be filed by the Clerk of the House, and no person, whose name and authority is not so filed shall be permitted to appear as such agent or counsel. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Garfield, from committee on ways and means, reported a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to make allowances and compensation to the solicitor of Internal Revenue, who went out of office prior to February 8th, 1875, upon the final settlement of their accounts.

The Speaker, pro tem, laid before the House the resignation of Hon. W. H. Barnum, a representative from the 4th district of Connecticut, which was ordered to be spread upon the journal.

The Speaker, pro tem, announced the following as the special committee to investigate the official conduct of Mr. Adams, the Clerk of the House: Messrs Payne of Ohio, Forney of Alabama, Marsh of Pennsylvania, Henderson of Illinois, and Waite of Connecticut.

The House then went into committee on the naval appropriation bill; Mr. Clymer in the chair.

All general debate having been closed the committee proceeded to consider the bill by sections for amendment.

Mr. Blount, of Georgia, moved to amend by reducing the aggregate amount for pay of commissioned warrant officers from $6,250,000 to $5,750,000, and repealing so much of the act of June 16, 1874, as provides that only actual traveling expenses shall be paid.

The committee on privileges and elections made a unanimous report in Senator Spencer's case. The committee say that they acted under a Senate resolution of December 16. They have examined the subject thoroughly and find nothing to inculpate Mr. Spencer. They say that the testimony taken by the Alabama Legislature was ex parte in character, and very much of it is heresay and could not be used by the committee as evidence. The question as to whether Spencer was elected by a lawful legislature was fully settled in Sykes' contest and the committee declined to re-open it. They also say no witnesses testified that Spencer had directly or indirectly given or offered to give money or anything of value in consideration of votes or support, nor was it found that any of his friends had done so. Senator Saulsbury said he concurred in the conclusion of the committee, that there was nothing to inculpate Mr. Spencer, but he differed with them as to the extent which the testimony went.

The name of Representative J. H. Rayney, of South Carolina, a colored member, was omitted from the list of signers of the Freedmen's bank report, printed in yesterday's Star. Mr. Rayney united with a majority of the committee in endorsing the conclusions of his colleagues.

Gen. Charles W. Deveen, of Demopolis, Alabama, has been appointed clerk of the Senate committee on the District of Columbia, vice Chas. E. Mayer, who was nominated to-day to be District Attorney for the Northern and Middle District of Alabama. Gen. Deveen served with credit in the Union army during the late war.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 20.—A dispatch from Washington, published in the Tribune, states that President Grant announces the intention, on the expiration of his term of office, of making a tour of the world.

The World's Washington special says if it is found impossible to adjourn Congress by January 12th, a recess over the two political conventions to be held in June is probable.

The Herald publishes an interview with Peter Cooper, nominee for the Presidency of the Greenback Convention, in which he declines to enter the field as a candidate, on account of infirmities of age. He thanks Grant has a better chance for the election than anybody else, and don't object to the third term. He however hopes for the election of Allen. He attributes the present depression in trades to the monetary mistakes of Congress.

The money withdrawn from circulation since the end of the war should be put in circulation, and unless action to this end is taken at the coming convention there will be enough voters leave the party ranks to elect the third party candidate. He says he has petitioned Congress to afford relief to suffering people by legislation, making treasury notes of the same value as gold and receivable for all forms of taxes, duties and debts and interchangeable at the will of holders with interest bearing bonds of the government; also, a withdrawal of 25 per cent. annually of the present bank circulation until all is replaced by greenbacks.

Trials of indicted whisky dealers charged with internal revenue frauds will commence on Monday.

Another meeting of the Pacific Mail Directors was held to-day to hear the regular monthly statement and appoint inspectors of election, but no quorum was present, and an adjournment was taken until Monday. This is the fourth postponement of the meeting for want of a quorum.

It is now generally conceded that the old stockholders of the Pacific Mail Company have, in combination with the Panama Railroad and Transit Company, recovered control of the Pacific Mail Company.

ILLINOIS.

JACKSONVILLE, May 20.—A large attendance is expected here at the State Sunday School Convention, which opens next Wednesday. Moody and Sankey will arrive Monday night, and remain until the close of the Convention on Thursday.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—At 3 p. m., yesterday, O'Leary completed 325 miles. He is comparatively fresh and very hopeful of success.

Des Moines' letters from the Black Hills, say that provisions are high and scarce, and the Indians thick. Mining or prospecting is cut off, and people are advised to stay in the States until the Indians are cleaned out.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, May 20.—The correct time of the Boston race this morning was 20 minutes, 20 seconds. The City Point crew claim a foul. The decision of the umpire has not yet been made.

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syrinum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility.

However diversified the cases may be which contribute to render so many debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and severe forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and what cause they are attacked by the insidious enemy to health, and if attacked by this insidious enemy, to battle for it in its course and even ere itself it fell to run its course to a successful issue, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

Newport, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LAWRENCE: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syrinum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been persuaded to the contrary opinion. I thought nothing short of the drug itself could ever cure me, or rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and say only hope was that your medicine would furnish me an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm of Syrinum would cure me of the habit I so foolishly contracted with it. I have no especial desire to say more. When I left P. off and began to take the Syrinum I felt uneasy for a few days, but after a few days the stomach began to grow strong, and I soon began to crave food. Sometimes I felt a sort of drowsiness coming on, and a desire to again resort to the opium, but I would take a dose of the Syrinum instead, and I could sleep and feel refreshed. I am very grateful to you for the help and strength to overcome the habit, and to you by taking a regular course of time. Yours, Gratefully yours, J. THOMPSON.

THE FAR WEST.

Letter From an Old Alabamian.

YANKTON, DAKOTA, May 16, 1876.

Editor Journal: At this great distance I am loth to interfere in any way with Alabama politics, and yet I can not refrain from one appeal to my old Republican friends in that State to quit throwing mud at one another, and to organize to make a common fight against a common political enemy. Leave personal traduction and go to work, for in this centennial campaign the patriotic masses will expect every loyal citizen, every friend of the government to do his duty.

There should be no Spencer men, no Smith men, no Rice men, but Republicans all; and let each vie with all others in efforts to reorganize the great Republican party and lead them to victory.

Brethern! for the sake of your country if not for your own, you should dwell together in unity. I have held sweet communion with you in times that are past, and would be glad to come down next fall and join my voice again in the grand rally against the strongholds of the enemy, provided there can be unification and harmony in the party, and the remotest prospect of success; but I do not care to assist in leading a forlorn hope. Dress up, then! Stand firm, and let the whole line move at once.

To the pathetic heart and reflecting mind the most calamitous thing that could happen to the country would be the success of the Democratic party in the November election, and it is expected that every lover of his country will exert himself to the utmost to prevent such a result, and shall it be said that Alabama, with its ten thousand majority, was lost to the party and to the country on account of divisions and dissensions amongst our own friends—rings and splits among those who should have stood shoulder to shoulder in a common fight, God forbid. Close up the column and let it march to the music of the Union, and it will carry dismay and defeat to the ranks of the enemy, for our Democratic friends hate the Union as does the devil holy water, and even the name of Union is enough to put their traitorous hosts to flight.

The fossils who adhere to the Democratic party and their followers have shown themselves so utterly incapable of feeling, in Alabama and other States where they have secured control of public affairs, that the country is sick, nauseated and digusted with them. The North and West will overwhelm them with such majorities next Fall, as were never heard of before; and is Alabama not to be redeemed? You have the majority, organize and vote it. Place Alabama again under Republican rule and the dry rot which is now eating out her very vitals will soon disappear; property will be restored, and the whole people will rejoice. But continue Democratic rule and the people will continue to mourn, and matters will grow from bad to worse until the exodus for the West, which commenced last fall and winter, will become a route, and in a few years the State will be depopulated.

Republican brethren, stop your quarreling among yourselves and go to work. Honest Democrats, and there are thousands such, if you would ever have prosperity in Alabama again, cease voting the Democratic ticket, obey the laws, give a hearty welcome to all new comers, and live in peace with your neighbors.

Yours for peace,
JOHN L. PENNINGTON.

FROM PERRY COUNTY.

MARION, May 18th, 1876.

Editor Journal:

At a meeting of the Republican Ex. Committee of this county held in Marion, April 22, 1876, the following resolution was unanimously adopted, to-wit:

Resolved, That we deem it unwise at this time to call a convention of the Republicans of Perry Co. to elect delegates to attend a State convention in answer to the call of either one of the State Executive Committees. There has been no meeting of the County Executive Committee held in the county since the above stated date. We see stated in the proceedings of the convention held in Montgomery, on the 16th inst., that G. S. W. Lewis, J. H. Houston and others reported as delegates from Perry county in said convention. We desire to state for the information of the Republicans of the State that the aforestated delegates were there by no legal authority of the county of Perry to represent said county in said convention. From all the information that we have been able to get, as yet, it seems that Uniontown Beat, through the manipulation of two or three persons, managed to get up a small meeting in the town of Uniontown, on Saturday last, composed of the citizens of that beat, and at that meeting selected from their midst the aforesaid delegation without the sanction either of the Executive Committee or the masses of the Republican voters of the county.

At the time we held the last meeting of the County Executive Committee the proposition of compromise submitted by Hon. Simon Cameron and Hon. Wm E. Chandler, was under consideration, and the committee had hopes at that time that the proposition would be accepted by both wings of the party, and we, the signers of this article, still think that the compromise ought to have been accepted, as it was, in our judgment, a fair proposition to both wings of the party, and would have produced harmony in the party—the thing so much desired by all true Republicans. Perry county stands ready to cast her four thousand Republicans votes for a legal ticket made up of the true Republicans of the State.

A. H. CURTIS,
Ch'n Rep. Ex. Com., Perry Co.
J. T. HARRIS, member of Committee.
D. HARRIS, " "

The prompt action of the Administration in the Louisiana matter is to be commended. The wholesale killing off of Republican voters in the South is not to be permitted.

There is an apparent change of opinion in Washington, in the matter of jurisdiction in the Belknap case, to the effect that the Senate will decide in its favor.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

ROOMS REPUBLICAN STATE EX. COM.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 2, '76.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State offices: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the fourteenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In consequence of the change of Congressional Districts caused by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have no organizations perfected it was resolved that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts should, while attending the Convention, select two delegates for each of them Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

Autauga, 2; Blount, 2; Clark, 2; Conecuh, 2; Covington, 2; Coffee, 2; Crenshaw, 2; Cleburne, 2; Calhoun, 2; Coosa, 2; Colbert, 2; Escambia, 2; Etowah, 2; Fayette, 2; Franklin, 2; Geneva, 2; Jackson, 4; Jefferson, 2; Lauderdale, 2; Lawrence, 4; Marengo, 6; Marshall, 2; Montgomery, 10; Macon, 2, Pike, 2; Pickens, 4; Randolph, 2; Sanford, 2; Baldwin, 2, Barbour, 6; Bibb, 2; Bullock, 6; Butler, 2; Chilton, 2; Choctaw, 2, Cherokee, 2; Chambers, 4; Clay, 2; Dallas, 10; Dale, 2; DeKalb, 2; Elmore, 2; Greene, 4; Hale, 4; Henry, 2; Lowndes, 6; Lee, 4; Limestone, 2; Monroe, 2; Mobile, 10; Madison, 6; Macon, 4; Morgan, 2; Perry, 6; Russell, 4; Shelby, 2; St. Clair, 2; Tuskaloosa, 4; Tallapoosa, 4; Washington, 2; Winston, 2; Sumter, 6; Talladega, 4; Wilcox, 6; Walker, 2.

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER,
Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.
C. C. SHEATS, Secretary pro tem.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud; who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of preserving and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation from some well known citizen of the place, signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent is to act. The agency is for selling bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will receive an agency established, be given advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and in by explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will appear in the issue of papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan now in use in the European governments, by which profit in any enterprise is made secure and not risked, but where there's a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to secure one of the premiums, $1 or $100 or more than one hundred times that amount, and many obtain a premium either of $1, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000, $100,000, etc. The sale of which, without any chance to draw a premium, entitles the purchaser of a bond to a certificate showing his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in no case is a bond sold for less than its face, so that the purchaser has a chance for a large premium, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, and if it has drawn a premium, which is surrendered the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to, in the three bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say "I added to erect in my country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufacture can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,000,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

A LAST TALK.

...t in the garden and walk with me
...While dancers whirl to that dreamy tune,
...While moonlight silvers the sleeping sea,
...And the world is fair as a night in June,
...Hold your hand as I used to do,
...The last, last time you know,
...For to-morrow, a wooer comes to woo,
...And to win you, though I love you so.

...the violin's cry, and the deep bassoon
...Sobbing out in its under tone,
...Is my wild memory—the tune
...The tenderest one I have ever known;
...Because we must part to-night,
...The music on its wings shall waft
...Your love, and your lips are white,
...And the ways of life are a mystery!

...remember the night we met?
...a rose in your jet black hair,
...face, I can see you yet,
...in blood on the topmost stair;
...of white o'er its bosom fell,
...of us at your breast—Ah me!
...was never half so sweet
...to-night in my memory.

...you, love, with a love so true,
...coming years I'll not forget,
...heart how sad I have been,
...will always hold regret;
...on the sea, as I stand to-night,
...think on the vision whose brightness died
...the frosts of winter fell chill and white
...the hot of flowers of the summer tide.

...are calling you. Must I let you go?
...I say good-bye, and go my way?
...it is better so,
...Good-bye? such a sorrowful word to say.
...me, my darling, one last sweet kiss,
...we know that other and sure friendship,
...holds us parting as it does this,
...kindness, and keep you, and say—Good-bye.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 500 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called back the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the necessity of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

It is published monthly, on fine, tinted paper, each number containing from 80 to 96 pages, three columns to a page—approaching in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails strictly first-class.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by livestock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm is likely making little or nothing. If it is not here that profits or loss on the farm are, and is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have information that will help him in the management of his stock, which he can no longer do by the old method of L. MARRIED.—At the residence of Mr. J. W. Smith, by Rev. J. H. Nall, Mr. James Mansfield, of Montgomery, and Miss Carrie Wynn, of Russell county, Alabama.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The examination at the Public Schools will commence to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock, and continue until Thursday. On Friday there will be a general picnic.

THE courts and the press are the bulwarks of the people's rights and liberties. The former perpetuate no wrongs, nor the latter no falsehoods upon the people or upon individuals.

THE Montgomery Ice Company are doing a driving business. Their shipments to all points are increasing rapidly. Gen. Diaz says they can supply the whole State. So let every one keep cool.

BUSINESS was dull during the last week, and our merchants had time to attend the picnics at various points in the country. Planters are busy with their crops, and do not visit the city.

THE market yesterday afternoon was poorly attended. The display of meats was sorry, and the vegetables were not as good as we looked for at this season. The hot weather has injured the gardens in this vicinity.

A SKATING-RINK accident is thus described by a Kentucky reporter: "She struck out, couldn't turn; started for the ceiling, shouted, 'Don't you look,' turned a hand-spring and then sat down. The stripes were brown and red."

WHENEVER you see a man trying to live upon his neighbor, or trying to swindle his neighbor out of his property, you may set that man down as a fraud. No community is safe from such; but whenever they show themselves in public, they should be hissed down and out of sight.

SONG.

O, warm, sweet breath of the southern wind,
Blow softly over the sea;
Bearing my kisses to lips that wait—
Wait for kisses from me.

Under the roses, white and red,
My love is watching the moon;
The stars of the skies are watching her eyes,
That are deep as the skies of June.

Rose and lily, watching her cheek,
Chant from their listing place:
"Hail to the queen of the lily and rose,
With the rose and the lily face!"

O swift, sweet messenger, come back,
Come back from over the sea;
Bringing the kisses that pure, sweet lips
Gave you, in trust, for me.

IT is better to secure an honest living from hard labor, than to swindle and live upon the work of others. No honest man would ask another to support him. No honest man would ask pay for work he never performed. Persons who do these things are not only dishonest, but are leeches upon the people.

MRS. JOSEPH GOETTER and her three children left on Tuesday last for Europe. They will spend the summer at Heidelberg. Mr. Louis Goetter accompanies them, and will purchase a stock of fall and winter goods for the popular dry goods house of Goetter, Weil & Co. May they have a pleasant visit and a safe return.

PERSONAL.—Capt. F. M. Shouse, of Talladega, and late clerk in the Treasury Department under Ex-Treasurer Arthur Bingham, and Mr. John A. Bingham, who was chief clerk in the Treasury Department during the same administration, arrived in the city yesterday and are to appear as witnesses in behalf of Hon. Arthur Bingham, in the case before the Honorable Judge J. A. Minnis, to-morrow, at 10 o'clock.

THE Times, speaking of the rendition of Esther in Atlanta, the other night, by amateurs under the direction of Mr. Stanley, says: "Miss Thomas as Zeresh, the wife of Haman, was the cynosure of all eyes whenever she made her appearance, and received the well earned plaudits of the entire audience, being twice encored and brought before the curtain in graceful acknowledgement of her merits." Miss Teresa Thom is well known in this city, and many will read with pleasure the compliment paid her.

THE managers of the A. & W. P. R.R. and the Western R. R. have been holding a convention in Atlanta, to consider a plan for shortening the time between New Orleans and New York. It is proposed to run a train between Montgomery and West Point, a distance of 87½ miles, in three hours, making only three stops. The heavy engines are being converted into coal burners, as a matter of economy. One has already been changed, under the direction of Master Mechanic C. D. Wall. It was tried the other day and worked like a charm. The fast schedule is expected to go into operation next week.

WE learn that some of our citizens misconceive the intent and meaning of the ordinance adopted at the last meeting of the Council, in reference to driving cattle, mules, etc., in the city, within certain limits. The design of the ordinance was to keep them out of the business streets, (except to be sold at the artesian basin or weighed at the city scales) and not permit our principal thoroughfares to be used as a fair ground for the exhibition of stock brought to the city for sale, to the great annoyance of the people. Every part of the city is open to them as heretofore, except the points specified in the ordinance, to-wit: about the two artesian wells, and at the intersection of Perry with Market, Monroe and Madison streets.

OUR POLICE FORCE.—The action of the Board of Aldermen in refusing to curtail the police force, meets the prompt indorsement of every good citizen. We are satisfied that the great mass of citizens are really in favor of increasing the force, now that the political canvass has about opened, and the Board of Aldermen, we presume, will look into the matter promptly. We have only ten policemen in service at present, detailed as follows: The Chief of Police has divided the city into three districts, two wards embraced in each. Two officers are assigned to each district, making six in all. Two officers are detailed for duty in the fire limits to watch the business portion of the city; and two more officers are mounted, and daily patrol the outskirts and suburbs of the city. Now, we have a population of not less than 15,000, and any reasonable man can see at a glance that one police officer to every fifteen hundred citizens is not any protection, save only for the purpose of giving alarm of fire. The present force of officers is entitled to great credit for the good order they have maintained thus far, but we submit that the opening of the canvass makes a necessity for the enlargement of our police force. Public meetings will soon be of nightly occurrence, and a great deal of whisky will be drank by political strikers and others. Thus we are bound to have more officers or run the risk of being overrun by the lawless element. Let the Board of Aldermen look into this matter at once.

THE HAT QUESTION.

IS IT POLITE TO LEAVE YOUR HAT IN THE HALL ON MAKING A VISIT.

Lately in the drawing room of a prominent Montgomery family where the general course of events is followed with moderation, but where, however a certain respect is paid to ancient tradition, a discussion took place upon the habit adopted by men leaving their hats, with their great-coats, in the ante-room, and entering the drawing-room with their arms swinging as though they were in their clubs. The grandmother of the mistress of the house, a dowager of 87 years of age, a woman of the best society, refined both in appearance and in manners, having passed through the social vicissitudes of her generation, but retaining a mind full of philosophy, indulgence and charm, listened to the arguments for and against it, while knitting herself a pair of silk mittens which she still wore as in the good old times. Her granddaughter, coming near her, asked her opinion upon the subject of the animated discussion.

"My child," she answered, "in all my long life—now of many years—only two men have ever entered my apartments otherwise than with their hats in their hands."

"Who were these?" asked the young woman, with curiosity.

"My hair dresser and my butler. I would never have tolerated it from any one else, not excepting your grandfather," added the dowager, with a sly smile. "The hat in the hand is most certainly a proof of deference to others, and an assistance also to one's self. I know of nothing more awkward than a man entering a drawing-room with his arms hanging and not knowing what to do with his hands, which, unless he carries them in his pockets, are a decided embarrassment."

Women have a resource in the fan; and furthermore, their hands loaded with rings, their arms encircled with bracelets, may be considered as objects of luxury upon which they may draw attention without fear. For a man the hat in his hand is a guarantee of correct deportment on entering a room. The present custom found its birth in the liberty, not to say the license, of the clubs, where every one when he enters hands his cane his great coat, and his hat to a servant, so as not to be troubled with them during the rest of the evening. But a man's club is his home, and when he goes to other people's houses it is not exactly the same thing.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $1 a peck, $10 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—Arrangements have been made with the following named lines for the transportation of delegates attending the Republican National Convention, to be held in Cincinnati, June 14, 1876:

From Louisville, by Lonisville, Cincinnati and Lexington and Ohio and Mississippi Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

From Chattanooga to Nashville, by the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, and from Nashville, Memphis, Decatur and Montgomery, to Cincinnati and return, by the Louisville and Great Southern Railroad—one full fare for the round trip.

From Mobile, by the Mobile and Montgomery, and Mobile and Ohio Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

Respectfully,
W. B. SHATTUC,
Corresponding Secretary, Chairman Committee on Entertainment.

A FEW days ago we intimated that a continuation of the uncalled for abuse of some of our republican friends, by the Talladega Home, would force us to resent such assaults. Since then, we learn from undoubted authority that the Home has been sold to a company to be run in the interest of the Democratic party. In view of this fact we bid Mr. P. M. Mosley a long farewell, with the earnest hope that his future labors in the field of politics may be more successful than they have been in the past.

GOVERNOR HOUSTON passed through this place last Saturday en route to Florence, where he will remain a few days, and, if he has not already done so, will probably smoke his pipe in defense of the postponement law, which makes the poor farmer and mechanic pay more taxes than they ever did.—Tuscumbia Times.

The people pay Governor Houston to remain at the capital and look after the public interests, but instead of doing that he takes the salary allowed him and spends his time in looking after his own interests up in North Alabama. He will be re-nominated, however.

THE JOURNAL will not knowingly misrepresent, or circulate a misrepresentation of any citizen. The statement made in these columns that Congressman Haralson had charged Mr. J. F. Johnson, of Selma, of corrupt conduct, was based upon public report. We have since been informed by a prominent Republican citizen of Selma, that he has seen the letter referred to by Mr. Haralson, and that no such construction as the latter place it upon it, can be maintained; but on the contrary the letter clearly exonerates Mr. Johnson from the imputation of corruption. Whenever the JOURNAL states anything that is not borne out by facts, we are always willing to make the proper amends.

THE outrages along the Louisiana and Mississippi line continue. Late dispatches indicate that the white regulators are preparing to make another attack. The President has promised Gov. Kellogg that the powers already given to the military authorities shall be increased if necessity demands it. A short sharp and decisive war on the murderers is about what the situation calls for.—Philadelphia Times 20.

Will the Times please take notice that nearly all the leading Democratic papers in this section are defending the lawless bands who perpetrate murders and outrages in Mississippi and Louisiana, and denounce President Grant for promising to assist the Governor of Louisiana in restoring peace and arresting the murderers? We simply ask the attention of the Times to this feature of the matter.

THE second Congressional District is composed of the counties of Baldwin, Butler, Conecuh, Crenshaw, Covington Escambia, Montgomery and Pike. This district is not arranged with a view of contiguity, or with reference to any convenience or interest of the people. It is more than 200 miles in length, and, laid out on the map, looks like the letter S, twisted into several ludicrous shapes. The men who managed the manipulation of the congressional district in this State looked solely to the election of Democratic Congressmen: and they did not care a straw whether the people were suited or not. Any citizen who will examine the map of Alabama, and compare notes, will see that this district was made to elect a Democrat, and not to meet any interest of the people.

At last the house has concluded to vindicate its honor and self-respect by dismissing from the office of door keeper that ridiculous ass Fitzhugh. With him will go the small army of relatives he has put into office.—Atlanta Constitution.

Why is it that this man Fitzhugh has been permitted ever since last December, to fill he office of door-keeper himself, and a dozen other offices connected therewith with his sons, cousins, nephews, etc., and not a word has been uttered about nepotism? Will the Constitution inform us how it is possible that a Democratic House of Representatives would permit one of its officers to pension his entire family on the government, and turn upon a Republican official with all manner of abuse for having placed his friends in office? How is it that such things can be done in the face of the Nation and all the Democratic papers of the country keep their mouths shut? Out with the truth.

MINERS returning from the Black Hills tell frightful tales of their reception in that country. The Sioux are by no means pleased with the immigration of men who come to carry off their gold, and evince their determination to stop it by killing the intruders on sight. Besides actual murders it is reported that hundreds of miners are on the verge of starvation.

A PRIME SOUTHERN GAME.

The Philadelphia North American, of a recent date, contains a very interesting article, devoted to the agricultural resources of the South, and the great benefits we have received from the general use of fertilizers. The American is the ablest commercial newspaper in the country, and its articles are always prepared with great care and mature thought. In the article now before us, the American asserts that the great agricultural advantages the Southern States weakened and occasionally wasted by continuous cropping without returns to the soil, until Eastern Virginia was almost depopulated and Central Virginia lost through emigration and diminishing crops, and North Carolina suffered heavily, are being restored by frequent and important discoveries of fertilizers near where they are wanted that answer every requirement. The Carolinas have quite recently discovered great beds of phosphates, and feel confident that the material meets every demand, and will place old plantations in higher fifth than ever. Eastern Tennessee has discovered inexhaustible vegetable deposits that can be wrought at a low cost, and Kentucky has just opened a bed of marl, rich in phospherous, potash and soda that supplies the very constituents required for tobacco.

These discoveries occur at the very instant when they are needed. Their first value is that they retain in each State much of the money formerly paid abroad for guano that, deteriorating in quality as it increased in price, left the planter insufficient profit when giving good crops, and more frequently, adulterated or worthless, failed to repay its own cost. Another value is that they give a variety to the employments of the several States that is in perfect harmony with, and the greatest possible profit to the principal. They invite larger population, that by its consumption must stimulate other production, and the product of each of these is necessarily a contribution to transportation.

But the greatest advantage in many following these discoveries and their use, is that they restore and recreate and permanently improve the quality of the lands on which they are used. Guano is temporary in its benefits. It shows wonderfully in a few crops and disappears. The artificial composts cannot be used in sufficient quantity to effect permanent results. The end needed in the worn-out lands of Alabama—in all the light soils and wherever the soil is naturally light and has been overcropped and abandoned, or rendered unremunerative—is material reconstruction. The discoveries of the rich fertilizers in our sister States will so reduce the prices of the article that our farmers will all be able to thoroughly reconstruct their lands; and thus the poorest lands may be made rich, and the richest retained in their best condition under the most vigorous cropping.

The great end of our Southern industry is agriculture, and that has furnished, now furnishes, and will continue to give the greatest wealth. These discoveries enable it to be prosecuted more vigorously, and invite new population to enter more largely upon the cultivation of cotton, tobacco, hemp, and all the staples of our section. The decline there was in production for some years caused the cultivation to be attempted in other lands. We have to recover and hold our supremacy. Whatever success is possible in manufactures, and very great has been won, depends finally upon the crops that furnish the staple of manufacture; and the discoveries that are made are as valuable for them aid to manufactures as to agriculture. They are seasonable; they are sufficient, and if they are as promptly improved as they promise to be, the restoration that is being effected in the oldest States will take a great stride, and establish all that our Southern States need for enduring prosperity. The officers of the State Grange should look into these discoveries of fertilizers and by means of circulars, notify all the farmers in Alabama of the great value, as well as the low cost of the same. We shall feel more than grateful if these lines succeed in making one farm in Alabama of more value, by calling attention to this important matter.

GEORGE W. MORGAN and Thomas Ewing—these are the leaders of the Ohio Democracy to-day. The one was lately repudiated by his Congressional District as an unblushing back-pay salary-grabber. The other, trained in a school of politics opposed to the Democracy, and a "bleeding Kansas" Republican, only three years ago pronounced the funeral oration of the Democratic party, which he believed he had helped to kill, and reviled its memory. To-day, Ewing and Morgan sway the Democratic party at will, and force their crude and ridiculous financial notions on its State Convention. Rain or rain, is their word—with a grim satisfaction in the contemplation of either alternative.

COMMISSIONER DAVENPORT has been discharged as a witness by Caulfield's committee. Thus saith the Scripture: "Whosoever diggeth a pit, shall straightway fall into it, and whomsoever breaketh a hedge, a serpent shall bite him." The committee is not calling for the impeachment of President Grant so loudly as it was.

WHEN the Turks took Constantinople, four hundred years ago, they did some human butchery on a scale that has rarely been equaled before and since. The city is in a state of revolution now, the Mohammedan fanatics arming themselves with daggers and pistols and getting ready for work. But this time we have an idea, that if the storm break, loose the butchery will be more evenly divided. At the former date the Turks had the best soldiery in the world. Now they have about the worst.

THE wild exaggerations sent abroad in relation to this trivial affair are to be regretted as tending to influence public opinion. It is absurd to hold the whole Southern people responsible for every accidental local disturbance which occurs in any part of that vast region.—N. Y. Herald.

Just what the JOURNAL has maintained ever since the lawless element among us began their career of persecution and outrage. But whenever we have denounced these outlaws, the Democratic press of the South reared upon its hind legs and bellowed itself hoarse in the accusation that we were assailing the people of the South. In the very heat of the Kuklux reign every one who denounced that infamous organization was cried down as an enemy of the Southern people. Has the Herald forgotten how the Democratic leaders in this section rallied to the defence and support of the outlaws inflicted and tried in the U. S. Courts for murder, conspiracy and outlawry? Has it forgotten the repeated denials of Democratic leaders and presses prior to 1871, that any kuklux conspiracy really existed? And when the Klan was exposed, and its members were arrested and put upon trial for murder and other lawless acts, in the U. S. Courts, has the Herald forgotten how the whole Democratic party flew to the support and defence of these conspirators? The good people of Alabama were astounded with amazement at the exposures of the kuklux conspiracy in the United States Court in this city, and thousands of the best citizens of the State renounced the Democratic party, because its leaders forced the party into the position of defenders of the dreadful conspiracy. But the masses of our citizens are no more responsible for this outlawry than the Herald itself, and no Republican leader or paper at the South has ever charged otherwise. During the period of this terrible conspiracy, the people hardly knew what to do as every one who opposed it at once invited its enmity, and the expenses which were made before Judge Busteed, in this city, in 1871, show that young men were forced into the kuklux klan, some through fear and others by means of appeals to their courage, while whiskey did the greater portion of the infamous work. But the good people of the South are not, and never were responsible for this conspiracy of outlaws.

THE FAR WEST.

Letter From an Old Alabamian.

YANKTON, DAKOTA, May 16, 1876.

Editor Journal: At this great distance I am loth to interfere in any way with Alabama politics, and yet I can not refrain from one appeal to my old Republican friends in that State to quit throwing mud at one another, and to organize to make a common fight against a common political enemy. Leave personal animosities and go to work, for in this centennial campaign the patriotic masses will expect every loyal citizen, every friend of the government to do his duty.

There should be no Spencer men, no Smith men, no Rice men, but Republicans all; and let each vie with all others in efforts to reorganize the great Republican party and lead them to victory.

Brethern! for the sake of your country if not for your own, you should dwell together in unity. I have held sweet communion with you in times that are past, and would be glad to come down next fall and join my voice again in the grand rally against the strongholds of the enemy, provided there can be unanimity and harmony in the party. I find the remotest prospect of success; but I do not care to assist in feeding a forlorn hope. Dress up, men! Stand firm, and let the whole line move at once.

To the pathetic heart and reflecting mind the most calamitous thing that could happen to the country would be the success of the Democratic party in the November election, and it is expected that every lover of his country will exert himself in the utmost to prevent such a result, and shall it be said that Alabama, with its ten thousand majority, was lost to the party and to the country on account of divisions and dissensions amongst our own friends—rings and splits among those who should have stood shoulder to shoulder in a common fight. God forbid. Close up the column and let it march to the music of the Union, and it will carry dismay and defeat to the ranks of the enemy. For our Democratic friends into the Union as does the devil holy water, and even the name of Union is enough to put their traitorous hosts to flight.

The fossils who adhere to the Democratic party and their followers have shown themselves so utterly incapable of feeling, in Alabama and other States where they have secured control of public affairs, that the country is sick, nauseated and disgusted with them. The North and West will overwhelm them with such majorities next fall, as were never heard of before; and is Alabama not to be redeemed? You have the majority, organize and vote it. Place Alabama again under Republican rule and the cry not which is now eating out her very vitals will soon disappear, property will be restored, and the whole people will rejoice. But continue Democratic rule and the people will continue to mourn, and matters will grow from bad to worse until the exodus for the West, which commenced last fall and winter, will become a route, and in a few years the State will be depopulated.

Republican brethren, stop your quarreling among yourselves and go to work. Honest Democrats, and there are thousands such, if you would ever have prosperity in Alabama again, cease voting the Democratic ticket, obey the laws, give a hearty welcome to all new comers, and live in peace with your neighbors.

Yours for peace,
JOHN L. PENNINGTON.

THE attitude of President Grant towards the Republican candidates for the Presidency is that of the statesman and the patriot—firm, impartial and friendly. President Grant is daily winning the admiration of the people, and the gratitude of his friends.

THE Macon county Republican mass meeting elected delegates to the Convention of the 24th. The proceedings of the meeting are printed on our second page, this morning.

CENTENNIAL ITEMS.

—At the annual election of the officers of the Centennial Commission, no changes from the old Board, of any importance, were made, except that George W. Biddle was made Solicitor of the Commission, in place of Mr. Shoemaker. Mr. Biddle is one of the warmest advocates of Sunday opening.

—The Turkey coffee-house is to be opened, next week, when visitors can take the double luxury of Turkish coffee and Turkish tobacco together.

All holders of free tickets are being photographed by the Centennial Photographing Company; and their likeness attached to their tickets to prevent frauds.

The United States beats the world in steam fire engines, as the unparalleled display at the Exposition clearly shows. In copper and brass work, generally, as well as in silver, we also take the lead.

The General Passenger Agents of the Grand Trunk lines held a conference at Philadelphia on Thursday, and it was agreed that no further reduction beyond that determined on at Louisville could be made. Rad for the Centennial, whose receipts so far fail to come up to the expected figure. One suggestion was made by the Pennsylvania Central of which Something may come, to wit: the running of special trains at a low rate of speed, with low fare, from the principal Western cities for the accommodation of the poorer classes. Another meeting will be held next week to decide this point.

The list of special prizes offered under the auspices of the Bureau of Agriculture is constantly increasing, and promises to add much to the spirit of competition already rife in the Agricultural department. Prominent among these are those offered by the American Cattle Club, as follows:

$250 for best cow.
$100 for second best cow.
$300 for first best herd.

The scale of points to be adopted by the club is founded upon that of the Royal Jersey Society.

Another very curious structure, also opened Thursday, was the Syrian Bazaar, near the Turkish pavilion. This has been erected by five natives of Jerusalem, who obtained the privilege from the Turkish Commissioner. It is in form not unlike an American booth at a county fair, though, in place of the yellow pine generally used, is to be seen the carved woods of the Orient. The sides of the structure yellow, roof that of an olive-green, and the cornices of blue and gold. The five Syrians in attendance are dressed in the peculiar costume of their country, and offer for sale all sorts of ornaments, trinkets, and many articles of practical value made of olive wood, gathered from the Mount of Olives, Bethany, the banks of the Jordan, Hebron, Bethlehem, and many other places familiar to Bible readers. This wood is worked up into canes, work-boxes, writing-desks, sleeve-buttons, cigar cases, and numberless mantle, toilet and table ornaments. The foreign gentleman in charge is a regular "dragoman," and those who may desire to take a tour to the Holy Land, and visit such ancient cities as Tiberias, Nazareth, Damascus, Bazbec, the cedars of Lebanon, and other places of interest, are able to gather much valuable information in a few moments' talk with him.

PRESIDENT GRANT refuses to use his power in behalf or either of the Republican candidates for the Presidency. They are all his friends and supporters, and he will not interfere in the contest. We expected this of our gallant President; and it is but another proof of the nobleness of his character. No man on this continent stands more popular with the people than our hero-President. Gen. Grant could easily carry the country against any Democratic candidate, for the Presidency, if he would consent to make the race. No man ever filled the Presidential chair who commanded more real, earnest strength with the people, than U. S. Grant.

A Montgomery paper says: "An excursion to Atlanta is on the boards." The editor intends to slide on somebody's cellar door if it takes the last cent, or his bottom dollar.—N. O. Republican.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The following nominations have been made: Attorney General Pierrepont, to be Minister to England; Secretary of War Taft, to be Attorney General; Dan. Cameron (son of Simon Cameron), to be Secretary of War. C. S. Creery, a prominent candidate before the caucus for door-keeper, is not a candidate to succeed Fitzhugh.

The nominations of Pierrepont, Taft and Cameron were confirmed.

The Gibson sub committee, consisting of Reiley and Dorrall, was appointed to examine the payrolls in the Treasury Department. Judge Wilson, attorney for Casey, asked permission to accompany the committee, who are also to examine the payrolls of December, January, and February last, and investigate whether any payrolls have been returned.

The changes in the Cabinet position nominated to the Senate to-day by President Grant are regarded by politicians at the capitol as a movement in favor of Conkling's nomination at Cincinnati. General drift of talk is that Cameron has been given war portfolios in consideration of swinging the Pennsylvania delegation, of which he is chairman in Conkling's interest, and Hartranft is a party to the combination, in view of having been promised a Cabinet position should Conkling secure the nomination and election. The Senate having confirmed Cameron's native, a delicacy will constrain him to resign as a delegate to Cincinnati.

The committee investigating Blaine's bond transaction held no meeting to-day on account of the continual illness of Mr. Blaine. It is expected that the investigation will proceed to-morrow when Mr. Seghles, of New York, a former confidential secretary of Caldwell, now in Europe, will be examined.

Senate.

The chair laid before the Senate a communication from the President in reply to a resolution of the Senate on the 22d of March. Ordered to be printed and laid on the table.

Mr. Bruce from committee on pensions reported adversely on various private pension bills.

The Senate then went into executive session.

House.

The Speaker laid before the House the veto of the President of the law for the relief of O. B. Tyler and S. H. Lockett. It was referred.

Mr. Tucker, of Virginia, offered a preamble and resolution reciting that it has been reported that violence has been done to Christians residing in the dominion of the Ottoman Empire; that American citizens are residing in said Empire for the purpose of commerce and other wise, and requesting the President, if not incompatible with the public interests, to furnish the House if he has any information as to the facts, and to state what measures, if any, have been taken to preserve the lives and property of American citizens. Adopted.

Under the call of States bills were introduced as follows:

Mr. Hunter, of Virginia, to provide for the payment of rent of lands sold for direct taxes and occupied by the United States.

Mr. Hooker, of Massachusetts, a joint resolution of the Legislature of his State in favor of aid to the Texas Pacific railroad.

Mr. Hartsell, of Illinois, bill to improve the Mississippi river near Keokuskia, Illinois.

Mr. Schleicher, of Texas, to make Brownsville, Texas, one of the ports through which merchandise for the interior trade may be imported.

The Speaker then called up the resolution in regard to the election of President, upon which debate has arisen, and which were laid over under the rules.

Mr. Blount, of Georgia, moved to lay the resolutions on the table. Agreed to: Yeas 147, nays 82.

Mr. Cox presented a report of the committee on rules in the case of Door-keeper Fitzhugh, and recommended his dismissal and the transfer of his duties temporarily to the Sergeant-at-Arms. The resolution was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Blount the House went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill—Mr. Clymer in the chair.

Pending consideration, the committee rose and the House adjourned.

THE GREAT
English Remedy.
The Cordial Balm of Syriacum and Tonic Pills.
Nervous Debility.
However, despite the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease of such great affecting, as it does nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most fearful increase of its victims from the slightest meriting to the more grave and extreme forms of
NERVOUS PROSTRATION.
It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by certain symptoms, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, if left to run its course unchecked, by early the prompt application of curative remedies.
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6, 1874.
DR. LOFTMAN: Will you send me another supply of your Balm of Syriacum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know I was suffering from nervous debility, and had been using it with a good deal of success, when I commenced taking it, but I had so long been accustomed to the use of pain, I thought I must have something stronger, and was induced to try your specific, after I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would relieve me of it by an antidote, as it was impossible for me to leave off at once. I never was so much surprised in my life as when the Cordial Balm was giving to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have a personal desire for it to be known. For I am sure that the Syriacum and Tonic Pills are a great boon to the afflicted, and I am sure I feel a new man. I have a new way of life, and a new desire to live. I have lost all desire for opium, and can now sleep without it. I could always get to sleep after I used it, but I could not sleep without it. I could always get to sleep after I used it, but I could not sleep without it. I could always get to sleep after I used it, but I could not sleep without it. I could always get to sleep after I used it, but I could not sleep without it.
Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

SENATOR EDMUNDS' CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The bill reported by Mr. Edmunds from the Senate Judiciary Committee to-day is, with amendments, the measure introduced by Mr. Morton last month, supplemented to the Civil Rights law of 1866. As now reported, it provides that it, under the authority of the United States, in any state or Territory, any act is required to be done as a prerequisite or qualification for voting, every officer or person charged with the performance of the duties in furnishing to citizens an opportunity to qualify as voters shall give to all citizens equal opportunities without distinction of race, color, or previous condition of servitude, on penalty of being fined for each offense not less than $500 nor more than $5,000, or imprisonment of not less than one year nor more than five years, or both, at the discretion of the court. The second section of the bill provides that any person or officer of the United States or any State who forces or attempts to force any person entitled to vote, or who is prevented from voting by reason of color, race, or previous condition of servitude, shall be punished as provided in the first section. The fourth section prescribes these same forfeitures and penalties against any person who shall, by bribery, or by force, intimidation or other unlawful means hinder, obstruct or prevent any person from qualifying or voting on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The bill finally provides a punishment of at least $1,000 fine or imprisonment from one month to one year or both, at the discretion of the court, for any person who attempts to hinder, control or prevent any citizen having the right of suffrage from exercising it on account of race, color &c., by means of bribery, force or intimidation, or by threats of depriving him of employment or occupation, or of ejecting him from any house, land or other property or by threats of evictions or to renew leases or contracts for labor, or by threats of violence to himself or family.

The committee intend shortly to report to make it the bill supplementary to the present statutes in aid and defence of the constitutional rights of citizens.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OF LEE COUNTY.

The Republicans of Lee county met in convention at Opelika at 12 o'clock m. on Saturday the 20th inst. The meeting was large and enthusiastic. Rev. Chas. Lipscomb was called to the chair, and Mr C. S. Gildens requested to act as Secretary. Hon Isaac Heyman was called upon to address the Convention. He made a telling speech on the principles of Republicanism as published in a very manner the recent Conferences in the Republican party of the State, closed his remarks on the subject of organization and concluded with a motion to appoint a County Executive Committee to be composed of fifteen members. The motion was carried with an extraordinary degree of earnestness and the Convention proceeded to organize an Executive Committee by beats electing Mr. P. Watt Lanier Chairman, and Mr. C. S. Gildens Secretary.

On motion a committee was appointed to select delegates to represent Lee county in the Republican State Convention to be held at Montgomery on the 4th. During the absence of the committee Mr. P. Watt Lanier interested the Convention with a humorous speech, receiving great applause when the committee returned. Mr. Heyman, Chairman Committee, reported as follows:

Delegates.—P. Watt Lanier, J. P. Davis, W. M. Blander, F. P. Scott.

Alternates.—Chas. Lipscomb, Wm. Nunn, J. H. Morgan, and C. S. Gildens.

On motion the report of the committee was adopted by acclamation. Mr. Lanier then offered the following series of resolutions which were adopted amid great enthusiasm, without a dissenting vote:

Be it resolved, by the Republicans of Lee county, this day in convention assembled, that we denounce the attempt recently made by certain citizens of this county to represent us in the convention of May 10th, at Montgomery, Ala., and we declare that their power as such delegates was self constituted, and that they in no wise represented the Republican voters of Lee county, in casting the first Republican County Convention held in this county in 1876.

Resolved, That we, the Republicans of Lee county, reiterate our abiding faith and confidence in the principles of the Republican party as expressed in its national platform of 1872.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the administration of President Grant, and congratulate him and the country that he is able and willing to punish wrongs and rectify abuses of every kind.

Resolved, That we invite the co-operation of all voters, without regard to past party affiliations, who favor personal independence, free speech, free ballot, fair elections and a fair count, equitable political rights to all, free education, good, honest, local and general government.

Resolved, That the Republicans of Lee county pledge their earnest support to any and all measures which the Republican State Convention may think wisdom adopt.

On motion a committee was appointed to select delegates to represent Lee county in the next Congressional Convention to be held for the 3rd Congressional District, but as yet not called. The Convention instructed the Committee to elect 11 delegates and 11 alternates, that being the number to which Lee county had been entitled in former district conventions. During the absence of the Committee Mr. W. M. Blander and Rev. M. Towler addressed the Convention. The Committee returned and reported as delegates and alternates to the next Congressional Conventions as follows:

Delegates.—A. B. Griffin, Crawford Mendlee, J. R. Greer, R. T. Jones, Geo. Miller, C. S. Gildens, T. W. Scott, P. Watt Lanier, M. Towles, W. M. Heard, A. B. Willis.

Alternates.—J. P. Davis, C. C. M. Coy, Wm. Henderson, G. McCurdy, W. M. Blandon, Nathan Smith, Richard Mc-Cord, V. M. Stoughter, C. L. Marshall, Charles Bren, John H. Morgan.

On motion the report was unanimously adopted.

On motion the Secretary was requested to furnish the proceedings of the convention to the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL for publication.

The convention then gave three hearty cheers for President Grant and adjourned sine die.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation or violence, fraud, who are in favor of securing prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control, who believe that for the promotion of those ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of preserving and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose marks had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it would not stand and run together. Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace your's and we make this appeal to you in the sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

CALICOES are still falling, and the ladies are investing largely in the article for future use.

THE river is about at a dead stand, and is likely to fall to the lowest notch unless we have some heavy rains.

THE fountain near the "Old Hall," on Market street, is patronized by all the families within reaching distance.

THE opening of the Coosa river will enable Montgomery to reach out for all the Georgia trade along that stream.

THE gardens about the city all look finely. Everything is growing rapidly, and there is a good prospect ahead.

THE fish market is now overstocked with Alabama fish, and unless there is a falling off, it will be cheaper to live on fish—and let meats alone.

THE dry goods stores are all selling off spring stocks at low prices. Our merchants ought to advertise a little more, and business would be better.

WM. L. CORBIN, Esq., Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, for this District, was in the city yesterday, attending the U. S. Court. He has entirely recovered from his late illness.

THE sewers ought to be thoroughly washed out now, at least once a week. There is so much refuse matter which gathers in our sewers that there is danger that some of them may be stopped from running.

PROF. HANSON and son, and Mr. Vic Hilton have been engaged for the season at Blount Springs. Prof. Sherwood has been engaged to preside in the ball room. A lively time may be expected there this season.

MR. MARCELLO was struck with a brick last night, about 9 o'clock, while standing in his door on Commerce street. Some say a negro did it without any provocation, while a policeman says Marcello gave offense to the negro. He was badly hurt. No arrest at this writing

BUT for the presence of an occasional tax collector at the State House, that institution would die of ennui. The public business does not require any great amount of work to keep it up, and as there is no base ball company to furnish amusement to the clerks and officials there, they are to be commisserated.

CONSIDERABLE interest is manifested in the proposed celebration of July 4th. A committee of Virginians have agreed to have a genuine old time celebration, and we do not see why Montgomery should not have one. It would not cost a great deal if all would take part. We certainly ought to celebrate our Centennial 4th of July.

A COMPLAINT comes up from the country that the want of free schools in this county is telling heavily on the people. They are not able to employ teachers at living salaries, and the free schools having been destroyed principally, the children are growing up in ignorance. It is a very bad thing to close a church or a school house.

THE first load of oats appeared in our city yesterday. A colored man had raised them. He sold out in a hurry. Why don't all our planters raise more grain and forage. We learn that the oat crop in this vicinity will be better than ever before since the war. Our people are determined to produce enough corn to furnish their plantations another year.

THE hotel registers show that travel is very good, notwithstanding the dull times. The Exchange still retains its popularity as a first-class hotel, while the Madison House, under its new management shows an increased patronage. Montgomery can boast with pride of her hotels, and it affords us pleasure to see them so liberally patronized by the public.

WE understand from a cotton broker that the crop of cotton for the present year will aggregate four million, six hundred thousand bales. This is larger than any crop ever made in this country. The prospect in the prairie lands is better than ever known, but in the west and southwest the prospect is not so good. The average price thus far this year has been about 11 to 11½ cents. The grade averages low middlings, new class, and the bales of this year will average 475 pounds, which is more than the average of the largest year—1860. The acreage for the coming year is about 15 per cent. over that of any other year.

GREEN apples are already being brought into the city from the country, and offered for sale. They may answer the purpose of pie making, but as an article of food we suggest that they be kept away from children. We do not know but it would be a good thing for the Board of Aldermen to pass an ordinance to prevent the sale of green fruits within the city limits. Older people may not need such a preventive, but the children of the city certainly do.

SUNDAY was a very warm day, and the heat in the forenoon was really oppressive. But few persons were to be seen upon the streets, until late in the afternoon. The congregations at our churches were not so large as usual, the heat deterring many from going out of doors. The city was very quiet all day, and there was nothing of an unusual nature occurred from Saturday night to 12 o'clock yesterday, when heavy thunder indicated that, after so much heat, we were to be blessed with a refreshing shower.

MR. RICE, formerly Deputy Warden of the Alabama penitentiary, has about one half of the city convicts at work on the North end of Capitol Square. Mr. Rice will have the use of the Square for ten years, for pasturage purposes, after the expiration of which time it reverts back to the city. Many small trees have been planted, and those planted some time ago are beginning to assume a respectable size. Many other improvements, such as grading, leveling, laying off, are being made, and at the expiration of ten years Capitol Square will be a beautiful park, a credit to the city.

WE are informed by Deputy Collector Strobach that the Revenue office has decided that persons who make brandy fruits, canned fruits, etc., are not required to take out the revenue license. Parties putting up these fruits can dispose of them without the revenue license. As the time is close at hand when many of our farmer friends will desire to put up brandy peaches, cherries etc., this decision will be quite acceptable to them. There is a very good trade already in this line in our section, and as there is no license necessary, we presume the business will be largely increased. Thousands of bushels of blackberries can be gathered in Alabama and there is a demand for many bushels, at very good prices.

THE PICNIC TO-DAY.—The Catholic school will have their annual excursion picnic to-day at Whitehall. If the weather is propitious a large number of our citizens will accompany the young people, and the picnic promises to be one of the most enjoyable occasions of the season. Every preparation necessary to render the event pleasant and agreeable, has been consummated, and the beautiful woods of Whitehall will be ringing with the merry voices of the happy children. There is no scene more happy and attractive than to see crowds of innocent children playing in the woods amongst the wild-flowers. It must be seen to be appreciated. In the springtime life is buoyant and full of hope. May these little children never know aught but the beauties of the springtime!

RAIN AND HAIL.—Yesterday afternoon about three o'clock, Montgomery was visited by a splendid rain which was accompanied by hail but only in small quantities. The streets were cleaned handsomely, and all the sewers were washed out. As our farmers were somewhat in need of rain this shower will be of immense benefit to the growing crops. The atmosphere was cooled off to such an extent that linen clothing was, for the time, put aside, and thicker garments eagerly sought after. We think that we are safe in saying that the rain of yesterday was one of the finest ever experienced by our farming friends. It was not too heavy, although it lasted some time and the wind for a while blew rather strong. But the benefits to our crops have been very great.

MAYOR'S COURT.—There was a large crowd in the court room yesterday morning as usual on Monday mornings, although upon this occasion some important cases were to come up.

The first case called was that of the city against five colored men, charged with rape on two colored girls, Sunday afternoon. The case was transferred to a magistrate.

Next case was Sophia Harris, charged with being drunk and disorderly. The evidence showed that Miss Sophia, who is a 16 year old colored girl, had completely "cussed" out the entire police, the Mayor included. She called one of them a d——d ——— ———, for which he sent her to the grass: first bloot for policeman. Sophia's lawyer summoned her numerous friends to prove she was a sweet tempered, unoffending, much abused little injured innocence, but the court couldn't see it that way and Sophia had to pay ten and costs.

John Jones was up for throwing water from a street hose sprinkler on two colored men. It seems it was accidental and he was discharged, with advice from the Mayor to him and all others to be careful when sprinkling the streets.

The case of P. B. Horton alias H. C. Harvey, Mr. Horton, or whoever he is, came to this city some time ago and forged an order in favor of his landlady, signing the name of W. H. Sharp, agent of the Singer Machine Co., for his board. Mr. Sharp learning of it had him arrested. His case was disposed of by being fined $100 or 100 days labor for the county. Horton is a small man, rather good looking, dark hair and eyes, but 100 days in a summer's sun is likely to change his good looks, if he don't raise the $100.

The next case was a rich one, Dock Taylor, a crazy negro, was charged with vagrancy. Dock is the yellow negro with his painted coat and haversack. He is foolish and talkative. Dock marched in in his stocking feet, rather rough looking old socks, and was told by His Honor that he was charged as a vagrant. Dock said yes, and commenced to tell about throwing a brick at a colored girl. He was called to order, but insisted on telling his story. He said Gen. Allen was de law of the United States, and that he had an old Yankee master just like you, pointing to the Mayor. His speech was extremely ludicrous and everybody was convulsed with laughter. He was locked up for future disposition.

A few minor cases were disposed of when court adjourned.

THE proposition to construct a large fountain in the upper Artesian basin is being again revived by some of our public spirited citizens, and we hope that this time they will not cease their efforts until success is assured. A splendid fountain could be built in this basin at a very small cost. If each merchant in the vicinity of the basin would subscribe to the work, a fund could soon be made up necessary to carry out the work. It will not require so much money for the work, as some persons seem to think. Everything is cheap now-a-days, and if each merchant would subscribe the necessary fund would soon be forthcoming, and no one would ever feel the loss of a subscription. We ought to begin to beautify our city this Centennial year, and we would soon have the most beautiful city in the South.

THE time is rapidly approaching when we are promised the commencement of our long wished for union passenger depot. No public enterprise since the close of the war, has excited so much discussion, or aroused a deeper public interest than this proposed passenger depot. It was the understanding with most of our citizens that when the South and North Alabama railroad was completed, that road would build a great depot in Montgomery, which would be the pride of the city. Failing in this, there have been so many obstacles presented since, that we had almost despaired of ever being able to announce such a work. But some of our enterprising citizens refused to give up the subject, and by their persistent pushing of the matter, we are likely, before christmas arrives, to have one of the handsomest passenger depots in the South. The work is soon to commence.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24, 1876.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—Arrangements have been made with the following named lines for the transportation of delegates attending the Republican National Convention, to be held in Cincinnati, June 14, 1876:

From Louisville, by Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington and Ohio and Mississippi Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

From Chattanooga to Nashville, by the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, and from Nashville, Memphis, Decatur and Montgomery, to Cincinnati and return, by the Louisville and Great Southern Railroad—one full fare for the round trip.

From Mobile, by the Mobile and Montgomery, and Mobile and Ohio Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

Respectfully,
W. B. SHATTUC,
Corresponding Secretary, Chairman Committee on Entertainment.

THERE is a distinguished personage in Montgomery whom President Grant (the "old man") should not forget while he is making foreign appointments. If there is a postoffice abroad which needs a heel, we beg leave to suggest to the President that he cast his eye in this direction.

THE man who reports or exposes that which is spoken to him in confidence, is baser than the most depraved of scoundrels. He has not the principle of the most unprincipled vagrant; he is unworthy the respect of his own mother; is more poisonous than the scorpion, viler than the most vile of reptiles, and more dangerous than the midnight assassin. He would murder a helpless child to carry out an end, and would, at the midnight hour, steal the coppers from a dead man's eyes. He is a liar and scoundrel from the foundation of the earth, and a curse to the mother that brought him forth.

CHANCELLOR AUSTILL is one of the fairest judicial officers in Alabama. The proprietors of the JOURNAL owe him many thanks for his impartial and unprejudiced decree in the case recently instituted in his court in which we were defendants. By deception and fraud we were led into a business transaction in which, being entirely innocent of any purposes of wrong ourselves, we did not suspect any on the other side. But subsequent developments laid bare the monstrous imposition we were suffering. Chancellor Austill refused to put the imposition upon us, and we take advantage of this occasion to commend this impartial Judge to the confidence and esteem of the people of Alabama. It is our delight to defend and maintain such officers before the world.

REPUBLICAN citizens of Alabama can rely upon impartial justice being meted out to them before Chancellor Austill. He is a Judge above the petty resentments of these troublous times, and holds the scales with a firm and unwavering hand. We rejoice that such a man is clothed with judicial powers; and, although much fear has been aroused in the minds of Republican citizens that Democratic judges would always decide adversely to them, so far as Chancellor Austill is concerned we desire to remove this apprehension. We do not believe that this high-minded gentleman could be forced under any circumstances, to inflict injustice upon any citizen. Our sincere appreciation of his decision in the case in which we are concerned, prompts us to express publicly the high opinion we entertain of him as an officer.

THE telegraphic announcement yesterday morning of the changes in President Grant's Cabinet caused much surprise and speculation in this city. The appointments are all admitted to be among the best of President Grant's official career. Judge Pierrepont, who is named as Minister to England, is one of the ablest statesmen of the Republican party, and will reflect credit upon this Government at the Court of St. James. The nomination of Judge Taft for Attorney General is a most fitting appointment. His high legal attainments qualify him in the highest degree for this important office. The appointment of Don Cameron as Secretary of War will, we doubt not, prove to be one of Gen. Grant's most successful selections. They are all good men, and their prompt confirmation shows that the President met the popular judgment.

THE convention which meets at the Capitol to-day represents all the substantial elements of the Republican party of Alabama. Nine-tenths of the Republican voters of the State will be heard in this convention, through their regularly constituted representatives. We have with us the regular organization of the party—with all its precedents, the voice of 90,000 Republican voters and the sympathy and support of the National Republican organization. In view of these facts, and they are known to all Republicans, we appeal to our friends to come with us, forget the differences of the past, and assist us in rescuing Alabama from the prejudiced rulers who have bankrupted every interest in the commonwealth, destroyed the public spirit of our people and brought the fair name of the State into disrepute throughout the civilized world.

THE Philadelphia Day gives the following samples of extortionate charges by the gastronomic Molochs of the Centennial: For a small pot of coffee, bread and butter and cold ham for one person, $1.55; for two beefsteaks, with fried potatoes and bread and butter, $4.75; for three beefsteaks, with fried potatoes, bread and butter, and two and a half cups of coffee, $6.35.

THE WORK OF TO-DAY.

The convention which assembles at the Capitol to-day, is confronted with a task which permits of neither personal aggrandizement or the exercise of personal influences. The Republican party of Alabama finds itself sorely divided, its leaders arrayed against each other in personal quarrels, its one hundred thousand members in doubtful and disordered organization, and its representative men torn and distracted by internal feuds and private grievances. In the face of the many troubles which surround the party, there is a demand for the exercise of great caution, prudence and the wisest statesmanship. It is no time for the vindication of any individual member of the party at the cost of harmony and party concord. We repeat that, in the midst of the ills which now afflict us, we must not permit any personal considerations—any personal interests—to influence us in dealing with the serious questions of party division and discord. We owe to the Republican party of the Nation a duty which we can not shirk without danger, and which we cannot fail to discharge without disaster. That duty is to make every reasonable effort in our power to compromise the troubles which have grown out of the differences among our leading men. No matter what efforts we may have heretofore made, nor what the result of those efforts, when we come together in State convention to-day, we must exercise the spirit of charity and concord, and throw wide open the doors of the party, for the return of every erring brother. All men are subject to error, and it is only when reason is left free to combat it, that error ceases to be dangerous. We do not believe that William H. Smith, Samuel F. Rice, Thos. M. Peters and their followers desire the triumph of Bourbon Democracy in Alabama. Nevertheless it is plain that if they persist in their course of discord, they will be responsible to the outraged tax-paying people of this State, for the success of the Democratic party. They must see that only a small portion of the Republican people of the State are with them, and that it is useless to continue in their policy of disruption. We put it to them as reasonable and patriotic citizens, if they sincerely desire the triumph of the Republican party in Alabama, they must unite with the great mass of their fellow Republicans in support of the regular organization of the party. Therefore, we submit that the convention of to-day, should make every reasonable effort to unite the party upon a basis of mutual confidence and mutual regard. While we represent the regular organization of the Republican party of Alabama, and while our convention represents the great mass of our voters, we do not desire to go into a contest with any portion of our own household arrayed against us; but we cherish the hope that the friends who have felt that it was their duty to sever their allegiance to the party, may reconsider their determination and come back to the fold. In the spirit of party peace we appeal to our friends to make haste and heal up their differences, that we may enter upon the campaign now before us with closed ranks and determined purpose. Let the good work move forward!

WE desire to inform the correspondent of the Louisville Commercial, L. P. M., that Senator Spencer has never endeavored to control the Federal officers in Alabama in his personal or private interests. All that he or any other Republican demands, is that these Federal officers do not use their positions for the disruption of the party, or for the purpose of taking care of its enemies. The Democratic House of Representatives is daily furnishing us an example of party loyalty, as relates to official spoils, which we cannot be so blind as to disregard.

WE have received a letter from Geo. L. Bazby, Esq., Secretary of the Philadelphia Board of Trade, dated May, 18, 1876, in which he says:

The Philadelphia Board of Trade having made the necessary inquiries of the leading hotels of the city, has instructed its Secretary to deny the reports that have been in circulation of exhorbitant charges said to be exacted by Hotel proprietors from visitors to the Centennial Exposition. There has been no increase in our hotel charges, and there will be none. Accommodations are amply provided at rates to suit every one who may visit our city.

WHAT becomes of the Bourbon cry that President Grant would re-appoint Gen. Schenck as minister to England, when the latter should be "whitewashed by a committee?" Is there anything which President Grant can do to win the admiration of the defective press? If so, let us know what it is.

WE have just received a letter from the Chairman of the Republican County Executive Committee of DeKalb county, giving us the information of the recent election of delegates to the regular State Convention, which assembles in this city to-day.

CHOCTAW county Republicans will be represented in the regular Convention of the party to-day. The Republicans of that county indorse Gen. Grant's administration, and return thanks to Senator Spencer for his services in the Senate in behalf of Republicanism. Choctaw stands on the right track.

JUDGE PIERREPONT will uphold the honor and dignity of the American name at the court of St. James, and will compel the haughty Britons to respect American intellect.

IT is stated, apparently on authority, that Gov. Hendricks has definitely withdrawn from the race for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. His chances were swamped by the Indianapolis water works.

DON CAMERON will make a first class war minister.

MR. MOULTON SPEAKS.

Judge Moulton, of St Louis, a brother of Mr. J. J. Moulton, of Mobile, and formerly Mayor of the latter city, has recently written a letter to some person in Washington, in which he makes the following statements:

"I have recently suffered to the extent of $20,000 as security of my brother, who formerly held this office (the Mobile Postoffice) At least $10,000 of this sum was used to secure the re-election of Senator Spencer—so at least I was informed by my brother at the time of his failure. This experience gave me a keen appreciation of official corruption as well as of official faithfulness."

It is a great pity that Judge Moulton did not face Senator Spencer before the Senate Committee on privileges and elections, and assert that which he now writes. He had every opportunity which a reasonable man could ask to give testimony; but he waits until the Senate Committee had closed the testimony and prepared an unanimous report exonerating Senator Spencer, from every imputation of corruption in the matter of his re-election, and now comes forward with an assertion which Senator Spencer has no direct means of disproving. Why dit Judge Moulton do this? We think the reason is very plain. Instead of $20,000 being used in securing the re-election of Senator Spencer, was it not used to re-elect Judge Moulton as Mayor of Mobile? Does not Judge Moulton know that every dollar of this money was spent to secure his re-election to the Mayoralty of Mobile? Does not Judge Moulton have also a "keen appreciation" of the fact that the Democrats of Mobile charged him with resorting to all manner of corruption in the Mayor's election, in which he figured on the Republican side? It has been charged by the opponents of Judge Moulton that he used money very freely in attempting to secure his re-election as Mayor; and that he was assisted by the Postoffice—his brother being Postmaster.

We do not pretend to say that Judge Moulton used his brother's money—or rather public money in the hands of his brother—but it is fair to presume that, as his brother denies, publicly, having used this Postoffice money in Senator Spencer's interest, and has not denied using it in trying to secure Judge Moulton's re-election, that Senator Spencer is free from taint and stands untarnished. The unanimous report of the Senate Committee, of Republicans and Democrats, in Senator Spencer's favor, cannot be lessened by anything Judge Motlon may say, so long as he rests under a cloud himself. He must first clear himself of every doubt, before he can raise any question against Senator Spencer.

We hope that the opponents of Senator Spencer will now have the courage and the honesty to do him justice, which the unanimous report of the Senate Committee entitles him—the position of an upright and honest public servant. He has disproved every allegation of fraud and corruption in the matter of his re-election to the Senate, and stands unimpeached before the country. It is too late now for any more charges or vague assertions. Every opponent of the Senator had a fair opportunity to prefer charges and sustain them, and the people of Alabama, and of the country, will not believe that he has been guilty, since no proof has been established, but every charge fully disproved and overthrown.

DEATH OF MISS JULIA MATTHEWS.

A dispatch from St. Louis announces the death of Miss Julia Mathews, at the Mullanphy Hospital in that city, on Friday last, of rheumatism and malarial fever. Miss Matthews was born in London, in 1843, and at a very early age went to Australia. When quite young she made her debut at Sydney, and was received by the public with considerable favor. She continued on the stage, playing in the principal towns and cities, until 1868, when she returned to England, and made her appearance as the Grand Duchess at Covent Garden Theatre, being the first to sing the role in English. She met with continued success in opera bouffe, and remained in London until the Summer of 1875 when she entered into an engagement to sing in burlesque paris in this country. Her first appearance here was at Wallack's Theatre in August last; but owing to improper management the enterprise was not a success, financially or otherwise. It was while performing at Wallack's that she was first attacked with acute inflammatory rheumatism, and from which she suffered considerably. Subsequently she appeared in Brooklyn and in Philadelphia; but meeting with little encouragement, she returned to this city, and was for a short time at the Eagle Theatre. In January she organized a small traveling troupe, with which she has since been singing with varied success in the East and Southwest. Miss Matthews was taken sick at Chicago in March last, but continued on the stage, and after leaving there sang at New-Orleans and Memphis. She arrived in St. Louis three weeks ago, but her illness increasing she was forced to give up, and was removed to the hospital. The deceased was married while in Australia, and leaves four children, an aged mother, and an elder sister living in London, all of whom are said to be in destitute circumstances.

THE Pittsburgh Commercial says: "An Alabama Ku-eating editor at Tuskaloosa, calls Carl Schurz a 'wretched krout-eating Dutchman.' Whereupon the Montgomery STATE JOURNAL rejoins that when Carl Schurz was delivering speeches in the Senate, denouncing Grant's administration, he was eulogized by the Tuskaloosa paper as 'the great orator and accomplished statesman,' without reference to sauer-krout. We think, all things considered, the sauer krout has been subjected to gross injustice, and should be served up more appropriately by the Alabama editors."

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

We desire to know if the gentlemen constituting what is known as the re-organized committee of Republicans indorse the character of the publications embraced in a sheet called the Alabama Republican? We direct this question to all, or any one, of the said committee, and the columns of the JOURNAL are open to them to respond. This is a question which we desire settled at once, and we hereby extend the opportunity to any member of the committee under whose direction the sheet above alluded to pretends to be issued, to state plainly and briefly, whether or not its publication bears their individual or official indorsement?

FITZHUGH'S LETTER.

Several calls have been made upon us for a copy of the now celebrated letter, which promises to be the cause of the removal of Doorkeeper Fitzhugh from his office. We reproduce it verbatim from the Congressional Record:

D. C., Decr. 15, 1875

DEAR—: I have been trying ever since my election to write to you, but have been besieged from light in the morning a til one or two at night. I had about one hundred & thirty appointments to make, & have had I recon without exageration three thousand applications besides men, women & children, pulling and jerking me every time I would put my head out of the door of my office. I have had to keep two ushers & two or three clerks ever since the hour of my election in my office, & it is now five o'clock in the morning that I have gotten up to write to you. In regard to—I tried to save a place for him but the members are so clamorous for their constituents that so far it has been impossible to do so, my force after christmas will be increased and then I will be able to do something for him & I will stick him in. Fay (Fitzhugh's son) arrived on Saturday morning all safe. I set him to work on Monday at $2,100 place & he is the most delighted fellow you ever saw. I wish you could be here with me do try & come on, the Govnt furnishes me with a fine turnout & spanking pair of Horses & before & after the house sessions & recess I have exclusive use of them, my concubina comes down every morning for us, that is Fay & myself, and after driving around to my breakfast take me to my office, come on & I will give you a ——— a good time. Congress is invited over to the Centennial on friday, we will have a big time—come back on Sunday, I may draw on you for one hundred & twenty-five dollars to-morrow which you can draw back for on the 1st of Jan. I got your telegram telling me to draw for two hundred if needed, but tried to do without any, & may not have to draw to morrow, but all our members are like myself tight up on first mo & I hate to ask them. J W come on christmas for a few days & we will have a glorious time. I have more invitations to frolicks with the members & Senators than any man in Washington. I am a bigger man now with the members than old Grant. I cannot put my foot on the door of the Hall but that they make a break for me & sometimes a dozen begging at me at once for places for some friend. I scarcely ever git out of the Office to go on the door of the House. I have under me the Folding rooms, Document rooms, File rooms, all committee rooms all employees in the South wing of capital. I have a Supt and assistant in each department and about a dozen book-keepers besides my Office clerk, & we do things up in style. I have a boy to take my hat & coat or I can't turn around without some one at my beck & call, & when I get all my new appointments broken in I shall have a nice time. * * I am making up a party already to come on to Texas on the adjournment, S. S. Cox to head it, he is the warmest friend of mine you ever saw, also the New Speaker Mr. Kerr. Fay & myself spent the evening with Mr. Kerr last eveng & * * —quite a contrast here & Austin. I can't turn for friends here. I have now fifty letters from my Southern friends, all parts of the South congratulating me, thus wags the world, let a man be prosperous & every man is his friend, must close tell ——— I will look out for him & if I cannot make a place myself I can get him in some of the Departments after Christmas, write soon to Your Devoted Friend L. A. FITZHUGH.

THE FITZHUGH LETTER—WHO FURNISHED IT FOR PUBLICATION?

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Fitzhugh letter was furnished for publication by Hugh Chancey, of Sherman, Texas, who is a partner of Maddox, to whom the letter was addressed. Maddox, in his letter to Chancey, authorizing the publication, says he lent Fitzhugh money to go to Washington and he went back on him. Mr. Banks is determined to have Fitzhugh removed, but Mr. Blaine does not press it. The Committee on Rules stand two to two, with Mr. Kerr absent.

THE National Greenback Convention has met, promulgated, nominated and adjourned. The movement has awakened very little attention in the Middle and Eastern States, either among the politicans or the laboring men. The nominee for President, Peter Cooper, is a good man, a pure man, a philanthropist, a large public benefactor. But he is old; indeed, he is absolutely in his second childhood. The nominee for the second place, Newton Booth, some time ago conceived himself to be the coming man. He has lately become the going one, and this will finish him.

THE Portland Oregonian makes the gratifying announcement that the Republicans of that State are once more harmoniously united on principle. That paper says:

It is cause of congratulation that the Republican party in this State have arrived at the conclusion that it is better policy to act in accordance with the traditional sentiments of the party than to wallow in the mire of corrupt bargains in the interest of a few politicians. In union there is strength, and it will be well never again to forget that there is union only in fair dealing and adherence to principle.

JUDGE TAFT will carry into the department of justice a full intellectual equipment for the discharge of his duties as Attorney General.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—It is the desire of the President that the new Minister to England should be at his post at as early a day as possible, and it is not unlikely that Mr. Pierrepont will carry with him the reply of Secretary Fish to Early Derby's last vote on the Winslow extradition case.

The administration has no expectation but what the extradition clause of the Asburton treaty will be lost by the release of Winslow, and other criminals now in England, as it is desirable on the part of the government that a new treaty should be negotiated and ratified before the adjournment of the United States Senate and the British Parliament.

It is expected that Mr. Pierrepont will sail within a very short time. It can be stated that the English mission was offered to Pierrepont very soon after the Senate rejected the nomination of Dana, and that Mr. Pierrepont signified his willingness to act, but nothing further passed between the President and Mr. Pierrepont on the subject, and the latter was not aware that his name would be sent to the Senate yesterday.

As soon as Mr. Cameron comes to Washington and assumes charge of the War Department Judge Taft will move over to the Department of Justice.

It is not thought that Mr. Pierrepont will wait for this change to take place before starting on his mission to England.

General O. O. Howard says he did not serve as a trustee of the Freedman's Bank as charged in the report of the Congressional committee appointed to investigate the affairs of that institution.

The sub committee of the House committee on elections consisting of Messrs. Harris, Thompson and Wells, have decided to report in favor of Congressman Rainey retaining his seat.

The Hon. Geo. H. Baker, Minister Plenipotentiary to Russia, sailed from Liverpool Saturday on steamer Russia for New York.

Mr. Baker who represents our government as acceptably in St. Petersburg as formerly in Constantinople, returns home on leave of absence on a short Centennial visit.

Sir Edmund Thornton, British Minister at Washington, who has acted as President of the United States and Mexican Commission, having formerly declined to receive a compensation for his services, Secretary Fish suggests by the consent of the U. S. and British governments some fitting testimonial be given him, and the commission will take action toward carrying out the suggestion.

Rumor gained general circulation this evening that Secretary Bristow had regained the portfolio of the Treasury Department.

At 3:15 o'clock the Secretary was closeted with the President at a Cabinet meeting. Assistant Secretary Conant says the story of Mr. B's. resignation is the sheerest nonsense, and totally unfounded.

Senate.

Mr. Merrimon submitted a resolution instructing the committee on library to inquire into the expediency of collecting and printing the resolutions and acts of the Continental and Confederate Congresses. He said he had found on examination that many of these acts and resolutions had never been printed. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Clayton was, at his own request, excused from service as a member of the board of visitors to West Point.

The Senate then proceeded, with closed doors, to the consideration of the articles of impeachment against W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War.

House.

Immediately after the reading of the journal the House went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill—Mr. Clymer in the chair. The pending question was in relation to the abandonment of certain navy yards and the retention of others.

Mr. Lewis advocated his amendment and other amendments were offered looking to the retention of yards now in use for general purposes.

Mr. Blount, of Georgia, replying to various speeches, said that it was natural that gentlemen should speak for their own yards, but this was a matter of economy which was demanded by the people.

Mr. Danford, of Ohio, moved to amend by adding after the word Georgia, the words "or any other point on the coast of Georgia or South Carolina." Adopted.

Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, offered as a substitute for all pending propositions, an amendment providing $85,000 for the establishment of several navy yards and directing the Secretary of the Navy to appoint a naval board of five officers to examine and determine if, in their opinion, any of the navy yards can be dispensed with, and also to inquire into the expediency and propriety of establishing a naval rendezvous at Tybee Island or at Cockspur Island, Georgia, and that said board report through the Secretary of the Navy at the next session of Congress.

Mr. Whitehorn, of Tennessee, moved to modify the substitute by providing that the highest officers of the navy shall be members of the commission. Adopted.

The committee then rose, and the bill, as amended, was reported to the House, and passed.

Mr. Plaisted, of Maine, was appointed a member of the committee on enrolled bills vice Mr. Darrell, declined. Mr. Woodburn, of Nevada, member of select committee on Louisiana affairs, vice Haskins, of New York, declined.

The committee on Louisiana affairs was authorized to take testimony by a vote of the committee, and to administer oaths.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the Indian appropriation bill; Mr. Springer in the chair. In the general debate Mr. Ward of New York made a speech on the distribution of the Geneva award. The first clause of the bill was read, after which the committee rose, and the House at 4:55 o'clock adjourned.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 23.—A convention of representatives of all Jewish congregations of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago and other cities, will be held here to-morrow, to discuss the advisability of establishing an independent college for dissemination of all branches of the Hebrew language.

The Herald's Washington special says the case of Secretary Robeson has been much discussed. The attempt of Robeson's friends to lay all the blame of the Cattelle plunder on the bureau officers in the navy department excited much indignation. It is said the committee is satisfied that Cattelle's gains were not less than $500,000. There was a report last night of new discoveries which will cause the impeachment of Robeson unless he resigns.

The Times' Washington special says the friends of Senator Angus Cameron, of Wisconsin, will present his name to the Cincinnati convention for Vice President. They claim to have the assurance of support from Wisconsin, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and Michigan.

The Herald considers the appointments made by the President yesterday as the most important event which has yet occurred in connection with the Presidential campaign. It is a command from headquarters to combine the scattered Republican columns and put them in compact array for the coming battle. It is interpreted as a movement in favor of Conkling, but is rather a movement toward party discipline and efficiency, but every one of these new appointments will contribute to the success of Conkling's canvass.

The Herald's Washington special says the nomination of Don Cameron as Secretary of War is regarded there as an arrangement to secure Pennsylvania in favor of Conkling. The President in conversation, is understood to have indicated his preference for McCreary, of Iowa, and Senator Alcorn, of Mississippi, in connection with the Vice Presidency, the probabilities being that he would cast his influence in favor of the latter.

The plan of the campaign is to secure to Conkling at the opening of the Cincinnati convention the votes of New York, Pennsylvania and all Southern States; the expectation is to secure all except Kentucky and Delaware.

The Post's Washington special says Blaine sent a letter to the judiciary committee to-day saying he will be well enough to attend the meeting of the committee to-morrow, and if not the investigation can proceed without him.

NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, May 23.—At noon the Democratic State Convention for the election of four Senatorial and fourteen District delegates to the Presidential convention at St. Louis, June 27th, met at the opera house in this city. The convention is largely attended, there being nearly one thousand delegates present, besides a large gathering of spectators. At 12 o'clock Mr. A. M. Reynolds, chairman of the State Executive Committee, called the convention to order by nominating Hon. Leon Abbott, as temporary President. R. B. Shacknorton, Thos. G. Beiell, Joseph L. Narr were made temporary Secretaries. On taking the chair Mr. Abbott made a telling speech which was received with applause.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, May 23.—The golden jubilee of Archbishop Purcell has attracted a great number of dignitaries of the Catholic Church from all parts of the country. The proceedings to-day created great interest. A delegation from the Catholic congregations of Cincinnati, went to the Archbishop's residence and received the Most Reverend Archbishop and other bishops and clergy, and proceeded to the Cathedral where Pontificial High Mass was sung. A banquet will be given at the Grand Hotel, when a formal address will be presented to the Archbishop. The latter will reply in English and Archbishop Henri, of Milwaukee, will speak in German.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 23.—The return ordered in the case of Winslow on the 23d inst., expired to-day, and the case came up again this morning in chambers. After a brief hearing the prisoner was further remanded for eight days. There is a possibility of the case being argued before the full court of the Queen's bench Winslow and Gray both express the hope that they will be released, but the opinion in legal circles is that they will be turned over to the United States authorities.

THE GREAT EXHIBITION.

The art exhibit at the Centennial comprises about the finest and most extensive temporary collection of paintings the world has ever produced. When the plans for Memorial Hall were made, due reference was had to the expectation of a very large exhibit. The immense number of applications, however, which poured into the hands of the Art Bureau, were never dreamed of, and so early as last November the necessity for the erection of a secondary building became apparent. The annex was built of such a size as to offer nearly an equal amount of wall space with the main building, and still before the end of winter there was another famine for space, and a special building for photographs had to be constructed.

The amount of wall space now available for the display of paintings is 75,000 square feet in Memorial Hall, and that in the annex 60,000, all of which is occupied. The entire number of exhibitors in the Art Department is 1916, most of whom exhibit more than one picture, some of them as many as eight or ten. Of these 599 are American, 256 British, 80 from Canada, 378 from France, 48 from Germany, 117 from the Netherlands, 115 from Denmark, 95 from sweden, 47 from Norway, 80 from Italy, 66 from Mexico, 19 from brazil, 44 from the Argentine Republic, and a loan collection from 70 artists.

In the Photographic exhibition building there are 194 exhibits of photographs, all by American artists. Those countries whose art exhibit is very small, display the same in their respective sections in the Main Exhibition Building.

A general oversight of the entire art exhibit will convince any one not biased, of the superiority of the American display. America, while it has the most extensive display, stands in no wise behind the older continental countries in the excellency of its art productions. We do not mean to claim for America the palm; this would be a most conceited assumption. We merely take a pride in the delightful discovery that America, which has so long been reproached with infancy among the art circles of Europe, can hold its head erect beside her elder sisters, without the blush of bashful modesty on her youthful cheek. She is every way as accomplished, as refined and as ideal as France, Italy or England.

We append a few criticisms of American pictures, intending to follow them in future issues by those of other nations.

Domer Lake from the Western summit of the Sierras, by Thomas Hill, of San Francisco, Cal., (No. 213, a,) is one of the most striking of landscape pictures. The lake is situated just left of the centre, and, reflecting the bright and variegated evening sky while it itself is surrounded by dark green pine forests, over which the soft dusk of early evening has already spread her shadowy wings, it forms a conspicuous and exceedingly attractive object in the landscape. The foreground is occupied by a lovely green-fringed valley, dressed in harvest brown. In the distance to the right is the snow-capped Sierra, running along the horizon, the sun still glistening against its shining pinnacles, while a softly shaded cloud rolls over the peaks in the extreme distance. There is nothing flashy or gaudy about this picture. All is calm and subdued, and softened in the hues of twilight and autumn.

Directly opposite this hangs another conspicuous painting, "Adreadne." This is a work of wonderful execution. It represents its subject in an attitude of leisurely repose, lying on the green. The artist has vested his creation with all the delicate beauty and grace of life. In full view of such a picture as this the squeamish fastidiousness of certain pretended art judges sinks into mere ridiculous quibbling. Talk what you will about the delicacy of representing the nude figure, there is no topic in all the wide sweep of art so grand, so sublime, as the imitation of a beautiful human figure in a graceful attitude. There is nothing so beautiful in all the domain of still and animal nature as the being created in the image of the Creator. All true art recognizes this principle; and since the very dawn of art—either graphic or plastic—in the mythical antiquity of ancient Greece, this has been the main line of development, and the central ambition of its devotees.

To the right of this picture hangs a very quaint but superb painting, "Yankee Doodle." It contains the life size portraits of three Continental soldiers, one a silver haired old man, the other two yet in their prime. The trio are marching through the thick of a battle going on all round them, regardless of the danger, with an air of triumph on their brows, one swinging the American flag to the breeze, the others armed with fife and drum, on which they are producing the tune that gives its title to the painting. In the grey distance, half secluded by clouds of smoke follow their comrades, elated and inspired by the sounds of the old familiar air.

Edmund Lewis' picture of Fairmount Park, with a view of the Centennial Buildings, hangs in proximity to this, and attracts considerable attention, more on account of the associations of its subject, however, than by reason of its quality.

"Lemuel Gulliver in Lilliput,', by Mr. Waterman, of Providence, R. I., is a sweet conceit, and is worth whole days of study.

In pursuance to a resolution adopted this day by the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, a Convention of the Republican party of the State will be held at Montgomery, Alabama, at 12 o'clock M., on the 24th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following State offices: Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, and Attorney General, to be voted for at the election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1876, being August 8th, 1876.

Also, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Cincinnati on the fourteenth (14th) day of June, 1876. In consequence of the change of Congressional Districts caused by the new apportionment, and the fact that many of said Districts have no organizations perfected it was resolved that the delegates to the State Convention from the several counties composing the respective districts should, while attending the Convention, select two delegates for each of their Districts, to attend said National Convention, and that the State Convention should select four delegates to represent the State at large in said Convention.

It was further resolved, that each county should be entitled to double the number of delegates in the State Convention that it has Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly and counties having no Representatives in the General Assembly should be entitled to two (2) delegates each.

The counties, under this apportionment, will be entitled to the following number of delegates, viz:

The Republicans throughout the State are respectfully requested to hold their county conventions in due time for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, in accordance with the foregoing apportionment. CHAS. E. MAYER,
Chairman Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.
C. C. SHEATS, Secretary pro tem.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from the Editor of a newspaper published in the county or city for which an agency is solicited, before such application will be considered. Each letter must contain information, which in no case can afford to be withheld, on how long the applicant has resided in the county, and give to such Editor the first reference. Such letter will not be considered unless the writer is known personally or by correspondence to the Editor. Address, with reference, JAMES PETTIT, Publisher, Fredonia, N. Y.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be commenced to be sent free, containing agency and terms for canvassing, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and intentions of the company. Such advertisement will count no one cent upon agent as long as agency is encouraged and established.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan of issuing its bonds in the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is guaranteed to be returned at maturity, and a chance for a big prize given, such investment at 20 is sure to return to the investor $1 for every one cent that cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium of either $500, $1,000, $2,000, $5,000, $10,000, $20,000, $50,000 or $100,000. The first cost, which is a dollar, will furnish all the bonds the purchaser can sell in his locality, limited by number of bonds issued. The purchaser of a bond shows for with receives his certificate, and the small rate of interest added, and the responsibility of taking this small rate of interest, the bonds bearing no interest, the premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole sum.

Each Bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purpose of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when it views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the true industry energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of the enterprise. For the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

LOVE UNEXPRESSED.

The sweetest notes among the human heartstrings
Are dull with rust;
The sweetest chords adjusted by the angels
Are clogged with dust;
We pipe and pipe again our dreamy music
Upon the self-same strains,
While sounds of crime and fear and desolation
Come back in sad refrains.

On through the world we go, an army marching
With listening ears,
Each hoping, singing for the heavenly music
The unseen hears;
Each longing, sighing for a word of comfort—
A word of tender praise—
To cheer the endless journey
Of earth's hard, busy days.

They love us and we know it; this suffices
For common charity;
Why should they pain us to give that love expression
With confidence?
Why should they pretend? But still our hearts are
With the gnawing pain
Of hungry love that longs to hear the music
And longs and longs in vain.

We love them, and they know it; if we falter,
Among the mocking instruments
We shrink within ourselves in voiceless sorrow,
Leaving the world unheeded.
And still we love the dearest,
In silence we treat.

Thus on we travel, and thus each heart in silence
Waiting and hoping for the heavenly music
Beyond the river of life,
The only language of love is heaven
From love on earth below
Is, here we know and know, but how to tell it,
And there we all shall know.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 100 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it was wet down and run together. Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or it it is improper by handled, the farm maker little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered A Farmer's Business Paper.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24, 1876.

LOVE UNEXPRESSED.

The sweetest notes among the human heartstrings
Are dull with rust;
The sweetest chords adjusted by the angels
Are clogged with dust;
We hope and pine again our dreamy music
Upon the self-same strains,
While sounds of crime and fear and desolation
Come back in sad refrains.

On through the world we go, an army marching
With lagging feet,
Each longing, singing for the heavenly music
He never hears;
Each longing, sighing for a word of comfort—
A word of cooler cheer—
A word of hope to cheer the endless journey
Of earth's hurt, busy days.

They love us, and we know it; this suffices
For reasons share;
Why should they pause to give that love expression
While we all are?
Why should all they pause? But still our hearts are aching
With the gnawing pain
Of hungry love that longs to hear the music
And longs and longs in vain.

We love them, and they know it; if we falter,
With fingers numb,
Among the musical strings of love's expression,
Fine-touched and dumb;
We shrink with them, and with them voiceless sorrow,
Feeling how we do unsteal,
And side by side with those we love the dearest,
In silence, we kneel.

Thus on we tread, and thus each heart in silence
Its cross in life—
Waiting and hoping for the heavenly music
Beyond the dark of life;
The only language of the angels in heaven
From love on earth below
Is, here we love and know, but how to tell it,
And show and show.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 100 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us: the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called it all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours; and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24 1876.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

MONTGOMERY, May 15, 1876.

On and after this date, no liabilities contracted on account of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL, without a written order from T. C. Bingham & Co., countersigned by T. C. Bingham will be paid by us. T. C. BINGHAM & CO.,

dtf. Proprietors.

OH! for a narrow guage railroad.

THE brass band is rapidly improving.

THE Circuit Court is moving forward in the discharge of business.

No business of importance was transacted in the courts yesterday.

COL. CHAS. E. MAYER, United States District Attorney, reached the city last night, and is registered at the Exchange.

THE absence of many citizens at the Catholic picnic yesterday was apparent to all who noticed the appearance of the streets.

MARSHAL TURNER'S office is one of the coolest places in the city, and he keeps plenty of good ice water for his friends all the time.

SOME of our citizens are discussing the propriety of having a first class barbacue on the 4th of July. We hope that they will succeed in the movement.

WE undeastand that the hail of Monday afternoon was very heavy in some portions of this county. Several glass windows were shattered in the city by the hail that fell here.

AN assignee has been elected to take charge of the assetts of Powell, Prickett & Co. Mr. E. A. Graham was chosen as such assignee, and the settlement of the estate will commence at once.

THE Cicernoian Society, we are glad to learn, is constantly increasing in membership, and growing in importance. Its members are all young men of good character and intellectual attainments.

PERSONAL.—We received pop calls last night from Messrs. P. D. Barker, H. Cochran and E. Morris, of Dallas; George E. Harris, —— White and —— Jones, of Hale; P. Watt Lanier and —— Scott, of Lee; T. W. Youngblood and H. C. McCall of Bullock. All delegates to the State Convention.

IN referring to the improvement of Capitol Square we should have stated that Mr. Rice is simply superintending the work for Mr. H. C. Semple who has charge of the grounds. Both of these gentlemen are public spirited citizens, and are deeply interested in the subject of beautifying and adorning our city.

THE tax collector of Montgomery county, Pat. Robinson, Esq., has settled his accounts with the Auditor for State taxes, for the past year, amounting to nearly $92,000, in cash, lands purchased, etc. This is a first class showing for a Republican county. What Democratic county of like proportions can make such a showing as this?

WOULD it not be a good thing to have a sanitary commission established in Montgomery, whose duty it should be to look after the health of the city, to be clothed with the power to declare and maintain quarantine &c? We observe that several of our sister cities have provided for commissions of this character, and entrusted to them the entire control and direction of sanitary measures.

MONTGOMERY has the most liberal and public spirited merchants of any city in the South. No appeal has ever been made to our business men in behalf of any public enterprise in vain. These appeals are made so often that many of our merchants have not been able to respond as liberally as they have desired to do. But they intend to see that our State fair succeeds. With an enterprising man like David Clopton at its head, no one need fear that there will be any failure. We all appreciate the fact that our State fair must be a success at all hazards.

LITTLE children who play about in old fields should be on the lookout for snakes. We learn that the little son of one of our citizens was bitten by a rattlesnake, on Sunday, near the outskirts of the city. After running nearly a quarter of a mile to his home, after being bitten, the little boy fainted, and his life was despaired of during the night, but he was better yesterday, and his recovery is eagerly expected. Parents who read these lines, should not forget to warn their children of the danger of playing about the old fields on the outskirts of the city.

GEORGE, my darling George, promise me one thing," said a young Montgomery bride of a month, as she threw her arms around her husband's neck, and gazed anxiously into his face. "What is it, precious?" he asked, as he drew her to his bosom. "Promise me George dear, that you will not become a Presidential candidate." "Why, my darling, that is asking a good deal," he replied, and his countenance darkened. "There are Jones, Smith, and Brown, and, in fact, all the best people—they are candidates. You want me to be somebody, don't you?" "Yes, yes, George, I do, I do," said the young wife, bursting into tears; "but all the newspapers will tell how big my feet are, and you know that folks never think that anybody's feet may be good shaped if they are large."

FUNERAL NOTICE.—The friends and acquaintances of Rev. B E. Jacobs and family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rebecca Isaacs, mother of Mrs. Rev. B. E Jacobs, from their residence on Wilkinson street, between Montgomery and Bibb sts., at 5 o'clock, p. m. to-day.

WE were much pleased to learn yesterday, that our enterprising fellow citizen, Mr. Geo. B. Holmes, who has been confined to his home for some time by a painful illness, is able to be out again. His numerous friends will be glad to grasp him by the hand again.

THE CATHOLIC PIC-NIC.

A THOUSAND PEOPLE PRESENT.

Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock a train of nine or ten crowded passenger cars left Montgomery for Whitehall, the prettiest place in Alabama for pic-nicing. There was very little delay on the route and nothing happened worthy of note. About half past nine o'clock the train reached its destination, and the large crowd, probably a thousand persons, proceeded to the grounds, and were soon engaged in the various amusements of the day, such as dancing, shooting, swinging, promenading, courting, etc. A string band, composed of five colored musicians, headed by "Louis," were on hand, and before "business" commenced Louis made a little speech to those ready for the gay dance, as follows: "Gentlemen and ladies you must not axe me to play round Waltzes, fur Father Savage won't 'low it," and sure enough nothing but square dances were indulged in. About one o'clock dinner was announced, and no one was without an invitation, and there was not only plenty to eat but there was plenty to drink, in the way of wines, lager beer, lemonade and something stronger. Target practice was kept up during the day. A beautiful gold headed cane, valued at ten dollars, was made up and shot for, and won by Father Coleman, by a centre shot, No. 12. A very fine and handsome silver butter dish was raffled for and won by Miss Thorpe, of Pensacola. The day passed off very pleasantly, with nothing to mar the occasion, except a few little skirmishes by some fellows overburdened with whisky. Nobody was seriously hurt and it was fortunate these disturbances occurred outside of the ball-room. We regret to have to mention such matters in this kind of notice, and have refused to do so on previous occasions, but we think it a shame that the good citizens of Montgomery cannot have a picnic without a set of rowdies and drunkards being on hand to disturb the pleasures of the day. The same kind of disturbances happened at the Mechanics' picnic, and we thought it best not to mention them, but if they are to be kept up we will hereafter give particulars and names. The train arrived in the city about dark with a tired but jolly crowd. The picnic was well and pleasantly conducted. Father Savage and the Sisters of Loretto were along and spent the day very pleasantly. No one from Selma attended.

THE DISAFFECTED REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

MR. EDITOR: I noticed some days since an article in the JOURNAL showing that there were but 85 persons present as delegates in the so-called convention of the 16th inst., and that Montgomery and Mobile cities furnished 44 of the delegates. It also showed that but 21 counties out of the 65 in the State were represented under any pretense whatever. Considering that there should be 212 delegates to make it a full convention, it certainly looks like a very small crowd to pretend to represent the Republican party of the State.

Upon a full examination of the list I find there were NINE other counties not represented by delegates who were either elected by the people, or who were citizens of those counties. In Lee, Russell, Randolph, Macon, Limestone, Marshal, Perry, Tallapoosa, and Coosa, there were no conventions held and no delegates appointed. The name of Sam Wiggs, of Marshall county, was suggested by a Democrat. Mr. S. Whatley, whose name appears for Coosa county, is a Democrat of this city. Take these nine counties out of the twenty-one claimed, and it leaves but TWELVE COUNTIES all told which were represented in any manner at the Convention of the 16th. Outside of Mobile, Montgomery and Dallas counties there is not a corporal's guard of Republicans in favor of the Convention of the 16th. REPUBLICAN.

"GIVE ME AN EASY SHAVE."—A man who had been nearly talked to death by loquacious barbers, went into one of our barber shops yesterday, which he had never patronized before, and handed one of the artists a card bearing the words: "Give me an easy shave." The barber motioned him to a chair, and then turning around, winked at his fellow laborers and said: "Here's a deaf and dumb 'un, boys. Wants an easy shave." "Well, if you gash him he can't talk back," replied one who was lolling in his chair, waiting for "next." "No, you bet he can't," returned the first. "An easy shave be blamed! Why, he's got bristles on him like a Texas boar, and his skin looks tougher than a canal mule's." The boys laughed, and the operator, who in the meantime, had lathered the man's face, indulged in further comments as he urged the razor over the facial territory before him. "What a nose that is," said he. "If he should sneeze, where would I be? Well, his cheek is harder than a razor-bone." "Do you want us to help hold his nose back, while you go over his lips, Johnny?" asked another of the idle razor-wielders. "Don't know but I will want a little help." "Be careful, and don't drop your razor down his ear, or you'll lose it," admonished another. "What a dirty head he's got," observed Johnny, as he ran his fingers through the man's hair. "I say, some of you fellows write a card, and ask him if he don't want a shampoo." The card was written and presented to the man, who shook his head, and the job being finished he arose from the chair. "It's all right boys," said he, as he laid down his fifteen cents. "I didn't mind your talk any. I could stand it first rate so long as you didn't say anything about base-ball, third-term, whisky frauds, Judge Peters, or 16th Convention." He then disappeared, and those barbers sat down and thought about him, as he turned the post-office corner.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—Arrangements have been made with the following named lines for the transportation of delegates attending the Republican National Convention, to be held in Cincinnati, June 14, 1876:

From Louisville, by Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington and Ohio and Mississippi Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

From Chattanooga to Nashville, by the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, and from Nashville, Memphis, Decatur and Montgomery, to Cincinnati and return, by the Louisville and Great Southern Railroad—one full fare for the round trip.

From Mobile, by the Mobile and Montgomery, and Mobile and Ohio Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

Respectfully,
W. B. SHATTUC,
Corresponding Secretary, Chairman Committee on Entertainment.

THE selection of Judge Heflin as permanent chairman of the Republican State Convention, is an evidence that the working men of the Republican party are to be put in the front. Judge Heflin is an old citizen of Randolph county, and stands very high among the good people of East Alabama.

BY reference to our dispatches, it will be seen that Doorkeeper Fitzhugh threatens to make some startling exposures, which will cause the disgrace of several Democratic Congressmen. Fitzhugh was removed because he wrote a letter to a friend on the "unanimous" style, and gave a description of the magnificent life he is leading in Washington. Now, he proposes to show that some of his Democratic friends in Congress have been guilty of corrupt practices to which he was a party. We hope that "Fitz" will stick to his determination. If he should fail now to make the exposures, the country would believe him to have been bought up by the Democratic members who committed the corrupt acts.

THOSE gentlemen who boasted so loudly that the Republican State Convention which assembled yesterday, would be composed of only a few Federal officeholders, are by this time satisfied that Gen. Spencer has a good many friends in Alabama. No convention that has assembled in Montgomery since the war, has comprised more representative men, and fewer politicians really, than the present Republican State Convention. Senator Spencer has the good will of ninety-nine out of every hundred Republicans in Alabama. His recent triumphant vindication from the unjust, and unfair charges of the Bourbon leaders, and a few disaffected Republicans, is a source of rejoicing to every true Republican in Alabama. He is the only representative we have in the United States Senate, and we intend to uphold him and stand by him. He is worthy of the esteem and confidence of the people of the State, and our friends in Washington are assured that the Republican party of Alabama indorses him, and appreciates his services in the National Congress.

THE New York Express, the straight-out and-out metropolitan Democratic organ, has come out in opposition to Governor Tilden for President. It declares that "New York has no claims for the nomination this year, and common courtesy toward the other States should prevent any being presented." The Governor's pretensions as a reformer are contemptuously set aside as being no better founded than those of other prominent Democrats.

THE Philadelphia Star says there is no difficulty now in getting board and lodgings in that city as cheaply to-day as at any period within five years. At the principal hotels prices have been reduced to the old figures, and experience has already taught those who expected to make fortunes by charging extortionate prices that they have been reckoning without their hosts, and that they will rightfully be disappointed.

COUNT ANDRASSY is evidently well pleased with his project of reform for Turkey and sanguine of its success. Like all inventors he is so gratfied with the promising appearance of his plan that he does not see its almost insuperable difficulties. The Porte, the imperial Powers and the rayahs may like the glittering look of the project in the Count's handwriting, but the length of the gap between it and fulfilment is so great that we cannot altogether share his enthusiastic assurance of the continued peace of Europe. Probably it is from viewing the project in this light, as well as the dislike of playing a second fiddle in the Eastern question, that holds back England's assent to the project.

THE Jews of Spain have just presented a memorial to King Alfonso, praying for the revocation of the edict by which, in 1462, the members of their race, to the number of 200,000, were driven forth from the country. Their expulsion was not only an act of shameful cruelty and wrong, but it inflicted an injury on Spain from which she has never completely recovered, depriving her as it did of a multitude of her ablest and most useful citizens. And yet this decree of exclusion remains in force to the present hour. This is but one example of a policy which has been as shortsighted as it has been inhuman, inspired by a cowardly terror of any approach to freedom of opinion.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The President informed a friend yesterday that on the expiration of his term of office he intends to make a tour of the world.

THE REPUBLICAN OUTPOURING.

The State Convention of the Republicans of Alabama, which assembled at the capitol yesterday, is one of the largest bodies of the character which has convened in Alabama since 1867. It is a substantial, representative body of citizens, from every profession, interest and section of the commonwealth. There are farmers, merchants, lawyers, physicians, laborers, journalists, and in truth, representative men of all the various business occupations and professions. There are men who have heretofore been content to see others do all the preluminary work of campaigns, while they have simply cast their votes on the day of election. There are men who have never before taken any interest in the Republican party, who have become convinced that the only hope for the future prosperity of Alabama is in placing the State en rapport—in entire accord—with the progressive and advancing spirit of Republicanism, as exemplified in the unparalleled achievements of the Nation under Republican rule. There are men who have in the past sympathised with the Republican party, and yet have taken no part in its career. All these citizens are in line to-day with the "old Guard," full of enthusiastic impulses in behalf of Republican success, and determined to do all in their power to overthrow the tyranny and misrule under which Alabama is going down to bankruptcy, dishonor and stagnation. The men who compose this convention are no seekers of office, or of political notoriety; they did not come here to exhibit themselves for the gratification of any personal interest or private gain; they do not fawn upon official power like the sycophants who hang on the outskirts of parties to catch whatever crumbs may drop, but they are the bone and sinew of this commonwealth—men who recognize the sorry plight in which Bourbon misrule has plunged this fair State, and they have gathered about the council boards of the Republican party to add their mite to the rescue of our noble old State from the ruin which is yawning on every hand, and which threatens destruction to us all.

We do not believe that any convention in past years in Alabama, has been more thoroughly representative of all the material and substantial interests of the State than that which assembled at the capitol yesterday. There are such men as George P. Plowman of Talladega, N. B. Mardis of Shelby, Alexander White of Dallas, W. W. D. Turner of Mobile, Philip King of Dale, R. S. Heflin of Randolph, J. Frank of Calhoun, J. C. Goodloe of Franklin, and many other good and patriotic citizens, property-holders and taxpayers of the State. Does any one believe that these citizens would bring harm to Alabama? Does any one believe that they would oppress or injure the people of Alabama? Does any one believe that they are corrupt, that they would engage in misgovernment or spoliation at the expense of the tax-payers of this commonwealth? It cannot be, fellow-citizens, that these men, who have spent so many years of honorable, upright life in this State, would do anything to involve you or your interests in corruption, extavagance or misrule. They are your neighbors; their lives have been spent in your midst, and though many of you may differ from them in political sentiment, you know that they are lawabiding and honorable men. You know that they are as deeply interested in securing good government in Alabama as you are, and that they are as well qualified for the duty of bringing prosperity to the people as you are. These citizens have left their homes in every section of the State, and come here for no purposes of wrong; they came to discharge the sacred duty of consulting with their fellow-citizens upon the important questions which now agitate the country, and they will do all in their power to bring good government, prosperity, good order and peace to the people of Alabama. The work of the convention thus far has been characterized with the utmost good feeling and enthusiasm. As is the case in all conventions of the people, there are some delegates here who are unfortunate enough to believe that the redemption of the State rests entirely upon their shoulders, and unless they unbosom themselves upon every question or motion, the convention will fail of its purposes. The misfortune of these few persons is that they are too young in politics to appreciate the fact that bodies of this character soon become disgusted with those who continually annoy them with objections or harangues. But the real work of the convention will commend itself to the approval of the good people of Alabama, and we now predict that the Republican party will indorse its representatives by a united vote at the polls in August.

Orders have been issued from the Treasury instructing the Assistant Treasurers at New York and Boston to disburse $400,000 in silver each, in payment of government checks, in addition to the amounts heretofore authorized to be paid.

The Washington Star of Saturday last, says: A New Morning Paper, to be called The Nation, is to be started in this city on Monday next, by Mr. Walker, lately of the editorial staff of the Chronicle.

Republican State Convention.

The Largest Representative Body Ever Assembled in the Capitol.

Enthusiasm, Harmony, and Determination.

Wednesday, May 24, 1876.

At 12 o'clock m., this day, the convention of the Republican party of Alabama assembled in the hall of the House of Representatives, at the State House.

Hon. Charles E. Mayer, Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, called the convention to order.

After complimenting the Convention upon the large representation, and harmonious character of the assemblage, Mr. Mayer nominated Hon. W. W. D. Turner, of Mobile, for temporary chairman, which motion prevailed unanimously. Mr. Turner, on taking the chair, returned thanks to the Convention for the honor conferred upon him, and stated that he was taken by surprise, and was not prepared to make a speech.

Mr. Coulson, of Jackson, nominated Mr. Geo. H. Patrick, of Montgomery, for temporary Secretary, which motion prevailed.

Mr. Booth, of Autauga, nominated Mr. J. F. Roper for assistant secretary, which motion prevailed.

Mr. Patrick being unable to act as temporary secretary, Mr. Cochran, of Dallas, nominated E. Morris for temporary secretary, which was carried.

Mr. White, of Dallas, moved that a committee of five be appointed on credentials—which motion prevailed, and the chair appointed Messrs. L. H. Mayer, of Mobile, Paul Strobach of Montgomery, J. C. Goodloe, of Colbert, J. C. Rapier of Lowndes and A. E. Williams of Barbour.

On motion of Mr. Colison, of Jackson, Hon. Alexander White, of Dallas, was invited to address the Convention, but owing to business engagements which demanded his immediate attention, he was excused until this evening.

Then, on motion of Mr. Sheats, of Winston, the Convention took a recess until 5 o'clock this evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The convention met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. L. H. Mayer, from committee on credentials, reported the following regularly chosen delegates to the convention:

Mr. Sheats moved for a committee of 5 on permanent organization, carried; and the following gentlemen were appointed: Sheats, Anderson, Jones of Hale, Royal, Darlington Coon and Bates.

Mr. Alexander introduced a resolution that the delegates to the National Convention be directed to use their influence to secure the nomination of the Hon. Oliver P. Morton, of Indiana, for President of the United States. Temporarily laid on the table.

Mr. Sheats from committee on permanent organization, reported the following gentlemen as permanent officers of the convention:

For Chairman.—Hon R T Heflin, of Randolph.

For Secretary—E Morris, of Dallas.

For Assistant Secretary—Jos Taylor, of Mobile.

Mr. Clarke, of Barbour, moved that a committee of 5 be appointed on the order of business.—Carried.

The following were appointed:—Messrs. Clark, Sheats, Mayer, King, and Rapier.

Mr. White moved that a committee of 9 be appointed on Platform and Resolutions.—Carried.

Mr. Spencer moved that all resolutions be referred to the committee on resolutions without debate.—Carried.

Mr. Sheats introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Chairman appoint a committee of seven, whose duty it shall be to report to the Convention for their ratification or rejection, four delegates at large to the National Republican Convention, two Presidential electors for the State at large, and candidates for Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney General and Superintendent of Public Instruction, which was laid on the table.

The convention then adjourned until 9:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The story that President Grant had Capt. Robinson, of the regular army, detailed to survey a race track on his farm near St. Louis, and that he had his horses shod generally at Government expense, is denied by Nat Carlin, formerly manager of the farm. Carlin says that he himself requested Robinson as a personal favor to widen a turn in an old track, the President having nothing to do with the matter. Gen. Grierson permitted Robinson to do the work as a matter of courtesy, no soldiers were employed in the work at all as Robinson charges. Carlin says it is true Kernan, the army farrier and veterinary surgeon, did shoe the President's stock, but that he did not use Government shoes as charged; that Kernan did it as a favor, and that Mr. Grand repaid the favor by wintering stock for Kernan without pay.

It is doubtful whether these little knots of "reformers" and "independents" would really enjoy the effect if some day their ideas of a new party for every particular hobby should prevail, and political contests become not merely triangular but polyangular. There is no necessity for stating anything about the character of the party which would control most votes, when it is seen that every independent voter adds one to the chances of the Democratic party. As to everybody voting for somebody whom he can support with self-respect there would be considerable repetition of history. After a certain battle the celebrated Greek leader Themistocles requested his captains to name the bravest man in the army. Each captain handed in his own name, with that of Themistocles second. The moral of this lies in the application of it.

SENATOR SPENCER, of Alabama, passed through the city to-day (Tuesday) en route to Montgomery, where he will attend upon the organization and action of the state convention called by his direction. He is understood to favor the nomination of Morton, as any other dog would lick the hand that befriended him. He stands now in the attitude of a bolter from his party and we imagine he will make little headway with his chicanery in the coming canvass.—[Atlanta Constitution, Yesterday.]

This paragraph is entirely characteristic of the Bourbon Press in this section. The dignity of Journalism is construed by Bourbon editors to mean that all manner of filthy abuse must be heaped upon opponents. There was a time not very long since, when any editor who employed Billingsgate in his editorial columns, was regarded and treated as the common blackguard who is shunned by decent People. The war caused an upheaval among us which, for the] time being, places a sort of premium upon Prize-ring and bawdyhouse Journalism amongst a certain class; but it is our conviction that the respectable men and women of the South have been long since nauseated with this condition of things, and the decaying appearance of these filthy papers shows that it is rapidly disappearing.

EXONERATED.

Senator Spencer's Vindication.

The Washington Republican of the 22d inst., says:

The exoneration of Senator Spencer by the unanimous report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections was to have been expected, and the fact that Senator Saulsbury joined in it should serve to put an end to the adverse criticisms of the Opposition which have been heaped upon his head without stint as well as without reason. From the outset this journal characterized the testimony against him as ex parte and hearsay, and the report of the committee supports that characterization. The result will probably have some weight in settling the unseemly strife between Alabama Republicans which now threatens to end in sending two contesting delegations to Cincinnati.

EXONERATION OF SENATOR SPENCER.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections, in their report on the case of Senator Spencer, submitted by Senator Morton Saturday, recite the resolution under which they were directed to investigate whether corrupt means were used to secure his election, and set forth the reference to them of the Alabama Legislature's memorial charging that Mr. Spencer was not legally elected, and accompanied by a copy of the testimony purporting to have been taken by the legislative committee and its report thereon.

The Senate committee remark that "this testimony was ex parte in its character, very much of it hearsay, and could not be received by the committee as evidence."

The report continues as follows: The question whether Mr. Spencer was elected by the lawful Legislature of Alabama, raised in the memorial referred to and in the specifications filed before the committee by the counsel, Mr. Morgan, who represented the State of Alabama, was considered by a majority of the committee to have been fully settled in the contest for the seat occupied by Mr. Spencer, before made in the Senate by Mr. Sykes. The question in that contest was whether what was known as the "Court-house Legislature," by which Mr. Spencer was elected, or the "Capitol Legislature" was the lawful Legislature of Alabama. After full consideration and argument of counsel, it was determined by the committee, and afterwards by the Senate, that the Court-house Legislature was the lawful one, and that Mr. Spencer, and not Mr. Sykes, was entitled to the seat. This question having been definitely settled, it was considered by the committee that it was not competent for them or for the Senate to reopen it, and that it must be treated as res adjudicata.

Upon the other branch of the inquiry, as to whether Mr. Spencer, or his friends had been guilty of bribery, corruption or other unlawful practices in procuring his election, the committee made a faithful and diligent inquiry. Mr. Morgan, counsel for the accusers, subpoenaed and examined many witnesses, and after the testimony was over, supported the charge against Mr. Spencer by a lengthy argument. Those charges were not proven in any respect. No witness testified that Mr. Spencer had given, directly or indirectly, or offered to give, money or anything of value in consideration of votes or support in the Alabama Legislature; nor was it shown that any of his friends had done so.

Some heresay testimony was offered to the effect that certain persons had said that they had received money in consideration of voting for Mr. Spencer for the Senate; but this testimony was ruled out by the committee. The persons alleged to have made these statements were competent witnesses, but were not produced; nor was it known that any money had been paid to them for such a purpose by anybody, whether a known friend of Mr. Spencer or not.

The counsel for the accusers complain strongly of the rejection of such testimony; but its illegality and worthless character were too plain to require argument, and had it been admitted it might have contributed to make some scandal, but would have proved nothing. Attempts were made to offer the hearsay statements against Mr. Spencer of persons who were not shown to have been engaged with him in any conspiracy to procure his election by corruption or undue means, and by whose statements made in his absence he could not be bound by any known principle of law, which were also rejected by the committee.

While hearsay evidence was thus excluded, the door was thrown open widely to prove the payment of money by any person to any member of the Legislature, or to be used with the Legislature, to procure Mr. Spencer's election by any person, whether such person was shown to be a friend of Mr. Spencer or not.

The committee deem it unnecessary to go into the full details of the case, and, having thus given the general result, beg leave to be discharged from the further consideration of the resolution and memorial, and herewith submit copies of the testimony taken before the committee.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Secretary of War Taft and Attorney General Pierrepont went to New York this morning on the lightning express train, to be absent until Friday.

Mr. Gibson, chairman of the committee on investigating Louisiana affairs yesterday sent an application to the Attorney General asking an immunity for witness Seelye as is the custom in such cases. The application was referred to the President who will decide upon the application, it being charged that Seelye is under an indictment in the State courts of Louisiana for offences against the State laws. It is doubtful whether the President will decide to grant him immunity, as by so doing it is claimed would be interferring unjustly with the State courts and defeat the ends of justice.

The President informs Secretary Bristow that he has not yet received the resignation of Collector Conely, of Philadelphia. Mr. Conely's friends in Washington hope that certain influences now at work may result in his retaining his present position.

The sub-committee of the judiciary committee conducting the investigation of what is known as the Blaine bond transaction, met this morning. Ex Speaker Blaine was present.

E. Robinson, of Arkansas testified that he delivered to ex-Speaker Blaine a package in the Speaker's room for Josiah Caldwell, of Arkansas. He denied that he had ever said that it contained bonds for the reason that he did not know what it did contain, it was not sealed, but it was tied with a piece of tape.

Mr. Kurry, of Arkansas testified that Robeson told him in his room in the hotel at Little Rock that the package contained $20,000 of bonds.

Mr. Blaine asked the witness if the feeling in Arkansas was not bitter against him.

Witness assured him that he (Blaine) was unpopular there on account of the stand he took in the Brooks-Baxter fight. Mr. Blaine—have not you and others repeatedly said "now is the chance to get even with Blaine?"

The chairman said he did not think this question a reasonable one.

Mr. Blaine said he proposed to show that witness he belonged to a set of politicians in Arkansas, the worst in America; he would, however, allow this question to remain one of veracity between Kurry and Robeson as to whether the latter said the package contained bonds.

Mr. Syhles, of New York said that Judge Bond and Judge McClure, of Arkansas, had told him that the bonds of the Little Rock and Fort Smith railroad company were used in Congress corruptly to influence legislation. The question was then asked who also told, when an objection was raised as to the advisability of such testimony, and it was appealed to the full committee.

Senate.

Mr. Sargent, from committee on naval affairs, reported adversely on the petition of Robt. L. May, R. J. Lord and Capt. Francis Rowe. In regard to the last named, he said the committee were satisfied that it was a case of great hardship. The petitioner asking compensation for his property destroyed in Virginia by the rebels. But the committee thought it would be unwise to set a precedent.

Mr. Conkling called up the House resolution requesting the President to intercede in behalf of E. M. Condon, which was amended and passed.

Mr. Burnside called up the bill establishing the rank of the Paymaster General as that of Brigadier General. Passed.

House.

Speaker Kerr surprised the House this morning by resuming the chair, and was warmly congratulated by gentlemen on all sides.

Mr. Ballou, of Rhode Island, from committee on printing, reported a joint resolution to print 10,000 copies of the Smithsonian report. Passed.

The regular order having been demanded, the Speaker called committees for reports.

Mr. Morey, from committee on public lands, reported a bill to amend the revised statutes so as to place the disposal of public lands in Alabama, Louisiana, Florida and Arkansas, on the same footing as other States.

Mr. Hewitt addressed the House in favor of the bill.

Mr. Brown, of Kansas, opposed the bill because it affected other than agricultural lands.

Pending consideration the morning hour expired and the bill went over.

Mr. Harris, of Virginia, called up the contested election case of Spencer against Morey, from the 5th district of Louisiana. The majority report that Morey is not entitled to retain his seat, but that Wm. B. Spencer was elected. The minority report is in favor of Morey retaining his seat. The contested election case was discussed in the afternoon by Messrs. House, Ellis and Deholt, for contestant, and Messrs. Wells of Mississippi, and Brown of Kansas, for contestee, but no action was taken.

The committee appointed to investigate the conduct of Judge Wylie, of the District of Columbia Court, was authorized to send for persons and papers, and examine witnesses under oath.

Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, offered a resolution authorizing the appointment of a special committee of seven members to sit during recess and ascertain whether any railroad company, engaged in interState commerce, had entered into a conspiracy in relation to freights, by which certain industries of the country were stricken down. Adopted.

The House then adjourned.

NEW YORK.

There are 360,000 pounds of stores and 325 mules. The whole force numbers 1200 men, and the hostile Indians number about 12,000, and are camped on Blue Stone river.

The Post's Washington special says President Grant to-day nominated Edward F. Beale of the District of Columbia to be Minister to Austria.

Ex-Doorkeeper Fitzhugh threatens within a week a publicity to some matters that will, he says, startle the country, and involve some Democratic members of the House.

DENVER, May 24.—A violent rain and snow storm which prevailed twenty-four hours in and along the base of the mountains broke up early this morning. The rain that fell in this city was upwards of six inches deep. At Central City, Georgetown and other mountain towns the snow is reported to-day to be three feet deep. The railroads centering here have all lost bridges and embankments, and travel is suspended, but it is believed all the roads except the Denver and South Fork and the Colorado Central will be able to move their trains regularly to-morrow. The damage to the county bridges and thoroughfares cannot now be reliably estimated, but is heavy.

CENTENNIAL NOTES.

The admissions on Thursday were as follows: On payment, 11,054; complimentary, 440, exhibitors, press and attendants, 6,325. Total, 17,819.

The Bureau of Admission announce that all holders of season tickets who have had their photographs for same taken elsewhere than at the Centennial Photograph Company's studio, in the grounds, must take them to the Bureau to be officially stamped; and the guards have been instructed not to admit those whose photographs do not bear that impression.

Dr. Otto Gross, chief of the Austrian Fine Art section, in Memorial Hall, has decided to close his department in consequence of the injury done to the pictures by ignorant persons. He also announces that he will keep it closed until action is taken to prevent a repetition of the occurrences.

Monsieur Achille Jottrand, of Belgium, member of the International Jury of Awards, met with an unpleasant accident. He dislocated his left shoulder by falling from one of the passenger railway cars in the grounds. M. Jottrand was conducted to the Centennial Medical Department, where the dislocation was reduced.

The Commercial Club, of Boston, and its President, Governor Rice, of Massachusetts, visited the Centennial grounds yesterday morning, and held an informal reception in their State Building. The party then proceeded to Belmont Mansion to dine.

On Thursday several car loads of goods arrived at the Exhibition from Australia. They are being unloaded and placed in position, and will complete the British Colonial display.

Most of the exhibits have arrived from the Argentine Republic, and will soon be placed in that section.

Another recent arrival is an Indian carving from Puget Sound (Alaska). It is at once a specimen of the wood of that region and of the skill in carving of the Kolosh Indians. The object is being unloaded for exhibition in the ethnological section of the Government Building.

It is announced that after 12 o'clock on Monday, the 22d inst, no goods will be admitted to the Exhibition grounds, except between 7 and 8½ a. m. This action is necessary to bring the Exhibition to a permanent form as soon as possible.

Mr. Theodore Thomas has suggested to the Centennial authorities to invite all musicians who are competent to unite in a grand chorus on the Fourth of July, and perform Handel's Dettingen Te Deum. The success of the chorus on the opening day has led to this effort to secure for our Centennial Anniversary a choral service which has never been rivalled in this country. The suggestion is under consideration, and will no doubt be favorably acted upon.

The 5th, 6th and 7th of July have been selected for the grand competition of military bands. The contests have been divided into three classes, so as to include all the good bands of the country, and to make the contest a fair one. Moreover, no distinction whatever will be made in the premiums offered to the different classes, which will be as follows:

First, Full military bands of wood and brass instruments, and of not less than 36 performers.

Third, Brass bands composed wholly of professional musicians, or professionals and amateurs mixed, or of amateurs alone, of not less than 12 or more than 18 performers.

Each band will have to perform two pieces which they are themselves to select from prescribed composers as follows:

Full wood and brass bands must perform one classical overture by such composers as Beethoven, Mozart, Weber, Mendelssohn, Wagner, Schuman, Gluck, etc., and a second piece of their own untrammelled selection.

Full brass bands perform a standard overture of a lighter character than the last by such composers as Auber, Rossini, etc., and a second piece of their own untrammelled selections.

The smaller bands must perform two pieces each, which they may select themselves without any restrictions as to composer or character of music. The judges in awarding the prizes will be governed by the taste and skill shown in selecting the music performed, as well as the manner of performance.

It is expected that this contest will be followed by one later in the season, in which the participants will be the various orchestras of the country, professional and amateur.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud; who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN.—No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains or Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflamation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discolorations and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES.—It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fullness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES—blind or bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use.

VARICOSE VEINS.—It is the only cure for this distressing and dangerous condition.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. Let it be tried once, and you will never be without it.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. ABSOLUTE SAFETY

At Sea.

LIFE SAVING SUIT

FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA

And the almost countless lives that have been lost, urge the introduction of more effective appliances for saving life than have yet been generally adopted. In response to the great public demand, the American Life Saving Suit Company now present a

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, we now offer as a means of absolute safety from death by drowning. The invention now offered claims its superiority over all invention in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the roughest sea, preserves the natural exercise of the body for any number of days, with capacity for carrying provisions for ten days, and signals to attract attention from passing vessels.

This suit embodies three principles which are imperative in a life saving dress—

First—A buoyancy which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural law.

Second—Protection from water and weather and consequent chill.

Third—A commissariat department, to which is attached signals, with capacity for carrying valuables, etc., etc.

This suit is put on over ordinary clothing, except shoes and hat, and can be put on inside of five minutes; and are let to passengers on transatlantic steamers at the low price of

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—one dollar more than costs—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is annual, is distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, as in this bond mis-timed by chance. The purchaser of a bond answers for will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the stock, rate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, take a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I added to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 6,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1876.

DON'T STAY LATE TO-NIGHT.

The hearth of home is beaming
With rays of rosy light;
And loving eyes are gleaming,
As falls the shade of night;
And while thy steps are leaving
That circle pure and bright,
A tender voice, half grieving,
Says, "don't stay late to-night."

The world in which thou movest,
Is busy, brave and wide;
The world of her thou lovest
Is at the ingle side;
She waits for thy warm greeting;
Thy smile is her delight,
Her gentle voice ent eating,
Says don't stay late to night."

The world, cold, inhuman,
Will spurn thee if thou fall;
The love of one pure woman
Outlasts and shames them all;
Thy children will sing round thee
Let fate be dark or bright;
At home no shaft can wound thee;
There, don't stay late to-night."

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.
THE NATIONAL LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,
PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 36 to 40 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer, that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1876.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

MONTGOMERY, May 15, 1876.

On and after this date, no liabilities contracted on account of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL, without a written order from T. C. Bingham & Co., countersigned by T. C. Bingham will be paid by us. T. C. BINGHAM & CO.,

dtf. Proprietors.

SELMA is going in on base ball.

THE streets were devoid of local items yesterday.

NOW is the time to advertise in the STATE JOURNAL.

THE Sunday Telegram is a new paper in Atlanta by Henry Grady.

THERE was a little skirmish at the Exchange yesterday by three citizens.

THE Grey's excursion to Pensacola will be about the 10th of June.

SOME of the reporters in this city make up their local items in bed—or somewhere else to themselves.

EGGS were very scarce in our market yesterday, and not more than two merchants in the city had any for sale.

YOU must learn to love blackberry pie, for there will not be much of anything else, for pie, the next month or so.

THE fashionable amusement with some Montgomerians now is tying inflated bladders to dog's tails. The amusement extends as far as the dog goes.

THERE was a collision of two trains on the Georgia State road the other day, in in which two prsons were killed and several wounded.

LEATHER belts for ladies are revived, and their familiar attachments of chatelianes for fan vinigrette and parasol will come into use again.

THERE is to be an excursion to Mobile on the 10th of June, given by the Young Men's Christian Association of the A. M. E. Church of Montgomery. Tickets for the round trip $3.00.

THE whipping post has been established in New Orleans. Ten criminals, white and black, were flogged at the jail there Saturday. Montgomery ought to follow suit; it's the best way of getting rid of the hordes of vagrants, tramps and thieves that infest the city.

Camphor is a most powerful agent in driving away mosquitoes. A camphor bag hung in an open casement is a barrier to their entrance. Camphorated spirits applied as perfume to the face and hands will act as an effectual preventative, but when bitten by them aromatic vinegar is the best antidote.

WHEN Hon. S. S. Cox was looking at the great Corliss engine at the Centennial last week he asked the guard standing near what horse-power the engine had? The reply came, with an amazed look, "Why! you d——l fool, you! it don't run by horses; they use steam!"

APPEARANCES are often deceitful, but when a man who is engaged to a red headed girl is seen at midnight with both arms round a street lamp telling it it is too sweet to live, it is usually safe to presume that a new kind of temperance bitters has been introduced into the neighborhood.

MAYOR'S COURT.—There was a slim attendance at the Mayor's court yesterday morning. The case of Willis Harris, colored, charged with assault and battery, or waylaying, Mr. S. P. Marcello, was called. The defendant was not ready for trial, and the case was postponed 'till this morning.

THE proposition to establish a union passenger depot in Montgomery has already had one good effect—in causing a considerable advance in the price of property in the vicinity of the proposed depot. Public enterprises of this nature never fail to be of immense benefit to cities. In fact some cities were built up altogether by such enterprises. Let Montgomery profit by this fact.

IT is proposed to have a public excursion from Montgomery to some pleasant point, either above or below the city, at an early day, on one of the steamboats which now ply the river. We do not see why such an excursion should not be a complete success. Other cities having river communication frequently have moonlight excursions, participated in by the best classes of people.

WE notice many improvements going on in the western portion of the city, and also in the neighborhood surrounding the new depot of the Mobile & Montgomery railroad. The spirit of enterprise once cropped out never fails to infuse itself into every portion of the community. For instance, the building of that beautiful depot by the M. & M. railroad company induced all these citizens residing within reach of the same to have their houses re-painted, many needed additions made thereto, their broken down fences to be replaced with elegantly painted ones, and the sidewalks neatly repaired, so that that portion of the city presents an appearance of having been but recently built.

A REPORTER of the JOURNAL while in attendance at the Mayor's court yesterday morning, concluded to make a tour of the inside arrangements of the city guard house. There are seven rooms, or cells, of the same size, say about 12 feet long and 8 feet wide. They are all clean looking, with a bath tub in each, and are dimly lighted by two small windows in each room, except No 7, which is called the dark room or dungeon. This room is used only when prisoners are unruly and uncontrollable. In one room on the floor were three colored girls apparently all asleep, the hour being about 9 o'clock. In another room were four colored men, who seemed to be restless and impatient for something—to get out probably. In another room were two white men, each one in for a hundred days.

THE Schuetzenfest of the Selma Schuetzen Verein commenced yesterday at the fair grounds in Selma. Several from Montgomery are in attendance.

THE KENDRICK CASE.—Witnesses are being summoned in this case. This has the appearance that a trial will be held at this term of the court. It is generally stated that an endeavor will be made by the defense to prove previous unchastity in the girl. A few months over six years ago she was entered as a pupil in our Public Schools, and her age recorded as seven years. Of course she can no longer attend them. Mr. K. remains very quietly at home.—[Columbus Eequirer.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS. — Programme for pic nic to Verbena, Friday, May 26th. Thursday, 11:30 a. m., examinations close, when tickets will be issued to the pupils by teachers. Thursday, from 12:30 to 6 p. m., tickets will be issued to parents or guardians by the Principal, who will be at the school building, corner of Moulton and Montgomery streets, for this purpose. Pupils will meet at the school house, Friday morning, 7:30, and march to the foot of Commerce street at 8 a. m., where, in their respective lines, they will remain till each school (by room) is conducted to the cars.

Baskets and other refreshments must be sent to the cars direct, where they will be received and safely cared for. To avoid confusion and danger to the children no one will be allowed on the cars without tickets. It is the wish of the school authorities, who will accompany the school, that all the pupils and parents go. Ample provision has been made by the railroad for the safe and pleasant transportation of the party.

AT the Catholic pic-nic at Whitehall the other day, we observed, without any trouble on our part, several men displaying huge pistols about their persons as though they were armed and equipped for the Black Hills, instead of a day's sport among ladies. In justice to the Catholics, whose pic nic it was, we will say we saw not one of them with a pistol, nor did any of them misbehave. We cannot see what any sane, brave man wants to lug a big pistol around all day at a pic-nic for, among ladies and children, where no one else is supposed to go but gentlemen. We believe none but cowards will habitually carry pistols in a civilized, hightoned community. The carrying of fire arms, concealed or not, is a foolish, contemptible practice, and should be frowned down by every respectable, law-abiding person.

We heard a lady whose good sense we highly appreciate, refuse to hold a burly fellow's bigold pistol while hedanced a set. She very dryly told him she didn't want to put her hands on such a useless thing. Gentlemen who carry these arms, if you are gentlemen, leave off this habit, especially when you visit pic-nics. If you never carry a pistol you will probably escape hanging some day by not having shot somebody, and if nobody ever carries one nobody will get shot by one.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., May 22, '76.

Again we are in this pleasant city of handsome edifices and beautiful yards. One feature Montgomery has ever given marked attention, and that is having an abundance of flowers and ornamental shrubbery around their residences. They are a soure of continuous pleasure, and cultivate both the heart and the taste.

Business in some of the larger houses remains good. In the retail dry goods store of LeGrand & Co., there has been a large crowd of ladies to-day, owing to a reduction in the price of calicoes.

We met several other Columbus men in active employment. On the police force we found Mr. Gus Wright and Mr. Zorkowski. The latter lived in Columbus during the war. We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. James Mansfield and bride.

The cotton season is about over here, and trade generally has assumed a summer aspect as well as elsewhere.

The machine shops of this road are extensive. Mr. C. W. Wall, formerly of the Southwestern shops in Columbus, is master mechanic. A more competent man could not have been selected. He is a cultivated gentleman and a machinist of experience and skill. We were shown by him through the shops. The larger engines of the road are being converted into coal burners, and two have already been changed. It is probable that two more heavy engines will have to be purchased. Trains on the road are making very fast time. The machinists in these shops are of the first class. C. A. K.

"ALABAMA AMBITION."

THE PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN ON OUR COAL AND IRON RESOURCES.—IT THINKS WE ARE TOO GRASPING FOR OUR CAPITAL.

The Philadelphia North American of Sunday, referring to a recent article in these columns upon our coal and iron prospects replies as follows:

The Montgomery (Ala.) Journal copying the announcement of the success of shipments of Alabama iron ore from Pensacola and accompanying remarks from the North American, jumps beyond the mark in asserting that "there is an opportunity for Montgomery to become the great central depot for the shipment of iron and coal to all parts of the world—the headquarters of the entire business." The iron and coal business of the world or of this country alone, or either business limited to Pennsylvania is perhaps larger than the Journal thinks; employs too much capital, too many men, too much knowledge, too much freight, and pays as well as receives too large a sum annually to be carried on in Montgomery at present however great the energy and capital of that city may be, and a misunderstanding in the preliminaries will taint and may very seriously injure all that rests upon it. The Journal weakens its own claim by observing that, although the railway communication between Montgomery and Pensacola to which we alluded is "not sufficient for extensive trade, there are obstacles to increasing it which cannot be very easily overcome at present." The obstacles to making Montgomery "the great central depot for the shipment of iron and coal to all parts of the world—the headquarters of the entire business" are considerably greater than those which prevent the completion of railway communication between Montgomery and Pensacola; and if the less is insuperable the greater is still more. All England would object to the realization of this Alabama desire, and would recast philosophies and codes and exchanges to prevent it.

But Alabama may develop the iron resources she has prudently and with great benefit, if she will only parallel the attempt by equal energy in prosecuting industries she has that are remunerative and turning their profits into mines, foundries, transportation and commerce for advantages seeking the declared end. Capital must be created first; skill must be added, and effectual steps must be taken to prevent Great Britain from pouring her product into this and other countries with the avowed object of destroying this very Alabama desire and all aims that copy it. These are imperative preliminaries, and as they are attained they will assist the object sought—as they are postponed that object will be, and the Shelby mines, abounding in possible wealth, will remain unproductive. Alabama must join Pennsylvania and bring Georgia in her train to keep the American market for American ironmasters; must help the various activities of other States; must gain the necessary capital by profit in other employments and create it for purchase; and then when finally capital has been created, skill procured and the home market defended from hostility, it is very certain that so fine an ore as Alabama has in great store, adjacent to coal, and has shipped, will be sought; and city, State and nation will share the benefit. Then greater railways will build themselves and distribute the fabrication of furnaces and mills, and not before.

The spirit and courage are just right. The purpose they seek is attainable in good part and may be wholly attained, as we trust will be the case. But a simple desire to succeed, without attempting to do so; an idea of monopolizing the business—these are not ends it is well Pensacola or any city should hope for until after Armageddon.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

SCRIBNER'S PUBLICATIONS FOR JUNE.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE.—In Scribner for June Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis's description of some "Old Landmarks in Philadelphia" is accompanied by over thirty illustrations. "How America was Named" is another illustrated historical paper, in which is shown the origin of the false claims put forth in behalf of Vespucci. Clarence Cook's fifth paper on furniture and decoration is illustrated with pictures of dining tables, the "last sweet thing in corners," chairs, candelabras, etc., etc. Charles Barnard describes a number of recent "Experiments in Co-operation," chiefly manufactures and stores. "Union College" is the one selected from the educational series this month, Harvard being announced for July. The serials are continued, and there is a story by G. P. Lathrop, entitled "The Love of a Hundred Years;" "Pilgrims and Puritans," by Tryon Edwards, "Two Poems of Coffins," by E. S. Nadal, and "Charlotte Cushman," by John D. Stockton, complete the list of prose. There are poetical contributions from Kate Putnam Osgood, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, H. H., and several others. In the Editorial Departments, Dr. Holland writes of "Advertising Shame," "The Literary Class" and "A New Departure;" "The Old Cabinet" deals with "Reading and Writing" and the "Academy Exhibition;" "Home and Society" contains some suggestions to strangers about "How to See New York," and Mr. Quinn's timely "Rural Topics;" and "Bric-a-Brac" has among other attractions some clever dialect by Irwin Russell entitled "Nebuchadnezzar."

ST. NICHOLAS, Brings a full budget of attractions to the many thousand boys and girls who watch so eagerly for each month's issue. It begins with an interesting account by Susan Coolidge of the life and achievements of Jeanne D'Arc: and then comes the second installment of Mr. Aldrich's fascinating story, with thirty-three of Mr. Hopkins's irresistible silhouette pictures! A charming "talk" by H. H. on "The Expression of Rooms;" a beautiful little verse by Mrs. Dodge, a funny picture, and a story quite as funny, follow each other in quick succession; and we are treated next to an article entitled "A Frog and His Neighbors," describing simply, and with the aid of fifteen pictures, all the curious changes of frog life from the hatching of the egg to the dignity of "Mr. Frog grown up."

As for poetry, the pages fairly ring with it. There is "See, Saw, Marjorie Daw," with a sweet little picture by Addie Ledyard; "The Four Little Imps" by Joel Stacy, with a comical illustration showing every one of them; "A June Morning Lesson," with a dainty border drawing; and some fine verses entitled "Mabel's Maids."

WIDE AWAKE for June is wide awake. It opens with one of Sophie May's delightful stories, "Bessie's Mishaps," which has two fine illustrations; gives a lengthy paper concerning the "Home of Mrs. Celia Thaxter," with a view of the cottage and two views of the cottage parlor; while Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt furnishes one of her finest poems, "At Hans Anderson's Funeral." E. S. Glover, the artist, gives a readable account of the "Hot Springs" of the Yellowstone Region, with two illustrations. Edgar Fawcett has a poem, "Daises." The sisters, Mrs. Clara Doty Bates and Mrs. Finley, poet and artist, contribute a fine piece of work, "Late Violets." The "Behaving Paper," tells big folks as well as little folks, "How to Sit, Stand and Walk." "Casus Belli," by John Brougjohn, is a capital satire on the small causes of great wars. "Pretty and her Violin," "The Cooking Club," "Young Rick," "Folly Frivolous," "The Magic Carpet," Guess Work," make up a number lavish with its beauty and its varied entertainments.

An index has just been prepared for the first ten volumes of Scribner's Monthly. It is stated in the preface that the illustrations of these ten volumes have cost the magazine nearly one hundred thousand dollars, and that a very much larger sum has been paid to literary contributions and editorial work. More than one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars were paid to the printers, and nearly a quarter of a million for paper. These volumes contain two thousand, seven hundred and forty-five engravings, or an average of 550 per annum. One hundred and thirty-three stories, long and short have appeared; and from these, and from essays and other material, have already been published fifteen books, while others are in course of publication.

Consumption Cured!

TUTTLE & BOLLING

Montgomery, Ala.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or graugers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL.

BY E. C. BINGHAM & CO. "The Union of Our Forefathers------Peace and Prosperity to All Men!" Terms---$8 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 27, 1876 NUMBER 215

SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1876.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presentad by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention heartily appreciates the services of the Alabama STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is legally necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support, of our party, and for the valuable service it has rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—Arrangements have been made with the following named lines for the transportation of delegates attending the Republican National Convention, to be held in Cincinnati, June 14, 1876:

From Louisville, by Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington and Ohio and Mississippi Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

From Chattanooga to Nashville, by the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, and from Nashville, Memphis, Decatur and Montgomery, to Cincinnati and return, by the Louisville and Great Southern Railroad—one full fare for the round trip.

From Mobile, by the Mobile and Montgomery, and Mobile and Ohio Railroads, to Cincinnati and return—one full fare for the round trip.

Respectfully,
W. B. SHATTUC,
Corresponding Secretary, Chairman Committee on Entertainment.

THE edict has gone forth from the caucus that Houston must be re-elected. Thus the Democratic party of Alabama makes the humiliating confession that there is only one man in their ranks whom they believe can carry the State. What does Pettus, Ligon, O'Neal, Peter Hamilton and Leroy Brewer think of this? And where is Oates, Barnes, Shorter, Pugh, Herndon and the other leaders who blow the Houston whistle? Are they going to rest quietly under the imputation that they are not able to carry the State for their party? We desire to hear some squealing on this matter.

HON. JERE HARALSON, negro Congressman, is going to stump North Alabama for the anti-Spencer Radical ticket.—Birmingham Independent.

Here is another statement going the rounds of the Democratic press, based upon nothing that has any semblance to truth. If any effort has been made to induce anybody to stump North Alabama, or any other portion of the State, against the regular Republican State ticket, we have heard nothing of it.

MR. J. H. MATHEWS, the able and patriotic editor of the Birmingham Independent, refuses a candidacy for the Legislature.—Jasper Eagle

This looks a little thin, but we presume that the refusal was very much on the order of the refusal of the fox, in the fable, to eat grapes. It is hardly possible that the people of Jefferson county would desire a representative in the General Assembly, who was removed from the office of Superintendent of Public schools, in the city of Birmingham. It requires quite a different grade of qualification to make a respectable Legislator from that of editor of a Democratic sheet in Alabama. Almost any Democrat could fill the requirements of the latter.

Col. Rip. Davis and Judge McClelland have each written letters declaring themselves candidates for Congress in this District, but they fail to announce whether they will submit their claims to the Democratic nominating convention. How is this? Will these gentlemen abide by the action of their party in Convention? We suppose they will, but do not feel authorized to speak for either of them in the premises. We hope they will speak out for themselves—"in the presence of the passengaire."—Huntsville Independent.

Why should Mr. Davis be carried into caucus and slaughtered! Have not the people the right to make their own selections of congressmen, without the dictation of caucus rings? If Mr. Davis thinks he can beat his opponents in a free and fair race, let the caucus be destroyed, and let the people act for themselves. This caucus business has well nigh destroyed all the spirit of our people, and we would rejoice to see the destruction of the rings which manipulate them.

POLITICAL mud throwers are hard at work. No reputation is safe from their attacks. Should a saint appear on earth and these political buzzards suspect a leaning toward the Presidency, the saint would soon become a sinner if persistent lying could bring about the transformation. From the present indications the coming campaign, on the part of the Democrats, is to be no exception to the rule—mud throwing against the Republican party in lieu of legitimate argument. It has failed in the past; it will fail in the future.

TILDEN is being advertised through the country papers of the South by a N. Y. advertising agency, as the only Democrat who can be elected President.

THE SMUT MILLS IN MOTION.

The smut mills of the Democratic party are now in motion, and the Republican candidates are to be blackened with abuse and slander, until the November election is over. Instead of presenting fair and honorable arguments to the people, in behalf of their party, the Democratic press will resort to the use of slander and detraction, fishmarket denunciation and billingsgate. Good men are to be nauseated with disgusting abuse, and all the amenities of civilized and christian life are to discarded for the vocabulary of the prize ring, and the bar-room, and slums. It is a work for which Republicans have neither taste or inclination, and to which, they give notice now, they will not resort. We intend to advocate the principles of our party, and the ability of our candidates to put those principles in practical operation, with hightoned and honorable argument. If we cannot uphold the purposes of the Republican party in Alabama, and the reputation of our candidates, by fair and legitimate discussion, and by all the means which generally obtain in civilized communities, we will simply have to submit to consequences. But we shall not befoul these columns with slander and malicious abuse of our opponents, no matter what the provocation may be, or the circumstances which may in the future surround us. We propose to address our arguments to the decent and respectable citizens of the State, and not to the street ruffians and bravadoes who infest the commonwealth. We respect the intelligence of the people, and we shall appeal to their reason, and not to their prejudices or resentments. The Republican party has nominated a number of honorable and intelligent citizens as candidates for the various offices to be filled at the August election, and these gentlemen cannot be driven from the field by all the abuse, villification and ridicule of the combined press of the Democracy, or swerved from the path of rectitude and honorable discussion by denunciation and slander. We do not base our claims for the suffrages of the people upon any ground of prejudice, of sectional hostility, or personal considerations. Upon the broad platform of National Republicanism, embracing the blessings of free schools, free speech, a free press, and the rights of all men under the laws the Republican party of Alabama appeals to the enlightened consideration of the people. Against the proscriptive and intolerant administration which is now destroying the very life of the State; which has blighted every interest of our people, and which is dishonored with the stain of repudiation, we ask the deliberate judgment of the free people of Alabama. If this administration can demonstrate by fair and honorable means that it is entitled to the confidence of the people, we will bow in humble submission to the popular voice. If it is entitled to the respect of our citizens, it needs no abuse, slander and violence to establish the fact. It is human government, and therefore it cannot be infallible. By its narrow and proscriptive policy it has crushed out nearly all the public spirit of the people, and driven hundreds of thousands of capital from our borders. It has been more despotic than the infidel government of Barbary, because it has attempted to deprive every Republican citizen of the right to hold office; and has enacted laws which a Supreme Court of its own selection was forced to declare unconstitutional. It has committed many acts of tyranny, and outrage upon free government, and we propose to expose every act of this administration against the rights of the people, their welfare and their good name. The Democratic press have treated every effort to exposures the errors of Houston's administration, as a criminal offence, and every citizen or newspaper that has attempted to expose these errors, has been abused and cried down as outlaws. No such tyranny or despotism as this, can be set up in any State in this free government, and unless the people of Alabama are willing to be made the slaves of the Democratic leaders, they will hasten to shake off the yoke which is being locked about their necks. A fair field and free discussion is all the Republican party demands in this contest.

IT is a rare sight now to see a drummer in Tuscaloosa. We are sorry they have been taxed out of the State, as it was always agreeable to us to see the nobby fellows walking our streets with as much commercial importance, as if they owned the largest establishment on Broadway.—Tuscaloosa Times.

And yet the Times proposes to continue in office the very men who have driven business from the State. Governor Houston has been up in North Alabama apologising to the people for that monstrosity known as the revenue law—and which has driven hundreds of thousand of dollars from the State, and operated as a palsy upon every business interest in Alabama. The present administration has absolutely destroyed the buisiness of the State by imposing enormous taxes upon merchants and commercial travelers. In the face of this fact, the Democratic party will endeavor to force the people to re-elect this administration.

THE public man who tries to answer every slander set afloat against him will be kept as busy as a thin-skinned fisherman on a salt meadow in mosquito time. He may kill off a dozen tormentors, but a hundred will come to their funeral. Happy is the man who can sit unmoved in the presence of partisan malice, and feel that his record is all right, and that the confidence of the people in his integrity cannot be shaken by the idle breath of slander.

THE Republicans of Alabama have pronounced in no uncertain tones for Oliver P. Morton, of Indiana, as their choice for President.

EX-GOVERNOR BULLOCK.

We have frequently observed that while the Democratic papers of other cities abused and denounced ex Governor Bullock in the usual style of Southern Bourbon editors, the Democratic press of Atlanta have had no unkind words for him. Neither have the Democratic leaders of Georgia ever assailed ex-Gov. Bullock or his administration. The Democratic papers in Alabama have been profuse in their denunciations of the ex-Governor, but during all these years we have watched in vain for any denunciations in the Atlanta papers. We have recently learned the cause of the fact, and strange as it may seem, it turns out that most of the leading Democratic politicians of Georgia were parties to all the bond transactions of Bullock's administration; and that they shared all the spoils which came in the way. The following from the Chattanooga Commercial throws some light on this subject, and we commend it to the consideration of the Democracy of Alabama:

Yes, ex-Gov. Rufus B. Bullock, of Georgia, has been credited with being a very bad man. He left Georgia under suspicious circumstances, and during his absence suspicion has not abated. He is now back in Georgia. They have Democrats in Georgia, and there are rumors that these Democrats are not altogether like Cæsar's wife, and that Bullock knows some things about them which they would not like to have exposed. The plausibility of this story is not diminished by the fact that upwards of thirty Democrats met the ex Governor at the train when he arrived in Atlanta, laying at his feet as a free-will offering a bond signed by persons representing two million of dollars in wealth. It would be a significant sequel if this same Bullock should be the nominee of the Democratic party of Georgia for Governor, in their coming campaign, and this is precisely what many sensible men think will take place. We would not be surprised if Rufus B. Bullock was made the next Governor of Georgia by the Democrats of that State.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal is one of the ablest papers of the Democratic party, and has recently been pronounced in its advocacy of Gov. Tilden's nomination at St. Louis. It is considerably excreised in mind since the Ohio Democratic Convention was held in this city and ex-Gov. Allen recommended for nomination. It now predicts a party bolt at St. Louis on the greenback question, fortified as soft-money men have been by the Ohio Convention. It seems to be well posted on the tendency in that direction, for it says: "A private circular has been issued to a select few. We have seen this circular and we quote the following from the body of it: 'Half the delegates to the National Democratic Convention, called to meet on the 27th of June in the city of St. Louis, will go there to sell and the other half to buy; the people are already betrayed—the issue is inevitable, and let it come at once. This,' it adds, 'is to be the keynote of the campaign. No matter what the Democrats do at St. Louis, or whom they nominate, the emissaries of the Republican party, disguised as Democrats, are organized to defeat the ticket.'"

THE intimation that the deputy U. S. Marshals in Alabama are to be used to arrest innocent citizens, or to figure in politics at all, is a base falsehood, started by an incendiary who hoped to cause some violence to these officers by his slanderous statement. Every reasonable citizen knows that United States Marshals have no more power to defy the laws, or to override them, than any other officers in this State.

IT is the custom of Democratic editors in these parts, when they are defeated in honorable argument, to resort to filthy abuse and slander of their opponents. Witness the gnashing of teeth now going on among these lepers over the Republican State Convention, and its work.

SENATOR MORTON is the first choice of the Republicans of Alabama. The gallant and able Senator from New York, Roscoe Conkling, is the second choice. Either of these distinguished Statesmen can get the united vote of the Southern Republicans.

LETTER FROM MOBILE.

The Democratic Selections for the Legislature.

MOBILE, MAY 25, 1876.

MR EDITOR: The Democratic delegates of this county have held their convention, but the result of their deliberations is far from meeting the approval of the party—particularly the high toned honest men of the party. Never has there been such a poor ticket put up by the Democrats of this county; certainly not in my day; and I have attended many a Democratic convention. And they say the worst is yet to come. We hear from the lips of straight-out Democrats (and not a few of them either) strong talk of putting up a good independent ticket. They say the men put up by the convention don't represent the party; but represent a few tricksters, who packed the convention for some selfish purpose, and Mobile will be ruined by such a representation—and they hope their county precincts will carefully watch that they are not played upon by such tools. Thos. H. Herndon, who heads the list for the General Assembly, is looked upon as a sort of forlorn hope. But he has lost caste considerably by being on such a ticket. He was wrung in by the same set who have other axes to grind, and one is that he be U. S. Senator. But he has inevitably injured himself and blasted all political advancement, through the better people of Mobile, by attending caucuses and associating himself, prior to the convention, with a set of deadbeats, to whom is conceded the miserable choice of the convention. The people do not impeach Herndon's honesty, but think him very weak to have rested under the wing of a caucus composed of such men as Jno. R. Tompkins, and Price Williams, Jr., the former Solicitor elect from this district, and the latter Judge of Probate—both a disgrace to their constituency. The remaining composition of the ticket is of a young shyster lawyer—against whom exists, in the hands of the underwriters of this town, evidence nearly enough to convict him of arson—setting fire to his office in order to get the insurance money. And yet, it is said, that Jno. H. Higley, an insurance agent here, as a delegate from the 1st ward, voted for Glennon at the nominating convention. O tempora! O mores! The next worthy of mention, is one O. S. Beers, a defaulter of the old school, who got honest men like George N. Stuart to go on his bond in the post office department, and then regardless of the trust violated his bond by defaulting to the government, and nearly ruining his worthy bondsmen.

The other two nominees are men perhaps of more integrity, we have never heard otherwise. But men who know both Sam Muldon and Wm. A. Shields say that their brains are more bond suitably moulded for the soft soap business than for the legislative body. Muldon will have a hard task in sustaing the dignity of such a representation. The talk is that if the independents put up good men, independent men, decent Democrats will be happy in having somebody for whom they can conscientiously vote.

THE OLD RELIABLE
(YUNG'S)
Saloon and Restaurant

This well known and popular establishment has been refitted and rendered more complete than ever. It will be my aim to make it retain the reputation which it has so long enjoyed, as the Best Saloon and Restaurant in the South. An experience of several years warrants me in saying to the old customers and to the public that it will be conducted on a style that will make it second to no establishment of the kind. WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Senator Cooper, of Tennessee, regarded as one of the best constitutional lawyers in the Senate, took the floor to-day in the Belknap case, and made an argument in favor of its jurisdiction. Mr. Cooper was followed by Mr. Saulsbury, who spoke on the same side of the question. It is doubtful if a vote will be reached before to-morrow.

At the meeting of the Democratic caucus last night a resolution was introduced by Mr. Neal, of Ohio, directing the banking and currency committee to report a bill providing for the repeal of the specie resumption act.

Mr. Randall offered an amendment which was accepted, setting forth that it is the sense of the caucus that the banking and currency committee have leave at any time to report such a bill.

John J. Patterson of New Jersey was elected doorkeeper on the fifth ballot. He was instructed to retain all the old employes except such as may need to be removed for cause.

The conference committee on the consular and diplomatic bill have agreed to disagree, being at a dead lock on the salaries of first class missions.

In the Senate to-day Mr. Morrell, of Maine, from committee on appropriations reported the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

The Senate committee is now concurring in almost every particular with the House bills and resolutions of the present salaries of government employes.

The committee on banking and currency have agreed upon Mr. Randall's bill, authorizing the further issue of silver coin. It provides for the issue of $20,000,000 of silver coin, also for the purchase of silver bullion not exceeding at any one time $10,000,000.

The sub judiciary committee of the House, investigating the Blaine bond transaction yesterday afternoon, called D. B. Sykles, of Arkansas, who had no personal knowledge of any connections of ex-Speaker Blaine with the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad bonds that passed into the possession of the Union Pacific Railroad company. O. A. Paddy, of Little Rock, gave testimony to the same import of having any knowledge of Mr. Blaine's connection with the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad bonds.

Senate.

The Chair laid before the Senate a communication signed by B. F. Hawkes, commander of the department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, inviting the Senate to participate in the ceremonies on decoration day, and that the day be declared a national holiday. Referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mr. West, from committee on railroads, submitted a written report, and with amendments, the bill to create a sinking fund for the liquidation of the government bonds advanced to the Central Pacific and Northern Pacific railroad companies.

Also, from same committee, a new bill to create a sinking fund for the liquidation of the government bonds advanced to the United States Railroad company, and for the settlement of the claims of the government on account of said bonds.

The naval appropriation bill was referred to the committee on appropriations.

The Senate then suspended legislative business and proceeded to the consideration of the articles of impeachment against W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War.

House.

Mr. Cox, of New York, asked leave to offer a resolution directing the Secretary of War to inform the House what number of troops are in the Southern States, where they are stationed, and for what purpose they are stationed there. Objection was made and the resolution was not entertained.

The Speaker then proceeded to call the committees for reports of a private nature, and a large number of private bills were reported and referred to committee of the whole. Most of them were for pensions and claims.

Mr. Brown, of Kentucky, from the committee of claims, reported back the bill for the relief of G. B. Luckett and E. H. Tyler, and vetoed by the President, and moved that the same pass, the President's veto to the contrary notwithstanding. The bill was passed—two thirds voting in the affirmative.

Mr. Leese, of New Jersey, offered a resolution, which was adopted, declaring John P. Patterson, of New Jersey, doorkeeper of the House of Representatives for the remainder of the 44th Congress. The oath of office was then administered to Mr. Patterson by the Speaker.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President withholding his approval from the bill to provide for the recording of deeds, mortgages and other instruments of writing in the District of Columbia. Accompanying the message is a letter from the Attorney General, advising the President not to approve the bill because of the indefiniteness as to the time when the deeds and mortgages, and other instruments of writing, shall take effect where they have not been recorded. The message was referred to the judiciary committee.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bill to pay the claims awarded by the Southern Claims Commission.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the private calendar—Mr. Saylor, of Ohio, in the chair. About thirty bills of a private character were passed.

House adjourned at 5:20.

NEW YORK, May 26—The Herald's Washington special says the tariff bill will be recommitted for action at the next session. The House seems inclined to support General Ward's resolution for the appointment of Commissioners to ascertain whether we cannot trade with Canada upon more advantageous terms than at present. The powers of Commissioners will probably be enlarged so as to include Mexico.

A London special to the Herald says the United States ship Franklin, has arrived at Salonica.

The Graphic's special from Paris says the situation is alarming in England Fracne and Italy respecting the Berlin conference. It is understood the terms of the Berlin joint vote have been modified so as to allow the different powers to present their medieval remonstrances to Turkey.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, May 26.—Early in the morning a large crowd began gathering on the sidewalk of Charles street, apparently but few having tickets of admission to the jail yard to witness the execution of Piper. By 9 o'clock the crowd had considerably increased, and the services of the officers were required to keep the entrance to the jail yard clear. At 9:30 a. m. the doors were opened and the police officers were admitted, after which press representatives and others having tickets were admitted to enter. They filled up the stairsteps to the rotunda, witnesses taking seats near the scaffold, newspaper reporters sitting at tables and other spectators filing into three tiers of balconies surrounding the rotunda on the east of the octagon. At 10:55 religious services were held lasting 20 minutes by Dr. Eddy, and while they lasted the prisoner seemed composed, but very pale. During the services the spectators stood leaning upon the balcony banisters, and nearly every face was turned towards the punishment of death. At 10:25 the witnesses passed back to the rotunda, and at 10:30 the procession to the scaffold appeared and mounted the platform. Piper was very weak, his jaw dropped occasionally, and his eyes rolled about as he surveyed the crowd. Sheriff Clark, the chaplain and right deputies accompanied the prisoner who was seated on the drop. Sheriff Clark read the warrant, during which a deputy put the noose over the prisoner's neck, and placed the black cap over his face. It was 10:30 when the drop fell, and not a muscle of the body moved sufficiently to be perceptible. The body turned around several times and then stood still. At 10:55 physicians felt his pulse and listened at his heart, but no signs of life were discovered, and at 11 a. m. the body was lowered and spectators departed.

PLATFORM

—OF THE—

REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism. and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd, A system of free public schools, non-sectarian, in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd, The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recognition of the rights of all. By just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all, perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipaties, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintainance of the Federal Union. The one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republicn party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolve 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana, and his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government; Mr. Morton stands prominent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE CENTENNIAL GROUNDS.

Another Small Attendance at the Exhibition.

HOW THE CROWD ENTERTAINED THEMSELVES YESTERDAY — MEXICO, RUSSIA AND TURKEY STILL BACKWARD — FRANCE GETTING READY RAPIDLY—DESCRIPTIONS OF INDIVIDUAL DISPLAYS.

Yesterday was another pleasant day—as fine as could be wished for. The attendance, though larger than on previous days, was still rather unsatisfactory. We have great fault to find with those in authority for not hurrying along the completion of the work. We feel confident that the buildings are all completed, the exhibits all arranged, and the walks all finished, the attendance will never register less than fifty thousand per day until next November. At Vienna the same mistake was made. The grounds were opened before the exhibition was ready for the public.

There, however, the grounds were put in order much more rapidly than here, for the Government set a couple of regiments of soldiers to work upon them, and in two or three days after the stout young Croats and Hungarians exchanged their muskets for spades and shovels there were good gravel walks everywhere that people cared to go. There really is no excuse for delaying so long these essential preparations for the comfort of visitors. Plank or gravel walks could be made wherever needed in a single day.

The crowds continue to prefer the Art Halls and the Main Building. People who come for amusement find more attractions in the latter place than anywhere else, with its wonderful variety of interesting objects and its concerts twice a day; and those who set out to study the Exhibition in detail usually begin there. The large number of visitors to the art galleries is quite surprising, and seems to argue that the art-loving class is in much greater proportion to the whole attendance than we imagine. They find out the best pictures, too, and congregate before them, leaving unnoticed the walls devoted to mediocrity.

Machinery Hall, too, continues daily to grow in popularity, as its exhibits assumes every day greater perfection. Nearly all the machinery is now in running order, and almost every process ever invented on the face of the earth is exemplified. The machines for the manufacture of textile fabrics occupy about the most prominent position in the building, as also in the estimation of the public, to judge from the large crowds gathered before each seperate machine belonging to this class. These machines are several dozen in number, and may be divided into two classes, viz.: Spinning machines and looms. On the former, silk, cotton and wool spinning are exemplied; on latter, the manufacture of all kinds of fabrics. There are some that weave plain linen and cotton sheetings; others that make broadcloth and kindred fabrics of a more complex nature; still others weave silk fabrics and ribbons of the most eleborate and beautiful designs. These latter machines—the Jacquard looms—are the modern triumphs of inventive genius. They seem so simple and work so easy, and are yet so complicated and so wonderful. They merit, and we notice with pleasure, often receive, a whole afternoon's study.

The machines for the manufacture of other machines appear to come next in the public interest. In these, of course, America and England predominates, especially America, the land of the new civilization. Some of these immense machines occupy hundreds of square feet and weigh hundreds of tons. The construction of most of them is very simple, the interest taken in them resting chiefly in their stupendous size. Some of them, however, are perfect monuments of mechanical genius.

The sewing machine men, too, occupy a great space, and have each fitted up a cozy oasis of comfort in this busy world of laths and pullies and cog-wheels.

The printers have a large settlement in the southeast quarter of the Hall, but not more than half of them are as yet in operation. Two great rival lightning presses create much interest from the noise they make, and from the fact that "Centennial" editions of several newspapers are ground out by them for free distribution.

In the annex are the hydraulic and pneumatic machines.

The great water-fall in the southern end of the tank in the annex is in operation. This water-fall is thirty feet high and forty feet in breadth.

IN THE MAIN BUILDING

the splendors keep steadily increasing.

Only a very few of the exhibits scattered here and there are as yet in an incomplete state. China has just finished its work, and thrown its wonderful display open to the public. Mexico will be ready before the week is over; so will probably France, and Russia and Turkey are each busy making show cases, and will set up their exhibits as soon as they arrive.

A PERFUMED BOWER.

A most decidedly attractive feature of the exhibition in the Main Building is a beautiful "Bower," located near the center of the hall, on the south side of the main aisle. It is about fifteen feet square, with an open latticed covering, about the frame work of which are entwined sweet-scented running vines and flowers, all in life's attractive vigor, and prompting one to imagine himself in some delightful rural retreat, rather than within the iron and glass surroundings of a World's Exposition. At intervals are suspended handsome cages, each with a canary occupant, and all vieing with each other in their sweet warbling. Within the bower are handsome cases with a forest of glass bottles, all richly labelled and ribboned, and filled with the rarest perfumes, scenting the air with fragrant smells, far distant, on all sides. Handsome and intelligent lady attendants serve to add the attraction of nature to that of man's skill and scientific discovery, and as the passer-by reaches the spot, a spray-like shower of perfume from fair woman's hands greets him, causing a halt, and almost invariably a purchase.

This exhibit is made by Wencke & Co., the famed New York perfumers, who are fast gaining a world-wide reputation. Their goods are enthusiastically endorsed by all who know them, and the display made at the Centennial will serve, we are sure, to add largely to their already well-established reputation. Don't fail to see the "Perfumed Bower," and procure a bottle of the standard American perfumes offered for sale. Young and old, of either sex, should procure at least a bottle, and preserve it as a memento of the Centennial anniversary. We call attention to this exhibit with much pleasure, as it goes to show how successful Americans have become in producing this class of goods fully equal, if not superior, to the finest imported goods. Heretofore the French have claimed superiority in this line, but they can no longer do so justly.—Philadelphia [illegible]

POND'S EXTRACT.

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: ask for POND'S EXTRACT.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN.—No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains or Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflamation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discolorations and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES.—It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fulness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES—blind or bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use.

VARICOSE VEINS.—It is the only sure cure for this distressing and dangerous condition.

KIDNEY DISEASES.—It has no equal for permanent cure.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, Toothache and Earache are all alike relieved, and often permanently cured.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific,) Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE.—Removes Soreness, Roughness, and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It revives, invigorates, and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS.—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleeding, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, etc. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Farm-house. Let it be tried once, and you will never be without it.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

LIFE SAVING SUIT
FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA.

And the appalling countless lives that have been lost, urge the imperative necessity for more effective appliances for saving life than have yet been generally adopted. In response to the great public demand, the American Life Saving Suit Company now present a

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, we now offer as a means of absolute safety from death by drowning. The invention now offered claims its superiority over all inventions in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the roughest sea, preserves the natural calorific of the body for any number of days, with capacity for carrying provisions for ten days, and signals to attract attention from passing vessels.

This suit embodies three principles which are imperative in a life saving dress—

First—A buoyancy which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural law.

Second—Protection from water and weather and consequent chill.

Third—A commissariat department, to which is attached signals, with capacity for carrying valuables, etc., etc.

This suit is put on over ordinary clothing, except shoes and hat, and can be put on in less than five minutes; and are let to passengers on transatlantic steamers at the low price of

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1876.

DAFFODILS.

I stand, as once I stood of old,
Upon a meadow's green and gold,
This sunny April day;
The little daisies kiss my feet,
The blackbird's call is clear and sweet,
And care is far away.

A solemn peace lies on my heart,
Lately wont to throb and smart,
And chafe at human ills;
Lift my face to feel the breeze,
That wanders through the budding trees
And shakes the daffodils.

How sweet they show to weary eyes,
These hardy yellow blooms that rise
On slender fluted stalks!
They need no culture, though, or care,
But spring with spring-time, free and fair,
Over all our common walks.

On meadows green, by leafy hedge,
In wood and shade, and rushy sedge,
In little rows or files:
While yet the north wind blows his blast,
Before the storm an sleet are past,
Laugh out the daffodils.

And all their golden tassels wave
As bright and gay now as then
So I, who lose their beauty so,
Rise up this year from last year's woe,
And go her flowers again.

What though from many a dream I part,
I feel the spring time in my heart,
My hopes grow green;
I take joy to the yellow flowers,
"This year shall bring me summer hours,
And deeper, surer peace."

What though the feet that walked with mine
Through last year's days of shade and shine,
Among my daffodils,
Have wandered from my side, and I
Stand lonely under God's blue sky,
Among the daffodils:

What though the hand which held my own
In love's own clasp, while love's own tone
Grew fervent unfeigned,
Has lost my pressure, hands thin and cold:
I bring the trusting heart of old
To these bright flowers again.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came that it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,

PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 56 to 40 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."

WOMEN have the advantage of the men now, in the matter of dress. It only costs about three dollars to fit a woman out, that is if she wants to get herself up in cheap style, while it takes treble that amount for a man, however cheap he dresses.

THE picnic of the public schools at Verbena yesterday was quite a pleasant affair. The rain in the afternoon cut short the pleasures of the occasion somewhat, but all "went merry as a marriage bell."

THE spring bonnet has a cantankerous air that is quite appalling to a timid man. Seen sideways on the head of beauty, it looks as though it was standing on its hind legs ready to jump at you. When viewed from the front, words fail to describe its nolli me trangere expression. The back view is safe, and pretty enough to inspire Orlando himself.

THE second night after her first husband died, she sat by the open chamber window five hours waiting for the cats to begin fighting in the back yard. A STRANGER, leaning against the counter of a bar-room on Court street yesterday, and temptingly grasping the neck of a whiskey bottle, asked, in a loud tone of voice, "Where is the man who will take a drink with me?" and in an instant a dozen or more Presidential candidates jumped up and cried out "here."

WHEN a man who borrowed $25 of you three years ago, and has been dodging you around the street corners ever since, comes manfully up to say he has found the consolation of religion, and hands you a fifty cent piece on account, it's certainly a cheering evidence that Moody and Sankey have not wrought in vain.

THEY sat in a pleasant parlor on Monroe street, and he squeezed her hand. "Oh, would this hand were mine!" he sighed. "Why?" she simpered. "Because, if it were mine, I could knock bullocks down with it better'n with a sledge hammer." The last seen of that young man he was trying to climb on the top of the house by means of the water-spout.

FRESH MEATS.—Saturday has rolled round again, and Adam Schuessler will have another lot of fine, fresh meats on hand, at the market this afternoon. He has a special lot of fine steaks and chops. Also some of the nicest veal and pork ever offered in the market. Our readers who desire to have some fine roasts or steaks to-morrow, must not forget to call at Mr. Schuessler's stalls when they visit the market this evening.

GIVE AND TAKE.—Last April, a Mr. Somebody having filled his keg with strong beer, become so boozy that he wished to do a desperate deed. He grossly insulted a respectable married lady, but in about ten days began to think of apologizing. He visited her house, was admitted, he apologized, and when that ceremony was over another performance began. The lady was prepared, having a stout whip, and she lashed the fellow as she would a child. Several of her companions were there to witness the matinee, and they enjoyed it.

RE-INTERRED.—Mr. Clay, our worthy City Sexton, on Thursday last had occasion to re-inter Mrs. Governor A. P. Bagby, who died in September, 1853. She was buried in one of the old fashioned mummy coffins, which was found to be in excellent condition. Mr. Clay removed the plate over the countenance to ascertain the appearance of the deceased after so long an interment. The only signs of decay were the sloughing off of the hair and a shrinking of the tip of the nose. Otherwise the features of the face were as perfect as when she died, except discoloration.

ADVENT OF SILVER CHANGE.—The return of silver would perhaps be a more exact expression, yet so many years have passed since its departure, that to our young folks it makes its first appearance, and to their elders it has the charm of novelty. A few days ago a bright half dollar of '75, and fresh quarters of '76, just from the mint, received in change for a greenback, produced a peculiar sensation. A Midas-like feeling began to tingle in the ends of the fingers, and the jingle of the glittering coins made unaccustomed music.

The two brilliant strangers were almost stared out of countenance by admiring eyes, and fair Liberty seated among the thirteen stars might have blushed when she caught the gaze, had she not persistently turned her head aside, looking, as it were into the future.

Turning to the reverse, the eagle bearing aloft the motto, "In God we trust," it seemed an appropriate counterpart, for liberty was founded in faith, and the two are the solid corner stones of our national life.

These silver tokens of financial soundness are as "words fitly spoken," compared by the wise man to "apples of gold in pictures of silver." The silver pictures have come; will the apples of gold soon follow?

Notwithstanding all the fine things which may be said of the new-comers, their good looks, their cleanliness, and their durability, they have the troublesome virtues of weight and size, and unless Mrs. Grundy decides that it is fashionable for ladies to wear sensible garments, with strong and ample pockets, how can a lady, gotten up in the latest style, go shopping and endure these new burdens.

KEROSENE EXPLOSINS.—All who shudder, every night, at the thought of being suddenly introduced to another world by the explosion of kerosene lamps, and all who are in the [illegible] paying about half a week's wages per month for the poor quality of gaslight furnished them, will rejoice to learn that Professor Collins, of Whitefield, Maine, assures us of his invention of what he terms "aqua light." He promises soon to favor the public with an exhibition of its wonderful properties in the presence of a number of eminent men of science. The Professor asserts that a quart of water, treated with five cents worth of chemicals, can be made to produce more light than a quart of kerosene; and that a barrel of water, with one dollar's worth of chemicals added, will give out more heat than a cord of rock maple wood. The light he pronounces perfectly safe and it emits neither smoke nor unpleasant odor. His laboratory, he states, he has warmed and lighted for ten days with a jet of water no larger than a cambric needle, and that he will engage to warm and light any house in Whitefield at a large discount on the present rates, although he has not quite perfected his invention. We vote for Professor Collins first, last, and all the time.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $3 a peck, $5 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or grangers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "mid[illegible]men" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, if let to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWBURG, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTHROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium, I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm.

Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL.

BY T. C. BINGHAM & CO. "The Union of Our Forefathers------Peace and Prosperity to All Men!" Terms---$8 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 28, 1876 NUMBER 216

SUNDAY, MAY 28, 1876.

PERSONAL.

While bowing in humble submission to the law, we take advantage of this method to return our heartfelt thanks to the sheriff's officers for the consideration shown us during our confinement in the county jail; also, to the numerous friends whose visits were highly gratifying and sincerely appreciated, and to the public generally for the many kindly evidences of sympathy and esteem extended to us. Were it possible for us to express our thanks in a private manner, we should hesitate to resort to this method, because we have no desire to appear as an applicant for public sympathy or criticism. The kindness shown us was in public, and we thus publicly tender our grateful thanks.

The legislature of Texas has passed a law, so it is reported, affixing a penalty of one hundred dollars for each offence, to prohibit the use of profane language within hearing of any dwelling-house. Fancy the irate Texan slipping upon a mischievously placed orange peel, yet being obliged to restrain his comments until he had outflanked the acoustic properties of the dwellers hard by. Imagine the belated Texan losing his latch-key and, unable to awake his own family, utterly deprived of his only consolation because of the raised window of his next-door neighbor. Judging from a slight acquaintance with some of the idiosyncracies of the people of that State, we should say that, barring the return of nulla bona, its lawmakers have struck a certain means of making all other forms of taxation absolutely unnecessary.

MAYER is violating the Postal law by sending over the State a circular full of Radicalism, with an Alabama State Journal folded in it.—[Marion Commonwealth.

Here is another paragraph charging a citizen with doing that of which he is as innocent as a child. And yet it is just such statements as these which array the people's prejudices against Republicans. Mr. Mayer has never sent a circular of any kind through the mails with the JOURNAL folded in it, and the author of the charge must have known that he was stating an untruth. Falsehood cannot defeat Republicans.

"THE Democratic party is sick unto death of Tammany. It wants to be rid of Tammany forever. The very name of Tammany is as a felon's badge—a connection with it a curse, and its memory a thing to loathe."—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

And yet the Utica Convention, which indorsed Tilden, was engineered by Tammany, and the Courier-Journal supports him with all its might. What is the inference?—[Pittsburgh Commercial.

The inference is that in public these Democratic leaders denounce Tammany, while in private they are as thick as fleas, cheek by jowl, and all bent on getting possession of the Government.

In stating the list of the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama, the name of H. L. Watlington should appear in place of that of W. E. Connelly, as a member from the 7th District. The list properly corrected is, from the 7th District, Arthur Bingham and H. C. Watlington. The error occurred in placing Mr. Connelly's name on the State committee instead of the District Executive Committee, he being a member of the latter committee.

THE Washington Star informs us that our Mr. Lewis in Congress offered an amendment to one of the appropriation bills, abolishing the famous Marine band, which furnishes such elegant music to Washingtonians; and that Mr. Harrison, of Illinois, ridiculed the amendment out of all countenance. Now, that is bad for our Mr. Lewis, and he will not be able to boast to his constituents of having saved them any money. Will not our Mr. Lewis try his hand on some other matter of economy?

THE New York Evening Post remarks that "whatever the Democratic leaders mean to do about a hard-money candidate, it is becoming more and more probable that they do not intend to have a hard-money national platform." The Post justly ridicules Senator Thurman's cowardly proposition that the currency question shall be remitted to the Congressional districts and says that with such a policy the Democrats "will be overwhelmed with public scorn and, what is of more importance to them, with defeat in the next election."

Col. S. D. Morgan, of Nashville, Tenn., has a miniature fac simile of the Egyptian Sphinx. It is about six inches high, is made of hard stone, and was found in one of the Southern States. This is supposed to show an identity between a race that at one time inhabited this continent and the one that existed in Egypt at the time the Sphinx was made.

MR. MORRISON wants Congress to close up work on June 12, but so early an adjournment does not seem within the possibilities. It will take longer than that to open the dead-lock on the appropriation bills; and there is the Senate still absorbed in the appropriation bills. If they get through in time for the Fourth of July celebration they will do well.

THE Des Moines Register says that the preference of the Iowa Democratic State Convention was in this order: Hendricks, Tilden, Bristow, Thurman, Davis, Palmer, Bayard, Allen, and that there was quite a feeling in favor of taking up Bristow at St. Louis in case he is defeated at Cincinnati.

THE Episcopal Diocesan Convention, in session last week at Selma, resolved to sell the Hamner Hall property in Montgomery. The body meets next year in Mobile.

Disappointed office seekers are generally found at the head of reform clubs.

THE FUTURE.

In a very interesting article on the political condition of the country, that able and influential journal, the Philadelphia North American, remarks that Confederates, Democrats and Republicans alike agree that the war which closed in 1865 added very greatly to our National prestige and strength. Perhaps, however, it would not have done so, had not the Republican party continued in position to harvest and garner up the fruits of that tremendous conflict. For had the party been disbanded at the close of the war, and had the Democrats succeeded in regaining power, the protective tariff would have been abandoned, free trade restored, the National banking system abolished, State banks on the old chaotic plan revived, the currency made sectional, and the freedmen left without any civil or political rights. But the war strengthened us, because we advanced rapidly from one change to another until our new progress inspired everybody with active enterprise.

After becoming habitual to these changes, however, the country has been tempted to try a change on another tack, to see whether the Democratic party could bring to the management of public affairs any new ideas or better plans. This was one of those natural re-actions that a great Nation is liable to after a long continuance of one rule. But in this case, as often happens, change has not been improvement. The Democratic party, instead of producing any new ideas or fresh plans, merely revives all its old and exploded errors. It seems to be incapable of getting beyond them. It either cannot understand or will not submit to the fact that the Nation has ignored and thrown overboard all of these errors. Instead of progress it proposes retrogression. Instead of building up it is bent only on tearing down. It assumes merely to demonstrate that all that has been done has been corrupt, illegal and unconstitutional.

It must be obvious that a progressive Nation like ours has no use for such a party as that which calls itself Democratic. Its policy is a mixture of obstruction and destruction. It has been so long in the negative that it cannot understand or appreciate an affirmative policy. Yet on every side we see the need of new measures; of more bold efforts in addition to those that have been so successful; of grand openings for positive statesmanship and executive genius. President Grant has advocated measures which, if carried out, would have given a new impulse to the general progress. But Confederates, Democrats and Liberals combined to obstruct these measures, while they have proposed no measures of their own. Men can see plainly the grand future marked out by the Republican policy, but they can see nothing but imbecility and inaction as the result of Democratic rule. It is a policy of weakness, of incapacity, of disintegration, of impoverishment, of retrogression, of helplessness.

THE Philadelphia North American remarks that in view of the proposed reduction of the army, it would be well for Congress to consider the unprotected condition of the frontier, and the impunity with which our citizens are massacred by maraunding Indians. As the case now stands, we have barely sufficient troops to garrison our forts, and to withdraw protection from the settlers, at the present juncture, is simply inviting a continuation of the many cruel murders perpetrated by the savages. An economy which saves at the expense of human life is most reprehensible, and with such an extent of frontier and territory, it does not seem possible to protect our citizens with anything less than the present force. The Indians necessarily move about to greater advantage than the troops, and they war in detail upon isolated camps almost unchecked. We trust Gen. Crook's expedition will prove successful, and administer a wholesale lesson to the hostile Sioux; but we must confess we have but little confidence in the ability of a column of only one thousand men to properly punish the savages. The peace policy of Indian evangelization has cost us many valuable lives, without reckoning the pecuniary loss and other attendant discomforts of dishonest officials.

"THE penalty of over-production" is the definition given to the fact of the present depressed condition of business. While all this civilized or producing world is under this penalty, there may be consolation in the hope that consumption must at least reduce the over-product and call for new production. The course of recovery is long, and convalescents are proverbially impatient. One thing seems to be certain, and that is that if people would do business, they must accept the situation and be content with a smaller percentage of profits than was the rule in the days of superabundant trade. The diminution of profits will, of course, compel a reduction of personal expenses. The promise of "better days" is already with us, in that very reduction, to which the prudent have already submitted. Times are never hard in a community where people live within their actual incomes. Undue parsimony is, however, reprehensible; and all who have money should liberally spend rather than withhold it. The condition of the industrious classes is the index of the condition of all classes, and wages are better than donations.

THERE never was another such peaceful, cooing turtle-dove, in this wide world, as Watterson, of the Cour-Jour., has been since the Ohio Convention. He is fairly boiling over with a fond desire to fraternize, to conciliate, to unite. His latest essay is a double-leaded, humorous effort to put the money question out of politics. That is very likely to be done at St. Louis, but they will put Sam. Tilden out first.

Hon J. B. Moore, of Colbert, is proposed for congress in that district.

A SIGNIFICANT CHANGE.

Mr. Manton Marble has retired from the management of the New York World, and Mr. William Henry Hurlbert has purchased the paper and assumed its chief editorship. Without knowing more than is embodied in the bare announcement, we cannot tell whether this is merely a temporary transfer for a special political purpose with reference to the St. Louis Convention, or whether it is a permanent change. If permanent, it probably involves the final retirement of Mr. Marble from the field of journalism. But the political significance of the change is that which possesses most interest for the general public. That it has political significance is indicated both by the announcement of Mr. Hurlbert and by the recent course of the paper. It means that the World is to act with Messrs. Belmont, Schell, John Kelly and other Democratic magnates of New York in opposing Mr. Tilden's nomination at St. Louis.

It is stated that Doorkeeper Fitzhugh, when he vacated his office, carried away with him certain valuable records. He also went to the document room and asked to be shown several index books showing the number of documents and books drawn by and still belonging to each member. These being produced he coolly took them and placing them under his arm walked off with them, and all efforts to get them back have been unavailing. Mr. Cox, Speaker pro tem, has directed the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House to take steps to recover the records. Fitzhugh says he has important information which will make some Democrats trouble and injure the party itself if it becomes public, and he intimated that he may use it to get even with those who have disgraced him.

A STAFF correspondent of the New York Tribune writes from Connecticut as follows: "Were there an election tomorrow, I do not think the Democrats could carry the State. In addition to the mischief done by the Legislature in the sale of the Senatorship, the action of the Ohio Democrats in the passage of inflation resolutions and the recommendation of William Allen for the Presidency, and the continued blundering of the majority in Congress, serve to dishearten and discourage the best men in the party. There are a great many Democrats in the State who are not so blinded by partisanship but that they can see the effect of Barnum's election and understand its meaning; and they are thoroughly disgusted at having been sold."

THERE is no concealment among the bolder and more honest Democrats in Georgia of their belief that the "robber Governo.," Bullock, will be protected by Democratic accomplices. The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, one of the oldest newspapers in the South, and thoroughly Democratic, says of him:

"He will not be tried, convicted, or punished. Bullock has a box of papers and a breast full of secrets damaging to Democrats, and the slaves of the box will see to it that the papers are not opened or the secrets revealed. There are too many men who were beggars for office at his hands when he was in power, and who offered to support him and his administration if their requests were granted. There are too many Democrats who were willing partners in his corruption, and wore the collar of the Ring. These will see to it that the fugitive goes free."

There must be some truth in charges made so boldly, and on so respectable authority as this. It will be found as we have maintained from the first, that misgovernment in the South does not lie solely at the doors of Republicans. Our party has had to take the responsibility, but in every scheme of corruption which has so far been thoroughly exposed, Democrats have had the principal share. The case of Bullock will show that Democrats are responsible for all the corruption complained of in Georgia.

CENTENNIAL DEMONSTRATIONS.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES—A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, A joint resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives was duly approved on the 13th day of March last, which resolution is as follows:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it be and is hereby recommended by the Senate and House of Representatives to the people of the several States, that they assemble in their several counties or towns on the approaching centennial anniversary of our national independence, and that they cause to have delivered on such day a historical sketch of the said county or town from its formation, and that a copy of the said sketch may be filed, in print or manuscript, in the Clerk's office of the said county, and an additional copy, in print or manuscript, be filed in the office of the Librarian of Congress, to the intent that a complete record may thus be obtained of the progress of our institutions during the first century of their existence.

Whereas, It is deemed proper that such recommendation be brought to the notice and knowledge of the people of the United States. Now, therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do hereby declare and make known the same in the hope that the object gain the approval of the people of the United States, and that proper steps may be taken to carry the same into effect.

Given under my hand, at the city of Washington, this the 25th day of May, 1876.

CENTENNIAL ITEMS.

The presence of Mr. Longfellow at the Centennial is made the subject in the Philadelphia Press of a genial article, the writer of which speaks of "the poet's glorious face framed in the snow of 69 winters, yet as fresh as if he had not outlived the average of vigorous men." Mr. Longfellow is residing at a delightful Summer resort within 20 minutes of the Centennial Grounds.

From May 23 to October 17 there are to be in Philadelphia no less than 64 Conventions, Conferences, and Congresses of a State, national, and international character.

The different displays in Agricultural Hall are said to be very curious, and not to attract the attention which they deserve.

The police force on the grounds is to be reduced to 1,000 men.

A steady increase of paying visitors to the Exhibition is claimed. Cash admissions on Saturday last, 18,182.

Many of the large employing establishments in Philadelphia have made arrangements to give their workmen a day at the Exhibition—some of them even too without docking wages.

Up to the 22d inst., only seven pickpockets had been arrested and convicted at the Exhibition.

James Lee, a person of color, probably having nothing else to send to the Centennial Exhibition, has kindly offered to send his father. The point of this offer is that old Mr. Lee is, or is supposed to be, CII. years old. So young Mr. Lee addressed a note to Mr. Hopkins, M. C. for Pennsylvania, asking if his father "could be placed in the show." At a subsequent interview, young Mr. Lee explained that his papa was not Washington's body servant, but that he looked very much like Gen. Washington, and had been taken for him several times."

THE idea that Gov. Houston is the whole Democratic party and all who oppose his renomination are Radicals, is too preposterous to find lodgment in the brain of those who know what true Democracy means.—Monroe Journal.

Indeed! You denounce the revenue law monstrosity; the impeachment law outrage, etc., etc., and see if the caucus ring don't read you out of the Democratic party. You tell Houston that the people pay him to remain at the capital and not to leave the Executive office to run itself, while he is up in North Alabama trying to secure his own re-election, and see if the caucus don't declare you to be a "radical," and unworthy of belief.

THE Democratic Bourbons of Mobile, with Joe Hodgson at their head, have slaughtered Peter Hamilton. When Peter first undertook to do all the miserable work of the Bourbon jacobins in their attempts to overthrow popular government in Alabama, he lost the confidence of the true people of the State. His overwhelming defeat in the Mobile county convention, a few days ago, is not surprising. The Bourbons having used him as long as they desired, cast him aside like a squeezed lemon, as of no further service. For a man of Peter Hamilton's attainments to be thus kicked about, like a football, must be very humiliating. We are sorry for Peter. Sorry indeed!

THE London Standard, in a leading editorial on the question at issue between the British and American governments arising out of the Winslow case, says: "On two points it seems perfectly certain that Mr. Fish is in the right, while on the third, the construction of the act of Parliament of 1870, his view is that which to mere unprofessional, common sense, the words in question appear to bear out." The Standard takes the same view regarding the government's true course as does the Pall Mall Gazette, that is, that the question whether the Ashburton Treaty is excepted from the operation of the act of 1870 should be referred to the courts.

THE Washington National Republican of the 25th inst., says:

The Southern Republican Association seems to be earnestly at work. They have appointed their standing committees for the campaign, as well as several special committees, and propose to take an active part in the coming fight. They feel, perhaps, greater interest than any other of the Republicans of the country in this contest, for they know that upon the success of the Republican candidates depends the existence of the Republican party in the South, and not only the existence of the party, but the lives of thousands of their friends, who, in the event of a Democratic success, would be ruthlessly slaughtered. These facts make the Southern Republicans earnest, and we hope to see their example followed by the associations from other States.

THOMAS ISBELL, who was charged with taking money from a registered letter at Jacksonville, some time ago, and fled to Texas, is now in jail at Calvert, Texas, for stealing three dollars. A few months ago no young man stood higher in the estimation of the public in Calhoun county.

THE Randolph News learns from Cleburne county that the crop prospects are exceedingly good, and wheat is "delightful to behold." Gov. Smith is taking large quantities of very rich copper ore from his mine, near the one discovered by Mr. B. J. Wood, some two years since.

Democrats can not see Mr. Barnum's sin, because it is stated that the $20,000 paid for his seat in the Senate was paid from his own pocket.

WASHINGTON.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Mr. Kernan presented a memorial of citizens of the District of Columbia remonstrating against the passage of the House bill, incorporating the suburban railroad, and allowing it to use steam on certain thoroughfares in the city of Washington. Referred.

The legislative and executive business was then suspended, and the Senate proceeded to consider articles of impeachment against W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War.

House.

Mr. Lord, from committee on judiciary, reported a bill to provide for the payment of judgments awarded by the Court of Commissioners of the Alabama Claims rendered after January 22nd, 1876. Passed.

Mr. Singleton, of Mississippi, from the conference committee on the consular and diplomatic bill, reported that the committee had been unable to agree, and moved that they be discharged.

Mr. Banning, of Ohio, called up the bill heretofore reported by him to promote the efficiency of the army of the United States to provide for its gradual reduction and to consolidate certain of its staff departments and for other purposes. He then addressed the House in favor of the bill, and explained its several provisions.

Mr. Hurlbut, of Illinois, said there was no question of more delicate importance than that effecting the reorganization of the army, and therefore there should be no hasty action at this stage of the session, that he would at the proper time offer a bill for the appointment of a commissioner to investigate the whole subject and report at the next session.

Mr. Hurlbut also made the point of order that no quorum had voted (the Republicans refrained from voting) because they were opposed to the passage of the bill unless an opportunity was given for amendment.

Mr. McDougall moved that the House adjourn, and upon this the yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. Banning said that he had no disposition to prolong the discussion. He had said so when he concluded his remarks, and no one expected an opportunity to speak.

Mr. Lawrence of Ohio, said he understood that the bill abolished colored troops. If so, he could not vote for it.

Mr. Banning said it only did away with the odious clause in the law which required two regiments of cavalry and two of infantry, to be composed of colored troops. It abolished distinctions and there was nothing to prevent the enlistment of colored men.

Mr. Hurlbut said he did not wish to delay the business of the House if it could be avoided, but on a bill of such importance there should be careful consideration. He hoped that Mr. Banning would permit amendments to be offered.

Mr. Banning declined and Mr. McDougall then moved that when the House adjourned to-day it would be until Wednesday next. Rejected.

After several other dilatory motions and calls of committees, and there being no prospect of a settlement, Mr. Cox moved to adjourn, and the House adjourned at 3:45 p. m.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Herald's Washington special says it is reported that the charges against Mr. Kerr are to be investigated Clymer's committee. The story is in effect as follows: Augustus P. Green, of New York, was, in 1866, made first Lieutenant in the regular army at Kerr's request, and was commissioned by President Johnson. Green now says he was introduced to Kerr by Lawrence Harvey, doorkeeper of the House and that he paid the latter $60,000 for his aid and influence, and it is now alleged that Harvey gave that sum or part thereof to Kerr. Clymer has notified Herr that if Harvey arrived as expected he would call the case to-day at 10 a. m.

The New York Graphic, in a leading editorial to-day, claims there is no evidence that the President in appointing Don Cameron to be Secretary of War had any reference whatever to Conkling's chances for the Cincinnati nomination. No prominent politicians in the country expects Conkling to become the Republican nominee, but as Secretary of State to a Republican President he will be the right man in the right place.

The Sun to-day publishes a communication from one Aquilla Adams of Boston, accompanied by a letter from ex-Speaker Blaine, dated Augusta, Nov. 18, 1870, addressed to Warren Fisher, of Boston, in which Blaine states that he can control an interest in the Northern Pacific railroad, and if Mr. Fisher desires it he can have it.

LONDON, May 27.—The London and European banks are all declining and a bad feeling prevails in financial circles generally. The cause of the depression is the increasing complications of the Eastern question.

Her Majesty's iron plated steamship, Sultan, 12 guns, 5,256 tons, and 8,629 horse power lately attached to the channel squadron, sailed to-day from Spithead under command of the Duke of Edinburg, to join the Mediterranean squadron.

This afternoon the Globe, in its financial article, says that the Stock Exchange is in a state of panic.

The Court Circular announces that the Prince of Wales is suffering from inflammation of the eyes, and will be compelled to keep in the house for some days.

One of the rumors circulating on the stock exchange says this attack is more serious than the announcement indicates. Another rumor is to the effect that the Rothchild's are sellers of consols to the amount of nearly a million pounds, starting which transaction is supposed to be based on a knowledge that the political situation in Europe is growing worse.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 27.—The inquiry into circumstances attending the Salonica outrage is in progress. PLATFORM

—OF THE—

REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the ecordial recognition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipaties, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintenance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana. In his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, Mr. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud; who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to imparing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

STATE NEWS.

[By Yesterday's Mail to the Journal.]

—T. D. Cobbs has been appointed Solicitor of Choctaw county.

—Theodore Smith, of Connecticut, is prospecting around Cullman.

—Tuscaloosa Circuit Court sent 7 recruits to the penitentiary last week.

—Everything is brisk at Oxmoor, the iron prospects are excellent, and the Eureka Company, under the management of Mr. James Thomas, is a great success.

—The Right Rev. John Quinlan, Bishop of Mobile, confirmed a class of seven in St. Paul's Catholic Church in Birmingham on Thursday last. He left that night for Cincinnati, Ohio, to attend Archbishop Purcell's Jubilee.

—Opelika is actively preparing for the Grand Centennial celebration at Spring Villa, near that city.

—The Birmingham Independent of a recent date says: "We are well pleased to hear it rumored that the Masonic Fraternity of this city purport celebrating the 24th of June, (Feast of St. John the Baptist) by a picnic and oration.

—Crops are suffering for rain, the oat crop especially, in Walker county.

—The Jasper Eagle says: We hear a great deal of complaint among the farmers concerning the rust on wheat. It is only on the blade.

—Judge M. P. Brown of Scottsboro and Mrs. Annie E. Williams of Auburn, Ala., were married on the 17th inst.

—L. A. Dobbs of Lebanon has been nominated for Senator from the 5th Senatorial District.

—Eggs are selling at 10 cents per dozen in North Port and chickens at 20 cents. Butter is plentiful at 20 cents.

—There are yet a considerable number of bales of cotton in the North Port Ware House. Those who have held their cotton, did a bad business.

—The Tuscaloosa Times contains the following: The many friends of Mr. A. B Persinger, were suprised and gratified to learn of his happy marriage to the beautiful Miss Ida Conkling, which took place in Pickens county, a few days since. We learn that she is a niece of the much respected Senator, Roscoe Conkling, of New York.

—The Huntsville Independent says: "On Saturday before last a capias from the Sheriff of St. Clair county was placed in the hands of Sheriff Murphy of this county for the arrest of James H. Bone, deputy U. S. Marshal, and his assistants, L. H. Peevy, George W. Ware, and Theodore Thurston, charged with the murder of James Treece, of St. Clair county. They were arrested and placed in jail, but by some sort of hocas-pocas trick, they were taken out and carried before U. S. Commissioner McCullough, who released them upon their giving bond in the sum of five thousand dollars each to appear before the next United States Court in this city.

—Beer of the first quality is now brewed at Cullman, the German settlement in North Alabama.

—Fourteen negroes went to the penitentiary from Greene county at the last term of the Circuit Court.

—The Tuscaloosa Times says: "A wagon load of fish are caught on the traps every morning, and for a dime, a drum, large enough for an ordinary family's dinner, can be purchased."

—This from the Russell Register, appears to be an insult to every citizen of Russell county: "Most men in the county could be indicted as vagrants if the law were enforced to the letter, and the larder examined. In it at least there are 'no visible means of support'—only scent of the bacon hangs round it still."

—Speaking of the crops, the Tuscaloosa Times remarks: "We conversed with many of our friends from the country, who were in attendance upon the Convention, on the 20th inst., and were pleased to hear that the crop prospects are flattering in every portion of the county. Small grain is filling out much better than was expected ten days ago, and a good yield is now almost certain. The harvest of the oat crop few has commenced, and, wheat will be in a condition to cut in a few days."

SELDOM in those dramas in real life that in tragic pathos surpass all that ever was writ by playwright, has been brought to light anything more touching than the few lines, in school-girl scrawl, addressed to her parents and sisters, by Julia Sichel, a beautiful young Jewess of San Francisco, who a few days since committed suicide. Hers was simply the old story of unrequitted love. There was no taint of guilt about it to awaken remorse nor broken vows to be reproached, but only blank despair. As in those few lines she unwittingly betrays, her love was unsought, but so all-compassing was it, that, with unmaidenly boldness, she sued for love in return, and, finding that hopeless, the light went out of her life and she sought refuge in death. Her letters tell it all with that transparent simplicity which no art can simulate. To her parents she wrote:

DEAR MOTHER AND FATHER—I pray you will forgive the sorrow I cause you by my rash act, but life is one dull blank to me now. Do not blame Ben, for he has tried to reason with me, but all in vain. He can give me no hope that I shall ever be more to him than a friend, and, rather than live without his love, I have determined to take my life. There are a few requests I would ask of you, and then I am ready to die. First of all, promise me, dear father, that you will hold Ben entirely blameless, and for the love I bore him treat him ever as a friend. I do not want mother, Annie or Mollie to wear mourning for me, for the black garments would only be a reminder of my sad end. Let me be buried where the sun shines, and try to keep my grave green. Say I died for love. That is all I want the world to know. Try to bear my death bravely, and take comfort from my sisters and brothers. Dear parents, forgive and pray for your poor daughter. JULIA.

DEAR MOLLIE—I would ask of you a few favors. They are these: When I am dead give mother my gold set, Annie my turquoise ring, keep my watch and chain and pearl ring for yourself, and give to Fannie that set of fancy work I had commenced. Let me be buried with my plain ring on my finger, and put the buttons Ben gave me in my coffin. Keep on with your music and play often, for I always dearly loved to hear you. Now, dear Eugene, Fannie, Jake and Annie, Maurice and Mollie, all good bye. Kiss me before I am laid in my grave.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.
An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the firm to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure return to the investor a $1—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $60, $100, $200, $500, $1,000, $3,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION.
Marriage Guide.
A Private Counselor to the Married, or those about to marry, on the physiological laws and revelations of the sexual system, with the latest discoveries in the science of reproduction, preserving the complexion, &c.

This is an interesting work of two hundred and sixty pages, with beautiful steel engravings, and contains valuable information for those who are married or contemplate marriage, and it is a book that ought to be kept under lock and key, and not left carelessly about the house.

It contains the experience and advice of a physician whose reputation is world-wide, and should be in the private drawer of every male and female throughout the entire globe. Its price is certainly low for the subject of the scientific system that is worth knowing, and much that is not published in any other work.

Sent to any one free of postage for Fifty Cents.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SUNDAY, MAY 28, 1876.

FADING, CHANGING, DYING.

Everything beautiful, darling, must fade;
The rose and the lily, the pride of the field,
And myrtle, which hides the rude marks of the spade,
Where loved ones are sleeping, will all have to yield.

Time's busy gleaner, who gathers the leaves,
And suspends buds in the forest and plain,
Tenderly bind them in bundles and sheaves,
And carry them off to return not again.

Everything beautiful, darling, must change,
The woodland, the meadow and course of the stream;
These scenes now familiar ere long will seem strange.

And only be thought of as seen in a dream,
Or poets and memory long hung away,
And veiled by ages, or dust of the past;
Each moment of pleasure refuses to stay,
The roar of the zephyr is lost in the blast.

Everything beautiful, darling, must die,
That which once rises will surely decrease;
The sturdy old oak as a dust heap will lie,
The solid and the sinner will both have to cease;
Yet there is a hope that each beautiful thing—
Though not in this life—will have being once more.
The heart, like the ivy, to loved ones will cling,
When fallen, and creep to Eternity's shore.

Everything beautiful, darling, must fade—
May change and must die, be it never so grand;
And nothing ordereth that ever was made,
But I'm in the day in his own cunning hand;
The spirit immortal he humbleth not,
Howbeit, though, and crumbles its dwelling of clay.
When everything earthly and Time is forgot,
The spirit will laugh at the thought of decay.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ag we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "wet down and ran together." Upon inve-tigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace you s, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE next meeting of the Baptist State Convention will be held with the First Baptist Church in Montgomery, beginning on Thursday, July 12th.

UNLESS citizens are very careful in looking after the cleanliness of their premises, they will suffer for their negligence through ill health, and heavy physician's bills.

THE Centennial Base Ball club intends holding the championship of the State, although a well-known ball-tosser says he can get up a nine in this city that can beat them.

MRS. LEWIS OWEN will repeat her very interesting reading of a description of Jerusalem, next Monday night at the Methodist Episcopal Church, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A.

FEMALE ambition is the rock upon which this great and glorious republic threatens to split. When you see a woman going to jump over a hack—stop her.

IT is now deafen-itely announced that the Centennial brass band match will come off on the 4th, 5th, and 6th, of July. The Greenville and Union Springs bands have not yet entered.

UNION SPRINGS is to have a meeting the 6th of next month, to talk about a cotton factory. They had several of the same kind of meetings here, and that's all they did, too, talk about it.

IT is with no little pride that we are able to state that within the past week our circulation has increased very largely, and we are promised clubs in all sections of the State. As a paper for the people the JOURNAL cannot be surpassed.

THE time is now at hand when the utmost care and vigilance will have to be exercised in keeping our streets, alleys and by-ways clean, and well disinfected. The summer promises to be unusually oppressive, and we will have to look after our sanitary condition with energy and constancy.

A STRONG-MINDED female sends us a queer reading advertisement; she wants a husband it seems, and the advertisement reads: "Wanted—Some Nice young gentlemans to cum & see mee or wright object matremoney, adress with stamp your much luved darling. Nellie T. Wimbleton." There is no joke about this, unless it is Nellie failed to send us money to pay for the advertisement. We know an old bach. on Monroe street who has been waiting to be caught for some fifteen years, and we recommend him to Nellie. This will be his last chance. Nellie fails to tell where to call.

WE were shown some of the largest Wilson Albany Strawberries yesterday that we ever saw. They were planted the first of February, by Mr. Billingslae. He intends to go into the culture extensively next year.

READING.—Mrs. Lewis Owen will repeat her very interesting description of the city of Jerusalem and its environs, for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association, at the Methodist Episcopal Church, on Monday evening, May 29th, at 8 o'clock.

MR. THOMAS SIMPSON who resides near the city limits, shipped nearly ten barrels of Irish potatoes to Louisville yesterday—making about 30 barrels he has shipped this season. He realizes about $3.50 per barrel nett. This looks like business these hard times, so-called.

JACK CRENSHAW, charged with throwing a construction train from the track at the foot of Commerce street last August on the Mobile & Montgomery railroad, was arrested by deputy Sheriff Robinson at Shorter's station, Friday evening and lodged in jail to await a hearing.

IT is proposed by some of our citizens to make the fair grounds a resort for the people of Montgomery, instead of having a public park within the city limits. It appears to us, however, that the fair grounds are not near enough the city for such a purpose. Besides it is something unusual to have a public resort of that character outside the limits of a city.

IT is some little time before the 4th of July, but nevertheless, some of our public spirited and enterprising cittzens are now discussing the propriety of having a real old-time celebration on that day. A barbecue, oration, etc., have been recognized adjuncts of the occasion ever since the first celebration, and in order to get back as near as we can to first principles it is proposed to have a barbecue near the city, select some good speaker to deliver an oration, and relate the career of the American eagle, and also a good reader to read the Declaration or Independence. Now is the time to push this proposition forward, and make it a success.

THE FREE SCHOOLS.—Complaint is made that the parents of children who attended the public schools of the city the past season, did not exhibit much interest in the examination exercises which took place a few days since. The large number of scholars attending the schools during the year, was an evidence that our citizens appreciate their great value, and we regret that parents did not encourage the teachers who have labored so faithfully by attending the examination exercises. There is no institution in the city of more substantial value to the public than our free schools. They are the hope of the poorer classes of our citizens, as a means of educating their children, and they should be the pride of our entire community. It is the duty of the people of Montgomery to keep the free schools in operation, and extend to them every proper encouragement and support. Many a poor boy who might otherwise grow up in ignorance and idleness, and become a disgrace to the community, is saved by these public schools, for it is the school which makes the man after all. It is a source of rejoicing to us that our free schools are conducted on so excellent a standard, and that they accomplish so much genuine good to the community. Let us hope that the failure of our citizens to attend the late exercises, was owing to their pressing business engagements, and not to any lack of interest in the schools. This is a time when the stagnation in business circles forces our citizens to renewed energy in commercial transactions, and they have but little time to devote to other matters. We cannot believe that there is any want of interest in the public schools, among our citizens. The large number of scholars in attendance during the past session, clearly and unmistakably refutes such an assumption as that.

ABOUT VAGRANTS.—The Journal has often called the attention of our citizens to the evident need of some public institution for the reformation of the large class of vagrants, idlers and pilferers who infest the community. We have never intimated that we thought the whipping post was the best means of perfecting the reformation we all so much desire, but the following item from the Rome, Georgia, Courier, of a recent date, seeks to place us in that position:

The local columns of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL recommends the establishment of the whipping post in Montgomery to get rid of the horde of thieves and idle vagabonds that infest the city. This is a sensible suggestion, but were it carried out, the JOURNAL would be the very first to raise the Radical howl of Bourbon cruelty, over the first negro who had his back split for stealing a shoat.

We are very far from believing or admitting that the vagrant class is composed entirely of negroes. There are many persons of both races, in our midst, who really need the reformation which a well directed work-house could accomplish. There is hardly a city in the country as large as Montgomery, but has some public institution devoted to the reformation of the abandoned and vicious classes of the community, and the result in every instance has been encouraging. There seems to be no other mode of dealing with these classes, and so long as Montgomery is without any such institution, so long will the vagrant class remain a public nuisance. In our efforts to advance the moral status of our community we have had no thought of political bearings. While we would not advocate the whipping post, save as a last resort, it is also true that we would not complain of any punishment inflicted upon the lawless, unless such punishment should be cruel and inhuman, and in that event we should only complain in the spirit of humanity, and not on any political ground whatever. It seems to be impossible for a certain class of people in the South to get beyond the pale of politics in considering any questions of public interest. We are not so narrow minded and hidebound as that. The moral advancement of our community is of far more importance to us than any matter of purely political bearing. If we can serve the people of Montgomery, and advance their best interests, in our humble efforts at reform, we shall be amply repaid in the results which all of us must enjoy. In doing this, we are actuated by higher motives than politics.

SOME of the finest plums we have ever seen in Alabama, were offered for sale in the market yesterday.

A GOLD sleeve button was lost last night. The owner will pay a liberal reward for its recovery. 28:1t

AS an evidence that the masses of Republicans in this county are with the regular ticket, the beat meetings of the disaffected element yesterday were so slimly attended, that it was a hard matter, in some of the beats, to get enough delegates to attend their proposed county convention.

THE JOURNAL job office is prepared to print all kinds of circulars, posters, tickets, etc., necessary for use during the present canvass. The attention of clubs is called to the fact that we are prepared to do all kinds of campaign work cheaper than any other job office in the State. We can print posters of any size, and in all colors. Our terms are cash in every case. Send along your orders for estimates, and we promise satisfaction in every instance.

THE FIRE.—Yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock, the fire alarm was given by striking ward five. The steamers were seen hurrying towards Holt's mill, and everybody followed. The fire originated in the lumber kiln next to the mill, and succeeded in burning all the lumber in it and the roof. Alabama No. 2, was first on the ground and had the first water on the fire. The other fire companies soon followed, and the little fire stood no chance at all. It's got so lately that every time there is an alarm of fire, people seem to think it's Holt's mill.

THERE is some talk about having an excursion to Pensacola, and a ride over the bay to the forts, etc. Such an excursion would be quite pleasant, just now, and we trust that the persons who have proposed it will push it ahead to success. No doubt several hundred of our citizens would join in such a pleasure trip, and the managers would be enabled to charter a small vessel for a trip upon the waters around Pensacola. We are in favor of the proposed excursion, and trust that it will not be put off until the hot July days would detract from its pleasures.

THE merchants of Montgomery do themselves great injustice in not having a first-class Board of Trade, or Cotton Exchange. Montgomery is one of the leading cotton centres of the country, and our merchants are as able and high-toned as those of any city in the Union. Their own best interests demand that they should have a Cotton Exchange by which and through which they could keep in communication with all the leading markets of the country, and maintain their own dignity. If our merchants had a well conducted Cotton Exchange or Board of Trade, they would be astonished at the immense advantages which would flow from it. Will not the business men of this city take hold of this subject?

A PUBLIC RESORT.—It is evident to us that with a little energy and liberality on the part of our citizens, we could have a public resort constructed within our limits, which would be of incalculable benefit to the city at large. Every warm season through which we pass only serves to demonstrate that the one great need of Montgomery is a public park, for the refuge of our citizens during the heated term. The benefit of these public resorts cannot well be estimated. Their effect upon the health of a community is one of the greatest blessings enjoyed by the people of cities which have them. We have seen it stated in some publication that Central Park saves thousands of lives annually to the city of New York. Persons in ill health resort to these parks and the change from heated apartments in crowded thoroughfares is almost like going into the country; and the imagination of the sick person that he is breathing fresh air serves to lessen the dread of illness. In addition to this view of the matter, there is another which is quite as effective in behalf of the favorable argument. Many hundreds of infants and young children (even in Montgomery) are never permitted to get beyond the limits of their parents' premises; and if we had a nice park these young children could daily play and romp over the grounds thus giving them health and strength. We are sure that our readers who have children would rejoice to have such a resort where they could be carried for recreation and amusement. That such a park could be constructed in our city at a reasonable cost, we have not the least doubt. If every citizen who is able to do so, would subscribe only a small amount to a fund for this purpose, we could have an elegant park arranged in a month or two. There are several beautiful squares in the city, either one of which would make a splendid resort, and could be kept in good order constantly, at a small cost to the public. Let us have a public park.

Chufas and Japan Peas.

The introduction of these crops throughout the South will enable us to keep our stock and fill our smoke-houses as cheaply as it can be done at the West. The Chufa is planted in a ridge like potatoes, yields on common land 200 bushels per acre of the richest feed, unequaled for fattening hogs, poultry—and children. One acre will fatten more hogs than ten acres of the best corn, besides furnishing grazing all summer. For the truth of these claims we refer to the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, or to any agricultural paper in the South. Price, by mail, postage paid, 20c a package, 40c a pint, 70c a quart by express, $4 a peck, $15 a bushel.

The Japan Pea fully established its merits several years ago, and is now in universal demand. It grows upright like a cotton stalk, is cultivated like corn, and yields from 150 to 300 bushels an acre on ordinary land. Stock of all kinds relish it and thrive highly on it without other feed. Also excellent for table use (after boiling about a week.) Price by mail, postage paid, 15c a package, 30c a pint, 50c a quart. By express, $3 per pack, $10 per bushel. These seeds are so scarce and costly that we cannot make any discount to wholesale dealers or graugers.

When Southern planters grow their own stock-feed and fatten their own hogs we shall hear no more of hard times and "middlemen" for this will put an end to both. If you fear to invest largely it will cost but a trifle to try these seeds, and unless your experience differs from all others you will be forever thankful for the trial. Address,

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 30, 1876 NUMBER 217

TUESDAY, MAY 30, 1876.

A FITTING FINALE.

The work of the regular Republican State Convention was fittingly terminated in the election of Hon. Charles E. Mayer as chairman of the State Executive Committee, and Col. George Turner, as Secretary. Under Mr. Mayer's management in the campaign of 1874, the Republican party brought to the polls the largest vote it has ever cast in Alabama, and but for the frauds and violence perpetrated by the Democratic party in that election, Alabama would be prospering and happy under Republican rule to-day.

The selection of Messrs. Mayer and Turner for the responsible positions to which they have been called, will meet the prompt indorsement of all true Republicans in this State. They are active, energetic and experienced gentlemen, and will conduct the campaign on a lightened and honorable standard—a standard which will challenge the confidence and respect of every good citizen in Alabama.

To-morrow the Democratic State Convention is to assemble in the State Capitol in this city. Never before will so large a body of office holders and office seekers have ever got together in the State of Alabama. Scarcely ten in that hungry crowd but will belong to one or the other of these classes. It ought to be termed "office holders and office seekers convention," drawn together and manipulated by Boss Houston and his subservient underling office holders. John C. Calhoun never uttered a profounder truth than when he said that "the Democratic party was kept together by the cohesive power of the public plunder." And that Jno. Randolph meant the Democratic leaders when he declared that "most politicians have but seven principles, namely: the five loaves and two fishes." Oh, the wild hunt after office, so ironically deprecated by the Democratic lovers of the public pap. Democrats don't believe that office should seek the man, for their scent after office is keener than that of any hound who ever answered to the bugle call. We hope the tenacious office holders and the hungry greedy, starving office seekers will deport themselves with propriety, and not re-enact the scenes that rendered the Democratic State Convention of January, 1869, without a parallel in Alabama.

GOVERNOR HOUSTON has been up in North Alabama, packing the county conventions for the purpose of securing his re-election as Governor and thence to the United States Senate. He managed to have Rip Davis, his private secretary, nominated for the Legislature in Limestone county, and then put him on the track for Congress. All the office-holders of the Democratic party of Alabama will be in their State convention, which meets to-morrow, and the voice of every one of them will be for Houston. But this is the first time in the history of Alabama that a Governor has left the executive office, and gone into the business of packing county conventions, and making Congressmen. Houston, like his Bourbon masters, prates loudly about honest government, reform, personal rectitude, and all that sort of thing, but he can pack a county convention as nicely as John Morrissey or any other Democratic leader. It is all loud-mouthed professions with these Bourbons and not a whit of practice.

SOUTHERN carpet-baggers are coming to grief in various directions. On Monday the grand jury of Atlanta, Georgia, found a true bill against the late State Treasurer, Jones for illegally withholding money from the State to the amount of $110,271 84. Jones was arrested and required to give a bond for the sum of $10,000. The bond has not yet been given.—[New York Express.

This paragraph only shows how utterly impossible it is for a Democratic sheet to tell the truth. Hundreds of such cases occur every day, both North and South. A Republican paper would scorn to injure any citizen by slander or falsehood. That is it is that these degraded organs of the Democracy lie and slander with impunity. And what will "Col." Jones say to his classification as a "carpet-bag defaulter?"

IF a Republican Governor had vacated the Executive office and went into the country for the purpose of packing county conventions in his own interest, the Democratic papers and leaders would have bellowed themselves hoarse in denouncing him. But here is Gov. Houston who has done this very identical thing, and we don't hear a word about it. No Democrat rises up and denounces him for this grave dereliction of public duty, but on the contrary he will be renominated, and every one of these "reformers" will be blowing for his re-election.

WHAT has become of our friend Leroy Brewer, of Mobile? We observe that his constituents failed to renominate him for the General Assembly, and we have not heard his name mentioned in connection with the Senate, or of any State office. It cannot be possible that the part Mr. Brewer played in the farcical war upon Senator Spencer was distasteful to his constituents in Mobile. Now, we take it that Mr. Brewer has retired to private life, since his committee made such a dead failure.

MR. EX-SPEAKER ANDERSON, of Mobile, is traveling through the first district working up his Congressional interests. This is not the way for a Democratic candidate for Congress to do, now-a-days. He should sit quietly in his office in Mobile, and let the office seek him out, instead of trying to pack county conventions in his behalf. If a Republican candidate for Congress were to do this thing, he would be cried down by the whole Democratic concern, as a "corrupt Radical office seeker!"

TILDEN BUYING UP THE SOUTH.

A few days ago the Memphis Avalanche printed a series of five articles which that paper received from the advertising agency of Bates & Locke, of New York, to be inserted as reading matter, and for which the sum of ten dollars was offered in payment. Each one of the five articles endeavored to show that Tilden was the only hope of the Democratic party as a Presidential candidate; and that the South especially should support him solidly in the St. Louis convention.

The Avalanche, upon receiving the articles from the advertising agency, exposed the attempt thus made to use the columns of the Southern papers in Mr. Tilden's interest, and made a direct charge against the Democratic managers in New York of being engaged in buying up Southern delegations to St. Louis. This charge has been denied by some of the Democratic papers, but they put their denials in such form as to practically admit that Tilden is trying to buy his nomination as the Democratic candidate for President. In order, therefore, to expose this infamous scheme more thoroughly, we reprint the following paragraph which appeared in the local columns of the Pensacola Gazette of last week:

We believe now that success is impossible without New York, and we are going to get New York by nominating Tilden. We don't like him as well as a Western man, but that is not the thing. We fear a Western man cannot carry New York, or any other Eastern State, so we drop the West and go for Tilden.—See Cincinnati Commercial.

This is an exact copy, verbatim et literatim, of one of the series received by the Memphis Avalanche from the advertising agency of Bates & Locke. Does not every reasonable person see that the Pensacola paper is being used by the "ring" which is attempting to buy up the South for Tilden? Why should a political article of such significance as the above be printed in the local columns of the Pensacola Gazette? It is not usual to print important political articles in the local columns of any newspaper. But this particular item was sent to this paper as an advertisement, and the advertising agency specified the particular position it should occupy in the paper, and also that it was not to be marked as advertisements usually are, but must appear as an original article in the paper which published it. It was placed on the local page of the Pensacola paper, because it is supposed that articles on that page are more closely scrutinized by people generally than those in other portions of the papers, and for the further reason that it was intended to affect public opinion in Florida. Mr. Tilden's managers have been supplied with funds to buy up every Democratic paper in the South, and this purchase is to be made through the advertising agencies of New York city. It is a new feature in our politics, but it is perfectly characteristic of the Democratic leaders. For many years those leaders bought up the country through Tammany hall, but that concern has become so corrupt and so infamously rotten that they had to resort to new methods, and this last one, while not at all surprising, has the credit of being effective and ingenuous.

The country has been somewhat amazed for several years, at the repeated professions of honesty on the part of Democratic leaders, and the people had almost been persuaded to confide in these professions. They have been so often repeated, and each time with new emphasis, that in view of recent exposures of dishonesty by Republicans, there was a sentiment growing up which favored Democracy. Notwithstanding all their past frauds, their stealings from the government, their plunderings in New York and elsewhere, the people seemed to be on the point of once more placing trust in Democracy. But this bold attempt to buy up the South by Tilden and his strikers, tears away the cover from the old concern and leaves it again a stench to all good men. There is the same corrupt, dishonest, treacherous Democracy, with its leading Presidential candidate trying to buy his way to the Whitehouse.

Further comment is useless.

MORMONISM.

We find the following statement in the Pensacola Gazette of a recent date:

None of the Odom family who assassinated Firm Jernigan had been caught up to last accounts. Mrs. Jernigan elsewhere offers a reward for the arrest of the 'preacher' who did the shooting. He has gone westward, perhaps to enlist in Brigham Young's army of 'Destroying Angels' and perhaps take a hand in another Mountain Meadow Massacre. It is not generally known that the Mormons, or 'Saints,' as they call themselves, exist numerously in the woods of Sama Rosa county. Emissaries from abroad first sowed the seed of their faith among these ignorant persons, and now their meetings are largely attended.

It would seem that the State authorities of Florida have a very nice job on hand. It is unpleasant to have Mormon emissaries so near our doors. In their cases it is distance lends enchantment to the view.

Great sympathy is felt for the President and Mrs. Grant and for Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris in the affliction they are suffering in the death of the infant son of the latter. The little one was ten months old and was a bright and handsome boy. Although Mrs. Sartoris has been received by her husband's parents as a daughter, in the great grief which has now come upon her she must greatly miss the tenderness of her own father and mother. The infant died upon the second anniversary of her marriage. Mrs. Sartoris is very young to know the anguish of losing a child. She is not yet twenty-one years of age.

THE GOVERNMENT EXHIBITS AT THE CENTENNIAL.

The Government has made a most creditable and interesting display at the Centennial, in its one special building. The descriptions as published in the Philadelphia papers have been devoted to four of the numerous sections into which the Government display is divided. The first two of the series embraced the Signal Service and the Agricultural department; the next two the Lighthouse Service and the Smithsonian Institution display, in conjunction with the Indian Bureau and the Food Fish Commission. With these, before them, our readers who have not yet visited the Great Exhibition, and even some of those who have, will be better able to judge of the highly interesting and instructive character of the display made by the departments and bureaus of the National Government.

In the Signal Service section the visitor is brought into close contact with the ingenious devices and methods by means of which the corps of observers attached to that service and posted at all conspicuous places throughout the United States are enabled by observation, telegraphing and computation to foretell the approach of storms, the tracks they will be likely to take in traversing the United States, and generally foretell the "probabilities" of the weather from half a day to several days in advance, thus conferring a great benefit upon commerce and agriculture, and in some degree promoting the convenience of the general body of inhabitants of the country. In the Agricultural section the visitors see a concentrated expression of the resources of the United States, so far as the products of the soil and the forest are concerned. It is all before him in compact form, even to the insects that are helpful or hurtful to vegetable and animal life.

In the display made by the Smithsonian Institution, in conjunction with those of the Indian Bureau to the Interior Department, and the United States Food Fish Commissions, there is a world of interest peculiar to that exhibit. There is a full collection of the implements, weapons, utensils, costumes, ornaments, pottery, and other remains of the aboriginal races of this continent; also a complete illustration of the fisheries of our rivers, bays and seacoast, including actual specimens of many of the fishes, moulded and painted models and pictures of numerous others, together with the boats' apparatus and fishing tackle and weapons used in that pursuit, both by the present races of whites and their predecessors among the Indians; also of the products of the mine and of the quarry, in the splendid collection of ores of the precious metals, numerous specimens of brilliant and unique crystallized minerals, marbles, building stone, coals, ores of copper, lead and other metals.

The last of the series of the Government exhibits thus far reported is that of the Lighthouse Service. In this the visitor sees the meaning and uses of those means—adopted by the Government to promote the safety of all vessels approaching or departing from the coast or commercial ports of the United States. Lighthouses, buoys, fog signals, and other kindred apparatus are familiar to most persons on the seaboard, great lakes and rivers, yet few understand their full value and significance to the mariner and to commerce. In the Lighthouse section of the Government Building all this is made plain, and the intelligent, inquiring visitor is soon able to read their lessons as the sea captain does.

There are other sections of the Government Building yet to be described which are quite as interesting and instructive. A full afternoon or morning there will amply repay the whole price of admission to all of the buildings, and compensate for ten-fold the time spent—if the visitor has a regard for what is valuable as well as for that which is beautiful.

THE great sale of dry goods in New York, described in the JOURNAL'S telegrams a few days ago is generally greeted as an evidence of the revival of trade. The most significant incident is found in the fact that the market was able to take (and practically maintain its steadiness under the offer) about two million dollars worth of a single class of goods. So large a sale had never before been attempted, and it is gratifying to know that the dry goods trade felt it to be safe to absorb this immense amount of goods at this time. If this instance of what can be done in trade, even in these times, for the trying, will only replace the prevalent sluggish inactivity by some further signs of vitality, the sale will have done great good. The rush of dealers to New York to attend this sale, and the avidity of the bidding, all show that when desirable goods are offered at low enough prices, there are plenty of people ready to buy them.

WHEN Peter Hamilton undertook to out Herod Herod in fastening Bourbon government upon Alabama, and thus carrying the State backwards a quarter of a century, he lost the confidence of the liberal and enlightened people of Alabama. His humiliating defeat as a candidate for re-election to the State Senate, is his reward for reversing the wheels of progress in this State.

CANDIDATES for Congress are as thick up in North Alabama as blackbirds around a corn patch. And yet the Democrats are not office-seekers but pure, spotless patriots. Hypocrisy is out done by these hungry aspirants.

THE name of John Forsyth seems to have disappeared entirely from the list of Senatorial aspirants in Alabama. We knew it would be so, and reminded Forsyth some months ago that he would be thrown overboard at the proper time.

—Birmingham cries out for a good daily paper. No Democrat need apply.

ENGLAND AND THE EASTERN QUESTION.

The English press comments favorably upon the attitude of their government toward the Berlin Conference. A special dispatch from Vienna to the Telegraph says that England's note relating to the memorandum agreed upon by the three chancellors assigned as reasons for her refusal to accede thereto that the Powers were substantially agreed that the original note of Count Andrassy went as far as it could without an infringement of the Porte's sovereignty; that sufficient time had not been allowed for the execution of the accepted reforms; that Montenegro's breaches of neutrality had prevented the pacification which the Powers considered necessary to the execution of the reforms; that the proposed military disposition of the Turks and the insurgents seems to England a premium for renewed hostilities; that the gigantic system of gratuitous relief proposed would be beyond Turkey's ability to grant, and would be seriously destructive of the morality, thriftiness and industry of the people; that the proposal to take more effectual measures at the end of a two months' armistice is a sufficient encouragement to the insurgents to continue the rebellion, and an inducement to Montenegro to persevere in her breaches of neutrality, hoping thereby to obtain an accession of territory, and that the proposal to bring war ships into the Dardanelles amounts to a proposal to violate the treaty of 1857, and is directly contrary to the long-established custom of preventing vessels of war passing those straits. The Pall Mall Gazette accepts the foregoing as a correct indication of England's reasons for its refusal, and says it is a reply with which there is every reason to be satisfied.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Official advices received here from Mexico report that the state of affairs in the vicinity of Vera Cruz remains about the same as reported some two weeks since. They seem to be carrying on a kind of guerilla warfare. The railroad and telegraph to the City of Mexico had been cut by a force of rebels, a few miles from Vera Cruz. The trains had been fired upon and there has been no communication for a week. These advices are of the date of May 18. On the 17th of May a military train with General Alatorere and four hundred soldiers, reached Vera Cruz, en route to re-inforce Escobado at Matamoras. Advices from Tuspan and Tabasco, Mexico, are similar to those from Vera Cruz. The rebels hold Manathlan. No foreign residents have, as yet, been molested. The Mexican government expresses the greatest confidence in its ability to very shortly crush out the rebellion.

Official advices received at the Navy Department say that the rumors recently published of a mutiny on board the United States Steamer Tennessee, flag ship of the Asiatic squadron, are entirely false. No dissatisfaction has even been expressed by the men on board that vessel.

Information received at the Navy Department to-day, from the squadron recently sent to the coast of Mexico, to look after the American interests in that quarter, is as follows: The Huron was at Vera Cruz on the 18th inst. The Hartford and Marion were off Brazos, Santiago, on the 18th. The Marion has been ordered to join the European fleet, and is expected to reach the Mediterranean by the 12th of August at the latest.

The amount of new national bank circulation issued during the month of May is $50,528; amount of legal tenders to be destroyed, 80 per cent. thereof, is $494,208, reducing the outstanding legal tender circulation to $370,123,668. Internal revenue receipts to-day, $551,735 42; customs receipts $447,250 16; national bank notes received to-day for redemption, $577,759.

Senate.

Te Senate met in secret session to-day at 10 o'clock and resumed the consideration of the Belknap impeachment matter.

House.

On motion of Mr. Morrison the House agreed to adjourn from to-day until Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

Under the call of the States for bills and joint resolutions quite a number were referred to appropriate committees. None were of general importance.

Mr. Adams offered a preamble and resolution reciting the general depression of all branches of manufacturing interests in the country and declaring that all legislation calculated to unsettle values is unwise and injudicious and that all tariff legislation is therefore at present expedient.

The committee on expenditures in the War Department met this morning at 11 o'clock. Lawrence Harvey, the important witness, was in attendance. The committee waited until 12 o'clock for Speaker Kerr but he did not put in an appearance, when an adjournment was carried until 1 o'clock.

Harvey looks to be about 40 years of age, and has a good looking face. He was very much depressed for want of sleep, not having had any rest for two nights.

The committee met at 1 o'clock, Speaker Kerr being in attendance; he was accompanied by the Hon. Scott Lord, of the House judiciary committee.

Harvey was sworn and testified as follows:

I reside in New York city, No. 604 Sixth Avenue; have resided there for eight years; have no present employment; resigned in November last the position of chief clerk of the stationery room in the appraiser's office; in 1866 was employed as door-keeper in the House of Representatives; knew A. P. Green at that time; had known him for thirty years; helped him to secure an appointment in the army in the spring of 1866; Green wanted a place, and as a personal friend I exerted myself to get him an appointment.

Question—What took place with reference to securing that appointment?

Answer—I will tell everything that is not confidential; I don't see though what this Congress has to do with a confidential transaction which occurred ten years ago.

Question—What conversation had you with Green first, as to securing the appointment?

Answer—A good many things were said; I can't well trace my memory back as to what took place then; Green waited on me and desired the place; I told him I would try and secure it for him.

Question—Was anything said about money being used?

Answer—Whatever was said about money was confidential, and I hope the committee will excuse me from answering what is confidential.

The committee insisted on an answer.

Witness—I hope the committee will excuse me from answering that question.

Mr. Clymer—Do you refuse to answer?

Witness—I don't want to be censured, but I don't think I ought to disclose what is confidential; I desire a little longer time; I did not think the question was going to be asked me, and desire a little longer time to prepare myself.

Mr. Kerr said that if the witness had anything confidential to communicate he need not regard him (Kerr) but, so far as he was concerned, might disclose it.

Witness—Does Mr. Kerr desire me to tell the truth?

Mr. Kerr—Certainly.

Witness—Then I will tell the truth. I spoke to Mr. Kerr about the matter; he said he had already nominated a man from his district, but he had not accepted the place; I then told Mr. Kerr I had a friend, and if he would appoint him I would pay him; Kerr told me to come to his house; I went and he asked me what were Green's politic, and I said a Republican; Mr. Kerr then told me I must get some one in New York, some good Democrat in New York, to indorse him so that if his friends in Indiana who objected to his going out he could say that he nominated him because he was well recommended; the next time I saw Mr. Kerr he said he thought the place was worth about $500; I saw Green and he said that all the money he could raise was $400; I said I would make up the deficiency; Green gave me $400 in fives, tens and twenties; I kept the money four or five days; one day Mr. Kerr met me and said, 'Harvey I will take that money now;' I handed it to him in a roll and he put it in his pocket; he said "I will go up to the War Department and fix up the appointment;" about a week after I paid Kerr the money; Harvey sent over a registered letter containg $100 which I had advanced for him to make up the amount, $500; Green went once with me to Mr Kerr who lived at that time on a street running parallel with Pennsylvania avenue; I have forgotten the name, in the appraiser's office in New York I made the statement that the Democrats were charging corruption upon the Republicans and that they had better cover their own tracks; J. S. Moore called on me in New York and showed me an anonymous letter which he said he was investigating; I did not know who wrote it; I did not want this matter to get out nor did I want to come before this committee; the reason I did come is because the newspapers have been slandering me and saying that I proposed to run away.

Harvey was sworn and examined by Robert B. Elliott.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 29.—The Stock Exchange opened strong at a sharp recovery for all sorts of stocks, but quietly relapsed to a point, in some cases considerably below Saturday's closing prices. Business is dull in consequence of the making up of accounts preparatory to settlement, and because of the absence of the Jewish members who are adhering to to-day as a holiday. The heavyfall in most stocks since the last accounts causes the settlement to be awaited with some apprehension abroad. To-day one firm of bankers have suspended with liabilities believed to be rather heavy.

In the House of Commons this afternoon Hon. Mr. Disraelli replying to the inquiry of Mr. Callen as to whether in view of the grave disclosures concerning certain British subjects made in the American House of Representatives in connection with the Emma Mining Co., it was intended to institute proceedings against the persons implicated, and said he had read nothing further regarding the disclosures than was contained in newspaper reports. The proceedings in the Emma Mine investigation had not come before him officially and he had not considered the grave step of instituting criminal proceedings against any one.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A Fort Fetterman dispatch says the man Murphy, who came in from the Black Hills, said he had helped to bury 73 men, and believed 300 men had been killed since January 1st. The people at Custer live in constant terror. All who can are abandoning the country.

CAIRO, May 29.—The latest advices from the African exploring expedition state that Lieutenant Gordon is expected to reach Khartoum in July. Lake Aida has been navigated, and found to be 145 miles long and 80 miles wide. It is open to Ghisky. Lieut. Gordon navigated the lake in 45 days in boats.

BOSTON, May 29.—The steamer Wm. Crane which left Boston Saturday on a regular trip for Baltimore, struck on Squash Meadow Shoals, Vineland Island, but got off this morning with the assistance of the U. S. revenue steamer Dexter. The Crane, however, had to throw off a small portion of her cargo. The vessel was not damaged.

PLATFORM

—OF THE—

REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recoguition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipaties, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintenance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana. In his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, Mr. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic. E. D. MORGAN,

Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention heartily appreciates the services of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is highly necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support of our party, and for the valuable service they have rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

CENTENNIAL ITEMS.

—At a prominent railroad intersection in Northern Ohio, a few days since, a well-dressed gentleman and his wife left the cars. The gentleman at once proceeded to the [illegible] and passed an elegant [illegible], worth twenty dollars or more, to pay for a telegram for money to enable him to reach home. He had been cleaned out at Philadelphia.

—The International Jury of the Exposition assembled for the first time, on Wednesday, and are pronounced the best body of judges that any Exposition has yet had. The Tribune correspondent says:

I have never seen a body of men of equal size containing so many marked and strong faces and so few weak ones as the united jury did; and I was especially glad to remark that the American half of the assembly presented as good an appearance on the whole as the foreign half across the aisle. There are a score or so of nobodies who owe their positions solely to personal influences, but a large majority of the members have qualifications that particularly fit them for the branches of investigation to which they are assigned, and characters that guarantee the fairness of their verdicts.

The prospect of an honest award of prizes to the most deserving is a very bright one

—The Pennsylvania State Building was opened on Wednesday, and is considered a very handsome structure.

—The International Arbitration Convention, or Universal Peace Union, propose to erect upon the Centennial Grounds a Commemorative Forge where "swords will be turned into plowshares, and spears into pruning hooks," according to the pastoral prophecy. It looks, just now, as if there would soon be business for them in the Mediterranean.

—Of the 20,864 admissions to the Exhibition on Monday, 12,396 were on payment; complimentary, 540; exhibitors, press, and attendants, 7,928.

—One of the most beautiful displays in the Horticultural Hall is the 1,500 rhododendrons with all their innumerable hues and varieties, displayed by a florist of Surrey, England.

—Mr. Longfellow is a regular visitor at the Centennial, and is considered by the many as one of the best "sights." He is residing at a delightful summer resort within twenty minutes of the Exposition grounds.

—Agricultural Hall affords one of the best displays of its kind ever seen—especially of American products. It is the Mecca of the rural visitors.

—It is thought that all parts of the Exhibition will be in perfect condition by the end of the present week. It is specially mentioned that Russia's space is rapidly filling. Portugal and Turkey is making considerable progress. France has nearly completed her preparations.

—The following programme for pomological and live stock exhibitions, at the Centennial, will interest our Southern readers:

Strawberries	June 7 to 15.
Early Grass Butter and Cheese	June 13 to 17.
Early Summer Vegetables	June 20 to 24.
Honey	June 20 to 24.
Raspberries and Blackberries	July 3 to 8.
Southern Pomological Products	July 18 to 22.
Melons	August 22 to 26.
Peaches	Sept. 4 to 9.
Northern Pomological Products	Sept. 11 to 16.
Autumn Vegetables	Sept. 19 to 23.
Cereals	Sept. 25 to 30.
Potatoes and Feeding Roots	Oct. 2 to 7.
Grapes	Oct. 8 to 16.
Autumn Butter and Cheese	Oct. 17 to 21.
Nuts	Oct. 23 to Nov. 1.
Autumn Honey and Wax	Oct. 23 to Nov. 1.

Applications for entry should be addressed to Burnet Landreth, Chief of the Bureau of Agriculture. There ought to be a large display in each class, and we doubt the case will be if the farmers and nomologists understand that they are required to contribute. Dairy products are to be shown on Wednesday of each week. The field trial of moving machines, tedder and hay rakes will take place on grounds near Schenck's Station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Philadelphia and Trenton, from June 15 to 30, and the trials of reapers from July 5 to 15. Exhibitions of live stock on the grounds formerly occupied by the Philadelphia stock yards will take place as follows:

Horses	Sept 1 to 4	Sheep	Oct. 10 to 18
Dogs	Sept. 1 to 8	Swine	Oct. 10 to 18
Neat cattle	Sept. 11 to Oct. 4	Poultry	Oct 27 to Nov. 6

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $21—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium in addition of $50, $100, $200, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, on this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of the company will, as a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 3,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

FIRST LOVE.

BY COLONEL JOHN A. JOYCE.

In the month of November, the day I remember;
...ng over mountain and plain,
...s back to that fit wing track.
My heart ...lives in the light of her eyes once again.

How glorious and bright were the stars of the night,
...And the whippoorwill tuning its song,
...hearts were as true and I loved only you
In the multitude ...rolling along.

The forever comes and the night never goes,
...For the woodland and stream,
...west in the moonlight, clasped in fond...

In that bright sunny land—like a dream.

Many years have g ne by, but I sadden and sigh,
...For the musical strains of the past,
...turns to incense and burns
On the altar of love to the last.

...we step out, to that land full of doubt,
...Where Hope only leads up the way,
...rest of bliss, where an angelic kiss
...welcome to eternal day.

The ...of an angel can never impart
...pure as pure and so true,
...And ...and my fluttering heart,
...moonlight—when first I kissed you.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ag , we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

A BRILLIANT opening for young men without capital—the fields.

SOUR grapes—a dying man singing "I would not live always."—Guess not.

ANOTHER nice little shower yesterday evening, and the night was very pleasant.

THE theatre is open for engagements to owls and bats for the coming heated term.

BLACKBERRY pickers and plum venders are the order of the day. Only five cents a quart.

THE Methodist Protestant church is being repaired, and the belfry will be remodelled altogether.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Foster Blodgett, of Georgia, passed through our city yesterday, on his way to New Orleans.

A YOUNG man in town threatens to commit suicide because a certain girl has flung him. Dont blame the girl.

ASSIGNEE.—Mr. Edward A. Graham gives notice elsewhere of his appointment as Assignee of the firm of Powell, Prickett & Co., bankrupts.

BUSINESS opened encouragingly yesterday morning. Several large lots of goods were shipped to different sections, while the local trade was spirited.

THE Selma Times excuses its small amount of reading matter on account of the illness of one of its "gentlemanly and accomplished compositors." Sit lux.

ALL ye that have plenty of money had better go to the Centennial or to some of the springs. All ye that haven't had better go—to work, and stick to it.

A SERIES of public meetings, attended with barbecues, are spoken of in this county, to open at an early day. The barbecue part will be highly agreeable.

THE ladies' reception of St. John's Beneficial Society, will take place this evening at the residence of Mr. Spencer Marks. The admission will only be ten cents.

THE Ninth Anniversary of the "Grey Eagle Fire Company" will take place this afternoon, and the company will parade through the principal streets of the city.

THE meeting of the Alabama Press Association will take place at the Arlington this morning, the members of that club having tendered the use of their hall.

IT is said the Lomax boys are going to to give a steamboat excursion to Selma and wake up that little village. Most of the boys are going down to see the street cars.

NOW is the time for the average school boy to neglect his studies for the river, and go home in the afternoon with a peach-blossom on his nose, and the skin all off his back.

THE base ball fever is getting hotter. So is the weather. We know two young men anxious to play but a previous engagement for the county prevents them from doing so.

WHENEVER gentlemen eat philopoena's with young ladies, they should be careful to specify the particular articles to be forfeited, or else they may have cause to retract at a most inopportune moment.

ANY one desirous of purchasing a copy of Prof. Tuomey's first and second reports of the geology of Alabama, can do so by application to this office. These are rare reports and seldom offered for sale.

WANTED.—Messrs. A. Olander & Son desire to purchase several thousand pounds of moss. The attention of those who have this article for sale is called to the advertisement elsewhere of these gentlemen.

Two young ladies discussing a preference expressed by one of them, yesterday, for clean shaven men, when the other was heard to remark: "I don't object to a man with a reasonable quantity of hair on his face, but I wouldn't like to marry a buffalo robe.

THE business of the Southern Express Company would indicate that there is considerable trading going on in the country. The amount of freight transferred by this company in Montgomery, is really surprising, and we are glad to see so much business going on.

THE colored people of Pine Level, we understand, had a very large mass meeting a few days since, in memory of the close of the war, which brought them emancipation. The occasion passed off very quietly and the proceedings were conducted in a manner to win the respect of all good citizens.

THE new depot of the M. & M. railroad is nearly ready for occupancy. All the residences in the vicinity of the depot have been repainted and otherwise improved, and that section is now one of the most beautiful and attractive about the city. Enterprise is a spirit which infuses itself into all things.

BEER.—The dealers in lager beer announce this morning that they will hereafter sell this delightful beverage at five cents per glass. This will enable every poor man to get a glass of beer occasionally, and we are sure that the dealers will realize a great deal more money than if they continued to sell at ten cents per glass.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Lewis Scheussler, one of the most prominent and respected merchants of Lafayette, and who has been spending several weeks among his relatives in Montgomery, left the city yesterday, on his return to his home. Mr. Scheussler intends to visit the Hot Springs in July for the benefit of his health; having been afflicted for some time with rheumatism.

BANKRUPT SALE.—Mr. Edward A. Graham, assignee, gives notice elsewhere of the commencement sale of the goods of Messrs. Powell, Prickett & Co., bankrupts. The sale will open to-day at the stores of the firm, and will be continued by Mr. Graham, assignee, until the 21st day of June, and if all the goods are not sold by that day, the remainder will be exposed at publicery, and continued from day to day until finally disposed of.

SEVERAL car loads of tropical fruits have passed through this city recently, en route to Louisville and other cities. If Pensacola had the requisite enterprise she could secure an immense amount of trade in these tropical productions. A few thousand dollars directed in this enterprise might be the means of making Pensacola the greatest fruit market on this continent. It is strange that some energetic citizen of that city has not been shrewd enough to grasp this matter.

THE campaign JOURNAL will be the best paper ever printed in Alabama. It will be brim full of campaign news every week, and all those who wish to keep posted on current events should subscribe for the daily or Weekly JOURNAL at once. Our terms are very reasonable, and we propose to furnish the most readable sheet in the State. Now is the time for merchants to get their business before the public eye, as the JOURNAL circulates in every section of the commonwealth.

THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.—The Press Association of Alabama will assemble in this city to-day. This body will be composed of men who can do more real good work for the people than all other public men combined. They keep the people of the State informed upon all matters of public interest, relating to affairs of government, concerning the events of our own country and all parts of the world, and they are poorly paid, so far as money is concerned. But that is a matter which it is not necessary to discuss here. Our citizens should throw open their doors, and invite the visitors to partake of their hospitality. These gentlemen can do Montgomery a great deal of good, and we should make their stay among us both pleasant and attractive, in order that they may have cause to remember us gratefully hereafter. We trust that the members of the press will have a nice time in our city, and also take notes of our surroundings, that they may "write us up" on their return home.

OUTDOOR RAMBLING.—Dame Nature is never ill-dressed, but at no time so attractively as in her opening summer suit. True, the fashion does not change from year to year; but the old fashion is ever new, and always so beautiful and varied in its make-up we are forever in love with it. There is a freshness and vigor in the unfolding leaves and opening flower buds, with their beautiful forms and sweet odors, which permeate us through and through, and we almost wish ourself a tree, with its awakening life, drinking sweet incense from the flowers in its shade.

The walks around Montgomery are delightful. The variety of surface and soil affords picturesque scenes, not astonishing by their boldness, but charming from their quiet beauty, clothed, as they are, with a great wealth of trees, shrubs and flowers. Strike out for a mile or two in almost any direction from the city limits and main highways, and one will come to pleasant slopes, cool groves of fine trees, cozy nooks, streams telling the praises of pretty banks, where nodding ferns and sweet violets grow, and so many things to lure us on through gardens of nature's own making, that we hardly know when to stop nor when fatigue has fairly forbid further going. And what we say of the environs of Montgomery may be said with little variation of many parts of the State which we have seen. The scenery as a whole is subdued but not time. We seem to take in the whole of it, not having so much as to clog, yet satisfying the appetite for the picturesque, even the grand, which it is most healthful for us to enjoy. If we would feed on the White Mountains, or the grand cataract of Niagara, or the startling wonders of more distant places of noted scenery, we shall be the better prepared for it by hunting out and learning the picturesque beauty of our own region. Readers of the JOURNAL who never take a stroll beyond the city can have no idea of the real beauty of our woods and vales. There is a wealth of loveliness in our groves and dells which must be seen to be appreciated and which no land on earth can surpass. Seen now, in all the beauty of early summer, these lovely woods furnish us with all the enjoyment which nature can afford. Take a ramble, gentle reader, into the woods, among the wild flowers, and you will feel better for it, while the result cannot but be beneficial in every respect.

LUNCH.

FISH CHOWDER. at Shields' Saloon, at 10:30 o'clock. Lager Beer 5 cents.

L. ADLER, on Court street, claims he was the first to reduce the price of lager beer to five cents per glass, and will be the last to increase the price. He cannot be induced to go into any ring or combination to raise the price, but will give the public the benefit of low prices and the very best beer. tt

PUBLIC SCHOOL PIC-NIC.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Professor Hogg requests us to print the following card of thanks on behalf of the public school management. The failure to publish the card earlier the Professor says was owing to his inability to procure another copy for the JOURNAL and being anxious to have the card appear in this paper, he has been unable to furnish the copy earlier. The card is as follows:

CARD OF THANKS.—We desire on the part of the pupils, parents and authorities of the public schools to thank President Sloss, of the South and North Alabama Railroad for the tender of the place, Verbena and the free transportation of his train over the road; also, to Mr. Perry, master of transportation of the Western Railroad; to Mr. Patterson, of the Mobile and Montgomery; to Mr. Dunham, Superintendent of the Eufaula Railroad, for the use of additional coaches from their yard. To Captain Hunt, in charge of the whole train, and to the conductors from the several roads mentioned, who kindly consented to, and took charge of their respective coaches.

The dispatch of the train, the comfort and safety of the pupils and guests were mainly due to the watchful care of Capt. H——, and these gentlemen, seconded as they were by the skillful and faithful engineer, Mr. Simpson.

To Messrs. Wm B. Hughes and G. L Werth, of Verbena, for the free use of their wagons in carrying our baskets and other refreshments to and from the grounds.

To Mr. Moses H. Stuart for the control and management of the dinner table; to Mr. Alexander Mohr and Dr. J. W. Hale for conducting the distribution of the ice cream and lemonade, and to Capt. H. M Bush for aid generally, upon both the train and grounds.

To those liberal-hearted gentlemen not connected with the schools, who sent richly laden baskets and boxes, thereby assuring the parents of the children of these schools of their sympathy and hearty co-operation.

To Professor Geo. F. McDonald, Professor Meyer, and their assistants, for furnishing and conducting the music which added so much to the real pleasure and enjoyment of the day.

To the kind and generous—the good people of Verbena, who not only welcomed us to their delightful summer resort—to their beautiful grounds, but kindly opened their private houses to shelter us from the occasional showers.

Finally—to our teachers, who through the entire session—through every day as well as this, set apart as a nt and closing occasion of our school exercises, have earnestly, honestly and successfully striven to make these schools worthy of the respect and confidence of this city.

Very respectfully,

ALEX. HOGG,
Principal City School.

Consumption Cured!

An old physician, retired from active practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple Vegetable Remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a Positive and Radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 31, 1876 NUMBER 218

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31, 1876.

WITH the clarion voice of J. L. Pugh resound through the capitol halls and corridors to-day, in behalf of local self-government in Alabama? Will he play accomaton, too, to Houston's star chamber caucus?

"How to be lean," is the subject of a leading editorial in the Mobile Tribune of Sunday. We should say that the most of our readers have decided opinions in reference to this matter. The Tribune, however, lays down several propositions which lead directly to the conclusion that the best way to become lean is to let food alone for a short time, and drink vinegar or sour cider.

THE railroads of the country have entirely failed to meet the requirements of an occasion so vast as is the Centennial Exhibition, by their omission to make sufficient reduction in the fares. Lower figures would operate to their advantage as well as to the benefit of the Board of Finance; for unless under extraordinary inducements there are many people who will not be tempted to leave their homes, even by such attractions as are encompassed by the fences of the Exhibition enclosure.

AFTER months of laborious investigation, and a heavy outlay of money, the Democratic House of Representatives have found scarcely anything to justify the wholesale charges which the opposition had raised against the Republican party. Its administration of power has been marked by integrity and ability, and the more its opponents investigate the more clearly is this claim established. Human government cannot be faultless, but the management of public affairs by the Republican party has more than justified the faith of its early friends. It has been true to freedom, true to the nation, and true to the people who have trusted it.

THE amusing spectacle of a State Convention in the free State of Alabama having assembled for the single purpose of going through the farce of representing the people, after a caucus ring has already named the candidates and laid down the work, will have been witnessed in this State for the first time to-day. There is not one solitary delegate to this convention who will have the courage to rise in his place and expose Houston's recent grave dereliction of public duty, in vacating the Executive Department, and going into North Alabama to pack county conventions in his own personal interest, and that of his private Secretary.

ALL the leaders of the Bourbon Democracy will be on hand in the Democratic Convention to-day, to indorse "Massa George's" administration, and the debt settlement farce. Houston will then proceed to "fix up" a trade by which he expects to be elected Senator by the next Legislature. All the old time leaders will consent to the arrangement, and throw up their hats in high glee. Thus the people have the spectacle of pure and unselfish patriots who never seek office, farming out the highest positions in their gift, and they will be expected to ratify the sale at the polls, or be denounced as "radicals." All the spirit of our people seems to be dead, dead.

THERE was scarcely any necessity for the Democratic people of Alabama to go to the expense of holding a State Convention. The caucus ringmasters, led by Boss Houston, have already decided upon the ticket for the State officials and the so-called platform. There is not a single delegate who will attend the Convention to-day, that will dare to rise up in his place and oppose the caucus slate. The whole thing is a huge farce upon popular rights, and the automatons will simply be allowed to say "yes" and "no" upon all the questions which the caucus has decided to allow the Convention to consider, favorably or adversely. Boss Houston carries the whole concern in his pocket.

ACCORDING to late mail advices a fresh gold fever has broken out in Australia. A new "find" has been reported in the province of New South Wales, and, as usual under such circumstances, the inhabitants in the vicinity are reported to be in a state of lively excitement. The reports that come to us have a good deal of the flavor of "gold craze," and yet, unless the Australian papers have exaggerated the facts, the "find" is of no little importance. A report says: "The field is narrow, but thirty miles in length. The alluvial gold is in patches, but lumpy. The quartz reefs show enormous quantities of gold in them. The field is eighty-five miles south by east from Byerstown and one hundred and sixty miles from Cocktown. The National Bank has purchased the first large parcel from alluvial field."

THE Cincinnati Enquirer has been completely abashed by the recent exposures of the attempts of Tilden's managers to buy up the Southern delegations to St. Louis. The Enquirer now speaks of Tilden as "the briber of newspapers, and the would-be purchaser of the Presidency." In one of its articles denouncing the "bribery of newspapers," it says:—

The Tilden Advertising Agency in New York pays $3 50 to publishers who reprint fine puffs for Tilden taken from such papers as the Cincinnati Commercial and Louisville Courier-Journal. We would like to know what the Tilden gang paid the original publishers of those valuable advertisements?

And not satisfied with that, the Enquirer goes still further, and says:

Samuel J. Tilden is a wealthy man and proposes to purchase the Presidency. He expects to take advantage of Southern impecuniosity. Are the representative men of the South for sale?

These "bribers of newspapers" are the persons who are so loudly prating about reform, honest government, and Republican corruption! What a nice set of "reformers" to be sure!

CIVIL LIBERTY.

In October, 1840, Robert H. Morris, then Recorder of the city of New York, proceeded in the night time to the house of a citizen and demanded of him certain papers which were sealed in a package, and had been delivered to that citizen by an individual against whom a criminal complaint had been made before the Recorder, "which complaint did not involve the charge of having unlawfully obtained the papers" so demanded. The Recorder then declared to him that if he did not deliver the same, he, the Recorder, would search for the papers and forcibly seize them by virtue of his authority as a magistrate. Under the coercion of this threat the papers were delivered to the Recorder.

Governor Seward promptly removed the Recorder from office on the ground that he had clearly violated the constitutional right of the citizen to be secure in his person and papers. The Governor held that any search warrant for the private papers of the accused, "which were not alleged to have been feloniously stolen or unlawfully acquired," would have been a violation of the most sacred private rights and of the most cherished principles of civil liberty, and that the seizure of the papers without warrant on oath was a flagrant aggravation of the offense. The Attorney General discussed the grave question in a luminous report of the case. It is needless to say that the Recorder was a Democrat, and that he committed the outrage in the interest of the Democratic party, which afterward elected him Mayor of the city of New York.

We all know where that party stands, to-day, on the question of Civil Liberty. A citizen of Washington refused to deliver up his private papers unless some charge under oath was made that those papers were in some manner connected with crime or feloniously acquired.

For thus claiming his constitutional rights he was, for a political object only, sent to the common jail and there imprisoned like a felon!

HYPOCRITICAL CLAMOR.

The country is about sick of hypocritical clamor about political corruption. There is less now than fifty years ago. The standard of public morality is higher than ever before. If a few spots, ugly-looking to the eye, are found on the surface, it is because the people are searching for them. Never since the beginning of the Government have the people been so vigilant and so deeply interested in political affairs as at the present time. This has led to a higher standard of merit in public men. Officials who, twenty years ago, could have enriched themselves without detection can and no rest or comfort now. It is safe to say, that, considering the transactions of the Government, the vast interests involved, the hundreds of millions yearly expended, that the percentage of official dishonesty is smaller now than under the most favored period of our national existence. The cry of "Thief, stop thief!" comes from those who are thieves themselves, who hope, by raising a false alarm, to keep the vigilant eye of the people off their own rascally purposes. Depend upon it, this cry, of public corruption comes either from Democrats who wish to get their arms into the public treasury or from sore-headed politicians who see no chance of their personal promotion except through the formation of a third party, that shall be run in their interests and under their management.

AROUND THE THRONE.

Movements of Note at the Capital and What is Thought of Them.

(Correspondence of the Atlanta Constitution.)

WASHINGTON, May 23, 1876.

Hon. W. H. Stone, of Missouri, chairman of the committee on the expenditures of the postoffice department, in the course of a speech on the postoffice appropriation bill reviewed the Moseley case as follows:

"On the 30th day of October, 1874, the advertisement for mail contracts in the State of Alabama for one year from July 1, 1875, was sent to the National Republican, published at Selma, Ala., to be printed in that paper once a week for six consecutive weeks, and on the 21st day of December, 1874, the proprietor of that paper, who was also the postmaster at Talladega, Ala., was paid $3,768 for the printing. Charges having been made of fraud upon the department in connection with the insertion of this advertisement, an investigation was ordered by the postmaster-general, which developed the fact that fourteen hundred sheets of what purported to be a supplement of the National Republican, of Selma, Ala., containing the advertisement, had been printed in a job office at Selma, for which printing $90 was paid, and these supplements having been distributed for six weeks, two bills were prepared against the postoffice department for the work, one for about $2,500 and the other for $3,768, with which the postmaster at Talladega came to Washington. Both bills were submitted to the auditor of the treasury for the postoffice department, who finding that in his judgment it was possible to construe the larger amount to be correct under the law, paid it.

"In this way a postmaster who was the proprietor of a country newspaper received a profit of $3,678 on one advertisement. Upon the report of these facts by two special agents of the post-office department who made the investigation, the postmaster at Talladega was removed from office, and criminal proceedings commenced against him in Alabama. It was, however, found that he could not be prosecuted in Alabama for collecting an alleged fraudulent claim in Washington, and he was reinstated in office. And singular as it may seem, the agents who made the investigation, the postmaster who was investigated, and the auditor who directed the payment of the bill for $3,768 instead of $2,500 are all to-day officers of the postoffice department under the postmaster-general who ordered the investigation."

BOSS HOUSTON will be vindicated to-day by a unanimous nomination for re-election. All these delegates from packed conventions in North Alabama will hurrah for "Massa George" until they are hoarse.

"THE BLUE AND THE GREY."

Scattering Flowers Over the Graves of the Soldier Dead—Address of Hon. Stewart L. Woodford of Arlington.

[Special to the Journal.]

WASHINGTON, May 30.

This being "Memorial Day," the graves of the soldier-dead at Arlington were decorated by loving hands, with the sweet flowers of spring. Hon. Stewart L. Woodford, of New York, delivered the following oration:

These heroic dead, in whose memory we meet, have justly earned the largest praise that living men may give. But our best homage must be with deeds and not alone with words and flowers. We shall pay them fitting honor only as we work, which living they did so well, which dying they bequeathed to their survivors. We can justify the sacrifice, which they so freely offered, only as we ourselves render faithful and unselfish service to the State for which they died. If we weakly fail to use their great gift well, then for us and ours have they sadly died in vain.

We need not here and now repeat the story of their achievements. What they so grandly did is not buried with their dust. It can never be forgotten, so long as liberty is loved, so long as courage in the right and for the right is honored among men.

While yonder Potomac flows, its minstrel waves shall sing, in verse more grand than human lips may breathe, the epic of that army, so many of whose dead sleep here.

While yonder Capitol shall stand, the statue of freedom, which fitly crowns its rising dome, shall tell that when our civil strife had ended, there was no slave before the law in all the land.

Nor is there any need that we recount the causes of the war in which our comrades fell. If our fathers erred, as err they did in their oppression of the weak and lowly; if they erred, as err they did, in compromises of the right for sake of gain, or ease, or power, this land has suffered long and sorely. Justice weighed the Nation's crime. Justice heaped and yet may heap the scale with tears and blood and agony, for no sin of man or people ever yet escaped full penalty. Still it is no part of manhood idly to mourn above a buried past. "Let the dead bury their dead." Our duty is in to-day and with the living.

Nor yet among these graves would we recall even one memory of bitterness and anger. With equal love for what was good in their common humanity, with equal forgiveness for what was evil, Nature folds alike the ashes of loyalist and rebel in her resurrection robes of the Spring-time flowers. To judge the living was and still remains our duty. To enforce that judgment, even in the last appeal of battle and against our brothers, was our hard necessity. But at the grave our feet must pause, for the sentence of the dead is with God alone. There speaks no voice of anger from these cold ashes. So let there be no wrathful memory in any heart this day through all our borders.

Courage and honor alike require that we, who by God's providence were victors in the strife, should be freely and absolutely generous in peace. Courage and honor equally require that they who were beaten should yield manly submission to the decision of that final tribunal of the sword to which they appealed. These are plain words plainly spoken among our dead. Peace, complete peace, peace that shall endure, peace from the bone that shall leave no scar upon the skin, can come in no other way. Let us heartily remember, let us fully own that those whom we fought were and are our brothers still—brothers not alone in name, but in blood and in love. We fought them to save our Union. We freed their slaves as opportunity was given, and were devoutly glad that thus the way was opened to put from them and us alike the sin and shame and hurt of slavery. And yet while we remember this, let us as directly say that we would keep with resolute will and unyielding hand all the results of justice, of liberty, of equal and fair play for labor and manhood, that have been bought at such terrible cost to North and South alike.

Does any seek this day for any cause, to revive the old prejudice of class and caste and race? He is no friend of the Union. Does any seek this day, for self or partisan success, to set white against black or black against White? He is no friend of the Union. The man, who this day draws the color line in politics, is either traitor, knave or simpleton. His place is among the shadows and dusts of the past and not in the sunlight of the present. Does any seek to deny to loyal comers in any part of the south full citizenship, complete protection and hearty welcome because such comers wore the Federal blue in other days? He is no friend of the Union. Does any seek to taunt loyal subjects of the law and keepers of the peace, because such wore the gray in days of battle? He is no friend of the Union.

The land is one and should be at rest. We owe too much and earn and save too little, to waste in past strife hours that are needed for present labor and present duty. It should not be hard for us to dwell together in full accord. On many fields the ashes of our common dead are mingled. On many fields the living proved and learned to respect each the manhood of the other. All that should be asked, all that need be yielded by any, each and all should be swift to offer —simply obedience to the law, in spirit as in letter, with the honest performance by every citizen of his personal duty to the State.

Where so-called conservatism has triumphed at the South there have been too often practical intolerance, practical denial of personal liberty, practical denial of popular education, and persistent effort to revive old systems under new forms. Where so-called radicalism has succeeded there have been too often official corruption and much venality. One turns in sadness from such partnership on either side and asks for a patriotism of conscience, courage and common sense, that will neither coerce the ballot of the citizen nor steal the revenue of the State; that will deal with white and black alike in the great but rare wisdom of simple justice; that will seek to perform each public trust with brave fidelity and intelligent honesty.

Not alone upon others, but equally upon ourselves, this hour lays its injunction. Let no man feel, as he turns from this Memorial meeting and goes back to his daily living, that he can safely or justly neglect the personal performance of his individual political duty. Let no man feel that he can absent himself from caucus and convention, and then, when bad men have foisted their tools upon his political party, cast his individual responsibility upon that party and blindly follow its leaders and support its candidates. Let no man feel that he can stay away from the polls and be guiltless if bad men wriggle their way into places of power and trust.

If there be truth in the charge, so freely made, that partisan morality is low in both the great organizations of our day, then the fault is yours and mine. Ours is the shame, for ours has been and is the power to cure such wrong. If lingering paralysis still deadens our industries and checks our reviving trade and commerce, then with us, the people, rests a large share of blame, for we have not insisted that in National affairs the same laws of common honesty prevail that rule in our daily dealings between man and man.

If our methods of the public civil service still continue to be helps to partisan control rather than means for the prompt, economical and efficient performance of public duty, it is simply and mainly because we, the people, have either deliberately preferred that this should be so, or have indolently neglected practical efforts towards establishing the civil service upon the ordinary business principles and usages of the factory and the counting-room.

Whenever we, the people, pledge our candidates for Congress and the Senate to neither ask nor recommend appointments, and whenever we, the people, ourselves cease to torment our representatives and senators to secure positions for us, they will naturally abandon any anxious attempts to control official patronage. But so long as we, the people, insist upon being rewarded by political place for our political service I fear that we shall not change the system which we ourselves practically insist upon perpetuating. Trees usually grow from the roots up; and not from the top downward.

Any failure to have good government under our system is as much our fault as that of our rulers. Nay, it is mainly our fault. For with us lies the final power. When we deliberately resolve they must either execute our purpose, or give place to such as will.

This is the lesson I would press home this day upon each brain and conscience —the personal performance by each citizen of his individual duty to the State.

We stand in the Centennial time of the Republic. The good deeds, the brave deeds of many true men have made this year possible. Broad and full harvest fields lie before us. Are we wise enough, faithful enough, unselfish enough to cross the river and enter the promised land?

To us, to all, these dead speak as living man may not. Let us heed their teaching. Let us here and now, as at altars of sacrifice, dedicate ourselves anew to the duties of our citizenship. Thus shall we turn back to our daily living, better, more hopeful, more resolute because we have been here to scatter these flowers upon the graves where our comrades sleep.

THE Democratic party, so-called, of Alabama, has its life and being in a caucus, composed of a few men who once precipitated this fair State into the red sea of civil war, stripped the people of all their property, and drove thousands of noble men to untimely graves. They are chained to the follies, errors and fossils of the past, and are totally incapable of appreciating the progress of the times. They would keep Alabama forever behind her sister States. Mark them well!

Charles Francis Adams says a President should have a head on his shoulders. Bowles think he had him there.

It is said Potter Palmer sawed cord wood for his first town lot in Chicago. Now look at him.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Herald this morning says: Commodore Vanderbilt's condition is worse and it is now considered to be only a matter of a day or so as to when death shall take place. Physicians are in constant attendance, and not even members of his family are admitted to his chamber.

The Times' special from Washington says: It is stated that Samuel Wilkerson, secretary of Northern Pacific Railroad has volunteered to make a statement in behalf of Blaine, to the effect that he has not nor never did have any interest in the original proprietorship of that enterprise, or in its bonds or stock. This statement is now or will soon be before the investigating committee.

Dispatches from Boston, Providence and other Eastern ports mention a due observance of decoration day. In the largest places it is a general holiday, while the demonstrations of the grand army and other organizations have even exceeded those of previous years.

The Congressional sub-committee on the administration of the department of justice continued its investigations at the Astor House yesterday. An informal discussion ensued in which the charges against Speaker Kerr were referred to by Mr. Bliss. On being questioned by Mr. Caulfield, Mr. Bliss said that he was he supposed merely responsible for Mr. Harney's appearance at least as a witness. He (Bliss) had known the facts in the possession of Harney for two months. He had communicated them to Mr. Bass, a member of the committee. Harney was appraiser, Darlings right hand man. When Mr. Darling's connection with the Savings Bank was under investigation an effort was made to stop the investigation by threats that if Harney's connection with the affairs of the bank was exposed he would make some damaging revelations about Mr. Kerr. Mr. Bliss said Mr. Bass told him he would not present any charges against Mr. Kerr unless they seemed to be well founded, and that he (Mr. Bliss) had carefully questioned Harney in regard to his relations with Mr. Kerr, and he was satisfied that Harney was truthful and honest.

All arrangements have been completed for the Garrett & Palmer special fast train which leaves New York for San Francisco on Thursday morning, June 1st. Telegrams will be received here from numerous points along the line as the train progresses, giving the time it reaches each point. Flagmen will be stationed at short distances along the road, during the day, to keep the line free of obstructions, and at night bonfires will be kindled every few miles, one hour in advance of the train, to keep the track clear. The entire trip is expected to be accomplished in 84 hours. After careful consideration, the Chicago and Northwestern route, has been adopted.

The Graphic's Washington special says it is reported on good authority that Don Cameron has decided to accept the War Department portfolio.

A Post Washington special says that Blaine is preparing a statement regarding the latest disclosures connecting him with the offering for sale of an interest in the Northern Pacific Railroad, which will include the latest documents bearing upon the case. His friends say it will be a complete vindication, and will probably be made Wednesday or Thursday.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 30.—A dispatch from Constantinople reports the breaking out of a serious revolution in Pera, in the suburbs of that city. The Sultan has been overthrown, and has abdicated in favor of his nephew.

The advices received from Constantinople to-day announcing the overthrow of the Sultan Abdiel Aziz and the appointment of his nephew, Murad Effendi, as his successor, has created considerable excitement in diplomatic circles in this city, and the opinion is expressed that this change of government will have an important bearing on the Eastern question, and the settlement of the Turkish difficulties.

The dethroned sovereign Abdiel Aziz was born February 9th, 1830. He was the second son of Sultan Mahmoud, Second, and succeeded to the throne at the death of his elder brother, Sultan Abdiel Medjid, on the 25th of June, 1861. The present Sultan, Murad Effendi, was born Sept. 21st, 1840. He was the heir presumptive.

At the Exchange to-day stocks opened strong except Egyptian, which fell heavily during the forenoon on unfavorable rumors from Paris, but afterwards recovered, and are now 3 to 4 percent higher than yesterday's closing prices.

Turkish securities of all descriptions have been very strong and active, and at one time were 3 to 5 per cent higher. They are now about 3 per cent higher all around. The Paris market is also very firm.

It seems to be the opinion that the overthrow of the Sultan will result beneficially.

A special dispatch to the Telegraph from Paris says the Insurgents have attacked and burned Bihacs, in Bosnia, killing 350 Turks. At a second encounter in the same neighborhood the Turks were defeated, leaving 120 dead on the field.

A Pesth telegram reports that the Servian Prime Minister, in accordance with the advice of Gen. Ignatieff has decided that the Servians shall cross the river Dwina, on St. John's day.

In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Bourke, Under Secretary for the Foreign Department, in reply to a question, said that the Turkish ambassador at London and the English ambassador at Constantinople had informed Lord Derby, the Foreign Minister, of the dethronement of the Sultan and the proclamation of Murad Effendi as his successor. No further particulars of the movement have been received, but a telegram from Salonica announces that the proclamation of Murad Effendi was received there with great approbation.

NOVA SCOTIA.

HALIFAX, May 30.—A Newfoundland paper says that much apprehension is entertained for the people in the northern bays, owing to the scarcity of provisions. Of the many crafts laden with food for the northward, not one can have yet reached Green Bay, and much suffering and privation has been gone through before this time.

WEATHER.—In the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, rising to stationary barometer, generally cooler weather, with northeast to southeast winds, partly cloudy weather and occasional rains will prevail.

TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 30.—An official proclamation has been issued declaring the Sultan dethroned in accordance with the popular will. Murad Effendi has been declared Sultan.

RAGUSA, May 30.—Intelligence from Salonica sources state that Turkish General Moukhtar Pasha, has left Neosho and gone towards Gatchke, which is supposed to be another attempt to relieve Niesie.

The Insurgents are concentrating in the Duga Pass.

ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, May 30.—A special train with officers and three hundred recruits of the 67th and 9th infantry passed through here this morning en route for the Black Hills. Gen. Crook's entire force marched from Fort Fetterman yesterday towarad the Sioux country in fine marching order. They will arrive at Reno next Monday. There is no startling news from the frontier.

Hon. M. W. Delaney, Fort Leavenworth, has received a letter from Gov. Thos. A. Hendricks, of Indiana, in which the latter expresses the opinion that his chances for Presidential nomination are very good, and improving daily. He feels certain of support from the Kansas delegation.

THE GREAT
English Remedy.
The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.
Nervous Debility,
However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of
NERVOUS PROSTRATION.
It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, if left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.
NEWBERG, Nov. 6, 1874.
DR. LOTHROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm.
Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

PLATFORM

—OF THE—

REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recognition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipaties, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintenance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana. In his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, Mr. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the [illegible] all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention heartily appreciates the services of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is highly necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support of our party, and for the valuable service they have rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

ADDRESS TO THE GERMAN RADICALS AND REPUBLICANS OF THE UNION, AND TO THE GERMAN FREE PRESS.

The great danger which threatens the Republic, in the increasing power of the reactionary Democratic party, demands a harmonious co-operation of progressive German-Americans and a vigorous opposition to the Democracy.

The Democratic party is the decided enemy of national education which unquestionably forms the foundation of all intellectual, political, and industrial progress of the Republic; the Democratic party, in league with the dark forces of Vaticanism, seeks to demolish those thoroughly Republican institutions, the public schools; the Democratic party denies the American nationality and declares literally, "that every true Democrat utters the detestable word 'Nation' only with disgust;" it places the sovereign States above the Nation; the Democratic party is in continued rebellion against the achievements of the late bloody war of secession; the equal political and civil rights guaranteed to all citizens have already been brought to naught in the Southern States by the Democratic party; the purity of the ballot-box has been defiled by it, with the murder of many thousands of Republicans; the honor and credit of the nation is threatened and endangered by a Democratic inflation of rag money. In short, the Democratic party is the reactionary and Bourbonistic element of the Republic, having its head center in the rebel States, which are still spurting out the poison of sectional hate at the Union.

In the forthcoming important election, two and only two parties are opposed to each other: the Democratic and the Republican. To prevent the impending danger of a Democratic victory, a coalition of all liberal-minded Germans with the Republican party is necessary. Every breach will be a gain for the Democratic party.

Notwithstanding the wrongs and errors which Republican politicians have committed, the Republican party has nevertheless always proclaimed and defended progressive principles. Its principles are: equal rights to all; the resumption of specie payment; the maintenance of the honor and credit of the nation by prompt payment of the public debt in coin; civil service reform; national sovereignty; national education and the free public school system, prohibiting the division of public school funds for sectarian purposes; the purity of the ballot-box, the guarantee of the elective franchise, as well as of the attainments of the late war.

The core of the Republican party is sound and capable of progression.

On the 14th of June next the Republican party will assemble in National Convention at Cincinnati. The German element will then have an opportunity of making, by a hearty co-operation, its influence for national progress felt. We therefore propose that the German Radicals and Republicans, personally or by representatives, convene in Cincinnati on the 10th day of June at the office of the Free Presse. Subjects of the highest importance will present themselves for the consideration of this convention. We mention only the following: the labor question, the emigration and naturalization question, the Presidency, the accountability of Representatives, religious, social, and industrial liberty, the taxation of church property, etc.

We request of such Germans papers as coincide with the import and object of this address to support our proposition, and earnestly co-operate for the accomplishment thereof.

SOUTHERN ASSEMBLY.

SAVANNAH, GA., May 27.—The General Assembly closed its session to-day. The following delegates, nominated by the Special Committee, were unanimously elected: Pan Presbyterian Council, Edinburgh, 1877—Alabama, Rev. G. H. Webb, D. D., Hon. W. P. Webb; Arkansas, Rev. T. R. Preston;—at large, Judge Robert Ould, Rev. B. M. Smith, D. D., Rev. Allen Wright and Judge B. M. Estes.

The committee to whom was referred the resolutions from the Northern Assembly, in regard to fraternal relation, reported the following, which was unanimously adopted and telegraphed to Brooklyn: "We are ready to most cordially enter on fraternal relations with your body on any terms honorable to both parties, and then as an explanation of what our feeling is, we send the action taken in the answer to the overture from the St. Louis Presbytery, which resolves that the action of the Baltimore Conference, approved by the assembly at St. Louis, explains with sufficient clearness the position of our church, but inasmuch as it is represented by the overture that misapprehension exist in the minds of some of our people as to the spirt of this action in order to show our disposition to remove on our past real or seeming hindrance to friendly feeling the Assembly especially declares that while condemning certain acts and deliverances of the Northern General Assembly, no acts or deliverance of the Southern General Assemblies are to to construed or admitted as impugning in any way the Christian character of the Northern General Assembly, or of the historical bodies of which it is the successor. The Assembly selected New Orleans as the place of the next meeting, and on the third Thursday of May, 1877. The Assembly is in session to-night to await any message from the Northern Assembly. Adjournment to-night. Many members have already left.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE.

BALTIMORE, MD., May 27.—Bishop Scott presided in the General Conference to-day. It was resolved to hold three sessions daily, on and after Monday, and that the conference finally adjourned at the conclusion of the morning session of Wednesday next.

On motion of Dr. Lanahan, the rules were amended so that the previous question, when ordered, shall apply only to debate and not exclude amendments.

The unfinished business of yesterday, the majority and minority report of the Committee on Itinerancy, was taken up and debate resumed on the question of electing presiding elders by the conferences. Speeches were made in favor of such election as recommended in the minority report by Granville Moody, of Cincinnati, A. McKeenon, of New England, A. Lowry, of Cincinnati, and J. S. Mart, of Detroit, and in opposition thereto by J. P. Newman, of Washington, G. G. Reynolds, of New York, east, G. J. Ferry, of Newark, J. W. F. White, of Pittsburg, O. H. Fowler, of Rock river, W. H. Olin, of Wyoming, and A. Wheeler, of Erie.

The debate, which was conducted in the most friendly and courteous spirit, was continued up to 12.30 P. M., when the previous question was called by Judgely Cooley. A motion to substitute the minority for the majority report was lost, as were various amendments, and finally the the majority report was dopted by a vote of 186 to 57. The Conference at 3 o'clock adjourned to Monday.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "wet down and ran together" Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of just ce, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

WE received an invitation to attend a moonlight ice cream sociable, at Preiss' Garden, on yesterday evening. Owing to the inclement weather the sociable came off at Standard Club Hall, where a gay party of ladies and gentlemen whiled away the evening in the merry dance till a late hour.

A VISIT to the suburbs of the city is not only refreshing but really encouraging. The new houses already completed, and many others in course of erection shows that there is activity and enterprise among us, and that our city is constantly enlarging its proportions. Quite a little city has been built up in the past two years, and some of our most substantial citizens have built residences in the outskirts of the city, where they have the benefit of fresh air and are free from the noise, confusion and dust of the city.

WE observe that the merchants of some of our sister cities have agreed to close their stores at 6:30 o'clock in the evening, daily, with the exception of Saturday, when they close at 9 o'clock. This seems to be a very reasonable conclusion, and we presume that the merchants of Montgomery will do the same thing. There is but little business really transacted after 6 o'clock in the evening, and instead of remaining closed in stores after that hour, the employes could be much more profitably engaged in out door exercise.

MADAME LE VERT.—This gifted Southern lady recently appeared upon the stage. Mrs. Le Vert has many warm friends and admirers in Montgomery who will rejoice to learn that she is being cordially received wherever she appears. A Georgia exchange informs us that she is announced to give a parlor reading in Chicago at the Grand Pacific Hotel, on the evening of June first. There is perhaps no American woman with so remarkable a social history as that of Mme. Le Vert. Her grandfather George Walton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was a Colonel in the Revolutionary War, a friend of Washington and Lafayette, a member of the first Congress, and an early Governor and Chief Justice of Georgia. Her father, also, George Walton, was Territorial Secretary under Jackson, and afterward Governor of Florida. She was born in Augusta, Ga., and the associations of her childhood and girlhood were peculiarly fortunate as tending to the development of her amiable disposition and varied accomplishments. She became one of the most admired women of society, both North and South, and after her marriage to Dr. Henry LeVert, in her home in Mobile, she was for years the refined and hospitable entertainer of the most distinguished men and women of her own country and other lands. There is probably no woman living who has so extended an acquaintance among people of distinction, social, literary, artistic and professional, as Mme. Le Vert, and none more widely popular. She is that rare thing to find, a women without an enemy. The Chicago papers speak in the most encouraging terms of her proposed appearance in that city, and think doubtless it will be attended by the most cultivated people of the city.

MEETING OF THE ALABAMA PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The Association met in the Arlington Club rooms at 10 o'clock yesterday. The attendance was large. Col. R. H. Powell, President, called the meeting to order, and D. W McIver, Secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

After calling the roll the rules were suspended and some ten or twelve gentlemen were admitted to membership.

Col. Powell read his report of the condition, doings, etc., of the Association for the past year, which was received and adopted. The report was an able one and reflects much credit upon the author. The report is too lengthy for publication.

Col. Willis Brewer moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft resolutions tributary to S. J. Saffold, deceased, late President of the Association. Adopted.

Messrs. W. Brewer, A. Snodgrass and F. A. Monroe, were appointed on said committee.

Mr. Grace, of the Iron Age, moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft resolutions of thanks to the New York Press Association for kindness and courtesies.

Messrs. F. M. Grace, J. F. Grant and J. B. Stanley were appointed on the committee.

Secretary McIver then presented his report, which was received and adopted.

The Secretary also read numerous invitations extended by the different railroads in Alabama, to the Association, for excursions.

The thanks of the Association were tendered to the various railroad companies for courtesies extended.

Mr. W. W. Screws stated that he was authorized by Capt. Towner, of Blount Springs, to tender the Association a banquet on Friday the 2d inst., at the Jackson House.

The Association accepted Capt. Towner's kind offer, and also that of the South & North Railroad, for a special train

Mr. Screws stated that the Association was also invited to visit the Great Southern Cave, near Blount Springs.

A recess of ten minutes was had to allow the Secretary time to transact a little business, but mostly to allow members to discuss a boll of punch sent up by clever Joe Hammond, of the "Ruby." We beg pardon here for stating that most of the discussion was after the punch had been tested. Joe don't make it so strong next time.

After reassembling the association transacted some unimportant business and adjourned till 4 o'clock. At 4 o'clock the association met and elected the following officers:

President—J F Grant, Jacksonville.

Vice Presidents—1st, Col A Snodgrass, Scottsboro. 2n, J M Macon, Clayton. 3d, W Brewer, Hayneville. 4th, W M Meeks, Gadsden. 5th, J B Stanley, Greenville.

Recording Secretary—W M McIver, Tuskegee.

Corresponding Secretary—B H Screws, Montgomery.

Treasurer—F M Grace, Birmingham.

Executive Committee—M C Burke, chairman; W A Collier, W C Bledsoe, D R Hundley and L W Grant.

Orator—W T Walthall, of Mobile.

A resolution of thanks was offered by Col. Snodgrass to Col. R. H. Powell, the retiring President, and the other officers. Resolution adopted.

The convention adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock this morning.

After adjournment several boxes of cigars were presented to the association by LeGrand & Co., Joe Baumer and L. Adler, and duly appreciated.

The following is a list of members and papers represented:

W. A. Hundley, Randolph County News; L. R. Davis, Limestone News; W. M. Meeks, Gadsden Times; D. C. White, Moulton Advertiser; F. A. Monroe, Escambia Star; W. C. Bledsoe, and J. M. PENTECOST.—On Monday, the 15th of the Hebrew month Sivan, commenced the observance of the Pentecost. This is a solemn festival of the Jews, so-called because celebrated on the fifteenth day after the feast of the Passover. It was called the "Feast of Weeks" (in the Book of Tobit the "Feast of Seven Weeks") because it was celebrated seven weeks after the sixteenth day of Nisan, or third day of the Passover. It was instituted to oblige the people to repair to the Temple of the Lord, there to acknowledge His absolute dominion over the country, and offer Him the first fruits of their harvest; also, that they might call to mind and give thanks to God for the law which he had given them at Sinai on the fiftieth day from their departure from Egypt. Its distinguishing rite was the offering of two loaves of leavened bread from the new crop. In foreign countries since the captivity the Jews have prolonged it to two days. The festival closed yesterday evening, with the usual ceremonies, which are always faithfully observed by the Hebrews of Montgomery.

ONE of "the bad boys" told Charley Sparrenberger yesterday to pull down his vest, and Charley remarks:

"I don't can understood
Vat dot languages can be,
Ven a feller tolds, "make down your fest,"
Und dot fest's down already;
Und ven you likes exblain sometings
Und shboks dot mit de rest,
A feller he bokes in his shnood
Und says, "Bull down your fest,"
Und dot makes me mat.'

CORONER'S INQUEST.—Monday afternoon, policeman Read, receiving information that there was a grave in the garden of Mr. Richard M. Barry in the Western part of this city, he proceeded at once to investigate the matter. He ascertained that a favorite chicken had been buried in that garden, and that the children had been honoring the grave with flowers. He found however, the grave of an infant in a lot adjoining. The mother, Lydia Thomas, colored, confessed to the birth of the child, on Saturday night, and also as to its burial in the garden. Mr. Read conveyed the box and contents to police headquarters when Coroner M. P. Blue held an inquest Monday night. The jury consisted of Messrs. J. W. Bishop, Tighlman Offutt H. Lewy, L. Marks, J. O Sullivan and W. A. Ludicus. Dr. J. H. Blue made a post mortem examination by which he ascertained that the child was born dead. The jury rendered a verdict accordingly and thus relieved the mother of the suspicion of infanticide.

A "NYMPH DU PAVE" very boisterously told her old sweetheart the other day what she thought of him for having quit her to marry a young lady. It was settled in the Mayor's Court.

ABSOLUTE SAFETY

At Sea.

LIFE SAVING SUIT FOR OCEAN TRAVEL.

THE CONTINUOUS DISASTERS AT SEA.

And the almost countless lives that have been lost, urge the introduction of more effective appliances for saving life than have yet been generally adopted. In response to the great public demand, the American Life Saving Suit Company now present a

Practical Life Saving Suit.

This suit having been tested and approved by the most scientific and practical authorities, we now offer as a means of absolute safety from death by drowning. The invention now offered claims its superiority over all inventions in that it floats the body in a vertical position in the roughest sea, preserves the natural caloric of the body for any number of days, with capacity for carrying provisions for ten days, and signals to attract attention from passing vessels,

This suit embodies three principles which are imperative in a life saving dress—

First—A buoyancy which supports the body in a vertical position, and maintains it as from a natural law.

Second—Protection from water and weather and consequent chill.

Third—A commissariat department, to which is attached signals, with capacity for carrying valuables, etc., etc

THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1876.

ATTEMPT AT BRIBERY.

Mr. Jos. F. Johnston, Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, has been charged with attempting to bribe Congressman Pelham of this State. We publish elsewhere the letter of Congressman Haralson upon this subject, in which he gives a copy of the letter of Mr. Johnston making the corrupt proposition to Judge Pelham. For the present we leave these letters to the people for their consideration.

THE caucus gave the people an exhibition of its potency in the work of the Democratic Convention of yesterday.

HOUSTON was nominated by acclamation for re-election, in the Democratic Convention yesterday. He is not an office seeker, however, and would as soon have a third term as a second one.

GOVERNOR HOUSTON in his speech of acceptance yesterday, asserted that when he came in office State money was as low as 40 cents on the dollar; and his administration has caused it to rise to 80 and 90. This will do pretty well for campaign bravado, but there isn't a particle of truth in it.

THE Congressional Temperance Society seems to be a failure, at least so far as the lower branch of that body is concerned. The Bourbons made a feeble effort to suppress whisky early in the session, but now wines of all kinds, brandy and whisky can be easily obtained at the House restaurant.

MR. SECRETARY BOYD proposes, when his second term is out, to retire in favor of a native son of Alabama. We never heard Boyd spoken of as a carpet-bagger, and never knew he was one until he admitted it in the convention yesterday. If he is like the other nominees he will never give up an office so long as he can hold it.

THE Pittsburgh Commercial says: If the House Democrats are in such dead earnest as they profess to be over the subject of "reform," why don't they take hold of Shumaker, their colleague and friend, who got $300,000 on the Pacific Mail job, and then, according to a committee of the last Congress, lied about it? It is a terrible charge against a "reform" Democrat, but there he sits, as composed as a saint, and he actually voted for the impeachment of Belknap, and believes intensely in "juris liction."

—AN irreverent correspondent pokes fun at Bill Allen's nose. He says that "Old Bill" Allen has a nose like the nose of an anvil that points out straight at you without turn or equivocation." Now, Bill Allen is just the man to handle that nose, and it wouldn't be wholesome for any other man to undertake it. Besides that, certain of our own poets have said, "who so knows his nose foreknows what goes afore." And that is why Bill Allen is sure of the nomination at St. Louis.

—THE New Orleans drawers of a number of forged drafts, which they paid, sought to recover back the money from the holder on the ground that the course of business was such as to create the presumption that he received the instruments from the drawer himself, and thus to throw them off their guard, and constitute an exception to the rule that the drawee is bound to know the drawer's signature. The ingenuity of the plea, however, was not sufficient to induce its adoption by the Louisiana Supreme Court, which gave judgment against the plaintiffs.

IN his speech yesterday, accepting the nomination of his party for re-election, Gov. Houston said he wanted the August election to be a fair and honest expression of the judgment of the people of Alabama. We hope that Gov. Houston, as the Executive officer of the commonwealth, will see that the election in August is the fair and honest judgment of the people; and that he will see that every voter in this State is allowed free and untrammelled exercise of the elective franchise. Governor Houston knows that no Democrat will be prevented from voting; and that the whole machinery of election is in the hands of his party. Will he see that the Republican citizens of this State have the unmolested privilege of casting their votes for the men of their choice? Will he do his duty?

THE Troy Enquirer says: "The crops in this section are very promising. Preparations have generally been thorough, and good stands, as a rule, have been secured. The seasons have been propitious and favorable, and the general zeal manifested to secure all of which the land is capable of producing, and, at the same time, by strict economy and careful utilization of every means to secure all profits to be derived, renders the outlook for this section cheering and encouraging. From a gentleman who passed through the country intervening between this point and Montgomery, during the past week, reports the condition of crops near the road as excellent, and that the farmers are unusually hopeful and sanguine.

A MASS of 90,000,000 tons of pure, solid, compact rock salt, located on an island 185 feet high, which rises from a miserable sea marsh on the route from Brashear to New Iberia, up the river Teche, in Louisana, is one of the wonders of the world. How this island, containing over 300 acres of land, ever came into existence in such a locality, is a matter of conjecture. Vegetation is prolific and the scenery is beautiful and varied. Here is an immense bed of pure rock salt, whose extent is as yet only estimated, and scientific men are puzzled. This island is owned by Joe Jefferson, the actor, who has a winter residence on it in an orange grove.

THE CURRENCY.

A Washington dispatch informs us that the bill recently introduced by Senator Boutwell authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to renew the issue of fractional currency seems to have been founded in error. The recent legislation in regard to the redemption of fractional currency did not repeal the provision of law authorizing its issue not to exceed $50,000,000 in circulation at any one time, and the only obstacle to its issue to-day is not a want of authority of law but an appropriation to pay for the printing. It is for want of an appropriation that millions of dollars of this currency lie in an unfinished condition in the Printing Bureau, requiring only a small expenditure of money to finish and issue. Meanwhile the issue of silver during the five weeks since the law went into effect has amounted to less than $7,000,000, only about $3,000,000 of which was paid out for fractional currency, and $4,000,000 on checks in lieu of notes withheld from circulation. The process of replacing the fractional currency by silver is very slow. Previous to the suspension of the printing of small currency the redemption of it amounted to $3,000,000 a month. Now it barely reaches half that amount. The clamor for small change has ceased in the twelve cities where the distribution is being made, but urgent requests for it reached the Treasury from country banks remote from those points. The disbursement of silver coin exceeds the production at this time, and the supply will be more rapidly diminished by reason of the usual annual stoppage of the mints for two weeks in June to make the annual settlement required by law on the 1st of July. After the latter date, the Director of the Mint promise coinage shall be increased.

To obviate the dangers arising from dampness in brick buildings, a French architect, M. Sebille, has pattented a simple and inexpensive process for injecting brick, tiles and other earthen materials with the tarry residue from the manufacture of illuminating gas. Brick thus prepared is said to be rendered absolutely water-proof.

A PROPOSITION has been submitted to Congress to have storm flags carried by the locomotives of passenger trains, and announced by three sharp whistles every few miles. It is estimated that this warning would enable the farmers to save hay and grain, which would be otherwise injured by rains, to the amount of several millions of dollars every season.

LETTER FROM HON. JERE HARALSON.

Capt. Joseph F. Johnson Proposes to Divide with Pelham.

WASHINGTON, May 27, 1876.

Editor Bulletin, Montgomery, Ala.:

SIR—I see in your paper of the 22d the following:

"A personal friend of high character at Selma writes to say that he has investigated the charges made by Jere Haralson in the Anti Spencer State Convention against Capt. J. F. Johnson, and finds them false and malicious, perhaps growing out of the interest manifested by Capt. J. against Jere in the Bromberg-Haralson contest.

We insert this explanation with pleasure, and will go so far as to say that we have little nose for such offensive insolence as the negro Congressman exhibited towards several gentlemen in the course of his performances in the recent convention. Nevertheless, we think it would not be unbecoming in Capt. Johnston to repel, with proper dignity, over his own signature, any unjust imputation cast upon him from that source. Such a denial could not elevate the negro and would relieve Capt. Johnston of any reflections which might result from his silence in this matter."

Now, as I said before that Johnson said that he would share the fees with a member of Congress, I send you the letter as it was written, and knowing you as I do I send it to you with the request that you will return it to me.

Yours, &c.,
JERE HARALSON.

LETTER FROM CAPT. JOHNSON TO PELHAM.

Law Office of Johnston & Nelson,
SELMA, ALA., Feb. 2, 1874.

DEAR SIR—When Selma was burned 2d of April 1865, by the troops under Gen. Wilson, the Episcopal church was burned. The church has since petitioned Congress to pay $16,000 for the losses sustained by them. Ben. Turner, during his term, had all the proofs, which were strong and abundant—amongst others a certificate by Gen. Wilson himself. For some reason the claim was never pressed, and recently the proper officers of the church have retained me to look after the claim, and will pay me a commission of 15 per cent. to collect. The proofs, I suppose, are all on file in the committee room (I suppose the Claims Committee.) Now, I wish you to assist me in this matter and I will share the fees with you and assist you in getting up all the evidence he needed—if any more be needed. The strong point in our case is, that the burning was done long after the battle and wilfully, the church not being connected with any C. S. Government buildings. Will you please examine and hunt up the evidence now in Washington. I can get a good deal of help and have written Mr. Bromberg to assist you in the matter. I believe by pressing this we could push a bill right through. The people are now rebuilding and have got up the walls, rafters, etc., and are too poor to finish the new church; it will take $10,000 to do it; they have already expended about $12,000. Let me hear.

Yours, etc, JOS. F. JOHNSTON.

Hon. Charles Pelham, M. C., Washington, D. C.

THE Prince of Wales is suffering from inflammation of the veins of the leg, and will be compelled to remain indoors for some days. This announcement was made by a court circular on Saturday, and forthwith there was a panic at the Stock Exchange. Various rumors were in circulation, one of which was that the Prince's illness was much more serious than the announcement indicated. It was also hinted that the Rothschilds had sold consols to the amount of $5,000,000, basing the transaction on a knowledge that the political situation is likely to grow worse. These two rumors are responsible for a great deal of excitement among English financiers.

The Convention of the Alabama Democracy, so called, assembled at the State House, in representative hall, yesterday. Our reporter was dispatched to the scene at 12 o'clock, and in pursuance of a published notice presented himself to the Librarian for a ticket of admission. The Librarian demanded to know what business our reporter had in the Convention, and when informed that he was detailed to report the proceedings of that body, he refused to give a ticket, but sent him in search of some-one else. After hunting around awhile, our reporter found Mr. E. A. Graham the Secretary of the Democratic State Committee, who was authorized to issue tickets and through whom our reporter finally succeeded in getting one, and then admission into the presence of the automaton council.

A member of the caucus nominated Mr. Clements of Tuscaloosa for temporary chairman; carried, of course. Already cut and dried. Another one of the caucus ring nominated Messrs. B.H. Screws, and Sid B. Smith for temporary secretaries. Unanimously carried—of course.

Here the convention got into a little squabble about credentials, but the roll of counties was finally called, and the chiefs of the automatons from each county stepped up to the Clerk's desk, and deposited little slips of paper, upon which were written names of all the automatons. Some presented red pieces of paper, some yellow, some white and some mixed, while one head mandarin of the caucus sent up his ticket of admission. His name was Anderson. He afterwards went to the desk and got his ticket, under the impression, no doubt, that it would carry him home free.

The call of counties developed the fact that Choctaw, Dale, Marion and Winston were not represented at all, while some of the others were represented by only one or two and so on.

Mr. Oates moved that a committee of two from State at Large and two from each Congressional district be appointed on permanent organization. This didn't seem to be so well cut and dried, as the Chairman made up the committee and left Oates out in the shade; and appointed T. H. Herndon of Mobile and R. H. Abercrombie of Macon, neither being delegates, on the said committee. The Chairman looked as blank as a blank, and smiled a smile as smiling as a mud baby, when his attention was publicly called to the fact, by some delegates, that neither Herndon or Abercrombie were elected by the county conventions to play automatons in this convention.

The chair then named two other delegates, but still stuck to his action in leaving Oates out in the cold. Oates didn't like this a bit; and a few moments thereafter he and the chairman talked about it at the stand. The chairman still stuck.

The committee on P. O. went out and there being a lull in the proceedings, Capt. Bragg arose and asked the Montgomery delegation to step into the Senate chamber. Some body remarked that there was a bottle bid in the Senate chamber, and he believed the Montgomery delegates went out to caucus over it, but we do not think this is true.

At this point one of the automatons arose and suggested that a committee be appointed to wait on the committee on P. O. and ask them how much longer they would be out; this suggestion was not cut and dried; but Mr. Lowe offered a substitute therefor in the shape of a resolution that the Rev. Mr. Blank be appointed to wait on the committee on P. O., and enlighten them on the brevity of life, the certainty of death and the mutability of all flesh. At this the automatons all giggled, and not coming from the caucus it was declared out of order. Of course. Here some one cried out for Morgan, but the caucus hadn't sat on this, and Morgan didn't respond. The committee on P. O. stepped in at this juncture, the automatons all hushed, silence like a nightmare sat on the body of the convention, and Mr. Pettus of Dallas, reported the dictates of caucus thusly:

PERMANENT OFFICERS.

President—W. H. Chambers, of Russell.

Vice Presidents—L. M. Thompson, W. L. Bragg, W. C. Oates, E. H. Moren, M. L. Stansell, R. B. Kyle, J. D. Rather.

Secretaries—B. H. Screws, D. W. McIver, Ellis Phelan, P. G. Woods, C. D. Whitman.

Doorkeepers—Joe Baumer, A. R. Baker.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

1.—Nominations for Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney General, and Superintendent of Education.

2.—Electors for the State at large and the several districts.

3.—Delegates to the National Convention from the State at large and the several districts.

4.—Election of a State Executive Committee.

The report was adopted, of course, whereupon a committee was appointed to escort Mr. Chambers to the stand, and he was introduced to the Convention. He remarked that this was the first political convention the people had ever held in Alabama under the shadow of their own government. The State had but two years ago been in the hands of aliens and robbers who were not in sympathy with the people. He said that the success of the new constitution was one of the grandest events ever known in this country. The people, he said, had shaken off Radicalism like a lion shakes the dew drops from his mane. He said that the Democratic ticket must be elected in the coming campaign; that there must not and shall not be any failure. He wanted the best men selected for delegates to the National Convention and they must go uninstructed; that they must support any man the Northern Democracy wanted; that the Alabama Democracy had no choice, but whatever the Northern Democracy say they must be ready to accept as law, etc. As the most of this wasn't hatched by caucus, it fell as flat as a shingle on the Convention. The automatons didn't applaud any, and Mr. Chambers sat down.

NOMINATIONS.

The permanent chairman declared nominations in order, when Mr. Robinson, of Chambers, rose and moved that the two-thirds rule be adhered to.

Mr. Oates moved that the majority rule be adopted. He spoke a piece about the good of the people, etc., but the caucus had him. A vote was taken and Oates' majority rule was sent to grass with a very soar head. Then a resolution was adopted that in making nominations no one be allowed to make any speech or deliver any eulogies.

GOVERNOR.

At this point some one nominated Houston for Governor. Then all said yes; and the caucus chief was nominated by acclamation. A committee of three was appointed to notify him of his nomination, and he was brought to the stand where he spoke a speech. He seemed to be taken by surprise, and didn't know what to say. He made some remarks about State money, horse shoe, etc., and the State debt. He also said something about the revenue law, but a more senseless and unmeaning address was never before made by a candidate for Governor, in Alabama. The automatons were surprised at this and didn't applaud the Governor scarcely any. He accepted the nomination, as a matter of course.

SECRETARY OF STATE.

After the Governor stepped down and out, some one nominated Rufus K. Boyd for Secretary of State, which was made by acclamation, of course. Mr. Boyd was close by, and at once stepped in front and made a speech. He said he thanked the convention for the honor done him, and promised the delegates that when his second term was out, he would get out of the way and allow them to elect a native son of the State to succeed him. He said he would be re-elected without any trouble, and would come down from the mountains with a lot of scalps in his belt, following the "Old Bald Eagle" of the mountains, who was going to swoop down upon us like a duck upon a June bug, with the war locks of old Tom Peters and Jim Clarke. But notwithstanding all this, he said he couldn't see to save his life, how it was that he come to be elected at first, nor how the people come to pick him up when there were so many abler men, native sons of the State, lying around loose. But he promised to stick to Democracy till the last feather was gone, and whenever any help was wanted to call on him, and he would be there.

Then the automatons all got hungry, and the caucus allowed them to take a recess until half past four o'clock, it being now 3 o'clock.

Evening Session.

At half past four o'clock the automatons, having replenished their bread-baskets at the Exchange and elsewhere, returned to the State house, took their seats in the hall of the house and waited for orders.

By order of the caucus the convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for Auditor; and although the caucus had already decided on the man, the automatons were allowed to put up their friends, who were slaughtered and carried out one at a time, until the chiefs of the ring got tired of the nonsense and nominated Willis Brewer, of the Hayneville Examiner. The persons slaughtered by Brewer are Messrs. Barnett of Monroe, Vincent of Chambers and Meadors of Lee.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

After Brewer had spoken a little piece, the automatons proceeded to nominate a candidate for Attorney General. In this there was a continued slaughtering of the spotless who never seek office. There were three candidates for this little position, viz: Jno. W. A. Sanford, of Montgomery, the present incumbent. H. C. Tompkins of Bullock, and Wm. P. Chilton of Montgomery. The caucus allowed the automatons to play a little on this nomination, and then they went in for business when Sanford was crowned with victory. He was called to the stand and made a little talk in which he did not say one word about the "third term." He is one of those Democrats who has never abused Grant about the third term business, consequently he could accept the third term himself without any inconsistency. But he is the only Democrat in Montgomery who did not indorse the abuse of President Grant or the third term Caesorism nonsense. Sanford was sharp in this.

SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION.

The next business in which the caucus pulled the strings, was the nomination of a candidate for Superintendent of Education. The delegates were again allowed to sacrifice some of their friends and in this instance the slaughtering was terrific. So fearful was the onslaught that the caucus had to force the convention to adjourn until 10 o'clock this morning, in order that the automatons may be a little better drilled. The fun will open promptly at 10 o'clock this morning.

THE attempt of the caucus ring of the Democracy to defend the revenue law, with that drummer's license tax in it, will be a dead failure in this State. The merchants may be Democrats, but they are not fools.

Expressly for the State Journal by the Southern and Atlantic Telegraph Line.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—At the Treasury Department to-day, it is estimated that the customs receipts will fall ten million and the internal revenue receipts four millions below the estimates for the present fiscal year, which will leave a deficit of $14 000,000 in the estimates of receipts for the fiscal year, ending June 30th.

Senate.

The President presented a memorial of the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce, on the Hawaiian treaty. Referred.

Mr. Cameron, of Wisconsin, introduced a memorial of several hundred citizens of Wisconsin, against the repeal of the bankrupt law. Referred.

Mr. Conkling presented a memorial of the New York Cheap Transportation Company, against any further subsidies to railroads. Referred.

Mr. Morrill, of Maine, gave notice that to-morrow or next day he would call up the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

Mr. Sherman said he hoped the Senate would not delay the consideration of the bill relative to subsidies.

The unfinished business—being the bill in relation to the Japanese indemnity fund—came up.

House.

Mr. Jones, of Kentucky, offered a resolution, which was referred to the committee on banking and currency, declaring it to be the sense of the House, as well as of the country at large, that Congress should speedily repeal the resumption act of 1875, or so much thereof as requires resumption at a specific day. The bill to be reported should provide that there be no contraction; that it should provide for the gradual abolition of the National banking system; for as speedy a return to the payment of gold and silver as is consistent with the interests of the country, in order that the people may be relieved of the distress under which they now labor.

Mr. Baker, of Indiana, asked leave to offer a resolution requesting the Secretary of the Treasury, if not incompatible with the public interest, to report the amount of internal revenue taxes paid by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to the Central Pacific railroad, from 1864 to 1871 on their undivided profits.

Mr. O'Brien objected, and a contest then arose on the question on consideration as to whether the House should take up the contested election case, of Spencer vs. Morey.

Mr. Morey asked that the contested election case be taken up, and under a personal explanation stated his reasons. He wanted to say that a man named Seelye has testified before the special committee officers in Louisiana and made certain charges which so far as they affected his honor and integrity, were utterly false and infamous; that Seelye, according to his own testimony was a criminal and tried to fix criminancy upon him (Morey). Last summer this movement appeared in a paper which he said contained the charges, and for which he demanded money to prevent their publication in December, 1875. He was aware that he would have to meet a contest here, that he appealed to the House however, to take up the case to-day and dispose of it because he wanted to go to New Orleans and be present at the investigation in progress there.

The House then took up the election case.

Mr. McCreary gave notice that he would offer a substitute for the resolution of the committee authorizing further investigation, and to extend the time for which the testimony may be taken to sixty days.

The previous question was then seconded, and Mr. Bebee closed the discussion.

Mr. McCreary's substitute was then rejected, and the question then recurred upon the first resolution reported by the minority that W. D. Spencer was not elected, and is not entitled to his seat, which was also rejected. The resolution declaring Mr. Spencer entitled to his seat was then adopted.

Mr. Durham, of Kentucky, from committee on the revision of laws reported a bill to perfect the revision of the statutes of the United States. The vote on the bill was postponed until to-morrow.

On motion of Mr. Caldwell the testimony of Col. Boughton was taken up by the Military committee in relation to Mr. Bright, the United States Consul, at Havre. Referred to committee on state department expenditures, who were authorized to continue the investigation.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President in answer to a resolution asking what steps had been taken to protect American citizens in Turkey. The message embraced telegrams passing between Minister Maynard and Secretary Fish, in relation to troubles at Salonica, and asking for protection. On May 20th Secretary Fish telegraphed that the Navy Department had directed Admiral Warden to proceed at once to Smyrnia and Constantinople, and Warden, who was then at Nice, said he would sail at once on the Franklin, and afford protection to Americans. Referred to committee on foreign affairs.

The House at 5:30 p. m. adjourned.

The telegram received by the Turkish Minister yesterday announcing the dethronement of the Sultan and the appointment of his successor, was at once sent to the Department of State to be communicated to the government of the United States, by Secretary Fish, but he left here yesterday morning for New York, to be absent for several days, and the formal announcement of the news will be made by the Assistant Secretary of State at the next meeting of the Cabinet. This government has also received the announcement of the change in the Turkish government through its own representatives in Europe. Later telegrams to the Turkish Minister state that everything is quiet and the people generally express satisfaction with the new government, and a feeling of greater confidence and security seems to prevail among all classes. The Turkish Minister yesterday notified the resident representatives of foreign governments of the change which had taken place in the government at Constantinople. By some foreign representatives the change is regarded as likely to bring about a state of peace throughout the Turkish empire, as the new ruler is a man of liberal and progressive ideas, and will no doubt remedy the evils complained of by that portion of the population just now engaged in insurrection. Others have a less hopeful opinion of affairs.

CANADA.

QUEBEC, May 31.—The fire which broke out yesterday in the St. Louis district, was got under control about ten o'clock this morning, not however until it had laid some six hundred houses in ruins. The burned territory covers a section of nearly three-quarters of a mile long by a quarter of a mile broad. The number of houses destroyed is estimated roughly at from six to eight hundred. The burned district was very thickly populated by laboring classes. Some two thousand families are rendered homeless. Quite a number of fine private residences were destroyed. The amount of insurance is heavy. The destitution among the lower classes is something awful.

Up to this hour, noon, no definite information can be obtained as to the loss by last night's fire. The houses burned were of the cheapest kind. The excitement in the city is intense; those rendered homeless are being accommodated in the barracks, drill sheds and other places. Several persons are missing, and are supposed to have perished in the flames. A large number of cattle were burned to death. The fields in the vicinity are covered with furniture.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Congressional committee investigating the working of Federal offices in this city finished yesterday and returned to Washington.

The Herald publishes an interview with George W. Tuney, of this city, from which it appears that a suit against A. T. Stewart's estate will be commenced after all. Tuney represents a wealthy family and the litigation over the property promises to be long and costly. Tuney claims to be a third cousin of the deceased, his grandfather and Stewart's grandfather having, as alleged, been brothers. Able lawyers have been engaged by plaintiff, and papers will probably be filed next week.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 31.—The Times' money article says Canadian railway shares are improved generally.

The great race for the Derby was run at Epsom to-day and was won by Kisber. The race was run amid intense interest, and the wildest excitement prevailed at first. The course was thronged with spectators, and London was almost depopulated to witness the great event.

In the Derby race Forerunner came in second, and Julius Caesar third. The backers of Patriarch, the favorite, lost heavily; 15 horses ran.

The winner of the Derby was Baltazzis Mevearl. The colt he run was named by the owner just before the race, and received the title of Kisber.

TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 31.—It is announced that the Sultan, Mourad Effendi, agrees to institute an elective assembly, and promises many reforms, including the abolition of the seraglio and the reduction of the civil list.

It is generally expected here that the new Cabinet will be composed of the following Ministers: Of finance, Midhat Vilier Sadyk; of foreign affairs, Khalip Cheraff. The names for the remaining portfolios are not stated.

AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, May 31.—The Montenagrin war minister has informed the Austrian government that an offensive and defensive alliance has been concluded between Servia, Greece, Roumania and Montenegria, against Turkey.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $50 0, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

PLATFORM

—OF THE—

REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recognition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipaties, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintenance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana. In his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, Mr. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention heartily appreciates the services of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is highly necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support of our party, and for the valuable service they have rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

—The N. Y. Tribune speaks thus pr - fanely of Bill Allen:

"Uncle William Allen, having exhausted astronomy and pomp-veral bulls, has now summoned u... east. 'The East, sir,' said he, or rather yelled, to the Herald correspond n—'The East, sir, has become a mere ornamental margin of the mighty West, and is but a pigmy dictating to or bullying a giant!'"

—In reply to its own question as to how the triumph of the Democratic party is to be assured, the N. Y. World says:

"The recent history of our politics has demonstrated that in order to achieve victory in November next the Democratic party must stand firmly loyal to the principles succinctly summed up in the Utica platform of 1873 as Hard Money, Free Trade and Home Rule."

—The Cleveland Plain Dealer (Dem.) don't like the Cincinnati Enquirer, but still thinks the Democrats are not strong enough to divide. It nevertheless files this protest:

"There is a touch occasionally in Southern Ohio of a disease known as the 'you-know-it all,' but we are not crazy enough to divide. We will all support the St. Louis nominee."

—The Richmond Enquirer is violently opposed to Tilden's nomination, which, it says:

"Would cut off all hope of any Western State, and leave New York in doubt. The first place will be given to Bayard, Hancock, or some other compromise man equally acceptable to the East and the West, and the second may go to Governor Hendricks of Indiana. A ticket thus formed is the very strongest within our reach. The Tilden men have seen their best days; let them throw their strength for their second choice. Tilden will not be the nominee, but he may nominate somebody else."

—Two Tilden papers have had a rather unpleasant breaking out upon them lately. The Louisville Courier-Journal has been assailing Tammany Hall for its opposition to Gov. Tilden in a highly tropical way, calling John Kelly "a pigheaded and vainglorious upstart," and Tammany Hall "a simpering flock of club men, who part their hair in the middle and spell Democracy with a small d," as well as "the lineal descendants of Tweed," and "wearers of the cast-off garments of Tweed and Sweeny." The Rochester Union defends Tammany Hall with about equal spirit, and wants the Courier-Journal called off "and sent to its kennel." It evidently thinks some one set it on.

—The Northern Ohio Statesman (Dem) thinks Wm. Allen an embodiment of the masses; (them asses?) for it says:

"The decision of the people at Cincinnati has made William Allen a troublesome man to all the candidates of both parties for President. The embodiment of the honest masses, he stands before the country as a power in the land and as a warning to aspirants on both sides to beware of the power of the people."

—The Philadelphia Ledger is among the Independents; it therefore speaks right out on the subject of Billallenism, saying:

"What William Allen wants is plain to all the world; and after the shuffling and shifting and prevaricating which have prevailed in conventions of late, it is a relief to come upon such a frank expression even of blatant folly and unblushing rascality."

—The "two-thirds rule" has long been a skeleton in the Democratic household, and at various times intimations have appeared in the press of that party of a desire to have it entirely abrogated. The Illinois Register now says of it:

"The two-thirds rule for political conventions is an unfair one, as most of the Democratic papers of the country have declared; and if it works injury only, as every one believes, why not abolish it at once? The rule was adopted for the purpose of furthering the ends of a sectional faction, and has, so far as we know, produced nothing but evil."

PERSONAL.

—A troupe of Indians are now in New York city, composed of members of the Onondaga, Seneca, Tuscarora and Owego tribes, and will soon start for Europe, where they intend to give a series of exhibitions.

—A bogus baron, representing himself as a Commissioner to the Centennial from Austria, and who put up in style at the Westminster Hotel, New York, has suddenly disappeared, the Austrain police authorities being on his track.

—Rev. W. H. H. Murray says in the Golden Rule last week: "If such ladies as Miss Dickinson and our own Mrs. Barry continue to study for the stage and adopt the theatrical profession as theirs, will not the stage be revolutionized, and become a source of pure and healthy entertainment? It is evident that the prejudice against the theater on the part of religious people is wearing away; not because they are growing worse, but because the theater is growing better and is being better understood."

Detroit physicians are discussing a singular case which they were recently called on to treat. The victim was a young man named Charles Clark, who after twenty-four hours of suffering, died from the uncommon disease known as purpura haemorrhagica, or the bursting of all small blood vessels beneath the skin and mucous membranes. The neck, body and limbs became purple, and the skin having ceased its functions, became intensely cold to the touch and considerably distended.

In the Senate on Saturday a petition was presented, signed by Charles Edward Mott, of Northampton, Massachusetts, humbly praying that on and after July 4, 1876, the stars in the national flag be placed in the permanent form of a "six-rayed Centennial star." With the petition are "instructions to flag makers in general and the public," with diagrams. A petition was also presented from the same party asking Congress to provide for "an international monument for the English speaking nations." He asks that Congress pass a joint resolution appropriating a sum of money for the laying, on the 4th of July next, of the corner stone of the pedestal for a monument for a full sized statue of Oliver Cromwell, Protector.

NAMING THE CHICKENS.

BY MRS. L. B. BACON.

...were two little chickens hatched out by one
...ning,
...owner of both was our little boy Ben;
...ght him to work, as soon as they came,
...them a house and find them a name.

...ng a house, Benny knew very well
...ould do that; but his big brother Phil
...ught at tools for he'd been to college,
...ere supposed to learn all sorts of
...ledge.

...very good natured, and soon his small
...brother
...ny home for his chicks and their
...
...boy in the country just then
...have been found than our dear little
...Ben.

...ame for his pets it was harder to find,
...least spot is suited exactly his mind:
...e was ever more haunted
...ble to find just the ones that she wanted.

...were plenty of names, no doubt about that,
...that would do for a dog or a cat
...answers for chickens so pretty as these;
...our dear boy was not easy to please.

...two tiny chickens looked just like each
...
...them so young would be only a bother,
...them in each hand, said queer little Ben,
...want this one a rooster and that one a hen."

...knew them apart by a little brown spot
...the head of the one that the other had not;
...ing up like magic, each fat feathered
...chick,
...at length was named Peggy and the other named Dick.

...watched them so closely not a feather could grow
...the dress of those chickens that he did not know;
...taught them so well they would march at command,
...up on his shoulder, or eat from his hand.

...a funny thing happened concerning their names;
...ing with the house one day, Benny exclaims,
"Oh! Phil! such a blunder there's
...Peggy the rooster and Dick is the hen!"

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "wet down and ran together" Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us: the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,

PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 36 to 40 pages three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over fifteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer, that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."

A WIFE'S secret—Her opinion of her husband.

THE man with his bills will be around this morning.

THE press association completed its work yesterday.

THERE is a dullness in police circles which is sad indeed.

WORDS tell what you should be; deeds tell what you are.

A DEBATING club decides that the duel between David and Goliath was wrong.

REMEMBER the Ladies supper to-night at Concert Hall; admission 25, cents. tt

"I'M saddest when I sing," exclaimed a young man. "So is the neighborhood," sighed a voice in the street.

EVERYBODY seems to consider himself a kind of moral half-bushel to measure the world's frailties in.

A FAIR exchange is no robbery, but giving a city daily for a patent country weekly does not come in this list.

THE stores ought to close at 6 o'clock in the evening, so merchants and employes can have some rest and recreation.

THERE will be a game of base ball tomorrow afternoon at foot of Perry street between the Centennials and a picked nine.

MR. GEORGE G. LANIER, of Opelika, arrived in the city last night to visit his relatives. He leaves for Opelika this morning.

ONE of Barnum's clowns puts this conundrum: "Why is the centennial like home?" Because it is the dearest spot on earth."

THE rain yesterday was accompanied by a very strong wind, and in the Western portion of the city a great deal of vegetation was blown down.

AN exchange remarks that as the average age of a farmer is sixty-five years, and a printer only thirty-three, the former should pay the latter promptly.

To keep the young ladies from getting into the bad habit of sleeping Sunday afternoons, call on them immediately after dinner and stay until dark.

WE are glad to learn that the crops in the county are unusually promising. A large amount of grain has been sowed this year and it promises a fine yield.

SOME of the members of the Alabama Press Association were very highly pleased with their treatment in this city, and propose to "write us up" in the finest style.

PERSONAL.—We had a very pleasant call yesterday from Mr. A. B. Woodcock a genial and popular citizen of Mobile. He visits the city to attend the Democratic State Convention.

GENTLEMEN who have nothing to do now but "press brick" should endeavor to get appointments as Postmasters—several such offices being in want of heads, in different parts of the State.

PEOPLE who are clamoring for a reduction in railway charges to the Centennial Exposition are likely to be gratified. The trunk lines have got into a fight—and down goes the charges. So glad!

MOBILE was selected by the Press Convention as the place for holding the next annual convention. Montgomery losing by three votes. The Montgomery members of the press were not all in attendance.

RECENTLY, at a wedding, when the clergyman asked the young lady, "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" she, with a modesty which lent her beauty additional grace, replied, "If you please.

THE Indians are making it rather hot for miners out in the Black Hills country, and the price of scalps is coming down. Our dispatches nearly every morning report lively times out there. Our "devil" has concluded not to go until the rate of the trade is better.

PERSONAL MENTION.—In our acknowledgment of friendly calls from members of the press, yesterday, we inadverteutly omitted the following names: Messrs. A. H. Britton, Huntsville Advocate; Wm. A. Collier, Chilton County Courier; H. C. Bradford, Cherokee County Advertiser.

To give brilliancy to the eyes, shut them early at night and open them early in the morning; let the mind be constantly intent on the acquisition of human knowledge or the exercise of benevolent feeling. This will scarcely ever fail to impart to the eyes an intelligent and amiable expression.

REMEMBER the Ladies supper to-night at Concert Hall; admission 25 cents. tt

As the warm season has fully commenced, we advise those of our citizens who reside in the suburbs to report any cases of violation of the sanitary regulations of the city. A great deal of garbage is carried from the city out into the suburbs, and there deposited to breed sickness and death. Be on the lookout for all such cases as these.

WE are glad to learn that some of our leading business men propose, at an early day, to move in the matter of organizing a Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce. Montgomery is one of the most prominent cotton markets in the country, and we trust that the proposed enterprise will meet the prompt and united indorsement of all our merchants. We ought to have a Board of Trade.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.—The Social Amateur Club of Montgomery, will give a grand entertainment at the theatre to-night. The play selected for the occasion is "The Cross of St. John," and we are sure its performance will be a pleasing and instructive affair. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the Catholic Church. All who desire to spend a pleasant evening should be sure to buy a ticket and attend this entertainment.

THE LATEST.—We heard an envious cynic yesterday, as he gazed from the postoffice out into Perry street, say that our Montgomery ladies in a drawing-room, tied back, flattened, and lengthened out in the height of the present style, look like serpents winding their way over the carpet with uplifted heads. We cannot for a moment allow so ungallant a comparison to be applied to our fair friends, though candor compels us to own that a cursory glance at the latest fashion plates strikingly confirms the fitness of the simile. The worst phase of the fashion is that it has not yet reached its climax. The last mandate announces that dresses will be more clinging than ever, and then how can any one walk, or much more sit down, if there is to be still less space for movement? A little more amplitude in dimensions, a slight diminution in the tying back process, and a little more flowing grace, are devoutly to be hoped for in the coming styles, inasmuch as goddesses and angels are far more appropriate and attractive symbols than serpents for the fair fashionables of the day.

RETURNING.—The Columbus Enquirer of yesterday contains the following items:

Berry Robinson, colored, left this city on the first part of the year, when the emigration fever was raging, and went to Pine Bluff, Arkansas. He was influenced to leave his former employer, Mr. Wm. Beach, a hardware merchant of this place, by a negro with whom he had been raised, promising $26 per month to work on his and another colored person's land "out there." After he had gotten Berry to his destination, he hired him to a gentleman for $13 per month, the regular wages of laborers. Berry reports that hundreds are working their way back as he had done. White people are doing likewise. It is very unhealthy in that section during the summer months, and they are finding it out and beginning to leave. He, with hundreds of others, are dissatisfied with the country on general principles. Some have been on their way to their old homes for two months.

A gentleman in the city says that when he was moving from Barbour county, Alabama, to Jackson county, Texas, he carried with him an ox, which he worked during one fall and winter. In the spring he turned the ox out to graze and he strayed off. On his return to Barbour on a visit he found that the ox had gone back to his former home, a distance between 800 and 1,000 miles.

He also had a "Sandy" sow that returned to her former rooting grounds after having been carried in a box a distance of 300 miles.

These narratives are told as facts—are told. By whom can they be proved?

Resolutions of Respect.

The committee appointed by the First Baptist church at Montgomery, Ala., made the following report:

WHEREAS, In the providence of an all-wise God, our much beloved Pastor Dr. D. W. Gwin, has seen proper to tender to this church his resignation as Pastor, in consequence of a call from the First Baptist church of Atlanta, Ga., and this church has exhausted its sincere efforts without avail, to induce him to withdraw said resignation, and,

WHEREAS, Brother Gwin has by his Godly walk, pastoral care and faithful discharge of all duties devolving upon him as minister, friend and citizen, built up this church and congregation, and thus endeared himself to its members and the community generally. Therefore be it

Resolved, That while we regard his removal from our midst as a severe affliction, and an almost irreparable loss to this church and community, this church accepts his resignation with sorrow.

Resolved, That we sever our connection with him in respect and love beyond expression, and pray God's blessing upon him and his family in his future field of labor, and commend them heartily to the care and love of his charge.

R. H. Matton, C. B. Ferrell, C. W. Thomas, H. A. Hammond, T. L. Jones, committee.

On motion it was resolved that the report be received and adopted, entered on the minutes, and a copy be furnished Brother Gwin, and that a copy be furnished each of the city papers, the Alabama Baptist and Christian Index for publication.

CARD FROM W. H. HUNTER.

MONTGOMERY, May 30.

Editor Journal: An editorial appeared in the Alabama Republican of yesterday, headed "Hunter," in which I am charged with saying certain things derogatory to my friends Gov. Smith and Judge Bruce. The editor of the Republican has promised to publish my reply next week which will be accompanied with a letter from the "Wilcox Delegate," which I think will settle the matter to the satisfaction of all concerned, especially the persons who claim to have overheard a conversation of mine. It is an old adage that, "Eve-droppers never hear any good of themselves." But in this instance I think somebody has kicked before they were spurred. In the meantime let us have peace. Respectfully,

"HUNTER."

Dept of State

ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL.

BY T. C. BINGHAM & CO. "The Union of Our Forefathers------Peace and Prosperity to All Men!" Terms---$8 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 2, 1876 NUMBER 220

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1876.

The Georgia Democratic State Committee is summoned to meet in Atlanta, June 7, for the purpose of completing the delegation for the State at large to the St. Louis Convention. This, apparently, affords opportunity for further quarrels in an already inharmonious party.

The beauties of Democratic rule in Arkansas are set forth in the following paragraph from the Fort Smith Weekly New Era:

"Little Rock has closed her public schools for this season. Fort Smith had them closed for several seasons, and will keep them closed for some time to come. School taxes are, however, to be paid as usual. What a state of affairs!

Governor Houston says he wants the August election to be a fair and honest expression of the people's judgment. As the chief executive officer of the State, it is the duty of Gov. Houston to see that every citizen has the untrammelled right to cast his vote according to the dictates of his own heart. If the August election is a fair and honest expression of the people's judgment, Gov. Houston will be about as badly defeated as any candidate for Governor ever was in Alabama.

There is undoubtedly a great deal of rottenness about the Democratic House of Representatives, an exposure of which would be unpleasant, but we sincerely hope Republicans will not encourage men of Fitzhugh's character by purchasing the secrets which he claims to possess, and which he proposes to use to the damage of those Democratic members who aided in disgracing him. The latter party has thus far enjoyed an exclusive monopoly of the spy, sneak-thief and jail-bird business, and we trust it will not be interfered with.

The Inter Ocean says that fourteen hundred pounds of old telegrams, recently sold as waste paper by the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company, have been secured by a Congressional official, and will be taken to Washington and examined. Among the number are supposed to be several official and private dispatches of A. G. Cattell and Secretary Robeson and Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., during the months of September and October, 1875. The Democrats think they can surely find some evidence of wickedness in those documents.

Mr. Blaine's friends at Washington say that of the 709 delegates thus far elected 300 are supposed on the first ballot to be for Blaine, 112 for Morton, 61 for Conkling, 70 for Bristow, 58 for Hartranft, 41 for Hays, and 49 unknown. Iowa is yet to elect 22 delegates, Florida 8, Louisiana 16, New Mexico, Washington and Dakota 2 each, and North Carolina and Massachusetts 1 each—total, 54. Blaine's friends expect to have Iowa, the three Territories and something from Florida and Louisiana, giving him 350 votes on the first ballot, which likes only 28 of a clean majority.

In his will Mr. A. T. Stewart ordered that those of his employes who had served him for ten or twenty years should be awarded a certain sum of money. The money has now been paid, and the Herald published a list of those who received it. It is a long list—over three hundred names are upon it—and the amount paid foots up to $205,750. This, with those particularly named in Mr. Stewart's will, makes the entire amount given his employes from the estate $385,750. This is a very large sum, and the manner of its application has, without doubt, produced more real benefit than any like amount ever before bequeathed.

One of the most interesting features connected with the Philadelphia exhibition just now is an immense display of rhododendrons from England. They are exhibited in a temporary annex, under canvas. There are over fifteen hundred plants, embracing fifty-two distinct and described varieties, and nearly all are in full bloom, the tints of the flowers being of all shades, from a pale lilac to deep crimson. The plants are descendants of the wild flowers of the Alleghenies, and were more directly derived from plants taken to England from this country a hundred years ago. They are thus really centennial plants, and show the result of a century of development.

A Times special says that Mr. Kerr is very much exercised over the story that he received money for the appointment of Green to a Lieutenantcy in the army, and takes pains to talk freely to his friends. He of course denies receiving any money, and says that the papers the man Green presented to him were sufficient to induce him to use his influence in securing the appointment. He seems to think that the publication of these charges is the result of his refusal to respond to the letter he received from New York some few weeks ago upon this subject. He regards that letter as an attempt to black-mail him, and has used every effort to ascertain the source from which it came.

The Philadelphia Item remarks that one feature of the elections of 1876, that is dissimilar from any of the elections that have preceded it is, that all the Representatives in Congress in all the States will be elected on the same day, the day of general election. This is in accordance with the act of apportionment of 1872, which says: "That the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, in the year 1876, is hereby fixed and established as the day in each of the States and territories in the United States for the election of Representatives and Delegates to the Forty-fifth Congress." The elections for Representatives have heretofore been held at the time of holding the State elections, which is in Maine in August, in Ohio, Indiana, and some other States in October. In accordance with this custom, some of the Congressional districts have begun nominating their candidates for election. The election cannot occur, however, until November.

DEMOCRATIC OFFICE HOLDERS.

They Control the Democratic State Convention.

One of the great campaign cries of the Alabama Bourbons has been, and is, that the Republican party is controlled altogether by office holders. The Montgomery Advertiser published a list of the office holders who attended the late Republican State Convention, and upon that list, based its assertion that the Republican party is being now controlled by them for personal and selfish ends. We propose to show here that the Democratic State Convention which met in this city on Wednesday was under the influence of office holders throughout, and that they formed the leading element therein. From Circuit Judges down to Constables the Democratic convention was made up and manipulated by these office holders.

The following is a list of the office holders who were delegates in the convention:

Barbour county—H D Clayton, Circuit Judge, S H Dent, County Sup't. of Education, C E Crews, Representative in Legislature, A V Lee, Solicitor, G L Comer, Justice.

The Democratic newspapers of Mississippi, having called the attention of "Morton and Blaine" to the fact that a colored man named Jones and a colored girl named Perkins have been appointed to the care of the gentlemen's and ladies' departments of the Mississippi Centennial Headquarters at Philadelphia, a "citizen of Jackson" rises and explains. These two positions, in the first place, are simply those of male and female porter, and therefore the honor is not great, but the "citizen" declares that the male appointee is a murderer, having killed a man last fall, thus demonstrating his entire fitness to join the Democratic party, which he immediately did. He also alleges that Miss Perkins is not a proper person to place in charge of the "ladies' department," and intimates that she was appointed through the personal preferences of the Commissioner; and that both were appointed to the exclusion of honest and worthy applicants.

The International Temperance Conference, which will convene in Philadelphia June 13, for a three days' session, promises to be the most important World's Temperance Congress ever held. It will include a large number of well-known representative temperance men and women of our own country, and many distinguished foreign delegates. Papers will be presented giving a general history of temperance work in this and other countries, and of the various national temperance organizations; with carefully prepared papers by able writers from both sides of the Atlantic, upon the educational and scientific, the social and economical, legislative, political and religious aspects of the question.

OPPOSED TO EDUCATION.

The Pittsburgh Commercial says that the Southern Democratic papers are beginning to boldly advance the doctrine that the education of the masses, whether white or black, is "utterly indefensible," calculated to make them "discontented with the labors and pursuits to which they are necessarily confined," and "in irreconcileable conflict with the American theory of government, and with the Bible doctrine of parental duty and responsibility." These atrocious sentiments are quoted from a late number of an influential Georgia paper, and we observe that the Legislature of that State has recently refused either to levy a tax or allow the people to tax themselves in their respective districts, for the support of common schools. The extreme reductions of the school funds in Alabama, Texas and Arkansas, so that teachers have been obliged, in many cases, to quit their schools, have the same nefarious object in view. In short, it will be found that in nearly all the Southern States dominated by the old Democracy, there is a spirit of hostility to the public school system which forebodes no good to the poor whites and the negroes. It was to be hoped that the experience of the past fifteen years had instilled such views in that quarter of the country that a proper pride would be felt in all matters tending to and providing for the widest and best range of universal education, instead of which we have an insurrection against the spirit of the nineteenth century. Such is "reconstructed" Democracy.

SOUTHERN INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.

The Philadelphia American, a journal which devotes much attention to the industrial affairs of the country, says in a late issue, that industrial progress at the South seems at length to be taking definite and propitious shape in the development of cotton manufactures. Florida stands alone as the only purely Southern State that has not yet gone into the business. From 1830 to 1870 the number of spindles in the Southern cotton mills had increased 41,530, and from 1860 to 1875 the total increase was 178,699. All the damage done by the civil war to this great industry at the south has been more than made up, and even through the crash and stagnation of 1873, '74 and '75, the number of spindles at the south increased 156,159, an exhibition of vitality wholly unlooked for. The entire cotton region and all the States bordering it have entered upon this progress, and the profits of the mills have been so large and regular as to encourage further investments. But these appear to be heaviest in the purely cotton growing States, so that the cotton planters are finding an augmented home market for their crops in their own States. This movement is more permanently developed and widely diffused at the South than the corresponding British movement is in India. So much money is saved in the cost of transit between the plantation and the mill that there can be no doubt of the ability of the Southern manufacturer to compete with the English mills. The importance of this enterprise to the whole future of the Republic cannot be exaggerated, as may be seen by the subjoined statement of the European cotton supply for the year ending October 1:

THE FEDERAL DEAD.

Yesterday being the day set apart for the decoration of the graves of Union soldiers, who fell in our late struggle, the national "bivouac of the dead," adjoining Magnolia Cemetery, was thronged from early in the afternoon until long after the sun had sunk to rest behind the dismal clouds of the distant west. The day was not as pleasant as was desired, but there were some who thought the gloom which covered the cerulean and the rain which descended, were the pall and tears of nature. Within the enclosure there must have been two thousand people, the colored people largely predominating. The Creole Brass Band occupied the mound in the centre of the grounds and discoursed music appropriate to the occasion. Shortly after five o'clock Mr. Leo L. Mayer appeared and introduced Rev. Peter Murphy, who began the exercises with prayer. In the absence of the orator, Mr. W. W. D. Turner delivered a short address, paying a tribute to the memory of those whom they had met to honor, and alluding to the feeling of reconciliation which was steadily growing throughout our land, and hoping that the day was not far distant when all past bitterness would be buried.

The Washington Blues and Magnolia Guards then fired the customary salute. Not a grave among that large number was neglected; each had its wreath and cluster of fragrant flowers. On the mound we noticed a large basket of rich and beautiful flowers, a present to the officers at the United States Barracks from the Ladies' Memorial Monumental Association. On the opposite side was a large wreath, presented to the soldiers at Mobile from their comrades at Mount Vernon. At the gate was a large arch, on which was written "Dulce et decorum est, pro patria mora," and on either side were the names of several distinguished officers who were killed in battle. The flag was at half-mast and hung as if joining in the sadness which seemed to pervade the grounds. At dark, when we left, numbers of people were engaged in strewing flowers on the graves, while others were walking about the grounds viewing the scene with evident gratification.—[Mobile Register 31.

—The Wetumpka No-Joax of the 31st inst says: "As the Lightning Express train on the S. and N. A disguised person tried to assassinate Mr. Warner Hall, one night recently, in Gainsville. A pistol was presented, but the cap bursted in Mr. Hall's face without its firing, or he would probably have been killed. It is believed that the assassin mistook his man, as he walked quietly away although Mr. Hall made no resistance, being unarmed.

FOR GOVERNOR.

Hon. James S. Clark of Decatur, Ex-Judge of the 4th Judicial Circuit, has been nominated for Governor by what is called the Spencer wing of the Republican party of this State. We do not know Judge Clark as a Republican, never having heard of his professing to be one, and of course cannot tell if he will accept the nomination or not. If he should accept, we know of no man in the State belonging to that party who would make a better race. He is a native of Lawrence county, of fine literary and schoolastic attainments; a good lawyer, a true son of the South, one of the people, a man of strict integrity, sans peur et sans reproche, he would make an honest and popular Governor, and a worthy standard-bearer of any party.—[Tuscumbia Times.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent or paper to act. The agency is to sell the Bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish Agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the firm to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds where the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $21—generally far more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The number of which is divided and pooled to all the bondholders pro rata, as in the loan they be buted by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in addition of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole bond.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

WASHINGTON.

Senate.

Washington, June 1.—Tables were again placed to the right and left of the presiding officers this morning for the accommodation of the managers of impeachment, and for General Belknap and his counsel. The resumption of proceedings in the impeachment is set for one o'clock p. m to-day. There was not much more than a usual attendance in the galleries.

Dom Pedro and the Brazilian Minister made their appearance in the diplomatic gallery at noon.

Mr. Conkling presented a memorial of 200 merchants, bankers, brokers, etc., of New York, in favor of the bill for the protection of trademarks. Referred.

Mr. Windom, from the committee on public lands reported favorably and with amendments the House bill to authorize claimants upon even numbered sections of lands within the 20 mile limits of the Northern Pacific Railroad to make proof and payment for their claims at the ordinary minimum rate of $1.25 per acre. Placed on the callender.

Mr. Ingalls called up the bill to provide for the sale of the reservation of the confederated Otoe and Missouri Indians in the State of Kansas and Nebraska, which was discussed some time and then passed.

Mr. Cameron presented a letter received by him from the Secretary of State enclosing a note from the French Minister, inviting the United States on behalf of his government to take part in the Universal Exposition to be held in Paris in 1878, which was read and referred.

The chair then declared all legislative and executive business suspended, and that the Senate would now proceed to the consideration of articles of impeachment against W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War.

The Senate then resumed its legislative business, when on motion of Mr. Sherman it went into executive session.

House.

The House resumed consideration of bill reported by Mr. Durham yesterday, from committee on revision of the laws to perfect their revision. The bill as reported was passed.

Mr. Buckner, of Mo., asked that on Monday next after 2 o'clock the committee on the District of Columbia be permitted to report bills they had on many important matters to be considered.

Mr. Randall objected; the District committee had its regular day and that was sufficient.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bill for the reorganization of the army. After the amendment the bill was passed. Ayes 120. Nays 82.

On motion of Mr. Kelly, of Mass., it was ordered that there be a session to-morrow night, for debate only on tariff bill.

Mr. Wood, of N. Y., called up the bill heretofore reported, to amend revised statutes relating to merchants and seamen. The bill amends revised statutes in such a way as to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to appoint shipping commissioners at every port of entry, which is also part of ocean navigation, fixes their duties, requires them to give bonds and fixes their salary at four thousand dollars, except at New York, where it is fixed at five thousand dollars. The bill passed.

Mr. Ellis, of La., introduced a bill for ocean mail service between the United States add Brazil. Referred.

On motion of Mr. Thompson, of Mass., the President was requested to read to House the correspondence between United States and Great Britain in relation to the sequestration of property of an American citizen in New Zealand.

House adjourned at 5.15 p. m.

A telegram has been received from Lawrence that Harney, the important witness in the Kerr charge, will be here this evening.

The morning papers published a press telegram from New York yesterday stating that the body of a man found at North Bergen, N. J., was to-day identified as that of S. B. Burdett, of Washington, Examiner of the Land Office. The deceased was last heard of at the Astor House on the 13th inst. He at that time had in his possession several thousand dollars.

The following was received here, showing that the above was a mistake:

Hoboken, N. J, June 1.—To Col. E. C. Ford, Washington: The body in the morgue has been identified. It is not the body of S. S. Burdett.

[Signed] Crane, Coroner.

Mr. Burdett's step-son in this city still thinks that the ex-commissioner has taken a trip along the coast of New England for his health.

NEW YORK.

New York, June 1.—The first move in the contest for the estat of the late A. T. Stewart began yesterday. A petition was filed with Surrogate Colvin, signed by James Bailey, representing the interests of himself, the Turney and other claimants, the blood relatives of Stewart, to have the will set aside. The petition claims that petitioners are blood relatives of the late Stewart; that the will was admitted to probate as if the same had been duly proved as the will of real and personal estate, and that the pretended will was not the last will of A. T. Stewart, as it was obtained by circumlocution and undue influence practiced against and upon said A. T. Stewart by Judge Hilton or some other person.

Surrogate Colvin has issued an order to the executors and others named in the will to show cause why the will should not be declared void. The order is returnable June 15th. The petitioner, Bailey, who bears a striking resemblance to the late Stewart, claims that his mother was a sister of A. T. Stewart's father, he being, therefore, first cousin of Stewart. He is about sixty years of age, in good circumstances, and resides in Brooklyn. He says the only person really benefitted by the will has been Judge Hilton, and relies chiefly in proving undue influence by Hilton to set aside the will.

Jarrett and Palmer's fast train for San Francisco left Jersey City at one o'clock this morning. It is expected to reach its destination Sunday afternoon. Only 25 passengers were taken, including Jarrett and Palmer and a number of newspaper correspondents.

At 11 o'clock Parker had rode 146 miles. The distance, 152½ miles, was completed at 11:30. Parker being then 45 seconds ahead of time.

The World says that Sergeant-At-Arms Thompson telegraphed from Washington yesterday to officials here to ascertain the whereabouts of Harney, the witness, against Speaker Kerr, and detain him until further orders. Harney could not be found up to midnight, and it is supposed he has fled to Canada.

A special from Madison, Florida says the Republican State Executive committee met yesterday with closed doors; nine counties send doubtful delegations. The committee on credentials ruled against delegates favoring Senator Conover; Ex-Congressman Mills being ruled out. A threatened vengeance fight ensued and several persons were wounded. The Sheriff of Madison county was shot in the leg and slightly wounded. Mr. Butler of Santa Rosa, attacked Conover in the committee room, and the friends of Conover declare that there is a conspiracy to murder him; the fight is imminent. There is sixty-seven delegates in the convention for Conover and sixty-five for Stearns.

At 4 o'clock, this a. m., Parker commenced in his attempt to ride 385 miles in 15 hours. Weather fine and everything propitious. He completed first 100 miles in 4 hours 28¾ minutes. Parker is in good condition and confident of winning. The attendance this morning is small.

NEW JERSEY.

Trenton, June 1.—The convention adjourned at 3 o'clock last night. The meeting was very harmonious. A resolution was adopted approving of closing the Centennial grounds on Sunday.

OHIO.

Cincinnati, June 1.—Special and private dispatches leave no doubt of the butchery by Indians of all of Col. Stone's party from this city to the Black Hills, except 11 men, who left the main expedition at Kearney and joined another party. One of them escaped and arrived at Lincoln yesterday with full particulars of the butchery, and is now on his way home.

PLATFORM
—OF THE—
REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recognition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipathies, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintenance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st. That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana. In his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, Mr. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinnati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of those ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention heartily appreciates the services of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is highly necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support of our party, and for the valuable service they have rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

VORACIOUS TIGERS.

The Lewiston Journal prints the following extract from a private letter from Rev. Mr. Eveleth, a missionary in that State, now serving as a missionary in Toungoo, Burmah: "When we arrived at the village of Mone the people there were looking for the Governor of the Shwaygyeen District to see what could be done to rid them of a fierce tiger. His haunt was near the path leading from this village to a Karen mountain a little to the east. This monster had killed and eaten nine peasons, and now no one dared to go that way. He was a great fellow, about seventeen feet from tip to tip, very bold, and afraid of no body of men. He captured whoever come near him, whether Karen, Shan, or Burmam. If there were several in the party, he always sprang upon the last one. He was so heavy and sprang from so great a distance, that he killed every one the moment he struck him. The last party that he attacked contained seven men. The last one carried a spear and said that he was not afraid of the tiger, but before he reached the top of the hill the tiger had captured him, breaking his spear and killing him instantly. A little while after we left this village a man came up behind our train riding furiously. He was an Englishman and wore a dagger and a revolver in his belt, and was rather a formidable looking man. He was Chief of Police in Shwaygyeen, and, glad to see a white face, I cantered on with him for a mile or two. He had in his pocket the claws of a tiger who had recently killed five Karens. This, too, was an old tiger, but with very little hair left on him and very large. He came to him in this wise: Two Karens were ascending the mountain together; each carried a spear, the one pointing backward, the other forward. The tiger leaped from behind, and came upon one of the spears. He was mortally wounded and very soon died. There was one very sad story connected with the death of these persons. A father and his little girl were going home from their bazzaaring, when the tiger sprang upon the child and carried her away. The father, crazed with the sight, pursued the beast, and caught hold of the child's legs and tried to free her from his jaws. The tiger let go his hold, and the father placed the dead child on his shoulders and started off on the run. The tiger came up again, and seizing the child dragged it off into the jungle. The village was aroused by the cries of the man and looking at the child's blood the tiger came up behind them, sprang upon a man and carried him away. The monster who has killed nine persons still lives, notwithstanding the fact that $150 are offered for his head."

PERSONAL.

Richard Scudder, the man who wrote that stunning "sell" known as the De Souza-Cabral wedding hoax, has left the Albany Journal and become a preacher.

The marriage in London, England, of Nelson Bliss to Miss Susan Work, was a happy one for the lady. She exchanged a life of Work for one of Bliss.

There is in the North Carolina asylum for deaf mutes a daughter of one of the Siamese twins. She has lately been married to a man similarly afflicted, who is teacher in the institution.

The New York Herald's advertising columns are a study. The other day a boarding house advertisement informed the readers that there were two marriageable ladies under thirty years of age in the house who were excellent pianists, and that social enjoyments were a part of the regular system of the house. Probably this was a trap for the unwary youths who in that great city are constantly longing for society without the means of enjoying it.

Innocent men are sometimes hung, but seldom has it occurred that an innocent clerk has been punished for supposed theft. Two years ago H. W. Edmunds, paying teller of the Second National Bank of Boston, was discharged because he failed to account for the disappearance of $10,000. A few days ago the money was found in a crevice of the safe, into which it had slipped. Those bank directors feel very much chagrined now at their hasty action, and are making amends.

Snowshoe Thompson, who for years has carried the mails across the Sierra Nevada Mountains on snow shoes when other means of travel were impossible, died in California last week. The Virginia City (Nev.) Chronicle recalls this incident of his career: "Eighteen years ago Snowshoe Thompson carried over the Sierras from Genoa—done up in the remnant of a check shirt—some strange black material which was bothering the miners who were working in Gold Canyon, about where Gold Hill is now. He showed the 'sand' to Professor Frank Stewart, who was then managing a newspaper in Placerville, Cal., and a kid him what it was. Steward said instantly: 'Sulphuret of silver mixed heavily with gold.' Thompson carried the material to Sacramento and had it assayed, and the result was several hundred dollars per ton in both gold and silver. That was the commencement of the Comstock."

SECRETARY BRISTOW'S PROSPECTS.

The only argument of much seeming weight for nominating Mr. Bristow for the Presidency is that he would draw away a part of the reform vote from Governor Tilden, and, in that way, carry New York for the Republicans. But before the Cincinnati Convention meets it will be apparent that Governor Tilden cannot receive the Democratic nomination, and that Mr. Conkling has better chances in New York than any other candidate. The suggestion that it might be politic to run Mr. Bristow for the Vice Presidency on the Conkling ticket is worth considering. It would doubtless recommend the ticket to the reformers; but, as we estimate tendencies, a Republican victory in the October States would be worth more to the Republicans than the whole reform vote. The elections in Ohio and Indiana will not turn on reform, but on the currency; it will be a contest between hard money and rag money. Mr. Bristow would not help the ticket in either of those States, but Governor Hayes would insure its success in both. "Well begun is half done," says the adage; Republican victories in Ohio and Indiana in October would virtually decide the Presidential election in advance. Admitting that Mr. Bristow's name would strengthen the ticket, we are confident that it could not compare in value and efficiency with that of Governor Hayes. Our view of the canvass is summed up in the phrase, "Conkling and Hayes against the deck."—N. Y. Herald, 26th.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1876.

MOTHER'S WAY.

BY NANNIE A. HEPWORTH.

Out within our little cottage,
As the shadows gently fall,
While the sunlight touches softly
One sweet face upon the wall,
Do we gather close together,
And in hushed and tender tone,
Ask each other's full forgiveness
For the wrongs that each have done.
Shall you wonder why this custom
At the ending of the day,
Eyes and voice would quickly answer,
"It was once our mother's way."

If our home be bright and cheery,
Is it told a welcome true,
Opening wide its door of greeting
To the many not the few;
If we share our father's bounty
With the needy, day by day,
'Tis because our hearts remember
This was ever mother's way.

Sometimes when our hands grow weary,
Our tasks seem very long;
When our burdens look to heavy,
And we deem the right all wrong;
Then we gain a new, fresh courage,
As we rise to gratify say,
"Let us do our duty bravely,
This was our dear mother's way."

Then we keep her memory precious,
While we never cease to pray
That at last, when lengthening shadows
Mark the evening of life's day,
They may in the waiting calmly
To go home our mother's way!

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ag.. we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us; the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

SPRING bonnets are very backward and Spring hats are very forward.

THERE is that peculiarity about dry weather, that when it is dryest the rain is never mist.

THE crowd was not so large at the Bourbon Convention yesterday as the day previous.

THE "press gang" excurts to Blount Springs to-day. Of course they will have a jolly time.

PERRY street should now be called "Newspaper Row," there being five papers published on it.

SOME improvements have been made on Monroe street which were sadly needed.

CITIZENS owning cows should see that they do not block up the sidewalks, and force ladies to go out of the way in promenading the streets.

ONLY about nine aspirants for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, and yet Democrats never want office; oh, no, never!

THE Protestant Sunday School picnic takes place at Whitehall to-day. A large crowd will attend. Tickets 50 cents, to be had at the cars.

ABOUT dark last evening, one of the limbs of a large tree in the yard of Mr. —— Westcott, on Montgomery street, fell across one of the houses in his yard. We failed to learn the extent of the damage.

A GENTLEMAN yesterday caught his dining-room servant, a colored man, stealing from him, and he took the law in his own hand, and thrashed the servant out. The case will be tried before the U. S. Court.

THE inclement weather last evening prevanted many from attending the entertainment at the theatre, and the ladies' supper for the benefit of the M. E Church.

A COLORED man playfully threw a slung-shot at another colored man yesterday morning. A policeman saw the destructive implement and arrested the owner of it.

THE Press Association Convention yesterday, after admitting a few new members and returning thanks to the Arlington Club, adjourned sine die.

THE Montgomery Greys give an excursion to Pensacola on the 12th instant. Two other military companies will probably visit Pensacola at the same time.

SERENADING glee clubs generally go about and ply their vocation at the hour of midnight. Very few persons will then take the trouble to set the dog on them.

THERE are many breaks in all the sidewalks of our city, and unless they are repaired at as early a period as possible they will continue to increase in size and number.

A plump lady in the market yesterday morning said she kept healthy in spring time by eating nothing but potatoes and dandelion greens.

THE examinations of our leading high schools will take place at an early day. We are promised some rare entertainments by some of them.

SINCE the city authorities finished the work of leveling Court street, that thoroughfare has presented a more business like and inviting appearance to the public. It looks much cleaner than when it was before the improvemont was made.

PERSONAL.—We received a call yesterday from Col. E. F. Jennings, of Lawrence county, special agent of the Treasury Department, who is making a tour in the interest of the Government. He has recently returned from an inspecting tour in New Mexico, Arizona and other Western parts.

IT is a real pleasure to take an evening promenade around the city. The flower yards are all clothed in beauty, the fountains are playing in the yards of many of our titizens, while the prospect is one of beauty on every hand. We have the most beautiful city in the South, if we would only make it so.

THE railroads are all busy now, and there is more travel than there has been for years before at this period. Already hundreds of tourists have passed Northward, and Centennial excursion parties are forming all around us. Montgomery has many citizens who would visit the Centennial if the railroads would reduce their fares to a reasonable figure, but they do not feel disposed to pay the amount now demanded.

A LARGE lot of old barrels and other relics of a once prosperous grocery establishment was sold at public auction yesterday morning on Monroe street. The prices realized for the articles would seem to indicate that money is not near so scarce as the people generally think it is. But it is always the case that goods sold at auction bring more than otherwise.

OWING to the hard rain last evening, the attendance at the theatre was not large, though a good sized crowd was present. The play was a little drama entirled "The Cross of St. John's," a story of Ghent, and the time of action 1555. The piece was well put upon the stage and neatly and smoothly performed by the "Social Amateur Club," for the benefit of the Catholic Church. After the play was over the dance commenced, and was keot up until a late hour. The hour is too late for an extended notice.

A YOUNG man from the country, who thought he knew a thing or two about billiards, strolled into the Rialto the other day and tackled Gus for a game, "just to kill time." He would have given Gus two or three "strings" if he had only asked for them, but he didn't, and the game was even—at the commencement. As soon as Gus finished his "run," the young man from the country concluded he had "killed enough time," and departed a wiser and, we suppose, a better man.

THE Pensacola excursion, which was proposed some time ago seems to have gone by the board, for the present at least. The reason of this we presume is found in the fact that so many picnics and excursions have been had lately, that the movers of the Pensacola enterprise were afraid of failure. We have heard several persons say that they would join in an excursion to Pensacola in preference to any other place, because of the opportunity to enjoy a sail out into the deep waters.

WE are indebted to Mr. J. R. Wing, of this city, for a copy of the London Dispatch of date May 14, 1876. It is a 16 page paper, the price of which is only one penny, and is one of the most newsy and interesting sheets we have ever perused. The editorial articles are principally devoted to the tities act of Parliament, by which the Queen was recently invested with the title of Empress of India. This paper doesn't think the Queen should have accepted any such distinction.

SEVERAL members of the Press Association were somewhat astonished that there was no street railroad in Montgomery: they had seen sometime ago that we had one, and were surprised to find a track in our streets, but no road in operation. It was explained to them that the hard times prevented the management from keeping the road in use. This street railroad suspension has really done Montgomery harm, and we regret exceedingly that some enterprising citizen has not taken this street railroad property and made it of some service to the city, and profitable to himself. We are certain that there is money in it.

COMING BACK.—Two persons who had formerly resided in South Eastern Alabama, and removed to Texas two years ago, passed through Montgomery yesterday, on their return to their old homes. They say that they were induced to remove to Texas by promises of wealth and ease, made to them by an agent of a Texas land company. They left Eufaula with this agent in the winter of 1874-5, together with five or more families from other parts of the State. When they reached their destination they had about five hundred dollars each, which was invested in land, the agent agreeing to help them until they could dispose of all their property here and be able to stock their places. The first year they did only moderately well, but this year they were unable to do anything for want of means, and they wisely concluded that, as they had not sold all their lands here, to return and settle for life on their old homesteads. So they disposed of their Texas property for about one half the amount it cost them and started back for Alabama. They left for the wire grass region last night, sadder and wiser men.

THE NEW DEPOT.—The time for work to commence on the new Union Depot is rapidly drawing nigh, and our public spirited citizens rejoice in the prospect of having one more institution to commend our city to the country. Montgomery has needed a first class passenger depot for years, and if we had been able to have built one, it would have been worth many thousand dollars to us. There is nothing that so commends a business community and attracts patronage, as enterprise and the exhibition of liberality and public spirit. One of the chief reasons for the decay of Mobile is the want of enterprise among her merchants. Wherever cities show any enterprise they never fail to attract business, but when they sit still and allow themselves to be outstripped by more lively rivals they lose patronage and importance. We would have Montgomery to be one of the leading commercial centres of the country. Our position entitles us to such a distinction, and we have only to grasp the situation.

THE Democratic State Convention closed its work yesterday by the nomination of L. F. Box, of St. Clair, for Superintendent of Education, and the election of the following Presidential Electors:

State at Large—Gen. John T. Morgan, Hon. James L. Pugh.

Alternates—W. J. Samford, J. G. Harris.

District No. 1—S. P. Quince. Alternate—Galo P. Clark.

District No. 2—J. T. Holtzclaw. Alternate—J. P. Hubbard.

District No. 3—J. F. Waddell. Alternate—J. W. Foster.

District No. 4—John Y. Kilpatrick. Alternate—A. Benners.

District No. 5—W. H. Northington. Alternate—J. W. Richards.

District No. 6—W. G. Little. Alternate—J. B. Sanford.

District No. 7—S. R. McSpadden. Alternate—M. H. Cruikshank.

District No. 8—H. C. Jones. Alternate—D. Coleman.

Messrs. L. P. Walker, of Madison; C. C. Langdon, of Mobile; John T. Morgan, of Dallas, and E. S. Shorter, of Barbour, were elected delegates at large to the National Convention.

UNION Springs had better keep an eye on one of her shining lights, for he is about to stray from the fold. They say he "strayed" around six or seven blocks yesterday after a [illegible] who had a bowl of punch on his head. There is no telling what he will do on Blount Springs to-day.

SUMMER CONCERTS.—We understand that some of our music-loving citizens are anxious to get up a series of summer nights concerts, on the order of those at Frascati, near Mobile; and it is said that the fair grounds offer the most inviting spot for the concerts. We have said something about this matter before, but there are so few of our citizens who seem disposed to take hold of a matter of this character, that we have not been encouraged to pursue the subject. There is no doubt that entertainments properly arranged would commend public support, but the distance to the fair grounds is such that a great many persons who would attend a place nearer, would not go out that far at night, unless we had a street railway leading there, or other mode of transportation on a cheap scale. During the summer there are hundreds of our citizens who would, no doubt, be glad to patronize any entertainments which would afford them amusement and diversion, but they would not be willing to go as far out as the fair grounds to enjoy the concerts. Then had we not better look to some inviting place within the city limits and the reach of all citizens? We have two or three such places, and for a small amount either one of them can be transformed into a delightful resort for recreation and amusement. The JOURNAL has given much attention to this subject every season since it first commenced publication. Citizens of means and influence have requested us to discuss the matter and endeavor to get the public interested in it, but from some cause we have not been able to get the co-operation of enough public-spirited citizens to do anything towards putting the enterprise in motion. We have great hopes, however, that our people will take hold of the matter after awhile, and induce some energetic citizen to establish a summer resort convenient to all the people of the city.

ACCIDENT.—A gentleman was lately thrown from his buggy in Harlem, New York, and received a severe sprain of his left ankle, besides other bruises. Before he could reach his residence his ankle and foot were so swollen his boot had to be cut from his foot. Failing to get the immediate attention of the physician, some one suggested POND'S EXTRACT to relieve the intense pain with which he was suffering. The relief was so prompt and effectual that when his family physician arrived it was decided to continue it for the present, the physician predicting at least six weeks confinement. The patient kept bandages around the sprained parts, wetting them every half hour, night and day, for five days, when he was able to wear a tight shoe to go to his business with the use of a stout cane, not crutch. By rubbing the ankle three or four times a day since the injured part has become as strong as ever before, which is unusual in such severe sprains. He used nothing but POND'S EXTRACT. His physician, who used and prescribes POND'S EXTRACT, had never used it in a case like this before, and pronounces this as the most convincing proof of the remarkable power of the EXTRACT. The above case is only one of a very large number of cases of sprains from falls on ice this winter, and from other causes cured by this EXTRACT. tt

ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL.

BY P. C. BINGHAM & CO. "The Union of Our Forefathers-----Peace and Prosperity to All Men!" Terms---$8 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 3, 1876 NUMBER 221

SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1876.

MR. JAMES GALLETIN, son of Albert Galletin, who was Secretary of the Treasury under Jefferson, died in Paris aged 85 years. He was some years ago president of the Galletin National Bank, of New York, and was noted as an able financier.

Now the Democratic Ate is anxious to hold back his dogs of dire investigation. They begin to bite too near home. They are wearying of it. To be truthful, they are surprised. Lightning is striking some of their best men. Speaker Kerr has felt the shock, but it is sincerely hoped he will recover.

So it appears that Tom Scott owns the World. It is getting to be a fashionable thing for the big railroad men to have a newspaper among other possessions. Jay Gould's Tribune is said not be to making much money, but he must find it profitable to hold it. Otherwise he would let it drop. He doesn't hang on long to losing ventures.

The Cincinnati Times says there is plenty of Seymour talk in New York. It is not loud. That's not Seymour's way. But it is abundant. A "bald correspondent says he is the first choice of nine-tenths of the delegates to St. Louis from the country districts, "and if his brother in-law (Conkling) is not nominated at Cincinnati, it will not be a surprise to many of them if he should be nominated by one of the Western States and carried by acclamation." We doubt this. But Tilden must not lean heavily on Seymour. He can't be trusted.

The Republican party in this State is divided into two factions, or wings. One favors the re-election of Spencer, the other is opposed to it.—Gainesville Dispatch, May 30.

The Dispatch seems to be poorly posted on the political affairs of Alabama. There is no question concerning Senator Spencer's re election, now agitating the Republican party of Alabama. It is a puzzle, indeed, to us what it is exactly that has caused dissension and Division in our party ranks. Some of the disaffected members assert that Senator Spencer has lied or intends to fill, the Federal offices in this State with corrupt men. This having been disproved clearly, they have sought out other quibbles. But the Gainesville Dispatch will please allow us to say that there is no dispute concerning the re-election of Senator Spencer.

It is stated that the first sight which greets the Southern man's eye upon entering the building, is a big black negro throwing off his chains and cuffs. The next is Robert E. Lee in full run from the Yankees.—[Opelika Observer, 1st.

Since the failure of the railroad authorities to reduce fares, virtually cut off a great portion of the people of this section from the Centennial, the JOURNAL has not "gushed" much about it, but we cannot permit such a flagrant falsehood as the above to pass unnoticed. There is no such painting or picture at the Centennial exhibition buildings as the last one named by the Observer. It may be, perhaps, that there is a representation of a "negro throwing off his chains and cuffs," but as we have all indorsed that, and declared slavery, we cannot conscientiously object to anything of that kind. If the Observer desires to be understood as opposing universal liberty to all men, we have nothing more to say.

THERE never was a more dangerous mistake, than to attempt by any means to prohibit, or to limit the discussions of public or party measures.—[Selma Argus.

True. But you have discovered to your sorrow perhaps, that the present disposition which controls Alabama will not permit any of it's acts to be criticised adversely. The Democratic caucus in Alabama intends to throttle every paper which challenges its conduct. It assumes infallibility, and crushes with ruthless hands every citizen who questions its conduct. By means of this star chamber rule the spirit of the white people appears to have been destroyed, and they submit with slavish servility to the domination of a ring of soreheads and disappointed politicians—whose only recommendation to public respect is that they plunged this fair State into civil war, stripped the people of all their property, and brought mourning and sorrow to every household in the commonwealth. It is very plain why they will not submit to free discussions.

SEVERAL Democrats are grinding their axes, at Montgomery, to-day.—[Tuscaloosa Times, May 31.

This must be a slander! The Democratic State Convention was a body of pure, unselfish patriots, having no axes to grind, nor personal ends to subserve. There were no office seekers among that board of automatons! The Tuscaloosa Times has committed a grave blunder in attributing personal motives to any of those self-sacrificing patriots. When Mr. Sanford accepted the nomination for a third term, he did not do so because he wanted the office of Attorney General with its insignificant salary, but he did so that he might help to save Alabama from the "corrupt Radicals." There were some eight or ten candidates for Superintendent of Education, yet neither one of them desired the office because of its salary; they wanted to help fight "Radicals," and restore good government to the people. The Tuscaloosa Times must be kicked out of the Democratic party, now, in the most approved style.

It is reported now that 15 of the 20 Spencer delegates from Alabama are for Blaine instead of Morton, but there is no evidence that such is the case. They probably didn't think of it themselves until they discovered how near to carry the Convention Blaine already was. A contesting delegation has a keen nose for the winning side.

RAYS OF LIGHT.

In a lengthy editorial article defending Mr. Elaine against the charges recently brought against him, the Louisville Courier-Journal says;

The cases trumped up against him, however, like those trumped up against Bristow, Tilden, and Hendricks will come to naught. They are offshoots of the time. And what a time it is.

The Russell Register of the 1st inst., republishes the Courier-Journal article leaded, thus giving its indorsement to the above extract. In doing this the Register places itself on the record as the only Democratic sheet in Alabama which thus far, through all the storms of slander, falsehood and detraction, has had the courage to defend a Republican leader. It is refreshing in these poisonous times to have even so small a ray of light amidst so much darkness. In the same spirit the Washington Chronicle thus speaks of Mr. Kerr:

It is hard to believe that a man with the excellent reputation of Mr. Speaker Kerr should be guilty of such a transaction as charged, and yet the case looks bad for the Speaker—and the Democratic party.

BUSINESS SUSPENSION IN LOUISVILLE.

There were four serious business embarrassments made known in Louisville mercantile circles a few days ago. The firms embarrassed are Anderson, Hamilton & Co., pork packers; Hamilton Brothers, Pork packers; Swaringen & Biggs, whisky dealers, and Krauth, Ferguson & Co., pork packers. The first three houses operated together in a measure, the embarrassment of Swaringen & Biggs being caused by endorsing for the Hamiltons. Krauth, Ferguson & Co., deal extensively in hogs and pork, and by the recent declination in prices lost heavily. To day they made an assignment in favor of John Ferguson, Jr. Their assets, it is thought will cover their liabilities, which will reach $200,000. Anderson, Hamilton & Co. say their embarrassed condition has been caused by the late sudden depression in pork prices, which amounts to 25 per cent. A rise in prices would enable them to crawl out of their present trouble. Their liabilities are not known. They have $400,000 worth of hog products on hand. Hamilton Bros. have been affected in the same way and entertain some hope should pork prices go up. Their liabilities are not known. Their stock on hand is valued at $3,000,000. Rumor has it that the liabilities of Anderson, Hamilton & Co., and Hamilton Bros. exceed $1,000,000. The firms are among the best and oldest in Kentucky. Swaringen & Biggs decline to furnish any statement at present concerning their liabilities and assets.

OPENING ORATION BY THE GRANDSON OF PATRICK HENRY.

The Philadelphia Ledger says that it was intended to have in the Memorial Hall of the Great Exhibition, a Department of History as an aid to the commemoration of the illustrious event that gives rise to the grand celebration of this year. It turned out, however, by reason of several embarrassments, the chief of which was the difficulty of securing sufficient space, that the undertaking failed so far as that Hall and the Exhibition Grounds are concerned. But the committee in charge of it, having made considerable progress in the collection of their illustrative materials, have determined to go forward, and through the liberality of the managers of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, have been accorded the use of a portion of their handsome new fireproof building for the exhibition of a Loan Collection to illustrate the early history of the old Thirteen States. The ladies and gentlemen who compose the committee are in part the same as those to whom the public are indebted for the "restoration" of Independence Hall, and the nucleus of a National Museum in the same building, and this additional exhibit is to be auxiliary to those. They are enthusiastic devotees to their specialty and to the memory of the Fathers of the Republic. They ask the loan of all appropriate articles and documents that will aid their purpose. These may be sent to the Academy of the Fine Arts.

The Historical Department of the Exhibition is to be opened on the 7th of June, that day being the one hundredth anniversary of the day on which Richard Henry Lee, in conformity with the instructions of the Colony of Virginia, introduced the Resolution of Independence, passed by Congress, in Philadelphia, on the following second of July, which Resolution was further followed, on the Fourth of July, by the immortal Declaration giving the reasons for the Resolution of Independence. The opening is to be marked by an oration by Wm. Wirt Henry, a distinguished member of the Virginia Bar, and a grandson of the illustrious Patrick Henry. Mr. Henry has notified Col. Frank Etting, Chairman of the Committee, of his acceptance of the duty of orator of the day.

It will be a most gratifying event to hear in Philadelphia the voice of the grandson of Patrick Henry in commemoration of the events to which the world-famous patriot of Virginia gave such irresistible impulse. Nor will it touch the sensibilities of the most ardent of our British visitors to hear the voice of the descendant of that orator who was described by one of the greatest of British poets as:

——"The forest-born Demosthenes
Whose thunder shook the Philip of the seas."

The Shelby Sentinel says: The rains during the last week greatly improved the crops of corn and cotton. Though late, the crops are growing finely—are generally in good condition, and altogether the prospect is flattering. The wheat crop is now being harvested. On some lands the crop is good, while on others it has been seriously injured by the rust. We still hope an average crop will be made. Fall oats are better than usual, but spring oats are a failure.

ASPIRANTS for Congress in the different Districts are as thick as pig-tracks in June. Six thousand dollars per annum is not to be sneezed at, these hard times.—Tuskaloosa Times.

Here it is again. A plain and emphatic admission that the Democratic candidates for Congress throughout the State are actuated solely by sordid motives; they are after the spoils; they want money, and the good of the country is a secondary consideration. When the JOURNAL has heretofore made this charge against the hungry Democratic aspirants, we have been abused and denounced from one end of the State to the other, in regular Rourbon style. But here is a Democratic paper speaking the truth boldly, regardless of the party lash or the caucus. And every citizen who keeps posted on public affairs knows the Times is correct. There is not a Democratic member of Congress from Alabama who possesses brains enough to preside over a country debating society. They have not accomplished one solitary measure of public good for the people of this State, and the records of Congress show that not one of them has ever introduced a measure of public importance. They sit there and vote and draw their pay, and abuse "Radicals," but they are no more capble of doing any good for the State than if they were in the Spanish Cortes. Occasionally a new postoffice is opened in some remote corner, and the member who gets it done, boasts as loudly over it as if he had saved the people from a famine. Those men are all behind the age, they are simply out of place and cannot rise to the magnitude of the occasion. The country is rapidly advancing in the path of progress, scientific attainments and so on, while these Democratic politicians are growling about the past, and clinging with death grips to the terrors and horrors of the slave-period. They constantly whine about Southern vindication and about forgiving the Nation for saving the Union, while the car of progress sweeps onward in its work of civilization and christianity. Alas! Poor men.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Expressly for the State Journal by the Southern and Atlantic Telegraph Line.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Speaker Kerr has received a friendly letter from Gen. Butler, saying there is not a decent man, woman or child in the United States who believes the charges against him, (Kerr) and he begs Mr. Kerr not to allow it in the least to worry him. He characterizes it as an infamous conspiracy. He closes by alluding to their long term of service in Congress together, their opposing views on the political question.

We are informed that a number of Massachusetts soldiers will assist to-morrow in strewing flowers upon the graves of the Confederate soldiers at the Arlington.

The Senate special committee to investigate Mississippi affairs, consisting of Messrs. Boutwell, Conkling, McMillan, Bayard and McDonald, leave for Jackson, Mississippi on Monday afternoon next, to take testimony.

Senate.

Mr Morrill called up the bill for the relief of the families of John T. King and L. B. Cutter, the former killed and the latter disabled for life by the gas explosion in the Senate wing of the capitol. Passed. [It appropriates $3,000 for each of the families and parties named.]

Mr. Boutwell called up the bill to provide for the more speedy adjustment of accounts of the Treasury of the United States. Passed.

Mr. Conkling called up the House bill to authorize notaries public to take affidavits, etc., in courts of the United States. Passed.

Mr. Jones called up the bill to confirm to the State of Florida the swamp and overflowed lands granted under the act of September 28, 1850. Amended and laid over.

Mr. McMillan called up the bill to exempt all vessels engaged in the navigation of the Mississippi river and its tributaries above the port of New Orleans from entries and clearances, which was passed.

Mr. Thurman, from committee on judiciary, reported a bill with amendment in relation to the holding of Circuit Courts of the United States for the 14th Judicial Circuit. Amendments agreed to and the bill passed.

The unfinished business being the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was then taken up.

A discussion ensued at some length during which the same views were expressed as when the bill to reduce the President's salary was under consideration.

Pending the discussion the Senate went into executive committee and adjourned.

House.

After reading the journal the House went into committee of the whole on the Indian appropriation bill.

Messrs. Mills and Throckmorton, of Texas, advocated the transfer of the Indian bureau from the Interior to the War Department.

Mr. Mills offered an amendment to remove the Indians on the Fort Sill reservation to the Indian Territory.

Mr. Randall argued that to do this would be a violation of treaty stipulations.

Mr. Springer in the chair, decided the amendment not in order, because it changes the existing law.

Mr. Mills then offered an amendment to authorize the military power of the United States to keep the Indians on their reservation and prevent incursions into Texas.

This was also ruled out.

After the bill had progressed to the 4th page, Mr. Mills renewed his amendment to make it apply to all reservations, and providing that rations shall be issued weekly, and only to such Indians as as applied personally. This was to restrain the Indians from going on the war path, and it was adopted, after progressing as far as the 49th page, leaving but 11 pages more. The committee then rose.

On motion of Mr. Lord the consideration of the Geneva award bill was fixed for Monday next.

Mr. Gause called up the Senate bill to divide Arkansas into two judicial districts; objection was made to its passage.

Mr. Luttrell offered a resolution to appoint a committee of five to investigate affairs at Ware Island, California, and to report at the next session.

Mr. Kelley objected, and said he objected to all investigations until those now in progress were disposed of.

The House at 5:20 took recess until 7:30 p. m.

The evening session was debate on the tariff bill.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Herald in discussing the Presidential question says as the canvass now stands Conkling leads. No prudent party will wish Blaine as a candidate, in view of his transactions in the Pacific bonds. The only power Blaine can have at Cincinnati is to name the great unknown, and the Herald thinks his voice will go for Washburne, of Illinois, in which event Washburne will probably be the successful candidate.

The Times discussing the political situation under caption, "The two candidates," says Blaine's chances as a Presidential candidate will be disposed of before the Convention.

The extraordinary proceedings yesterday before the House committee reveals Blaine in a light which is fatal to his availability as a Presidential candidate. As to Conkling the Times contends he is not the second choice of Blaine's friends. It argues against his nomination and protests against his candidacy being sustained under pretense that his name is necessary to carry New York State.

The Tribune reviews the work of the Republican conventions which have now all been held, and presents a table showing the strength of the Presidential candidates. The whole vote of the convention is 756—necessary to a choice 379. Of this it credits [illegible] 302 votes, Morton 130, Bristow 126, Conkling 87, Hartranft 58, Hayes 44, Jewell 10, Washburne 1, and unknown, being the vote of North Carolina, and Florida, 16.

A cable dispatch from London says a pigeon match between Ira Paine of New York and Capt. Patton of London takes place to-morrow, Saturday, on the general club grounds; shots is to be at 30 birds each, 27 yards rise, for $250 aside.

NEW YORK, June 2.—A billiard match has been arranged between Sexton and Cyrille Dion, to play a game of French carom of two thousand points up, for two thousand dollars, three weeks hence. They will probably play at Philadelphia.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 2.—This morning at 9 o'clock a squad of convicts from Sing Sing prison stole an engine of the Hudson River Railroad and run it two miles down the track, jumped off and escaped.

PENNSYLVANIA.

EASTON, June 2.—The mysterious poisoning of the Laros family, near this city, is creating an unusual excitement. Subsequent appearances justify graver suspicions than were at first entertained. The sum of $350 is missing, and other facts just developed, lead to the belief that the poisoning was intentional. No arrests have been made. Martin Isaacs and his wife are dead, and the other seven are still in a critical condition. A coroner's inquest is now being held.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 2.—The Post says it learns that Abdul Aziz, the late Sultan of Turkey, is confined in a splendid palace, called the cage. The Post also says it has reason to believe that his wife is perfectly safe, and adds that it under stands that Queen Victoria, immediately on hearing of the deposition of Abdul Aziz, took steps to obtain satisfactory assurance of the personal safety of her former guest.

A dispatch to the Reuter telegraph company, from Constantinople, states that the coronation of the new Sultan is postponed until next week.

NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, June 2.—Jarrett & Palmer's train left the depot at one minute past 10 to-day, with a hotel car and sleeping coach.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.
An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.
Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by such evidence of character as to citizenship and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to end the bond of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.
Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will appear from time to time, as long as agency is successfully conducted.
The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds, so that the capital is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $ 1 and one dollar may obtain a premium, either of $50, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 or $100,000. The price of a bond, which is ordinarily called for is all the bond entitles [illegible] to, is $1, so that the purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and has a chance of taking the capital free of interest, he has a chance in the above special premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole fund.
Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.
The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of said State, recognizing the great benefits which will accrue from the success of this enterprise, has exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for ten years, and has also conferred other special privileges.
Every American who can spare the means for the purpose of this company, will find in it a profitable investment, while it is a necessity for every one residing in the city.
Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the many exhibits from every part of the world, he will be able to say, "I also have a magnificent building for my use, and a palace which, in fact, represents the entire wealth, energy and intellectual genius of the American people."
The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise. For the encouragement of it is to their benefit to show what all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.
The building will contain 5,000,000 square feet of space.
Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

PLATFORM
—OF THE—
REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recognition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipathies, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintenance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana. In his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, Mr. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinnati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government; honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest, who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.
WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention heartily appreciates the services of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is highly necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support of our party, and for the valuable service they have rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

CENTENNIAL SABBATH.

The Gates of the Exhibition Still Unopened.

THE CROWD THAT FLOCKED AROUND THE ENCLOSURE.—TWENTY THOUSAND PEOPLE ON GEORGE'S HILL.—NOBODY ALLOWED WITHIN EXCEPT ON "SPECIAL PASS."—DESCRIPTIONS OF THE MINOR BUILDINGS.

Yesterday was the third Sunday since the opening of the Exhibition, and the scene as the grounds stand in the vicinity was substantially the same as that of the previous Sundays. Belmont and Elm avenues were again filled with a noisy, and, in places, boisterous crowd, which, toward evening, became, within and in front of the lower class of places, very drunken and disorderly, and continued its disgusting revelries still late in the night. George's Hill was again the central point for many of the large class who are unable to come to the Exhibition on a week day. It and the adjoining portion of the Park were animated by thousands throughout the day, but especially in the afternoon.

Barring all mass meetings, and all editorial utterances of the great journals of the time, which latter may always be confidently accepted as a fair reflection of the wishes of the people, the sight of these immense crowds of poor working people gathering every Sunday around the feast that is kept from them, and which they cannot enjoy on any other day, would alone be enough to melt the hearts of the Commissioners into acquiescence with the will of the people, were their stubbornness not greater than their humanity.

Within the grounds, the scene was also a repetition of that of the previous Sundays. All was quiet and orderly, and in the aisles and along aisles of the great exhibition palaces, with their stores of the choicest treasures of the grand achievements of human ingenuity and the finest workmanship of nature, the irresistible conviction forces itself upon the mind of having been sufficiently transported to the deserted places of the ancient East or the dead cities of the Aztecs in the heart of our own continent.

It is an unfortunate pity that this great Exhibition must continue to be locked up from public gaze one day out of seven, on account of a senseless, foundationless notion of a few prejudiced puritans who have been entrusted with the management of the Centennial, and of a handful of their supporters.

While our representative was going the rounds of the buildings yesterday, a display struck his eye that seemed to him to be in very peculiar connection with this Sunday question. I was the exhibit in the American book department, of the American Bible Society. This exhibit is exceedingly interesting and excellent. It comprises a whole realm of information on religious topics, and is particularly prominent throughout the week as being the Mecca of persons of all denominations who take an interest in religious matters. It seems really too bad that the feeble minds influencing the Exhibition on Sunday should exclude the pious from access to this fund of religious research and Biblical knowledge. Also, in this connection, may be mentioned a splendid library of the Christian religion in the German book display. The Netherlands, too, have a large and valuable collection of religious works in their literary display. Then, the Pennsylvania Bible Society has a building of its own, a beautiful pavilion, of which they may well feel proud, and they have it filled, too, with Bibles printed in every language of the earth, printed for the blind and printed for the seeing, and for the deaf and dumb. The exhibition is such as will make any friend of the Lord glad lien with a holy fervor. They have God there, too, for the work in spirit and meaning is a work of God. The work of this Christian Bible Society, in the cause of Christianity, is simply immense. Now why should not the gates on Sunday, which to many seem as irreligious to open as it would to close the churches during divine services, be opened on Sunday, and will come within the pale of their holy influences, who never think of entering a church or a denominational bookstore.

THE PHOTOGRAPHIC ATTELIER

was opened a few days ago. The displays in this building are now nearly all arranged and will be so, completely, by the end of the week. The exhibits come from all parts of the world, Europe participating much more extensively than was expected, and forming by reason of the excellence of its display, quite a formidable rival to America. The exhibits from this country, are of course, to a great extent, from Philadelphia artists, but are also largely participated in by California and New York.

The scope of the display is very large, comprising a variety of work known in the art. There are the ordinary vignettes, all of surpassing excellence from all parts of the world. Then there are stereoscopic views of landscape scenery from Pennsylvania, New York, and the far West; views of public buildings, by a distinguished Vienna artist, and great landscape photographs from the Rocky Mountains and the Yosemite. Then there are actresses by the rival New York photographers, and beautiful family groups by a distinguished Philadelphia artist. All this is of surpassing excellence and of a bewildering excellence. We should specially commend the Photographers' Building to our readers attention as one of the chief attractions of the Exhibition.

THE SHOE AND LEATHER BUILDING,

which is situated south of Machinery Hall in an out of the way place, though a dozen ons of the best locations on the grounds, is splendidly fitted up with rugs, bunting and other ornamentation, and presents a spectacle of gaiety possessed by none of the other buildings on the grounds. Its exhibit includes boots and shoes, harness, rubber goods and leather, and shows a very fine display.

EXHIBITION GOSSIP.

the great Krupp gun, sent over from Germany, will be placed in position in Machinery Hall to-day. The gun weighs over 70 tons, and, together with its carriage, nearly 150 tons. Extreme difficulty has been encountered in its transportation.

The "three arab boys" fountain, which was cut at Florence, Italy, by an American sculptress, for Horticultural Hall, arrived last week, and will be placed in position to-day.

Gillmore will again play from the grand stand in the Main Building to-day. The music-stand and Horticultural Hall is finished, and will receive its last coat of paint to-day. It is expected that by next Thursday it will be utilized for open air concerts, which will be given twice a day, at 10:30 in the morning, and 3 in the afternoon.

The official report of attendance for Friday is: Complimentary, 587; exhibitors, attendants, newspaper reporters, etc., 6,749. Cash, 16,785. Total admission, 24,112. Cash receipts at the gate, $8,392.50.

There were fifty-nine arrivals of exhibits in machinery, on Saturday, by cars and wagons, fifty-three American and six foreign.—[Philadelphia Item, 29th.

PERRY STATE JOURNAL.

SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1876.

WHEN YOU'RE DOWN.

What legions of "friends" always bless us,
When golden success lights our way,
How they smile as they softly address us,
Jolly, good humored and gay.
But when the sun of prosperity
Ceases, and hope quickly they frown
Pass coldly in form of severity,
Ask the man don't you see he is down."

What though when you know not a sorrow,
Though your heart was as open as day,
Many "friends" when they want to borrow,
Your riches, quickly ask "pay."
You might not a soul you'd see slighted,
While you ride about through the town;
But could you see you when you're down.

When you're "up" you are loudly exalted,
And flatter all to out your trades,
When you're "down" you have greatly defaulted,
Many friends don't favor your ways.
Your style was "stupid" when you'd money,
Your style was "stupid" when you're down.

Perhaps are a tired "friend" now you are down."

Oh give me the heart that forever
Is true from the world's selfish rust,
And all those high noble endeavor
To raise fallen men from the dust.
And when a love one's down,
A friend likely to be down,
All was a friends was devotion,
Will lift up a man who is down.

THE Union Springs Times of yesterday says that the Rev. T. M. Bailey, State Evangelist of the Alabama Baptist Convention, will commence a series of meetings in the Baptist church there, on Sunday, June 4th.

A SINGLE letter of Robert Burns sold at a late London auction for £29, and yet it is the hardest matter in the world to get only a few persons together to hear a lecture about him—most of them dead-heads at that.

BEECHER and Tilton are off on lecturing tours. They will draw crowded houses. Everybody will want to see the great preacher who kissed every man's wife in his congregation except his own. And everybody will be crazy to see "Theodore," the prestidigitator, who "toated" Bessie Turner up three flights of steps, without waking her up, and then "laid her in her little bed" to sleep.

"Hold on thar, Mary Ann," cried a Custer City man to his wife, who was uprooting his hair for some misdemeanor, "don't take it all." "I know what I am about," cried the festive Mary. "The Indians shall not have it if I can help it."

"No, George," she said, in response to his question, "it is not true that a new string of belt buckles in a shop window would make any woman lose a train; but," she added, musingly, "sometimes she might have to run a little."

THE fast schedule between New Orleans and New York via the Western road, goes into effect to-morrow. The time between New Orleans and New York, it is said, is ten hours shorter. The time between Montgomery and West Point will be three hours.

IN the U. S. Court yesterday the following cases were on trial: Elisha Calhoun vs. Samuel Pitts. The plaintiff claims $5,000 for money held and reserved.

United States vs. J. Q. Smith and John Hardy. Motion to dismiss for want of security for costs.

THE Press Association went up to Blount Springs yesterday morning and will return this morning. Their stay in Montgomery, we are pretty certain, has been a pleasant one. The membership of the association is larger than it ever was, and it is all owing to the convention being held in this city.

YESTERDAY while leisurely perambulating one of our most prominent boulevards our attention was directed to a young man walking by our side. He was a pale-faced chap, almoned-eyed, flat nosed, and had a pig-tail of hair—a Japanese of course. We asked him where he hailed from; he said Texas, and we let him alone.

THE Mayor's court yesterday morning was almost a water haul. Only two or three cases of minor importance were tried, while several were postponed till this morning. Four colored "street walkers" were up charged with vagrancy, but let off with the understanding that they would keep off the streets at night.

A YOUNG man in this city desires to open a correspondence with one or more young ladies for instruction and amusement. He will exchange photographs if desired, and is not particular in what portion of the country the ladies may reside. Address, "T. S." care JOURNAL office. 1t

WHEN we wrote the item which appeared in these columns yesterday morning, relative to an excursion to Pensacola we had not heard of the "Greys" contemplated trip to that city on the 12th inst. Our reference was to another excursion which had been talked about by certain citizens not connected with the "Greys." We hope the "Greys" will have a pleasant and successful excursion.

THE Selma Times has got its little back up at what we said the other day about its apology for shortness of reading matter, on account of the illness of one of its "gentlemanly and accomplished compositors." It insinuates, this little humped-back sheet does, that it will furnish us, the scribbler of the other item, a pass to come down to Selma on. They want us for kicking purposes, we suppose, and we would like very much to go down and accommodate the irate little thing, and all it has to do is to send along the pass. It will have to pay for the pass.

The Greenville Dispatch says: A freedman in Jones' Bluff, the other day, offered three bushels of corn for one pound of tobacco, and was refused. This begins to look something like it, in one respect; but, in another respect, is not very encouraging, because if corn gets so low as that, we fear it will prove a bad incentive to people to raise it.

THE CENTENNIAL SCRAP BOOK.

Reunion of the Volunteer Fire Department.—Opening the Bankers' Building.

In Machinery Hall, on Saturday, 52 car and wagon loads of goods were added to the exhibits. Of these fifty were of American articles.

A system of precautionary signals has been adopted for the management of the Corliss engine, these being necessary for the protection of the employes engaged about the belting of machinery. One bell for starting and two for stopping will be sounded from the Superintendent's office.

The cataract in Machinery Hall annex will be in operation daily, until further notice, from 2 to 5 p. m.

Delegations from seventy-five companies in different parts of the United States, many with their apparatus, will participate in the Volunteer Fire Department reunion on September 6. These include representation from Trenton and Lambertville, N. J.; Buffalo and Binghamton, N. Y.; New Orleans, Freehold, N. J.; Salem and Lowell, Mass.; Bristol and Newport, Pa.; and Denver, Colorado. It is proposed that the reunion shall continue three days and include competitive trials by steamers and hand-engines, races by hose and hook and ladder companies, etc. The arrangements are in charge of the Old Volunteer Firemen's Association of Philadelphia.

The bankers' building, east of Memorial Hall, will be opened this morning, with appropriate ceremonies, to which all bank officers and bankers of the city are invited. The company will assemble at the building, where, after prayer by Rev. J. W. Jackson, of the M. E. Church, a brief explanation of the purpose of the projectors of the structure will be made by Mr. E. C. Knight, chairman of the committee on reception. This will be followed by an adjournment to the more spacious hall of the Judges' Pavilion, where Joseph Patterson, Esq., of Philadelphia, president of the Clearing House Association, will make the opening address, and Hon. Elbridge Gerry Spaulding, president of the Farmers and Mechanics' National Bank, Buffalo, N. Y., will deliver a historical address upon one hundred years of progress in the business of banking. Tickets, entitling the holders to the privileges of the building during the Exhibition, will be supplied to contributors to the building fund.

The admission on Saturday were: Complimentary, 540; exhibitors and attendants, 7,079; cash, 20,091; total, 27,710.

The American Soldier, a colossal statue in Westerly granite, from Rhode Island, was put in position between Memorial Hall and the Main Building late on Saturday evening. The statue is 21½ feet in height, weighs 30 tons, and is the largest of its kind of modern times. It represents an alert sentinel, holding a musket in both hands.

The official list of Judges of Award has been further perfected by the special committee on the subject, by the addition of five names to the foreign membership of the Jury and one substitution among the American Judges. The additions are as follows:

Group III—Chemistry and Pharmacy, with the apparatus, G. F. Lecchi de Casadi, Italy; P. of. Th. Legelke, Denmark.

Group XXIII—Agricultural Machines, Implements, etc., P. Don G. Paes Lenie, Brazil.

Group XXIV—Instruments of Medicine, Surgery, etc., W. Roth, M. D., Germany.

Group XXVII—Plastic and Graphic Art, Guiseppe Dassi, Italy.

The last named is a substitute for Mr. Tantardini, Italy.

M. Gustav Gebhard, of Germany, originally appointed in Group VIII, on Cotton, Linen, etc., has been transferred to Group IX, on Wool, and Silk Fabrics, Machinery.

No appointments of judges to adjudicate on Cereals and Live Stock having been made, it is probable that experts upon these, and possibly upon other omitted departments, will be appointed.

The National Agricultural Congress will hold its meetings in Philadelphia on September 12, 13 and 14.—Philadelphia Times.

THE GREAT
English Remedy.
The Cordial Balm of Syrienm and Tonic Pills.
Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, it left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWARK, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LEMOON: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syrienm and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out. I have been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that, from necessity, taking it with a good deal of doubt, about its doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its ingurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syrieum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm. Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

SUNDAY, JUNE 4, 1876.

CONFIRMED.

We are gratified to announce the Hon. Charles E. Mayer has been confirmed as United States District Attorney for the Middle and Northern Districts of Alabama. He will at once enter upon the discharge of his official duties, and we predict that he will win the approval of all good citizens, and reflect credit upon himself and the Government.

The Tax Collector of Montgomery county, Pat Robinson, Esq., has settled his accounts with the auditor for State taxes for the past year, amounting to nearly $92,000 in cash, lands paper, etc. This is a first class showing for a Republican county. What Democratic county of like proportions can make such a showing as this?—[Montgomery Republican Journal.

The county of Mobile has already paid $113,078 into the State Treasury, leaving $2,610 poll tax, and has now on hand for the current month about $25,000, making a total of $138,000 collected for the year for the treasury in cash. When Mobile county with the State she will have no difficulty in meeting more than $1,000,000 of the State's indebtedness, and will do it nearly twice as much as is paid by Montgomery. The population of Montgomery county is 43,704, and that of Mobile county is 49,300.—[Mobile Register.

The population of the two counties has nothing to do with the relative taxes paid. Mobile city has a population of about 45,000, while Montgomery has not the half of those figures. Mobile is a rich and wealthy community, with a fine commercial position, doing a large commercial business. It is plain that in proportion to the wealth of the two counties, Montgomery pays a much larger tax than Mobile. There is no room for boasting on the part of the latter, in any event, since all its population is included in the city, while most of ours is in the country.

We are delighted to notice that every county in the State that has heard from Gov. Houston is unanimously in favor of his for renomination. He will be renominated, no doubt about that! And if, by any chance, he fails to get the nomination, we hope he will well pull down our colors and "call for checks," so far as Democratic supremacy in Alabama is concerned.—Fayetteville Gazette.

It must be very humiliating, indeed, to the proud Democracy of Alabama, that but one of its number has the boldness and requisite for a Governor, in the face of the oft-repeated boast that it embraces the wealth and intelligence of the State. Here is one of its own organs deploring with evident feeling that had Governor Houston declined a re-nomination, it would have been useless for this party of so much intelligence to have put any ticket in the field. The Democratic people of Alabama do not certainly agree to this proposition. They do not admit that one of their number carries all the brains of the concern. Yet their action virtually concedes the truth of the declaration of the Fayetteville Gazette. How sad! how humiliating! but must be!

THE party that succeeds next November must be pronounced in favor of the Free School system. The people will favor this, and they will not support any party that fails to meet this requirement. The high sounding plank in a platform will not serve to gull the people. We must have it, and we can afford to sustain, a liberal Free School system.—Huntsville Democrat.

The Republican party is the author and founder of the free school system, which was destroyed by the Democratic party in Alabama. It is impossible that the poor people of this State can enjoy the blessings of free education under Democratic rule. That party is the open and avowed enemy of free public schools, and so far as their premises are concerned they are simply deception. We say the Democratic party came into power in Alabama by fraud and violence, and has set up a system of free schools in order which afforded to every poor man in the State the opportunity of educating his children free of cost. One of the first acts of the Democratic administration was to cripple these schools, and then called a constitutional convention to deprive the people which finally destroyed them entirely. The result is plain. The children of poor children will grow up in ignorance and ignorance. Poor citizens, who are unable to pay for schooling their children are cut off from all hope of educating them. In a spirit of spiteful malice the Democratic party destroyed the free public schools of the State, and they now refuse to provide a fund for the purposes of education. If it is true that the people of Alabama will support any party which opposes free education, then there is no hope for Democratic success in this State, for that party has steadily opposed any system of free public schools, which guarantees education to all. It favors caste, and proposes to set up a despotic system by which the rich and fortunate will be born to rule. The present leaders of that party are the remains of a soured and disappointed aristocracy which has not and never will have any sympathy in common with the great mass of the people. They are the same leaders who, during the war, had passed by the Confederacy, and who are known as the twenty negro men, under which their sons escaped from the service in the army, while the sons of poor men were driven to slaughter and death. We expect such men as these to make war upon life and energy and hope in our State, whose wealth, is unreasonable and unmerited. They would destroy free public schools, and scatter ignorance among the people that they might revel in power and enrich themselves. They know that intelligence and enlightenment are dangerous to their power and their schemes to perpetuate themselves in power in Alabama, and this is the reason they crush with ruthless hand every citizen who dares to question their conduct, and drive from their party every paper which dares to challenge their acts.

If the people of Alabama desire free public schools, free speech and free thought and action, they should vote with the Republican party, and thus secure for themselves and their children the blessings of free government, hereafter.

BY P. C. BINGHAM & CO. "The Union of Our Forefathers------Peace and Prosperity to All Men!" Terms---$8 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 4, 1876 NUMBER 222

SUNDAY, JUNE 4, 1876.

CONFIRMED.

We are gratified to announce that the Hon. Charles E. Mayer has been confirmed as United States District Attorney for the Middle and Northern Districts of Alabama. He will at once enter upon the discharge of his official duties, and we predict that he will win the applause of all good citizens, and reflect credit upon himself and the Government.

The Tax Collector of Montgomery county, Pat Robinson, Esq., has settled his accounts with the auditor for State taxes for the past year, amounting to nearly $92,000 in cash, lands purchased, etc. This is a first-class showing for a Republican county. What Democratic county of like proportions can make such a showing as this?—[Montgomery State Journal.

The county of Mobile has already paid $175,078 into the State Treasury, has paid $2,610 poll tax, and has now on hand for the current month about $2,500, making a total of $178,000 collected for the State treasury in cash. When Mobile settles with the State she will have paid in money or lands more than $474,000—nearly twice as much as is paid by Montgomery. The population of Montgomery county is 43,704, and that of Mobile county is 49,300.—[Mobile Register.

The population of the two counties has nothing to do with the relative taxes paid. Mobile city has a population of about 45,000, while Montgomery has not the half of those figures. Mobile is a wealthy community, with a fine situation, doing a large commercial business. It is plain that in proportion to the wealth of the two counties, Montgomery pays a much larger tax than Mobile. There is no room for boasting on the part of the latter, in any event, since nearly all its population is included in Mobile city, while most of ours is in the county.

We are delighted to notice that in every county in the State the name of Gov. Houston is unanimously favored for renomination. He's the man—no doubt about that! And if Gov. Houston fails to get the nomination, we had as well pull down our colors and "hand in checks," so far as Democratic supremacy in Alabama is concerned.—Fayette Gazette.

It must be very humiliating, indeed, to the proud Democracy of Alabama, that but one of its number has the brains requisite for a Governor, in the face of the oft-repeated boast that it embraces all the wealth and intelligence of the State! Here is one of its own organs declaring with evident feeling that had Houston declined a re-nomination, it would have been useless for this party of so much intelligence to have put any ticket in the field. The Democratic people of Alabama do not certainly agree to this proposition. They do not admit that one of their number carries all the brains of the concern. Yet their action virtually concedes the truth of the declaration of the Fayette Gazette. How sad! how humiliating this must be!

The party that succeeds next August must be pronounced in favor of a liberal Free School system. The people demand this, and they will not support any party that fails to meet this requirement. No high sounding plank in a platform will serve to gull the people. We must have, and we can afford to sustain, a liberal Free School system.—Huntsville Advocate.

The Republican party is the author and founder of the free school system which was destroyed by the Democratic party in Alabama. It is impossible for the poor people of this State to enjoy the blessings of free education under Democratic rule. That party is the open and avowed enemy of free public schools, and so far as their promises are concerned they are simply deception. When the Democratic party came into power in Alabama by fraud and violence, it found a system of free schools in operation which afforded to every poor man in the State the opportunity of educating his children free of cost. One of the first acts of the Democratic administration was to cripple these schools until it foisted a constitutional convention upon the people which finally destroyed them entirely. The result is plain. Thousands of poor children will grow up in idleness and ignorance. Poor citizens who are unable to pay for schooling their children are cut off from all hope of educating them. In a spirit of spiteful revenge the Democratic party destroyed the free public schools of the State, and they now refuse to provide a fund for the purposes of education. If it is true that the people of Alabama will not support any party which opposes free education, then there is no hope for Democratic success in this State, for that party has steadily opposed any system of free schools, which guarantees education to all. It favors caste, and proposes to set up a despotic system by which only the rich and fortunate will be benefitted. The present leaders of that party are the remains of a soured and disappointed aristocracy which has not and never has had, any sympathy in common with the great mass of the people. They are the same leaders who, during the war, had an act passed by the Confederate Congress.—known as the twenty negro law—by which their sons escaped from service in the army, while the sons of poor men were driven to slaughter and death. To expect such men as these to infuse new life and energy and hope in our commonwealth, is unreasonable and unwarranted. They would destroy the free schools, and scatter ignorance abroad that they might revel in power and ease themselves. They know that intelligence and enlightenment are dangerous to them, and their schemes to perpetuate themselves in power in Alabama, and this is the reason they crush with ruthless hands every citizen who dares to question their conduct, and drive from their party every paper which dares to challenge their acts.

If the people of Alabama desire free schools, free speech and freedom of thought and action, they should support the Republican party, and thus secure to themselves and their children all the blessings of free government, now and hereafter.

A LITTLE TOO FAST.

The person who on Monday insulted the whole American people by charging the Speaker of the House of Representatives with selling his name and honor for a pitiful bribe, ten years ago, cannot today be found. No words can be needed to emphasize this simple fact. But there were people behind this person to push him forward. Have they also decamped? It is for them more than for their miserable tool that the justice of the nation longs and yearns. It will go hard with any who screen them or falter in seeking them out and dragging them into daylight.—[N. Y. World, June 1.

By reference to our dispatches, it will be seen that the great organ of the Democracy squealed before he was out of the woods. The witness who exposed Mr. Kerr has returned to Washington, and not only reaffirms that he paid Kerr money for the appointment of Greene, but he backs up his statement with such facts and figures as to leave no doubt even upon the Democratic members of the Committee. It is a sad thing that a public man of Kerr's reputation should thus be disgraced, but he has been foremost in pushing investigations, and in striking down Republicans. Now, that the lightning has struck him, he proposes to put his reputation against the damning evidence. But it won't pay, and Mr. Kerr will have to step down and out, and take up his position along with Belknap, Joyce and the other disgraced Corruptionists.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A special telegram from Talladega states that a German named Zilinski, professor of art in crayon, attempted to kill himself because a young lady refused to marry him. He shot himself in the side with a pistol, inflicting a dangerous but not necessarily fatal wound.

The late G. M. D. Bloss, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, who was killed by a railroad accident a few days ago, wrote a very illegible hand, and it is stated that only a few compositors, who had by long experience become familiar with his peculiar chirography, could descipher it. It was remarkably like the handwriting of the late Horace Greeley, only infinitely worse, which is saying a good deal. It was formerly the custom of certain ambitious youngsters to secure scraps of Mr. Greeley's manuscript and try to acquire his peculiar style. They were probably unaware of the fact that Mr. Greeley himself frequently deplored his inability to write a legible hand, especially when his compositors interpreted "William H. Seward"—the heading of a leader—"Richard the Third," and "True Hearts among the Lowly," "Two Beats among the Lovely."

Now that the Senate has decided that it has jurisdiction in the impeachment case, the question is debated, what is the use of finding Belknap guilty and disqualifying him from holding office, for he never would be elected to office anyway. The question, if it has any pertinence at all, might have been better asked before a decision as to jurisdiction was reached. The secret of the sensational unwillingness to proceed appears to be a reluctance to stay in Washington during the heated term. Physical comfort ought not to be allowed to stand in the way. Let sweat flow, and fevered brows burn, rather than have the reproach cast upon the Senate that it could be deterred by such consideration, from the performance of duty.

The Alabama State Journal says: "Mr. Jos. F. Johnston, Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, has been charged with attempting to bribe Congressman Pelham of this State." The question with us is, did Pelham accept the offer? If so, then there may be some truth in the charge, but if he did not accept it, we cannot believe that any was offered, for it would be a moral impossibility for Pelham to refuse six and a-quarter cents, we care not however dishonest the proposition that offered it. [Rome Ga., Courier.

The question with the people of Alabama is why does Mr. Johnston remain silent in face of the damning evidence presented against him. Mr. Pelham is not on trial; Mr. Johnson is. Therefore, the Democratic party proceeds to make Mr. Johnston one of its chosen leaders. Very appropriate.

Montgomery is entitled to our sympathies. She is sorely afflicted. It was not enough that she must endure the editorial fraternity for several days, but she must also have at the same time all the long-winded politicians of the State assembled there—an infliction she does not deserve.—Huntsville Advocate

We have endured the "infliction" and feel thankful that it lasted but a short time. The editorial fraternity were received with open arms and welcomed to our hospitalities, but the "long-winded politicians" referred to by the Advocate, were not encouraged to remain but a short while in our midst. The "pickings" indeed were few and far between, as Houston had the whole thing packed.

The Pittsburgh Commercial remarks that while commercial pursuits, taken as a whole, have not of late yielded as profitable returns as usual, and while the depression always occasioned by the reaction after a great war is still felt in all parts of the country, and owing to the complex relations of a world-wide commerce, the depression extends to all the commercial nations of the world, yet, according to the last annual report of the New York Produce Exchange, just published, the country is, however, slowly, and with painful economy, "repairing the waste of our great conflict, and with such wise legislation as will eventually restore our currency to the metallic standard, and with another season of good crops, which are the real sources of our wealth, we may hope to enter upon a new era of progress and prosperity."

Mrs. Annie Ketcham, the authoress of the "Bonnie Blue Flag," has entered a convent in Paris, France.

It is an old joke, but the Sultan Abdul Aziz is now the Sultan as was.

TILDEN AS A PRESIDENTIAL BUYER.

A ridiculous story is going the rounds of the party press to the effect that Gov. Tilden has authorized a firm of advertising agents, represented by that humorous Radical stirrer-up of strife, Mr. Petroleum V. Nasby, to send out circulars to Democratic papers in the South and West, recommending Mr. Tilden as the very best possible candidate of the Democracy at St. Louis. Possibly this may be regarded by Mr. Nasby as a fine stroke of humor, possibly as a clever device to mislead the rural Democracy into the pit of perdition. It is in fact a very low discreditable trick, obviously intended as a foul blow at Governor Tilden, and the rural editors who are simple-minded enough to publish Mr. Nasby's extracts, and then to "charge the agency $40" for doing so, will probably find themselves referred, when they send in their bills, to the money order office at the "Confederate Cross Roads."—[New York World.

Persons surprised that anything so utterly imbecile should come from such a source should remember that the World has weakened on Tilden, and is now doing its utmost in a round-about way to undermine him. Otherwise it would not be guilty of advancing the absurdity that Bates & Locke, who are known to be pecuniarily responsible for all contracts, would, in order to perpetrate a joke, render themselves legally liable for the vast sums involved in the publication of the Tilden puffs. This advertising business is no joke. It is a costly fact.—[Memphis Avalanche.

This matter can be very easily settled. Let Mr. Tilden demand of Bates & Locke the name or names of the person or persons who made the contract with them for inserting the advertisements in the newspapers of the country. Will any friend of Tilden have the courage to tackle Messrs. Bates & Locke on this proposition? The truth is what we all desire to have. Shall we have it?

The latest story about Jim Bennett's engagement to Miss May and the postponement of their marriage is as follows: Mr. Bennett gave a dinner party at his house on Fifth avenue, some weeks ago, at which several ladies, including Miss May, were present. Mr. Bennett got very lively toward evening, and, the dinner being over, asked all the ladies to step down into the billiard-room, when he would show them something they had never seen before. All went down, and having, in obedience to Mr. Bennett's request, got up on the billiard-table, were suddenly startled by the entrance of two game-cocks, which, amid the shrieks of the ladies—who did not dare to get off the table—set to fighting in dead earnest. The ladies screamed, Mr. Bennett laughed, and the cocks fought until, torn and bleeding, they were carried out, and, the ladies were free to descend from their perch. Report says that Miss May was so disgusted at the behavior of her intended husband that she was on the point of breaking her engagement, but finally it was agreed that the wedding should be postponed for six months, to give him a chance to repent, and, if Mr. B. is not on his good behavior by that time, the probability is that he will be able to add one more to the already large list of his broken engagements. "Jim" is slippery.

WHAT WOMEN FIND AT THE CENTENNIAL.

The correspondent of the Pittsburgh Commercial, at Philadelphia, says that nine-tenths of the women who visit the great Exhibition at Philadelphia will want to see first of all what foreign countries have to show in articles and fabrics for use and ornament, and quite naturally. But if they are wise they will begin at the beginning, and discover what the world has to offer in the shape of material upon which to base fashion, and they will be surprised to find how few in number the principal and permanent elements are. Gold, for example, which they will see in New South Wales in one enormous lump, perhaps five feet square; silk, which they will find in the original cocoon, wool, flax and cotton. These are the main sources from which manufacturers draw their supplies, and the permanent textures are hardly more numerous. Why, then, should we be tormented to death with these incessant and ridiculous changes in fashion? In genuine fabrics there is after all very little change; there is vibration, but not total change; how can there be? We play seesaw between checks and stripes and plaids and figures, and after all depend for our "best" upon the good old, plain, rich silk, which was the best of mother and grandmother before us.

Fashion is very well for fools who have no brains for anything else, but the wise woman should not tie herself to it like fly paper to a kite, for it takes all her money and strength and prevents the acquisition of really beautiful and permanent things. One of the glories of the Exposition is the magnificent display of pure amber; a gorgeous chandelier is made of it, pipes with ivory bowls and the most beautiful of ornaments. A necklace of this, or a set of it may not be fashionable, but it is infinitely better, it is always distinguished. It is worth tons of pastry stuff like "celluloid" coral or base imitations of precious metals. Once acquire a good thing and you have it, it is really a beauty and a joy forever. Who has not some old or small antique brooch, prized because the pearl or the cameo was real and fine; and which acquired value day by day as it grew older? But this is never the case with shams or imitations.

Looking at the cottons, the woolens, the silken fabrics from every quarter of the globe, we see how limited is really the range permitted to good taste in clothing, and how nearly in this respect it has been reached. We may overflow into old fashioned colors, and figures, and striking contrasts, but that is to go back, or we can easily see by stepping into India or Africa, and from there to Japan, and observing the conditions which we have outgrown. There is sturdy comfort in the dark, stout cottons from the Netherlands, the serges from Ireland, and granite woolens from Scotland.

One feels that they are as enduring as the far famed Scotch "pebbles," which is readily mounted in solid silver, or eighteen caret gold, and is good for ages. Then the lace! queen, or princesse when she has searched the world, or had it searched for her can find nothing better to wear than silk and lace. Nor is there any possibility of making anything more exquisitely lovely. A small piece of this precious fabric ennobles the possessor, while a profusion of cheap trimming only serves as a label to vulgarity.

A 2-year old son of Mr. H. S. Rourke, of Tuskaloosa, was drowned last week by falling into a barrel of water.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

The Convention called to meet in Montgomery May 24th, (known as the Mayer Wing) appears to have been much larger in point of numbers than the one (known as the Smith-Rice wing) which met in the same city on the 16th inst. From the published reports, sixty-four counties were represented by Delegates. The convention was in session two days, the first being turbulent and stormy, but all hands joined heartily in the work of nominating officers. Col. Joseph C. Bradley, of this city, was nominated by acclamation, for Governor, but declined the honor. We are unable to say how the tickets will be received throughout the State, but here the Republicans seem highly pleased with the selection.—Huntsville Advocate.

The Albany Evening Journal says:—The reflection that the Southern States are, through fraud and terrorism, practically solid for the Democratic party, and that the whole hope of Democratic success lies in that fact, naturally excites deep feeling in those who stop to consider it.

It may possibly be developed before long that the South is very far from being a unit for the Democratic party as at present constituted.

Gov. Tilden is doubtless more popular to-day, notwithstanding the disaffection of the disappointed place-hunters and exposed, corrupt and demolished rings, than he was two years since, and we have full faith his majority this fall, as the nominee of the St. Louis Convention, will exceed by thousands that given him in 1874.—[Memphis Appeal.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The committee on the expenditures of the War Department have postponed the further investigation of the charges against Speaker Kerr until Monday morning. The witness, Lawrence Harney, was excused until Monday. He left for New York at 1:08 this evening for a "change of clothes," and is to return Monday afternoon.

House.

Mr. Cate, of Wisconsin, offered a resolution which was adopted, authorizing the special committee on whisky frauds in St. Louis to extend their enquiry as to revenue frauds in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and to ascertain if any officer of the government is implicated in said frauds.

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, from committee on mines and mining, reported a substitute for the bill to utilize the products of gold and silver mines. Ordered printed and re committed.

A large number of the Senate bills were taken from the Speaker's table and referred.

The House then went into committee on Indian appropriation bills; Mr. Springer in the chair.

Senate.

Mr. Allison called up the bill to provide for an agreement with the Sioux Indians in regard to a portion of their reservation, and for other purposes.

The bill was passed, ayes 30, noes 6. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was then proceeded with.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 3.—For some time past counterfeit National bank notes have become very numerous in Brooklyn. These bills are the best counterfeits which have been issued for years, and the manufacturers find no difficulty in getting rid of them. They embrace the following: Twenty dollar bills on the National bank of Utica, New York; ten dollar bill on the Farmers and Manufacturers bank of Poughkeepsie: five dollar bills on the First National bank of Chicago, Illinois; five dollar bills on the First National bank of Paxton, Illinois; five dollar bills on the First National bank of Canton, Illinois; five dollar bills on the First National bank of Peoria, Illinois; five dollar bills on the First National bank of Aurora; five dollar bills on First National bank of Galena, Illinois; five dollar bills on the National bank of Northampton, Massachusetts; five dollar bills on the Hempden bank of Westfield, Massachusetts: five dollar bills on Merchants National bank of New Bedford, Massachusetts; five dollar bills on Traders bank of Chicago; five dollar bills on the First National bank of Louisville, Kentucky.

Two men and a woman were arrested yesterday in New York for passing some of the above mentioned bills. Other counterfeit money was found in their possession.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—The remains of a man, woman and girl, the latter about 3 years old, was found in the woods near Bellville, Illinois, yesterday. The woman and child were shot through the head, and the man through the heart. From the position of the bodies it is supposed the man shot his wife and child and then himself. Persons living near by heard three shots about sunset on Thursday evening.

UTAH.

SALT LAKE, June 3.—The report of the committee of the Grand Jury appointed to examine the record of the Salt Lake City corporation reveals gross frauds, and shows that no church property has ever been assessed, although the Mormon church owns property worth over a million dollars. There is one item of a thousand dollars for painting portraits for Brigham Young; also board bill of certain United States senators at hotel here. It is alleged that deliberate frauds also has been shown as evidence of connection with the sale of the bonds of the Union & Northern Pacific Railroad removes him from any consideration as Presidential candidate. It says that Blaine's fall is unfortunate, and is regretted by the whole country, without distinction of party.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 3.—The Times, in its second edition, publishes a special dispatch, dated at Berlin, June 3d, saying it appears that the powers have suspended action on the Berlin memorandum for a few days, in order to allow the new Turkish government to give unmistakable indications of their policy and their power to maintain themselves.

A serious accident occurred at St. George hospital near Hyde Park, in this city, at an early hour this morning, by the giving way of a water tank.

PENNSYLVANIA.

EASTON, June 3.—Moses Schuiz, another member of the family recently poisoned, has died, making the third death. The coroner's inquest, which is still in session, elicits the fact that arsenic was the poison used, and that there was enough poison in the coffee drank by the unfortunate people to have killed a hundred persons. The money was stolen from the house, while a large amount of government bonds, and other securities, were left untouched. The fact that Jacob Young was murdered and robbed at the same place only a few weeks ago, creates a still greater feeling of uneasiness among the people in that neighborhood, and a large crowd is gathered today in the vicinity of the Larose homestead.

WILLIAMSPORT, June 3.—The most terrific rain storm ever visited here prevailed last evening.

VERMONT.

ST. ALBANS, June 3.—The wife of Chas. Butler, a young farmer from Highgate Centre, was murdered last night during the absence of her husband.

PLATFORM

--OF THE--

REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recognition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipathies, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and mainteuance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana. In his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, Mr. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O. P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by the honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention hearti ly appreciates the services of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is highly necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support of our party, and for the valuable service they have rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

GLEANINGS.

TWEED is still a "boss."

CUSTER'S army nickname is "Absalom."

PHILADELPHIA is threatened with a water famine this summer.

THE Sultan pays the widows of the murdered Consuls at Salonica $200,000 each as idemnity. That must be some Consolation anyhow.

MORE and more old women who dance d with Washington are turning up every day. The Father of his Country must have shaken an extremely lively heel.

THE Centennial expects to open its gates to 600,000 visitors on the Fourth of July.

AN exchange remarks that a man who would take a paper out of the office for one or two years, and then refuse to pay arrearages, would chase his poor lame grand-mother barefooted half a day through a thorn thicket just to get a chance to knock out her front teeth to sell them for old iron.

DOM PEDRO don't like New Orleans so much as he did the Northern cities. He finds it dull and lacking vitality, he says: Now, if he'd only happened in there a month or so before the Presidential election, he might have formed a different impression, possibly.

THE Philadelphia Times says the poet Longfellow, now in that city, takes position with Archbishop Wood in favor of opening the Centennial buildings on Sunday afternoons.

ALEX. H. STEPHENS is much improved in health and able to move around. He is confident that with the return of warm weather he will be able to go into air and will fully regain his health.

EASY TERMS.—A man dragged a dog into a Michigan avenue saloon yesterday (says M Quad), and wanted the barkeeper to buy him for $10. When he found that he couldn't get that price, the would-be seller dropped to $5, then to $3, and in a minute more he had come down to fifty cents.

"Think of a great big dog like that for fifty cents!" he exclaimed, as he pulled in on the rope.

The bar-tender talked of hard times for awhile, and the owner of the dog finally said:

"Well, take him for ten cents. I'm out of paper collars, and I ain't a man to let a dog, no matter how good he is, stand between me and a clean turn-down collar."—Exchange.

WE do not believe, as a business contemporary avers, that how to increase the profits of capital is a question for all, any more than we believe all should study, to increase the remuneration of labor. Both are entitled to what they can fairly earn; but in either case exorbitant profits are apt to produce an unhealthy condition of things. High wages of labor and extravagant rates of interest stand on the same level and sooner or later will cause a reaction. Regular and profitable employment of both labor and capital should be the study of all. Our impression is that excessive rates of interest, extravagant dividends and profits of business, produce much the same results as excessive wages of labor. Both beget an unwholesome condition of things, and both are injurious to the permanent prosperity of a community. Wherever the price of money is extravagant many must be bankrupted by it, while others will entrust their operations and no borrow at all. The soundest financiers are not those who grasp so eagerly after the greatest gains, but those who prefer only safe investments and therefore never make any losses. To all such men the established line of action is a moderate and safe remuneration. Speculative wealth is very showy and tempting, but, like the fortunes of Drew, Jerome, and Lockwood, they are apt to disappear as suddenly as Aladdin's palace. These, therefore, should be modern gains, safe investments and a care for the interests of the borrower as well as of the lender—of the tenant as well as of the landlord.

TO show that there is really no scarcity of gold and no surplus of silver, an able correspondent of the Boston Commercial Bulletin observes that "in the twenty years following the California discovery, as compared with the forty-eight preceding, the gold production was multiplied about seven times, while that of silver scarcely increased at all. On the other hand, the gain in silver during the last two years, as compared with the preceding twenty years or fifty years, is only about fifty per cent." And subsequently he adds that "one may assume that if the gold production will hereafter not decline, that of silver, now four or five millions sterling, must be carried up to sixty millions before it will recover the ratio to gold which it maintained for probably a century before the Siberian discoveries." What, then, has caused the recent depreciation of silver and the consequent exaggeration of the value of gold? This writer tells us unequivocally thus: "It is not any excess of production of silver, past, existing, or probably impending, which has depreciated it, but it is the movement to deprive it of its ancient function as money, inaugurated at the international conference held at Paris in 1876, a mixed body of diplomats, savants, and other impracticables." The movement is wholly European and is entirely based on the fact that Europe has monopolized all the gold produced in our own country and Australia since the first discoveries in California. They have the gold and we have not. Consequently the higher value they can get upon gold the more they have us at a disadvantage.

A FORTY MILE AN HOUR PRAYER MEETING.

[From the Marshall Times, 26th.]

Last night a large excursion party went to Florida from this city, by a special train on the Central. The occasion of the visit was a desire of many people here to listen once more to the teachings of Rev. Mr. Graves, the evangelist. On the way, both coming and going, a prayer-meeting was held in the cars, the deepest interest being manifested by all, and it is understood that one or two were placed under conviction on the way down. The Times has heard of marriages, births and deaths, and all that, on the rail, but is willing to stake the new hat that Simon Stern gave it the other day that this is the first instance on record of a successful prayer-meeting on a railroad train, with souls being led to Christ while skimming across the country at the rate of forty miles an hour.

CHILDREN.—No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains or Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflamation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discolorations and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES.—It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fullness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM, Toothache and Earache are all alike relieved, and often permanently cured.

PILES—Blind or bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use.

VARICOSE VEINS.—It is the only sure cure for this distressing and dangerous condition.

KIDNEY DISEASES.—It has no equal for permanent cure.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, Toothache and Earache are all alike relieved, and often permanently cured.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific,) Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE.—Removes Soreness, Roughness, and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It revives, invigorates, and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS.—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleeding, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, etc. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Farm-house. Let it be tried once, and you will never be without it.

CAUTION.—Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

HISTORY AND USES OF POND'S EXTRACT, in pamphlet form, sent free on application to POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, 93 Maiden Lane, New York.

Sah! dat ain't right—jes'le' me show you how to do dat fer to—
I feel like I could make de fiddle talk, dis after noon.
Now, don't you see that counter's jes'a little bit too high?
Well, neber mine'—I guess you'll learn to tune her by an' by.

Yes'r, jes' like all musitioners dat learns to play by book;
You ain't got music in you, so you has to hab it wrote;
Now, dey ain't nuthin'—why de debbil don't you look by yeah?
For dis' yeah fiddle kin' ob music fit'in' for to hear.

Do you suppose, when David wuz a-pickin' on de harp,
He ebber 'lowed de difference atwixt a flat and sharp?
But 'twas de way you called for' he could pick it all de same,
For David 'lowed de music, 'dough he didn' know de name.

Now what shall I begin on? Somethin' lively, fas' an' quick?
Well, sah, jes' pay attention, an'I'll gib you "Seven Dock."
Yah! yah! young massa'r, don't you keer jes' like you want to dat?
You'll hab to practice 'im awhile afore you ekals Dave.

Dere ain't nobody 'round dis place kin play wid Uncle Ned,
Dey 'pears got no fine fingers, neider in dair head,
But fiddlin' fill dey talks about—I heered him play a piece,
An' I declar' it sounded like a fo'-antong de geese.

An' mighty hard to learn in order, after once its boy
Dere's 'bout somethin' 'bout it out ob kelter, more or less,
An' 'tain't de fingers' lookin' one dat alluz does de bess.

Dis yeah's a splendid instrument—I 'spec' it cost a heap;
You ought to let me hab dis fiddle for to keep—
It ain't no use to you, sah; for, widout it's in de hand,
He kain't get music out de fines' fid'le in de lan',

It requires a pow'ful science for to fiddle, sah, you see
An' science comes by natur'; dat's de way it is wid me.
But I'se 'fraid I can't 'muse you to hab him taken 'way;
You never'll hear a stranger fiddler play a decent play.

But I'll be in a cotillon, sah! I I wonder now
An' order foh I know of-yes, wonder what'll be by
In holden, when dem uns play in,' an' de angels
I'll 'bleeged jine de chorus, dey would hab to put him on.

Well, neber mine, Mahs'r Bob, sah; when you's nuthin' else to do
Jes' come 'round ob'n, sah, an' he'll come an' play
An' don't gib up your practisin'—dat's only sah-
As maybe when you's ole as me you'll play de fiddle.

PERSONAL AND EXPLANATORY.

For many years our HURLEY'S POPULAR WORM CANDY was the favorite and most largely sold in the entire South and West.

A few years ago we bought in New York Santonin, bearing the name of the great chemist of Germany, whose make had always been purest, this was used in making Worm Candy, a lot of 200 gross. After sales of the Candy were made, complaints came thas it "wet down and ran together." Upon investigation we found that a fraud had been practiced upon us: the Santonin label being counterfeited, and the Santonin adulterated with chlorate of potash. We called in all the Candy we could hear of, replacing it with a good. If you have any, we will gladly replace yours, and we make this appeal to your sense of justice, not to let the rascality of another injure our good name. We ask a renewal of your confidence in Hurley's Worm Candy, guaranteeing that only PURE and TESTED material is used in its preparation, and with proper care it will keep in any climate.

Notices of the Press.

The ever increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its merits. When we think into how many families it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public in this country.

The character which its management possesses for variety, energy, progressiveness, wealth and literature is such that it is safe to say that it has not, for the last three years, shown any tendency to retrograde in such a way as to justify complaint. The Magazine has none equal and not even all the leading periodicals.—Brooklyn Union.

Some of the most popular of modern novels have first appeared as serials in this Magazine. In all respects it is an excellent periodical.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL
LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,
PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 40 to 48 pages, three columns to a page, forming in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and properly handled, the farm is yielding the most money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every man that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and

A CHANGE of schedule on the Montgomery & Eufaula, and Western railroads will be noticed elsewhere.

THE colored free school accepted the train tendered by the Western road, and went to Whitehall for a picnic yesterday.

A GOOD SIGN.—That big load of shucked corn on the streets for sale yesterday, at a dollar per bushel. One more year and our people will not have to buy any corn for their stock.

A FASHIONABLE hatter has invented what is known as the candidate's hat. It rests on the ears of the wearer, and will be out for the fall style.

THE excursion of the "Greys" to Pensacola on the 12th inst., promises to be one of the most pleasant and enjoyable events of the season. The fare for the round trip is only $5 00.

THE displays at the market yesterday were very creditable. In the vegetable line there was almost everything that could be desired, while the meats were of every kind used at this season.

WHEN DOM Pedro passed through here the other day, he stoped his train and asked if a certain local editor was in town. He was told "yes, he's here." Dom told the conductor to go ahead immediately.

THE railroads are disappointed in the amount of travel to Philadelphia, and unless it increases very shortly, a cutting of rates may be expected in the North, and we of the South may have some benefit.

SOME counfounded idiot has put that pen where I can't find it," growled a Commerce street merchant the other day as he searched about his desk. "Ah, um, yes! I thought so," he continued in a lower key, as he took the article from behind his ear.

THERE was a sleepy-looking crowd came down from Blount Springs yesterday. If editors were in the habit of getting drunk we would bet that some of that crowd were "tight," or had been. We know how newspaper men are when they get away from home.

THE youth who has not yet been to a pic-nic is like a fellow who treads some free lunch hall with nary a red. It is due to the children, as well as to the red bugs and seed ticks, to send them to at least one rustic pic-nic per year.

THE finest plums seen in Montgomery for several years, were offered in the market yesterday evening. Some of those who purchased these plums say they have never seen finer ones anywhere. The fruit crops of every kind are unusually promising this season. There is money in these fruits, if a little enterprise is extended.

SOME of the friends of the proposed city park intend to make an effort to get up subscriptions shortly. If they are encouraged a public meeting will be called to act upon the matter. We are glad to hear this, and we hope that every public spirited citizen will give his influence to this movement. It is certainly very desirable that a city as large as Montgomery should have a public resort for its citizens. If there is any objection to the enterprise we should be very sorry to see it of such magnitude as to defeat an end in view.

BLOUNT SPRINGS.

PRESS EXCURSION—VISIT TO THE SOUTHERN CAVE—MEDICINAL WATERS—BALL—BANQUET—MUSIC, ETC.

On Friday morning about thirty gentlemen of the Alabama Press Association, with several ladies, wives and daughters of the editors, assembled at the depot in Montgomery, and were soon safely cared for in one of the elegant passenger coaches of the South and North Alabama railroad, which, through the invitation of Col. Sloss, the President, and Col. Meek, the Superintendent, had been placed at the pleasure of the editors. Capt. Whitfield, agent of the railroad, was on hand, and had everything in the best order for a pleasant trip for the "Knights of the quill" to Blount Springs, the "Saratoga of the South."

At 7 o'clock the train left the depot and we were soon flying over the rails at a rate of forty miles per hour, at times. Among our number were some men of considerable ability, and yet some who will never, I fear, rank as high as Greeley in the fields of journalism. But all in all, they were a jolly set of quill-drivers, and each seemed determined to have all the fun possible out of the trip.

The railroad is in excellent condition, and all its equipments unsurpassed, and we whirled along at lightning speed in perfect safety. As we passed through the country the signs of prosperity met the eye. A very large area of land has been cultivated in small grain, which looked well. Much more corn has been planted than since the war, and our people intend to make their own corn and meat. The crops all look clean and thriving. We had on board a large number of delegates returning from the Bourbon Democratic Convention. It did not seem that they were very enthusiastic over the ticket. It looked more as if they had met to go through the farce of a so-called nomination, when really they knew that the caucus had already fixed it up. The delegates from North Alabama do not feel as confident of victory if the two factions of the Republican party will unite on one ticket. The infamous revenue law is a hard dose to swallow, and the Republicans never had a better chance to carry the State than now.

At Calera, Birmingham, and other places we took on more editors. At 12 o'clock, noon, we arrived at Blount Springs, and found everything and every body ready to receive us. Capt Towner, the proprietor of the Jackson House, and his clerks McMeekin and Bugg soon had a splendid dinner ready for us, to which I assure you these ink-slingers did ample justice. After dinner strolls were taken to the springs and to the woods. At 5 o'clock an engine carried us up to Bangor, where we visited the "Southern Cave," through the courtesy of Mr. Musgrove, editor of the Bangor Broad-Axe. I was surprised to find so great a natural curiosity. It is almost worth a visit of a thousand miles. There are four separate apartments, in all of which the stalactite formations are truly wonderful. "Concert Hall" is well lighted with hanging lamps, has raised seats about the sides, and a large platform in the centre, where concerts and dancing parties are held in the very bowels of the earth. Then there are the "Sounding Room," the "Formation Room," and "Terminus Hall." After passing the entrance of the cave, there is but one low, narrow passage, which is quickly traversed, and which is called the "Path of Humiliation and the Narrow Way," as there is only room for one person to pass through at a time, and in a stooping condition. Among the many attractions in the cave, which is about half a mile in length are "Dona's Pyramid," "Iceberg Cliff," "Pillar of Plumes," "Scribe's Gallery," "Pillar of Hercules," "Cathedral Pulpit," and "Pillar of Clouds."

The medical properties of these springs are of the highest character, and hundreds have gone away from Blount cured. I cannot see why our people should go North to the watering places when we have Blount Springs, with its genial climate, bold mountain scenery, and health-giving waters, all on the line of the great South & North Railroad, and in direct communication with the world. The rates for boarding are much less than at any other first class place.

After supper the dining room was converted into a concert room, and some excellent vocal and instrumental music and recitations given by lady and gentlemen amateurs. Mrs. J. F. Whitfield, Misses Annie Jackson and Lizzie Andrews, of Montgomery, sang several beautiful pieces. The beautiful and fairy-like Miss Lucia Vail read several pieces in her faultless style; Miss Howell, of Prattville, recited one piece with great effect.

Next there was an exhibition of roller skating and crowning of queen and maids of honor, after which the crowd assembled at the set on the broad gallery of the second floor, with the rays of the moon shining upon the viands and wines.

Mr. Macon, of Eufaula, presided and read the toasts, of which there were entirely too many. I never could understand that editors who despise long toasts, speeches and ceremonies, should be so anxious to hear themselves talk and perform. The toast to Blount Springs was acknowledged by Capt. Towner in his usual modest way. The toast to the South & North Railroad was heartily seconded by Col. R. H. Powell and acknowledged handsomely by Col. J. W. Sloss, President of the railroad company. There were several other toasts, but as we thought they scattered too much from the subject and space is short, we did not take them.

Prof. Sherwood and Prof. Hanson, with their band, are at the Springs for the season. There was not much dance in the crowd, as but one square and one round dance was had. There are a great many persons here already, and rooms are being taken every day. Several beautiful ladies are here, among them: Misses M. A——d, S. S——p, A. J——a, L. A——s, M. M——f, M. P——e, C. H——w, Miss H——l, and Mesdames J. F. W——d, J. H. H——w, G. H. P——r, N. B. F——n, W. D. M——r, and many others; but the belle, in our opinion, was the petite, modest and intellectual, child-like and charming Miss L. V——l.

One of the "Press gang," who went to Blount Springs, tells the following: "As soon as the train arrived an editor ran into the bar-room and told the barkeeper to give him some good speerits, and put ginger, peppermint, lemon, pineapple, sugar, and all the fixins in it. After swallowing it he said he was an editor, and would 'write the bar-keeper up in his paper,' as pay for it. Before the gentlemanly mixer of liquids could speak he had vanished. He then rushed into the barber shop, was shaved, and told the tonsorial colored individual to brush him up, as he was an editor and would 'write ye barber up in his paper.' He next tackled the boot-black, who asked him if he could shine 'em up, but with a look of disdain, he told the little darkey he was an editor, and wanted him to post him on the mineral resources of Blount Springs, as he wanted to 'write 'em up for his paper.''

The best thing we heard was an editor taking a hot sulphur bath, and hiding his cravat in his shoe, and then borrowed another from a gentleman. After finding it he forgot to return the one he had borrowed.

Another case was one of the editors carrying off from the dining room the hat of another, shooting two holes through it, and then returning it. All this absentmindedness it is said is chargeable to the kind of waters drank.

One of the editors captured the cub of a wild animal, intending to exhibit it as the "centennial animal." It turns out to be a little yellow tame kitten, which had no mother.

That was a good joke told by Mr. W——, who said to Capt. Towner, that he had no country weekly newspaper to "write him up," but he would tell his better-half all about it, and he knew it would get to be as well known as if he had published it in a country weekly. After that everybody took a drink of wh—ater.

At 2 o'clock Saturday morning, with the rain pouring down torrents, we left for Montgomery, where, without accident, we arrived, thanks to all the railroad officials. MONTGOMERY.

WE have had plenty of rain for the last week. News from the country is to the effect that the crops are all in splendid condition, and the farmers are more hopeful than they have been for years. The corn crop is splendid, and there has been more of it planted this season than for many years. Cotton also looks very promising, and there is every indication of full crops of all kinds.

A FEW Republicans who are disaffected with their party, met at the Court House yesterday, and after much wrangling, the exhibition of bad spirit, and abusing each other, roundly, proceeded to nominate candidates for the Legislature. They ignored the country altogether, because there were no delegates from the country districts, we presume, in their nominations. There were so few persons attending the meeting that it was thought best for awhile to adjourn it, but the office seekers pushed it on, with the following result:

For Senator—R. H. Knox.

For the House—S. F. Rice, H. V. Cashin, Captain Gilmer and C. O. Harris.

It is hardly possible that a citizen of Judge Rice's character and reputation will accept a candidacy at the hands of a handfull of disaffected office seekers. His name should not be bandied about in any such connection.

DURING the warm summer season there is but little of interest to the general public going on in the community. Hence our reporters find it difficult to gather up local news. We have no doubt that many of our readers have items of interest that come under their observation, and we respectfully request them to give us the benefit of them, that we may circulate them through these columns for public information. Perhaps some of our local societies could often furnish us with interesting items as to their work in the community, and thus enlarge their scope of usefulness. Short items on all questions or subjects of public interest are solicited from all, and we will take great pleasure in giving publicity to any matter which may be considered of sufficient importance to write out, or our reporters will gladly write out any articles, based upon facts, given them. Will not our readers thus aid us in circulating local information? It cannot fail to be of great advantage to the community.

A PATRIOTIC LETTER.

On the second page of this morning's edition of the JOURNAL we p int a letter from the Hon Jno. L. Pennington, the able and popular Governor of Dakota, addressed to the Republicans of this State. This letter commends itself to every unselfish Republican in Alabama, because of its patriotic disinterestedness and the evident sincerity which prompts it. Such a production needs no comment. It breathes, in every sentence, all of that noble sacrifice which the occasion demands of every good citizen, and is true to the principles which have stamped themselves in living light upon every page of Republican history on this continent. Gov. Pennington appeals for harmony and peace in the ranks of a party which boasts that its mission is "peace on earth, good will to men." Can any true man read this letter, and refuse to respond to its sincerity? We trust not. We do hope for harmony and peace in Republican councils.

WHEN John Forsyth and Peter Hamilton undertook to fasten Bourbon tyranny upon Alabama, we told them that when their work was completed, the ring of caucus intolerants would cast them aside and install men of their own stripe in, the places of honor and responsibility. Nevertheless, Messrs. Forsyth and Hamilton went ahead and done the miserable work of the intolerant caucus, and now, having perfected the chains about the necks of the people, they are cast aside as worthless. Peter Hamilton is kicked out of the Senate, and we hear no more about electing John Forsyth to succeed Goldthwaite. What stings of remorse these two great men must feel, when they behold with what ruthless hands, they have been stricken down! The Republican party would not have done such an ungrateful thing as this for all the crowns in christendom. Talent finds nothing congenial in the Bourbon Democracy of Alabama.

IT turns out that Mr. Kerr started in public life by perpetrating an outrage on a gentleman who was in the service of his country. The Indianapolis Journal of the 29th of May says that in 1860 General Ben Harrison was Reporter of the Supreme Court in Indiana. In 1861 he enlisted in the army, and went to the field, two of his friends agreeing to get out his reports for him. In 1862 the Republicans, claiming there was no vacancy for the office, made no nomination. The Democrats nominated Mr. Kerr. The case came before the Supreme Court, and the court, being Democratic, issued a writ giving Mr. Kerr possession of the office. Harrison returned, and in 1864 was re-elected by 2,000 majority. This, according to the Indianapolis Journal, is a history of Mr. Kerr's entrance into politics.

THE Democratic State Convention which met at Montgomery on the 31st ult., was pretty well represented. All the counties but three, having delegates on the floor—about 500 delegates were present. The following persons were nominated for re-election: Geo. S. Houston, for Governor; R. H. Boyd, for Secretary of State; Daniel Crawford, for Treasurer, and J. W. A. Sanford for Attorney General. One W. Brewer, was nominated for State Auditor—the only change on the stereotyped ticket.

Well, it does seem like the above parties contain all the brains of the Democratic party, or else the machine has become so rotten that no one else will try to run it. The Democratic party is past praying for now, and the only thing its members can do, is to shed a few tears, wipe their noses and retire.—Opelika Reformer.

We take pleasure in reminding the reformer that Mr. Leroy F. Box, of St. Clair county, was nominated for Superintendent of Education. As his party has destroyed all the free schools in the State, his office is simply a sinecure.

WHEN a Republican, accused of wrongdoing, has asked that an upright life and a spotless reputation be regarded as some protection against malicious assaults, Democrats have sneered, and have treated the flimsiest accusation as a proof of guilt. Mr. Kerr asks the same protection now, and Republican papers give him the full benefit of his past record and suspend judgment. This is the difference between a party using slander to make political capital and a party aiming to be just.

THE re-establishment of fraternal relations between the Presbyterian church North and South, brings both of these long separated sections of that church to the same platform, and it is to be hoped the step may prove alike the beginning of a cordial feeling of respect and affection which shall be deeper, firmer, more widespread than ever before, and of a more successful effort on the part of the Presbyterian church in the United States than has ever been witnessed in the past.

THE Pittsburgh Commercial says: "It is a very suggestive fact that wherever the Democratic party has triumphed at the South, there is practical intolerance, practical denial of personal liberty, practical denial of popular education, and persistent effort to revive old systems under new forms.

A TELEGRAM from London says the rain has destroyed the locusts, and cereals have not promised such crops for a number of years past.

HON. S. S. COX thinks that Governor Hendricks leads all the Democratic aspirants.

A JUST AND RESPECTFUL DEMAND.

The Greensboro Beacon, in its last issue, in an editorial article devoted to abuse of Republican leaders generally, makes the following charge:

Spencer's policy has been to distribute the Federal offices among those who would support his political fortunes. In that policy he has been backed by Grant. The effect of the policy has been—as any man of ordinary sagacity might have foreseen, to place the Federal offices in the hands of the most corrupt and unscrupulous men of the party.

We have heard something like this heretofore, and in other quarters. It is quite the thing with our Bourbon friends to charge Republican officials with all manner of corrupt and disgraceful acts, and generally to accompany their charges with high-sounding denunciation. Thus the Greensboro Beacon informs us that "Spencer's policy has been to distribute the Federal offices among those who would support his political fortunes." Not only has Spencer had such a policy and pursued it, but the Beacon informs us that "Grant backed him up in it." The result of this policy which the Beacon has found out by some means, has been "to place the Federal offices in the hands of the most corrupt and unscrupulous men of the party." The Beacon does not say what party these "corrupt men" belong to, but we are left to infer that much; and as the matter has gone thus far, we propose to hold the Greensboro Beacon to its charge. In the name of right and justice, we demand of the Beacon the name or names of the "corrupt men" which Senator Spencer has placed in office, either in or out of Alabama. The editor of the Beacon has always been a fair and honorable opponent, and we have on many occasions, heretofore, expressed our admiration of him as a disputant in the field of journalism. He has made an open and direct charge against a gentleman who occupies a distinguished position before the country. Senator Spencer has the right to expect that, when he is charged with an act which involves moral turpitude, the specifications will be plain and unvarnished. Therefore, we respectfully demand that the Greensboro Beacon proceed to name the persons who have been appointed to office, with Senator Spencer's approval, who are corrupt and unscrupulous men, and that it specify particular acts of these men which justify it in making the charge.

AN INTERESTING DECISION.

The Supreme Court of the U. S. has just rendered a decision to the effect that State laws, discriminating in favor of goods, wares and merchandise which are the growth, manufacture and product of the State, against those which are the growth of other States or countries upon which their sale can be made by traveling dealers, as in conflict with the power vested in Congress to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States. This power is vested in Congress to insure uniformity of commercial regulations against discriminating State legislation. It covers property which is transported as an article of commerce from foreign countries among the States, from hostile or interfering State legislation until it has mingled with and become a part of the general property of the country, and protects it, even after it has entered a State, from any burdens imposed by reason of its foreign origin. The inaction of Congress in prescribing rules to govern interState commerce is equivalent to its declaration that such commerce shall be free from any restrictions. The decision is of general importance, and we shall endeavor to publish the leading points in the JOURNAL when the decision is given to the public.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

The Cullman Immigrant is one of the fairest and most liberal newspapers in Alabama. It has the manliness to express its respect for the distinguished citizens who have been put forward by the Republicans of this State, as their representative standard bearers, in the campaign of 1876. In its issue of last week the Immigrant says:

It can now be truly said that the political campaign of 1876 has fairly opened in Alabama. The Republican nominees were placed before the people on the 25th instant, and the ticket is the best ever put forward by that party in the State of Alabama. The Democratic nominees are also before the people. Their ticket, headed by Gov. Houston, is also a good ticket. Both parties have good, honest, able men in their ranks. The campaign this year, in Alabama, bids fair to be an exciting one, and we hope will be prosecuted by both political parties in a legal and fair manner. We now hope that every man will vote for the party of his choice without fear, intimidation or insult, and that no man will so lose his self-respect as to be forced or cajoled to cast his ballot for any other than the man of his choice. Let us elect the officers for their intrinsic value, not from their allegiance to party.

THE circulation of the STATE JOURNAL is rapidly increasing, and very deservedly too; it is a good, reliable newspaper, well conducted.—Cullman Immigrant.

It is very gratifying to us that the hardy Germans of Cullman are becoming the most valued patrons of the JOURNAL. They are all honest, enlightened, liberal and peace-loving citizens, who respect the laws and personal rights. There is not one of those noble men who would oppress a citizen because of political differences, nor can they be forced by any sort of caucus tyranny to support a party which denies freedom of speech or action to any citizen. These Germans love liberty, and despise tyranny and intolerance in every form and under all circumstances. They love the American union because they have found it an asylum of universal freedom. We repeat that it is gratifying to us to have such citizens subscribe for and patronize the JOURNAL. There can be no difference of opinion between the JOURNAL and the noble Germans of Cullman.

HON. J. S. CLARKE.

[From the Cullman Immigrant.]

This well known gentleman who is the subject of these remarks was nominated by the Alabama Republicans in convention as their choice for Governor. Judge Clarke is well known by our citizens as the very type of a gentleman. He is a native of the South and does honor to the land of his nativity; no purer man could be put forward by any party. He is a lawyer of high abilities, having served as Circuit Judge for the fourth Judicial District, giving satisfaction to all. His character like Cæsar's wife, "is above suspicion." We congratulate the people of Alabama in having an opportunity to show their great appreciation of native worth, by placing their highest gift in the hands of Hon. J. S. Clarke.

GOV. HOUSTON in his speech of acceptance before the Democratic Convention, stated that when he came in office State money was as low as 40 cents on the dollar, and his administration has caused it to rise to 80 and 90.—[Columbus Enq.

Gov. Houston must have known when he made this statement that he was not justified in so doing. State money first began to depreciate under Lindsay's Democratic administration. It was during Patton's Democratic Administration that State money first began its circulation. Under Smith's Republican administration this State money passed readily at par, the same as United States currency, and when Smith gave up the Executive office it was as popular as Greenback currency in this city. But a few months after Lindsay was in office, State money tumbled down to so low a notch that it was with difficulty it could be used at all—and during Lindsay's entire occupancy of the Executive office it was almost as dead as Confederate shinplasters. After Lewis, Republican, was elected Governor, the General Assembly endeavored to resuscitate it, and did succeed in once more getting it in general circulation in the form of "horse shoe" currency, which took its place. And this State money is now, and has been for months, at a greater discount than it was under Gov. Lewis' administration. Thus the facts show that under the Republican administrations State money was always more valuable than under Democratic administrations, although a Democratic administration gave birth to the currency. Gov. Houston must have known these facts, and when he assumes to himself credit for any advance in the value of State money, he practices deception upon the public. He knows and every Democratic State official knows, that State money was prevented from becoming entirely worthless by the Republican administration of Gov. Lewis, and the Republican Legislature which sustained him in the beginning of his term.

THE treatment of Mr. Kerr by the Republican press makes a very different showing from the conduct of the Democratic press when they think they are on the track of a Republican rogue. There seems to be a general disposition, with some few exceptions, to give Mr. Kerr a full and fair hearing, with the presumption in his favor. The Cincinnati Enquirer carries its soft-money prejudices even into such an episode as this, accepts the charge, and gloats over it.—N. Y. Tribune.

Republican papers have respect for the amenities and decencies of life, and cannot be bought for partisan purposes to deal in vituperation, falsehood and slander. If the Republican party cannot succeed without destroying all that is sacred, and hightoned, and manly, then it will have to suffer the consequences. But there is not a Republican in this broad land, no matter how humble he may be, who would blacken his soul with perjury to gratify partisan malice; nor would he sacrifice his own self respect by circulating falsehood and slanders against his fellow-beings because of political differences. Wronged and outraged as we have been, no consideration could induce us to oppress an opponent, or resort to falsehood to injure him, that we might make some temporary gain.

"With the masses of the Republican party in the State, my observations have convinced me that Conkling is by long odds the favorite for nomination. Even in those districts where the old feud between Conkling and Fenton raged the most furiously there can be but one opinion as to Conkling's strength—he is surprisingly strong. Indeed, there is scarcely a trace of this feud left, and I have found among the warmest advocates of Mr. Conkling as a candidate men of influence in their localities who went over to the Liberals with Fenton."

THE Chicago Journal expresses the gratification of its publisher at the nomination of Mr. Andrew Shuman, its editor, for Lieutenant Governor of Illinois, and says: "If an office ever sought the man, it was true in this case. It was a spontaneous tribute to unfaltering fidelity to sound political principles, conferred upon one who is quite too modest to assert any personal claim. It was also an approval of a newspaper the highest aim of which is ever to subserve the public interest."

RESOLUTIONS for constitutional amendments, prohibiting all sectarian management of the public schools and providing that "clergymen, so long and while they are continuing the work of the ministry, shall not be eligible to seats in either branch of the General Assembly," have been introduced in the Connecticut Legislature.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The intention of ex Speaker Blaine to publish the Mulligan letters and read them to the House, created considerable change of sentiment in his favor at the capital. The talk among the politicians now is that instead of Mulligan's testimony damaging Blaine, it will help him.

The United States steamer Marion, recently sent to the Rio Grande for the protection of American interests, was, on Saturday, ordered to sail for Europe.

Senate.

Mr. Ingalls called up the Senate bill to carry out in part the provisions of the act to abolish the rations of the Miami Indians, and for other purposes, approved March 3d, 1873. Passed.

Mr. Herman called up the concurrent resolution proposing a common unit of money and accounts for the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Morrill said this was an important bill, passed in the morning hour. It was a bill which ought to be thoroughly discussed. The resolution went over.

Mr. Sherman said that he would call up the bill at an early day.

The chair announced a new committee of conference on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill, to consist of Messrs. Sargent, Howe and Bogy.

The unfinished business being the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, was taken up. The pending question was on the amendment relating to the salaries of clerks of the Interior Department. Concurred in.

The consideration of the appropriation bill was proceeded with, and the amendments of the committee increasing the appropriations for the general land office; restoring the appropriation for the Pension office, etc., were all concurred in.

Mr. Clayton, from the committee on civil service and retrenchment, moved an amendment that hereafter the appointments shall be equally divided among the States and Territories according to population.

Mr. Edwards moved to amend this amendment by providing for the appointment of a board of five persons to examine all applicants for cadetship, and that those most capable and of the best character, shall receive the appointment. Vote on the motion to-day on the table—ayes 13, nays 22. No quorum.

The Senate then adjourned.

House.

The Speaker pro tem., Mr. Cox called the States for bills for reference, and the following, among others, were introduced and referred:

Mr. Vance to refer the claims of settlers on Cherokee lands in North Carolina to the court of claims for adjudication.

Mr. White to amend the revised statutes to provide that pensions shall commence from date of disability.

Also, to provide for reducing the number of Representatives in Congress to two hundred.

The House then proceeded to consider the resolution offered by Mr. Adams on Monday last, declaring that in the judgment of the House, legislation affecting the tariff at this time inexpedient, because it is apparent that all branches of manufacturing, mercantile and mining pursuits at this time are greatly depressed, that all legislation which tends to embarrassment by unsettling of values is unwise and injudicious.

Mr. Morrison moved the reference of the resolutions to the committee of ways and means, which motion was agreed to; yeas 114, nays 99.

Mr. Haralson, of Alabama, offered a bill to devote the proceeds of the sale of public lands to purposes of education. Referred.

Mr. Neal moved to pass the bill to repeal the specie resumption act. The point of order being that the bill could not be considered on the day of introduction.

The chair sustained the point of order and on an appeal the decision of the chair was sustained.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—There was very little change in the attendance at the exposition to-day, the number of visitors being about 30,000. Owing to the pleasant weather, more peoples were seen out of doors, rambling from one building to another and along the promenade. The celebrated Castillany collection was opened to the public this forenoon, in the Italian department of the Art gallery. It embraces statuary, bronze, &c.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The World's Washington special says the defense in Kerr's case will open to-day or to-morrow, and will show that Harney has wilfully lied in his main and cross examination. Mr. Kerr will make a complete and satisfactory statement.

An interview with Gov. Joel Parker, of New Jersey, is published to-day. He expresses the conviction that the Democracy will certainly win the Presidential fight, provided they nominate a sound Democrat with a good war record, on an unimpeachable platform, demanding sound money and reform. He does believe that there will be a split at St. Louis on the money question.

NEW YORK, June 5.—A London special says despatches from Alexandria, Berlin, Vienna, Rome and Paris are more than usually alarming. Murad Effendi, the new Sultan, is an old enemy of the Khedive of Egypt.

Servia will not recognize the new Sultan.

From Vienna comes a report that Great Britain recently suggested that the warfare against the Turks in Servia and Montenegro should be treated as a breach of the peace of Europe committed by Russia.

The New Free Presse, of Vienna, advocates an English-Austrian alliance.

Martin Bellman, the young man who was buried alive in a well yesterday at noon was extricated from his perilous position at 8:30 o'clock this morning, having been entombed 18 hours. He is very weak, but will live.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, June 5.—The steamer Oriental, of the Savannah and Boston line, was wrecked in the harbor last evening. The vessel left Savannah on Tuesday last, and experienced heavy winds as far as Cape Hatteras. On Saturday night when off the village a thick fog bore down, and the steamer remained at anchor there overnight. Yesterday forenoon the fog lifted, and the steamer started for Boston, having clear weather. On passing Cape Cod towards evening the fog again settled over her, and subsequently became so dense that navigation was almost impossible. The steamer had her pilot, and it was decided to go up to the city, although it was impossible to see anything ahead. About 7.10 the steamer struck on Harding's ledge, about three miles out from Boston light. A fishing schooner rescued the passengers—twenty in number—with their baggage, and reached Boston about one o'clock this forenoon. Two tug boats were dispatched to the wreck to save as much as possible and bring off the crew. Whether the vessel and cargo will be a total loss could not be ascertained before daylight.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The lightning express train arrived in this city Monday morning, 9 hours and 44 minutes ahead of the schedule time. All the party were well. The reason why the train didn't arrive as soon as expected was that the air brakes gave out on the Sierras, and the distance had to be made in comparatively slow time. On their arrival the party went to the hotel where breakfast was given them, presided over by the Mayor of the city. Complimentary speeches were made. The party will be serenaded to-night.

ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Yesterday afternoon the large flouring mill of Pitts & Crook, located on 22d and Lumber street, was entirely consumed by fire, which began in a pile of shavings, and it is supposed to have been incendiarism. Total loss about $25,000; insurance $4,000. A car belonging to the Rock Island Railroad Company, valued at $10,000, was also burned.

The weather is very cold and disagreeable.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, June 5.—One of the boilers of the Collier White Lead Works of this city, exploded with terrific force this morning, demolishing a part of the building, and badly injuring three employes. Insurance $120,000.

Beaumont, mail messenger and publisher of a newspaper at Mayesville, Ky., was caught by special detective Foster, robbing the mails to-day. He has been carrying on the business for several years. He confessed.

TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 5.—The doctors of the English and other embassies, after an examination into the cause of the death of the late Sultan, testify that he cut the arteries of both arms with scissors. He died Sunday morning and was buried at Mahmoud, the sacred tomb, on Sunday evening. Prior to his suicide the ex-Sultan was secluded from his mother, the Saltana and all his old attendants. The foreign ministers are preparing an official report on the subject of the suicide.

PLATFORM
—OF THE—
REPUBLICAN PARTY OF ALABAMA

Adopted in Convention, May 25, 1876.

The Republican party of Alabama assembled in convention, to organize for the approaching elections State and Federal, announce as their political creed the following cardinal principles, and submit them to the people of Alabama, challenging candid criticism, and asking for them their attention and respectful consideration.

1st. The civil and political equality of all men as the fundamental principle of our government, and the basis of our popular institutions, from which there can be no departure without imperiling the liberties of the whole people.

2nd. A system of free public schools, non-sectarian in their character, established and sustained by the State, at which all the children in the State may be educated, without charge to any.

3rd. The protection and encouragement of labor and enhancement of the value of property, by the cultivation of harmony and good will among all classes of our people; by the adjustment of our capital and labor upon a basis of reciprocal benefits, by an intelligent recognition of the good of all, as embraced in the cordial recognition of the rights of all; by just and equal laws, by stimulating and diversifying our industries, by inviting capital and skilled labor from abroad into the State, and by banishing intolerance, and according to all perfect freedom of opinion and action, in all matters religious and political.

4th. The suppression of sectional prejudices and antipathies, and the cultivation of fraternal feeling among all the people of our wide extended Republic, the preservation of the States and maintenance of the Federal Union—the one as indestructible, the other as indissoluble.

5th. The preservation and maintainance of the Republican party in the Southern States, as a safeguard against sectionalism, and the strongest guaranty of an inviolate union.

Resolved 1st, That we indorse and approve of the administration of President Grant as wise and just in its policy, patriotic in spirit, and impartial and vigorous in execution. It has carried the nation through a period of unprecedented difficulties and trials with safety and success, and has won for the President a renown as a statesman, as solid and enduring as his fame as a soldier.

Resolved 2nd, That we deplore the divisions in our party in Alabama as endangering its very existence, and giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, and that now, as in the past, we are ready and desirous of healing these divisions and uniting with all Republicans in Alabama, in our effort to redeem the State from Democratic misrule, and to put it again under the control of the party which alone has given any impulse to its energies or hope to its future, since the war, and through whose auspices and policy only our people can retrieve a prosperous condition for generations to come.

Resolved, That we declare our ardent admiration for the entire career in public life of Hon. O. P. Morton, of Indiana, in his advocacy of the great and vital principles of the Republican party, and of the measures destined to secure their practical application in the affairs of government, M. Morton stands pre-eminent before the country, for the ability, courage and constancy he has displayed.

Resolved, That we commend the Hon. O P. Morton to the favorable consideration of our delegation to the National Republican Convention at Cincinnati.

ALEX WHITE, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The next Union Republican National Convention, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, will be held in the City of Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th day of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress and of two delegates from each organized territory and District of Columbia.

In calling the Convention for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and harmony throughout the entire country by maintaining and enforcing all the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest; who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the National faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, support them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principles of National unity in this Centennial anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

E. D. MORGAN,
Chairman Republican National Committee.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, Secretary.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

The Paper for the People—A Flattering Testimonial.

In the Republican State Convention of Alabama, on Thursday, May 26th, the following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Platform, etc., and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That this convention heartily appreciates the services of the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL in the cause of true Republicanism, and that we commend it to the favor and support of the people of Alabama as an able and honorable exponent of the principles which actuate the Republican party.

Resolved, That we commend the STATE JOURNAL to the Republicans of Alabama as worthy of their patronage and support, and that during the canvass now upon us it is highly necessary that Republicans subscribe for and circulate the STATE JOURNAL throughout the State.

Resolved, That each delegate to this convention be requested to act as an agent for the STATE JOURNAL for the purpose of securing subscriptions thereto, and circulating it in every beat in the State.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our thanks to the proprietors of the STATE JOURNAL for their firm and unwavering support of our party, and for the valuable service they have rendered us in exposing the malicious character of the war upon Senator Spencer.

LETTER FROM DAKOTA.

Gov. Pennington on Republican Divisions.

YANKTON, D. T., June 1st.

Editor State Journal: The gentlemen composing the so-called State Republican Executive Committees of Alabama have no right to wreck the great Republican party of the State, and to say that either of the two, unaided by the other, and the split continuing, can lead the Republican masses to victory, is absurd. In throwing mud at each other they are playing into the hands of the Democrats, and it is strange that intelligent, patriotic men, such as lead on both sides of the factional fight, will lend themselves to such mischievous uses. Stop it! stop it!

It is safe to assume that there is wrong on both sides, and that errors have been committed by both wings, and this will have to be admitted before there can be reconciliation and harmony. Let our political brethren remember what is said about dwelling together in unity, and the blessings invoked for the peace maker! Let them come together in a fervid paternal embrace, and heal the dissensions that now exist and harmonize the one hundred thousand Republican voters of the State for the great Presidential contest of this year.

You cannot elect two Republican tickets in Alabama—will do well if you elect one—and therefore I again appeal to the few gentlemen who lead the two wings to quit their foolishness, come together and go to work. The people really care nothing about your personal fights, but is there are distinguished names and worthy men on each of the two tickets, a continuance of the present state of things will only tend to confusion, division and defeat. And then it is fun for the Democrats. Think of that!

I respectfully suggest and earnestly appeal to the gentlemen composing the two rival committees to cease their criticisms and abuse of each other, to come together in a spirit of love, charity and mutual forbearance, at once, and select from the two tickets now before the people, one ticket to be supported by the great Republican party of the State at the approaching election; and then bury in art past differences let all the members of the two committees, and all their champions, go into the vineyard and work to elect it. The Democracy is benighted and ignorant and there was never a more inviting field for the missionary labors of the christian and philanthropist.

I have been with you in sufferings oft, but will endeavor to come again provided you reduce the two tickets to one, and harmonize the party. It matters not to me whether it be Morton, Conkling, Blaine, Hayes, Bristow, or the great unknown, or my first choice, U. S. Grant, I am in the harness, and will work wherever I can do the most good, to defeat the unreconstructed, rebellious Democracy.

I pray you, brother Republicans of Alabama, heal your differences, close up your ranks, and go forth to battle as men worthy of victory.

Yours, for Peace and Victory,
JOHN L. PENNINGTON.

A REVOLUTIONARY REMINISCENCE.

A Claim Growing Out of General Clarke's Romantic Campaign in the Northwest.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Mr. Justice Miller to day delivered the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of the United States against Archibald McKee and others, appealed from the Court of Claims. The opinion is as follows: The claim of the State of Virginia to dominion over that region of country called the Territory Northwest of the Ohio River, which is now filled with a population of many millions and divided into five States of the Union, was not undisputed in the days when that State was a province of Great Britian. The French had numerous settlements there, and the government of Great Britian claimed, both by the acquisition of Canada and by settlement, a large part of the loosely defined country. They had their military posts there, as well as peaceful villages. The Indians also denied all right of the colony of Virginia to rule over them, and some of the most warlike tribes of that race were known to occupy, with claim of exclusive right, the largest part of the country.

During the revolutionary war General George Rogers Clarke, acting under a commission from the State of Virginia, fitted out a warlike expedition, and starting from the falls of the Ohio, now called Louisville, made his appearance suddenly before the military post of Kastaskia, then held by the British, and captured it and several other posts, and in the course of one of the most romantic campaigns which the history of that region down to this day affords, effectually settled the right of Virginia to supremacy in that quarter.

General Clarke was not very vigorously supported by Virginia in this enterprise. It occurred during the war of the Revolution, and that Commonwealth, as she then called herself, was engaged in more pressing affairs. It seems, however, that the State had in New Orleans an agent on whom Clarke drew several drafts for funds to aid him in the matter, most of which were paid. In the year 1778 he drew one of these drafts in favor of Francis Vigo for $8,616, which was not paid for want of funds. This draft was given for supplies furnished to Clarke's regiment, and has never yet been paid. It does not appear that the State of Virginia ever denied the justice of this debt; but by the finding of the Court of Claims, from which this record comes to us on appeal, it does not appear that an officer of that State, called commissioner of Revolutionary Claims, examined into this one in the year 1835, and adjusted it, including interest, at $32,654.82.

In the course of the negotiation for the relinquishment of title by the State to their outlying territories, one of the resolutions passed by the Continental Congress on Oct. 16, 1780 (6 Journal of Congress, 235), was that when so ceded, "the necessary and reasonable expenses which any particular State shall have incurred since the commencement of the present war, in subduing any British post, or in maintaining forts or garrison within and for the defense, or in acquiring any part of the territory that may be ceded or is relinquished to the United States, shall be reimbursed"

The debt represented by this draft comes directly within the language of this resolution, which was repeated by the Virginia Legislature in the act of cession. The court find no difficulty in coming to the conclusion that the claim is a just one, and that, under the act of Congress providing for its reference to the Court of Claims, it ought to be paid. The only point of doubt was as to the allowance of interest; but as this is a like claim to money on which interest has been allowed, and as the act of 1872 authorized it to be adjusted upon the basis adopted in other like claims, interest is allowed.

Dissenting as to the interest, Justices Clifford and Hunt.
