INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Only four out of the thirteen blast furnaces in the Columbia, Pa., region are in blast.

A company has been organized in Cleveland, on a basis of $25,000 capital, for the manufacture of scales.

The cabinet manufacturing firms in Reading, Pa., make about $150,000 worth of household furniture annually.

The workshops of the Northern Central Railroad Company are to be removed from York, Pa., to Baltimore, Md.

The Woodsum & Tenny machine shops at Dayton, Ohio, have been sold at private sale to the Finch Grain Drill Company for $65,000.

Last Thursday seventy-five tons of rails were turned out at the old rail mill in Bethlehem, Pa., in nine hours and fifteen minutes.

A vein of coal, over four feet thick, has been found on the land of Wm. Bache, on East Hill, Morris township, near Delmarine Tioga county, Pa.

The Sprague Sash Weight Factory, at Youngstown, O., has a Colorado order for ten tons of their product, and other orders from several prominent points in the West.

The bolt works of Hotchkiss & Gaylord, Cleveland, have a daily capacity of from 25,000 to 30,000 finished bolts daily. It has been about determined to largely increase the capacity.

Twenty sales per day is the present product of the Hub Company, Cincinnati. It is the intention of the company to soon increase the number of the employes and the amount of the work.

All the employes in the machine shops of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, at Locust Point, Mount Clare, and all along the lines to Chicago, skilled and unskilled, were put to work on full time, or ten hours per day, on the 1st inst.

The Allentown, Pa., Iron Company now offer the puddlers $4 per ton, the old price, if they will resume work. There is a disposition on the part of the men, how ever, to demand a higher rate, as they claim that the price of iron has advanced. They struck against a reduction of the price to $3 80 per ton.

A few days since, the men working at the new eighteen-inch train of rolls in the Cleveland Rolling Mill, commenced work at the usual hour in the morning with four ordinary heating furnaces, and before night they had rolled the enormous quantity of 11,224 feet of steel rails, thirty-five pounds per yard—a feat of rolling rails never before accomplished by the same number of hands.

The Reading, Pa., Times says: A large deposit of iron ore has been discovered upon a tract of land in Albany Township, at the foot of Blue Mountain, belonging to the estate of George Merkle, deceased. A vein of excellent ore, six feet in thickness, has been uncovered, which it is supposse will be found to increase in thickness, upon further development. A number of laborers are engaged in opening the mine, and it is the intention of the owners to prosecute vigorous operations, if the present favorable indications are continued.

The Danville, Pa., American says: The difficulty or differences between the men and employers at the Pennsylvania Iron Works seems to have been amicably settled, and we hear the gratifying news that work will be resumed at an early day. The terms agreed upon grant to the men a regular scale of wages, based upon an average price paid at three other mills. This is just what the men asked, and it seems to be fair to both men and employers, and we are surprised that an earlier agreement was not effected.

—Pretty little baskets for holding needle-work are of white bleached willow, gracefully covered on the sides, lined with muslin and lace, and trimmed with ruches of colored ribbon.

THE LADIES

—Veils injure eye sight.

—Half-moon fans are new.

—Side-lace gaiters are again in favor

—Beeded lace fichus are handsome and fashionable.

—A good mother is worth a hundred schoolmasters.

—Female physicians are getting to be very numerous.

—The train is received again in all its glory for full dress.

—It is lucky to be married in a borrowed veil, they say.

—A Wyoming female lawyer goes into court with four children following her.

—Handsome crochet buttons are used on black silks when they are not trimmed with jet.

—Pull that coronet braid down in. stanter or Madam Fashion'll be after you with a sharp stick.

—The first spring suits to be donned will be those of de bege in plain colors of brown and gray shades.

—In meditating on the critical season a man asks "What shall I do?" A woman, "What shall I wear?"

—The tendency of spring goods is to represent soft Oriental stuffs that drape prettily and do not crash easily.

—The black silk sacques and mantles worn before cashmere wraps came in fashion, will, it is said, be revived for spring.

—Linens for summer suits will have stripes of blue or brown with the merest threads scarlet on the edge of the stripe.

—Pretty necklaces are formed by sewing Marguerites on a wide band of black velvet and wearing it close around the throat.

—In Paris this year it is the thing to use monogram cards instead of note-paper when it is only needed to write a brief note.

—Gingham borders or hems on handkerchiefs with collars, cuffs, and neckties trimmed to match, are the latest caprices for wearing with morning toilettes.

—The newest lace neckties are scarfs of Mechlin lace made with a band of insertion down the middle, with lace on each side and wideplaited lace on each end.

—Some of the prettiest berthas seen this season are those composed entirely of flowers—the flowers sewed on a foundation of net. They are very dressy and effective.

—If anything will start a young lady's "dander" it's to have her big brother take a letter for her from the postoffice and carry it about for a week before he thinks to give it to her.

IT LEADS TO HAPPINESS

ABoon to the Whole Race of Woman

DR. J. BRADFIELD'S

FEMALE REGULATOR!

It will bring on the Menses; relieve all pain at the monthly "Period;" cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia of Back and Uterus; Leuchorrhœa or "Whites," and partial Prolapsus Uteri; check excessive flow, and correct all irregularities peculiar to ladies.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder; relieve Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and chr ectulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can cure themselves in all the above diseases without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, GA., March 2d, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. W. L. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public

Yours respectfully, REV. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SUNDAY, APRIL 18, 1875.

MR. WOLFFE AND HIS BOND.

It seems to us that the enmity exhibited by the Advertiser towards Mr. F. Wolffe, county treasurer, is not exactly in keeping with the character of a reputable and high-toned journal. It may be possible that Mr. Wolffe's bond is not as good, so far as the securities are concerned, as the Advertiser would have it, but does that afford any proper pretext for abusing that gentleman? Now, we apprehend, that the Advertiser is not more interested in securing reliable officers and safe bonds, than the JOURNAL is, and we submit to our contemporary that whole columns of abuse and vituperation can secure neither good officers nor sufficient bonds. Mr. Wolffe has lived in this community many years, and has succeeded in establishing an enviable reputation as a business man and a gentleman of probity, and certainly his reputation is as well known to the editors of the Advertiser (at least to Mr. Screws) as to us. Mr. Wolffe has been in business here in connection with one of the soundest and wealthiest houses in the South This ought to be sufficient to shield him from such imputations as are heaped upon him by the Advertiser. It seems to us that a citizen of such long and reputable standing as Mr. Wolffe, ought to be entitled to more generous and liberal treatment at the hands of such a journal as the Advertiser. It is quite easy to destroy a man's reputation and his business; but it requires many years of unremitting labor to build up a substantial business reputation. The Advertiser can easily cast discredit upon such reputations; it can destroy easily a business which required long years to build up. But what possible gratification does the Advertiser hope for in thus blackening and destroying the reputation of a fellow man? Even if it were paid ten dollars for every word of its publication against Mr. F. Wolffe, does the Advertiser believe that a public sentiment which can be brought to indorse such a system of wholesale destruction of personal reputation and business character is the proper thing to be encouraged? It is painful to christian and god-fearing men to contemplate a sentiment which does not scruple to break down moral character, the business reputation of men, and tear the hearts of wives and children, by scandalous assaults upon those who have always been recognized as honest and reliable citizens. The time has been when such things would have been indignantly frowned down as monstrous departures from the landmarks of an enlightened and christian land.

Is there not too much loose scandal floating about among us, just now? Is it not too frequent that we assail men, and stigmatize their characters, because they happen to differ with us? And is it not charged by strangers that we have no respect for private character, and that we are only too willing to get the opportunity to indulge in abuse and slander, of our fellow-men? But to return to Mr. Wolffe: We know nothing of the sufficiency of his bond, neither do we know the cause of his leaving the city. He is the senior member of a reputable banking house in the city, and we are informed is doing a large amount of business, involving thousands of dollars. That such a man should have business abroad is nothing at all strange. And we are assured that Mr. Wolffe was called away by business of an important character without any preconcerted action or knowledge on his part. If he had left the city to avoid attending the Board of Revenue, we should not hesitate to endorse the conduct of the Advertiser towards him, so far as condemning the act itself. But to assail his character is not just in our contemporary, and we hope for the sake of honorable journalism, the Advertiser will repudiate in its editorial columns the unjust, unfair and ungenerous assault upon Mr. Wolffe, which we feel assured was written and published without the knowledge or consent of Mr. W. W. Screws. The latter gentleman we believe to be incapable of desiring or attempting to wound the feelings or injure the reputation of any gentleman—and especially one who has lived so long in this community and enjoyed so many years the confidence of business men, as has Mr. F. Wolffe.

WE learn that for some time before the assembling of the last Democratic convention it was very uncertain whether or not Judge Brickell would be a candidate before that convention. He kept saying he would and he wouldn't, according to the "influences." So things went on until old "Bunker Hill" arrived. He decided the matter "like a flash." This veteran hero of unfought battles, gathering the poor, trembling, miserable judge in his arms (figuratively speaking) rushed before the convention on the very first occasion, and cried aloud in his clear, stentorian accents, "here's your Chief Justice, the Hon. Robert C. Brickell, of Madison," and then it was "all the assembled wisdom of the State"—the cautious Bethea and the enthusiastic Watts—answered back "amen!" Even the bold, chivalrous and talented Tyler, smothered his indignation "for the nonce," and opened not his lips. Now they all want to say that old "Bunker Hill" imposed Governor Lewis' 'choice upon the Democratic party! Gentlemen, that will not do.

THE GOOD TIME COMING.

It seems to be generally accepted that the signs of the times in the money markets are confirmatory of the theory that the country is verging towards a steady and prosperous business era. The New York Evening Mail remarks that the feeling in Wall street is doubtless somewhat in anticipation of "the good time coming," and is not always controlled by good judgment, but it indicates unmistakably the general conviction of our shrewdest judges of the signs of the times, that the tide has at length begun to turn, that money is seeking investments, and that confidence is coming back, we pope "to stay." That is the general aspect of "the street," as any one can find out who is in doubt of the situation. For the first time since the panic money is pouring into Wall street in large quantities from investors outside of the city, who are exchanging government bonds for securities that have the "promise and potency" of development in their value. In other words, the stones that have been wearing out each other on meagre grists are now working on a comparative abundance of real material, and the return to old time business encourages everybody, and makes it easy even to inflate stocks unduly or precipitately.

THE BLACK HILLS.

The excitement concerning the mineral discoveries in the Black Hills country is daily increasing, and from indications the entire region will be overrun by gold hunters long before the spring fairly opens. If the richness of the country is fully established, it will be a difficult matter for the United States troops to dislodge these fortune seekers. Under existing circumstances the course of the interior department in endeavoring to make an amicable arrangement with the Indians, on whose rights the white men are encroaching, will meet with the approval, not only of the trespassers, but as well of the people who are interested in seeing the integrity of the government treaties preserved.

THE Huntsville Reporter prints a letter from Mr. Joshua Earnest, of Truman's Creek, Sullivan county, Indiana, on the subject of Immigration to the South, in which he observes:

I think that if proper efforts are made, the tide of immigration can be turned South. I regard the States of Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, etc., as more desirable to emigrate to than either Texas or Kansas.

Alabama is one of the best farming States in the Union. In all that constitutes a great State Alabama is richly endowed. But when men break up their homes to seek new ones they desire to find quiet and peace. They seek communities where life, liberty and free thought and free speech are tolerated. Here in Alabama we have had so much heated political discussion, so many bitter campaigns, since the war that we have lost at least one hundred thousand immigrants. Knowing this fact, and the further fact that so long as we are unsettled in our political affairs, that we are not going to sell our lands, we have before us another political struggle. The people are again to be drawn into a heated—perhaps bitter—struggle at the polls. And even when this is over, how long will it be before the same men who force this one, will be clamoring for another? Will they not demand a new election for State and county officers, if they make a new constitution?

THE whole Conservative press of the State have buckled on their armor for the fight to obtain good men for the convention to meet in August next.—Advertiser yesterday.

Our neighbor seems to be positive that the people will vote in favor of the proposed constitutional convention. We are not so sanguine ourselves, but if the people are persuaded to have the convention, we shall rejoice if none but good men are elected. But we suggest that the people be careful not to select any politicians, or chronic office seekers, to represent them. Send as many business men—merchants, farmers and mechanics as will consent to serve. They are the men to make us a constitution that will secure to all men, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

WE all recollect when the news of the fall of Fort Sumter reached this city, how Gen. L. P. Walker, one of the great "pollywogs," so-called, of North Alabama Democracy, stood on the balcony of the Exchange Hotel and gloriously hoisted (figuratively speaking), before the enthusiastic crowd, the Confederate flag on the top of Bunker Hill monument. That was the only kind of hoisting this terrible Confederate found it convenient to do during the war. Nevertheless he secured the soubriquet of "Bunker Hill Walker." Now a number of our good Democratic friends who confessed to have been rather badly "Brickelled," blame old "Bunker Hill" for it. Is that right?

GOV. TILDEN is playing a strong game for the next Presidential nomination. He is a hard-money man, which will increase his popularity among the Western Democrats.

THE Richmond Whig complains that the Democrats of that State have no leaders. It used to furnish enough for the whole nation, but now it has none for itself. It has, instead, a lot of political bell-wethers, who go gingling through the brush, and the rest of the flock follow after, as a matter of course.

THERE is likely to be a row in the ranks of the female suffragists of St. Louis, on the subject of Miss Susan B. Anthony's last lecture. About one-half of the best of the believers repudiate Susan's social theories as utterly foreign to the subject of suffrage, and they intend to make themselves heard in a public meeting, before long. It is undoubtedly a fact that such lectures as Susan's, and such advocates as Susan, have given a very positive check to the cause of late.

ANOTHER straw, going to show the steady recovery of the country from the depression following the panic of 1873, is the fact that at the spring book trade sales in New York, just concluded, the prices obtained on almost every invoice exceeded those ever attained at any previous sale. The book interest is always one of the first to feel the effects of financial disorder, and one of the last to recover from them.

SLOW-FOOTED little Delaware is making progress in the right direction, notwithstanding her Saulsbury's and her whipping posts. The Legislature of that State has just passed an act providing for a State Board of Education, and a State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Heretofore the only accessible report of the educational status of the State, was that contained in the annual report of the Commissioner of Education.

THE Hon. Alexander H. Stephens denies distinctly and emphatically that he "ever upheld, supported, or defended any act of usurpation by General Grant, or anybody else, either in low or high official position," and says his life has been devoted to the "maintenance of right against wrong—the rights of individuals as well as the rights of States—against all abuses of power which tend to oppression and tyranny."

Letter from General Earthquake

He Announces Himself as a Candidate for Governor.

BOURBON FLATS, CHILTON CO., ALA.
April 12, 1875.

Since the glorious flag of our downtrodden and oppressed country was brung low by the vandal horde, I have taken but little interest in politics, except to allow my name to be used for office at the usual elections. Owing to the high price of liquor, consequent upon the breaking up of our distilleries by Grant's minions, our patriotic and suffering people have become so distracted in mind and so unmindful of their own interests that my great personal claims for services rendered during the war as conscript officer and Confederate tax collector in kind, have been heretofore overlooked. But now that most of the old Confederate tax and conscript officers, and the largest half of the men who were troubled with rheumatism, etc., too bad to go into the army, have been taken care of by the party, I feel that the time has come when a man like me who always votes an open ticket and takes his whisky plain, will stand some showing. Actuated by a sense of patriotic duty and devotion to my State, I have reluctantly consented to allow my name to be used as a Democratic candidate for Governor under the new constitution to be made by the Democratic party this fall. I can only give you a few points in my record at present not desiring to commit myself in advance of the action of the committee on pedigree and biography in the convention. I will only say at present that I was born at Bourbon Flats in said State at an early age, of rich but respectable parents; being liberally educated at the age of 22, I could chew more tobacco, whip more niggers and hold more mean whisky than any man at the Flats; as a seven up player and slinger of the bowie knife and other infantile accomplishments and pastimes I was a success, and am now. From that time until the breaking out of the war I draw the vail of oblivion, adding only that about that time there was some trouble at the Flats about a nigger boy named Jim Henry who it was said had been stolen and run off to Tennessee and sold * * * When the war question loomed up in 61 I was a Union man and remained true to my convictions until appointed conscript officer when my patriotism carried me with my State. Since the war I have suffered many indignities at the hands of men whom my dogs kindly assisted out of the brush into the army; these men are now my worst enemies, voting against me in every election; such is the ingratitude of the human family. As a collector of taxes in kind I was a success, always promptly giving one-tenth to the government and keeping the rest for my services. I would scorn to do a mean act. Since the war I have always voted with the Democratic party, feeling convinced that this is the only patriotic organization that can prevent the dismemberment of the Union by Grant and the late Yankee soldiers. In every election since reconstruction I have opposed niggers voting, and as President of the Kuklax klan, and White League, have done more than any man in this section to keep the niggers from rising and to preserve Democracy in its purity and innocence. I will be called in the campaign the "Bald Eagle" of the Flats. But as I said before, the biography, etc., must be left to the committee. Having given this hurried sketch of my past services, I place myself in the hands of my fellow-citizens, with the confidence that my claims will be appreciated. If nominated I pledge myself to abide by the action of the convention.

Democratic papers will please copy and send bill to the Flats.

Yours in the cause,
JOHN RANDOLPH EARTHQUAKE,
of Bourbon Flats.

—People by whom you never wish to be cut dead—the doctors.

—May not the shouting of a street peddler be called his trade wind?

—Mrs. Blibkins says she is very glad chignons have gone out of fashion, "because now every top-not will have to stand upon its own bottom."

—"If women are ever allowed to vote, what do you suppose will be the fashion for voting dresses?" asked a fashionable Montgomery girl of her dressmaker the other day.

—A bereaved female, who has read every word of the testimony, and lost her faith in mankind, pensively observes, "It's a real comfort to be a widow now."

—Juries are placed at a disadvantage when locked up. They could come to an understanding and agree much quicker if allowed to go at large and converse with influential citizens who take interest in the cases to be considered.

—An exchange intelligently observes that "the American female has a great deal to make her what she is." She always appears to have a great deal to make her what she isn't.

—Thompson is not going to ask any more conundrums. He recently asked his wife the difference between his head and a hog's head, and she said there was none. He says that is not the right answer.

—Old Mrs. Smith left her patent churn open last Saturday to dismiss a book agent from the door. The cat that was taken out after an hour's churning was not as lively as when it jumped in.

—A Selma chap who, during courtship, sent his girl some poetry beginning, "Was it a gleam of golden hair?" was mortified after marriage to see her hang that "gleam" over the back of a chair.

—A woman suffrage meeting out West adjourned without transacting any business. Somebody let down a live rat through the skylight.

—A new social philosopher says the art of flirting is in its infancy. It will be a sad day when the thing is grown up.

—A crusty bachelor's objection to ladies with beautiful teeth is, that nine out of ten of them would laugh at a funeral.

"I always thought I should never rear that child," said an old lady of ninety, on hearing the death of her son aged seventy.

—To the point: "Quills are things that are sometimes taken from the pinions of one goose to spread the opinions of another."

—Take life easy, and don't always be trying to beat the sun up. You may win for awhile, but in the long run you are sure to be beaten, and some morning it will rise when you don't.

—"Now let us talk about your business affairs," said a sharp Montgomery girl to a young fellow after he had proposed marriage to her in a long address filled with expressions of passionate love.

—Of course, a woman doesn't want her plants to freeze, but still one can't blame a man for raising a row when he hops out of bed in the morning and finds a geranium plant in each trousers' leg.

The man who would Do any good,
Quickly should Advertise.
This, without doubt,
Is just about
The whole truth out.

—Mr. Beecher refers to journalism: "If there is a man on earth that ought to be a just man and a man of honor, it is a man that conducts a newspaper."

—Red, used on a railroad, signifies danger, and says stop. The same color displayed in a man's nose may well be interpreted to give a similar warning.

—The first step to be taken in advertising is precisely the same as in agriculture. Only in agriculture it is called "breaking the ground and sowing," and in business it is called "advertising and reaping the reward."

—A lady wants to know the meaning of "ante" and "pass." Her matrimonial partner uses them in his dreams, and she is afraid it indicates typhoid fever.

We are told that in some places where the wind was mild, a frost was seen yesterday morning. We noticed that a scientist declared that frosts would be seen in this latitude about the 18th to the 22d of April. Yesterday was very cold, and if the winds lull a killing frost may be looked for this morning.

SABBATH BELLS.

BY AGNES M. HURST.

Oh, Sabbath bells, sweet Sabbath bells,
So softly chiming on the air!
Your music to my spirit tells
Of praise and prayer.
It soothes sad, careworn, weary hearts,
And worldly thoughts repels
And Heaven-born peace and calm imparts—
Sweet Sabbath bells.

Oh, Sabbath bells of long ago,
Your echoes float through by gone years;
And memory's tides in torrents flow,
Bringing sad tears;
Tears for the friends of childhood's time,
Now sleeping in the dells—
But still I love your every chime,
Sweet Sabbath bells.

And now, as often as comes again
The blessed day of holy rest—
The day I loved and longed for then,
And still love best—
My soul shall bend my God before,
And whilst your cadence swells,
With humble heart Him I'll adore,
Sweet Sabbath bells.

THE Young Men's Christian Association of Alabama, will hold a State Convention in this city on next Thursday. A large representation from all parts of the State is expected.

THE high waters in the Coosa river have destroyed nearly half of the small grain which was planted in the bottom lands. The heavy rains have caused the destruction of a great deal of grain in the lowlands all over the state.

WE notice that in many of the smaller towns, the hogs are to be "ringed in the nose." It would be a good idea to padlock the mouths of some of the barroom politicians who are always endeavoring to stir up strife and discontent.

ALTHOUGH yesterday was a cold, cheerless, blustering day, a great many of the fair sex were on the streets. The spring styles of bonnets are just out, and the dear creatures must show them, you know, even if they freeze.

CORN is selling in Eutaw, at $1.12 cents per bushel, and yet the lands in that section will produce 30 to 40 bushels to the acre. But planters prefer to raise all cotton and no corn, when they would realize twice as much money on the same land if they even raised corn to sell. Is it any wonder that our planters are poor and always in debt?

THE grand jury of Shelby have found true bills against James Baxley and Jasper Cokey, whites, and McAfee, negro, charged with the Waxhatchie bridge disaster, on the Selma, Rome & Dalton railroad, last September. We hope the scoundrels will be punished to the fullest extent of the law. Nothing short of hanging can possibly atone for this most hellish offense.

THE Supreme Court of the United States has just decided that the term "capital employed," by a banker in his business, in the revenue act of 1868, does not include moneys borrowed by him from time to time, temporarily, in the ordinary course of his business, but applies only to the property or moneys of the banker set apart from other uses, permanently invested in the business.

THE train on the Mobile & Montgomery railroad did not arrive yesterday morning on account of a schooner getting locked into the draw of the railroad bridge at Tensas river. Col. Jordan went down on an extra train yesterday, and will have everything all right in a day or two, so that trains will run through. At present a steamboat ferries passengers across the river and they take the cars from Mobile.

IN a conversation with Mr. Goetter, of the firm of Lehman, Durr & Co., we learn that planters in this section never were in as good fix for making a large crop since the war. Men who formerly required thousands of dollars advanced to run them, now only require a few hundred dollars in meat, and the advances now being made to all the planters are in the same proportion. There has been a splendid corn crop made in this section. One more year with a good crop and our planters will be out of debt, and then we will all be happy.

IN this "Democratic and Conservative" State, no matter how meanly and dishonorably a man may act not a word must be said if only he belongs to the great party that promises to reform and redeem the people. Democracy covers a "multitude of sins." We have had a melancholy illustration of this fact recently in the case of the chief justice. It is well known that he has acted dishonorably in the matter of the clerkships, and that he has been indicted in this county as well as in Madison for one of his very judicial vices, and yet according to the virtuous Advertiser we must be as mute as mice. "It is best to leave it unsaid."

THE CONCERT.

A MUSICAL FEAST.

MONTGOMERY'S FAIR AMATEURS.

Standard Club hall was, on Friday evening, the scene of one of the most pleasant musical festivals that Montgomery has ever witnessed. This most pleasant event was the occasion of a complimentary testimonial to Miss Estelle Mayer, the handsome and accomplished young daughter of Prof. Mayer, who is so well-known to all the lovers of music in our city. The programme, which we gave to our readers yesterday morning, embraced selections from Bellini, Verdi, Gottschalk and other famous composers, and was happily arranged so that there were no tiresome intermissions in the performances. The entertainment opened with an overture from "Zampa" by "Herold" by Mr. Leonce Joseph, one of the most accomplished performers on the violin we have ever heard, assisted by Professor Mayer, basso, and Mr. Hille with the piano accompaniment. Mr. Joseph performs with an easy and graceful motion on his splendid violin, and his delicate touches were charming to the ear. He has certainly mastered the art of violin music, and plays in the most difficult parts with perfect ease.

The "Bass Solo" of Professor Holbrook, in which he sang that beautiful piece, "Man the Life-boat," was one of the most pleasing and successfully performed of the programme.

Miss Mayer's piano solo, "Fantasie sur Martha," from Voss, was a beautiful rendition of a difficult selection, and she received a happy recognition in the rounds of applause and showers of boquets which greeted her. Miss Mayer is yet quite young, has a beautiful face, pleasing manner and graceful carriage which well befit her to appear before audiences. She is already far advanced in music and when her education is completed she will no doubt soon make a name in the musical world.

The soprano solo—Ah! me bell—Aria—from "Norma" by Miss McLemore was a beautiful selection, and Miss McLemore's sweet, well trained voice added a force of power to the solo, which found response in the hearty applause which greeted her—but she did not respond to the evident desire of the audience to repeat the selection.

Mr. Charles Kreutner performed a beautiful cornet solo from Ernani—the "Adagio"—and with the accompaniment of the piano, made it quite touching.

The duett on the "Zithers" by Miss Mayer and Mr. Cramer was happily rendered. This instrument makes very soft music, almost as soft and sweet as the Aeolian harp. It is rather a difficult instrument to perform on, but Miss. M., and Mr. Cramer seem to have mastered it quite thoroughly.

The happiest feature of the programme, however, was the song of the "Nightingale of Montgomery, Mrs. G. L. Werth. Her appearance upon the stage was the signal for an outburst of enthusiasm to which she responded by singing "Beware," a soprano solo. Mrs. Werth's voice is as sweet and soft as the Nightingale indeed, and she sang with so much spirit and feeling that her hearers were eager to catch every lisp. Mrs. Werth has cultivated her voice, and has it under perfect control, so that she can sing the most difficult pieces in every grade of tone without the slightest jar. She was applauded with perfect rapture, and the delighted audience strove hard to bring her back, but she would not interrupt the programme.

Mr. Buschler sang a "baritone solo"—"Only to Love" in a touching manner, and after one or two other selections by others the entertainment was brought to a close with the singing of a quartette by Mrs. Werth, Miss Jackson, and Messrs. Conden and Holbrook.

TOINETTE.

A TALE OF TRANSITION.

BY HENRY CHURTON.

We have received from the extensive and popular publishing house of J. B. Ford & Co., of New York, through that well known bookseller and stationer, Joel White, the above interesting work, by Mr. Henry Churton. We have not had time to examine the book critically, but from a hasty perusal of its pages, we are convinced that it is one of the best books that Messrs. J. B. Ford & Co., have published for some time. The author says: "In these pages I have not sought to arraign or defend, condemn or excuse, any system or dogma, but merely to put in concrete form, some of the unsolved riddles which Time, the inexhaustible mocker, the insoluble Sphinx, is ever propounding to humanity." We commend the book to such readers as are interested in the subjects set forth. Mr. White sells this work.

IMMIGRATION.

Official Notice to Members of the Board.

Whereas a meeting was called at the city of Montgomery on the 5th day, of March, 1875, but owing to the inclemency of the weather and the unsafety of traveling, no quorum was present. I therefore renew said call to meet in the city of Mobile, Ala., on the 27th day of April, and respectfully request that all members of the Board attend promptly.

C. F. SILVERS,
Commissioner of Immigration.
Montgomery, April 13, 1875.

THEATRE.

THE BREMOND COMBINATION.

The audience at the theatre last night was not large enough to encourage an artiste very much, but the performances of the Bremond Combination were exceedingly interesting and entertaining. The gymnastic performances of "Young Apollo"—a mere child, only three years old—on the trapeze, were as good as the best performers of mature years. The singing and dancing of "Baby M. Donald," only five years of age, one of the most accomplished performers, on the Protean style. The beautiful transformation dance of Miss Cerito was a chief feature of the performance. This is one of the most talented troupes traveling in the South, and their performances are all chaste and refined. It is a poor compliment to such a troupe—their reception last night.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The amount of National bank notes received at the treasury department to-day for redemption, aggregated $792,209. The receipts for the week were $2,560,245. The treasury now holds $379,881,399 in United States bonds to secure national bank circulation, and $16,270,200 to secure public deposits. The National bank circulation outstanding is $349,684,441, of which $2,439,090 is gold notes. Customs receipts to-day were $510,947.59. Internal revenue receipts from this source to-day were $246,759.75. Total receipts for the month to date $3,703,873.93.

Weather Report.

For the South Atlantic, Eastern Gulf States and Tennessee, clear weather, low temperature, except in the lower Mississippi valley, with northerly to westerly winds and rising barometer, east of the Mississippi, and easterly to southerly winds, and falling barometer in the lower Mississippi valley.

FROM ILLINOIS.

MOLINE, April 17.—Last evening a young lady named Davis, returning from a party, was met by one Charles Wood, a rejected suitor, who shot her in the head. The ball lodged in the muscles of the neck. It is thought she will survive. Wood attempted to escape, but being closely pursued, shot and instantly killed himself. Miss Davis was attending school here.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 17.—A light fall of snow took place to-day. The weather is now clear and quite cold.

Five ocean steamers sailed for Europe to-day, taking a total of nearly five hundred saloon passengers, indicating that the summer exodus for Europe has commenced.

Among the passengers were quite a number of clergymen, and it is probable more clergymen of all denominations will visit Europe this season than ever before, as several conferences take place throughout the continent, and the disturbed state of clerical matters generally, will attract many not directly interested.

An awful tragedy took place at Coffeeville, Connecticut, last night. A Swede, Aaron Lindberg, while crazed with liquor, entered the room of Andre Johnson, a Dane, who lay sick on a bed. He brandished a large Spanish knife in a threatening manner before him, and finally severely stabbed Johnson twice. The wounds will probably prove fatal. John Feiter, a German, oncoming in was stabbed in a horrible manner, four times, and immediately died. The wife of Pelteralso came in and received a fearful cut in the hip. The murderer then thrust the knife into his own body and also cut his own throat and fell dead on the floor.

DANIEL Hayden, the mail robber, attempted to escape from prison last night, but was secured before getting away.

FROM CANADA.

TORONTO, April 17.—Hon. Edward Welsh of London arrived at Kingston to take part in the consecration of Dr. O'Bryan, bishop elect of Kingston.

A dispatch from Ottawa, says the government of Newfoundland intends constructing a railway across that island.

Seventy-two lives have been lost in the Canadian Pacific railway survey.

Henry Fitzsimmons who was arrested in St. Thomas a short time ago in Minnesota, charged with the murder of an Indian in 1872, was tried here yesterday and found guilty of manslaughter.

FROM NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, April 17.—At 10 o'clock last night the condition of affairs at the washout on the Union Pacific Railroad was unchanged. The volume of water from the snow in the mountains has been on the increase all day. Other serious washouts further west in Utah were also reported last night, but not so bad but what they can be made passable by noon to-day.

The wash-outs on the U. P. Railroad remain about the same as reported last night, the water rising if anything. Owing to an interruption in the working of the telegraph wires, no accurate information can be obtained as to the exact situation, but there is no doubt but there is a large number of breaks in the track through western Wyoming and Utah. This city is filling up with emigrants and passengers, and there are several thousand passengers quartered at comfortable places on each side of the breaks.

FROM MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON, April 17.—President Grant and party dined at the Parker House these p. m., as the guests of the Commercial club. Hon. A. H. Rice presided. The President left here to-night by a special train for Concord where he will pass the Sabbath at the residence of the Hon. E. Rockwood Hoar. The preparations for the Centennial celebration have been completed.

FROM LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, April 17.—The legislature is fully reorganized, and all the details of the Wheeler adjustment are being carried out. Senator Conner was unseated, and Goode seated in his stead. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

AN EX-CONFEDERATE COLONEL REVIEWS UNITED STATES TROOPS AT NASHVILLE.

[From the Nashville Banner, 12th.]

The unusual attraction of a grand review at the Barracks Sunday afternoon, drew hither an immense concourse of people. It was announced in Sunday's Banner that Governor Porter was to review the troops stationed at Ash Barracks, and it was thought that the fact would have brought out numbers of persons, but no one had an idea that such a vast assemblages would have been in attendance. As early as 12 o'clock persons began to arrive in vehicles and on foot, and by the time the hour for parade (3 o'clock) had arrived, it was difficult to obtain a seeing position under any circumstances. Scores of persons had climbed upon the roofs of the Barracks, hundreds were ranged in long rows around about, while others were in vehicles, drawn up to convenient positions, but the great majority were standing so as to form a huge square, within which area the troops were to pass upon the grounds. As the hands upon the neighboring tower clock reached the hour appointed, the strains of music from the magnificent brass band fell upon the ear of the people, and told them that the review was about to begin. Presently the troops, in their brilliant uniforms, entered the inclosure, the band playing "Hail to the Chief." Then followed General Pennybacker and staff and Governor Porter and staff. At this juncture the assembled body of people seemed stirred with an intense enthusiasm The band gave the military salute to the Governor, and the maneuvers began. The troops showed great efficiency in their evolutions, and greatly delighted the spectators, who seemed loth to leave the grand pageant, or to step out of the hearing of a band of music which wrought so magic a spell upon them.

It was without a magnificent scene—such a one that has never before occurred in the history of the State. Here were the blue and the grey intermingled sure enough Here were Governor Porter, a Colonel, and serving with distinction in the Confederate army, a member of General Frank Cheatham's staff, and the Governor's staff, who did gallant service while the Confederacy yet remained a belligerent power, reviewing with General Pennybacker, a most gallant, courageous and noble soldier, and his staff, composed of heroic, valiant men, the brave boys in blue. No one that saw this magnificent demonstration could go away with any other belief than that there was now to thought of the conflict waged fourteen years ago. It was a fraternization that closed the gulf, opened wide by internecine war, and brought with it sweet peace, concord, eternal friendship and brotherhood. And so the great multitude of people felt and expressed themselves. They were so greatly enthused with the spectacle that it would only have needed a signal to have sent up deafening and prolonged shouts of applause.

After the review was over, General Pennybacker threw open the doors of his head quarters and hospitably entertained his guests in a manner that could not be excelled.

During the stay of there troops in Nashville, which has been since the war, they have conducted themselves in such a manner that the prejudices engendered by the war has been entirely dispelled; and both officers and men stand in high esteem among those that know them.

General Pennybacker and staff, ever polite and courteous, have won for themselves a host of warm personal friends.

THE Supreme Court of Wisconsin gives us a new idea of bribery. It has just decided that "a promise of a candidate to the voters at large to perform the duties of the office to which he aspires for less than the salary fixed by law, amounts to bribery, and all votes obtained thereby must be rejected.

TEN YEARS' WORK.

[From the Brooklyn Union.]

The tenth anniversary of the peace declared at Appomattox Court House, on the 9th of April, 1865, has called out from a certain class of the press, characteristic references to the affairs of the country in the decade since the close of the rebellion. These diatribes should be read in connection with the ominous prophecies of these same journals of what must follow the defeat of the South in the field. We were to have guerrilla strife everywhere; Southern mothers were sweaning these young Hannibals at the altar to undying war on the North. A generation was to be worn out in hate and bloodshed. Our returned troops were to be the pest of our communities, a drunken, violent, disbanded soldiery. All these, with every dismal change that could be rung on the themes. The record of the past ten years cannot yet be written, as it is to stand in permanent history; but who cannot see that all the above prophetic utterances have been defeated?

It is easy to find fault, to declare what might have been done, but it is still harder for certain editors to state correctly and honestly what has been done for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of the South. It has taken time to bring together the ragged edges left by the great revolt, but time is a great healer. We are certainly nearer a perfect restoration, have more completely buried out of sight the evils of the war, than some even of the most sanguine friends of the Union believed could be possible. We enter on a new decade with abundant reason for hopefulness, not for a party alone, but for the nation, and the hope cannot be defeated, though Northern editors, for party ends, keep groping among the ashes of a dead revolt to blow life into its embers.

DR. J. BRADFIELD'S

FEMALE REGULATOR!

It will bring on the Menses; relieve all pain at the monthly "Period;" cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia of Back and Uterus; Leuchorrhœa or "Whites," and partial Prolapsus Uteri; check excessive flow, and correct all irregularities peculiar to ladies.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder; relieve Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can cure themselves in all the above diseases without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, GA., March 2d, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle. That their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public

Yours respectfully, Rev. R. B. JOHNSON.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

PLEASE EXCUSE US.

Really the Advertiser must excuse us, as we do not conceive any possible benefit or recreation in discussing the laws pertaining to the general functions of constitutional conventions. We cannot impress upon our contemporary the fact that we do not question the positions laid down by Mr. Jamison, in his work upon constitutional conventions. The point we aim at doesn't find any sort of recognition or reference in any of the law books now in use in this country. It is a question of fact, supported by the history, and records of the State of Alabama; and we presume that the Advertiser will find it rather tiresome and laborious, should it undertake to find in its library any work which treats of the subject embraced in the scope of the point we make, relative to this proposed constitutional convention.

For the information of our contemporary we again state our position: That should the proposed constitutional convention be carried under the leadership of Gen. Morgan and the other leaders of secession, they will pay no attention—that is, they will not regard the restrictions of the Legislative act relative to the subjects to be considered and acted upon by the said convention.

Do you comprehend the point? And to strengthen us in our judgment and position, we called your particular attention to the fatal secession convention and its acts. That convention was called for one specific and stated purpose—to consider the question of secession, and nothing else. Instead of confining itself to the purpose which gave it life, it enacted laws and had them enforced; it absolutely usurped the functions of the General Assembly and defied every principle of law or constitutional restriction. Indeed it went so far as to make a new constitution, when the people had not been consulted at all upon the subject. And the same men who thus deceived the people are the most prominent in forcing the proposed convention at this time. They are not the proper persons to establish peace and good order in the State. It is their purpose to keep up dissension and strife so that they may keep in the front. Peace is not what they want. If the people were allowed time for their prejudices to cool off, those men who plunged our once happy and prosperous State into war and ruin, would be forever sent into retirement. The Advertiser knows this, and we are surprised to see it advocating their claims.

"THOSE INFLUENCES."

The virtuous Advertiser did publish Judge Keyes' card but without a word of comment. It also printed Mr. Booth's card (as an advertisement) and then deprecated its publication. It would have been best, so it thought, to have left unsaid all that Mr. Booth (and Judge Keyes too, no doubt), had said about the beautiful chief! We have taken the pains to look through all our Democratic exchanges in the State, and not a solitary one do we find that has uttered a word in condemnation of these disgraceful acts. If ex-Chief Justice Peters or Judge Saffold, or Judge Peck had been guilty of such conduct, or had been guilty of such immoralities (we needn't mention them), how the Advertiser and all its saintly confreres would have made the very welkin ring until our ears were deaf with the mighty uproar. Oh! "the influences."

After the constitution recommended and proposed by that convention was defeated, and voted down by the people of Alabama were the men who procured Congress to force that constitution on the people of Alabama, influenced by "hate and prejudice, and for purposes of revenge and resentment" or not? Or was it only the offices they wanted after the people had defeated them for these offices at that same election?—Advertiser, 18*th*.

In reply to these questions of the Advertiser we remark that Alabama as a State, could not exist without a constitution. The people refused to make one, therefore, the general government had to do the work. The State could neither exist without a Governor and other executive officers, and a legislature. Somebody had to fill these offices. The white people as a mass refused to nominate, to vote for or elect men to fill the offices. The new voters did that work.

It was very silly in the old citizens of Alabama to allow the defeated leaders of secession to drag them into such a policy It is their fault alone, and they should blame none but themselves. They sat down and folded their hands while others did that which it was their duty to do.

We are told that last summer, when Col. Tyler's terrible lash gave one of its keen, startling cracks like close to Justice Brickell's head, the poor Judge was so frightened he rose up hurriedly and ran away from the Democratic ticket. Then it was, the thoughtful head of the Executive Committee took a solemn journey all the way up to Huntsville, and by happy "influences" quieted the distracted nerves of the unhappy patient, and bolstered the coming Chief back on his ticket again. If old "Bunker Hill" did impose Gov. Lewis' on the Democratic party, Mr. Bragg held him there. And now the Chief has laid down his honor (?) to let Mr. Bragg's young friend and office clerk step on it and up into the clerkship.

GETTING TIRED OF IT.

We observe that some of the newspapers of this State are getting tired of using the word "Conservative," in referring to the Democratic and Conservative party. In commenting upon the address of Capt. Bragg, which recently appeared in the Advertiser, we are surprised to find that many of the papers which have heretofore been scrupulously particular in calling themselves Democratic and Conservative and referring to their party as the Democratic and Conservative party, now call it plain Democratic. They refer to this address as: "the address of the Democratic committee," "address to the Democrats," etc. The Mobile Tribune, of Friday, speaks thus:

> The State Executive Committee of the Democratic party has issed an address to the people of Alabama, in behalf of the convention to amend, or remake, the State constitution. The committee adds to its title the word Conservative. That is a misnomer. "Conservative" means to conserve—not change, or destroy. The convention is called for the purpose of changing, not conserving. There are certain evils afflicting our people. We want to remove, and not conserve, them. So, it were better to drop the "conservative," and have nothing to do with it "in this connexion," or any other that doesn't go back to the time when the sheet-anchor of our national security was called "state rights." If the word can by any process be made to mean the conservation of the good of the past, we shall take pleasure in using it. Is there no man full enough of the dead languages to suggest to us a better etymon? Put "Whig" in place of Conservative. That will please a great many good people, who can't put off the habiliments of the past, and who think that Henry Clay was the most perfect of all the works of the Creator. We wish he were here "in the flesh." The world lost something of value when his long, lank form and capacious mouth were put under the sod of Kentucky.

Of course the "Conservative" people of Alabama have been used to pull the chestnuts out of the fire, and they are no longer regarded as of any importance. Their respect for the memory of the great and good Henry Clay is even criticised in terms of disrespect. The present complexion of our State government has emboldened the extremists to speak their real feelings, and hoist their true colors. These extremists are in the lead now certainly; they have hold of the reins, and their papers serve as lashes to whip into their revolutionary schemes these same Conservatives whom they have heretofore courted with so much assiduity and "innocent"(?) affection. These Conservatives are to be whipped into all the schemes for stirring up strife and badgering the Federal government. If they dare to be stubborn, or show any disposition to kick out of the traces, they are to be assailed as "Radicals"; their families are to be ostracised; their business as merchants, etc., will be destroyed, and they are to be hunted down as criminals. This is the programme, you old men who once were called Whigs and voted Whig tickets, and tried to prevent the war, which ruined us all. This, we say, is the programme—this is the feast that awaits you, if you are refractory hereafter. You have been quite obedient in the past, and did the work assigned you with more than ordinary promptitude, to no nothing of success. You have helped to write the lie upon all your convictions and professions in the days of Clay and Webster. But still you have not done enough; your so-called masters require still more of you. Their work must be done and they have decreed that you shall do it. But when it is finished you will be told that the honors belong alone to them—only the contemplation belongs to you. You can look at them sitting in the high places and enjoying themselves—as Moses viewed the Promised Land, but it will be a feast at which only the faithful can take part. Well, the Tribune shows its hand so plainly that none but the blind can fail to see. It is about as plain in its expression of feeling as anything we remember ever to have heard or seen. It comes to the point at once without mincing words about it. Whether or not the Advertiser will play the role of lecturer, for the Tribune's plainness, we cannot tell at this writing. They have been concealing their real sentiments so long that it may be possible they think the "Conservatives" (the old Whigs) can still be led about by the nose. We shall see what we shall see, if we live long enough to see it, at any rate.

THE PENNSYLVANIA STRIKERS.

The position of affairs in Pennsylvania, as it relates to the executive and the miners, is a strange one upon any other theory than that of a patient expediency which, if the worst comes to the worst, will justify the extreme measures. Gov. Hartranft waited a long time before he sent troops into the coal regions, in fact until life and property were notoriously unsafe. But when he had done so, he was urged by apparently good citizens to withdraw them because they would do more hurt than good. There has been no collision between the militia and the miners, but there is going on a negotiation between the Unions and the Governor. If, say the directors of the mines, the militia is removed, the miners will go to work on certain conditions. Not stopping to inquire whether any such contract could or would be carried out, the first thing to be said is, that inasmuch as the troops were not sent to the coal fields until they were imperatively called for, so they ought not to be sent away until the raiders had given up their arms and returned to their several homes. It is idle to deny the delicacy and danger of the situation; but nothing is more dangerous, either in the present or as a precedent, than parleying with armed rioters. The first command is, "Obey the law." It is hardly consistent with the dignity of the Governor of a State to be negotiating with the men who are defying not only the law but the military of the State.

The Advertiser politely asks us to give it certain information respecting the present constitution of Alabama, and the manner of its adoption. We cheerfully comply. When the present constitution was submitted to the people of Alabama, they were in a state of great excitement, and prejudice and ill feeling ran so high that they did not stop to consider that the State was in a state of quasi anarchy and ought to have a constitution, but following the lead of certain angry and disappointed politicians they defeated the constitution. They refused to take any part, even, in the election of delegates to the convention, but folded their hands (in dignified submission) and permitted strangers to take hold of their own affairs. Thus far, as the Advertiser will observe, the people refused to exercise their rights as free men, but sat idly down and saw strangers do that which they ought to have done themselves. The State had no organic law in consonance with the changed order of things. Without a constitution the State was a mere body without a head. The State could not exist without a constitution, and as the people—the real people we mean—wouldn't act in the premises; as they refused to elect delegates, out of spite, it became an absolute necessity for some power to act, and therefore, the general government being responsible at that time for the well being of all the Southern States, was forced to take the matter in hand and Congress put the present constitution into operation. Alabama was in a State of chaos without any constitution. The case thus presented, at that time, fully covers the following paragraph from Jamison, on constitutional conventions, which the Advertiser itself quotes to us:

> "Considering the ignorance still prevalent even among educated men respecting the theory of conventions, it is not strange that it should be thought competent for them to do what history shows the conventions of the revolutionary period certainly did.

If we were not in a state of semi-revolution, at that time, we would be glad to have our neighbor explain what the condition was, and what it now thinks of the conduct of the people in permitting strangers to make a constitution when they had the opportunity themselves of making it.

The Advertiser misunderstands us. We did not refer to conventions in the Northern States in that offensive sense which the Advertiser seems to imagine. In the Northern States men differ in their political opinions, and at elections urge the claims of their party candidates with as much earnestness as elsewhere. But they do not ostracise each other; nor do they brand each other as social outcasts. They do not try to destroy the business of those who do not believe as they do. Here in Alabama if a man even desires to reason with the leaders of the dominant party, he is ruthlessly assailed, his business is broken up, and his family subjected to all sorts of indignities. Such is not the case in Illinois. We trust the Advertiser will see the necessity of respecting the opinions of its opponents before it builds up such a sentiment of proscription as will sooner or later breed disorder throughout the State.

"RIENZI."

A War Reminiscence.

[From the Richmond Enquirer.]

Then there is such a place, or was? Well, we would not have believed it, but for this press dispatch. Once upon a time—in 1862—we left Corinth, not in a hurry, nor of our own free will and accord, but because of certain intimations from Gen. Beauregard of the one part and Gen. Pope of the other, that the place was rather unhealthy—the atmosphere being "full of assassination," and the wells all dried up. Passing out by way of College Hill, we beheld a finger-board on which was painted, in letters of black, the startling word "Rienzi!" Not Rienzi, the last of the "Barons," for we ourselves were the last of "them 'uns," but the pretty litte village of Rienzi, in the State of Mississippi. It was to be the rendezvous of the retreating army; this we knew in advance; so we jogged along, and at every cross-road or fork, still we saw the word Rienzi, and the motionless finger-board pointing us forward; and on we went—the whole army wending its weary way, looking out sharply for Pope's hindquarters in the rear. Day and night we marched into the bowels of Mississippi without impediment, or water—hungry, weary, thirsty, sleepy and footsore—only cheered by the frequent appearance of that board with the dexter finger pointing to the front, and the reassuring word, "Rienzi." It was our pillar of fire and column of cloud. Alabama, though lying in that direction, no longer meant "the land of rest" to us, for our haven and our hope was "Rienzi." But Rienzi never came. A dozen deserted villages, "sweet Auburns of the plain," were passed by, but none of them were Rienzi; and though we still marched on, yet from that day to this we have not seen "Rienzi;" and we had long since reached the fixed and unalterable belief that "there never was no sich place," when the news of its partial destruction comes to convince us, though late, that Rienzi fait But let us solve the enigma. "Rienzi" was a ruse de guerre practiced by Beauregard to mislead Pope; and all the time we were going from instead of to that important strategic city. Anyhow we lost Pope, and he lost us; and as we never saw him again, the probabilities are that he is still on the road to Rienzi, looking for the rear guard of the gallant little army which suddenly disappeared from his front, passing off like the shadows of the dawn "on that bright May morning long ago."

HOW TO EDIT A PAPER.

The Philadelphia Press, the other day, gave expression to some very pertinent ideas regarding the too prevalent theory of editing a newspaper to please the few at the expense of the many. Our best newspapers are those which are the most cosmopolitan; that make it a practice of publishing all the news they can get, exercising discrimination as to relative value; that work as far away from a single, contracting idea as possible. No paper representing simply a clique, or an ism, or an ology, can ever hope to prosper.

It is better, too, that it should not have too much opinion, save as it may be generally public opinion. No man is so wise that he may with propriety set himself up as an oracle to direct how the public shall think or act. The best editorials are those which embody the most information and the least opinion, because people who read newspapers with any degree of interest now-a-days are largely in the habit of doing their own thinking. They want the news—all of it—in the most direct and comprehensive form, and on the average they can define its meaning about as well as the editor. If we could rely upon the representations made by those persons who send us articles for the purpose of ventitlating their peculiar ideas, we could make the JOURNAL the most popular paper in the country, by simply printing two or three columns of their stuff every day. We lose their support because we do not do it, but gain hundreds in their place.

He trotted, when a four year old, the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:50. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" (Dandy Jim), g g sire Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. THERE was no meeting of the city council last night.

AT a meeting of the citizens of Ward No. 2, held on the 19th of April, Henry M. Bush and Jacob Myer were nominated for aldermen.

THE services at the Jewish Temple today will be very interesting. Rev. Dr. Jacobs will deliver a sermon at 11 o'clock, from the 23d chapter of 2d Kings.

PERSONAL.—Capt. Henry Cochran, the clever and popular postmaster at Selma, was in the city day before yesterday, and called to "crack" a few jokes with the reporters of this paper. He was as full of smiles as ever. Capt. Cochran, like Col. P. D. Barker, collector of revenue, is a model officer.

Dr. Moseley, of the Talladega Home, was in the city on Saturday, and bid us good bye Sunday morning.

Mr. L. A. Wilson, of the Selma Republican, called yesterday at our sanctum. He is on the tramp looking up delinquent subscribers. His success thus far amounts to 0.

FROM those of our citizens who were up early on Sunday morning we learn that there was a heavy frost in this vicinity. Some of our planters say the crops were seriously injured, and replanting will have to be done. This is unfortunate, as the rains continued so long that planting was later than usual, and as planters have only such stock as is actually necessary to do their work it will necessitate the leaving out some of the crop, or it may be cultivated poorly, and yield a small return. Our people should cease planting so largely, and by putting in a smaller crop, they can work it better, at less cost, and return a larger return for their labor. The day of vast fields of cotton has passed, and diversified crops only will pay.

BEEBE vs. ROBINSON.

DECISION OF JUDGE BUCKLEY.

The following is the decision rendered by Judge Buckley, yesterday, in the above case, relative to the office of tax collector:

Eugene Beebe vs. Patrick Robinson; Probate Court, April 12th, 1875.

This is an application by Beebe to compel Robinson to deliver up to him the books and papers and property pertaining to the office of tax collector of Montgomery county. It is a proceeding instituted under sections 198, 199, Revised Code, and in the nature of an application for mandamus.

The following facts are agreed upon, and are, on the hearing and trial of the motion before the Court, to be held as proved and in evidence:

At the general election in 1871, Robinson was elected tax collector of Montgomery county. He gave bond as such, which was approved by the Judge of Probate of the county and took the oaths required by law; and his bond and oaths were filed in the office of the said Judge of Probate and he thereupon acted as such tax collector and continued to exercise all the functions as such and was exercising the same until the present proceeding was commenced.

At the July term of the City Court of Montgomery, the grand jury during the session of the Court made a report or address to that Court or to the presiding Judge in writing, and therein they stated "we find the bonds of the county officers good except that of the Tax Collector. We recommend that he be required to give additional security." This report was certified by the clerk of the said city court to the Probate Judge of the county, who thereupon issued a citation to Robinson in writing requiring him, because of said report of the grand jury, to appear at the office of the Probate Judge on the 5th day of August, 1874, and execute an additional bond as tax collector of said county—a copy of which was executed on Robinson before the 8th day of August, 1874. On the 18th day of the same month, Robinson presented to the Judge of the Probate Court for his approval, an additional bond, which the Judge refused to approve, and on the 19th day of August, 1874, the said Judge of the Probate Court certified to the Governor of the State that the office of tax collector of the county was vacant, Robinson having failed to give the additional bond, as required by law.

On the 27th day of August, 1874, the Governor appointed and commissioned Beebe as the tax collector of Montgomery county, and the commission is shown in evidence; and on the same day Beebe executed his bond, with sureties, as such tax collector, which was approved by the Judge of the Probate Court, and also on the same day, took the oaths of office required by law, and the bond and these oaths were filed in the office of the Probate Judge of the county, and this bond is in evidence.

On the 28th day of August, 1874, Robinson filed in the Chancery Court at Montgomery, a bill for an injunction against Beebe, and obtained the order for the same from Hon. J. Q. Smith, Judge of the second judicial circuit, and on Robinson complying with the order, the writ of injunction as prayed for in the bill, was issued; and this writ is in evidence. It enjoins Beebe from making any claim to the office of tax collector, or exercising any of the powers, rights and privileges appertaining to the office, and from interfering with Robinson in his exercise of its powers.

This injunction continued in full force until the 31st day of March 1875, on which day it was dissolved by a decree of the Supreme Court of the State.

At the general election held on the 3d day of November 1874, Robinson was elected tax collector for the next term, and within fifteen days after the election gave the bond required in such cases, by law, which was approved by the Judge of the Probate Court of the county, and also took the oaths of office required by law, and his bond and oaths were filed in the office of the said Probate Judge; and on the 14th day of November 1874, he made another bond which was approved by said Judge of the Probate Court and filed in his office, which is claimed by Robinson to be the bond required by the act of December 1873, extending the terms of office of tax collectors. Both of these bonds of Robinson are in evidence.

Robinson continued to act as tax collector, and to exercise all the functions of the office from the time the writ of injunction was executed on Beebe, which occurred on the 28th day of August 1874, the same day it was issued.

Beebe has never exercised any of the functions of tax collector, and has never given or executed any bond except the one above mentioned, on the 27th day of August 1874.

On the 2d day of April, 1875, Beebe made a demand in writing for the books, papers, property and money belonging to or appertaining to the tax collector's office, of Robinson, a copy of which was handed to Robinson at the time, and Robinson refused to comply with the demand. The demand is in evidence, and thereupon, and after such refusal, these proceedings were commenced before the Judge of the Probate Court.

Complainants counsel start with the proposition that Beebe was the legal incumbent of the office of tax collector of Montgomery county on the 27th day of August, 1874, having on that day received his commission, and made his bond, and taken the oaths required by law. This proposition is admitted to be true. Beebe's right is based upon the decision of the Supreme Court, that he was the lawful incumbent on the 27th day of August, 1874, and that his title continued unquestioned to the day of the next general election on the 3d day of November 1874, his council advance in the argument and assert that he is therefore still the true incumbent and entitled to retain the office until he is ousted by due process of law, or until some other person under the law has become the true and lawful incumbent. This, Robinson's counsel deny; and the first point of controversy is as to who is entitled to the office during the additional term, extended by act of the legislature, approved December 17th, 1873, from November 3d, 1874, to the second Monday of April, 1875. The first question which presents itself is: Did the right to this extended term pass from Robinson with his office, by the appointment of Beebe? And if so, did it pass to Beebe.

Robinson was elected tax-collector in November, 1871, for a term of three years, ending at the general election in November, 1874. In December, 1873, the legislature passed an act which was approved on the 17th day of the month, extending the term of the tax-collectors then in office, until the 2d Monday in April, 1875, and requiring them to give a bond to cover the period of extension from November, 1874, to April, 1875. "Such tax-collectors shall execute bonds with sufficient securities in the form now prescribed by law for the faithful discharge of their duties as such during their respective terms of office as hereby extended."

It is claimed that when the grand jury in July last, reported Robinson's bond insufficient, it was the bond given by him for the term for which he was elected, and which expired in November last, which was found insufficient. Robinson had then given no bond to cover the additional term given by the act of the legislature, and he was under no obligation to give bond for such additional term until the term had commenced, namely, until November, 1874; and if Robinson forfeited his right to the office by failing to give bond when required by the Judge of Probate in August last, on the address of the grand jury, such forfeiture could only apply to the term covered by the bond thus found to be insufficient, and did not apply to the additional term from Nov. 1874, to April, 1875, which the bond did not cover, and for which he was required by law to give an entirely new bond.

Robinson was the tax-collector at the time of the passage of the act of 1873, the second section of which declares "That the term of office of the several tax-collectors of this State now in office shall continue until the second Monday in April, 1875; Provided, That such tax-collectors shall execute bonds, etc."; and it is in evidence, that on the 14th day of November, 1874, Robinson executed a good and sufficient bond to cover the extended term from November to April granted by the legislature, which bond was taken and approved by the Judge of Probate.

Objection is made to this bond, and it is true that it is not a full and literal compliance with the second section of the law of December, 1873. That section requires "that such tax collectors shall execute bonds, &c., for the faithful discharge of their duties as such during their respective terms of office as hereby extended." The bond filed reads as follows: "The condition of the above obligation is such that whereas the above bound Patrick Robinson has been elected tax-collector, and whose terms of office has been extended by an act of the General Assembly, in and for said county. Now, if the said Patrick Robinson shall well and truly perform all the duties which are or may be by law required of him as such tax-collector, then the above obligation to be void, otherwise to remain in full force and virtue." The important words of the statute "during their respective terms of office as hereby extended," are wholly omitted from the bond. But after a careful examination of Sprawls vs. Lawrence, 33 Ala. Rep., and the provisions of the Code, and the requirements of the statute of December, 1873, and applying the universal rule that all statutes relating to the same subject are to be considered, read and construed together, and that this is the only mode of ascertaining the Legislative intent, we are forced to the conclusion that it is such a bond as to bind the sureties, and sufficient in form and substance. The fact that Robinson was in office when the act of December, 1873, was passed, coupled with the fact that he filed a new and sufficient bond on the 14th day of November, 1874, which he claimed to be for the extended term, gave him color of title to the extended term, it apparently vested the title of the office in him. And this is as far as we feel called upon to establish Robinson's claim to the extended term.

But if there be doubt about Robinson's right to the office, even if the title passed wholly from him with his office by Beebe's appointment, and he could not regain it, did the title to the extended term pass to Beebe?

Beebe was appointed by the Governor under the act of 1868, which declares expressly that the appointee "shall hold until the day of the next general election thereafter." Naturally, under this act, the appointee would hold the unexpired term of office ending on the 3d day of November, 1874. Petitioner's counsel admit that there is no statute which expressly in terms declares that the appointee shall hold office longer than the day of the next election thereafter. It is in evidence that the bond given by Beebe when he was appointed, covered only the period from 27th of August to 3d Nov., 1874.

But if it be held that Beebe, by virtue of his appointment in August, 1874, became entitled to the additional term from November, 1874, to April, 1875, it is claimed that it does not help Beebe because the act of December, 1873, which grants this additional term, expressly requires the tax collector to give a new bond to cover this additional term, and Beebe gave no such bond. And whatever may have been his right to the office for such additional term from November, 1874, to April, 1875, it is claimed his right has been forfeited because the term has expired this day, and he has never given or offered to give the bond required by the statute which granted the additional term. It will hardly be contended that Beebe was prevented from filing such bond by reason of the injunction; certainly he was not restrained after the injunction was dissolved by the Supreme Court and before this proceeding to recover books, papers, etc., was commenced.

If it be held that Beebe, being the rightful incumbent prior to Nov. 3, 1874, was the only person who could lawfully execute bond for the additional term, could he, without giving a new bond as required in act of 1873, go on to collect taxes for the new periods?

But it must be distinctly kept in mind that the right to the office of tax collector cannot be tried in this proceeding; on the contrary, if there is any serious controversy as to who is rightfully entitled to the incumbency of the office and to the custody of the books, papers and property, the application must be denied. In ex parte Scott, 47 Ala. p. 611, the Supreme Court say: "This summary remedy was never intended to try the right to the office. If it did so, it would be unconstitutional, because not providing for an appeal or a trial by jury. It was only designed to operate in cases where an office is vacated and the predecessor, or other person, without any rational claim, willfully, contumaciously, or negligently withholds the specified property." Enough has been said to show that there is a very serious controversy, and that the title of the applicant to the office is not free from grave doubt and that his predecessor is not withholding the books, papers and property of such office without reasonable claim thereto.

The prayer of the petitioner is denied and the petition dismissed.

FIREMEN'S ANNIVERSARY.

PARADE TO-MORROW.

The annual parade of the Montgomery Fire Department takes place to-morrow. By reference to our advertising columns the programme will be found, and our readers can acquaint themselves with the routes of the procession. This anniversary is always looked forward to by our citizens with unusual pleasure, because heretofore they have always had the pleasure of attending the anniversary balls given by the department at the theatre. We have not been informed of the causes which induced the officers of the department to dispense with their usual ball, but the Lomax company have arranged for a grand soiree dansante, at their handsome hall on Washington street, on to-morrow night, in honor of the inauguration of their hall.

LOMAX.

A SOIREE DANSANTE.

The gallant young gentlemen of the Lomax Fire Company have issued invitations to a soiree dansante, which is given in honor of the inauguration of their new hall. Of course everything which the Lomax boys do is always en fait, and we may expect to see a brilliant array at this promised event. The ball takes place to-morrow night at the beautiful hall of the company on Washington street. The young men have taken great pains to furnish their hall in handsome style, and they have secured an expanse to fit up the hall. The room is large and airy, and not surrounded by other buildings, hence the hall is always open to the breeze, rendering it cool and pleasant. Without the Lomax boys our fire department would be shorn of much of its strength.

REFORM.

MONTGOMERY, April 19.

Editor Journal—The "Democrats" are great sticklers for retrenchment and for law, but they seem oblivious in those regards at the Statehouse. Two watchmen are kept on duty at a cost to the State of $75 per month each, when there is no law authorizing their appointment and retention. Three servants are also on duty, to wait on the several departments, when only one is provided for by law. True, an appropriation is made to pay the watchmen and servants, but a mere appropriation does not create an office. It is urged however in this matter, that a Republican State Executive had such subordinates, at the expense of the State, but this is no excuse for a "Democratic" Executive. The doing of a thing unauthorized by law by another does not justify the same in ourselves, or give it the sanction of law. How long is this to last? When is reform to begin?

CONSERVATIVE.

A MODEL POLITICIAN.

Editor Journal: During the present term of the city court, Dennis Cross, a colored Democrat and one of the servants at the Statehouse, was convicted of keeping a gaming table, and sentenced to 325 days hard labor for the county. We doubt whether he will be suffered to work out any of his sentence. It will surprise us very much if Governor Houston does not promptly remit the penalty and retain him to wait on the Executive Department. Doubtless a petition was circulated at once for Executive clemency, which was easily filled with the signatures of "Democrats" with Mr. M. L. Moses among the first. Dennis contributed too much to the fraudulent success of the Democratic party last year, and is too valuable in the present campaign for municipal offices to be overlooked. He rendered himself liable to the Penitentiary by registering in ward 5 recently, when he had not been a resident of the ward for the three months required by law. But for the case in the city court for gaming, he would have been arrested for falsely registering.

INDEPENDENT.

YESTERDAY evening commenced the Jewish Passover. The services at the synagogue, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Jacobs, were of an interesting and imposing character, and the synagogue was appropriately prepared for the occasion.

ABOUT twenty members of the Lafayette fire company of Mobile, will arrive in our city to-morrow morning, and will appear in the firemen's annual parade as the guests of the Lomax boys. The "social hop" given by the Lomax at their new assembly rooms to-morrow night will be a delightful affair.

FROM MASSACHUSETTS

CONCORD, April 19.—The following is a summary of the oration delivered today by Geo. William Curtis, at the Centennial celebration of the battle of Lexington:

We are fortunate that we behold this day. The Heavens bend benignly over the earth which blossoms with renewed life, and our hearts beat joyfully together with one emotion of filial gratitude and patriotism as exulting citizens of a great, free and prosperous country. We come hither to honor the men—our fathers—who, on this spot, and upon this day a hundred years ago, struck the first blow in the contest which made that country independent. Proudly recalling their virtue and their valor, we come to tell their story, to try ourselves by their lofty standard, to know if we are their worthy children, and standing reverently where they stood, and fought and died, to swear before God and each other, in the words of him upon whom in our day the spirit of the revolutionary fathers visibly descended, that a government of the people by the people for the people shall not perish from the earth. We hope the ancient town, with its neighbors who share its glory, have never failed fitly to commemorate this day of its history. Fifty years ago while some soldiers of the Concord fight were still living, twenty-five years ago while still a few venerable survivors lingered, with prayer and eloquence and song you renewed the pious vow, but the last living link with the revolution has been long broken. Great events and a mightier struggle has absorbed our generation. We who stand here to-day have a sympathy with the men at the old North Bridge which those preceding us here at early celebrations could not know. With them war was a name and a tradition, so swift and vast had been the change and the development of the country that the revolutionary clash of arms was already vague and unreal, and Concord and Lexington seemed to them almost as remote and historic as Arbila and Lempach. War is no longer a tradition, half romantic and obscure. It has ravaged how many of our homes? It has wrung how many of the hearts before me, North and South. We know the pang. Our common liberty is consecrated by common sorrow. We do not count as one as a few feeble veterans of the contest, but we are girt with a cloud of witnesses; we are surrounded everywhere by multitudes in the vigor of their prime. Behold them here to-day sharing in these peaceful rites—the honored citizens, legislators, magistrates, yes, the chief magistrate of the republic—who glory that they were minute-men of American liberty and union. These men of to-day appreciate the men and the times we commemorate now, if never before. We also measure the sacrifice, the courage, the devotion, for we have seen them all. The speaker then gave a thrilling description of the battle of Concord and of the scenes and incidents preceding and following the memorable 19th of April, 1775, and a glowing tribute to the brave men who participated in the battle. He reviewed the struggles and troubles of the colonies, which finally resulted in the organization of the militia and the final response to arms which ended in the battle at Concord bridge, and defeat of the British troops. He then in fitting terms reviewed the rise and progress of the American nation during the past century, and of the Union so firmly cemented, and in conclusion, said: Fellow citizens: That Union is the lofty task which this hallowed day, and this sacred occasion, impose on us. And what cloud of doubt so dark hangs over us as that which lowered above the Colonies when the troops of the King marched into this town and the men of Middlesex resolved to pass the bridge. With their faith and their will we shall win the victory. No royal Governor indeed sits in your stately capital; no hostile fleet, for many years, has vexed the waters of our coasts, nor is any army, but one, ever likely to tread our soil. Not such are our enemies today. They do not come proudly stepping to the drum-beat, with bayonets flashing in the morning sun, but wherever party spirit shall strain the ancient guarantees of freedom, or bigotry and ignorance shall lay their fatal hands upon education, or arrogance or caste shall strike at equal rights, or corruption shall poison every spring of national life. The minute men of liberty are your Lexington, Green and Concord bridge.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The ship Dauntless has arrived with merchandise and the crew of the British ship Cornwallis, from San Francisco Dec. 8 last, for Liverpool, which was wrecked on Pitcairn's Island Jan. 23. None of the crew were lost, but the ship is a total wreck. The ship struck on the rocks on the 23d, and on the 25th began to break up, and by night had completely disappeared.

The representatives of the Panama and Pacific mail companies held another conference on Saturday for the purpose of trying to arrive at an amicable adjustment of differences. nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in two months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&w1w

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great value of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and brows it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

Indeenpdent Republican in principle, defending the Republican party when right, and endeavoring to correct when wrong.

For the largely increased patronage and favor extended us during the past year we feel it incumbent upon us to return to our

Friends and Patrons

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines.
New Albany, Ind April 10, 1874

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his trouble are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

O. SACKETT.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so complete that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of every purse. Since the introduction of ad. We do not propose to parade flowery words in meaning with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders and circulars for further particulars, address G. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DUMAS & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

MRS. OATES.

A MATRIMONIAL DIFFICULTY.

The theatrical profession is kept very busy in discussing in whispers, and with solemn adjurations not to breathe a word of it to anybody else, a deplorable difficulty which has occurred between two most excellent people—Mr. Tracy Titus and his wife, known to the public by her stage name, Mrs. James A. Oates. However much the whisperers may tell of the matter, it is certain they know very little. Titus is grieved and crestfallen, and Mrs. Oates is minatory and defiant. They were playing in California, some three weeks ago, with a large company, when the difficulty occurred. They have lived so harmoniously together that the separation, when it became known, was regarded as a mere temporary affair—a sort of amantium ire—to be speedily followed by a renewing of mutual endearments. But the matter was more serious. Mrs. Oats left her husband, and their joint capital, which had always been banked in his name, was drawn by her and deposited in hers, and Tracy Titus was left to shift for himself. The company, knowing upon which side of their bread the butter was wont to be spread, obeyed orders, and are still playing with Mrs. Oates. Titus is said to have set to work to reorganize a company of his own, bu so far without success. What caused the quarrel is not known, but it must have been something very alarming, for their attachment for one another was of a most serious and exemplary character, quite unusual in married life nowadays either before or behind the curtain.

LOVE AND POLITICS.

The Baltimore Gazette says: "Misfortune makes strange bed-fellows. The municipal auctioneer of Paris has scattered to the four corners of the world the carriages of Napoleon III and his house linen, the aigons of the Empress, and the toys of the Prince Imperial. It dispersed similarly the bibelots of Rochefort; soon after was sold the portrait of Madame Marrast, wife of the president of the Constituent Assembly. One day a group of children were playing in the park of St. Cloud, when a carriage containing Louis XVIII drove past rapidly—French monarchs have a weakness for furious driving—and injured a little girl. The King descended, placed her beside him, took her to the castle, dried her tears, stuffed her with lollypops, and in the evening placed in her bib 60,000 francs. Only think, the wicked creature when she grew up to woman's estate actually married the famous Republican, Armand Marrast, bringing him for fortune the royal donation. Love is no respecter of politics."

A MINER LIES FIVE HOURS UNDER A PILE OF COAL WITH HIS LEG BROKEN.

The Scranton (Penn.) Republican of Saturday gives the following account of an accident to Richard Sturbridge, a laborer at the Diamond Mine, who, for five hours, lay buried beneath a mass of coal in the dark recesses of mine, his leg broken, and no human being cognizant of his fate:

"It was a little before 5 o'clock in the evening when Sturbridge was loading the last car for the day. His companions in the chamber had retired, and two trackslayers, who had spoken to him but five minutes previously, had also left the mine. He was by the side of the car stooping to pick up what he intended as the last lump of coal when he heard a crash in the roof above him, and an instant later an immense mass of coal descended upon him, burying him and the loaded car, and breaking his leg. For a few minutes he was unconscious, but when he recovered he found that he lay beside the loaded car, in a narrow space, with one his legs broken. The car alone saved him from being crushed into a shapeless mass. A portion of the fallen heap lay upon the broken limb, and to extricate this was a painful task. Sturbridge set about it, however, and finally freed the aching member. Then came the dreaded suspicion of dying slowly in that dark, noxious tomb. All efforts to get away were futile, and all hopes of being relieved by his companions were also given up, as they had retired from work for the night, and would not return until morning. He knew that if he lay there all night he would never again see the light of day, for he was very feeble, and a cold perspiration was already flowing from every pore. The minutes seemed hours, the hours months as he lay there from 5 until 10 o'clock. At length when exhausted by despair he heard the sounds of pick and shovel overhead. Relief was at hand and his comrades were digging for him. He was extricated and carried to his home, where he received due attention. It appears that a little before 10 o'clock his friends missed him, and seeing that he did not return home and that no one knew of his whereabouts, a search was instituted which resulted in his discovery and happy release."

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&w1w

It is recommended by the best physicians and the clergy.

LAGRANGE, GA., March 27, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public

Yours respectfully, REV. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The Greenville Alabamian, of April 17, undertakes to defend Judge Brickell In its labored effort to that end, we find the following:

The Democratic and Conservative party showed good, hard sense in their nominations last year for Justices of this Court. The mere selection of these gentlemen did much to the success which crowned the party last November. As they should have done, they abstained from political discussion during the canvass, and since then they have been all that the people could ask for in jurists. Each one an able lawyer, an upright man, an accomplished gentleman, they have, in the exercise of their duties, reflected credit upon those making the choice; and when we meet with anything in the columns of the press, expressing opinions contrary to what we have said, it causes the most profound astonishment—only for a moment however, as the next impulse is either to laugh at its absurdity or smile at the petty malice of the scribbler.

It appears rather strange that the Supreme Court should be dragged into a controversy in which the Chief Justice of that Court is alone concerned. The letters of Judge Keyes and Mr. Booth did not impeach the two associate Judges, unless the mere reference to their acquiescence in the dirty work of Judge Brickell may be so called. The charges preferred by both these gentlemen are of such a nature that, unless Judge Brickell can successfully and completely disprove them, there is no possible defense that can be made. No honorable or fair-minded man would undertake to defend our famous Chief Justice from the censure he deserves for his most reprehensible conduct. The Alabamian certainly does not know the facts connected with this case, or it would not undertake, in defiance of every sense of justice and common decency, to defend Judge Brickell. In our humble judgement there is no sort of reasonable defense that can be made to such outrageous conduct on the part of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. He not only deceived both Mr. Booth and Judge Keyes, but he absolutely falsified himself in the case of the latter. If Judge Keyes is to be believed, there is no more confidence to be placed in anything Judge Brickell can say. His conduct towards Judge Keyes should receive the scorn and contempt of every honest man in the State. If Judge Brickell, as a man, had perpetrated such outrages, but little could be said. But it was Brickell—the Judge—who did it, and he should either disprove these charges, or resign, and no longer disgrace the chair once honored by a Rice, a Dargan, a Chilton and a Phelan.

PARENTS' RIGHTS.

We learn from the New York Herald of a recent date, that by a recent decision of the New York Court of Special Sessions a man has been sent to prison for boxing his son's ears. The youngster, who is about nine years of age, objected to having his ears slapped, and applied for a warrant for his fathers arrest. The warrant was granted, and, though the dutiful son failed to appear in court, the father, on his own admission that he had slapped the boy's ears, was sent to jail for five days, there to meditate on the beauty of parental relations as established by statute. The decision of the court was somewhat startling, and we hope the small boys of the community may refrain faom pushing their advantage too far. But parents in future must dispense with that terror of boyhood, "the rod and pickle," otherwise they may find themselves in the jug.

ALIEN INSURANCE COMPANIES.

And important question regarding the rights of alien insurance companies was decided in the United States circuit court, at Topeka, on the 12th instant. Jas. L. Terry, brought suit in the district court of Douglas county against the Imperial Insurance company of London, to recover for a loss by fire upon a policy issued by that company. The defendant filed a petition for a removal of the case to the United States circuit court under the provisions of the twelfth section of the judiciary act of 1789, claiming that it is an alien. The case was sent up on that petition, and the plaintiff filed his motion to remand the case to the State court. The only question presented to the court for determination was whether or not the defendant is an alien, within the meaning of the constitution and the judiciary act. The court held, in accordance with many decisions cited in the opinion, that when a corporation is created by the laws of a State, the legal presumption is that its members are citizens of the State; and that a suit by or against a corporation in its corporate name must be conclusively presumed to be a suit by or against citizens of the State which created the corporate body. It being conclusively presumed that the members of such a corporation are citizens of the State, a priori it follows that the members of a corporation created within the sovereignty of Great Britain and under the laws of that country, are presumed to be citizens or subjects of that kingdom. Therefore, the court held that the members of the Imperial Insurance company must be presumed to be subjects of Great Britain, and as such entitled to bring their case to the United States circuit court.

THE LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE.

The telegraph has announced the success, in Louisiana, of the Wheeler compromise measures. On Friday last, the House of Representatives organized, by the election of Mr. Estillette, a conservative, as Speaker. Mr. L. A. Wiltz, who has been very conspicuous in his opposition to the compromise, was the candidate of the Democratic caucus for Speaker, but was defeated by the decisive vote of 66 to 34—Mr. Estillette receiving the Republican vote entire consolidated with compromise Democrats. The defeat of Wiltz is regarded as the overthrow of that extreme element in Louisiana politics which has fomented nearly all the discord and strife for the past six years. We may, therefore, consider that all the troubles in Louisiana have ended, and no more armed leagues need be expected to confront those who are laboring for peace and good government in Louisiana. Referring to this subject, the New Orleans Picayune says:

It was unfortunate that Mr. Wiltz had so conspicuously identified himself with the opposition to the adjustment. It was unfortunate that after its adoption by the caucus he protested against it on grounds which seemed to assume a higher degree of patriotism, and a more exalted sense of public virtue on his own part, than was conceded to those who differed from him. It was unfortunate that he declined to consider himself bound by the terms of the agreement, and finally it was most unfortunate that he voted, on the first day of the session, against the joint resolution which was the fundamental condition of the compact. These things were unfortunate because, whilst the Conservatives unanimously desired to retain Mr. Wiltz in the Speaker's chair, they rendered his election yesterday entirely impossible.

The Bulletin appears to regard the action of the House as a substantial victory for Kellogg, although it is difficult to understand how the preference of the compromise Democrats for Mr Estellette can be construed into a surrender of that branch of the party to the will or control of Kellogg. As illustrative of the temper of the anti-compromisers we quote from the Bulletin:

The defeat of Hon. Louis A Wiltz yesterday for the Speakership, by means of a candidate of a portion of the Conservative members, was the second great victory of Mr. Kellogg. On Tuesday he was quietad in his possession of the office of Governor, by a vote of 59 to 18, in a body having sixty Conservatives to fifty Radicals. On Friday he defeats the Conservative caucus candidate for Speaker on the first ballot by a vote of 68 to 34, his friends in the House voting in solid phalanx for the man among the Conservatives who had been most active and persevering in advocacy of that compromise, which put him at rest in his gubernatorial chair. This is a signal victory and one that gives promise of more to come. It makes the usurper master of the situation. It ties the compromisers to his victorious chariot. It opens to him a clear road to the bright destiny which he has long promised himself, a place in the Senate of the United States.

CONDITION OF THE CURRENCY.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says that the finance law of the last session has operated thus far as efficiently and rapidly as was ever expected. The conditions of the act relating to the currency have produced a contraction of the money in circulation amounting in round numbers to about $3,000,000, by the voluntary surrender of national currency in excess of the amount called for under the free banking section of the law. It is therefore manifestly absurd to attribute any part of the increased premium on gold to an expansion of the currency since the passage of this law. The high premium on gold, by deranging foreign exchanges, has tended to lower the price of silver, and the Government has seized the opportunity to lay in a large stock on the most favorable terms both in the East and on the Pacific coast.

The mints are running at their full capacity, and the silver bullion on hand will last at least through the fiscal year. The condition for the preparation for the payment of silver are unusually favorable, and if gold should fall to 110, or even to 112½, by next September, the present high rate will not have disturbed in the least whatever effectiveness the finance bill would have had under any circumstances. By September 30 the Government will have $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 silver coin. The treasury officers generally expect gold to fall in price within a few weeks.

The people of the old North State are making arrangements for a grand celebration, although the President of the United States, in a very discourteous manner declined an invitation to attend. [Advertiser, yesterday.

Why not tell the plain, naked truth, neighbor? If you know anything of the matter you must know that the President had some reason to decline. You would do yourself more credit to inform your readers correctly. It is a matter in which we are not at all interested, but as you decline to give the facts, and seek to arouse a feeling against the President, we deem it our duty to inform the people of the facts.

An invitation having been sent to the President to attend the celebration at Mecklenberg, Mr. D. H. Hill, in his paper, "shot off" his mouth as follows, and that is why the President wouldn't attend:

"There seems to be a misapprehension as to the invitation of General Grant. He was not invited by the committee of invitation, but was invited by other parties. It would be respectful to invite the President of the Nation, but Grant is simply the head of the Radical party. He is known to our people solely as the supporter of Holden in his Kirk and Burgin war upon the liberties of the State; in South Carolina as the friend of r. k. scott, Frank moses, and other pronounced thieves; in Georgia, as holding up the hands of Bullock and rogues of that ilk; in Alabama, as the counselor of Ananias Hayes, and the employer of Hester, the murderer; in Louisiana as the overthrower of the lawful government by the bayonet, and the sustainer of the usurper Kellogg; in Arkansas, as the patron of thieves and the would-be-subverter of the liberties of the people; all over the South as the only prop of the rule of carpet-baggers, rogues, ruffians and scallawags. We know him at the South only by his army of soldiers to keep carpet-baggers in power, and by his bands of brutal marshals to oppress our best citizens. To invite him is to indorse his Southern policy of wrong and outrage. It is to proclaim ourselves willing to wear the yoke of bondage, through a third term of the bribe-taker and the drunken debauchee. The Committee of Invitation wash their hands clean of this thing. They are opposed to this man from principle and not from prejudice. They think that the destroyer of Constitutional liberty ought not to appear at a celebration commemorative of the resolves of our heroic ancestors to 'pledge their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors,' in the holy cause of freedom."

Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Alabama, hold a State Convention in this city, commencing on Thursday next, the 22d inst. This is an organization which should receive the prompt aid and encouragement of all good citizens. It is an organization which affords to the young men of the State a wide and useful field for the promotion and advancement of religion and temperance. Through the agency of well directed organizations of this character civilization has received much valuable assistance, and still there is a wide field open for the work of regeneration. We trust that the good people of this city will receive the representatives of this worthy association with their accustomed hospitality, and encourage them in forwarding their noble work. The JOURNAL will gladly do all in its power to forward their cause, and assist them in promulgating their proceedings.

The Cincinnati Commercial makes this observation: Sometimes we fear Gov Allen is falling behind Gov. Tilden in the indispensable preparations for the Presidency. It is necessary that the next President should be a reformer. Tilden is reforming matters and things in general in New York. Allen has not helped any work of reformation in Ohio, and when the investigations carried on at Columbus were becoming fruitful, he insisted upon the adjournment of the legislature. Gov. Allen's reminiscences of Jackson, Jefferson, and others, are interesting, but modern matters mean business.

The Hayneville Examiner referring to the recent session of the Chancery Court in Lowndes county, speaks of Chancellor Austill, as follows:

Chancellor Austill gave decided satisfaction to the bar last week. It was his first service here, and all are pleased with him. He has not the tedious loquacity of his predecessor, and is far more industrious and able. Chancellor Felder really obstructed business; Chancellor Austill will clear the docket every time if the causes are ready. Each is now "the right man in the right place"; Felder at home, Austill on the bench; sic semper.

This is the first time we have ever heard Judge Felder's legal ability questioned. So far as we have been informed Judge Felder was regarded as the peer of any of his predecessors in all that constitutes the able and upright judge. Of course it is quite the thing nowadays to abuse political opponents, no matter how pure and able they may be. But we have never seen any but Bourbon papers drawing comparisons for the sole purpose of casting discredit upon those who choose to differ from them. We have no doubt Chancellor Austill is a good chancellor and a good man. We know that Adam C. Felder is both.

Senator Brownlow has in the New York Tribune a long and scathing review of Andrew Johnson's comparison, in his late speech, of the cases of Louisiana and Tennessee. Brownlow gives his version of the issue in the latter State to have been "whether, in palpable violation of the constitution of the State, a small minority of the legislature, acting under the advice of Andrew Johnson as President of the United States, should, by lawlessness, revolutionary means, block legislation and break up the legislature of the State;" and he adds: "The statements of Senator Johnson to the contrary are what you Northern people term 'misrepresenting the truth of history,' but what we in Tennessee call 'unmitigated lying.'"

Agriculture is conducted in California, like everything else, on a gigantic scale. A Sacramento paper gives an account of a single farm at Jacinto, owned by Dr. H. J. Glenn, from which 600,000 bushels of what were harvested the past season. This is sufficient to load eighteen 1000 ton ships, or three hundred canal boats. The Doctor runs ninety gang plows and a dozen threshers, and employs a large number of men. His farming is not confined to wheat, as he markets $100,000 worth of stock annually. He is a Virginian by birth. All the details of his immense business he attends to personally.

The San Francisco Bulletin, a very able and influential Republican paper, says: "For the Republican member of Congress who does his duty to his constituents and his country there is defeat at the polls; for the pliable representative who goes for everything thick and thin, an important Federal office when his constituents repudiate him. And this from an administration which was inaugurated with the declaration that it would never have a "policy" to urge against Congress or the people, and would reserve for itself merely the function of executing the laws as it found them without fear or favor."

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1875.

SMALL SHOT.

FROM THE JOURNAL'S BATTERIES.

—Pleasant.
—Firemen's parade.
—Lomax ball to-night.
—River declining slowly.
—Rain threatened by "old Probs."
—Get your mosquito bars ready.
—The fruit crop isn't hurt much.
—The ice wasn't very thick.
—Pay up what you O the printer.
—Spelling matches are playing out.
—No taxes are collected on old clothes.
—Water works are asleep or dead.
—Who keeps an eye on business? A dog.
—What do you ask for your certificate?
—Policies played out in Montgomery.
—Advertise in the STATE JOURNAL.
—Merchants can't sell unless they advertise.
—Fast horses and fast young men are soon forgotten.
—Have your premises whitewashed at once.
—Linen dusters can be prepared for use now.
—A man with a red nose is said to be a "sign board."
—The suburban gardens look nice and the flower yards tempting.
—Advertise in the JOURNAL and grow rich and happier.
—Some of our young ladies should try to spell their mothers at the wash-tub.
—It has been ascertained that lobsters are influenced by the music of the piano. How would a brass band probably affect a grizzly?
—An advertisement works on Sunday and all other days.
—It is a wise man that steals, and a scoundrel that gets caught at it.
—The young man who bet upon and lost on the four-spot last night after it won seven times in succession, is respectfully reminded that "all things have but their time."
—Montgomery husbands never jaw back. They put on their hats, rush out, and hang around the postoffice until the weeping wife comes along and asks forgiveness.
—Be a good boy, saw two cords of wood, sort over those potatoes, spade up the garden, be prompt at school, and you shall go to the circus when Forepaugh comes.
—Last year the country paid $400,000,000 for wines and liquors, and this without reference to the repeated invitation to chalk 'er up.
—After a few days more of such weather as this, grocers will not be obliged to melt over maple sugar and lie about it to their customers.
—Mrs. Swisshelm says, "Only in his coffin is it safe for a woman to kiss any one man in a thousand." Those who know her are willing to wait.
—What married women want is more rest. Then why don't they take it instead of lying awake half the night to lecture their husbands, and getting up first in the morning to find something for the next lecture?
—A Court street boy, in the house, was yesterday making faces through the window at another boy on the walk. The latter had no remedy but talk, and shaking his fist at the window, he exclaimed: "Oh! I can wait! A thousand years from now I'll meet you around the corner and just hammer blazes right out of you!"
—A stranger dropped into a bar room the other day, took up a newspaper, and shortly afterward fell into a trance, in which he died. It was the Advertiser.
—One hundred and sixty-five thousand nine hundred and seventy-one dozen corsets, valued at $1,255,689, had to be imported last year to add to the symmetry and grace of American women.
—An Opelika justice of the peace don't splurge any when he marries a couple. He says: "Arise, grab hands—hitched—six dollars!" And that's all there is to it.
—No wonder that the medical men were afraid of the competition of women in the profession, for here is one of them testifying that she "attended a portion of a boy who was cut up in a mowing-machine."
—During their forty years of wandering in the desert, the clothes of the Israelites did not wear out; and more than one tailor hereabouts thinks that some similar phenomenon can alone account for the dullness of trade in their line.
—If our forty-year maidens knew what clipping their front hair meant in accepted Chinese sociology, they would get them to a nunnery upon the first gaze of an unindorsed male acquaintance.
—A bride in Selma, after the conclusion of the marriage ceremony, stepped gracefully forward and requested the clergyman to give out the hymn, "This is the way I long have sought."
—Fleas are among the annoyances here. They are all over you before you know it, and leave an itching little spot where they bite. I feel one now inside my boot on my leg, but he won't be there when I go for him.
—When a woman wears her India shawl wrong side out in order to show that it is real, she wears it not because of its beauty nor because of its warmth, but to display her wealth, and that verges very close on the vulgar.

THIEVES in Tuscaloosa break through brick walls of stores, and don't half try either.

SELMA had a spelling-match last night. The proceeds are to be devoted to the Orphan's Home at Tuskegee.

TUSCALOOSA is to have gas works established there, and now they are "putting on airs," and are talking of a steam laundry.

THE weather yesterday was genial and spring-like. The sun shone out warm and beautiful, and the ladies and children were out in full force.

—THE steamer R. E. Lee, with the Finnegan on the roof, and without a compass, arrived at our wharf yesterday, and left last night.

THAT beautiful fountain presented to the city by the Hook and Ladder Company, situated at the market, is not playing. What's the matter?

THE streets are getting dusty, and those who have hose and water plugs, will do a favor to suffering humanity by sprinkling the water around promiscuously

THE State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet in this city to-morrow. Our church people are preparing to entertain the delegates.

KEROSENE oil is sold at the drug stores in Troy, Ala., at 20 cents per gallon. In our city some of the grocers sell it at 40 cents, and think they are giving the people light very cheap.

PROFESSOR MCDONALD will give another one of those pleasant soirees on Friday night, at Estelle Hall. On Friday evening week he will give the last of the season.

THEY had a spelling match in Columbus, Ga., Friday night, and the last two were turned down upon the word, "Sybyline," and none was victor. The performance closed without any person being killed. Glad of it.

THE services at the Jewish Synagogue on Saturday last, were very interesting. A little son of Henry Lewy, named Solomon, was confirmed in the Jewish faith. The address of Rev. Dr. Jacobs was very beautiful and interesting.

THE book stores are having a run on Webster spelling books. The school children are delighted and the older folks are preparing for a grand, old-fashioned spelling match. Let it come—who cares.

WE notice by the Courier-Journal, that Mr. Ira E. Bride, of this city, and W. Scott Glore, of Louisville, have purchased the privilege of selling the Paris mutual pools, at the spring, summer and fall races at Louisville. The price paid was $8,000.

COMPLAINT is made that the Southern Express company is charging too much on freights. A gentleman informs us that he paid $20.75 for 462 pounds of heavy goods, to go a few miles beyond Atlanta. Times are hard, and they should reduce rates.

FOR fear they may get out of practice the military of Columbus, Ga., are having target practice. From the number of murders over there we think they shoot well enough for all practicable purposes. Better attend the religious revivals and hear sermons on the seventh commandment.

THE Western Railroad was sold by Chancellor Hughes on Monday. The price paid was $3,129,166.01, the amount of the bonds endorsed for the road by the Georgia railroad and the Central Georgia road. Major Semple, the attorney for the bondholders, bid the road off.

COL. J. R. TOMPKINS, of Mobile, one of the highest members of the order of I. O. O. F., will lecture in the First Baptist church on the 26th of this month, on the principles of that benevolent and excellent order. The lodges of this city will have a parade on that day, the anniversary of the order in the United States.

WE always knew that lager beer was a popular beverage in our city, but we did not know that Charley Sparrenberger sold as much as he does. A car load which he received a few days since, is all gone, and he has just received a fresh supply, as will be seen by his advertisement in another column.

ICE cream is "the thing" to offer your sweet-hearts now-a-days. Oysters are played out. But that was an economical young man who stepped into one of our saloons, and ordered a dish of cream, with three spoons, and then asked the two girls with him if they were not "glad they had come."

OH, yesterday we saw an ox who could discount the stubbornest mule we ever saw. He was hitched to a little wagon with half dozen sticks of wood. As long as the darkey driver would walk in front of him with an ear of corn he would pull, but scorned such menial service as soon as the corn disappeared.

THE feast of the Passover, or the Pesach 5,635, began on Monday evening at 6 o'clock. Services were held at the Temple in this city. On yesterday Rev. Dr. Jacobs delivered an interesting and instructive sermon upon the Jewish race, their customs and religion. The singing by the choir, composed of Messrs. Walker, Richler and Hille, and Mesdames Simon, Moses, Oppenheim, and Rosenstihl was most beautiful and appropriate.

VALUABLE TABLES.

THE REGISTRATION OF VOTERS.

THE brick work of the public fountain at the intersection of Market and Perry streets is completed, and the fountain will soon be placed. This will be a great convenience, as well as benefit to stock and add to the beauty of that part of the city. Now let us have one at the artesian basin square. Who will lead in the movement? A small subscription from the property owners and merchants in that vicinity will put up a beautiful fountain.

MAYOR FABER will have an interesting case before him this morning. Toliver Page, somewhat notorious for being in the police court oftener than any one else, has been practicing a sharp game upon some of his colored friends. He attempted the game yesterday upon an old colored man by borrowing his certificate of registration to show to some one, and failed to return it. It is said it was found at a certain headquarters of the Democratic party in this city.

THE immortal "J. N.," the champion "dead-beat," has started on a tour through the South, and may be expected at any moment in our city. He proposes to "lift the veil," and "assume all the pressure." He denies that he has formed an alliance with George Francis Train or Victoria Woodhull or any one who has been connected with the Beecher-Tilton scandal. No doubt the hospitality of the city will be given him, and thousands will flock to his levees.

THE vendor of toy balloons who has held on to the Belshaw corner is about to realize something for his temerity. We notice great big men, for the lack of a better opportunity, investing in his toys just for the fun of seeing the little red things fly away, and to see the gaping crowd of idlers watch them as they disappear in the cerulean mist. Ain't it tunny.

IMMIGRATION.

Official Notice to Members of the Board.

Whereas a meeting was called at the city of Montgomery on the 5th day of March, 1875, but owing to the inclemency of the weather and the unsafety of traveling, no quorum was present, I therefore renew said call to meet in the city of Mobile, Ala., on the 27th day of April, and respectfully request that all members of the Board attend promptly.

C. F. SIEVERS,
Commissioner of Immigration.
Montgomery, April 18, 1875.

BY TELEGRAPH.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Gentlemen now here from New England say they have reason to believe a strong effort will be made, while the President is absent, to obtain from him a distinct avowal upon the third-term question.

A friend of the President here, says he has lately had a full talk with him regarding this subject, but he declines to give any further intimation than that the President for the first time has conversed about the matter.

Letters from Ohio say that strong influences are working there to have a most pronounced utterance against a third term incorporated in the resolutions of the approaching Republican convention.

The information which it is stated the department has received in regard to the condition of affairs in Europe does not create the belief that war is impending. Private advices received at several of the legations, are to the same effect.

The Attorney-General has replied, and commissioned the law firm of Emmett, Barnet & Hammond, of New York, to represent the Government in the approaching suits for damages brought by the five Democratic members of the Louisiana legislature who were displaced by Col. De Trobriand at the time of the organization of the legislature. The suits are against Gen. Sheridan and Col. De Trobriand, and damages are laid at $100,000 in the case of each unseated member. The Government undertakes the defense of the two military officers.

FROM LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, April 20.—In the House to-day, a resolution was passed by a vote of 61 to 35, to unseat four more Republicans and seat Democratic claimants. This was done, after a long and exciting debate, by the affirmative vote of every Conservative and in the face of the resolution passed on Friday by Conservative votes declaring that the House of Representatives as to its members, as constituted under the award of George F. Hoar, W. A. Wheeler, W. P. Frye, Samuel F. Marshall, Clarkson N. Potter and Wm. Walter Phelps, shall remain without change, except by the resignation or death of members, until a new general election. This action is considered by Republicans a breach of faith, fully in keeping with the action of the Conservatives on the 4th of January, in the proclaiming of Mr. Wiltz as speaker. Republican tactics are not fully developed, but the understanding is that the adjustment is at an end. The Senators threaten to reconsider their action in seating Goode vice Crozier and adjourning sine die. It is clear no legislation can now be had further than perhaps the impeachment of Auditor Clinton, reported favorably upon to-day by the House to the Senate. There is a strong possibility of events again culminating in a row.

FROM NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, April 20.—The Union Pacific Company are feeding 1,800 emigrants at this point, and sent two car loads of provisions west yesterday for those at Cheyenne, Laramie and beyond. There are four thousand west bound passengers here and west of the break waiting to go through. A dispatch received at 9 p. m. from Superintendent Shirley at Rock Springs, says: "The water has fallen two feet here to-day, and is still falling. If it does not come up again I can have the track between Lawrence and Green river so trains can get over it on the last of the present week. Expect to get trains into Lawrence to-morrow, and when we do so, will transfer passengers from there to Green River by teams.

FROM TEXAS.

GALVESTON, April 20.—A Brownsville special to the News says: Rumors reached here by telegraph on Saturday that the Americans were murdering Mexicans, burning their ranches, etc., and that a large number of families were flying from them. The Americans were said to be moving towards the Rio Grande. Sheriff Brown deputised A. R. Caine, and he went with some men to the north part of the county, intending to find out what was going on, and arrest the disturbers of the peace. It is said now that the reports are false; that the Americans have molested none but raiders and their associates. The county is full of Mexican squatters, who live by violence and plunder. Some of them have been hurt. On Friday the body of George Hill was found near his rancho, with three ball holes in it. He was an inoffensive man, and leaves a wife and six children. On the sixteenth instant, eight armed Mexicans were seen near Tio Cano. The news caused great excitement here.

The meeting on Saturday raised a permanent committee to procure evidence to support the facts stated in the report of Judge Downey.

Parties of armed Mexicans are reported in this county. They say they only intend to defend their persons and property. The breach is widening every day. Many Mexicans living on this side are becoming lukewarm, if not inimical to the Americans.

FROM TENNESSEE.

MEMPHIS, April 20.—Oscar Barton was killed at Somerville, Tenn., yesterday by a man named Dayle. Barton last fall had a terrible encounter with three brothers named Rives, during which two of the Rives were killed, and the other dangerously wounded. No particulars of the killing of Barton have been received.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more effectual in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and before any of the medicines perservered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

CONSUMPTION CURED!

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines.
New Albany, Ind. April 10, 1874

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them.

Yours truly, etc.,
O. SACKETT.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, R. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 25, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of eliciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say. Indeed, our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Geo gia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. MORI-HIROSE

THE WEDDING OF MR. MORI IN YEDDO, JAPAN—AN INTERESTING SKETCH FROM AN EYE-WITNESS.

The following is an extract from a private letter, dated at Yeddo, Japan, to a gentleman in this city. It will prove of interest, we feel assured, not only to residents of Washington, to whom Mr. Mori was so long and favorably known, but also to many others throughout the whole country who have marked with interest the changes that are being wrought in the social and political polity of a country which was, until very recently, a sealed book to the Western world:

February 6 was a day of peculiar interest to many residents of Yeddo, foreign and native. Some time previous most of the Americans resident here were favored with notices in Japanese, the translation of which read about as follows:

WEDDING INVITATION

Your presence is respectfully solicited at 11 o'clock A. M., on the 6th of the next month. ARINORI MORI.
ORITSUME HIROSE.

20th of 1st month of 8th year of Meiji. (January 20, 1875.)

The wedding was remarkable, from the fact that it was the first marriage by civil contract ever performed in Japan. Mr. Mori and Miss Hirose were married by the Mayor of Yeddo, the ceremony consisting simply of the reading by that functionary of an agreement which was afterward subscribed by the married pair and by witnesses.

The old-fashioned ceremony of marriage among the Japanese, like most events of any significance among Eastern nations, was burdened by customs and usages, the convenience and propriety of which have not survived with their observance.

It was fitting and proper that some change should have been made. Mr. Mori deserves credit for having had the boldness and originality to have inaugurated so sensible a change.

Of the wedding itself, it is needless to say more than that everything passed off evidently to the satisfaction of the guests and of the parties most nearly concerned. The bride was dressed in foreign style, and it might have been reasonably expected that under the circumstances she would display just the least bit of perturbation, after the manner of the great majority of ladies on such occasions, but she behaved throughout with a quiet self possession and grace that was charming.

Mr. Mori's wedding has given Americans resident in Japan another opportunity of expressing the high esteem in which they hold him. Honest appreciation and sincere regard for their country are qualities that would make any man a favorite with Americans. These Mr. Mori possesses, and Americans here are not slow to recognize the fact. They have watched with interest his career since his return to Japan, and they feel assured of the fact that one who exercises such untiring zeal and intelligent effort for the promotion of his country's best interests, is destined to hold a deservedly high position in that country's service.

OYSTERS FOR ONE.

A Baltimore paper says: "A short, stubby fellow, with his hat on one side of his head, and his pants rolled up, walked into a Congress-street oysterhouse last evening, and, holding the stump of an unlit cigar between his clenched teeth, looked around and inquired: 'Got 'ny oysters?' 'Yes, sir,' said the oysterman, as he cast his eye over a half a dozen baskets full lying around loose. 'Well, how much be they a dozen?' 'Eighteen cents, Shucked?' 'Opened, of course, if you want them opened. 'Well, g'me one not shucked.' 'One! What do you want of one oyster?' 'Well,' said the customer, confidentially, leaning over the oyster-stand, and taking his cigar from between his teeth, 'You see I'm going to a social party out here near Albia tonight, and some of the boys might get a foolin.' I've been round a good deal, an' I tell you there's nothin' so coolin' and healin' like for a black eye as a good, big oyster. I guess you'd better gi'me two. How much is't?

AN INTERVIEW WITH MRS. BEECHER.

[New York Correspondence Chicago Inter-Ocean]

Mrs. Beecher has grown quite thin since the trial commenced. She says she is so nervous that she can't sleep nights. When I told her that her face looked full and round, she held up her hands and said:

"Look at these! I never saw the bones in these hands before. I am really afraid I shall get sick before this trial ends Henry seems very happy. In fact, he is always in hot water, and I don't think he would feel natural if he was not in some tribulation. Somebody is always making a fool of him. Why after he gets out of this trouble I don't believe it will be three months before he will be in another scrape. And all because he is so innocent and generous. Why, if I had been one-half as honest as Henry has been, we would both of us been ruined a dozen times before this."

"Did you lose faith in Theodore before Mr. Beecher did?" I asked.

MRS. BEECHER'S OPINION OF MOULTON.

"Why, yes—years ago. Fifteen years ago I told Theodore to his face that he was a wolf in sheep's clothing. He came here and took his meals for two weeks. I found him out then. He used to sit and copy Mr. Beecher's handwriting. One day he showed me a page written in exact imitation of Mr. Beecher. When he held it up to me and asked me if I knew whose writing it was, I said, 'yes, sir, it is a miserable attempt to copy my husband.'"

"What did Theodore say to this?"

"He went up stairs to Mr. Beecher, who came down and said I mustn't talk so to Theodore, for, said he, 'he really has a great deal of good in him.' 'Good in him?' said I. 'I should think so. There must be a great deal of good in him. Henry, for none has ever come out of him.'

"I really believe, Eli, that if I should say anything about Theodore three months after the trial that Mr. Beecher would say, 'Now don't be so hard on poor Theodore: he's REALLY A GOOD MAN AT HEART.

"One night," continued Mrs. Beecher, "after Theodore had taken his meals with us for two weeks (fifteen years ago), Mrs. Tilton called and asked if I had seen Dory? 'Seen Dory?' said I. 'Who's Dory?'

"'Why, my Theodore,' said Mrs. Tilton.

"Yes, I've seen your Dory, if that's him,' said I. I've seen him for two weeks, and that's two weeks too long. I'd be glad to have you take your Dory home and keep him, and never let him come within sight of our house again.'"

"What do you think, Eli?" said Mrs. Beecher, as her eyes snapped fire, "why that miserable man, that sneaking Dory, had not been home for five weeks, but had spent the whole time lolling around Mr. Beecher, and sponging his meals off of our table. And Henry all the time saying, 'Now, my dear, there is really a great deal of good in Theodore. You must be kind to him.' Eah! kind to a snake in a cradle!" and Mrs. Beecher's old Puritan features assumed a look sterner than the figure of justice on the Court-House.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder; relieve Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can cure themselves in all the above diseases without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 22, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.:—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. W. H. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public.

Yours respectfully, REV. B. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof of its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader is referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

SECRETARY DELANO TO "STEP DOWN AND OUT."

By referring to our telegraphic columns it will be seen that Mr. Delano, Secretary of the Interior, has been invited by President Grant to remove the veil, lift the pressure, and step down and out. This act on the part of the President evinces the determination on his part to relieve his administration of every element of suspicion or corruption. Postmaster-General Jewell has recently unearthed and exposed a nest of corruption in his department, for which he deserves the gratitude of every honest citizen. Now comes the President with another exposure, which he intends to make too hot for those concerned in it. The President will receive the thanks of the country for his prompt action in this matter.

NO ENTANGLEMENTS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

There was a growing tendency on the part of the Democratic press to reject all alliances with other elements of opposition to the administration, and to make the next national campaign upon straight party issues. The result in Connecticut will be apt to strengthen this inclination. On Saturday last the Burlington (Iowa) Gazette declared that in future it would take its political doctrines straight, explaining its purpose in this way: "We want no more Liberal campaigns. The Democracy can never win under any banner but its own, and its prestige today entitles it not only to public leadership but popular confidence. The signs of the times are favorable for and unmistakably point to a Democratic restoration, and it is not wisdom to seek strange alliances, and split the growing power of the party by the introduction of questions that cannot but divide and destroy it. We want a distinctive line of policy, Democratic in tone and tendency, and if Charles Francis Adams and that class of men can find a resting place for their political hopes within the pale of a straight Democratic organization, we will gladly receive them and award them such prominence and recognition as may be possible, but no more entanglements."

ENEMIES TO THE SOUTH.

[From the Knoxville Whig.]

Our readers are familiar with the fact that it is intended to celebrate next month at Charlotte, N. C., the centennial anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. Our own State has made arrangements, and very properly, as we thought, to participate in this celebration. It is an occasion which should arouse patriotic emotions, and upon which everything like hatred, sectional strife and partisan bigotry should be forgotten. Some of the people who have the arrangements in charge for this occasion thought so too. They desired it to be of such a character that men from all sections of the Union, without regard to party affiliations, might participate with the utmost freedom. It was one of this class that suggested to Gen. D. H. Hill, somewhat notorious for his sectional bitterness and for his hatred of the Federal government, who is one of the committee of arrangements, that the President of the United States should be invited. Hill makes this suggestion the pretext for a vile and scurrilous attack on Gen. Grant, which he prints in his unreconstructed rebel journal, the Southern Home. In this he goes through the vocabulary of abuse common to Democratic journals of low degree and no influence. Not content with this, he disregards every semblance of decency and truth, and speaks of the President as a "bribe taker and drunken debauchee." It is not our purpose in this article to defend the President against this cowardly assault of a partisan blackguard. Beaten by Grant on the battle-fields, unlike the majority of Confederate soldiers, who, like brave men, have accepted the situation, this venomous old remnant of a class of the worst enemies the South ever had, continues to fight the battles of the rebellion through the columns of his obscure journal. The President needs no defense from any such attacks. But we do wish to defend the South against the malign influence of such men as this. They do us absolute harm. They are our worst enemies. They would see our fields laid waste, our cities, towns and villages in flames, and our young men weltering in their own gore, to gratify their own infernal ambition. The vile falsehoods of Hill published against Grant, and the infamous spirit which pervades his whole being and finds utterance in everything he says and writes, does North Carolina and the South an injury which we cannot afford to sustain. Those whom such men profess to befriend are the victims of their imprudence, and really have more to fear from them than their avowed enemies.

THE number of emigrants from the Eastern and Southern States to California this spring has been so great as to attract general attention. It is agreed, however, that these carpet-baggers make a great mistake. California is a large State and possesses extraordinary resources, but it is incapable of accommodating such an unexpected and unusual influx of fortune-hunters. The result will be personal disappointment, personal suffering, and finally a diversion of the tide of emigration either to Washington Territory or Oregon.

AT a meeting of ex-Confederate soldiers at Memphis, Saturday night, to arrange for decorating the graves of Confederates on the 22d of May, a resolution was unanimously adopted asking ex-Federal soldiers to participate in the ceremonies. Among those present were ex-President Jefferson Davis, ex-Governor Isham G. Harris, Generals Cotton Green and George Gordon.

THE NEW REVENUE LAW.

COMPLAINTS OF THE PEOPLE!

The Taxes too Heavy to be Borne!

HOWLING AMONG THE FAITHFUL!

Ring Editors Kicking out of the Traces.

Some months since the cry was heavy taxes. The people were being taxed to death. Reform and Retrenchment, Economy and low taxes were the watchwords. The people were promised by the Bourbons and their presses that all these and even more should come, when Houston should be elected. Money was to be scattered like manna of old, on the suffering land, and milk and honey was to flow and gladden the hearts of the poor and distressed. All old things were to pass away, and a new era of prosperity was to gladden the people of Alabama. The people gave ear to the promises of the Bourbons; they listened to the syren songs of the party hacks and were charmed therewith.

But, alas! Instead of giving the bread asked for they have given stones. Instead of low taxes we have the taxes increased; instead of economy we have extravagance. But let those who helped to bring these things to our people tell their own tale.

The Birmingham Independent cries out in its agony:

A GENERAL SLAUGHTER.

The passage of the new Revenue Law, so sweeping in character, killed the enactors of it as dead as Cock Robin. Democratic as we are, we cannot shut our eyes to a fact so apparent. It is sweeping in its details, and unjust, unpopular and indiscriminating in all particulars. No member of the late legislature can go before his constituency and justify himself. We learn that several Senators and Representatives openly assert that the construction put upon it by Attorney General Sanford is contrary to the spirit and intention of the legislature. All this may be true, yet that does not better the condition of affairs, as regards the small dealers.

* * * * *

We learn that a meeting of the Bar was held this morning, and resolutions were passed, requesting Judge Mudd to instruct the grand jury not to take notice of violations of the act at this sitting of that body. We hope His Honor may do so, as some of our small dealers cannot stand the pressure.

The Huntsville Reporter cries thus:

The new revenue law, as constructed by the Attorney General of the State, touches the pocket nerve of our people in its most sensitive fibre. It has produced more squirming than any other law passed since the reconstruction acts, and unless there is a new reading of the law, and that pretty soon, we advise our recent members of the legislature to hang up their hats. Their services as legislators will never again be needed in Alabama. We believe, however, that there has been a mistake made somewhere, and Hon. Burns Moore assures us that the mistake lies in Sanford's construction of the act. We trust such is the fact, and that Sanford will soon reconstrue his former construction.

The Selma Echo would cry real heartily if it dared. But it can only whine out this:

Similar expressions have been made by the press throughout the State, in those counties giving the largest majorities for our State ticket in the recent canvass. Against the new revenue law there are so many objections to be urged, and there being no object at this time in discussing them, we will not attempt the task. We know that among the masses of the people, it causes a great deal of dissatisfaction.

Of the dealers on small capital, there are many who cannot pay the license tax required of them.

Many are violators of the law, and will probably be arraigned before courts and fined, when, in fact, they had never seen or heard of the law. Very few people even in the cities knew of it, until after the 15th inst., the time given them to comply with it.

Taxes should be equal. There is no reason why a man in one legitimate business should have to pay higher license than a man who is engaged in another kind of business that is legitimate.

It is difficult to fix up a revenue law that will put money in the treasury and give satisfaction to the people by whom the money has to be paid—but there should be wisdom enough among our legislators to frame a law that will not cause such general dissatisfaction all over the State.

The only remedy we know of is for the legislature, when it assembles again, to do their work over again, so far as the revenue law is concerned, and for the people to be patient until the mistakes made can be corrected.

HAVING been informed that there are parties who are construing the remarks of the JOURNAL, relative to the "pressure of influences" upon Judge Brickell, as reflecting upon Capt. Bragg, Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, and upon Mr. Rutledge, recently elected Supreme Court Clerk (as their names have appeared in two or more articles in these columns), we take occasion to say that no such reflection was intended. We have heard of no other name being connected with Judge Brickell's, as affected by such influences, making them at all censurable. Judge Keyes, in his card, charged that Judge Brickell proved to be the majority of the court affected by influences brought to bear against him (Judge Keyes), and Mr. Booth's card implies the same, hence he is the only subject of influences referred to in these columns.

OPINION OF RICE, JONES & WILEY.

The following opinion will prove of great importance to most of our readers:

MONTGOMERY, April 20, 1875.

Hon. C. W. Buckley and the Court of County Commissioners of Montgomery county:

At your request, we proceed to give our opinion upon the question whether section 19 of the amended charter of the city of Montgomery of March 3, 1870, operates to any and to what extent to exempt those who have heretofore procured, or may hereafter procure, a license from the city council of Montgomery, under that section, from the authority conferred upon the court of county commissioners by recent revenue law of March 19, 1875.

Section 19 of said city charter is in the following words:

Sec. 19. Be it further enacted, That retailers of spirituous and other liquors, and all other persons engaged in mercantile pursuits, who may procure a license from said city council for the carrying on of their business in said city, shall be exempted from paying any tax or fees for license to the county of Montgomery, for the privilege of carrying on such business in said city.

Section 101 of said revenue law of March 19, 1875, is in the following words "Sec. 101, Be it further enacted, That any person who after the first Monday in April, eighteen hundred and seventy-five, and after the first Monday in March of each succeeding year, shall be engaged in or carry on any business or profession, or do any act, for the doing, prosecuting or carrying on of which a license is by law required to be taken out, without having paid for and taken out such license, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined three times the amount of such license, and may be confined in the county jail not exceeding one year, at the discretion of the court."

Section 102 of said revenue law enacts "that the price of licenses" (State licenses) shall be as therein specified; and paragraph 20 of said section 102 fixes the price of State licenses for the classes of persons embraced by it, in the following words:

"20. For commission merchants and all other merchants and dealers not herein otherwise named, twenty-five dollars."

Section 104 of the said revenue law of March 19, 1875, explicitly provides, "that the courts of county commissioners are hereby authorized to ADD TO the price of licenses, for county purposes, such sums as they may designate, not to exceed fifty per cent on the State licenses," etc.

Under said section 104, the court of county commissioners of Montgomery county, like every other said court in the other counties of the State, is clothed with a new power—the power to add to the price of State licenses, a sum not exceeding fifty per cent on the price of State licenses, "for county purposes." That law makes no exception of any court of county commissioners; but confers this new power alike upon every such court in the State.

This new power of addition, "for county purposes," is plainly inconsistent and irreconcilable with the longer continuance of the exemption provided for by the said 19th section of the said city charter. The law conferring this new power is later than said city charter; and being inconsistent and irreconcilable with said 19th section, repeals that section, by implication, except only as to those who before the new law was approved (March 19th, 1875), had procured a license under and in accordance with said 19th section, which license had not expired on the said 19th of March 1875. Such a license, so procured before March 19th, 1875, would exempt the person procuring it, for the period covered by it, from the new power conferred upon the Court of County Commissioners, of Montgomery county, by said section 104 of the recent revenue law. It is only persons of that class, who are exempted from the operation and exercise of that new power. And even that class of persons can claim exemption from the exercise of this new power, only for the period covered by licenses obtained in pursuance of said section 19 of said city charter, and prior to said 19th day of March 1875.

A license so obtained, is in the nature of a contract, and could not be impaired by a legislative act passed after it was issued. But said section 19 of said city charter, is not in the nature of a contract; it is a mere law, and subject, like any other similar provision in the charter of a municipal corporation, to repeal, either express or implied, by subsequent legislation.

RICE, JONES & WILEY.

EX-CONFEDERATE OFFICERS of distinction are to be invited to the reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic, which takes place on Wednesday, the 12th of May, at Chicago. Great preparations are in progress for the occasion.

THE cotton factory project at Atlanta is progressing satisfactorily. The stock will undoubtedly be fully subscribed for before the first of next month. The Atlanta people begin to see that it is an excellent investment in every sense. The printers in the Constitution office took $1,000 stock.

THE Northern Pacific railroad is now in the hands of a receiver. It will be a satisfaction to the many sufferers from the collapse of the isothermal enterprise to know that some definite point has been reached at last, for hope and fear have alternately kept possession of their hearts. Of course there is a good deal more of good or bad news to be learned, but important progress has been made in a settlement of the affairs of a gigantic and unfortunate corporation.

FLOATING ITEMS

CAUGHT UP BY THE JOURNAL'S REPORTERS.

—Spring.

—Pleasant driving.

—Latest fashions out.

—Firemen happy that it is over.

—Keep a watch on your gardens.

—No sort of trouble about town.

—Ladies out yesterday inspecting new goods.

—We always stuck to it that spring would come.

—Advertise your goods in the JOURNAL and you will sell them rapidly.

—Use the newspapers, will you? There is a gentleman in Canada has just tried it, and got twenty cents damages.

—We judge from the positiveness of Beecher's evidence that the cross examination of the old man will occupy about seven years.

—One woman of mental activity can, if she has any ambition, keep ten families miserable eleven months in the year.

—The extraordinary change from cold to warm, from winter to summer, observable yesterday, is sufficient to confound the oldest inhabitant.

—Why is a pretty girl like a locomotve engine? Because she sheds off the sparks, transports the males, has a train following her, and passes over the plain.

—The model husband of the period is the man who will hold the baby every night while the wife catches up with the trial.

—Now is the time when the submissive husband expects orders to go aloft into the garret and overhaul trunks; and accordingly begins to make furtive examinations of his shins, to see if there are any traces of those last year's gashes left.

—"Father," replied a Selma girl, tears in her eyes, "you may jaw and jaw, and howl, and rave, and rip, and tear, but I'll marry John Stuart if I die for it!" And the old man leaned back and realized that he might as well try to pull a locomotive up hill.

—"Stay!" he said, his right arm around her waist and her face expectantly turned to him, "shall it be the kiss pathetic, sympathetic, graphic, paragraphic, oriental, horizontal, intellectual, paroxysmal, quick and dismal, slow and unctuous, long and tedious, devotional, or what?" She said perhaps that would be the better way.

—Time's up, and we're still here. The Chicago adventists said we were all to go up last night at 12 o'clock, in a blaze of glory. We are fifteen minutes behind time, and still clinging to the earth. Another disappointment. Now, go right to work until the next ascension day comes.

—The fool saith in his heart there is no profit to be derived by advertising, but the wise man taketh advantage of "the lever that moves the world," and straightway is on the high road to fame and fortune.

—An elopement in Greenville had no novel feature, but it called attention to a strangely complicated family. The wife who eloped was twenty-one years old, having been married seven years, and the husband whom she left was sixty-seven. The husband's two sons by a previous wife are married to his recreant wife's two older sisters, and her brother is the husband of her husband's daughter.

—"Is it possible," asks a correspondent, "for a man during the absence of his wife to give the chambermaid an 'inspired kiss?'" We shouldn't wonder—if he has the right sort of religious training. But a man who isn't orthodox would do well to restrain himself. If the fact of such an indulgence should come to the knowledge of his wife it might breed in her mind some "loose ideas about divorce."

—When the conductor came round for her fare she remarked, with a smile that was white-souled and bland, that she was the daughter of——, mentioning the name of a director of the corporation, and s'posed she could pass. The innocent little ruse might have been successful, but it wasn't, for by a very awkward chance the director himself was present, sitting directly behind the nice young lady, and on being interviewed on the subject by the cautious conductor, very emphatically disclaimed the honor of being the progenitor of the damsel. A scene, of course, ensued, and the young woman reluctantly came down with the fare.

—Yesterday a boot-black followed a man around for several minutes, repeating the inquiry: "Have a shine?" and finally the man exclaimed: "Didn't I tell you plainly five minutes ago that I didn't want my boots blacked?" "You did, mister," replied the boy, "but I thought you might be lying about it?"

—A man about thirty years old, having a shot gun on his shoulder and two pigeons in his hand, was yesterday standing on a street corner telling a crowd that he had been out and killed five hundred pigeons since sunrise. "You're a liar!" shouted a man in the edge of the crowd. The stranger looked at him long and earnestly, and then inquired: "Where did you get acquainted with me?"

WHO IS IT?

Surely on the carpet I hear.
Some quiet mouse that is creeping near;
Two little feet mount the rung of my chair:
True as I live, there is somebody there!
Ten little fingers are over my eyes.
Trying to take me by sudden surprise,
Then a voice, calling in merriest glee,
"Who is it? Tell me, and you may go free."

"Who is it? Leave me a moment to guess.
Some one who loves me!" the voice answers, "Yes."
"Some one who's fairer to me than the flowers,
Brighter to me than the sunshine hours?
Darling, whose white little hands make me blind
Unto all things that are dark and unkind:
Sunshine and blossoms, and diamond and pearl
Mamma's own dear little, sweet little girl."

OUR BOOK TABLE.

MAY MAGAZINES.

ST. NICHOLAS.—There is fun enough in the May number of St. Nicholas to keep the children laughing till the next number comes out—if children are as jolly as we take them to be. First of all is Rose Terry's poem of "Poll Tadpole," which has a very seasonable flavor at this time of the metamorphosis of everything in general and of tadpoles in particular. Almost any one would laugh at the picture of "Poll," taken as he was lying at ease in his paddle, not dreaming that he would soon become a "discontinued baby frog."

Then there is a capital picture by Church, full of this artist's humor. A more graphic expression of the comic effect of a newcomer's entrance has rarely been penciled. The stranger is scanned as closely by his fellow-prisoners as a new boy at a boarding school.

In the poem "Poor Puck," the humor even goes over into Fairyland, and our admiration of Puck's audacity in transgression is equaled by our respect for Queen Mab's tactics and her clever way of punishing the trespasser.

And, as this were not enough, the "Very Little Folks" have their share too—a story, illustrated with five pictures, which, if the baby see them first, will carry the laugh all around the circle to grandpa.

Last, but not least, is Jack-in-the Pulpit, who is always funny.

And St. Nicholas knows how to be serious too: and no girls' story could be sweeter than Susan Coolidge's delightful May-day narrative of "Queen Blossom," with its beautiful illustration by Fredericks. The three illustrated stories by Rebecca Harding Davis, Elsie Gorham, and the author of "Rutledge" will interest everybody, and the practical articles will well repay all who read them, especially the two entitled "About Heraldry" and "The Feast of Flags," the illustrations of which are novelties. But we cannot name all the good things; we only envy the children the monthly happiness of such a magazine.

SCRIBNER FOR MAY.—The three bright faces that look out from the opening page of the May number of Scribner's Monthly are only different views of one girlish head; the still living heroine of a tragedy which will be remembered as long as the name of Napoleon is lauded and reviled among men. The picture here skillfully reproduced is Gilbert Stuart's threefold portrait of Madame Patterson-Bonaparte of Baltimore, one of the most conspicuous victims of the "great" Napoleon's selfish and unscrupulous ambition. The accompanying sketch of "The Baltimore Bonapartes" is an authentic history of this interesting family, which may yet give France its Emperor.

The New Paris Opera-House is described, with pen and picture, in the same number of Scribner. Though its architecture is flagrantly "French"—using the term with its most unpleasant Cockney meaning—it is still a marvelous building, and in all its arrangements and details worthy of careful study. The present description is rapid and uncritical, but gives a good idea of the general style, and of the most curious and striking features of this "Temple of Song."

"Droogmakery" is the all Dutch-to-me title of Col. Waring's carefully prepared account of the drainage of Haarlem Lake—"by much the largest operation of its kind ever undertaken by man." This paper, which includes the entire subject of draining in Holland, is particularly valuable to engineers and those interested in low lands along our coast; but the subject is so simply treated that the "general reader" will find it as interesting as a romance.

Dr. Wm. Hayes Ward, of the Independent, sums up, in an illustrated paper, some of the curious discoveries that have recently been made in ancient Assyrian literature.

In the editorial pages, Dr. Holland writes about "speaking disrespectfully of the Equator," "Popular Arts," and "The Premium on Productive Culture." The Old Colony has something about "English Criticism of American Poetry" and "The Poets Mind and Mood." A new department, entitled "The World's Work" takes the place of "Nature and Science;" and "Etchings" gives way to "Bric-a-brac;" and thus Scribner enters upon its tenth volume.

THE SCIENCE OF HEALTH.—This excellent monthly is as usual filled with a variety of interesting subjects, embracing almost everything that the reader could desire to be informed or edified upon. It is published by S. R. Wells, 737 Broadway, N. Y. Terms $2 per annum, or 20 cents per single copy.

THEATRE.—The Bremond Combination will return here, and appear at our theatre on Monday and Tuesday evenings next. They succeeded in Columbus, and our theatre-going people ought to give them full houses, for they certainly deserve them.

FIREMEN'S PARADE.

Montgomery Fire Department—Grand Display—Engines Covered with Flowers—Beautiful Decorations—Thousands on the Streets—Lafayette No. 9 the Guests of Lomax No. 4

Yesterday was the day of the annual parade of the Fire Department of our city. Up to the hour of 12 m. great fears were expressed that the lowering clouds which hung over the city would burst forth with their torrents of rain. As if by magic as the hour of noon tolled forth from the Capitol clock, the threatening clouds began to drift away, and soon "Old Sol," in all his gorgeous splendor, shone out upon the city, and rolled on in his golden chariot, shedding his genial rays upon the earth, and making the hearts of all leap with joy, and their faces beam with bright smiles.

From early morn till the procession started men, women and children were seen running hither and thither with the choicest tributes from the Goddess Flora, with which to deck the various engines. So profuse was the supply that our city surely deserves the title of "the city of flowers."

Promptly as the alarm bell of the department sounded the hour of 4 o'clock p. m. the procession started from the lower artesian basin, in the following order:

A detachment of police.
Mayor and city council in carriages.
Montgomery Cornet Band.
Ex-officers of the Fire Department.
Chief Engineer S. Schuessler.

HOOK AND LADDER NO. 1.

With 56 men on the ropes, and as fine a body of men as were ever seen. The truck was drawn by four fine bay horses, and it was beautifully decorated, the wheels were entwined with wreaths of flowers, while the front and sides were almost covered with them. On each side was a canvass, with the letters, Mechanic's Hook and Ladder No. 1. On the lamp in front was a fireman's hat with flowers; on the rear was an anvil and hammer, the symbols of the company; in the center was a canopy, environed with the choicest flowers, in which sat the sweet little Miss Willetta McManus, as an "Angel" and with her fairy costume and childish smile, she did indeed appear as if she had dropped from the clouds to add to the beauty of the scene. The company was preceded with their banner, on one side of which was the letters—"Hook and Ladder No. 1;" on the other side—"Instituted May, 1857, prompt to aid in time of need."

Great credit is due to the following gentlemen of the decoration committee: Ira E. Bride, Moses Clay, Peter Schmidt, O. F. Warner, F. Bartelot, C. Kreutner, jr., Geo. J. Johnston, W. T. Walker, and to the many ladies who assisted.

The officers of the company are: T. S. Doran, President; W. A. McBryde, Vice President; D. Englehardt, Director; Moses Clay, 1st Assistant; Felix McManus, 2d Assistant; E. Beebe, Jr., 3d Assistant; J. Curbow, 4th Assistant; D. S. Rice, Secretary; H. W. Hitchcock, Treasurer.

DEXTER NO. 1—STEAMER.

First, a carriage with officers of this company, followed by the banner of the company; then the steamer, with 28 men on the ropes, and drawn by four horses, and the hose cart with mule. This engine was appropriately decorated. The suctions were covered with red velvet and silver fringe, with gold stars—a present from Mrs. Louis Fritz, and designed by the late lamented Francis Widmer, a member of the company, with the motto "Always Ready." From the headlight, was a hanging basket of flowers, with a drapery of imitation down, presented by the wife of Henry Meyer, the Foreman. The boiler was encircled with wreaths of flowers, one of which was a present from the Mechanics Engine No. 7, of Mobile, by S. A. Leonard, an officer of the fire department of Mobile. Every available place on the engine was filled with flowers. The coal box was a bed of roses. On one side of a blue streamer, from the head light to the boiler, was the letters "Always Ready," on the other side "Old Reliable." The hose cart had garlands from the drivers seat to the rear. A circle of flowers rose over all, with a star, inside of which was the figure "1," and under it the letters, "We are here." The hose reel was covered with a cloth of red, white and blue. A little son of T. S. Madigan was marshal, and rode a pony covered with red, white and blue cloth, and with flowers, with a red band around his breast with the letters "Little but Loud." The officers of this company are: A. R. Baker, President; F. McIntyre, Vice President; Henry Meyer, Foreman; M. Duffie, 1st assistant; C. Paravicini, 2d assistant; L. Young, secretary and treasurer.

ALABAMA NO. 2—STEAMER.

First came the Greenville brass band, then the steamer with 26 men on the ropes, and the engine drawn by four black horses, and the hose cart drawn by two big mules driven tandem by Willie Joseph. The suctions were covered with red worsted reps, with gold stars. A streamer reached from the head light to the smoke stack, with the letters—"Try us." The hose cart wheels were decorated with garlands of flowers in star shape, the hose reel covered with red and white cloth, and a hanging basket of flowers. The officers of this company are:

R. H. Sommerville, president; John Crommelin, vice-president; F. J. Williams, foreman; J. A. Norton, 1st assistant; T. W. Hannon, 2d assistant; B. L. Wyman, secretary and treasurer.

Last, but not least, though younger than the other companies, came the

LOMAX HOSE COMPANY.

First was the officers of the company in a carriage, then came a member of the Lafayette engine company of Mobile, bearing the banner of the Lomax, with its motto—"Onward." Side by side was a member of the Lomax company with the banner of the Lafayette No. 9 of Mobile, a beautiful national flag, with the motto of that company, whose broad stripes and bright stars reflected back the sun's bright rays, as the gentle zephyrs caught its silken folds, and waved it over the stout hearts that marched beneath. Then came the hose carriage with 40 men on the ropes, and drawn by two horses, and a horse with rider carrying a banner presented by the ladies of Montgomery. The wheels of the carriage were wreathed with flowers. A platform was built with white hangings and gold stars and garlands of flowers. On this platform was a beautiful blue octagon canopy, with silver fringe and tassels and garlands of flowers around it, which was the tribute of the Lafayette No. 9 to the Lomax No. 4. At each angle of the top of the canopy, with a silver tassel pendant, was a red shield, on which was the name and number of the following fire companies of Mobile: Hook and Ladder No. 1, Hook and Ladder No. 3, Neptune No. 2, Merchants No. 4, Torrent No. 5, Phœnix No. 6, Mechanics No. 7, Washington No. 8. On the front of the platform was a silver urn, pitcher and goblets, prizes won by the company. Inside the canopy between two American shields representing Lomax 4 and Lafayette No. 9 sat the beautiful daughter of Mr. B. McAdams, as the Goddess of Justice, holding in her hands the scales and the sword. High over all was a silver eagle, holding in his beak a blue streamer with the motto—"Young but equal." The balcony of the Lomax engine house was filled with evergreens, and a blue and white flag, with the word "Lomax." A streamer reached across the street with the inscription—"Lomax No. 4 extends greeting." This company is indebted to the Misses Alice Boullemet, Ada Lude, Ada Kimball, and Vivia Riley, of Mobile, for a beautiful wreath. When the company arrived in front of the residence of Henry Meyer, the Misses Selina and Melvina Jacobi, Louise Jacobs, Fannie Faber, and Mesdames Faber and Meyer presented each member of the Lomax with a beautiful bouquet. Jo. Baumer was marshal and mounted on a milk-white pony no larger than himself, while his spotted dog followed with a blue collar with the figures "4" and "9." The following are the members of Lafayette No. 9, who were the guests of the Lomax and in the procession: F. D. Cann, H. Hines, C. H. Lacost, W. D. Horen, J. P. Lott, J. Abrams, W. Wrighton, I. Jannette, W. D. Mann, Phil. Reardy and Frank McKean, from Torrent No. 5, of Mobile, and P. Gibbons, of West Point fire company.

After marching through the principal streets the companies halted on Market street—the head of the column at Lawrence—when Chief Engineer, S. Schuessler, and Assistants D. Englehardt, W. D. Lahey, and J. H. Crenshaw, headed by a band of music, reviewed the companies, after which they marched to their several engine houses. At the Artesian Basin the Lomax company halted, when B. H. Screws, as President, in a neat speech, presented to Jos. Baumer a silver cup for the most meritorious fireman, and also a silver cup to Fred. Watts, as the most punctual member of the company. Mr. E. A. Graham responded for Messrs. Baumer and Watts, in appropriate remarks.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." BY TELEGRAPH.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A private letter from Mt. Vernon, O., brings information that some of the intimate friends of Secretary Delano and Assistant Secretary Cowen have been advised from Washington that the President, before he left, notified Mr. Delano that his resignation was desired, and would be accepted. The reasons assigned by those having confidential relations with the Secretary in the Department of the Interior were that John Delano had been detected in some corrupt transactions so connected with the business of the office that the Secretary must have become aware of them. All the papers in the case were placed in the hands of the President by parties in New York, who had been deliberately blackmailed in connection with certain contracts. The letter further states that the Secretary claims to confidential friends in his office that he was in no sense a party to the transactions of his son. On the other hand the New York parties claim that the proof is conclusive that he must have had full knowledge, and the President so regarded it, and on that account asked for the resignation to take effect within two weeks.

The points in the letter above referred to having been repeated here the friends of Assistant Secretary Cowen, it is ascertained that the main features are true, and that Gen. Cowen has been consulted in regard to succeeding Secretary Delano.

There has been an effort made by John Delano, and influential parties working with him, to conceal the real reasons for the Secretary's retiring, but under the circumstances Gen. Cowen cannot become a party any such arrangement.

The matter first become known among prominent officials in the Interior Department, outside the Secretary's office, to-day, and has formed a matter of most earnest caucussing among them. The stir among those connected with the Indian office, and the office of the Solicitor, is particularly noticeable.

In regard to the scandal manufactured at the West in regard to Treasurer Noe, and at length given currency from Washington, it is proper to say that the charges have no foundation in truth, and that the opposition paper which first gave them circulation subsequently retracted them fully, and admitted that it had been grossly imposed upon.

Now that the right to examine national banks for unstamped checks has been affirmed by the treasury, Commissioner Douglass will, in view of the fact that many banks prefer that all investigations be made by the regular bank examiners, write a letter to the Secretary of the treasury asking that the work may be done by these officers, and that orders be issued directing them to perform the work in the future.

Special agent Park, who was detailed to investigate the affairs of the Fernandina Custom-house, in consequence of the collector—Henry Hazen—having absconded, reports to the department that he has examined Hazen's accounts and finds a deficiency of $1,684, but adds that this deficiency will probably be somewhat increased after a few days, from the fact that many of the checks which Hazen drew just before he left, were compensation for services rendered the government, which had not reached the United States treasurer at New York before the balance then on hand had been exhausted by some of the fraudulent checks which he had issued. Hazen, after leaving Fernandina, proceeded to Savannah.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines preserved in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

MARION, O., April 17, 1875.

Editor Journal: Perhaps some of your readers in the Sunny South will be surprised to know that winter is not yet over up in the North. This is the 17th day of April, and it has been snowing for three days in succession. Stock is stabled and the weather too cold to work out doors. Water freezes in buckets standing in the house at night. The water in the pumps froze yesterday, and ice in the cisterns is 8 to 12 inches thick, not having thawed out since mid winter. The first ten days of April were comparatively warm, and grass started to grow and farmers commenced plowing and sowing oats, though the plow would sometimes slip along on the frozen ground and ice at the bottom of the furrow.

Having just recently left your pleasant city with its luxuriant foliage and profusion of flowers, it seems like stepping backward about three months to come home here to Ohio and see the frozen ground covered with snow. Yet, Ohio is flourishing like a green bay tree. Manufactories are all running on full time and the workmen are paid every Saturday night. Bulding has commenced, and mechanics have plenty to do. Farm hands get $20 per month; corn is 65c. and wheat $1.05 per bushel. Farmers expect to plant corn in about four or five weeks. Wheat looks bad, and fruit is mostly killed. The spring has been very dry, and rivers have not been bank full yet.

Respectfully, S. B.

NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN DEMOCRACY.

Among the Democrats here at the North, a Democratic sucess in the elections, such as that in Cincinnati, is regarded simply as to its bearing on the chances of Democratic success in the Presidential election; but as to any triumph of political doctrine by that event, or as to any change of constitutional principles or administrative policies, beyond putting Republicans out and Democrats in, it would puzzle any Northern Democrat to tell what was to be brought about by it, and if he were to attempt to define, he would raise quick disputation from his Democratic neighbors.

But in the South it is different. The Southern Democratic statesman has political ideas. He is always doctrinal, and what he requires of Democratic success is the carrying of doctrines into practical effect.

As an example of this difference between Northern Democratic materialism—not to say mercenariness—and Southern Democratic idealism, we note the practical observations in the Connecticut election by the Cincinnati Enquirer, on the one hand, and on the other by a number of Southern papers, from which we select the Augusta Constitutionalist as a representative.

Who could have got an idea from the former that the Democratic success in Connecticut meant the repeal of the 14th and 15th amendments, and of all the legislature based upon them? Indeed, who could have derived from that journal an idea that the Democatic success in that State had any idea in it, save that it gave hope of another Democratic success? But the Constitutionalist sees a plain declaration of principle in that election, which is nothing less than that the 14th and 15th amendments and the legislation thereunder shall be repealed. It boldly affirms that the issue was made in the Connecticut canvass, and that the verdict is clear and positive.

Northern Democrats travel on their pretenses of contentment with all the political facts save the possession of government by the Republicans. They disclaim all idea of any measures of revolution. They persuade us that they are so inoffensive that if they can not do us any good they will do no harm, and therefore we may safely try the experiment of a Democratic administration, just for a change. But in the South they offer no such milk and water pretenses. They intend that Democratic ascendancy shall mean something, and upon any Democratic victory in a local election in the South, they speak out in a frankness which would be embarrassing if the Northern candidates had to carry these declarations in the canvass.

The Augusta paper makes the Democratic success in Connecticut a basis for taking to task Senator Gordon because of his declaration in favor of a course which will quiet the Northern distrust of the Democratic party, by convincing the Northern people "that we accept as as final the abolition of slavery and the franchise of the negro, and will defend them as such." This being done, the Senator says: "We will have done very much toward removing the only obstacle that stands between the Democratic party and an overwhelming national triumph." The Constitutionalist pronounces this a too hasty jump at conclusions. It says that the legitimate results of the war are the renunciation of secssion as a remedy and the abolition of slavery, and that these are conceded by all. But it declares:

But when Gen. Gordon essays to make us believe that a majority of the people of the North indorse the legislative war since 1865, as embodied in the 14th and 15th amendments, he argues, we think, not only with rashness but without foundation in fact. In Connecticut, the other day, Mr Blaine made the issue squarely, and was defeated with a Waterloo defeat, even in a New England State.

We doubt if the people of Connecticut knew that their election pronounced for the repeal of these amendments. We doubt if any Democratic journal in the North will affirm it. But this only exemplifies the homogeneity of the Democratic party.

In the same article the Constitutionalist refers to Mr. Hill and Mr. Lamar as having made the wake which Gordon is following, "the former having long ago asserted that the Greeley movement was the wisest and most patriotic thing of the kind in our recent history, while the latter is on record as subscribing heartily to the 14th and 15th amendments as finalities, never to be questioned or repealed."

Thereupon the editor concludes that he did not give a false alarm when he "predicted that another Greeley movement was in contemplation in certain powerful and influential quarters," by which to gain "a triumph not of principle but of party in 1876." It goes on to say that Greeley "failed to convince many thousands of voters that he was any better than a movement like his was any better than that of the common enemy;" and it asserts that "When the people of this country are presented with square issues they will harmonize quickly enough and triumphantly enough as they did in Connecticut." But "if the same old dodge is to be play d in 1876 as was played in 1872, they will teach the engineers of such folly a lesson they will not be apt to forget."

The rest of the article is a continuation of affirmations that a reaction has set in among the people of the North, and that they have condemned these amendments as the cause of the ruin in the South and the consequent stagnation of Northern industry and commerce, all this directed to the lesson of making the issue boldly on principle in the Presidential election.

All this is frightful to the Northern Democrat. His nature is doughfaced, as of old. And as there are enough in the South that will be weakened by Northern Democratic influences, to divide and weaken that section, we suspect that the ardent spirits who are now pronouncing so boldly down there will have to submit to some nomination designed, like the Greeley movement, to deceive.—Cincinnati Gazette, April 16.

THE LITTLE HATCHET STORY AGAIN.

A little boy having heard a beautiful story about a little boy and a hatchet, and how, because the little boy wouldn't tell a lie, he, in time, got to be president of the United States, was very much impressed by it.

Now, it so happened that on the last day of March he was just ten years old, and his father asked him what he would like to have for a birthday present.

Very naturally the boy's answer was, "A little hatchet, if you please, papa."

The father bought him a little hatchet that very day, and the boy was so delighted that he actually took it to bed with him.

Early the next morning he got up, dressed himself, took his little hatchet and went out into the garden. There, as luck would have it, the first thing that caught his eye was his father's favorite cherry tree.

"My eyes!" exclaimed the little boy to himself; "what a time my father would make if a fellow were to cut that tree!"

It was a wicked thought, for it led him into temptation. There was the tree—tall, straight and fair—standing invitingly before him, just the thing for a sharp little hatchet. And there was the hatchet—strong, sharp and shining—just the thing for a favorite cherry tree. In an other instant the swift strokes of a hatchet were heard in the still morning air, and before long a small boy was seen running toward the house. His father met him at the door.

"My boy, what noise is that I heard just now? Surely you have not been at my favorite cherry tree!"

The boy stood proudly before him, but with downcast eyes and flushing cheeks.

"Father," he said, "I cannot tell a lie. That cherry tree is——"

"Say no more," said the father, extending his arms. "You have done wrong, my son; but you have spoken the truth. I forgive you. Better to——"

This was too much. The boy rushed into his father's arms.

"Father!" he whispered, April fool! I haven't touched the cherry tree; but I most chopped the old apple stump to pieces."

"You young rascal, you!" cried the father, "do you mean to say you haven't chopped my cherry tree? April fool your old father, will you! Take off your coat, sir!"

With a suppressed sob that little boy obeyed. Then, shutting his eyes, he felt his father's hand descending upon his shrinking form.

"My son," said the father solemnly, as he stroked the little shoulder, "it is the 1st of April. Go thy way."

A BREACH OF FAITH.

The country had hardly begun to congratulate itself on the settlement of the Louisiana difficulties, says the Louisville Commercial, before there is a beginning of fresh troubles, and this time the troubles come from what, according to our present advices, is a very evident and flagrant breach of faith on the part of Conservatives. Having obtained, by the carrying into effect of the compromise suggested by the Congressional Committee, a majority in the lower House of the Legislature, and got control of its organization, the Conservatives have at once used their power to unseat such a number of Republican Representatives as will give them a majority on joint ballot. They justify their action by asserting that it was a part of the compromise agreed upon that all the Conservatives reported elected by the Returning Board should be seated; but that is evidently a mere subterfuge, because they put up no such pretense until what were, by common consent and by the members of the Congressional Committee, recognized as the terms of the compromise had been ratified and carried into effect. That was all done last week, and the result telegraphed over the country, and on Saturday last the only senator who was displaced by the compromise resigned; the Senate passed the act recognizing the Kellogg government previously passed by the House, and the House, which had before that day elected Estilette, Conservative, proceeded to perfect its organization by choosing Conservatives to all the minor places. Nothing was said all that time about any more seats in the House to be claimed under the award, and it was part of that award that membership, as fixed by it, should remain undisturbed, except by vacancies occurring by death or resignation. Mr. Wheeler, the member of the Congressional Committee charged under the terms of the agreement with the duty of seeing it carried out, had left the city, and announced in Washington, where he arrived Sunday morning, that the adjustment was a complete success, and had been carried through triumphantly, and he was strong in the conviction that it had been adopted in good faith. Mr. Wheeler certainly knew what the terms of the compromise were. We wonder what he thought about the "good faith" of the Conservatives when he read the dispatches from New Orleans yesterday? The New Orleans papers of Sunday, so far as we have seen, contains no hint that the compromise had not been fully carried out according to its terms, so far as the membership of the two Houses was concerned, and there is nothing in the proceedings of the Legislature during Friday and Saturday that indicate that anything more was claimed. As it looks now, the Conservatives of the Louisiana Legislature have committed a breach of faith that will be a lasting stain on their party, and do lasting harm in Southern politics. It is not a thing done in a corner, but in the face of the nation, and stain on their honor will be as notorious as it is dark. The Republicans in the Senate need to act with great discretion. The purpose to adjourn the Senate sine die, if the members expelled in violation of the compromise are not seated, should not be carried out. It will be in violation of their Constitution, and put them in the wrong. The House has control over its own membership by the Constitution, and if the majority of its members choose to break their plighted faith, the only remedy against them is to be sought before the bar of public opinion, and in an appeal to the people, who, whatever their temporary excitements and prejudices may be, never in the end look with anything but disgust on treachery and cheating.

THE rumor that Secretary Delano has been requested by the President, to tender his resignation seems to be credited very generally in Washington, notwithstanding the fact that the Associated Press Agent has telegraphed to the contrary. We must here repeat what we have stated several times heretofore, that the Associated Press Agent in Washington is either not reliable, or knows nothing of his business. The Advertiser of yesterday morning contains a dispatch in reference to this matter which bears upon its face improbability—to use no harsher term. Our dispatches are not made up to suit the peculiar tasts of the different sections, but the Southern and Atlantic telegraph company furnish us news direct, and without any tincture of political cooking. The Washington Star referring to the matter, says:

The cause for this step is believed to be a general distrust of the manner in which the affairs of that department have been managed for some time past, although the immediate provocation is stated to be the corrupt complication or charges of improper conduct on the part of the son of the Secretary, in connection with certain territorial officers. Of course, we do not vouch for the truth of the rumors above referred to, and merely give them for what they may be worth, with the remark that they find many believers.

PRUSSIA informs Belgium, about as peremptorily as diplomatic language permits of, that she must change her laws the better to protect German interests. If it were five years later Belgium wouldn't do it; but, at present, she is likely to find it advisable.

THE COTTON MARKET.

The New York Financial Chronicle reports the week's receipts at 37,760 bales; total receipts 3,274,491 bales; decrease from last year 178,509 bales; stock 587,491 bales; increase over last year, 12,617; the eleven interior towns' receipts, 14,890—increase over last year, 1,516, and have stocks of 113,504—2,122 more than in 1874; the stocks of the seven old interior towns decreased during the week 7,134 and their receipts were 2,559 less than in 1874; visible supply 83,501 less than last year; Indian shipments since January 1st, 567,000—113,000 more than last year; stock at New York, 192,512—47,924 more than in 1874.

Weather more satisfactory for planting purposes, but almost everywhere the temperature continues lower than is desirable and farm work is backward. Excessive rains were the complaint at this time last year, and plantation work was said to be backward on that account.

Market in New York generally dull. On Tuesday quotations were reduced ⅛c., under dull accounts from Liverpool, increased port receipts and accumulation of stock at New York? The advance in gold and exchange created a demand for export. Since Monday receivers have been anxious to sell from the wharf. For future delivery, the pressure to sell has almost amounted to a semi panic, and except a slight reaction Monday, and a recovery of ⅛c. on Wednesday, the decline has been very uniform, amounting to 5-16@⅜c. for the present crop, and 3-16 (@¼c. for the next crop. The depression is attributable to the burden of present stocks, and the need of providing for their more rapid reduction. Friday the present crop advanced to 1-16c., and there was more doing in the next crop. Week's sales for forward delivery 257,050; for immediate delivery 7,208—5,038 for export, 1,318 for consumption and 572 for speculation.

TO SHOW their untruthfulness it is only necessary to state that Mr. Hines, instead of pleading guilty, has made a vigorous defense on a preliminary examination now being had before a U. S. Commissioner. Whether he is guilty or innocent remains to be seen.—Talladega Home.

The Home is laboring under a very great delusion, or else the Washington Chronicle is guilty of falsehood—which we do not believe. We learn from the Chronicle that Hines stood up—square up, and acknowledged that he had been guilty of the acts alleged—except so far as bribery was concerned. He denied that he had bribed anybody, but has not denied tampering with the contracts and the other fraudulent and corrupt acts alleged against him. He is making a defense against the charge of bribery, but has even been bound over on that in a bond of $2,500. We are as far from injuring the character of our fellow man as any human can be, but when a man, of his own volition, confesses that he has committed crimes, for which the punishment is imprisonment in the penitentiary, we must admit that we have no scruples against exposing such a man to the gaze of the world.

THE Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette writes that Miss Aldyce, daughter of Judge Aldyce, from Vermont, appointed to examine into the Alabama claims, will be united in marriage to a Mr. Lathrop, of Chicago, whose parents are residents of Washington, but who are at present traveling over the continent. Miss Aldyce is very cultivated, and possesses great repose of manner. She is a fragile looking blonde, and Mr. Lathrop is also a decided blonde. [Chicago Inter-Ocean.

This is either too much information or not enough. How much money has the male blonde? and how much is the old chap, her father, going to give his daughter? What sort of clothes does Lathrop wear? Does he smoke, or drink, and how is he on billiards? Who is going to perform the ceremony, and what are the names of the bridesmaids? What will the bride wear on the happy occasion, and will the dresses be ordered from Paris? These and a hundred other particulars ought to be forthcoming. We never heard of Lathrop before, nor Aldyce either, for that matter; but if the private affairs of the two families are the subject of public comment, why cheat the appetite for gossip with such an unsatisfactory paragraph as the one we have quoted? It would be much better to let the couple get married quietly, and say nothing about it; but if the newspapers are going into the business of retailing the private affairs of families, let them give the fullest details, so that the world may know all about it.

IF we are to credit Mr. Tennyson's assertion, that "in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," we must none the less credit our own senses that in the spring a ruffian's fancy turns to the murdering of his wife. There have been some horrible phases of the epidemic within the past fortnight, in which wives' throats have been cut with an abandon suggestive of anything but civilization. New York capped the climax on Saturday, with a drunken husband, who attempted to beat out the brains of his wife, his wife's sister, and his own brother, with a shovel. It is a curious fact that murders of this horrible class break out in the spring with the same luxuriance as the weeds and the foliage. Suicides, too, run hand in hand with them; and marriages, and other calamities of that class, are also prevalent. Will some scientist be kind enough to explain it all? Does the spring-time cause the sap to run as riotously in man as in the maple?

STATE NEWS.

[By yesterday's mail to the State Journal.]

Macon county has two Probate Judges, one elected, one appointed.

—The Selma Times of yesterday, says:

The sound of the hammer and trowel is heard no more in the land, and mechanics are all idle.

—Selma is fearfully dull at this time, and there cannot be any great change for several months. Ibid.

—The Times says of Selma's spelling match:

The basement of the Presbyterian church was crowded to repletion last night, the attraction being the spelling match. Everything went off pleasantly, and not an incident occurred to mar the happiness of the occasion. We were unfortunately prevented from attending, but will have a report in to-morrow's issue from a special reporter. A handsome sum was made for the Orphans Home at Tuskegee. The affair is to be repeated shortly at Gillman's Hall.

—The Mobile Register of Wednesday evening, says:

The rivers all continue falling, and the farmers are making great progress with their crops. The steamboatmen all say that the farmers are in good spirits and are planting large crops. They do not apprehend any more high water this season. It is quite cheering to hear such reports from the country. There were no arrivals yesterday, and none expected to-day.

—The Jasper Eagle wants Col. A. H. McLung elected to the constitutional convention, to represent Walker county. Is Col. McLung a farmer?

—The following summary of the Mobile races, we clip from the Register of Wednesday evening:

SUMMARY:

The Maid	1 1
Tom Collins	2 2
Rushville	4 3
Duchess	6 4
One-Eyed Joe	3 dis
Jeff Brown	5 dis

Time—3:04; 3:00½.

—Mobile is also spelling, and took a turn on Tuesday night. One of the words no one could spell, was "Cygnet."

—The Selma Times says:

Major P. G. Clark, special agent of the Postonice Department for Alabama, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of investigating mail depredations on the Alabama Central railroad route. We hope he will harness some of the scoundrels.

—The most reliable reports from the country show the damage to crops by Sunday and Monday's frosts to have been slight.—Ibid.

MARRIED—At the residence of the bride's mother, Thursday, April 15, by the Rev. Mr. Robey, G. W. GUNN, JR., to Miss MARY FANNIN, all of this place. [Tuskegee News.

—The following items of news we clip from the Tuskegee News of yesterday:

—Not one of the Tuskegee merchants went North this spring for their stock of goods, We presume they could purchase as full and complete an assortment by sample. Very convenient arrangement and one, no doubt, very satisfactory to the merchant.

—Marbles is the favorite game in Tuskegee, just now. Lawyers, merchants, judges, doctors, editors, loafers and in fact gentlemen of every profession take part, and the sidewalks are made lively by the sport.

—Memorial day draws near to hand, and as yet we have not heard one word from the ladies. We don't know whether the day will be observed here or not, but we do think that our ladies might afford to strew flowers upon the graves of those fallen heroes, and pay this small tribute to their sacred memory.

—Tuskegee is to have a spelling bee. The Light Infantry Club are preparing for one at the Good Templar's Hall. This is the favorite source of amusement for other places, and we must not be behind the times. Sides have been chosen, so we learn, and our people may expect a real treat.

—The Eufaula Times of Wednesday reports about the crops: The late cold snap gave the cotton that was up and the young corn in this section a serious back set. On much of the low lands replanting will have to be done. Accounts from the lower counties in this State and West Florida, say the farmers are now "chopping out" cotton and have generally a good stand. The corn crop is looking well, considering the fact that it has had so much rain and cold. A large area of land has been planted in oats, which are in a flourishing condition.

—A letter from Marengo to the Selma Times, says that in consequence of the exodus of the negroes (from the black belt) there is compelled to be a considerable falling off in the cotton crop of Alabama. If (says the Greenboro Beacon) the deficiency in the supply of labor has the effect of diminishing the cultivation of cotton, and increasing, to a corresponding extent, the cultivation of provision crops, the condition of the planting interest will be thereby improved.

—We learn from the Times of Wednesday, that on Monday morning last, about daylight, Turner D. Patterson, city marshal of Eufaula, was found dead upon the ground, at the northeast corner of Gilbert Williams' house, nearly opposite the Montgomery and Eufaula railroad depot, on lower Broad street. The examining physician was of opinion that his death was caused by apoplexy, and the coroner's inquest found accordingly. He was an efficient officer and a very popular man, a native of North Carolina, and about 65 years of age.

—The Selma Republican says: Mr. J. F. Harrison, formerly of Dallas county, Alabama, died of apoplexy, on the 17th of March, 1875, in the city of St. Louis, Mo.

Letter from the Bald Eagle of the Flats.

Great Excitement about the new Tax Law—Resolutions adopted by the People in Mass Convention.

BOURBON FLATS,
CHILTON COUNTY, April 20, 1875.

Since my last letter announcing myself as a Democratic candidate for Governor under the new constitution to be made by our party this fall, there has been great excitement at the Flats. I was in the back room of Jim Skanes' licker shop playing a game of seven up for a dollar a corner, and had just turned up jack from the bottom thereby winning the game, when in rushed Jim almost out of breath, and in a high state of mental excitement. Yearthquake, said he, you know I am a public spirited man and always tries to act square with the boys, you know, I laid in 12 barrels of licker last week, calculating as I told you at the time, that it would carry me thro' the summer. Yes, said I, Jim I remembered what you said, but what in thunder is the matter? Matter!—rattlesnakes and green persimmons—matter!! Why the Democratic legislature we elected last fall have gone and passed a law makin it a penitentiary offense for any one to sell or give away any licker within 5 miles of that cussed little nigger church over yonder on the hill—and more an that, they have gone an passed another law making every man as sells licker take out a State and county license, and pay a tax of $30 on every 100 dollars worth of licker they sells—credit or no credit—and more than that, the Democrat Attorney General have gone and give his opinion that the law means what it says, and have got to be carried out. The idea of a Democrat Attorney General—(Here Jim's feelings overpowered him and he had to console himself with about half a pint of red-eye.)

As soon as the news got out the Flats arose as one man and determined to hold a mass meeting on Saturday next, and devise ways and means of meeting the emergency. Accordingly the meeting was held in the White League hall in the back part of John Stout's grocery, and, as is usual in all meetings held at the Flats, I was called on to preside. The committee appointed by the chair reported the following resolutions, viz:

Resolved, By the Democratic party of Bourbon Flats, in mass convention assembled, That we learn with alarm of the action of the legislature in imposing a tax on the sale of liquor, and that in our opinion no tax should be put on necessaries of life.

Resolved further, That in our judgment the passage of any law restricting and taxing the sale or giving away of liquor is revolutionary and unconstitutional, and is calculated to undermine the principles of free government, and destroy the Democratic party.

Resolved further, That in the opinion of this convention, the law lately passed, taxing the sale of liquor don't mean what it says and that the Attorney General is hereby requested to modify his opinion, put his fag machine in operation, and if he has to decide that the law does mean what it says, to do so in a way that will leave it doubtful as to what it does mean, and not make it binding on the Democratic party.

Resolved further, That the peace and good order and moral standing of this community alike demands the immediate removal of Mount Hope nigger church to a distance of more than five miles from the city of Bourbon Flats, in said county, the same being hereby declared a nuisance, and that the deacons and elders of said church be notified to move said church within 36 hours, or this meeting will feel called upon to move it themselves without further notice.

Esquire Dickson then addressed the meeting. He said that for more than 40 years he had always voted the Democratic ticket, that the news about taking out licenses and taxing licker had come upon him like a clap of thunder from a cloudless sky. If licker was not allowed to be sold at Bourbon Flats where was our boasted liberty—the country was ruined, and the Democratic party might as well disband forever [applause] and turn the rest over to the Radicals. What carried New York last fall; what carried Connecticut this spring? He answered, licker [great applause]. What carried Alabama and a Democratic Congress? He answered, in the name of the great Democracy, licker! [Tremendous applause.] What inspired the patriotic White League in Louisiana to clean out the scallawags and carpet-baggers—licker, only licker! [Prolonged applause.] And, with free licker, and plenty of it, Mr. Chairman, we will carry the President and all the officers in '76. Then we can get pay for our niggers, government will be administered according to the principles of our fathers—he hoped the resolutions would pass. Col. Brown said he concurred in the spirit of the resolutions. He merely arose to make a suggestion; he did not see how the Attorney General was to get around the opinion he had already given. Would it not be well for the Governor to put the whole matter in the hands of the devoted lawyers who managed the Chattanooga railroad for Governor Lindsay? To be sure, it would be expensive, but the whole blame could be laid to the fractious radical opposition in the Legislature. Anything would be better than for the party to try to get along without picker—licker was the Democratic sinews of war.

Maj. Higgins was in favor of employing the lawyers. The expense would be small. He knew a lawyer in Montgomery, whom he once had in a suit about a cow with the railroad, that would give a good Democratic opinion for a bushel of sweet potatoes. After full discussion the resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the meeting adjourned for the purpose of taking some true inwardness.

I am receiving many letters from all over the State favoring my election, and also the election of a full ticket of State and county officers this fall. They all agree that every man who has accepted office under the infamous Radical Constitution is as dead as the ones who made it, and that we must wipe out entirely and start new this fall.

Yours in the cause,
JOHN RANDOLPH BARTHOLD,
of Bourbon Flats.

—The Alabama river is nearly down to the low water mark, at Selma.

—Major P. G. Clark, special agent in the postoffice department, was in our city on yesterday, looking after business of importance connected with the mail service. The Major is a gentleman in every respect, and an ardent Republican—one that we are always glad to meet. We are informed by those directly connected with the postoffice department that he is one of the best and most successful agents in the employ of the government. Ibid.

WE learn from the Washington National Republican that the Hon. Alexander White, of Alabama, arrived in that city a few days since, and will remain there for several days. He visited Washington to attend a suit now pending before the United States Supreme Court, in which he is attorney. Col. White is one of the ablest lawyers in this country, and will no doubt succeed in making a very favorable impression upon the Supreme Court Judges.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

Surgeon Suddards of the United States Navy, writing from Port Royal, S. C., expresses the fear that the yellow fever will break out again on the Southern coast, as soon as the warm weather sets in. In his letter he says:

When the hot weather returns, which may be expected from day to day, I very much fear a fresh outburst of disease. Since early in the winter all the old residents of Key West with whom I came in contact, invariably expressed themselves as fearful of a very sickly season. In Havana, too, I made a point of asking the opinion of almost every one I met on this point. It was the same. A general apprehension was felt, and even the most conservative were compelled to acknowledge their fears. The increased temperature of the past winter being 6° above the average, the undue prevalence of southerly and easterly winds, and the absolute absence of northers during the whole winter, the general opinion existing among those who have had best opportunities to observe and form a judgment, and the actual appearance of yellow fever so early at Havana and Key West, all combine to favor the belief that any protracted stay of a large naval force at either of these places might have a most calamitous result, and would, therefore, be in the highest degree imprudent.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 1875.

BRIEF NOTES.

—Light rain yesterday.

—The streets are not dusty now.

—Business was rather brisk yesterday.

—Our subscription still increasing in the city and country.

—Hon. John Bruce, U. S. District Judge, is in the city.

—Politics seem to be dying out, which is the greatest relief of the season.

—Merchants ought to advertise and keep up a lively trade.

—H. Freiburg & Bro., 104 Commerce street, have just received a large lot of liquors, of all kinds.

—The late cold snap has not injured crops hereabouts to any extent.

—No community like ours can prosper unless the newspapers are made lively by patronage.

—The firemen were all tired and sleepy yesterday.

—The Advertiser is trying very hard to elect Ann Pollard to an office.

—No professional man lives so much from hand to mouth as a dentist.

—The man who courted an investigation says it isn't so good as an affectionate girl.

—An Iowa editor recently announced that a certain patron of his was "thieving as usual." It was written thriving.

—Nature abhors a vacuum, and that's why some people when they catch cold always find that it settles in their heads.

—Said an Irish justice to an obstreperous prisoner on trial: "We want nothing but silence, and but little of that."

—The fashionable watering-places and summer resorts are "fixing up," getting ready for "the season."

—As laughter enables mirth and surprise to breathe freely, so tears enable sorrow to vent itself patiently. Tears hinder sorrow from becoming despair, and laughter is one of the privileges of reason confined to the human species.

—"Now, boys, suppose twelve men divide forty-eight bushels of corn equally, how many is that for each?" Boldest boy: "Please, sir, we've not gone that far." "Your teacher told me you had learned all the first four rules." Boy: "Yes, sir; but we have always done our sums in potatoes or turnips. We never had any corn."

—Rural journalism has its little peculiarities, it must be admitted. As, for instance, a countryman comes in to leave a bunch of horse-radish, and requests a pleasant notice of his arrival in town also would like to have it mentioned that his farm, two yoke of oxen, a cow and a pair of bob-sleds are for sale.

AFTER the parade of the firemen, on Wednesday, the Dexter boys regaled their friends with an excellent punch.

A HEAVY rain fell Wednesday night. Yesterday was cold and dreary, and in the evening a rain set in which will do no good to the gardens.

PREPARATIONS are being made for decorating the soldiers graves on the 26th—next Monday. The Ladies Memorial Association are actively at work.

THE "calico hop," at the Standard Club to-morrow night, will be a most enjoyable affair. A prize will be given to prettiest costume.

REV. DR. JACOBS will deliver a lecture at the Jewish Temple to-night, and again on Sunday night, upon the events of the Passover.

THE State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association met last night at the Court street Methodist Church, and organized.

A GREAT many strangers are in the city, attracted by the Young Men's Christian Association and the prize drill of the Montgomery Greys.

THE members of the LaFayette fire company of Mobile remained in the city yesterday. Our fire laddies showed them around the city, and did the agreeable generally.

COL. ROBERT MEEK, the efficient and clever Superintendent of the South and North railroad, has been in our city for a few days on business connected with the road. He will probably move his headquarters to this city next fall. Hope so.

CALIFORNIA seems to be the Mecca to which our young men are turning. Mr. Jas. Kennedy left last week for that land of gold, and on Sunday, Daniel Lewy, son of Henry Lewy will start for San Francisco. Success attend them.

IT is said that the Honorable, the Supreme Court Judges, were all in the city yesterday. What is the matter? Is it the clerkship of the court, the Revenue law muddle, or the municipal election which troubles their Honors? "Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown."

THE Advertiser has been terribly exorcised over the fact that the Conservative citizens will not swallow the Bourbon candidates which their "ring convention" put forth for the city offices. In its wrath it attacks men who have been endorsed for aldermen, and who are not known as partisans, and who were men of property and standing long years before the writers on that paper lived in Montgomery, simply because they will not wear the collar of the "ring."

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Special Meeting.

COUNCIL CHAMBER, April 22, 1875.

Present—His Honor, the Mayor; Aldermen Myer, Ferguson Weil, Billingslea, Janney and Moses.

On motion, inspectors for the next municipal election were appointed. [See advertisement.]

On motion the Treasurer and Finance committee were instructed to sell to the best advantage, the "city certificates" that have been collected by the city.

Alderman Ferguson offered a resolution that after this date no fees shall be paid from the city treasury to attorneys for prosecuting criminal cases before the Mayor, involving the purchase or obtaining of registration certificates, the Mayor having satisfied himself of the bearing of the law in such cases. Lost.

On motion the council adjourned.

TOLIVER PAGE was tried by the Mayor yesterday for defrauding an old negro man out of his registration certificate and fined $100. He was defended by Messrs. Ferguson and Moses. Page was held in $500 bond to answer an indictment before the city court. Judge Rice appeared for the city.

ON the beautiful fountain at the markethouse, which was presented to the city by the Mechanic's Hook and Ladder company, during the parade of the firemen on Wednesday, was suspended a placard which read: "Neglected but not forgotten." Rather expressive, especially as the fountain has been dry for a good while.

COTTON in our market is dull and quiet at 15¼c. for low middlings. During the week near a hundred bales has been received by wagons, all of which is from the upper counties, which shows that the small farmers have produced grain, and are able to hold their cotton.

WE were misinformed when we said that D. Englehardt was Director of the Hook and Ladder company. He is Assistant Engineer of the fire department, and Moses Clay is Director of the Hook and Ladder. Instead of 56, there were 63 men on the ropes.

THE decorating committee of the Lomax company were B. H. Screws, S. Jacobi, C. R. Dickerson, Jos. Baumer, and J. B. Shorter. The officers for the present year are, B. H. Screws, President; R. H. Adams, Foreman; C. R. Dickerson, 1st Assistant; S. Jacobi, 2d Assistant; H. W. Bernheim, Secretary; D. C. Hanson, Treasurer; W. Snabel, Steward.

TWO of our old and well known citizens had a quarrel on Commerce street yesterday, and collided for a short while. They succeeded in attracting as large an audience almost as the Beecher trial. Friends of the parties interfered and separated the contestants before any serious damage had been done. Morally, this is a bad example for young men. But—well, such is life!

BISHOP YOUNG was in a bad fix yesterday. He sold an old white horse to a darkey for $10, but before the money was raised the horse was about to lay down and die, from being so weak. The colored man got scared, and did not come down with the greenbacks, and we never did learn what became of that old white horse.

For the information of business men, we quote prices for domestic goods, in the wholesale houses. The following prices ruled on yesterday:

Indian Hill ⅞ shirting per yard	7c
Indian Hill 4-4 sheeting per yard	8½c
Magnolia ⅞ osnaburgs per yard	10½c
Magnolia yarns per bunch	1.10
Tallassee 4-4 per bunch	8½c
Antangaville osnaburgs per yard	11c
Sewing thread (20 lbs box) per lb	37½c
Cotton rope per pound	19c
Tallassee sheeting per yard	7½c
Crescent 8 oz osnaburgs per yard	11½c

THE Lomax company treated their friends to a splendid punch after the parade on Wednesday. At night they gave a "social hop" at their rooms to their friends, which was a pleasant entertainment. Ice cream and cake were served in profuse supply. The Lomax boys always do everything in style. Their guests, the Lafayette No. 9, of Mobile, are loud in praise of the hospitality of the "boys of the blue hat."

MAYOR FABER and Aldermen Weil and Meyer were the only representatives of the city government who were in the carriages in the parade of the firemen. Where was Moses, the alderman, and the real estate and insurance agent? The fire boys protect the houses which he rents, and they save the policies of the insurance companies which he represents. His illustrious biblical ancestor led the children of Israel, but our modern Moses did not lead the "heroes of the trumpet and spanner" on Wednesday.

BASE ball is the rage with the young men, and even the smaller lads of the city have caught the fever. There are no less than a dozen clubs already and no telling how many more will be organized before the season is over. The Henshaw's will play a match game this afternoon at 3 o'clock, with the Hammer's at the Werth's grounds, for six balls and bats. Each club has been hard at work, and a good game may be expected. The Goetter and the Houston clubs, composed of lads of about 14 years, will play a match game at 3 o'clock to-day at the grounds near the Eufaula depot. Old base ballists say these little chaps are lively at the bat and base. It is good exercise, but rough on the hands.

"OLD PROBS" has managed in some way to get the weather business terribly mixed lately, and we suggest that he give it up, or do better. Overcoats and fires will do in winter, but are decidedly out of place on the 22d day of April.

PERSONAL.—Professor McDonald, the great Terpsichorean King, and Prince of the polite art, who is now teaching the young people of Troy how to "trip the light fantastic," was in the city yesterday, full of good humor and smiles as usual.

CAPT. J. J. OSBORNE, special agent U. S. Internal Revenue Department, arrived in the city yesterday, and is looking in excellent health. Capt. Osborne is a good officer and serves the government faithfully.

WE were pleased to see so many of the old firemen at the ropes on the parade. Mr. E. Beebe who has filled all the posts from high private to Chief Engineer of the Department, was out with the Hook and Ladder Company as he always is.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." BY TELEGRAPH.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The statement that Secretary Delano has been requested to resign has been the general theme of conversation to-day. Nothing more definite than telegraphed last night can be ascertained at the Interior Department. The publicity which the matter has attained is attributed to indiscreet talk on the part of friends of John Delano, both here and in Ohio. The main fact, however, remains that the President, after inspection of papers forwarded by certain New York parties, decided to make a change in the Interior Department.

A second letter has been received from Ohio, to-day, saying that Mr. Delano's friends there had received information within a few days that he was soon to retire. There is great commotion in the Interior Department, and the return of the President's party is anxiously awaited.

Connected with these positive statements in regard to Secretary Delano, there are rumors which seem to be of more than ordinary significance, to the effect that Attorney General Williams will also leave the Cabinet in a short time. The information in this case comes from gentlemen who pretend to have received it from some government officials in New York City, with the further statement that a very prominent lawyer in that place is to succeed Mr. Williams.

The Star, which is usually very careful in all its points about the Cabinet, this afternoon has the following: "Rumors are again current of a change in the Cabinet; this time with apparently more foundation than is usually the case with such reports. The statement telegraphed hence last evening, and generally accepted by knowing ones here, is to the effect that Mr. Delano will retire from the Department of Interior at an early day, in consequence of a request to that effect from the President, made just before leaving for the North last week."

The resignation of Attorney General Williams was placed in the hands of the President on the day previous to his departure for Concord, Massachusetts. Mr. Williams, in his letter of resignation, desired to be relieved upon the appointment of a successor, and, at all events, by the middle of May. This action on the part of the Attorney General became necessary owing to his desire to engage in the practice of law. Mr. Williams' retirement will be especially regretted by the members of the press, to whom he uniformly extended all possible courtesies. Rumor has it that he will be succeeded by Secretary Bristow, and the names of Judge Pierrpout, of New York, and Gen. Butler, of Massachusetts, are also mentioned in connection with the office.

Weather Report.

For the South Atlantic and Gulf States, partly cloudy weather, and rain near the coast, with northerly to easterly winds, slowly rising temperature, and rising barometer.

FROM ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, April 22.—Mr. H. D. Driscoll, a prominent banker, merchant and politician of this city, has recently fallen heir to a fortune amounting to $580,000, in Uralve, Texas. The bequest was made by his uncle, and consists principally of an interest in a flourishing bank. Mr. Driscoll leaves at once to take charge of his fortune.

FROM CONNECTICUT.

WEST MERIDEN, April 22.—A tank at Meriden woolen mills burst this evening, and ninety-six tons of water came crashing through the mills. Serious damage was done the goods in the main building and some of the machinery. If connections can be made with the water pipes of the city the mills will start again to-morrow. The loss will amount to about $10,000.

FROM IOWA.

SIOUX CITY, April 22.—The expedition which left this place on the 8th of April, has been definitely ascertained to be sixty miles southwest of Yankton, on the 18th, having passed through Creighton, Neb., on that day.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 22.—A special to the Times from Fort Laramie states that a party of gold hunters report large discoveries of gold veins. At one place a man was making $10 a day in good weather. No Indians were seen, but the government was firm in driving them off.

Carl Schurz has accepted an invitation to attend a banquet in his honor on the 27th inst., previous to his departure for Europe.

The steamer Stonington while being re coppered to day, sank in 18 feet water, in six minutes. Loss $20,000. All the workmen, about forty, escaped.

A dispatch to the Sun from Washington says the Supreme Court will adjourn on the 3d of May.

FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, April 22.—The body of Mr. Adolph Davis, one of the yacht disaster, was found on the beach of Sullivan's Island, and taken to the citadel.

Capt. Courtney has tendered his fine iron steamer, South Carolina, to the celebration of the German Fusileers.

COLUMBIA, April 22.—Ex-State Treasurer Parker, who was arrested yesterday, charged with appropriating State funds to his personal benefit, was held in a bail of $56,000, and he remains quietly in jail. A new case was brought against him to-day by Comptroller General Dana, on an affidavit that Parker was preparing to leave the State. The second complaint alleges that Parker failed to cancel coupons, while State treasurer, to the amount of $450,000 which he had paid; that he embezzled the said coupons, and placed in their stead coupons to an equal amount which he knew to be invalid, and on which no payment had been made, whereby the State was damaged $225,000. The State of South Carolina is plaintiff, verification is made by Attorney General Welto. Parker's bail in this case is fixed at $250,000.

FROM PENNSYLVANIA.

Special Notices.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and clears it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and persons.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON & CO.—Gents:—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; easily emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many test monials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 24, 1874. It is an improvement in Tomb Covers, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which places that which is within the reach of all, and no durable that Time and Exposure only make it harder and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with polish, are adaptable to the most fastidious taste, while our plain tombs are capable of the same designs of every make and finish throughout the entire globe. Hundreds are now on the list for the ensuing spring, and we do not propose to defeat a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your order at once. NEW TRICK AT MONTE.

THE GRANGER GOT AWAY WITH THE GAMBLER'S MONEY.

[From the Lincoln (Neb.) Star.]

Among the thousand and one incidents that go to make up the variety and adventure of railway travel, nothing is more exciting or more likely to be remembered than witnessing the turning of a three-card monte trick and the invariable fleecing of greenhorns that follows. The passengers on the B. and M. this morning had the pleasure of witnessing the introduction of an unusual feature into the little game.

A monte man with a capper took the train at Kearney, and kept an eye out for business. The train filled up, as it passed the various stations, with village merchants and farmers, and if there hadn't been any conductor the monte sharper would have reaped a rich harvest. At last, however, the temptation grew too strong to be resisted, and he spread out his little game. A brawny Granger sat near him, and Monte obligingly explained to him the mysteries of the aforesaid game. The Granger concluded that he saw through it, and was easily induced to bet ten dollars, which he won. In handling his pocket-book he displayed a roll of greenbacks that made Monte's eyes glisten. The game went on, and several turns were made, Granger winning two out of three—the stakes being laid on the sill of the car-window. The Granger became excited and wanted to bet a hundred dollars. Monte didn't want to bet very much, but he finally got mad and told Granger he could scoop him to the amount of five hundred, but may be Granger was just blowin'—p'raps he hadn't as much nerve as he let on.

Granger showed he didn't know much about nerve, but what he knowed he knowed; and he knowed wiar that card was just five hunered dollars' worth. A thousand dollars was placed on the window sill amid the breathless silence of the spectators who crowded around. The Granger unbuttoned his vest, straightened in his seat and turned up—the wrong card. Monte reached for that thousand dollars very vigorously, but just as his hand rested on the money the Granger's hand rested on his, and a ten inch bowie blade appeared simultaneously from some mysterious compartment of Granger's wardrobe. Monte suddenly paused in his money making career, and the remaining two cards were turned over with the point of the knife, and neither of them was the card Granger had bet upon.

"That looks like swindlin," remarked the son of toil, "and I never allow no man to play a game on me unfair," and the knife descended slowly towards the wrist of the gambler, but when it reached the precise locality where blood might be expected to flow, the offending hand was withdrawn, and the Granger quietly rolled up the greenbacks and deposited them in his trowsers pocket.

When the train stopped at Lincoln for dinner, a Star reporter was loitering about the depot, and recognized an old acquaintance among the crowd that stepped off the cars. When they had separated the reporter was asked, "Who was that man you were talking to?" "Why, that is Gid. Hawkins, an old cattle rancher, from San Antone, Texas." A long whistle from the interrogator led to the narration of the true story as given above.

Hawkins is on his way to Chicago, but it is thought he knows enough to take care of himself.

—Broadway, on Saturday afternoon, presents a marvelous spectacle of faces and dress goods. The recent pleasant Saturday brought out everybody, with his wife and family, and all were crowded and pushed and jostled, just as if the World's Fair or the Centennial Exhibition were around the corner, and had just "let out." The people are of the class who want to see and be seen; but the fine "upper-ten" are giving themselves an aristocratic promenade on a less frequented avenue.

FASHION NOTES.

—Foulards are very fashionable in Paris.

—Imported collars have neck ties to match.

—Picnic excursions are beginning to be talked of.

—A lady defines Heaven as "getting off your rubbers."

—There is a noticeable absence of lace on hats, this season.

—The old-fashioned black and white checks are to be worn again.

—Arms and crests on note paper are more stylish than monograms.

—Crimped braid fringe is mentioned as being on many of the Paris dresses.

—The cuirass basque has recently been given the name of "Genevieve de Brabant."

—Many basques are made without shoulder seams and consequently have bias backs.

—Our bright and beautiful Easter Sunday brought out many new and elegant toilets.

—All the looping of over-dresses is in the back. The front must be perfectly straight and plain.

—Most of the spring hats have three or four colors in the trimming, and these in great contrast.

—Children's hats are mostly of chip and leghorn, and simplicity is the rule which guides their trimming.

—The new summer fan is called the "Pistolet." It is shaped like a pistol, and "goes off" when opened.

—Plaids, plaids, nothing but plaids, may be sung to the tune of.

"Blue, blue, little boy blue!"

—There are such varieties in the shape of hats that no lady will be excused if she chooses an unbecoming one.

—Young ladies, from twelve to sixteen, who are in the habit of chewing gum, must be told the painful news that the practice is going out of fashion.

—Plaid grenadines—a novelty this spring—are likely to vie with the striped ones for preference. Plain grenadines must be trimmed with bright colors.

—Some of the country hats are marvels of beauty and jauntiness. They have very wide brims turned up in front and dented at the sides, and are trimmed with scarfs or flowers.

—When a long apron over-dress is worn, there should only be one row of trimming on the front of the underdress; but from the front breadth back, the trimming should extend half way up the skirt.

—Brocade and damask ribbons are, at present, all the style, but have been so extensively imported that they are likely to become common. Those used as scarfs for hats are from five to twelve inches wide.

—A walking skirt consists of a front gore, a straight back breadth and two gores on each side. About half way down the skirt, on the second side seams, strings should be fastened, in order to tie the dress back, and make all the fullness come behind.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

By the Journal Publishing Company

SATUDAY. APRIL 24, 1875.

"EPHRAIM IS JOINED TO HIS IDOLS."

In an article appearing in each of the two papers this week—the National Republican, of Selma, and Montgomery Home, of Talladega—both edited and published by the same party, the above scriptural phrase finds a verification. The proprietor of the above named papers, who edits the same, is over anxious, as shown by his untimely articles, to become the champion of Senator Spencer.

In his futile efforts to make a breach between the STATE JOURNAL and the Republican party, he would make the impression that the JOURNAL had forsaken its former political faith by charging that it had assaulted through its columns the Republican and Home's ideal of a statesman—Mr. Spencer.

While we disclaim any attempt herein to curry favor with Mr. Spencer (for the JOURNAL is certainly under no obligations to him), we desire to say that any insinuations from the new born proprietor and editor of Republican newspapers in Alabama, to the effect that the JOURNAL has charged Mr. Spencer with complicity in the recently developed frauds at Washington, has foundation alone in his own anxious desire to supersede all others in the, to us, unenviable esteem of his statesman. Whatever may have been, or is the opinion of the editor of the JOURNAL, as regards Mr. Spencer, in this matter, has as yet, found no utterance; for the JOURNAL will not charge, without cause, or evidence to sustain it, and while it has permitted two or three articles to appear in its columns from correspondents, denouncing Mr. Spencer, it as distinctly announced at the head of the column that it did not hold itself responsible for any communication appearing therein, yet upon proper application, by any party aggrieved, the name of the author would be furnished. If Mr. Spencer or his champion is so aggrieved by said communications as to make it a personal matter, on proper application, the terms of said column will be complied with. As to that extent alone does the JOURNAL feel interested in Mr. Spencer's defense, if he needs any.

Unlike the Republican and Home, the JOURNAL is now an independent paper, under no obligations to Mr. Spencer's or any other ring, and if he puts himself in any position censurable, the JOURNAL will hold him before the people, and plead for a verdict against him as earnestly as it would a White Leaguer from Louisiana.

The JOURNAL is not at all surprised at the interest of the much editor and proprietor in Mr. Spencer, for his god is the editor and proprietor's god, and whithersoever he goeth, there goeth these papers also. This much editor is much obligated to Mr. Spencer, and we admire the gratitude manifested by the editor towards the man whose happy influences won him over to the Republican party, but he should have waited a more opportune time to blow Mr. Spencer's horn.

If, by our silence in the matter, we have done this much editor's friend the "injustice" he claims, reparation will never be made, for we propose in such cases to make reparation only where our own acts have wrought the injury.

THE revenue law excitement is still at fever heat. Several small dealers in merchandise in this city have been forced to close doors, being unable to meet its requirements.—Selma Echo.

And this is the retrenchment and reform, and light taxes promised us by you and your sort, is it? This is the feast you have set before the people of Alabama, who were being "ground to death by taxes"—as you cried out but a few short months since. And you can look upon such things, and find nothing to condemn—no one to hold responsible for this ruin and destruction to business? If you would only express regret for the part you bore, in bringing this sad state of things on the people, we could admire the spirit of justice in such an act. But you blazon this ruin to the world as if it were an every day occurrence, without any effect upon the current of events, and something that people ought to be familiar with. Evidently you do not believe in that terrible thing known as Nemesis.

To recapitulate in brief, we urge that—looking to conception, origin, true definition, authority, design and applicability—the people of Alabama have no constitution.—Scottsboro Herald.

If the State of Alabama has no constitution, George S. Houston and A. Snodgrass are usurpers. The former is Governor and the latter a State Senator, and author of the above extract. If what he says is true, he ought at once to return to the State Treasury every cent he has drawn as Senator, and notify the people at once that he pretends no longer to be a Senator. But he will not do so. He will hold on to both—the position of Senator and the money he has drawn. As a patriot, however, he should refuse to sit in a body of lawmakers acting without a constitution, because nothing that he does is binding on the people. But we are stronly of the opinion that this Senator is something of a demagogue. He is afraid of the party lash, too. If the Advertiser were to give a crack about his head, our Senator would jump out of his boots. Pshaw!

THE THIRD TERM.

We are not surprised to learn, as we do from the New York Graphic, that President Grant is not a candidate for re-election. During all the discussion, by the press, of this question, we entertained no thought that General Grant really desired a third term. Aside from the numerous aggravations of this exalted position, the fact that the masses of the people opposed such an aspiration, on the part of the President, we have always believed would deter him from seeking a re-election. The canvass of 1872, which will always be termed the great campaign of slander, was precipitated upon the country by the unwise policy of the opponents of the Administration, in attempting, by slander and falsehood, to destroy and break down the reputation of the President and his supporters. That Gen. Grant should desire a vindication from the numberless charges of his enemies, was to be expected. The verdict of the people, at the polls, was a complete vindication of the President, and the total overthrow of his opponents. We conceive, therefore, that the President is not anxious to make another contest, because the signs of the times point directly to a defeat. No thoughtful man can have failed to see that the idea of a third term is distasteful and repugnant to the great mass of the people, North and South. The following dispatch, we apprehend, will be read with pleasure in view of the unsettled condition of the question heretofore:

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Graphic's Washington correspondent says: "President Grant is not a candidate for re-election for a third term, and never has been. He never suggested the idea himself, and never gave any one the slightest warrant for supposing that he would take the nomination if offered, and it is understood here that if he had ever been asked by any authoritative body he would have declined to be considered a candidate under any circumstances."

In addition to what is stated in the above dispatch, we will add that many of the most intimate and prominent friends of General Grant have recently expressed the opinion that, at the proper time, the President would make a public declaration of his desire to retire from the Presidency at the close of his present term—March 4, 1877.

GEN. GORDON ALARMED.

The Louisville Commercial says that Senator Gordon, of Georgia, is uneasy about an alarming tendency to consolidate the Government, which he has discovered. General Gordon was even more alarmed ten years ago about a tendency to hold this Government together than he is now, and what the people of the country would like to know is whether he is in favor of again resisting that tendency in the way that he so vigorously followed then. If there is any undue tendency to consolidate now, it is a reaction against that violent attempt at disruption which Gen. Gordon and his friends inaugurated in 1861. It is very noticeable that the men who were most concerned about consolidation in the Government now are those very men who a few years ago were trying to destroy it, and those who were their allies and sympathizers in the attempt. If they hadn't been so eager to keep us from having any government at all, their anxiety lest what was preserved from their attacks should be injured by consolidation might be more highly appreciated.

THE Montgomery Advertiser announces that Attorney General Sanford has modified his Richardson letter and decides now that no license is required from regular merchants.—Scottsboro Herald.

Attorney General Sanford is an able and experienced lawyer; and has for years occupied the position of one of the most prominent members of the bar of Montgomery. Is it possible that Col. Sanford would render an opinion upon a plain and explicit law, one day, and then reverse that opinion upon the next day, because of public clamor? Before Col. Sanford's recent letter to Judge Richardson, was published, there was not so much murmuring among the people, because of the oppressive exactions of the new Revenue Law. But when that opinion became known, the clamor of the people exceeded anything we have ever known, as an expression of opposition to a measure of such a character. Following upon this, is Col. Sanford's modificatory opinion. If the law means what it says it must be enforced. If it is so full of conflicting expressions that the Attorney General even cannot understand it, then it ought to be treated as a nuisance and a nullity.

OUR friends at Montgomery seemed to think that a change of our Revenue law was demanded. If this new law is approved by the people it can stand—if not approved it can be repealed and the old law restored.—West Alabamian.

Oh! yes. Laws can be passed to harass the people, burthen them with enormous taxes, and break up their business, and if the people don't like it, why the law can be repealed! There is not one word of condemnation of such an outrage, but a weak submission and slavish obedience, until the legislature meets to undo the mischief. Is that the way the Alabamian treated the former legislatures? When the legislature of 1872-'73 passed acts repugnant to the people, did the Alabamian and its sort speak so humbly as this? On the contrary was not the vocabulary of abuse and denunciation exhausted in applying epithets to those legislatures, even for passing laws that were demanded in behalf of the best interests of the people? Shame upon such disgusting and contemptible submission.

THE POSTAL FRAUDS.

[From the Washington Chronicle.]

The examination of the charges of bribery against J. J. Hines, in connection with the recent postal frauds, was resumed before Commissioner Ingersoll yesterday afternoon.

District Attorney Fisher stated that the testimony for the government against Hines had closed, and that the case against Frank L. Channel would, owing to the illness of the defendant, be postponed for one week.

Colonel Cook, for the defense, said that he had some evidence to submit. He proposed to show that the defendant (Hines) had hitherto possessed an un-spotted character, a reputation unsoiled, and if this was not strictly admissible he did not suppose that either of the gentlemen on the other side would object to the introduction of such testimony.

Judge Spence, for the prosecution, stated that they should object to any such evidence. The only testimony admissible before a commissioner or committing magistrate was that bearing directly upon the charge against a defendant.

After further discussion the commissioner stated that proof of character could not be admitted in a preliminary examination, although it might be proper before a jury.

Colonel Cook then proposed to go a step further. He desired to offer proof to show that the complainant in these cases swore out the information not on facts, but on mere suspicions; but to that he supposed they would also object.

Mr. Fisher. Of course.

Mr. Cook. Then if the defendant's hands are to be tied, and he is not to be permitted to produce a single witness in his justification, gentlemen, do your worst.

Mr. Fisher, in reply to a question by Mr. Cook, said they should contend that they had made out a prima facie case against Hines in each of four cases, and would ask that he be held in each of them.

The counsel for defendant argued at some length that there was no evidence on which to hold his client.

The Commissioner then said: The testimony abundantly shows that United States officers were bribed. This is the charge in the information. It is in evidence that the defendant, Hines, and the witness, Kettle, were copartners in the matter of procuring mail routes. There is evidence tending to show the adoption and sanction by Hines, the defendant, of the acts of Kettle. They shared the burdens and the profits of the partnership. Kettle is an accomplice from his own testimony, and uncorroborated, his testimony ought not to convict Mr. Hines before a jury. But that is not my function, to say whether Hines is guilty of this crime. My only injury is, Is there probable cause? It is the province of a jury to say whether Mr. Hines should be convicted of the offense here charged. I think there is probable cause, and shall hold Mr. Hines in the sum of $2,500 to await the action of the grand jury at the next term of the criminal court.

THE ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL, alluding to the Hines postal contract frauds, says: "If Senator Spencer is innocent, he need not fear anything from his traducers. No honest man need fear what his enemies can say of him. But he had better muzzle some of those who pretend to be his friends."—Washington Republican.

We do not see why any of Senator Spencer's friends should wish to "wring" his name into this matter. It was to be expected, under the circumstances, that his enemies would do so. But why should his friends "jump up" and cry out: "Spencer ain't in it; he never helped Hines; he never got any money from Hines," etc.

The National Republican quoting the first paragraph above, proceeds to say:

This is very true; but the JOURNAL might have added that his pretended friends are also the enemies of the Republican party. No suspicion existed that Senator Spencer was in any way connected with these frauds until the Detective press declared falsely that Hines was his partner, and no suspicion exists now where the facts are known. Facts, however, have little to do with the kind of political warfare in which these malignant, black-mailing shekel-hunters delight to engage. They know that Mr. Spencer is not an extravagant man in his habits; that, while he is not wealthy, he enjoys a competency, and that consequently there is no apparent inducement for him to connect himself with a fraudulent operation, while there is every inducement that he shall pursue a contrary course. The mere fact that he recommended Hines for an appointment has no more application to him than it would have to the entire Alabama Republican delegation in Congress, all of whom joined in the recommendation. It is true that he lodged in Hines' house, but it is also true that in no instance, particularly in large cities, is a tenant responsible for the morals of a landlord.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1875.

HERE AND THERE.

—Business dull yesterday.

—Spring fights have opened.

—The streets are very sloppy.

—The water works are in operation again.

—The weather is now quite pleasant.

—Not many farmers in town yesterday.

—Business on Commerce street was at a standstill yesterday.

—The Board of Revenue is at work.

—Several fountains in different parts of the city are proposed.

—Certain brokers are still dealing in registration certificates.

—Our telegraphic dispatches are quite interesting this morning.

—Business men, you should advertise in the JOURNAL.

—Subscribe for the daily JOURNAL—only 20 cents per week—left at your door every morning.

—The farmer's surest speculations will be in live stock and ploughshares.

—The croquet ground is being set with arches, and the coy maiden is archly trying to draw you into the game.

—It is easier to bear up under our misfortunes than to survive the comments of our friends on them.

—Time is not baidheaded; you couldn't take time by the forelock if such were the case.

—In the spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of swinging on her father's front gate.

—Many men are blessed with the most uncommon sense, and do not seem to know it.

—If there is anything on earth that beats four aces, it is a kind and amiable wife.

—The crop of drummers this spring is not very large, but they are unusually cheeky.

—The general opinion, among the ladies of Montgomery, seems to be that Beecher is innocent, but Mrs. Tilton is guilty.

—The great question among the ladies of Brooklyn is, "if you had your choice, would you be Bessie Turner or Mary Queen of Scots?"

—Sakes to gracious! but is that question coming up again? The opinion was given over a year ago that if a woman wanted to ride on both sides of a saddle, like a little man, the danger of falling off was reduced 355 times per mile.

—The other day a postmaster on entering his office had his olfactory nerves disagreeably assailed. On questioning a boy in the office as to the cause, the facetious youth replied: "I don't know, sir, but perhaps the smell comes from some of the dead letters."

—A Western clergyman astonished his congregation last Sunday by telling them that if Mr. Tilton had accused him as he accused the Plymouth pastor he'd have stripped the skin off'n that lie quicker'n a hurricane could peel a banana.

—"Boy," said a man at the postoffice yesterday, to a stub-nosed boot shiner, "if I buy ten apples and give you six, how many have I left?" "Oh, dry up," replied the boy, turning away; "you'd chuck 'em all down into yer coat tail pocket and let me buy my own."

—When the spring poet begins to talk of the smiling face of nature, of bud ding flowers, of the carol of birds in leafy dells, of striped stockings and heavenly croquet, where the dainty feet of pretty girls kiss the morning dew, hey let him go to grass.

GEN. COON, of Selma, was in the city yesterday.

BOARDING-HOUSES in this city are as numerous as can be desired, and the prices are becoming reasonable.

THE Ladies Memorial Association will decorate the graves of the soldiers on next Monday, the 26th inst.

THE Lomax boys escorted the members of Layette fire company of Mobile, to the depot yesterday, and saw them off in good style.

THE rain poured down in torrents all Thursday night and until near noon yesterday. In the afternoon the sun appeared and all nature wore a smiling face once more.

WARM fires and rubber shoes and overcoats were comfortable yesterday morning. Will the gentle spring time never come?

R. P. BAKER, United States Marshal of North Alabama, was in the city yesterday. He reports great damage to the crops in the upper counties.

EVERY day we see wagons loaded with corn, hay and fodder, which are raised in this country, upon our streets. It sells rapidly at good prices. Let the planters raise more of these crops and less of cotton, and our State will be the better for it.

THERE are about forty delegates attending the State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association now in session in this city. This organization is doing great good in the land, and should be encouraged by our people.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Called Meeting.

COUNCIL CHAMBER, April 22, 1875.

Present—His Honor, the Mayor; Aldermen Myer, Ferguson Weil, Billingslea, Janney, Moses and Fitzpatrick.

On motion the following named persons were appointed as Inspecting officers for their respective wards, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday in May, 1875.

Ward No. 3.—J. S. Parden, Tobias Porter and J. R. Warren.

Ward No. 5.—M. P. Blue, Cameron Phillips and B. M. Washburn.

Ward No. 6.—H. Lewy, J. C. Hendrix and Shelly Berney.

On motion, the City Treasurer and Finance Committee were instructed to sell to the best advantage the State Certificates that have been received by the city.

Alderman Ferguson offered the following:

Resolved, That after this date no fees shall be paid from the city treasury to attorneys for prosecuting criminal cases before the mayor, involving the purchase or obtaining of registration certificates—the mayor having satisfied himself of the bearing of the law in such cases.

Ayes—Aldermen Ferguson, Janney and Moses—3.

Nays—The Mayor, Aldermen Fitzpatrick, Myer, Weil and Billingslea—5.

Council then adjourned.

W. B. HUGHES, City Clerk.

THE flower-gardens in the city do not show any signs of the raid made upon them for decorating the engines on the day of the firemen's parade.

GEN. R. W. HEALY, the efficient and popular United States Marshal, has been re-appointed. On yesterday he was sworn into office, and assumed his official duties again.

WE have been presented with matzos, or Jewish bread, by Miss M. Jacobi and Mrs. S. Roswald, for which they have our thanks. It is good bread after all, and reminds us somewhat of "hard-tack."

SOME of our country people have gone into the cattle-raising business from the number we see on the streets lately. On yesterday we saw two droves on the streets, which were for sale at reasonable prices.

HAMP SKANES, the so-called President of a colored Democratic Club was tried before Mayor Faber on yesterday, for defrauding a colored man named Billingslea out of his registration certificate. The mayor reserved his decision till this morning.

PARTIES desiring an excellent hat of any kind should read the advertisement of H. E. Day's in these columns, and repair at once to his establishment, and supply themselves. He defies competition in his line, and takes much pleasure in exhibiting his goods.

THE "dry well" at the pumping station of the water-works, has been repaired, and water has been turned on the mains again. A good supply of pure water will assist greatly in keeping the city healthy this summer.

OUR citizens should attend the First Baptist church on next Monday, and hear the address of Col. J. R. Tomkins, of Mobile, who is one of the oldest and brightest members of the I. O. O. F. in the South. The lodges and encampment of this city will be in attendance in full regalia. It is a noble and charitable order, and has made glad the hearts of thousands of widows and orphans. Let the church be crowded in honor of the order, and thereby encourage the members to continue their good deeds to mankind.

THERE will be a splendid entertainment at the Standard Club hall to-night. First will be the comedetta of "A Cup of Tea," after which there will be a "Social Calico Hop." A prize will be given to the lady wearing the most becoming costume. This is the last entertainment of the kind which will be given this season, as it is the purpose of the club to make some improvements in their hall. They deserve well of the people for many hours of pleasure during the long winter.

PERSONAL.—Maj. P. G. Clarke, special agent of the postoffice department, has succeeded in arresting another mail robber. It appears that one Richardson, a baggage master on the Alabama Central Railroad, taking advantage of the inexperience of route agent Nicholson, entered the mail car, and thinking that Nicholson was asleep, succeeded in purloining two registered packages. Maj. Clarke, after investigating the affair, caused the arrest of Richardson. He was examined before Commissioner Wallace, in Mobile, and held to answer an indictment in the United States district court. We hope that Maj. Clarke will succeed in arresting every mail robber in the State. The people will certainly thank him for his efforts in this direction. He has been very successful in every case bought to his notice.

B. LEVY will make your old suits look neat as when new for a low price. Over White's book store. 4-6dtm

THE prize drill of the Montgomery Greys at their armory, last night, was attended by a large audience of ladies and gentlemen. The judges to award the prize were Messrs. Pollard, Lee and T. G. Jones. At the first rest in the drill in the manual of arms, thirteen were dropped out. At the second rest, ten more went to the rear. At the third rest another ten were dropped. This left the contest between Corporals J. P. Saffold and Frank Joseph. Finally Mr. Joseph was dropped, and Mr. Saffold declared the victor. There were 35 men in the ranks. Major T. G. Jones in a speech presented the prize—a beautiful black and yellow plume—to Mr. Saffold, who returned thanks for the honor. After some evolutions by the company, the hall was cleared and a social dance closed the entertainment.

AT the debate by the Ciceronian club at the Arlington last night, on the question: "Is there more pleasure in contemplating the beauties of Nature than of Art," it was decided in favor of Nature.

THE soiree given by Prof. McDonald last night was an elegant affair, and every one delighted.

THE match game of base ball yesterday between the Houston and the Goetter clubs, was won by the Goetter's by a score of 81 to 40.

THE match game of base-ball played yesterday afternoon, between the Henshaw and Hamner Hall clubs, was won by the Henshaw's. Now let Selma or any other club challenge them. The score, yesterday, was 50 to 25.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Another Dangerous Counterfeit—Internal Revenue, Currency, Etc—Bunker Hill Centennial—Cabinet Session To-day—Delano to Retire Next Week—Attorney-General Williams' Reasons for Resigning—His Probable Successor—Weather.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—A new and dangerous counterfeit has appeared at the National Bank Redemption Agency on $5 notes of the First National Bank of Paxton, Ill. It is evidently altered from the plate on which the counterfeit $5 notes on the Traders' National Bank of Chicago were printed. The plate had previously been altered to the First, Third, and Merchants' National Banks of Chicago.

The internal revenue receipts to-day were $250,491.70; custom receipts at the Treasury Department, $449,485.84. The amount of national bank note currency received at the treasury to-day for redemption was $867,261.

President Grant has been invited by the Bunker Hill Monument Association to be present at their celebration June 17th, but has given no definite answer. Gen. Sherman has announced that he will be present.

The cabinet meeting to-day was attended by all members, including Secretary Delano. Attorney-General Williams did not remain to participate in the deliberations owing to the press of business at the Supreme Court.

It is stated to-day that Secretary Delano will retire from the cabinet next week, not from any causes arising out of recent publications, but in accordance with a desire to retire to private life, expressed to the President two months ago.

The name of Henry E. Blow, of Missouri, is mentioned as the probable successor of Attorney-General Williams.

It is stated to-day that Williams' retirement from the President Grant's cabinet by means of his resignation therefrom had no reference to any prospective political preferment as a coming Senator from Oregon—his native State. He says that he resigned solely because he desired to establish himself in the legal profession in this city, and will make a specialty of Supreme Court practice.

LOUISIANA.

Steamer Burned—Great Destruction of Property—Large Loss of Life—The Legislature—Mexican Raiders Moving Into Texas—Brownsville is Threatened—Col. Potter Preparing to Act on the Aggressive.

NEW ORLEANS, April 23.—About four o'clock this evening a fire broke out in the blacksmith shop of the steamer John Kyle, which proved finally to be of the most destructive character. The Kyle lay between the Jessie Taylor below and the Exporter above; next to the Jessie Taylor was the Natchez; above the Exporter was the Chas. Bodmann, and next to her the Louisville. In a moment the tug boat Ella Wood No. 2, came up and commenced to throw water on the burning vessel, but without effect. The flames spread so rapidly that it was apparent that nothing could save the Kyle and it seemed as if the boats on both sides would inevitably take fire. The eddy, however, drifted the Kyle up stream, and some persons on shore seeing the danger cast off the hawsers by which the Exporter and the Bodmann were tied up. This, however, in the end proved disastrous. So rapid was the progress of the flames, and so intense their effect that the Exporter took fire the moment the Kyle touched her, and the people on board having no other refuge jumped on the Bodmann. This boat, however, was also caught in the fiery toils, and the three burning vessels drifted together into the stream where, in a very few moments, they were consumed to the water's edge. The tugboat Nellie, appears to have acted in the same manner. Many persons jumped overboard and were drowned.

It is believed that the tug boats could have saved many lives. The conduct of the masters of these tug boats is severely criticised by thousands of people who witnessed the fire from the levee. The fire spread so rapidly from the Kyle to the Exporter that many persons who had gone on board simply as spectators, were unable to escape from the boat. On the Bodmann were a party from Cincinnati who had come down on that boat to visit the city. It is supposed that many of these were lost. The party—adults and children—were about 25 in number. The Exporter was to leave this evening for St. Louis. She had on board as passengers, five or six ladies. Most of the other passengers fortunately had not arrived. The Exporter belonged to Capt. Reese, one of whose daughters was lost.

The lost as far as ascertained are as follows: Miss Reese; two chambermaids of the Bodmann; Dr. Brazier and his three daughters (supposed). These are all the names ascertained so far. The total number of lost, it is presumed, will amount to about thirty. The son of Capt. Shinkle, of the Bodmann, is supposed to be lost. He had on board his wife and a little daughter, who were saved. Capt. Shinkle is much burned about the face and hands. Capt. Hutchinson, of the Kyle, was standing on the front deck when his boy ran to him and told him that a fire had broken out in the blacksmith shop. Capt. Hutchinson rushed through the cabin telling the people to hurry on shore, as the boat was on fire. He then went to the texas to find his wife whom he supposed to be there, but she had gone ashore. By this time the whole of the lower part of the boat was in flames, and he was compelled to slide down a burning rope to the water. Happily he was rescued, but he was much burned about the face and hands. Capt. Stein, of the Bodmann, was very badly burned. Wm. Brown, chief clerk of the Kyle, is badly burned. The Bodmann is insured for $45,000; the Exporter for $10,000, and the Kyle not ascertained. The Bodmann arrived this morning and most of her cargo was unloaded.

The Exporter had about 400 tons of cargo on board, all of which was lost. In consequence of the promptness of Capt. Hutchinson, in giving the alarm, all persons on board the Kyle were saved. The Kyle, while floating down the river, just grazed the United States steamer Kansas. The Exporter and the Bodmann drifted across the river to the Coyle coal yard. The Exporter is now being towed down the river by a tug boat.

The steamboats were burned to the water's edge in half an hour. The police boats saved many lives, but it is impossible to say to-night who is lost. The number is variously estimated from 20 to 60.

To-morrow is the last day of the extra session. Both branches of the legislature are in night session.

The latest news from the Rio Grande is that the raiders are moving on King's Ranche, threatening to kill all the Americans between the Nueces and Rio Grande. Herdsmen are abandoning their ranches and stock is left to run at large. It is reported that three hundred Mexicans left Matamoras, and an attack on Brownsville is meditated. They have a list of twenty-five Americans that they intend to kill. Col. Potter is organizing an expedition to act on the aggressive with the Raiders.

NEW YORK.

The Herald on Cabinet Changes—Williams and Delano Resigned—They are asked by the President to Step Down and Out—A Building Tumbles Down.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The Herald devotes considerable space to-day discussing the cabinet changes. Relative to Williams' retirement it says that he never was fit for the position he dishonors. He is put out because of corrupt practices—using money too freely in carrying out the enforcement laws in the South. The true cause of Delano's removal is because the Ohio Republicans emphatically protested against his remaining in the cabinet. Unless he was removed Ohio would be lost this year and in 1876.

A terrible accident occurred here this morning by the falling of a two-story building, while under repair, at 28 Rioge street. David Castello, laborer, was instantly killed, several others seriously injured. The building belonged to the Presbyterian church.

Special Notices.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines preserved in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder; relieve Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can cure themselves in all the above diseases without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, GA., March 23, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOF & SON—Dear Sirs Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public.

Yours respect'y, REV. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the unparalleled success I have met with in the sale of Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks, Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not had on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every hour; emaciated, and could not speak. He has had now six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his cough is very little, and all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them.

Yours truly, etc.,

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved head so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented, March 23, 1875. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with ferns, are adaptable to the most insignificant lots, while our plain tombs are capable of electing the admiration of all. We do not propose to print a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. THE GEORGIA TORNADO.

[Correspondence of the Cincinnati Times.]

HAMILTON, HARRIS COUNTY, GA., April 9, 1875.

I live at Valley Plains, a beautiful village in the extreme northeastern corner of Harris County. It is situated in the Valley of the Oak and Pine Mountains, about one mile from the former and two miles from the latter.

But, Mr. Editor, I don't write to boast of my pleasant home, or its salubrious locality, but to tell you of a destructive tornado, which doubtless you have heard of, that passed through this section of the county the 23d ult., killing and wounding many citizens, and devastating property to the amount of $10,000 or more.

It blew down all the houses in the village except one, which was not in the centre of the cyclone, its centre being about four hundred and fifty yards in width. Not even a breeze stirred before it, but it came as sudden as darkness if you were to extinguish a candle at midnight.

Two store-houses and a doctor's shop were completely demolished. The doctor's office was taken up and carried some distance from its foundation. Nothing left to show where it stood.

Your correspondent and five other persons were in one of the stores as it was rent asunder by the terrible demon.

Fortunately no one was killed or seriously injured, but eighteen were killed in the county, and a great many wounded.

Ribbons, laces, and strings were wrapped around our necks and feet, and the trees for a quarter of a mile were embellished with goods of every hue and color.

Nails, pins, and needles were found driven into trees.

In fact, Mr. Editor, it looked like a wreck of worlds and a pile of ruins.

We believe everything works together for good, but we do pray God that we may never be visited with another such storm.

The principal topic of conversation now is, "I'm going to be a better man, and read my Bible more than I have ever done."

The farmers were badly behind before the storm, but now they have almost given up in despair.

"No corn, no meat, and torn to atoms by the wind," we sincerely feel our dependence upon the great Creator, and acknowledge that it must be His will that these things come upon us: but.

"What is the use of repining?
Where there is a will there is a way,
To-morrow the sun may be shining,
Although it is cloudy to-day."

Houses are being rebuilt, and fences, being most important, were attended to as soon as possible, but I tell you, Mr. Editor, the present prospect is quite gloomy.

J. A. MCCROREY.

A JEALOUS WOMAN'S REVENGE.

A singular story of jealousy and revenge comes from Sicily. A beautiful young girl named Florina, who was the belle of a traveling circus, in which she figured as the lion tamer, had been for some time receiving the attentions of an athlete belonging to the same troupe. By some means she ascertained that he was not faithful to her, but had another lady love. No signs, however, of her painful discovery were allowed to escape. She still smiled sweetly upon him. In her own bosom she planned the terrible revenge. One evening when the performance had been unusually brilliant,—after Florina had whipped the lions and forced them to lie at her feet,—she called her recreant lover aside and said to him: "Do you still love me?" "Always," he answered. "Do you know that I should die if you should devote yourself to another woman?" "What an idea," responded the young man. "But I should first kill you," said Florina. "And how would you do that?" "Thus!" cried the girl, at the same instant pushing him violently into the cage of the lions. They attacked the unfortunate man at once and tore him to pieces, while Florina urged them on with blows of her whip.

SURE REMEDY FOR BOTS.

The department of agriculture publishes the following experiments which a gentleman from Georgia tried and found effective in dispelling that serious trouble in horses. About thirty years ago a friend lost by bots a very fine horse. He took from the stomach of the dead horse about a gill of bots and brought them to my office to experiment upon. He made preparations of every remedy he had heard of, and put some of them into each. Most had no effect, a few affected them slightly, but sage tea more than anything else; that killed them in fifteen hours. He concluded he would kill them by putting them in nitric acid; but it had no more effect on them than water; the third day they were as lively as when put in. A bunch of tanzy was growing by my office. He took a handful of that, bruised it, added a little water, squeezed out the juice, and put some in; they were dead in one minute. Since then I have had it given to every horse I have seen affected with bots, and have never known it to fail of giving entire relief. My friend had another horse affected with bots several years later. He gave him the tanzy in the morning and a dose of salts in the evening; the next morning he took up from the excretions three half pints of bots.

SOME GEORGIA LAWYERS' FEES.

[From the Atlanta Herald.]

Yesterday, in conversation, some one remarked that General Toombs never crosses a Court-house door for less than $5,000, when Judge Lochrane replied that there was nothing strange about that. "I wouldn't take any case for a smaller fee than $10,000." This caused the crowed to discuss legal fees, and it was found that several large fees had been paid Atlanta lawyers sice the war. Mr. Hill, in the celebrated Metcalf case, received a $100,000 fee. Judge Lochrane, a fee of $40,000 in the Brunswick and Albany case. Mr. Hill received a fee of $25,000 for his management of Kimball's case. Judge Lochrane received $15,000 as a fee from Mrs. Kimball, in the Kimball House case.

SUNDAY, APRIL 25, 1875.

NORTH AND SOUTH AT THE LEXINGTON CENTENNIAL.

All the principal orators who spoke on the 19th, in Lexington and Concord, referred to our late civil war. Each of them was careful to avoid giving offense. Full of gratitude that the accursed and debasing system of human slavery had been extirpated from the Union before the arrival of the first prominent centennial anniversary in our national history, they all betrayed an excessive anxiety to shun giving to their gladness over that fact the appearance of glorying over the defeat of their Southern brethren. None of them abated one jot or tittle of their hatred of the sin, but all manifested the utmost love of the sinner.

It was the fortunate duty of General William P. Bartlett, at the dinner in Concord, in response to the toast "North and South," to give fuller expression to the general feeling of respect and affection for the men of the Southern States which fills the hearts of the men of the Northern States, and especially of those who served in the Union armies. Gen. Bartlett has a right, if any one has, to cherish some personal feeling against the South, for injuries done to himself as well as attempted against his country. He lost a leg at Yorktown, and an arm at Gettysburg; was shot twice through the body in the Wilderness, and finally was taken prisoner in the attack made on the rebel lines at Petersburg, in connection with the famous "springing of the mine." A Massachusetts scholar, he left the academic halls of Harvard College to become a Massachusetts soldier before he was graduated. But since the war he has been settled in Virginia, where he now resides, in charge of the Powhatan Iron Works at Richmond.

General Bartlett began by saying that he was not an unprejudiced observer of the relations between the North and the South—his prejudice being in favor of peace. He shared this feeling with the soldiers both in the Confederate and Union armies. Further than this, he had a prejudice against any man or men who would wantonly or with purpose endanger the peace which now exists throughout the Republic. Moved by this spirit fourteen years ago he opposed the men who preferred death to union; moved by the same spirit he despised to-day "the men who would, for the sake of self or party, stand in the way of reconciliation and a united country." General Grant, when he said "Let us have peace," expressed the popular wish, and the "only really belligerent people in the country to-day, North and South, are those who, while the war lasted, followed carefully the paths of peace." "Do not believe," he urged, "that the light and dirty froth which is blown northward and scattered over the land, oftentimes for malicious purposes, represents the true current of opinion at the South. Look at their heroes, their leaders," the very men whom the late Governor Andrew said that we must trust to restore the Southern States to their place in the Union, to "their Gordons, their Lees, their Johnsons, their Lamar, Ransom and Ripley, and tell me if you find in their utterances anything but renewed loyalty and devotion to a united country."

General Bartlett then quoted the letter of General Ripley, with which this distinguished officer of the late Confederate service restored to Massachusetts the flag captured from the Fifty-fourth (colored) Massachusetts regiment during its attack on Fort Wagner, at Charleston, in July, 1863. No one but a solder, Gen. Bartlett said, could understand the self-sacrifice involved in giving up such a trophy of valor, and in restoring this tattered emblem General Ripley "thought not of self, nor of South Carolina, nor Massachusetts, but of a restored and united country. There are flags in the Doric Hall of the State-house, in Boston, Gen. Bartlett said, that were endeared to him by recollection of the loss of personal friends, and of patriotic deeds of valor; "but there is no flag there which has to-day for us a deeper significance, or that bears within its folds a brighter omen of peace on earth, good will to men, than that battle-stained emblem so tenderly restored by a son of South Carolina, whom here in the name of the soldeirs of Massachusetts I thank and greet as a brother." "I am proud," the Union General went on to say, "that he was an American soldier. As an American, I am as proud of the men who charged so bravely with Pickett's division on our lines at Gettysburg, as I am of the men who bravely met and repulsed them there. Men can not always choose the right cause, but when, having chosen that which conscience dictates, they are ready to die for it; if they justify not their cause, they at least ennoble themselves, and the men who for conscience sake fought against their government at Gettysburg ought easily to be forgiven by the sons of the men who for conscience sake fought against the government at Lexington and Bunker Hill."

These words ought to be spread throughout the land. They are manly, generous and true, and we have no doubt they will have their proper effect. Not the least fortunate circumstance of the series of centennial celebrations which began on the 19th is, that they furnish a fit occasion for such expressions of renewed confidence and love.

NOW YOU SEE IT—NOW YOU DON'T.

In our young days, on one occasion, we read of a very curious wager made by two persons, in some one of the many cities of this terrestrial sphere. One of these persons made a wager of a certain number of golden pieces, that the other person could not for a given number of hours stand in front of a clock, and as the pendulum swung to and fro, repeat the words: "there it goes, there it goes." The second person accepted the tender, placed a chair in front of the time piece, and commenced his work. "Here it goes, there it goes." He was not to turn his head nor make any movement, but as the pendulum of the clock ticked the sounds, he was to repeat every time: "there it goes, there it goes." After he had been thus engaged about half an hour, the first party quietly "cabbaged" the golden pieces, stole out of the room, and left the other repeating, with measured emphasis, the solemn words, "there it goes, there it goes." When the poor fellow had finished his work and turned to pocket the wager, he found himself in the condition of "Old mother Hubbard's poor dog"—there was no bone—the room was empty.

And thus Attorney General Sanford, an able and experienced barrister, now cries out: "here it is, there it is." He looked into the new Revenue Law and thought he had found it; the second time, he looked, however, he found that it had suddenly disappeared. There seems to have been a metamorphosis of the new Revenue Law all in the twinkling of an eye. As Dryden has it.

"What my noble Colonel, in Metamorphosis.
On what occasion are you transformed."

There seems to be a general disagreement among the legal fraternity as to the meaning of the sections relating to license in the new revenue law, and the Attorney General is lost in the wilderness. How sad it is? When doctors disagree, who shall decide? Who will be so kind as to give this metamoric statute a stationary construction? and who will be generous enough to the community to say what it means?

Perhaps we have it! Suppose Judge Keyes, Col. Sanford and Messrs. Rice, Jones & Wiley agree to disagree, then let the Governor, "the old Bald Eagle of the Mountains," issue a proclamation convening the General Assembly for the purpose of having a statute enacted specifying what the new revenue law really means—whether it means what it says, or says what it doesn't mean. Unless this is done, we shall have so many legal opinions turned loose upon us that we will absolutely get lost, and be in utter darkness. Of course, we all desire to pay our taxes. We are patriotic and love our government. We are all very anxious to contribute our share, even if it doesn't exceed the poor old widow's mite, to the general fund, for oiling the machinery of our State government. As the question is now standing, we fear that no taxes are required of us. We oppose such economy and intend to pay our taxes. The question ought to be decided at once and forever, and put an end to the suspense now hanging, like a black pall over the taxpayers of Alabama. It ought to be settled, so that we can all rest in peace.

Governor, let us have a proclamation on the subject. Let the old Eagle scream and flutter in the breezes. Let the people have a law that says pay up and means pay up.

One of the Shah's daughters was married on Jan. 26th to the Iman Jumeh of Teheran. A correspondent of the London Academy writes that public opinion in Persia regarded the marriage as another link of the chain with which the King tries to attach himself to the priesthood, and then adds this description of the festivities attending the wedding: "The bride veiled, and covered with what looked like a waving mass of molten gold, was taken to her husband's house at half-past nine; soldiers, with candles in the muzzles of their guns, lined the road, the walls of the houses were illuminated with oil lamps, and as the princess left her father's palace guns were fired and fireworks let off. The fireworks went off very well, with but few exceptions; on the roof where we had taken up our stand some hundreds of rockets burst off in all directions, burning many of the spectators, and some suns and stars exploded just as the bride's carriage was passing, frightening the horses and burning the uniforms of many soldiers and servants. To-day a grand salvo of artillery was fired off, and some festivities took place in the great square."

Arrangements are being made for a convention to take into consideration the best means for the speedy union of the United States and Canada, to assemble in Buffalo, New York, the next Fourth of July. Three delegates from each Congressional district in the United States and three from each Parliamentary district in the British provinces, will compose the convention. There is no use in being in a hurry with regard to the matter, however. When persimmons are ripe they drop; and they are not palatable eating, before.

The Supreme Court of the United States decides that untruthful answers made by an applicant when he asks for a life insurance policy, are sufficient to vitiate the policy, whether the answers are material or otherwise. All right, so far as it goes; but how now, are applicants to be protected against untruthful representations made to them by or on behalf of the company insuring? The law should, in all fairness, afford protection to both parties.

STATE NEWS.

[By yesterday's mail to the State Journal.]

—The Eutaw Whig recommends Col. M. L. Stansel for the constitutional convention, from Greene county.

—The body of John Hall, drowned in the Tombigbee river by the falling of a train of cars, was recovered a few days since.

—Married, In Greensboro, on the 15th instant, by the Rev. O. R. Blue, Mr. John S. Chiles and Miss Eugenia M. Sanborn.

—The following officers have been elected by the Mobile and Ohio railroad company, to serve one year: President. Wm. Butler Duncan, Esq., of New York; A. L. Willoughby, Treasurer; C. A. Wooten, Auditor; George N. Stewart, Solicitor.

—The following is the result of an election held yesterday for Directors of the Mobile and Ohio railroad company: W. P. Halliday, Illinois; J. J. Walker, Alabama; W. H. Pratt, M. Waring, H. Hall, Alabama; A. J. Gillespie, A. Murdock, Mississippi; W. B. Duncan, R. K. Dow, W. H. Hays, W. E. Kimball, New York; A. B. Safford, Illinois; A. F. Elliot, Louisiana.

—The Wetumpka Banner says: Bird H. Young, more familiarly known as Scrowge Young, who it will be remembered, some six weeks since was said to have struck a negro lad, out on Col. Tom Williams' place, from the effects of which it was believed he died, came in this week, gave himself up and gave bond in the sum of $1,000.

—We hear considerable complaint of the late frosts, particularly that of last Saturday night. In places corn and Irish potatoes were killed down to the ground and we noticed buds of a young walnut tree blackened by the frost. One of our citizens said his corn looked very bilious Monday morning. It is almost certain, reports from various sections confirming, that the fruit crop will be reduced to almost nothing, though we have examined a few peaches, which were perfectly sound.

—The following items we clip from the Jacksonville Republican of yesterday: The what crop hereabouts "weathered" it through and is uninjured.

—On the 13th Mr. Joseph Rice and Miss Mollie Candis were Married in this place. Also on the 17th Mr. Wm. Nolen and Miss Janie McKee. Mr. Nolen and his bride start for Texas on the 19th inst.

—The Livingston Journal, of the 23d, says: White frosts here last Saturday and Sunday nights, but too light to materially injure vegetation.

—Bob Reed, colored Representative, who testified so glibly before the Alabama Investigating Committee in Washington, and swore that he could not return to Sumter, was this week convicted of an assault and battery. A gentleman who heard the evidence in the case is of opinion that an indictment of a more serious character would have been warranted by the facts.—Livingston Journal.

—Maj. James M. Bullock is recommended as a suitable person to represent Greene county, in the constitutional convention.

—John Lawley, of Coosa Valley, St. Clair county, is the father of twenty-one children. Eleven of them he has seen married.

—There are in Greene county 19 white public schools and 23 colored.

—Five human skulls were recently found in a cave near Gadsen.

—The Selma Oil Mill pays out $2000 a week for cotton seed and labor.

—Mr. Sullivan, brother of Mrs. Hughes, who was killed at the Birmingham depot in 1872, by being run over by a locomotive of the South and North railroad, has obtained a verdict for $5,500 damages, in behalf of the children of the deceased.

—Lauderdale county wheat crop surpasses anything ever before raised in that county.

ROCK FISH.

Wanton Destruction—A Note for Lawmakers.

Montgomery, April 24, 1875.

Editor Journal: In the Saturday afternoon market a good sized wagon load of rock fish were exposed for sale. They were of the average weight of not less than 25 pounds, and nearly all females filled with great roes. These fish were taken with nets, probably in the swift waters of the Coosa river, and their capture before their time of spawning has destroyed millions of rock fish eggs, and will doubtless seriously affect the future supply of this delicious fish in the Coosa and Alabama rivers.

If there is any law against such wholesale destruction of the fish supply, the attention of the proper authorities should be called to its enforcement. If there is none, public opinion ought to be aroused to the necessity of some legislation preventing the taking of fish before the time of spawning. In many parts of the country our people are expending large sums to stock their rivers and watercourses with desirable fish, while here at our very doors, a system of fishing is permitted which in a very few years, at most, will inevitably destroy for the public, the supply of this delicious, cheap and valuable food. Citizen.

We have not been "tooth and toe-nail" in favor of the convention, although the bill was passed by a Democratic legislature. In the first place, our people are poor and tax-burdened; secondly, we have managed to live under the present constitution for a number of years: thirdly, next year would have been sufficiently early for the movement; fourthly, the party whip was cracked too loud to begin with; fifthly, while the legislature were busily engaged in reducing the fees of county officers not a cent did they reduce the fees and salaries of State officers—or, more especially, the pay of themselves, and we had began to lose confidence in them. All in all, we wanted to understand the measure before we pledged ourselves to support it, and since we have read the address just issued by such a wise body of men we freely waive our objections, pull off our coat, roll up our sleeves and from now until the day of election will use our best efforts for the success of the convention.

In other words you have been peremptorily ordered by Capt. Bragg to hush up, or be kicked out of "the party." You preferred to hush up, in order to escape the kicking. Explanations as to why you opposed the "convention" are now in order. Crawl out like a good fellow and confess that you didn't know what you were doing.

The weather on Mount Washington during the month of March was quite severe, much more so than in the corresponding month of last year. The highest barometer was 30.43; lowest barometer 29.06; maximum thermometer 36 degrees; minimum thermometer 27 degrees below zero; mean temperature, 8 8 against 13 8 in March, 1874. Greatest velocity of the wind, 106 miles per hour. Total rain fall, 2.13 inches. The highest recorded velocity of the wind during the winter or spring was 125 miles per hour. This was reached at 2 o'clock p. m., on the 10th inst. At the present time there are unmistakable signs of spring observable from the summit, or there were last week. The snow was then nearly gone, and the surrounding mountains had begun to look grim and dark.

Dispatches from Southern Illinois say that the late cold snap did no harm to the fruit there. It is said, also, that along the lakes the injury is but partial. The destruction in Western Pennsylvania, on the contrary, is almost total. Cherries, pears, and peaches are all killed, and there is very little hope left even for apples.

A SECTION OF THE BEECHER TRIAL

Q.—What did you drink for breakfast April 1, 1871? A.—I do not remember.

Q.—Oh, you don't remember. Now, do you not know you drank coffee at breakfast that morning? A.—I do not.

Q.—Well, do you think you drank coffee and have forgotten it? A.—If I drank coffee on that occasion, I certainly have forgotten it.

Q.—Can you swear it was not coffee? A.—I can swear I do not recollect.

Q.—Did you use sugar and cream? A.—I may have used one or both, or neither.

Q.—Ah, ha—yes; did you lick the spoon after sweetening your drink? A.—Can't say positively.

Q.—Um—can't say; did you stir it with a spoon or your finger; and if so, which finger? A.—Have no recollection of any such circumstance, sir.

Q.—Haven't? A.—Have not—no, sir; not the slightest.

Q.—Be careful, sir. Perhaps I can refresh your memory? A.—Perhaps you can. [Here another juror tumbled off his seat, with teeth set, and frothing at the mouth.]

BRIEF ITEMS.

—Remember the Sabbath day.

—The streets are rapidly drying off.

—Look out for new clothes to-day.

—Don't sell your registration certificates.

—Don't abuse your opponents—rather speak well of them.—Advertiser.

—Discussion on the "Park" question is now in order.

—A bright, beautiful, cheerful day was yesterday.

—Advertise your new goods in the daily JOURNAL—terms reasonable.

—Picnics are now in order. Who will inaugurate the season?

—A printer is not an animal, as is generally supposed by some people.

—The flower yards of the city are all smiling with the lovely garb of the genial spring time.

—The city election is near at hand—and candidates are on the alert.

—The street cars do not seem to be over-taxed just now—the weather is too genial for people to ride.

—Rents have tumbled down in this city to a reasonable standard, and a poor man can now afford to rent a room.

—The sunshine has warmed out a good many of last year's parasols.

—Civilization slowly but certainly elevates the mean duration of human life. As many live now to seventy as lived to forty-three hundred years ago.

—He had a jockey style of cap on, a leather band around his waist, his trowsers legs tucked inside his boots, and was aged fifteen. "Milk and spelling matches for babies," he exclaimed, curling his upper lip; "but as for me, gimme base ball!"

—Were not editorial secrets inviolable, many a tale might be unfolded going to show that those who are loudest in complaint of the printing of an item are often the very ones who have been instrumental in securing its publication. A good many things are done for effect in this world.

—An exchange wants to know, "on the whole, what material is the best?" The most successful kind of mettle these days seems to be brass.

—"Horticulturist" — No; rutabaga vines require a southern exposure. If you don't happen to have a southern exposure handy, put 'em in a tub and stand it near the kitchen range until you can get time to move some place where there is a southern exposure.

—Whatever you have to say, my friend,
Whether witty, grave, or gay,
Condense it as much as ever you can,
And say it in the readiest way,
And whether you write of household affairs,
Or particular things in town,
Just take a word of friendly advice—
Boil it down.

—Jim Scroggins, of doubtful honesty, attempted to call upon a neighbor late one night last week, and was received at the gate with due courtesy by a large dog kept on the premises. After some cursory remarks by the dog, cur-tailed by Jim's impatience to be gone, both withdrew, Jim cursing and swearing, the dog about as usual. Jim said of his pants next day that they were a "darned old pair!"

WE visited the county jail yesterday, and found everything as neat as a new pin. As an evidence of this, there are 84 prisoners confined there and not one case of sickness in the number. This speaks well for the sheriff, Mr. Murphy, and his assistants, and for Dr. Hereford, the county physician. Would it not be an excellent thing to have water works in the jail? The expense would be trifling, and the benefits great.

DIED—On Thursday morning at 7:25, at Richmond, Ind., after a continued illness for several years, Stephen Coffin, in his 59th year.

THE fountain which is to adorn the square at the intersection of Market and Lawrence streets, will soon be put in position.

THE street brigade is kept at work repairing the bad places in the streets. Right, don't weary in well doing.

YESTERDAY was a bright and beautiful day. The ladies and little children in their elegant costumes and with their sweet smiles were seen in throngs on the streets, in the stores, and in that popular resort—the Saturday afternoon market.

THE Sisters of Loretto, being desirous of liquidating a debt on their property, will give a fair and supper on the 11th of next month. Our citizens should patronise this charitable entertainment liberally. Their school is one of the finest in the State, and is doing great good in the cause of education.

THE market yesterday was bountifully supplied with early vegetables of all kinds. New Irish potatoes sold at 15 cents per quart—too expensive for our palate. Strawberries at 40 cents per quart, which were very large and luscious, while the other vegetables sold at reasonable prices. The gardeners near our city are reaping a rich harvest. There was a fine lot of all kinds of meat, while the fresh fish from the bay and the river were in great quantity, from the delicious pompano to the common buffalo.

CICERONIAN SOCIETY.

DEBATE FRIDAY NIGHT.

We listened with pleasure and interest on Friday evening to the debate by the young gentlemen of this society before a large audience at the rooms of the Arlington. The subject was: "Is there more pleasure in the contemplation of the beauties of Nature than of the works of Art." For the affirmative: C. W. Ferguson, E. L. Alley, C. L. Chilton. For the negative: Tennent Lomax, James Weatherly, C. Scheussler. A committee from the audience was selected to decide upon the arguments. After the speaking was over, Judge Stone, the spokesman of the committee, gave the decision for the affirmative, stating the committee was decided, and that he gave the verdict of the majority.

Where each one of the participants in the debate did himself so much credit, showed such industry and research in the preparation of his speech, such powers of logic in making points and drawing deductions, such command of language and exuberance of fancy in making illustrations, we feel it would be unjust to particularize. We earnestly recommend these young gentlemen to persevere in the good work of self-improvement. They will soon arrive at man's estate, when their promising abilities will have a wider sphere, and their attainments will receive a fitting acknowledgment by an appreciative public.

HON. A. E. BUCK, now of Atlanta, and one the Tecumseh Iron Works Company, and formerly Congressman from the Mobile district, was in our city yesterday.

MR. IDDINGS, who has been in charge of the U. S. Marshal's office for a short time, will leave the city to-day for his home in North Alabama.

OUR merchants had rather a busy day yesterday considering that it was Saturday. Planters are so busy now getting in their crops that they have little time to come to the city, except on Saturday.

COTTON was dull at 15¼c. yesterday. Very little is coming in now, and the crop is nearly marketed. We hope the planters will put in a larger crop of corn than usual.

THE members of the church-door brigade will assemble to-day at the first ringing of the bells, in full dress uniform of faultless neck-ties and delicate gold-headed canes. All who are not able to get the canes can part their hair in the middle.

THE most beautiful selections of spring and summer goods in Montgomery can be seen at S. A. Meertief's, on Court Square. His store looks like a fairy's palace inside. He sells his goods at very low prices. Go and see them, ladies.

AT the entertainment of the Standard Club last night, on account of the absence of one of the gentleman who was to play a character, there was no dramatic performance. But a splendid "calico hop" was given. The prize for the most becoming costume was awarded to Miss Gabriella Weil.

COL. J. R. TOMKINS, P. G. M. of the I. O. O. F., of this State, will deliver one of the ablest and most instructive lectures upon the principles and beauties of this excellent order, to-morrow evening, at the First Baptist church. The members of the lodges and the Encampment of this city, and numerous visiting brethren, will appear in full regalia. We hope to see the church crowded to its utmost capacity. Our citizens should by their presence, encourage this noble order in their efforts to benefit mankind.

FOR a long time the question o draining that foul breeder of malaria and disease, called Cypress Pond. The Board of Health of the city recommended that it be drained. A bill was passed by the last legislature allowing persons convicted of violating any of the ordinances of the city to be worked in draining this swamp. Yet, so far, we have heard nothing about the matter. In our opinion, it is of the most vital importance that it should be drained, either by the city or by contract with responsible parties. The estimate, we believe, is that it can be drained for about $3,000. This sum is certainly very insignificant when weighed in the balance with the lives of our citizens. Montgomery, it is true, is one of the healthiest cities of the State, and if this swamp was cleaned it would be the healthiest in the South.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Mr. Jones, of Columbiana, in charge of the Monroe street M. E. Church, arrived in the city yesterday, and honored our office with a brief visit. He will hold Divine services in the church this morning.

Our well known and respected fellow-citizen, Hon. J. P. Stow, leaves the city this morning on his annual summer tour. He will spend a few days at Aiken, South Carolina, where Mrs. Stow is at present sojourning, and leave for West Meriden, Connecticut, to spend the remainder of the season. His numerous friends in this city wish him a pleasant vacation and safe return in the fall.

Hon. John Bruce, Judge of the United States District Court, will take up his residence in this city. We are glad to learn this, for Judge Bruce and his accomplished wife will be a valuable acquisition to the citizenship of Montgomery. We trust that this report is true.

HOMICIDE.

A COLORED MAN KILLED.

On yesterday a colored man was lodged in jail, charged with killing another on the Hailes' plantation near this city. The name of the murderer is Baker Taylor, and that of his victim, Robert Jenkins. We learn that the two men had a quarrel resulting from family matters, and on Friday night Taylor armed himself with a shot gun, and secreting himself, shot Jenkins when he was not suspecting it. The crime is a terrible one, and should be condemned by all good citizens. The value of human life is too little in our community, and unless the severest penalty of the law is visited upon the guilty it will continue until the fair fame of our State will be blackened in the eyes of the civilized world.

YE local is in a muddle on the game of base ball, played by the Goetter and the Houston clubs on Friday. The scorers of the Goetter's told us the game was 81 for the Goetter lads, and 39 for the Houston's. To-day, the scorer of the Houston's tells us that his score makes it 51 for each club—a tie game. If so, one more inning should have been played to decide the game. Now boys, play another game and see which is the champion, and have an old base ballist to score for you, but don't fight about it, for that is very naughty in little boys.

WE have often suggested that our citizens should erect a public fountain at the Artesian basin square, but it seems the property owners and merchants in that vicinity will not do anything towards building one. We now propose a plan by which a beautiful fountain may be put up. It will be remembered that some time since a member of the city council procured a considerable sum of money by public subscription for the purpose of building a house in the city cemetery for the sexton, but not having received a sufficient amount, this alderman, when he retired from the council, deposited the money which he had collected in one of the banks of our city. We are told that this money is still lying in the bank perfectly idle. Would it not be a good idea to take this money, and if there is not enough, secure the balance by subscription, and then have a fountain erected that would be an ornament to the city.

For all Female Complaints

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet have the influence in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup cures the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and regulates all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as they are explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

I LEADS TO HAPPINESS

A Boon to the Whole Race of Woman

DR. J. BRADFIELD'S

FEMALE REGULATOR!

It will bring on the Menses; relieve all pain at the monthly "Period;" cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia of Back and Uterus; Leucorrhœa or "Whites," and partial Prolapsus. If not checked, excessive flow, and correct all irregularities peculiar to ladies.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder; relieve Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can cure themselves in all the above diseases without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, GA., March 25, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, GA.—Dear Sirs: I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, "that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards, I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs: Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you, and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public.

Yours respectfully, REV. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof of its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader is referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, relating from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have recently used your Globe Flower Syrup in the treatment of consumption, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid in bed the entire two years before; was reduced to every day's work, small, and expected to die. He commenced using the Globe Flower Syrup; has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of effecting the solemnity required. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. For further particulars, address, C. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DIEBLE & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

DRUNKARDS.

HAVE THEY ANY RIGHTS WHICH SOBER MEN ARE BOUND TO RESPECT.

The report of "Inebriate Asylums or Hospitals," by the chairman of the Massachusetts board of health, Henry I. Bowditch, M. D., contains the following argument in favor of depriving drunkards of their civil rights:

Drunkards, if they be inveterate in their habits, should be deprived of all civil rights, in the same manner that the idiot, the insane, the high criminal, are deprived of their rights. I think that the law should allow any one to complain of the habitual drunkard, and on sufficient proof being given of the truth of the allegation before the proper court, said court should decree civil rights to be held in abeyance until a radical cure be effected. The best interests of the State seem to me, even in principal, not only to allow of this procedure, but absolutely to require it as a means of self-defense, if the republic to continue in a state of purity. I believe the period will arrive when, to be drunk, even in private, will be deemed a misdemeanor, and to appear in public in a state of intoxication will justly be considered one of the greatest of crimes against the good order of the State. Any one public exhibition of this condition of mind will then be considered satisfactory evidence (unless valid proof be procured to the contrary) of habitual drunkeness, and as such will render the offender amenable to those highest penalties which the State can inflict. For example, for one offense in public I think that such a person should not be allowed to vote or exercise his civil rights for at least six months, and for a longer time on a repetition of the offense. This punishment may seem absurd to some and be opposed by others as wholly unjust for the amount of injury done to the State. Some earnest defenders of the rights of man will say that the error of once being intoxicated in public would not deserve so serious a deprivation as that of the right to act generally as a man in civil life. There may also be others who from the way in which they use their own rights will think that the deprivation of civil rights from a drunkard will have but little force toward this cure. A man who will lie in the gutter drunk is regardless of shame, and what cares he for civil rights? I admit this argument as of some weight as to the efficiency of the punishment, but deny the plea of its injustice.

THE SNAP IN TENNESSEE

[From the Nashville Banner.]

The news brought in from the various parts of the country yesterday, tended to show that the frost and cold had almost entirely destroyed the apples, peaches, pears, etc., and injured the wheat to a greater or lesser degree. There are conflicting ideas, however, in regard to damage done, and it is possible that it may not turn out to be as serious as reported. As the minds of the farmers had been set on making a large crop of wheat this year, it of course exerted a depressing influence over them, and in the despair of the moment they gave such accounts as the above.

A great many are inclined to think the wheat has not suffered any material hurt, on account of its not being large enough. Farmers living along the line of the Chattanooga Road are firm in this belief.

Some claim that the wheat was injured in the "boot" or wherever jointing, thus ruining its future prospects. While this is the case, others entertain an opinion just the reverse. With all the conflicting opinions it is a difficult thing to arrive at anything like a satisfactory conclusion.

Some assert that the real damage cannot be known until a change in the weather takes place, when vegetation will more greatly manifest the injury sustained.

The leaves of the mulberry and the buds of other trees suffered, while flowers were nipped and killed.

The thermometer receded to four degrees below the freezing point, and ice on the ponds to the thickness of an eighth of an inch, and small icicles was the consequence. Some entertain the opinion that as much damage was done by the cold as could have been done by a frost, while others maintain that though the weather was sharp and crisp, it was nevertheless so dry that wheat could not be injured by it.

A cloud strayed off south from the direction of Bowling Green, and spit out a few flakes of snow at 5 a. m., but it melted at once, showing that the air was not so cold as imagined.

Fruit in North Alabama also suffered, and wheat is reported to have been also injured.

John Overton, Esq., says a good deal of his wheat is damaged. That which was jointed sustained the serious injury. He thinks those planters who "grazed" their wheat fields were not hurt so much.

Colonel Tom Claiborne's wheat also suffered severely.

Mr. Nelson, a subscriber of ours, and an old Virginia planter, declares that he never knew wheat to be killed by frost. Has known frosts to come in Virginia as late as June, and not destroy it.

Our Franklin correspondent, Votre, says:

"We woke up this morning to find ice everywhere, and vegetation stiff with cold. What the effect will be on the fruit and wheat cannot be told as yet. One of our best wheat farmers says it won't damage wheat in the least, but we fear fruit is done for. This a great misfortune, for our people have nothing to lose this year. It still remains cold, and worse may come."

As we go to press this morning the sky is clear, with a slight breeze stirring, with a perceptible moderation in the weather.

TUESDAY, APRIL 27, 1875.

THE CITY ELECTION.

The administrations of Mayor Faber, commencing in 1870, we believe, as chief magistrate of Montgomery, have been eminently successful. There has been no corruption nor mismanagement in the financial affairs of the city. With the exception of the default of Wm. Ulmer for a small amount, as market clerk, every dollar of the taxes collected from our citizens, under Henry E. Faber's administration, has been properly and promptly accounted for. There has been neither waste nor extravagance in any department of the city government. The expenses of the city have been kept rigidly within the compass of economy, and no "extra" burthens have been heaped upon our tax paying citizens by incompetency, carelessness or dishonesty. In the person of Henry E. Faber we have, and have had for more than five years, a mayor whose every interest is identified with the interests of every good citizen of Montgomery. Being a large tax payer, one of the leading merchants of the city and an enterprising man, he has struggled to make our city attractive to visitors and a pride to the citizens. As mayor he has not confined himself within the narrow and absurd limits of party or rings; but on the contrary he has given his time and attention to the beautifying and adornment of the city, and to the end that every good citizen might feel that his property and his business was safe from the prey of tyrannical taxation. Since Mr. Faber came into office, the expenses of the municipal government have been gradually, though steadily decreased each year, and the figures now show that for the present year the expenses have been reduced OVER THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

If any citizen doubts the fact, the books are open for his inspection. Nothing connected with Mayor Faber's administration is kept hid under a dark cover. His acts and his deeds are open for the closest scrutiny. And in the conduct of our municipal affairs he has had the counsel of such men as William Hall, Edwin Beecher, Henry Weil, Jacob Myer, and other well known citizens. They are here among us; they can be seen every day. They are tax payers and bona fide citizens—just as patriotic as Mr. M. L. Moses, or Mr. Douglass, or Mr. Stone or Mr. Frazer. They have just as much interest here as the last named gentlemen, and have lived here perhaps as long as either of them. They are just as competent to administer municipal affairs as Mr. Moses and his associates. Why, then, is it that the lash is so keenly cracked about the heads of our citizens? Why is it that those who don't think Mr. Moses and his associates can manage our city affairs any better than Henry E. Faber, and his associates, are to be ridiculed, hunted down, and threatened with destruction of their business, and social extermination?

We call upon the tyrants who are trying to force our citizens to support Mr. Moses, to speak out before the public. Why is Mr. Moses any better than Mayor Faber? Point to one single act of Mayor Faber for which good men should condemn him. Point to one single act of Mr. Faber, as mayor, which has done harm or injury to the best interests of this city. Name one single dishonest act—with the proofs—of Mayor Faber, and we will be as ready to condemn him, as the tyrants and office-seeking politicians now seem to be to destroy him.

The cry of party has lost its old beauty, among the people of this city. The party lash has lost nearly all its sting and potency. Reason has gradually assumed its sway, and in a short while will reign supreme in this party-cursed land. Men cannot be driven headlong into destruction by the old despotic cry of "stand by your party." In this proud city of Montgomery we now have reason and argument, and neither the Advertiser nor the despots and tyrants who dictate to it, can drive the business men of this city like sheep are driven to the shambles. Each citizen of this city has the right to cast his vote as he deems best, and no one has a right to do him harm. We rejoice that the old party hacks have seen their best days; we rejoice that the time is here when every citizen's conscience is his own, and is no longer in the keeping of a ring of soured and disappointed political task-masters. The time has come when free men are no longer to be watched at the polls by paid spies and emisaries of ring masters and despotic newspaper hirelings. The age of party whips and lashes has gone by us into the deep gloom of everlasting night. No more will "black lists" and "rolls of infamy" be paraded in this community. Our citizens have the right to vote as they please, and if they do not wish to vote for Mr. Moses, we apprehend that the Advertiser will find itself in a very poor business to undertake any more "rolls of infamy." And if our citizens desire to vote for Mayor Faber's re-election, they are going to do so, and they are responsible alone to themselves and their God. They belong neither to the Montgomery Advertiser nor the worn-out old party hacks whole sole occupation is to stir up strife and dissension among our people that they may make their bread and meat out of our sorrows and misfortunes.

—The most touching appellation yet—Brooklyn, the Niobe of cities.

In his testimony before the Coburn Committee, Judge Rice declared himself a Democrat. * * * * *

Last fall he fell into a fit of sulkiness because the Republican State Convention did not see proper to adopt a platform elaborated by him, and his sulkiness ended by his going back to the Democratic party.—Mountain Home.

Much as we like our neighbors, and particularly those who agree with us in some of the rules of our household, and however charitable the act toward the weaknesses of humanity, to us it is ever a painful duty, and one performed with much delicacy, when it is made imperative to remove the mote from our neighbor's eye.

But from some cause that mote has grown to such enormity in the eye of the Mountain Home, that we gently draw our scimitar across the protuberance, thereby hoping to restore our neighbor's sight unbiassed.

We cannot conceive how any paper appearing before the people only once a week, whose editor has before him the volume containing the evidence, from which he attempts to draw the conclusion, set forth as facts in the columns of his paper, with a week or weeks to prepare the article, when that same volume, under the head of "errors," as distinctly corrects such a statement as the one regarding Judge Rice's testimony as to his political principles, can make such a mistake concerning a man of such prominence as Judge Rice has in Alabama?

If the Home has an object in view, in reading men out of the Republican party in Alabama, it should commence its labors in that direction, on more obscure men; on men whom the people of Alabama, see and hear less of; that seldom move in our midst and have less identity with Alabama's interests than Judge Rice. Judge Rice distinctly stated before the Coburn committee that he was a Republican, and it seems to us, that if the Home had been as anxious to learn what Judge Rice did say before that committee, as it is to get such men as he is out of the Republican party in Alabama, we would have been spared the painful duty here undertaken.

We are inclined to think that the Home was mistaken in the authority from which it makes the charge that Judge Rice is a Democrat. The only authority that we have seen for making such a charge, is that advanced by Mr. Spencer in the Senate hall, when his case was before that august body. He asserted that Judge Rice was not a Republican, but belonged to the Democratic party, and whose statement was then and there corrected by Mr. Saulsbury, a Democratic Senator from Delaware, who said he had never met Judge Rice, but knew him by his reputation as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Alabama, in former years, and as an eminent lawyer and prominent man now, whose political principles were known to all public servants of the people, and he must correct the gentleman's (Mr. Spencer's) statement, to the effect that Judge Rice was a Democrat.

Judge Rice has at no time, nor place, since his connection with the Republican party, declared himself a Democrat, nor have his actions justified any one else in so doing.

The Home has a very narrow conception of "the fit of sulkiness that Judge Rice fell into last fall on account of the rejection by the State convention of the platform elaborated by him." If this denominated "sulkiness" had dwelt in the bosoms of a majority of that convention, and such a platform of principles enunciated as such "sulkiness" dictated, the party which stood on it would have been successful, and in political power to-day in the State. But there were political leaders there who knew that such a platform as the one elaborated by Judge Rice would soon undermine their frail liens upon public confidence, and to sustain themselves Judge Rice's platform and the people's interest had to be rejected. The votes of thousands of good Republicans in North Alabama that were polled against the platform, elaborated by some one else than Judge Rice, shows that there are others that fall into fits of sulkiness, when the people's vital interests are not consulted by men who would conduct the State's destinies. Are all those men to be read out of the party who, like Judge Rice, did not approve of the actions of that convention? If so, the would-be leaders and ring-masters will muster a small corps in the future, as it is to be hoped many of them will do anyhow.

Judge Rice is as good a Republican to-day as there is in the State, and such a tone of Republican principles as he advocates will win with the people, resuscitate our State, and make ours a happy country. We say success to such sulkiness.

In the suit against the Chicago Times for libel, which resulted in a just verdict against that paper for $25,000, the editor endeavored to mitigate the damages by showing that he had made unusual efforts to test the truth of the alleged libel after its publication. As soon as he discovered that the libel had stirred up a great deal of indignation he sent his men out in all directions to hunt up the evidence, and then, being satisfied that there was no truth in what had been published, he made a full retraction. The judge who tried the case decided, and very properly, that the evidence should have been hunted before publication. It was too late to hunt for it afterwards. A retraction is no remedy for a libel. An editor is bound to inquire into the truth of what he publishes before he publishes it. The injury wrought by the publication of a falsehood is such that no subsequent publication can atone for it.

While we see many defects in the law we must protest against the course of those who censure the members of the legislature for those imperfections. The Radicals in the House of Representatives did all in their power to retard legislation, and it was with great difficulty that the act referred to was passed at all. It was only put through at the heel of the session, and our level-headed and practical representatines were deprived of the opportunity of scrutinising it closely.—Tuskaloosa Times.

There is argument for you. "Sambo, how many pigs are there in that pen?" "Well, massa, I count twelve in dar, but one little pig he run about so I c n't count him; dat makes fourteen wid de two old sows." Such is the argument of the Tuskaloosa Times. The Radicals run about so that our clear-headed (ahem!) law-makers and level-headed (ahem!) representatives couldn't practically do anything. They sat over one hundred days, too, but the little pig kept up his gyrations, and rooted among those level-heads so rapidly that they couldn't scrutinize. What a shame, that such little pigs are permitted to do such naughty tricks. After one hundred days of "scrutiny," sixty-odd level-heads were completely confused by a handfull of Radical pigs! We would be pleased to have one of these level-heads tell us what this means. If their heads were level how was it they couldn't "scrutinize?" Light, gentlemen, light. Let the sun shine on this thing. The people would like to know why it was that level-heads could not do a little more "scrutinizing." Turn loose a forty-horse power microscope on this business, and we will all take a gaze at it, and see what it resembles. If visions of pine-tops, rye fields and corn cribs do not appear in the dim distance, we will at once confess that level-heads are liable to "scrutinize." But "scrutinize" or what not, let the light shine on this little transaction.

The $25 license provision, in the new revenue law, has closed up several small "shebangs" in this city.—Tuskaloosa Times.

That looks like regaining prosperity, doesn't it? How many poor men and women will be ruined, instead of advanced in prosperity under such a state of things? But then those little pigs kept running about so, that the level-heads couldn't scrutinize.

The following from the same issue of the Times sounds like prosperity—in a horn:

The tax on butchers will cause beef to take another rise. The revenue law, in their case, added insult to injury, by clubbing them in the taxation clause with fortune-tellers. We suppose the Legislature thought the butcher who was able to pay the tax was fortunate.

The time is coming when men will be elected to the Legislature who do not care so much about that $6 a day as the present members evidently do.

We can win if we will only try. There is no discontent in our party which will not yield for the public good. There never was much and the most of what there was has disappeared.—Advertiser.

We have been wondering why it was that the Advertiser put its ticket in an "obscure" corner of its second page, and ceased blowing Mr. Moses' bugle. It is plain to us now. The "discontent" has disappeared from "our party." So everything is now lovely! What a nice thing it is? What a lovely animal "party" is, and how the Advertiser does dote on it? Oh! how fondly our neighbor hugs "the party" to its bosom, and embraces it in most touching affection! Citizens, get out your bandanna's and help us shed a few tears of joy! Look on the picture, please. See how the Advertiser, with parental affection, embraces "the party!" and kisses "her" as they did in Brooklyn! Oh! how sweet the contemplation!

Ever of thee I am fondly dreaming,
Thy gentle voice my spirit can cheer:
Thou art the star that mildly beaming,
Shone o'er my path when all was dark and drear.

The various railroads of Missouri have claimed an exemption under their several charters from a tax on about a hundred million dollars worth of property. The Supreme Court of the United States, however, has just decided that all this property is liable to taxation for State, county and municipal purposes, and that the collectors in the several counties are authorized to levy and collect the same, and have been so authorized since the 7th of April, 1868. The decision will very considerably enrich the Treasury of that State, and it also removes the last pretext of the repudiating railroad bondholders of the State for trying to avoid the honest payment of their obligations.

Discoveries of gold and silver ore are reported from nearly all parts of the country. A subsoil plow, however, is perhaps as good an implement as any that can be used in getting directly at those metals.

Hon. C. C. Cole, one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Iowa, a strict temperance man, and who has heretofore been a very ardent advocate of prohibitory liquor laws, now states that a more thorough investigation of the subject has convinced him that such laws cannot be enforced, and consequently should not be enacted.

The following paragraph we clip from the New York Tribune of last Friday:

After concluding his eloquent and patriotic speech at Lexington, Gen. Bartlett was approached by a stranger, who, with tears rolling down his cheeks, said: "General, I am a Southerner. I was a good rebel, but now I am a true Union man, and I only needed to hear such words as yours from a Northern man's lips."

Postmaster General Jewell, according to the Washington Star, in alluding to the impolicy of any concealment of the postal frauds, recently used the following language:

What we want in this department is daylight. I want no secrets concerning it locked up in my breast. If there is anything wrong I want the newspapers to know it, for as a rule they denounce fraud of all kinds, and are potent in remedying existing evils. Thieves don't like to be held up to public odium by the press, but the fact that they are shown up occasionally has a salutary effect on rogues who are about to perpetrate some rascality.

BRIEF ITEMS.

—"The bird is singing in my heart," is the last flowery equivalent for announcing that you're a little how come-you-so.

—The most characteristic feature of our modern civilization is, that we have reversed completely the old rule, pay as you go. It is now borrow as you go.

—Sister Perking was asked if she was going to celebrate her fifth marriage anniversary by the festival of a wooden wedding. She tartly replied, "No, that would be unnecessary, as I married a 'stick,' and he has done nothing but raise cane ever since."

—In consequence of the unexpected polar wave, a moderate supply of original poem will be accepted at this office for the coming week. Wide, open handwriting is the most acceptable, as it burns with a steadier flame.

—A country newspaper thus heads the report of a fire: "Feast of the Fire Fiend—The Forked Tongue Demon Licks with its Lurid Breath a Lumber pile! Are the Scenes of Boston and Chicago to be repeated? Loss $150."

"The drunkards will never be dead,
I'll tell you the reason why;
The young ones, they grow up
As fast as the old ones die."

—"Pop," said a lad who had followed the trail of the great defendant through this thing pretty closely, "how old must a man be to quit his foolishness?" "Sam," responded his father very frankly, "I ain't old enough to answer that question."

—They all three met at Moulton's house, February 7, 1871, and agreed to write loveletters to each other. Sing:

"Three black crows sat on a tree,
As black as any crows could be."

—The old crow flew away to his nest, and, cutting his cheese in two, sent a piece to each of the others, but nary a bit of cheese does he remember ever to have received from them. Sing:

Three black crows sat on a tree,
And one was good as crow could be;
The other two were bad, you know,
And "played it" on the good old crow.

—The most superficial observer must have noticed that vices and virtues go together.

—The number of fixed stars seen at any one time by the naked eye is estimated at one thousand.

—Elephants live for two hundred, three hundred, and even four hundred years. Oh that we were an elephant.

—People here are beginning to follow the command—"Love your neighbor as yourself?"—with considerable circumspection.

Y. M. C. A.—The meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city, which closed its labors Sunday evening, was attended with the most encouraging success. Owing to the fact that the reporter of this paper was compelled to attend important duties (of a personal nature) elsewhere, we were deprived of the pleasure of giving full reports of the proceedings. But we rejoice that the good work of this noble organization has been appreciated. Our city has earned lasting honor by the reception and treatment of this Association, and our citizens have exhibited that broad spirit of generosity so characteristic of them and their tradition.

In closing their work, the Association agreed upon Jacksonville as the next place of meeting, and selected the following gentlemen as the State Executive Committee:

Joseph Hardie, Selma, Chairman;
H. L. McKee, Selma;
J. H. Franklin, Selma;
J. N. Prestridge, Selma;
H. H. Stewart, Selma;
J. M. Caldwell, Jacksonville;
S. B. Brewer, Montgomery;
J. W. Sloss, Montgomery;
B. B. Davis, Montgomery;
James Sherrand, Marion;
H. C. Glenn, Eufaula;
E. F. Baber, Greenville.

H. L. McKee, of Selma, was originally appointed as Chairman, but at his request was excused, as he had already served four years in that capacity.

To the State Executive Committee was referred, with power to act, the matter of the employment of a General State Secretary.

Contributions were then tendered the Executive Committee, to the amount of $300, and a much larger amount promised to be raised, to carry on their work.

THE trial of Hamp Skanes of the colored Democratic club, yesterday, was simply a farce. He was charged with attempting to buy the registration certificate of a cullud Radical pusson, but the charge was not proven, and the nigro who brought the suit is now under arrest charged with perjury.—Advertiser, 25th.

Persons not familiar with the facts in this case will be misled by the Advertiser's statement. The facts are, that Skains induced an old man, Alfred Beasley, by name, to give him (Skains) his registration certificate. Upon the trial, an examination of the certificate showed it to be a duplicate. Mayor Faber held that, as the duplicate was worthless, Skains had not committed an offense. But the fact remains that Skains thought he was depriving a man of his registration certificate to keep him from voting.

THE business houses were very generally closed yesterday during the ceremonies of decoratieg the graves of the Confederate dead.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The Decoration of the Graves—The Blue and the Grey—The Ceremonies at the Cemetery, Etc.

Yesterday was the day set apart in our sunny land upon which to decorate the graves of the Confederate dead, who lie in their silent houses of clay in our beautiful cemetery. All day long persons were wending their way to the cemetery bearing wreaths and garlands of the choicest flowers of our land of flowers to strew upon the graves of those who fell in the battle for the "lost cause." At 4 o'clock p. m. the procession was formed at the Court street Methodist church, and marched into Market in the following order:

Mounted police.
Montgomery brass band.
Montgomery Greys, with 36 men in the ranks, under command of Capt. Winter.
12 men from Hook and Ladder Company.
13 men from Dexter Engine Company.
6 men from Alabama No. 2 Engine Company.
13 men from Lomax Hose Company.
Children of the free public schools, under Capt. Bush and Prof. Hogg.
Band of martial music.
The Cold Water Templars.
Children of the Hebrew Sabbath school under Rev. Dr. Jacobs and the Misses Jacobi and Miss B. Levystein.
Mrs. Chilton's school in care of teachers.

Then came an omnibus with about 40 little girls, followed by a score of carriages.

The procession marched up Market street to Hull, and out Columbus street to the cemetery. The Greys formed a guard around the stand, with their beautiful blue flag thrown to the breeze from it. The stand was festooned with wreaths and garlands, and resembled the bower of the fairies. Over it in silver letters were the words: "We bless the turf that wraps their clay."

After the procession was ranged properly around the stand, Rev. Dr. Andrews offered up a prayer, when Miss Letitia H. Tyler, read a beautiful poem. The band then played a solemn march, and Col. Graham, the orator of the occasion came forward and delivered one of the most chastely worded, and beautifully conceived orations in honor of the heroic dead. Not an unkind word, nor unpleasant sentiment did he utter. In fact his entire address was replete with sentiments that should have echoed in the breasts of all. His comparison of this occasion to one where garlands were placed on the victors brow, was very fine. He said it was intended by the ladies to decorate the ground of the Federal dead who were buried there, and that he was proud of it, that the Northern and Southern soldiers lie side by side on many battle fields which had been torn up, and whose soil had been enriched with the best blood of both. That while he spoke in praise of the valor of the Confederate soldiers, he would be far from plucking one flower from the wreaths that encircle the brow of the Federal soldiers. He closed with a beautiful tribute to the fair women of our land. It was a most appropriate and eloquent address. [We requested a copy for publication, but as he did not have it written, we are unable to give our readers this matchless oration in full.]

The Greys then marched to the place where the dead lie, while the dear little children were placing flowers upon each and every grave. This completed, three rounds were fired over the graves by the Greys, when the ceremonies closed. The multitude dispersing, some to strew wreaths upon the graves of loved ones, and others to visit the graves of soldiers in other parts of the cemetery. At the grave of Gen. Clanton there were wreaths of flowers and a small streamer of red and white. At the entrance to the Confederate graves was an arch of flowers with a picture of Gen. R. E. Lee, and the words: "A people's heart embalms his memory." At the entrance to the monument was another arch of flowers, with a picture of Stonewall Jackson, and the words: "Death caught his step on glory's track." The monument was beautifully decorated with flowers. At the base of the monument was placed a little box with the words: "Contribute a nickel for the soldier's graves."

As an evidence of that expression: "Thou art dead but not forgotten," was the beautiful decorations at the grave of the gallant Lomax. There were two stacks of muskets at the entrance, and a guard of men from the Lomax engine company, among whom were R. H. Adams and Jos. Baumer, who were members of the 3d Alabama regiment, at the head of which he fell, uttering the word, "Forward." The monument was decorated with wreaths of flowers, a Lomax fire belt, and at the base the colors of the State in 1861. On the slab over the grave were placed a fireman's trumpet, a fireman's hat, and a Lomax fire shirt, and covered with flowers. Over all was a streamer with the word "Lomax" on it. At the sides of the grave were battle-scarred colors of the 3d Alabama regiment, and the American flag with its beautiful stripes and bright stars; while under these banners was a blue and white shield on which were the words: "The flags he fought for and loved—Captain Ala. Vol. U. S. A. 1846, Col. 3d Ala. C. S. A. 1861." Expressing the fact he was a captain in the Mexican war, and a colonel in the Confederate army. Beside this was the banner of the Lomax Hose Company, with the motto, "Forward." The day was beautiful, and our people feel that they have discharged a noble duty in again making their annual visit with their floral offerings to strew the graves of the dead. May each recurrence of this day tend to soften the asperities of the late unhappy struggle which drenched our fair land in blood, and cause our people all over the land to forget, to forgive, and to love each other as brothers indeed.

OPENED AGAIN.

MUNTER & FABER TO THE FRONT.

We are gratified to be able to state this morning that the old familiar house of Munter & Faber, Court Square, is again open, and these well known merchants are again ready to greet their hosts of customers as of old. No doubt it would have been very gratifying to a few (very few) persons in this city, to have seen this old mercantile firm destroyed; but with a firm determination to rise up out of the troubles that enveloped them, they bent all their energies to struggle up above the waves that were so eager to swallow them, and they have triumphed. They appear once more before the business public with untarnished banners, and ready to supply their many old customets with all kinds of merchandise.

We are glad that this house has been opened again. We trust that every business house in the community will be kept busy during the season, and that they may all be enabled to keep up the good name of our city for enterprise. There are too many business houses now closed, and strangers visiting our city may be led to believe that we are all old fogies and do not deserve any better. One cause, we think, of so many being closed, is the fact that our business men do not advertise as liberally as they ought. In other cities the newspapers are daily filled with fresh and attractive advertisements of every kind of business. Such cities are always prosperous.

PICNICS.—The Good Templars of this city will give a grand picnic at White Hall, on the Western railroad, on the 6th day of May.

The Montgomery Shooting Club, so we learn, will give their grand annual picnic and pigeon match at White Hall on May 13. This promises to be one of the most interesting and enjoyable events of the season, and the Nimrods of the city are preparing for a general day of festivity. We hope their efforts will be attended with the greatest success.

I. O. O. F.—Yesterday was the anniversary of the institution of Odd Fellowship in the United States. The lodges in this city invited Col. J. R. Tomkins, of Mobile, P. G. M. of the State, to deliver a lecture upon the principles of the order. Last night the two lodges of that order in the city with the lodge of the Knights of Pythias marched to the First Baptist church, to hear the oration of Col. Tomkins. After the lodges had filled into the church an ode was sung, and a prayer was offered by the chaplain, Rev. J. L. Mills, when some questions and answers were had between the Noble Grand and the Vice Grand of the I. O. O. F. Col. Tomkins then delivered a most eloquent and instructive oration, after which another ode was sung by the choir of the church. The lodges then returned to their rooms.

It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Special Cabinet Session—The Cabinet Changes—The "New" Treasurer—He Makes a Fine Impression upon the Subordinates—Corpus Christi Sacked and P. O. Robbed by Mexicans—Whisky on Hand—Coinage of Gold—The P. M. General Cutting Down Official Advertisements—Internal Revenue Receipts—Delano and his movements—Black Hills "Ring" already Fixed to Gobble.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The special cabinet session to-day only considered the proposed cabinet changes. Lasted only an hour.

Mr. New, the successor of Spinner, will remain here for several days in order to acquaint himself with the routine of the Department. He spent Friday and Saturday in looking through the various branches of the Treasurer's office, and in making the acquaintance of his subordinates. He made a fine impression upon all with whom he came in contact—especially the ladies.

The Postmaster General this morning received the following dispatch:

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 26.

To P. M. General, Washington:

The postoffice was plundered and sacked at Carizo, on the 22d inst. by Mexicans. Saville was killed. Customhouse safe is in the office, but could not be opened. Particulars will be reported by mail. I am here on official duty.

Signed: H. MCLELLAND, P. M.

The amount of whisky on hand in warehouses, on the 1st of April was nine millions three hundred and fifteen thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight gallons.

The coinage of gold at the Sanfrancisco mint, during the month of April, will amount to three millions of dollars, and the coinage of gold and silver, at the same mint, exceeds in amount any other mint in the United States.

The Postmaster General will correct as speedily as possible the abuses connected with mail contract business. Heretofore contractors have obtained large numbers of contracts and then sub-let them at much lower rates than they are paid by the Government. This will be remedied by publishing the names of the contractors with their routes and the prices paid them. Persons who then desire to buy these routes can do so with their eyes open. It is believed that if this method is adopted the profits of contractors will be so much diminished that they will not find it advisable to spend large amounts of money to secure contracts. It is further believed, now that the contract frauds have been exposed, that it will not be possible hereafter for any one contractor to obtain as large a number of contracts as formerly.

The receipts from internal revenue to day amount to $534,454.22. The receipts from customs to-day at the Treasury department were $365,209. The amount of national bank note currency received today for redemption aggregated $486,211.

It is now said that the efforts to displace Secretary Delano from President Grant's cabinet arise from a combined movement on the part of Senator Mitchell, Ben Halliday, Rufus Ingalls and others, who desire him to be succeeded by some person who will join with them in securing to a corporation already formed and in which they are interested the Black Hills Indian country.

The President received a letter from Sam Bard, postmaster at Atlanta, Ga., to-day, stating that he had received a telegram from the Postmaster General saying that he would be permitted to resign, his resignation to take effect June 1st, and asking that he be allowed to retire with the quarter ending June 30, next. The President requested the Posmaster General to reply affimatively, which he did to-day.

A Stock Yard Treasurer in Trouble—He Tries to Imitate Col. Fisk—Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, on the German Troubles—An Episcopal Missionary Dies—He was supposed to be Poor, but Much Money is found in His Possession—The Waldon Estates.

NEW YORK, April 26.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of John H. Comer, Secretary and Treasurer of the National Stock Yard company, charged with defaulting. He was once Secretary to Col. Fisk.

Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, publishes a letter to-day giving a translation of a letter to the Bishops of Germany from Canadian Bishops. This letter extols the Apostolic courage of Catholics; sympathizes with them, and says that German Catholics are not prepared to receive an order of things totally at variance with the institutions of Christ. The German government is denounced as oppressive, tyrannical and iniquitous.

A Catskill special states that last week an aged Missionary, named Clarke, who was detailed by the Episcopal Board of Home Missions, to duty in 20 populous mountain districts in Greene county, died. He appeared to be very poor, and had but a small salary. After his death an old trunk in his room was opened and $100,000 in United States bonds were found; also a bank book showing $10,000 to his credit. His heirs are not yet known. [Plenty will soon turn up.—ED. JOURNAL.]

An extraordinary suit for the recovery of the rich estate of Waldron, will soon be commenced by his heirs. The land in question embraces all the sections between 82d, and 109th streets, and North and East rivers. For a long time it was partially covered by swamps, but was improved and sold for taxes. It is estimated to be worth sixty millions of dollars. The heirs reside in California.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schneck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

CONSUMPTION CURED!

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines. New Albany, Ind April 10, 1874

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir —I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim"), g g sire "Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

Friends and Patrons

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high-toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

We will furnish the daily at $8.00 per annum, $4.00 six months, $2.20 three months—invariably in advance; or clubs may be made up from as many different postoffices as there are name; these may be sent in as obtained accompanied by the money, and when the club is completed, the extra copy will be forwarded to any address named.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of eliciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and despatch. Send in your orders at once. HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A MAN GROUND UP IN A WINDMILL.

[From the Rochester, Minnesota, Post.]

A most horrible accident occurred at Potsdam, last Friday. Potsdam is a little hamlet, about eight miles northeast of this city, on the road to Plainview, on Greenwood Prairie, and is the centre of a settlement of thrifty German farmers.

Messrs. Coranske and Buetow have a wind grist mill there. On Friday, of last week, a little after 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the windmill became unmanageable by reason of a high wind. A number of men were gathered about, and four of them went up into the tower supporting the windmill, to endeavor to turn the machinery so as to throw the tan into the wind. The party was headed by Wm. A. McCarren, a very athletic young man of about twenty-seven years, who worked at the blacksmith shop at Potsdam. The others who went with him were John Haft, August Tradup and Henry Peters.

On getting to the top of the tower the men were crowded into a very small space McCarren, standing on a timber and in a cramped position, thrust a crowbar into the machinery, was running at a fearful rate, to stop it, but the motion of the machinery threw him off his balance, and his foot slipped under a large revolving cog-wheel. As he felt himself drawn into the machinery, he cried out, "Boys, save me, I'm caught!" and a couple of the men standing by caught him by the legs and body and tried to draw him out.

They held on to him until he was drawn in nearly up to his shoulders, when, finding they could not help him, but were in great danger of being themselves drawn in, they let go, and one of them Henry Peters, jumped a distance of twenty feet to a landing below in the tower. He was bruised but not seriously hurt.

Poor McCarren's last words were those given above; he is thought to have died almost at once after uttering them. His body was rapidly drawn in and passed through a space of not more than two inches in width between the wheel and a timber, crushing it into a pulp of quivering, bleeding flesh, held together by the torn clothing and hanging from the timber in a horrid, shapeless mass. The arms and part of one of the legs were not so thoroughly crushed, but were badly torn and mangled by the cogs. The whole body was passed through in this way clear to the head, which was stopped by a crow-bar that had been left in the wheel by one of the men. The head was afterwards severed from the body with a knife in order to extricate it. All this, we are told, took place within two or three minutes. The tower was dripping with blood. The horrified men attempted to stop the mill by crowding grain into the stones, but had to abandon the effort, and after a few hours it in some way stopped itself.

It is a strange fact that Mr. McCarren's watch was found in his vest pocket uninjured, and was running regularly after the accident. His pocket-book was also uninjured.

A shrewish wife, quite sick, called her husband to come and sit by her bedside.

"This is sad a world, my dear, said the wife, plaintively.

"Very," coincided the man.

"Were it not for leaving you I should love to quit it."

"Oh, my dear," eagerly responded the fellow, "how can you think I would interfere with your happiness! Go by all means,"

The lady got well.

By declining to eat things that you want because they are unhealthy, by going to bed early when you want to sit up, and by making your life wretched in a thousand ways, you have a chance of living to a ripe old age, if that is any satisfaction to you. You want to avoid being drowned, crushed by a falling sign board, or killed in a railroad accident to make this recipe effective.

Always fill lamps in the morning, when there is daylight to work by, and lamps and oil are cold. Do not pour oil from a can that was recently been agitated. Do not allow a lamp to stand very long near a stove, or in any other warm place. Always keep the tube of the lamp clean, and trim the wick every morning. Do not extinguish a lamp by blowing down the chimney; blow up from the bottom, or else turn the wick down. Buy none but the best of oil.

HENRY E. FABER, FOR MAYOR.

The Advertiser is shaking in its boots—Mayor Faber announces himself a candidate for re-election. Of all men in Montgomery, the Advertiser regrets his candidacy more than tongue can speak or pen can write. The "ring" is frightened and the "ringmasters" are unhappy. They commenced that conciliating business too early; had they waited until it was proper to put on the mask of deception, they would not now be withering in sackcloth and ashes, and writhing on red hot gridirons.

That was a nice little trick that the old "ring-masters" put up at the Courthouse. A conciliator must be found to undertake the tough job of overthrowing Henry E. Faber. After surveying the field for a long time, they saw in the distance, all the "foreign elements," as the Columbus Times calls them, looking about for a conciliator. At the most opportune moment, up walks Mr. M. L. Moses, and he is gathered up and set before the multitude as the great conciliator. Now, for fear of a misunderstanding, we distinctly disclaim any desire or intention to drag any personal or private affairs of Mr. Moses into this contest. We simply claim the right, and shall exercise it with prudence and discretion, of inquiring into the claims of Mr. Moses, as a political candidate for the office of Mayor. As a general rule we are opposed to making party struggles in our municipal affairs. It looks too much like inviting discord and dissension in our own household. But Mr. Moses stands upon party alone, and would not, therefore object to us, in stating his claims upon that basis. As a party man, he scorns to accept the votes, or the support of every man who does not hold on with strong grip to the tyranny and despotism of "the party." He does not seek the office of Mayor upon any ground but that of "party;" he is a party candidate, proposes to be the Mayor of a "party," and to have no intercourse with those who do not stand by "party." In effect he says, that those who do not indorse "the party" are his enemies and he seeks no support from them. This is something that no reasonable people can safely submit to. If any party proposes to destroy all who do not swallow its doctrines, then government had better dissolve and let each man set up his own laws, and be his own king. For among our ten thousand citizens we have a variety of political opinions; but Mr. Moses is the representative of that element which would destroy every interest of the city, would close every business house, would let every poor man starve, to further the ends of his "party." They regard all who differ from them as unworthy of recognition—as having no claims to decency or respectability.

On the other hand Mr. Faber is the candidate of the people; he appeals to no man's prejudices; he asks no party to make him its idol. His record is his claim for the support of the people. Under his administration we have the new city building, a monument of the enterprise and prosperity of our citizens. We have the water works which every citizen boast of with pride and which are another evidence of the energy and liberality of our citizens. But above all we have the records showing a decrease every year in conducting the municipal government. This year we have saved through Henry E. Faber, over THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS to the tax-payers of the city. Can Montgomery afford to put aside such a Mayor as Henry E. Faber? Let every tax-payer and property owner in the city think of these things. Let the sturdy business men of this city whom Mayor Faber has saved so much money, think of this subject. We have tried Mayor Faber and he has proven faithful, competent and honest. We have not tried Mr. Moses and know nothing of his ability. Every good citizen should consider this matter without any reference to party, but as friends of good government.

FOR CITY CLERK.

Capt. William B. Hughes—known by every citizen of Montgomery as Billie Hughes—announces that he is a candidate for re-election as city clerk. The announcement itself is all that need be said, for Capt. Hughes is too well known and appreciated, for us to add anything to his own announcement. He has been a faithful and honest officer, and we hold that when the people succeed in finding an officer who serves them honestly and faithfully, they should retain him just as long as he will consent to serve. But such is not the argument of the party ring-masters. They contend that, Capt. Hughes having served for several years, and having proven himself an honest and competent public servant, he should be put aside and a stranger, who has never been tried should be put in his place. The people of Montgomery will not listen to any such folly, in our judgment. Because there is not one solitary good reason why Capt. Hughes should be defeated. The only reason urged is that he has "been in long enough and should give way to some other man." This is the brilliant argument of the "party sticklers;" they don't care a straw about a man's honesty or competency; their only plea is that certain men must be supported—that is, their meat and bread must come—by public office. The argument is almost too contemptible to laugh at. When the day of election shall have passed, we hope to be able to chronicle the fact that a most worthy public servant has been rewarded with the renewed confidence of the good people of Montgomery.

ADVENTISTS MAKE A MISTAKE.

The announcement by telegraph, a few days since, was not absolutely necessary to inform the world that it did not come to an abrupt termination last Monday, a week, as it was confidently expected to do by the Adventists, who, in solemn conclave, awaited the last trump at Chicago and elsewhere. The Chicago journals, however, give us some interesting particulars of the scenes which accompanied the meeting in that city of the credulous devotees.

The assembly which gathered there to await the great event numbered about one hundred and fifty persons, of both sexes and of all ages from children at the breast to gray-headed men. Their place of meeting was carefully concealed, to avoid curious intruders. All the preparations were made in accordance with scriptural directions, including a last supper, the washing of each other's feet, prayer and singing. Although unleavened bread formed a part of the repast, it consisted largely of less sacred food, such as boiled mutton, cranberry pie, apples and oranges, and included a supply of red wine. Early in the evening the expectant believers received a sign which greatly increased their hopefulness. Zaccheus and Matthew had prophesied that the Lord would come when "the light shall not be clear nor dark," and "as the lightning cometh out of the East." Early in the evening the heavens grew dark, and a thunder storm burst over the city. As Chicaga time is some seven hours and a half later than that of Jerusalem, the leaders of the sect at once concluded that the midnight at which the Lord's coming was expected was to be reckoned in Jerusalem time, and they forthwith manifested the liveliest joy. The storm passed, however, as storms generally do, and the anticipatory ceremonies were continued.

The leader at the feast was an Elder Thurman, who had made the calculations on which the prediction of the date was founded. He had spent seven years verifying all the records by astronomical observations, and has conducted a journal to advocate his views. As the hour of midnight approached and nature suffered no revolution, Elder Thurman grew despondent, and while he administered the sacrament he gave vent to his anguish as follows:

"I will not despair to the rising sun, but how I can extend the prophetic dates longer than midnight I cannot see. It has been my study for thirty-two years, and, again and again, and yet again, have I examined all the prophecies to see whether there could be any mistake, but I could find none. And again to-day I took my Bible and tried to see whether by any possibility the prophecies might extend for a day longer, but they all point to this day. If there is a mistake I am unable to discover it. Whether Christ comes or not I feel that my work is done. If Jesus does not come for a thousand years, still I shall rejoice that I did prove faithful—I took Him at his word: 'At the time appointed the end shall be.' I cannot extend the dates. This is the appointed time. Whether Christ appears or not, I must still believe the dates end here. The same prophecies that show that Jesus is indeed the Christ point to His second advent to-night. I am unable to see how all the prophetic dates should end April 19 and it be a chance business. If, after all, I have deceived you, will you pardon me? Will you forgive me? I have done the best I could, God knows. I wanted to present you to Jesus. I can bear the burden no more, I leave you in the hands of God."

When the minute-hand of the clock touched 12 all hope of the Lord's visible presence was abandoned, and the assemblage gave themselves up to weeping and lamentations. Women wrung their hands; men groaned and wept, and the only impassive persons in the room were the babies, who long before had quietly gone to sleep. Some of their sorrow had a substantial foundation. Elder Thurman, for instance, declared that his journal could be published no longer, as all his calculations had gone astray. Many others, because of their faith in the approaching end of all things human, had given away all their worldly goods, and had nothing whatever with which to continue life during the days which they had believed would never dawn.

Severe as is this blow to the Adventists, Millerites and similar sects, who have made themselves unhappy by their endeavors to decipher what it is not decreed to man to foretell, it is unsafe to say that future dates will not be fixed upon by them with equal credulity. We are quite sure, however, that if these would-be prophets will remember the distinct announcement of Holy Writ that "the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night," it will give them much greater satisfaction than their vain endeavors to interpret less obvious declarations.

—London papers of March 29th, have the following: "The son of the President of the United States, Mr. U. S. Grant, was in Dundee on Friday. He was accompanied by Col. J. J. M'Cook. Provost Cox met the distinguished strangers and introduced them to the leading merchants who have extensive business transactions with America. Mr. Grant and the colonel, accompanied by some Dundee gentlemen, were to fish on the Bay, above Perth, on Saturday."

It turns out that Major Calhoun, for several years United States Pension Agent at Philadelphia, who gained his position on the strength of his supposed services in the Union army, was in fact a Confederate, placed in Libby prison as a spy, where his presence among the Union prisoners gave him the opportunity to pass himself off for one of them when the Confederate cause went down. He is now in Georgia, editing a rebel paper.—Pittsburg Commercial.

This must refer to the Major Calhoun—A. R. Calhoun, of the Columbus, Ga., Enquirer. If we remember correctly this is the same person whom the Philadelphia Press a few months since, charged with being a defaulter to the Pension office in that city. According to the Press, Calhoun pretended to have been an officer in the Federal army, during the late unpleasantness. The Major also lost a leg at Gettysburg while gallantly (ahem!) leading a charge against the Confederates. He pulled the wool so completely over the eyes of the good old quakers of the city of Brotherly love, that they rallied around him, induced the President to appoint him Pension Agent, an office worth honestly about $10,000 per annum, but adding stealage might be worth anywhere between $10,000 and $100,000. The Major was also elected Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, for Pennsylvania. He played a bold hand—held three aces and a king and raked in the "pot." According to the Press it was a first-class "pot" too. And all of a sudden the Major turns up in our modest sister city of Columbus as the editor of the Enquirer and general instructor in the abstruse ethics of modern politics. He flourished as a green bay tree—only for a certain season of the year; then he began to scent the air away up above us down here. The result was that Calhoun dwindled down to a fine point so rapidly he had to call in John H. Martin to keep from wasting away. He was forced to take his own name from the columns of his own paper, and became so universally detested that his own party friends couldn't get within gun shot of him for fear of spontaneous combustion.

The Major has gone North now, we observe; and the Enquirer is offered for sale. Sad ending to a real good romance. A. R. came South to teach those stubborn Georgians how to be good Democrats. He tried to make them believe that he was the sole survivor of the old time Democracy, and was inspired in all the elements of Jeffersonian principles. They couldn't see it. A. R. was too small to contain so much, and alas! We finish the story for want of time, but can not with hold our modest adieux to the teacher of modern Democracy. Farewell.

THE MECKLENBURG CELEBRATION

Just midway between the centennial celebrated last Monday week, and that which is to be commemorated at Charlestown, June 17, comes the one hundreth anniversary of the much contested Mecklenburg declaration, which the people of Charlotte, N. C., propose to observe with an imposing demonstration on the 20th of May. It is claimed that independence of the government of Great Britain was first formally proclaimed, by the settlers of Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, in a meeting at Charlotte, May 20, 1775, and it is this declaration that their descendants, and the people of the State generally propose to celebrate. So much interest attaches to this paper, and it has been the occasion of such active controversy that we publish it herewith, in full:

Resolved, That whoever directly or indirectly abetted, or in any way, form or manner, countenanced the unchartered and dangerous invasion of our rights, as claimed by Great Britain, is an enemy to this country, to America, and to the inherent and inalienable rights of man.

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Mecklenburg county, do hereby dissolve the political bonds which have connected us to the mother country, and hereby absolve ourselves from all allegiance to the British Crown, and abjure all political connection, contract or association with that nation, who have wantonly trampled on our rights and liberties, and inhumanly shed the blood of American patriots at Lexington.

Resolved, That we do hereby declare ourselves a free and independent people; are, and of right ought to be, a sovereign and self-governing association, under the control of no Power other than that of our God and the General Government of the Congress; to the maintenance of which independence we solemnly pledge to each other our mutual co-operation and our lives, our fortunes and our most sacred honor.

"Resolved, That as we now acknowledge the existence and control of no law or legal officer, civil or military, within this county, we do hereby ordain and adopt as a rule of life, all, each and every of our former laws—wherein, nevertheless, the crown of Great Britain never can be considered as holding rights, privileges, immunities, or authorities therein.

"Resolved, That it is further desired that all, each and every military officer in this county is hereby reinstated in his former command and authority, he acting conformably to these regulations. And that every member present of this delegation shall henceforth be a civil officer, viz: A Justice of the Peace in the character of a 'committeeman,' to issue process, hear and determine all matters of controversy, according to the said adopted laws, and to preserved peace, union and harmony in said county; and to use every exertion to spread the love of country and fire of freedom throughout America, until a more general and organized government be established in this Province."

—Major Walter Harboard, who was recently turned out of the English army for cheating at cards; has gone to Australia. The family have agreed to allow him three hundred pounds a year on condition that he changes his name and never shows his face in England again.

SEEDS.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
WASHINGTON, April 8, 1875.

The Agricultural Department of the United States desires to communicate to its correspondents the following information:

1. The object and purpose of the Department is to procure the best and most approved seeds which can be obtained in this or any other country, and so distribute them as that they may be introduced into all parts of the United States to which they are respectively adopted.

2. Vegetable garden-seed is put up in packages and varieties, having a reference only to the climate and soil to which they are to be sent. Any designation of these seeds wanted by individuals is useless, because they are already put up; except the general one of flower or vegetable, or particular field seed, such as corn, oats, barley, spring or fall wheat, or particular kind of grass.

3. The Department does not profess to have every variety of seed for distribution to supply the wants of any person, but only such as are particularly good and useful, and which cannot be readily obtained elsewhere.

4. The Department often receives from five to fifty letters from one place, and sometimes written by one hand. These are not responded to.

5. The Department has its own agents for distribution, therefore lists sent here are not attended to.

6. Money or stamps should not be sent to the Department for any purpose whatever. It has no authority to receive it.

7. No seed is delivered at the Department—but only by mail.

Seed sent, in pursuance of the special appropriation of Congress, to the grasshopper districts has not been subject to these rules.

Correspondents should save the product of seed sent them, for future use.

FREDERICK WATTS,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

PEN AND SCISSORS.

—Uneasy rests the head that has no new spring bonnet.

—The last way of enamelling ladies is by hypodemic injunctions of arsenic dissolved in rosewater. It causes paralysis, but it does its business.

—Lady Burdett Coutts is going to protect humming birds. She says one Parisian milliner uses 40,000 of these little creatures every season.

—A charming young lady who attends evening church service regularly, is called the 'vesper belle," by the distracted youth of the parish.

—People are now beginning to express their devotion by paroxysmal pistols. A man in New York the other day shot his sweetheart "for love."

—A Brooklyn girl said to her dressmaker the other day: "If women are ever allowed to vote what do you suppose will be the fashion for voting dresses?"

—Lucy Hooper says that the best proof of the wonderful talent of French actresses is the perfection with which they portray girlish innocence and purity.

—Miss Elizabeth Thompson, the artist, is said to treat the critics with the same politeness that she bestows on her titled visitors. Acute Miss Thompson!

—The King of Sweden has issued an order that woman is to have the disposition of her property as well before her marriage as after it, and to be entitled to her own earnings.

—There are two things that a woman cannot do—poke a fire and sharpen a lead pencil. Some illnatured fellow has added, and reason; but, of course, no one believes him.

—There is something novel and refreshing in the arrest of a Jersey City woman yesterday on a charge of habitually beating and maltreating her husband —"And whatever you do, my son," said a thoughtful mother, as she bade her darling good-bye, "don't go near a preacher what's got water-tight compartments. Folks says it's ketchin."

—A handsome Edinburgh edition of Edgar A Poe's works, recently issued, was printed from type set up by two young women who learned the trade after the recent strike of the Edinburgh printers.

—At the Philadelphia Centennial, next year, there will be a department allotted for the exhibition of four-months' old babies, and Pennsylvania patriots are very generally directing their wives' attention to the fact.

—Queen Victoria gave Miss Antoinette Sterling, the contralto, a handsome silver service as a wedding gift. Some one having told Her Majesty that the sweet singer indulged in Chocolate, she had a chocolate pot added to the set.

—Nothing makes a man feel more desolate than to return home from a fashionable wedding, and have his wife yell at him as soon as he gets inside the door: "Come, now; jerk off them fine duds as quick as you can and fetch me a scuttle of coal."

—A Methodist Church in Maine has hit on a new plan of taking up collections. The boxes are passed by the best looking young women in the congregation, and with no difficulty in getting passers, there is also a great increase in receipts. Fact!

—Ladies sojourning in Florida for the winter catch and tame chameleons. The favorite food of these animals is flies, and a half dozen will keep a small family busy catching these insects for them. Can't a few be imported for the country districts this summer?

—Wise economy. Twenty-five per cent. more of corn will be planted in Georgia this year than heretofore. This will not interfere with cotton.

—New York elopement: Dear Pa: I am going to Baltimore with Willie. Farewell. Annie." Willie was sixteen and Annie was fourteen.

—A young lady of New York was recently struck with the uselessness of her life, and immediately went to work with vigor to learn plain sewing. At latest dates she had hemmed one side of a towel, which the proud parents have framed and hung in a conspicuous position in their parlors.

—The women of a Colorado town got up a suffrage meeting the other day, no men being admitted. No business of importance was transacted, however, because some invisible miscreant let down a live rat through the skylight, and amid shrieks and screams, the assemblage suddenly adjourned.

—If the spelling mania isn't cured soon, our whole social fabric will tumble. "He's a nice sort of a boy," said a young lady yesterday, as she rolled up his photograph and engagement ring for returning them, "but no well brought up girl can be expected to cling to a man who spells confectionery with an a."

—Among the voters at a Bristol, Rhode Island, town meeting the other day, was a man named John Bullock, aged 104. He voted for Washington at his second election, and has cast a ballot at every Presidential election since that time save one.

How complacently the Advertiser obeys the behests of the "ring" in supporting the Moses ticket. But it is only from the lips. Their heart is not in the fight.

TEERE was a great deal of music on the streets last night. Brass bands were parading from "early eve till dewy morn."

D. B. BOOTH, Esq., late clerk of the Supreme Court of Alabama, was in the city yesterday, and informed us that the prospects in old Autauga are highly encouraging, and crops very promising.

GEN. D. E. COON, of Selma, passed through the city yesterday en route for Mobile, where he goes to attend a meeting of the Spencer Legislative examining committee.

A MERCHANT who undertakes to sell goods in this town without advertising, had as well attempt to navigate a steam boat up stream without a rudder. The thing wont work.

THE Selma Times of yesterday morning says:

As an evidence of the dullness in travel on the railroads, we cite the fact that the Montgomery train last night brought down two passengers.

THE handsome steamer, R. E. Lee, came up to the wharf yesterday from Mobile and Selma. She left in the afternoon, on her downward trip, with a pretty good freight and some passengers.

DANIEL LEWY, son of Henry Lewy, has left our city for California. He is an excellent young man, and carries with him the good wishes and recommendations of his friends and our best business men.

THE memorial ceremonies in Selma, on Tuesday, are reported at length in the Times of yesterday, and were as appropriate and touching as they were in our city. Mr. John P. Tillman delivered the memorial address, which we find in the Times. It is a very commendable address.

WINDY AND DUSTY.—On Commerce street yesterday, the wind blew clouds of dust into the faces of pedestrians, and into the business houses, all day nearly. Every one who visited that portion of the city felt that it was a desert in the way of dust. A little street sprinkling wouldn't hurt much.

ALL taxpayers, who are delinquent, will find a notice from Mr. Robinson, the tax collector of this county, in these columns, calling on them to make payment before the first day of May, as he will be compelled to advertise the property of delinquents at that time. He gives full and fair notice, and parties should govern themselves accordingly.

WE were glad to meet on yesterday, Maj. Flannery, the genius of the water works company of the city. He returns from Danville, Va., and from Knoxville, Tenn., where he is building gas works and water works. We wish him success in his enterprises.

THE announcement of Mayor Faber that he is a candidate for re-election, caused considerable commotion in certain quarters yesterday morning. Little knots of men were seen "juggling" on all the street corners nearly, while the newspaper offices were besieged by the herds of politicians who keep things hot in this city. At night everything was as still and smooth as an unruffled sea.

FAREWELL SOIREE.—Professor McDonald will give his grand farewell soiree at Estelle Hall, on Friday evening next. He will expect all his friends to be present on this occasion, and join in the pleasures of the dance. Professor McDonald has hosts of friends in this city, and each one will regret that he takes his leave of us, even for a short time.

PERSONAL.—The reporters of this journal return many thanks to Miss Melvina Jacobi for her kind remembrance of them in sending the "matzos" for their afternoon enjoyment yesterday. Coming from such fair hands they could not be otherwise than greatful and highly pleased, at the kind remembrance of one so chaste, beautiful, and accomplished.

THE reporter of the Advertiser was running around yesterday looking up the man who struck Billy Patterson. He had just heard of the circumstance, and thought he would fix up a first-class item for this morning's issue of his paper. When we saw him, he was going down Court street with both coat tails standing out in the wind, and his hat in hand crying out to some poor old fellow from the country, whom some wag had told him was the man he was looking for. We did not learn the finale of his hunt, but suppose he took the headache and went to bed some time during the day. The Advertiser ought to pay him up, and give him the shake, unless he keeps better posted on current events.

FOR MOBILE.—This morning the Montgomery Greys will take the mail train on their way to Mobile, via. the M. and M. Railroad. They visit Mobile to participate in the festivities incident to the general review of the Mobile battalions of State Militia. They will be received in our gulf city, in royal style, as we learn from the Register, and their brethren of the Mobile companies will take good care of them while they are absent. The "boys" have our warmest wishes for a safe and pleasant trip to the gulf city, and return home. We regret that circumstances prevent us from attending on this pleasant occasion, but we trust every one of the "Greys" will have a genuine good time.

MAYOR FABER AND CITY CLERK HUGHES ENDORSED.

At the meeting of the Republican Central Council last night, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Republicans of the city of Montgomery endorse the administration of the Hon. Henry E. Faber as Mayor of the city, for its economy and integrity, and the zeal with which it has labored to overcome the effects of the disastrous extravagance perpetrated by the Democratic Council in 1872 and 1873.

Resolved, That as Republican and as citizens we denounce the legislation which, to subserve the aspirations of a would-be Mayor, introduces unheard of requirements for voting, disfranchises old citizens whose homes were changed, for any cause, months before the election, and in defiance of the Constitution of the State, makes the right to vote depend upon the preservation of a slip of paper from the thousand accidents that may occasion its loss or destruction.

Resolved, That we pledge our suffrages to Henry E. Faber for Mayor, and to W. B. Hughes for Clerk of the City Council, and to Aldermen interested in the welfare of the city and in the continuance of the economy which has marked the present administration of municipal affairs.

IN answer to the many inquiries made of us as to when the Machinists and Blacksmith's Union annual picnic will take place, we will state on the authority of the Committee of Arrangements that it will be given at Pickett Springs Park, on Thursday, May 20th. The Committee assure us that their fourth annual picnic will excel all others previously given. New and varied amusements will be introduced, including the "frantic mule," which created so much merriment to contesting equestrians last season. Let all attend who wish a day of real pleasure.

MAYORALTY.

After careful consideration of recent events of public notoriety in this community, of the earnest solicitation of friends irrespective of party affiliations, and of my obligations to the people of the city of Montgomery, I feel bound to announce myself as a candidate for Mayor at the ensuing municipal election.

HENRY E. FABER.

Montgomery, April 24, 1875.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&wlw

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you can not afford a Marble Tomb? If so, T. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of elevating the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. WASHINGTON.

Who Shall Succeed Attorney-General Williams—Mr. Delano Has Not Resigned, but says that the Charges Were Made—Specimens of Supplies Furnished Indians—Constitutionality of the Enforcement Act—Cabinet Meeting, &c.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Edwards Pierrepont, as matters stands to-night, is the coming man for Attorney General, though a strong effort is on foot to defeat the formal tender of the place to him.

Forney's Chronicle has a special to-night from Harrisburg, representing increasing excitement there among Republicans and Democrats over the refusal of the State Treasurer to produce certain books of his office before a legislative investigating committee.

Mrs. Mary Clemmer has not been in Brooklyn, as reported, under subpœna as a witness in the Beecher case. She has been here during the whole period mentioned in the report.

The Typographical Union is working vigorously to break down the movement of the publishers here to make themselves independent of the union. Three printers, not of the union, from Cincinnati, arrived under engagement to work. They were met by men, paid $50 each and their fare home, and returned without reporting to their employers. A party of eleven printers started from Pittsburg, and a committee of the union left soon after from here with $1,000 to intercept and turn them back. Arrivals from Baltimore were bought off and sent home in the same way.

The Star, this evening, takes it for granted that Mr. Delano is going out, and says that rumors to-day affirm that the Hon. Henry T. Blow, of Missouri, has been tendered the portfolio of the Interior Department, and that he has indicated that he will accept the office. A prominent gentleman from the far West, to-day, gave it as his opinion that Secretary Delano's successor will be a Western man, and probably a Californian. He declines to mention the name of the latter, but some guess that it is Senator Sargent, and others that it is ex-Senator Coie.

Prof. Marsh, of Yale College, who spent last summer in the Sioux country, called first on Indian Commissioner Smith, and afterward, in company with Mr. Jewell, on the President, to exhibit specimens of flour, tobacco, sugar and coffee, issued by the agent to Red Cloud's band. The flour was black and bad, the tobacco spoiled, the sugar wet, and the coffee of the poorest quality. Commissioner Smith said he thought these must be specimens of an issue of some years since, when the supplies were poor. The President said he was in favor of keeping faith with these Indians, and would do what he could to have such supplies furnished as were promised. Commissioner Smith said the man at that post was not as good a man as he would like, but was as good as he could get for $1,500.

A report has been in circulation for several days to the effect that the Supreme Court of the United States has decided the case known as the Grant Parish or Enforcement case, and that the opinion would not be presented until the next term of the court. The report went so far as to give the substance of the decision and the points involved. The last consultation of the court, previous to its adjournment on the 2d of May, was held yesterday, and there is good reason for believing that the enforcement case has not been considered at all or referred to in consultation, so that it is impossible for even the Judges themselves to know how the court stands on the question. When the court reassembles next fall the question will be taken up, and the court will vote upon it, and, when a decision is reached, the Chief Justice will assign a member of the court to prepare the opinion.

It has been believed here for some days, in official quarters, that the movement to make Edwards Pierrepont Attorney-General had so far succeeded as to have virtually secured the appointment. Quite a formidable combination has begun to work, however, to secure the selection of Gen. Butler instead.

The following letter was published here this morning:

WASHINGTON, April 26, 1875.

To the Editor of the National Republican:

SIR:—Col. Van Vleit's letter to Thurlow Weed, published in the Republican of the 24th inst., reminds me of a similar interview I had in this city with Father de Sonet in 1864. I had been lectured from my boyhood with the confidence and friendship of the Reverend Father, and in this interview while speaking of my business prospects he said if he were at liberty he could tell me where I could quickly realize a large fortune; that in one of the Indian reservations there existed very rich gold deposits of which the whites were ignorant; that the Indians had shown him large nuggets of the ore; that they had picked up in the beds of streams, and that he believed this place would one day prove to be the richest gold field in the world. He told me this in confidence, and said he had mentioned his "children" as he called the Indians, not to show their nuggets to white traders, who would thereby be tempted to over-run the reservation and drive out the Indians. Father de Sonet had but a short time previous to this interview been to the Black Hills country, and it was to that locality, I have no doubt, that he referred. As the existence of gold in the Black Hills is now a matter of notoriety, I feel absolved from any obligation of secresy to my deceased friend in making public the above statement.

JOHN B. MOTLEY.

At the cabinet session to-day, all the members were present except Secretary Bristow, who is absent from the city.

Judge Hugh L. Bond of the 4th U. S. District Court, is being pressed by his friends for the position of Attorney General.

The President to-day appointed Benj. Conly, postmaster at Atlanta, Ga., to take effect July first.

National bank notes received at the treasury to-day for redeption $920,789; internal revenue receipts $195,572; custom receipts $677,735.

For the Middle and South Atlantic states, light rain will continue with east to south winds, and falling barometer during the night, followed by clearing and warmer weather.

MEXICO.

Texican Congress Opened—The President's Message—Religious Prejudices—The Mexican Bandits—The Raiders to be Followed up—War Talk.

MEXICO, April 27.—Yesterday the Mexican Congress opened. In his message the President spoke of the religious prejudices existing, and the depredations of armed bands at the instigation of the sects, with considerable zeal. He said he was confident these small bands will soon disappear by being closely followed up, and that they will not have any importance in compromising the peace of the nation.

The President presented to Congress memorials which recommend several railroad projects, the principal one of which is the projected line from Mexico to Leon. This route has already been located for a distance of twenty-eight kilometers. It is the one which is to form a through line from the City of Mexico to the United States, connecting at Leon with a road to the Rio Grande.

The Executive has also presented to the Congress a bill for the compulsory education of children.

The United States Senatorial party arrived at Vera Cruz on the 9th inst. The Superintendent of the Mexican Ferro Carrill met the party with a special train and escorted them to Orizaba, at the foot of the mountains, where they passed the night among the banana and orange groves. The next morning they started on their way up the celebrated Cambres to the top of the mountain. The party all expressed themselves in forcible terms at the wonders of this region. The party arrived in Mexico on the night of the 24th, Saturday, and on Saturday night they took rooms at the Gillam. While there they made arrangements to retain the steamer by telegraph for New Orleans until they could return on the 15th. They left for Vera Cruz en-route for New Orleans on the steamship City of Merida. On arriving at Vera Cruz they changed their programme slightly, and decided to go to Galveston in the English steamer.

The yellow fever is increasing here.

A Boy Killed by his Teacher while at School—Two Bodies Found Eight Miles below the city—Congressman Randall Gibson and the West Point Cadetship.

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—William Miller was shot and killed this morning by Louis Leche, teacher of the McDonough school. Leche slapped Miller, and Miller undertook to cane him, when he shot him.

Two bodies were found eight miles below the city on the left bank of the river. The man was colored and the woman white. She was clinging to him with both hands. They are supposed to be from the burning steamers. A body of a man was found near the barracks this evening. Neither yet identified.

Elaborate arguments were made on the matter.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

CONSUMPTION CURED!

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines, New Albany, Ind—April 10, 1874

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

THE TROTTING STALLION,

HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Redd filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted, when a four year old, the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:56. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim"), g g sire "Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 3:15), g g g g g, sire "Bashaw," g g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson" by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

In our efforts to place before the people a high toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large, avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 24, 1874. It is an improvement in Tombs, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most tasteful, while our plain tombs are capable of exciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. NINE YEARS WITHOUT A WORD.

A TROY HUSBAND'S BRUTALITY TOWARD HIS WIFE—RE-UNION IN THE PRESENCE OF DEATH.

The Troy Press tells the following strange story concerning the husband of a lady who died recently in West Troy.

The lady and gentleman referred to were married about twenty years ago, and lived there together until the death of the wife. The latter was a most industrious, highly respectable and religious woman. For the first ten years of her married life, during which period five children were born, she did everything possible for a woman in her position to do in order to please her husband, but to no purpose. When she did her best her husband was sure to make out that she had done her worst. He grumbled continually, but at times he would break out and pour upon his wife the most unmerited abuse, continuing it for several days together. Then would intervene a silence broken only by his seeking an opportunity to give his wife a beating, when nobody was in sight, and when she least expected it.

After he had abused her he would bring in the neighbors and say to them that his wife had fallen and hurt herself, poor creature; how sorry he was for it; and he would address her as "My dear," and ask if she was badly hurt, and he would run for a doctor. He was so plausible and kind and affectionate that nobody would believe his wife when she told that it was her husband who had caused her the injuries. The neighbors thought her crazy, or at least hysterical, when she made any statements of this kind. For a long time he managed to beat his wife, and to conceal it in this way. Indeed it had reached a point, the wife taking those fits so often, that the arrangements were all but completed to send the poor woman to an insane asylum.

One day, however, the broken-hearted wife was sitting by the cradle, in which was her youngest child, a baby, rocking it, and attending to some sewing at the same time. Her husband was in one of his silent moods at the time. While she was sitting as described, the husband entered and passed through the house into the yard. He returned within a few minutes, but in the interim a neighboring lady had entered and gone into an adjoining bed-room. This lady observed him walking up quietly behind his wife and, without uttering a word or giving the least warning, doubled his fist and struck her a tremendous blow on the back of the head, leaving her sprawling on the floor insensible. This done he at once ran out to bring the neighbors as usual, and affected the greatest concern about his wife, wondering how much she was hurt, and finally proposed to go for the doctor.

The lady who had secreted herself in the bedroom accused him of the assault, and when he was gone for the doctor, she and when he was gone for the doctor, she went for the police and had him arrested.

His wife appeared in court and told the whole story of her husband's cruelty toward her, but, woman-like, begged the court to forgive him. Her request, however, was denied, and the cruel husband had to languish several months in jail. On leaving the dock after receiving sentence he turned to his wife and said that she had wronged him by what she had testified to, but to remember that he would never speak to her again on earth. This scene occurred nine years ago. The man served out his sentence and returned to his family. From the day of his return until two days before her death, which took place recently, he never exchanged a word with her directly. I was necessary living together as they were husband and wife, the parents of the same children, to have an interchange of sentiments regarding the affairs of the household occasionally.

This was done in the following manner: When they were sitting in the same room the husband would tell one of the children to say so and so to the mother. The mother would answer directly, which if it required a further answer, would be done through the child as before. But it was only when he was in particularly happy moods that he would even communicate in this way. His most usual mode of communicating to his wife what he wanted to say was for him to retire into a separate room, and thence issue his mandates through one of the children. Two days before his wife died, after she had been sick for some weeks, her condition was made known to him, when he was working in the garden, by the doctor in attendance and the clergymen who had been called in. He was told that his wife was on the verge of death, and that he must make his peace with her while she was yet conscious.

The idea of death seemed to stagger him. He was silent for a moment, and then bursting into tears, repaired to the death-bed of his wife. He bent over her and begged her forgiveness in bitter plaints and tears. The dying woman grasped his hand, and, calling him by name, said she freely forgave him all, and added that she was now prepared to die, being at peace with the whole world. A few hours before death the wife said, and they were the last words she was heard to utter, "that the last two days, with her husband never away from her bed-side, but when he left it to serve her, had been the happiest day of her life, and that she only wished they might be the beginning of happy days to her husband."

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1875.

ALABAMA PRESS ASSOCIATION

The Alabama Press Association will meet in Huntsville on Tuesday, the 11th day of May next. We trust there will be a large attendance especially since the association has been favored with an invitation to visit the State of New York on an excursion. No doubt this excursion will refresh the cane-worn quill-drivers of this State, and prepare them for the Convention campaign, which promises to be warmer than was anticipated sometime back.

The association will meet on Tuesday evening, May 11th, at 8 o'clock, in the Opera-house, where it will be welcomed to the hospitalities of the city of Huntsville, by Mayor Murphy; and immediately after that ceremony, the editor of this paper will deliver the annual address. On Wednesday the association will meet in the Opera-house again to transact the regular business of the meeting. On Thursday the members of the association will visit all the notable places in Huntsville, and will leave for Decatur Thursday night, to take the train on the Nashville and Decatur road for their grand excursion to the Empire State.

We trust all the papers in the State who intend to have representatives here at our annual meeting, will republish this announcement, so that it may become generally known. As one of the committee of arrangements, we cordially invite editors throughout the State who have not heretofore identified themselves with our association, to meet us in Huntsville in May and go with us on our contemplated trip. It promises to be one of both pleasure and profit.—Huntsville Reporter.

COMMERCIAL FAILURES.

The mercantile agency of Dunn & Barlow have just issued a statement of the business failures which have taken place in the country, during the first three months of the present year. These statistics heretofore have only been presented at the end of the year. The returns of the States of Maine and New Hampshire are included in the Massachusetts statements:

States.	Failures.	Liab's.
Alabama	15	$ 266,000
Arkansas	2	27,000
California	61	675,971
Connecticut	41	207,761
Delaware	5	65,000
District of Columbia	5	28,824
Florida	4	160,000
Georgia	40	1,037,300
Illinois	96	2,385,018
Indiana	84	1,661,249
Iowa	44	376,365
Kansas	19	83,300
Kentucky	38	1,196,000
Louisiana	6	305,831
Maryland	44	780,433
Massachusetts	113	3,514,000
Michigan	61	511,041
Minnesota	38	250,000
Mississippi	17	418,450
Missouri	65	1,199,770
Nebraska	16	120,000
New Jersey	11	81,778
New York	152	2,091,562
New York City	197	8,490,500
North Carolina	16	133,000
Ohio	53	1,187,155
Pennsylvania	155	1,927,606
Rhode Island	21	476,391
South Carolina	61	989,266
Tennessee	23	143,765
Territories	32	536,742
Texas	67	660,100
Vermont	7	31,200
Virginia and W. Virginia	47	612,765
Wisconsin	57	419,381
Total	1,733	38,874,222

Accurate comparison of these figures with the returns for the same months in previous years is impossible, owing to the absence of previous quarterly reports, but dividing by four the number of failures for the entire twelve months of previous years, the following result shows a comparison sufficiently near the mark for all practical purposes:

	Failures for year.	Liabilities for year.	One quarter of same.
1872	3,067	3,067	$121,656,000	$30,414,000
1873	5,183	1,295	228,499,000	57,124,000
1874	5,250	1,457	155,239,000	38,809,000
1875	1st qur	1,733	1st quarter	38,874,000

From the above it will be seen that thus far in 1875 the failures have not been largely in excess of previous years, while the amount of liabilities shows no increase whatever above the average of years. Considering the continued depression in numerous interests, the exceeding severity of the weather, and the lateness of spring, the conclusion is encouraging. It was to be expected that numerous wrecks from the panic of 1873 would be discovered long after the storm had passed, and probably not a few of the above failures can thus be characterized.

We shall watch the Mayor's candidacy with some interest—the more particularly that the measure of his success will be in some manner a gauge by which to test the extent of the wane of the Pat Robinson influence in city politics. The mere fact that he is a candidate may be announced as "first blood for the Austrian."—Advertiser yesterday.

We do not see what possible connection Mayor Faber's candidacy, at the present time, can have with the contest in this county last fall. He may have supported Mr. Robinson or Mr. Strobach, as he chose to do, without involving either in the municipal contest. It seems to us that the Advertiser is so hard run for material to use against Mr. Faber, that it is willing even to dig down into very small matters which other people detest.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

We find some things in the Advertiser of yesterday, which we do not quite comprehend. Now, for instance, the man who "does up" the heavy business of the Advertiser says that:

Mr. Moses was nominated for the Mayoralty by the white men of Montgomery, irrespective of creed or nationality.

In looking over the list of delegates, in the convention which nominated Mr. Moses, we find one "solitary horseman," so to speak, who rejoices in the cognomen of Jack Spivey. We judge from the above statement, however, that Jack don't cut much of a "figure" in the nomination of the great "conciliator." Jack is a genuine representative of the African race; he is as black as the curtains which hang around old Pluto's bed, at midnight, and none of the blood of the noble Caucassian courses through his veins, if he knows himself—which it is supposed he he does.

But the "right man" of the Advertiser, not knowing that the heavy individual had gone back on "the party," delivered himself, as follows:

The Colored Democratic and Conservative club held a meeting at the Buckle Factory last night. There was quite a good attendance, and several new members joined. The club was addressed by Cæsar Shorter, Henry Campbell, Martin Van Buren, G. W. Cox, John Kirkland and Jack Spivey.

We would be pleased to have a little light on this matter. If the "heavy man" of the Advertiser is going to blow cold, while the "right man" blows hot, upon the simple question of color, we simply desire to know the fact, that we may govern ourselves accordingly. If they intend to give the "dirty shake" to Jack Spivey and his club, let them do it in the broad open daylight, and not attempt to throw sand in their eyes while the operation of "shaking" is going on. Dance up on this subject, gentlemen!

DECORATION DAY NORTH.

We find in the Pittsburgh Commercial of the 26th inst., the programme of the Memorial Association of Pennsylvania, for decorating the graves of the Federal and Confederate dead which lie buried in that State. The day selected for this beautiful ceremony is May 29th. We clip the following paragraph from the programme, in which our Southern dead, who fell and were buried in that State, are so tenderly remembered:

Each year the number of our comrades who have gone to join the "silent majority" is growing larger, and that left to do honor to the memory of those who have passed away, becoming smaller, and in a few years, at the most, these memorial services will be performed over us who are now living. If performed at all, by those who were not participants with us in the war for the Union; and if we would have them continued, and the lessons of the war kept fresh in the minds of those who follow us, we must secure a more general participation in the observances of Memorial Day by the whole people, old and young. And as we scatter emblems of love on the graves of those who fought with us, let us not forget to drop a flower and a tear on the graves of those brave men, who, honest in their belief in the truth and justice of their cause, fought against us.

A SOUTHERN REPUBLICAN ON RECONSTRUCTION.

H. V. R., in one of his letters to the Cincinnati Commercial, quotes the Hon. A. W. Tourgee, of North Carolina, upon the subject of reconstruction. He thinks:

It has not only been a failure, but one of so utter and ignominious a character that people are even disinclined to go back and inquire into its causes.

"In name," he continues, "the colored man is a citizen; in theory he has the rights of a freeman; in fact he exercises these rights only by sufferance, and in all but two States is hardly more of a citizen than when he was sold on the block or driven a field by those whom he served."

He argues that the mistakes of reconstruction were, first, the assumption that men who had come up from barbarism, through two hundred and fifty years of slavery, could make self-protecting, well-balanced freemen in a day; and, second, that a party made up of this element could protect itself or the rights of its members from the assaults of a party combining experience, culture and wealth, and animated by the keenest party spirit, the rancor of race prejudice and the sting of defeat.

These he considers the mistakes of reconstruction. Looking back over the work, and considering the present unfortunate condition of the whites in two States, and of the negroes in all the other States, he now thinks it strange that anybody should have dreamed of conferring the power of a State upon a party not having more than a tenth of the property, intelligence and experience in public affairs, and exclaims, "Who could expect such power to last, or the rights of individual members of such a party to be secured from the encroachments of the compact, educated, wealthy minority?"

He takes a gloomy view of the future for black and white Republicans in the South, and thinks the party must go to the wall in every Southern State. He says, which must have occurred to others before, "that the State machinery which has been put in operation in the South, is but a set of engines made ready for the hands of our enemies, by means of which the results of the war may be made valueless, the fruits of emancipation destroyed, and the future of the freedmen made one of darkness, doubt and struggle, and probably of tyranny, resistance and bloodshed."

By regaining possession of the Southern States, the whites have a more potent voice in national affairs than ever before, for the enfranchisement of the blacks has largely increased the Congressional representation from this section, and added to the electoral vote, which chooses the President. The whites are now virtually on top in all but two of the Southern States, and the negro governments in these will be upset in time, and it may not be a long time. In the Presidential election of next year, the strongest advocates of the reconstruction policy will see and feel the weapon they have put into the hands of the South. That the South will go into the next electoral college with 185 votes, when but 184 are required to elect a President, will not be in the nature of a pleasant reflection in some quarters.

In consequence of these things, Mr. Tourgee sees breakers ahead. He fears the "results of the war" and constitutional amendments are in danger. The negroes compose the bulk of the Republican party in the South, and they are but citizens in name, not being able to hold anything against the combined wealth and courage of the whites. Giving the late slaves and their masters "equal rights," when the late slaves are not competent to maintain their rights, throwing all together upon an equal plane and calling them "States," has given a voice in national affairs well nigh controlling.

Mr. Tourgee thinks the negroes should have been educated before they were made voters, no matter how long it took, and the whites made to take back seats for a generation or two. By making "States" in the South out of the material we have, we have sown the wind and can hardly escape reaping the whirlwind.

Judge Tourgee is a Northern man, an ex-Federal Judge, who has lived in the South since the war.

CONVENTION OR NO CONVENTION.

Letter from Cleburne County.

CLEBURNE CO., ALA.,
April 24, 1875.

Editor Journal—There are numerous ways of getting information upon the various subjects that agitate the human mind, but the more modern plan or text upon the political topics of the day is newspapers. But from the tone of the Republican press of the State it is difficult for one to learn what course the party will take as regards the constitutional convention now being discussed and advocated by the Democratic press. There is so very little said upon the subject by the Republican press that many Republicans are as yet doubtful as to what will be the final action of the party on the question of "convention" or "no convention." In our section the convention finds advocates in both political parties, while many, in fact a large majority irrespective of party, are opposed to it.

If we could read both sides, we would be better prepared to form opinions as to the advantages, or disadvantages of a "Constitutional Convention."

Some have their reasons here for opposing it, while others have theirs for advocating it: will the Republican party, or press favor a convention? If it is to be favored by the party, as I have heard some few Republicans say it likely will be, upon what grounds will the canvass be made for it? And how is the party to determine upon its action? What has become of the "Republican State Executive Committee?"

Will they issue an address, call a convention, or how shall the people ascertain what will be the party action in the coming campaign? Will some one answer?

A CONVENTIONIST.

PLAIN TALK.

The Mobile Register having attempted to instruct the people of Louisiana in regard to the recent adjustment of their political affairs, the New Orleans Times gets wrathy and administers a rather severe rebuke to the Register. The Times speaks in the following style:

It is, therefore, no good cause for vexation that there is still some suffering at the policy of adjustment. So far as this is confined to our own people, it is but the exercise of an inalienable right, but when a rank outsider, like the Mobile Register, comes forward to inform the people of Louisiana that they do not know what they are about, and have not attended to their own business properly, it is time to object in terms. The Register is an ancient and hide-bound "organ" of the straightest sect, and does not know, and would not comprehend if it did know, that the politician here has lost his grip. The laboring man and the capitalist have something to say about this adjustment business, and one of the sharpest truths enunciated is that they no longer worship faded luminaries like the Register, and respectfully decline to continue to furnish political capital to other States at the expense of everything that makes life endurable or a State prosperous. The majority here are quite as competent judges of duty and principle as the Register, and they are not aware that they have sacrificed either in bringing about adjustment.

We commend the following remarks, from the Boston Daily News, to those of our people who are continually decrying the men of the present time, and longing for a return to "the good old days:"

"The history of the early days is as full of pettiness as the present time. The jealousies of military and political leaders were as mean and marked. Men's lives were as uncleanly, their souls as filled with envy as now-a-days. Philip Freneau was as ready to deride and defame Washington as Dana and Reid are in these hours to assail President Grant. John Adams thought Jefferson a political scoundrel, and Alexander Hamilton was vilely lampooned. Yet there was honest purpose, if violent prejudices, and we may learn to avoid the latter and imitate the former, if we study the past with open eye, and candid, unconvicted minds."

He stands on his own merits as a man, not offering one cent for votes, with no dirty tools defrauding ignorant men of their votes. Disfranchising no old and well-known citizens by legislative enactments—and can be found daily at the mayor's court, showing partiality to none. The office and the will of a free people seeking the man. The nominee of no packed convention. No promises made none, to respect. The poor man's friend, the sick man's nurse, the orphan's father. There is no George E. Spencer or civil rights involved in this, and no politics. He does not refuse to recognize men because they differ with him.

CONSUMPTION CURED!

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines,
New Albany, Ind. April 10, 1874

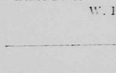

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them.

Yours truly, etc.,

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted, when a four year old, the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:58. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim"), g g sire "Long Island Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles in America, in 5:15), g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1875.

SUNDRY STRAY ITEMS.

—Pleasant weather yesterday.

—The birds are now carolling their songs.

—Commerce street and Court Square were livelier yesterday than on the day before.

—Bashfulness is often like the plating on spoons—when it wears off it shows the brass.

—The only suits that last longer than you want them are lawsuits.

—If a man is to fail in going to heaven he can at least send up his card by attempting goodness.

—He who eats strawberries and cream with his sweetheart at this season has the dear things all together.

—With care a man can walk uprightly. One who is on the alert will not be found on the orange peel.

—A broker says: "Give me the bonds of a government, and I care not who breaks its laws."

—If you want to get a boy into the habit of walking lop-sided let him have a pistol-pocket in his trousers.

—What is the use of talking of this world's brightness and sunshine to a man that has tight boots?

—This is spring, beautiful spring, when the sweet violets bloom and the little birds get up and give open air concerts.

—Don't laugh at Jones' horse. He put him out to board through the winter, and Jones says 'thourd was about all he got."

—Montgomery boys seem to advance in education whether they attend school or not. A news boy who couldn't change a ten-cent piece a year ago, was recently heard remarking: "William Scott, if you ever corrugate your brow at me in that way again, I shall temporarily deposit my papers on the pavement and cause the blood to coagulate under your left optic. Hear me, William?"

—The reporters were not admitted to the late lecture on dress-reform, by Miss Agnes Burk, at the Unitarian Church. Of corset's all right; but as the public pants for information on such subjects, it was natural that the knights of the quill should endeavor to glean some knowledge of the proceedings. We learn that the lecture was about sewsew, and the lady did not hang on the outskirts of her subject, but struck the trail at once and followed it up. She upbraided tight lacers, and—a-hem—suggested suspenders for—Hose business is it, anyhow?

—A young lady while out walking heard, for the first time, her mother's intention to marry again, and she was obliged to sit right down and cry about it. She could not go a step farther.

—There are times when all of a woman's self-possession and dignity are required. That is when she shows her first baby, a hair-lipped one, to an old bean, whom she had jilted for the sake of her present husband.

—No ecclin appals its school ours," reads a sign on the black board of a school house in enlightened old Massachusetts, where education is supposed to sit on the top rail and make faces at ignorance.

—A subscriber to a southern newspaperdied recently, leaving four years' subscription unpaid. The editor appeared at the grave and deposited in the coffin a palm leaf fan, a linen coat and a thermometer.

—A dying Selma woman asked that her bonnet, which she had never worn, might be placed on the table at her side. Her request was complied with, and after gazing long and sadly at the thing of flowers and ribbons, she remarked, in a mournful whisper, "I shall never see it again," and soon after breathed her last.

—Said a colored Georgia preacher: "Dar's robbin' an' stealin' all around. Dar's de Beecher business, de Woodhull business, Sumner is dead, tornadoes comin' whoopin' around, de Freedman's Bank has busted, an' it 'pears as if de end was nigh, mighty chs at hand."

—A dangerous counterfeit five dollar note on the First National Bank of Paxton, Ill., is in circulation. Look out for it.

—Among the latest developments of rascality in the guise of commercial enterprise is the fabrication of sham quinine.

—An old vag. stopped a pedestrian on the street yesterday and asked for two shillings to purchase a dinner. "Can't do it," replied the pedestrian. "Well, one shilling, then." "No—can't do it." "Well, gimmie five cents." "Not a red." "A chew of tobacco." "No, sir." "Well," continued the vag., in despairing tones, "you will at least tell me whether you think we'll have another snow-storm this week?" He got the man's opinion.

THE ALDINE.—Yesterday's mail brought us the greatest of all American Art Journals, the Aldine, for May. This magazine is beyond all dispute the most beautifully printed and illustrated of all the magazines in this country. The present number excels, if possible, the preceding issues of this valuable publication, and is a gem in every respect. James Sutton & Co., New York, are the publishers of the Aldine, and send it to subscribers for the low price of $1 per year, or fifty cents for single copies. We advise those of our readers who desire the greatest American magazine to send for the Aldine.

ACROSS THE STREET.

I do not know if she knows
I watch her, as she comes and goes;
I wonder if she dreams of it?
Sitting and working at my rhymes,
I weave her sunny hair at times
Into my verse, or gleams of it.

Upon her window-ledge is set
A box of flowering mignonettes;
Morning and night she tends to them,
The senseless flowers, that do not care
To kiss that strand of loosened hair
As prettily she bends to them.

If I could once contrive to get
Into that box of mignonette,
Some morning as she tends to them!
Dear me! I see the sweet blood rise
And bloom about her cheeks and eyes
And bosom, as she bends to them!

THE street brigade is engaged in digging a sewer at Munter & Faber's corner to drain off the filth into the large sewer running to the river. This has long been needed.

WE call the attention of the street overseer to the sewer in front of Sparrenberger's saloon. It is in a bad condition, and emits a foul stench. Let it be cleaned out. That Limburger cheese smells bad enough.

A GREAT many wagons were in from the country yesterday, and all of them went out loaded with corn, meat and flour, and some of them were loaded with corn meal. Will our planters never learn to raise their own bread and meat.

MR. CHARLEY JAMES, who has had a plumbing establishment in the city, has disposed of his business and left the city for Chattanooga, where he says he receives more encouragement in business. We regret this, as he was a good and useful citizen, and had invested considerable money in our city. We cannot afford to lose such men.

THE Houston and Goetter base ball clubs played a match game on Tuesday to decide which was the champion club, as the game of last Friday was a tie game. At the seventh inning the umpire called the game as it was getting dark, but it was agreed to play one more inning, which resulted 68 for the Goetter's, and 63 for the Houston's. The Goetter's made the remarkable score of 25 runs on the sixth inning, and the Houston's made 18 runs on the seventh inning. The little fellows played with nerve till dark closed the game.

THE CHILD IS BORN.—Such is the heading of an article in the Advertiser. The child is not yet born, neither will his name be "Moses." The friends of Mr. Moses anticipate that he will have rather a hard time as his nomination was conceived in corruption and begotten by fraud, and he was evidently not the man the office sought, but the hungry man that sought the office. Says the Advertiser, alluding to Mr. Faber: "He always turns his head in the opposite direction when he gets ready to pull trigger." In the fall of 1873 when the angel of death hovered over our city, when pestilence stalked in our midst and death run riot in our streets his head was not turned then. The wail of the widow or wants of the orphan never fell unheeded on the ear of Henry E. Faber, and daily their prayers ascend for his prosperity and success, for they know who has been and will be their friend, and if defeated they will have no one to look to. He is the candidate for no party, sect or creed, but stands on his own merits, the urbane gentleman, the big-hearted man, the citizens' choice.

LOVELY AND SAD.—The Statehouse has a lonly appearance. It makes one feel sad to visit that monument of Republican government and see everything so quiet about there. The offices are always quiet and uninviting, and since stray cows have ceased to graze around the yard, there is nothing to break the gloomy monotony of that immense enclosure. And yet when we contemplate that within those solemn walls rests all the machinery of a government which wields the destinies of more than a million human souls, there is something grand in it. Does Gov. Houston ever think of this? Is he old enough to dream of such things? Perish the thought! Does the genial watchman as he treads his solemn rounds about the grand old building, ever think of how many thousands of souls are interested in the chimneys—that no fire gets astray there? Surely there must be something about the building which brings up thoughts like those of the statesman! In the Library there is more law than forty mules could haul away in a week. Yet there isn't standing room for a common sized elephant. And yet there cannot be found within that huge building one single man who can tell us what the new Revenue law means, or what it doesn't mean. It was not always thus; there was a time when level heads could "scratinize" better than now. At the rate of $6 per day legislators could afford to pass laws which the wild Arabs of the desert cannot understand. And yet all is not happy—but lonely and sad.

THE I. O. O. F., No. 6, intend to give an excursion to Pensacola some time during the month of May. They will make trips to the Gulf forts, and other places of interest about Pensacola. Due notice will be given of the time.

THE streets of the city are becoming so that they are passable for pedestrians except the lower end of Court street, which is in a worse condition than any prairie road we ever saw. Let it be macadamized with rock from Brock's gap, and it will give no more trouble.

WE are pleased to meet Mr. Jacob Faber, of Prattville, in the city yesterday.

THE vegetable gardens are in splendid condition, and our market is daily filled with the earliest and choicest of the land.

BUSINESS was dull with merchants yesterday. Planters are busy with their crops, and few people from the country are in town.

JUST received from New York, a new supply of the latest styles of hats and bonnets, by Miss Lou Gardner, No. 49 Market street.

THERE will be a grand mass meeting of the Conservative citizens to endorse the nominations of Faber and Hughes, at the courthouse on Monday night.

MARRIED.—In Eufaula, April 27, at the residence of the brides uncle, Miss Lizzie Moore to Mr. J. Edward Pucci, manager S. and A. Telegraph office in that city. No cards.

THE Montgomery Greys, under command of Capt. Winter, left on the Mobile train yesterday. There were 35 muskets in line, and about a half dozen members who had gone before, who will join them. They made a splendid appearance as they marched to the depot.

WE observe from the Chattanooga Commercial that Tom Thumb and wife, Commodore McNutt and Minnie Warren, and also John E. Owens are soon to appear in that city. Can we not induce them all to give Montgomery a call? If Chattanooga has any attractions for them, Montgomery certainly ought to have some.

THERE were over twenty "prairie ships"—large covered wagons—around the artesian basin yesterday, all loaded with cotton. The cotton was from Coosa and Tallapoosa counties, and was of a superior quality, having been made by what are known as poor farmers. These men bought very little corn or meat to carry home, as they have raised corn and stock for their own use. This is the true way to farm instead of raising all cotton and no bread and meat.

The following officers of the Mechanics Hook and Ladder Company were elected last night: President, T. S. Doron; Vice President, W. A. McBryde; First Director, Moses Clay; Second Director, F. McMannus; Third Director, E. Beebe, Jr.; Fourth Director, Joe Curbow; Secretary, D. S. Rice; Treasurer, D. M. Snow; Representatives, E. Beebe, Sr. and D. M. Snow.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&w1w

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The President held a consultation, to-day, with Messrs. Fish, Belknap, Robeson and Jewell. The understanding is that the successor to the Attorney-General and some of the features of the Delano matter were the subjects under consideration. Nothing can be ascertained as to the result. Secretary Bristow was absent from the city, and Messrs. Williams and Delano were not present.

A serious collision between two passenger trains on the Baltimore and Potomac road occurred this afternoon, near the eastern end of the Navy Yard tunnel. The New York express, which follows the limited express, running at full speed, collided with a train for Baltimore. The latter train was also under full headway. One engine was literally ground up and the other badly wrecked. The baggage car of the New York train was thrown completely over the engine of the approaching train. With this exception all the cars remained on the track, and some telescoped. No one was killed outright, though several must die. Eight were badly injured, and a number severely bruised. Whether the accident was the fault of the flagman, or disregard of orders by the conductors, has not yet been ascertained. The disaster occurred only a short distance from where the express train, with a large mail, was wrecked and burned last winter by being turned by a switchman on to a side track where freight cars were standing.

In addition to facts telegraphed last night, in regard to Prof. Marsh's interview with the President concerning dealings with Red Cloud's band of Sioux, the President was informed of the manner in which cattle were issued to these. Prof. Marsh said the cattle to be issued were passed before the men whose business it was to estimate the weight upon his guess, at weights largely in excess of the true weight. The Indian agent gave vouchers upon which the contractor received his pay here. The President was much interested in the details Prof. Marsh gave him, and expressed great indignation at the practices detailed, and promised that the evils Red Cloud complained of should be corrected.

The troubles on the Mexican border are attracting the serious attention of the government. The raids seem to be more frequent, and to have developed a better organization than they were at first supposed to have. Mr. Jewell has lately received full reports from officers of his department, and contractors upon every part of the border, and these he has compiled for the consideration of the Cabinet.

A telegram states that the treasury department saturday, dispatched a number of clerks to London, with $15,000,000 of five per cent. bonds, it being the last subscription of the syndicate.

Secretary Delano to-day freely says that he believes the recent newspaper charges affecting his official conduct are the result of an atrocious conspiracy to compel his retirement from the Cabinet. He is in receipt of numerous letters from friends in various sections of the country advising him to abandon his purpose, formed, as he has stated, last fall, to resign about this time. Secretary Delano now says that, in accordance with this advice, and with his own judgment of his duty to himself and to the Republican party, he has postponed his resignation indefinitely.

Rear Admiral Reynolds has been relieved from duty as chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting at the navy department, and ordered to hoist his flag on the steamer Tennessee at New York as soon as that vessel is ready, and proceed to the Asiatic station and relieve Rear Admiral Rennock's of the command of that station.

Judge Pierrepont has signified his acceptance of the position of Attorney General vice Williams resigned.

The President this morning appointed Maj. Robert MacFeeley, to be commissary general of subsistence vice Shiras deceased. Maj. MacFeeley is at present serving on the staff of Lieut. Gen. Sheridan.

The following is the correspondence between the President and Attorney General Williams, relative to the resignation of the latter:

DEP'T OF JUSTICE,
WASHINGTON, April 28, 1875.

To the President:

SIR:—I hereby resign the office of Attorney General of the United States, to take effect on the 15th prox. I can not dissolve our official relations without thanking you for the many acts of friendship and confidence with which you have honored me, and expressing for you personally my very high regards and esteem.

Very Respectfully,
Signed: GEO. H. WILLIAMS.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, April 28, 1875.

To Hon. Geo. H. Williams, A. G. U. S.

DEAR SIR—In accepting your resignation of the office of Attorney General of the United States to take effect on the 15th of May, 1875, as tendered by your letter of the 22d of April, allow me to express my appreciation of the ability, zeal and efficiency with which the trust confided to your charge has been performed. My sincere friendship accompanies you in the new field of life you have chosen, and best wishes for your success. Very Respectfully,

Signed: U. S. GRANT.

Gen. Williams authorizes and requests the statement that his resignation was entirely uninfluenced by considerations of political preferment from Oregon. The sole cause of his resignation was a desire to attend to private business, and to build up a law practice in this city, especially in the United States Supreme Court.

For the Gulf States partly cloudy and warm weather, with southwest to southeast winds and stationary or falling barometer, possibly followed by light rains in the central Mississippi valley.

NEW YORK.

Mrs. Conway Still Alive—Morphine Again—The Herald still Preaching About Cabinet Changes—The Investiture of Cardinal McCloskey—A Great Honor to America—No Danger to Republican Institutions from Catholicism—No new Powers Conferred.

BROOKLYN, April 28.—Mrs. F. B. Conway was alive at a late hour last night, but little hopes entertained for her recovery. She is under influence of morphine.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Herald commenting on cabinet mutations of Grant's administration says the fact that all the prominent newspapers supporting the administration declare a want of confidence in Delano, and rejoice at the prospect of his retirement, ought to be weighed by the President. If he thinks that his party can afford to lose Ohio, he will retain Delano; but the party will not justify him.

The Herald, referring to the investiture of Cardinal McCloskey, yesterday, says it is a compliment of the highest degree to the millions of Catholics in the United States. If Catholicism here could repeat the history of Catholicism in Europe, the creation of a cardinal might be regarded as dangerous to our institutions, but there is no probability of this evil. The creation of new cardinals is purely a church concern, and confers upon its subject no new powers. Before the law he is only plain John McCloskey.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of exciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and positions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

TILTON AT HOME.

HOW HE PASSES HIS TIME AND WHAT HE SAYS OF BEECHER'S EVIDENCE.

The New York correspondent of the Utica Observer has been visiting Theodore Tilton in his literary workshop in Brooklyn. After describing the confused appearance of the room, the litter of manuscript, books, and papers of reference to be seen on all hands, the writer continues:

Here is a letter bearing post-mark of Durand, Ill., and date of October. It has never been opened. "Will you answer it if you read it?" queries Tilton with a smile. "Certainly." It is a letter from a clergyman's daughter resquesting Tilton's photograph. From a pile of Daily Graphics I select one with Theodore's picture, and ere this the young lady in Durand is happy. Again I fish into the pile on the table. The post-mark is Montclair, N. J. "From one of the chicks," says Tilton, and sure enough it is. "Dear Papa: We all want to see you very much. We had such a nice time together, didn't we, papa? I hope you felt glad when you got that bunch of flowers I sent you." And so it ran on—the prattle of one his little ones. And now there are tears in Tilton's eyes. Not the kind of tears that men shed in court-rooms either, but great scalding drops that come with groans and sobs from this strong man. The letter from the little one, written months ago and just discovered, has unnerved Theodore Tilton. Highly imaginative writers have seen moisture in the plaintiff's eyes almost every day since the trail began. But this was the first time in months that Tilton gave way to anything like emotion. The man's love for his children is firm and abiding. His comfort now, he tells me, is to go down into the parlor and close his eyes and hear his devoted daughter Florence play half a dozen of his favorite airs. But, with all his love for his children, I believe his affection for his wife is stronger than anything else. I know there is seeming contradiction in the statement, but I chronicle my belief and have foundation for it. From certain conspiring circumstances I have been much with Tilton since the day when he gave his first statement to the world. During the whole of his summer the man yearned for reconciliation with "that little woman." I have been in his company when he would remain silent for half an hour at a time, and suddenly break out with: "You don't know how I long for a sight of Elizabeth's face." On his cross-examination you remember he said he considered his wife's home with him on Livingston street. I am sure he would not hesitate a moment to receive her if she were to return. "To love Elizabeth," I have heard him say, "is a part of my nature; she has faults, but if every defect were magnified tenfold I should still love her better than any one in the world." And I don't think that Tilton's case is exceptional, either. We have another very similar case in Brooklyn that has attracted general attention. Thomas W. Field, Superintendent of Public Instruction, sued Thomas Kinsella, editor of the Eagle, for the seduction of his wife. Mr. Kinsella has been called upon to pay fifteen thousand dollars by way of atonement. Mr. Field is firmly convinced of his wife's guilt, but he told me only last week that the love he bore his fallen wife was still a consuming passion with him. "Love her," said he; "I love her better than my life, my soul, my God; and I always shall."

But I intended to tell you about my interview with Tilton. After rummaging among the collection piled all around, and obtaining interesting material for three or four letters, I asked him what he thought of Beecher's testimony. "This is not an interview?" he inquired.

"No, not exactly; I suppose I am at liberty to state, generally, how you regard Mr. Beecher's version of the case."

"Well, I hardly know myself," replied Tilton. "The man's coolness is audaciousness to me; and as for Moulton, he is so thunderstruck at the testimony that I can't get him to reason on the subject. He keeps soliloquizing. 'The perjurer; my God! how can the man lie so?'"

"But he tells a plausible story," I ventured.

"Mr. Beecher tells everything plausibly," was the sententious answer. "If his interest prompted he could give a dozen different colorings to the same interview, and all would be plausible. His plausible grief won me; it captivated Elizabeth; it made Moulton his friend; it rallied to him the generous sympathy of Mrs. Moulton; it called into play the inventive mind of Frank Carpenter, as noble a fellow as a man will meet in a day's journey. Mr. Beecher is plausible in everything. He was plausible to Mrs. Woodhull in his free-love theories. He is plausible when he preaches orthodoxy or Universalism; his anecdotes, his tears, his jests are plausible;" and Tilton paused after his hot ironical outburst. Presently he continued: "Is it likely that he would have taken the pen and written, 'I have trusted this in confidence with Moulton, without informing himself concerning its contents?' Is it like Mr. Beecher, or any sane man, to place the written seal of his approval on an important document, knowing that it is vitally significant, and indorsing it without informing himself as to its precise nature? You know something of the man. Have you not always found him cautious, wary, and awake to the full measure of the significance of passing events?" Long and earnestly Tilton talked in this vein, going over much of the case, pointing out discrepancies in the evidence of the great defendant and his witness, indicating the weak points in the defense as it has been developed, and promising an array of evidence in rebuttal that will surprise somebody, even if one-half the plaintiff's predictions are verified. Martha Bradshaw will have a story to tell, and Frand Carpenter and Joseph H. Richards and Henry C. Bowen and Rev. F. Storrs have some important revelations to make. Dr. Storrs has journalized his otire connection with the case, and his evidence will go far toward proving Tilton's consistency in much that the did in the days when the scandal carrion commenced to hover over Brooklyn.

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost ever day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

REPUDIATION.

Can we repudiate the city debt, or avoid its ultimate payment? As a majority of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund are in favor of repudiation, or of such a scheme of valuation as will lead practically to this result, and as resolutions have been passed at three ward meetings and the Democratic City convention, that will certainly lead to defaulting in the payment of our annual interest debt, the above question becomes one of the highest practical importance.—Selma Times.

The above paragraph from the Selma Times, would seem to indicate that the business men of that city are not paying much attention to municipal affairs. Certainly the business men cannot afford to have the municipal debts repudiated. It would leave a stain upon the reputation of every merchant who buys away from home on time.

We notice in the Echo and the Times that most of the persons who seem to be engineering the city politics of Selma are worn out politicians who get their bread as lawyers. It is apparent that they are moving to involve that city in a measure which will lead to endless litigation. In the dim future these soured politicians and seedy lawyers see "fat takes" in the shape of heavy lawsuits, in which they behold heavy retainers. As in Selma so in Montgomery. Here the principal agitators are lawyers who hope to involve our citizens in strife, so that the affairs of the city will involve litigation, the result being "big" cases for them, such as the "devoted lawyers" under the fatal reign of Lindsay, received. The business men here also seem to be perfectly oblivious to the issues which are being raised about them. They do not appear to have any interest in the municipal government at all. The contest here on the side of the hidebound Bourbons and wild sticklers for party and race, is engineered almost exclusively by lawyers and worn-out political hacks whose only interest in our city government begins and ends with "spoils." While they are weaving the net of repudiation about the necks of our citizens, people at a distance are looking on in wonder and amazement. Here we have a mayor who has been an honor to the city; whose administration has been one of credit and economy; whose hands are as clean as the snow, and whose purposes have been upright in all things. These engineers of the tyrants and despots of the party caucus, propose to defeat such a man and install in his place one who has never been tried, one who is much younger in years and experience, and who has not the incentive of large property and business interests, to walk the straight path of economy and honesty. We say that it appears to us that the business men of this city do not appreciate the situation. If they would save their business and their property from the prey of hungry lawyers and the army of voracious politicians, who are hanging about the coat tails of Mr. Moses and his associates, they should assert their right as free men and as patriotic citizens having at heart the welfare of all our people, to retain the services of a Mayor who has for five years administered with honesty, fidelity and economy, the municipal government of our city. If they permit the party lash to drive them headlong into the support of an untried man; or if they suffer the clamorous office seekers to frighten them with the cry of race and party, the result may be that every interest of the city will be wrecked in the furious maelstrom of "party" hatred and "race" antagonism. We hope that we are to see no more of the fearful strife of party which has blasted this fair State in the dead past. To that Moloch many good men have been driven by the whip lash to bow; but if the new era of concord and peace is ever to bless our section, now is the most fitting time for every honest man to break asunder the bonds of party and stand forth as a free man. It will not answer to fold hands and stand back like cowards, because of the threats of "party" and "ring" organs. Now is the time to teach tyranny and despotism that freemen will no longer do the dirty work of the politician and place hunter.

If the negroes get control of the city again the effect will be to retard its growth and decrease its business almost beyond calculation.—Advertiser, 29th.

How can the negroes get possession of the city government, pray? There is not one of that class [seeking an office, not one candidate of that class has been announced, except one whom we understand has been promised the position of street overseer by Moses and his friends. All the gentlemen supported by the STATE JOURNAL are old citizens of this city having just as much property and as much interest, and pay as much taxes, as those on Mr. Moses' ticket; and either one of them perhaps pays five times as much taxes as anybody about the Advertiser office. And they are just as competent to take care of the city's interests as Mr. Moses and his friends, or any other equal number of citizens.

—The saw mill of Mr. D. W. Ingram, near Colbert, was accidentally destroyed by fire on last Sunday morning. The fire was not the result of incendiarism as some suppose, but of accident. The saw dust was fired accidentally and could not be extinguished

A "SMALL REQUEST."

The leading article in the Advertiser of yesterday is entitled "one small request." In reading this wonderful effusion we were carried back to the wild and furious days of secession—to the days just before the politicians plunged our happy and prosperous State into the red sea of war—to the days when the Advertiser and its sort were firing the Southern heart, for that fatal conflict which sent a million of our young men to untimely graves, filled the South with mourning and sorrow, desolation and poverty, and brought misery and ruin to our once peaceful and pleasant homes. Those were the days when the furies of secession hung and gibbetted every Southern man who dared to oppose their mad schemes. They would brook no opposition, nor permit any peace here unless they were bowed down to and worshipped as the gods of this soil. They accomplished their purpose; they made war, and quite enought of it. All our homes are to-day witnesses against them. They made it necessary that our wives and mothers should have their hearts wrung every year as they go to lay their love offerings on the graves of husbands, sons, fathers and brothers. Only a few days since the fair women of Montgomery were called upon to stand by the graves of the brave men who gave their lives up as sacrifices to the mad and insane ambition of the men who strewed this fair land with their blood. Have they not had enough? Is the ghost to be forever thrust into our faces? Are we to be forever dragged to the precipice, and made to view the awful piles of human gore beneath? Are these mounds, which tell of the madness and folly of such men as control the Advertiser, to be kept before our eyes, and the bones which they cover to be eternally rattled in our ears? In the name of peace; in the name of God's truth, what has the candidacy of Henry E. Faber for the office of Mayor of this city now, ten years after the war, got to do with the graves of the brave men who laid down their precious lives for secession? Is this age, this century, to be a Golgotha to the maddened Moloch of blood and strife? Why is it that the deeds of men in war should be bandied about in a political contest, and the memory of our dead dishonored by political brawls? The contest in this city is between men, gentlemen of respectability and influence, and not between bullies and cutthroats. We do not desire to have any blood thrust upon us, nor do we wish to be carried from grave to grave to look at dead men's bones. The living have enough trouble—pray do not disturb the dead. The war, with all its miseries, has been ended ten years. If Mr. Moses' friends desire to rake up the fires fast dying out, let them do so; but let them have enough respect for brave soldiers who died in the cause of the South, not to disturb their quiet graves and bandy their bones about in a political scramble. Those men who gave up their lives are too sacred for such a miserably contemptible business. If Mr. Moses and his friends desire to rattle anybody's bones, or strew anybody's blood about, let them go elsewhere than to the graves of the gallant Confederate dead to get them. They are not worthy to tell the deeds of these brave men, and it is a burning shame that the memory of their deeds should be so foully dishonored as to be hurled about by worn-out office seekers and repudiated politicians.

THERE is no economy in the license system. The merchant who pays the tax makes it out of his customers, twenty or a hundred, or it may be a thousand times over.—Advertiser, 29th.

The brain which evolved this brilliant idea should be employed by the day, to furnish matter for the next session of the Legislature. If the owner of that brain would only seek the position he might easily secure his election as our next President. It is a shame that such a magnificent brain should be circumscribed within the narrow limits of a single State. That sentence doesn't sound like either Mr. Screws or Mr. Cooke. It is almost too original to emanate from the Colonel. But the father of it, whoever he may be, should pass in his checks here, and get a free pass to Washington where we understand that brains are in great demand and the supply exceedingly small.

THAT $30,000, which Mr. Faber is said to have saved to the tax-payers, is all too thin; and if it is true, where are the $30,000? Why didn't this model administration (?) settle with the street hands, police force and other just claimants?

[Advertiser yesterday.

You would like to know where it is, eh? Just go and examine the books at the city clerk's office, and you will be enlightened without much trouble. Why were the street hands and police not paid? Simply because Mr. Moses' friends sought and obtained an injunction restraining the city from collecting the taxes. That is the reason the creditors of the city were not paid promptly. Your friends preferred to have a lawsuit, to starve out the poor workmen and ruin the credit of the city rather than pay a few dollars taxes. As you asked the question, will you have the courage to publish the answer? You dare not do it?

BALTIMORE, as well as Philadelphia, is making pretensions to rival New York as a grain market. The sales of corn alone, last week, aggregated 400,000 bushels, the sales per day often running as high as those of the New York market. The storage capacity of the Baltimore elevators is about 2,000,000 bushels.

CAPT. M. M. COOKE, of the Montgomery Advertiser, is still in bad health. His many friends in South Alabama wish him a speedy recovery.—Evergreen Star.

We understand that Mr. Cooke has so far recovered from his illness, as to be able to walk about the streets. We had the pleasure of meeting him at the post-office yesterday morning. The above paragraph, however, makes the occasion most fitting for the statement, that during the illness of Mr. Cooke, the stirring editorials of the Advertiser were from the pen of Col. Mike L. Woods, so we are informed by those who are on intimate terms with the Colonel. Those editorials were very different from the sentiments expressed by Col. Mike during his candidacy last fall for the office of probate judge, at the hands of the "colored voters" of this county. At that time Col. Mike was the friend and patron of Rev. Peter Goode, who is somewhat notorious in our county annals. The Colonel and the Parson were often seen in close consultation, and it was not infrequent that the Colonel paid long and confidential visits to the drawing room of the Parson, on Lawrence street. On such occasions the Parson would send out and purchase a number of watermelons fresh from some country wagon, and while these two distinguished statesmen were regaling themselves with this delicious fruit, they would submit, for mutual consideration, their plans for capturing the offices of probate judge, and keeper of the poor-house. The Colonel, it was understood, desired to be probate judge, and be the better enabled thereby to secure for the Parson the control and care of the poor-house. On several occasions these shrewd politicians made excursions into the country, for the purpose of noting the general condition of the "colored troops who fought nobly"—in the rural districts. On such occasions as these, a bottle or a jug of "greased lightning," or "old pine top" would be taken along to revive the drooping spirits of their country cousins. And once in a while, on the blessed Sabbath day, the Colonel and the Parson would visit the churches of the "colored brethren" for the purpose of seeing if they served the Master faithfully. They were very particular not to drop a word concerning their aspirations for office. The Sabbath day which always brings to noble hearts, the tenderest feelings and recollections, never lost its influence on our two prominent statesmen. They were always filled with tenderest emotions, when on their visits to the churches and sanctuaries of the Lord; and beyond taking a drink or two with the leading and influential members of the church, they passed the time in discussing crop matters, the then expected transit of Venus and probable result of the Beecher scandal which, at that time, was just looming up as a subject for consideration. All things must end; and so did the alliance between the Parson and the Colonel. It ended as many alliance, have ended before. The Colonel went back to his old love, and the Parson to his cellar home where he has ever since been sadly contemplating the weaknesses and frailties of poor humanity. The Colonel has been a straddle of the Advertiser tripod where he has been exposing "the beauties of Radicalism." He did not forget to fire a few rounds at his old friends, which some evil minded people are disposed to attribute to sour grapes. But we must draw the veil over this sad history. We rejoice that Mr. Cooke has recovered his health. If he pours "hot shot" into Radicalism no one can object. But it was too bad for one to do so who had so often extolled its beauties and embraced its glories.

THE boasted cause of Radical municipal reduction of city expenses (that $30,000 business), is due not to the Radical candidate for Mayor, but to the efficient committee on streets, whilst the Democratic council were in power.—Advertiser.

Nobody has boasted of any "Radical municipal reduction of city expenses." We boast of a reduction of expenditures under Mayor Faber's administration, this year, of more than THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS. We have the records to prove it, and we defy any one to disprove it. That reduction of over $30,000 is for this year; and the Advertiser knows it. The expenses of the city were increased by the creation of new offices when the Advertiser's sort were in power. We can prove this also, and if the Advertiser has the cheek to deny it we will publish the records. Come up and squarely face the truth.

THE Little Rock, Arkansas, Gazette, (Democrat) reviews unfavorably Senator Gordon's theory of the inexpediency of putting a Southern candidate on the Democratic Presidential ticket in 1876. It asserts that the argument of "excluding a Southern man from the ticket applies with equal force to any national office of trust and responsibility," and that the "one hundred and twenty electoral votes which the South will furnish the candidate, entitles them to a second place on the ticket."

NOT only has it been made hot for Kettle, the rascally professional postoffice contractor, but the investigation has been pushed far enough by the authorities to satisfy them that the fraudulent practice of substituting lower bids after regular proposals had been received and stamped has been carried on for many years, and originated during President Johnson's administration, when Randall was Postmaster General. Thus far only a partial statement of facts has been made public, and the exposure which is yet to come will create great excitement.

STATE NEWS.

[By yesterday's mail to the State Journal.]

—Selma had another spelling match Wednesday night. Mr. A. G. Parish was the successful spellist.

—A. J. Sarles, of Eufaula, has recently invented a churn, and it is pronounced by those who have used it as an excellent thing.

—On the 6th of May the Masonic fraternity of Selma will hold a reception for the Knights Templar of Alabama. The following well and favorably known gentlemen compose the committee of invitation: Drs. B. H. Riggs and James Kent, Colonels N. H. R. Dawson and Rob't McKee, General John T. Morgan, Captain R. M. Nelson, George Peacock and A. Elkin, Esqrs. W. T. Daughtrey, John D. Wilkins, J. C. Adler, James Lauderdale, John W. Smith, A. G. Wilson, Geo. W. Woolsey, E. F. Griset and Fred J. Hooker compose the committee of arrangements.

—The Evergreen Star says:

The Circuit Court of Monroe county was but thinly attended last week. Most of the citizens remaining at home to work upon their farms.

—The Selma Times says: Mr. J. D. Hill, who removed to Texas about six weeks since has, as we learn by a private letter from him, located in Cleburne, Johnson county, and has good prospects for the future. He writes that Texas is over-run with persons without money, hunting for "something to do," and times in Texas are also very tight. Mr. Hill is a young man of great worth, and we confidently expect for him a brilliant future. He has the warmest wishes of a host of friends in this city.

—The Selma Echo says: It is with extreme regret we are compelled to chronicle this morning the destruction by fire of the residence of Dr. James Kent, located on the corner of First and Church streets. The fire was discovered in the kitchen about 1:30 o'clock, and in a few moments the entire structure was in flames. There was insurance on the house to the extent of $3,000 in the Central City Insurance Company, but this will not cover one-half of the loss. We deeply sympathise with Dr. Kent in the misfortune which has overtaken him. The lateness of the hour prevents a more detailed account of the fire.

—M. L. Frierson, formerly editor of the Decatur News, has been licensed to preach by the Presbytery that assembled lately in Florence. This is what we call jumping out of the frying pan into the fire."

—The Good Templars of Brewton will have a celebration or pic-nic near that town, Wednesday, May 12th. The public are respectfully invited to attend.

—A hand-some young widower at Evergreen has been just two weeks writing four verses of poetry to the belle of Evergreen; somewhat after the style of "Maid of Athens."

—The following items we clip from the Talladega Home of yesterday:

The following are the officers of Talladega Lodge I. O. G. T., No. 114, to serve for the ensuing quarter: W. C. C., W. T. Thornton; W. V. T., Miss M. V. Wilson; W. R. S., G. M. Thornton; W. F. S., H. W. Stamps; W. T., Miss Laura C. Pitts; W. C. J. B. Fiquet, Jr.; W. M., John H. Vandiver; W. I. G., John C. Williams; W. O. G., Robt. E. Stamps.

There was organized in this city, on the 10th inst., the Medical Society of the county of Talladega. The society adopted the constitution of the Medical Association of the State, and was granted a charter at the meeting of the State Association in Montgomery on the 13th. We are glad of this, and hope the physicians in the country will come in and take an active part. The Society meets first Monday in each month. B. W. Toole, M. D., was elected President, and W. W. Harrison, M. D., Secretary.

HERE comes a Wisconsin girl, vouched for by the Woman's Journal: "She is a slight, slender girl, seventeen years of age. She is equally at home with the mower, reaper, horse rake, plough-handles, hoe, or any other implement of farm work. She will shear as many sheep in a day as the best of shearers. And when her day's work is done in the field, she will turn to the cutting and making of the children's dresses, or in other ways help her mother about the house. Three years ago her father had a young untamed horse. She broke the horse to the saddle, rode him at a county fair, and took the first premium over three competitors."

BRIEF ITEMS.

—Spring is here at last, and in earnest.

—Numerous country cousins were in the city yesterday.

—Several new advertisements in this morning's JOURNAL.

—Sheriff Murphy yesterday carried 12 new boarders to the State hotel in Wetumpka.

—The Machinists and Blacksmiths picnic will take place May 20.

—There will be a business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. at their rooms on Commerce street, this evening, at 8 o'clock.

—The mammoth Sutter building on Monroe and Court streets, is closed for want of a tenant. Hard times? Advertise and a tenant will soon be found.

—There was a dull look about many business houses yesterday. Cause—absence of the Greys in Mobile. May they all have a jolly good time.

—The fish line is now a good line of business, and the cheapest drapery is the curtains of night. (Not original, but patented at this office.)

—It always produces an unpleasant sensation to hear a boy swear. People sort of get the notion from it that his father is too jealous.

—Six-and-a-half feet of a bride stood before the altar in a Selma church, the other day, and promised to love, cherish and obey three feet and a quarter of bridegroom—and that's the long and short of it.

—Curious that dead letters don't smell, dead-beats continue to be lively, and dead-heads won't be buried.

—It is easy enough to make the acquaintance of apple dealers. "Buy their fruits—ye shall know them."

—A printer, whose office is two miles from any other building, and who hangs as sign on the limb of a tree, advertises for a boy. He says, "a boy from the country preferred."

—The coming insane asylum keeper to visitor: "Do you mean that man with his head bowed, his eyes cast down and his lips moving? Oh, yes; he was spelled down, too; but he keeps right on practicing just the same. I believe his word is 'syzygy.'"

—A boy who will yell like a Tartar if a drop of water gets on his shirt-band when his neck is being washed, can crawl through a sewer after a ball and think nothing of it.

—When you see a gang of men crowd around a defenseless editor who is vainly struggling to get through with his work, and carry on a loud-voiced argument on some extraneous subject, you may calculate that their chances for heaven are thinner than dish-water.

—We shouldn't advise any one to set out pumpkin-vines just now; but perhaps a few might be profitably sacrificed by way of experiment.

—A contemporary says that "a child was run over in the street by a wagon three years old and cross-eyed, with pantalets on, which never spoke afterward."

—For bleaching clothes: One ounce of borax, eight quarts water, three pounds soap. Put the borax in the water and let it boil. After it boils, add the soap in small pieces.

—"Jemima," said a fashionable miss to her friend, "I think Charley Potts is perfectly splendid; he can get on my gloves, and wears spit-curls."

—A widow being cautioned by her minister about flirting, said she knew it was wrong for maidens and wives to flirt, but the Bible was her authority. It said "widow's mite." She was flirting awfully at last accounts.

—The pic-nic season is coming again, that happy, happy time when we sit down in the shady grove and eat strawberries and get up with something like a map of the Dismal Swamp printed on the seat of your light summer cassimeres.

—Young men are complaining of hay fever quite early this year. One of them who has it pretty bad says that after the old folks retire, he lies down on the sofa until his feet get cold, and then lets his Evangeline wrap him up in an afghan.

CAPTURED.

A Den of Thieves Broken up—The Sheriff Calls a Posse—The Peacock Tract the Home of Robbers.

Yesterday morning, about 8 o'clock, Bolling Hall, Robert Robinson and James Marshall, deputy sheriffs, went to a place near the Peacock Tract, where a number of noted thieves had been for sometime concealed. These robbers have been a terror to the citizens in that vicinity for sometime, and have been robbing and plundering without any hindrance. The citizens became alarmed a few days since, as these thieves defied the law officers and everybody else. Mr. Hall and Capt. Ferrel undertook to arrest a crowd of these outlaws and were fired upon. They returned the fire, and it is believed that one or more of the thieves were wounded. But as it was useless for two men to undertake to arrest half a dozen well-armed and desperate outlaws, the deputy sheriffs returned to the city and raised a posse of some twenty citizens, who armed themselves and went in pursuit of the thieves. They soon came upon their place of rendezvous, but found that the game had disappeared. They scoured the country, and Capt. Robert Barber, being on horseback came upon one of the rascals and arrested him. This fellow was very stubborn and seemed to be anxious for a fight. But when he saw the number he would have to contend with he yielded, but not very gracefully. This occurred about 1 o'clock yesterday. The members of the posse kept up the pursuit of the thieves, while those on foot came back to the city, after scouring the country about this famous Peacock tract, thoroughly.

The people living in the vicinity of the abode of the robbers were greatly rejoiced, when they were informed that this nest of thieves had been broken up. They have been in constant fear for months, and seemed to think that relief would never come.

We hope the sheriff and his deputies will succeed in arresting these thieves, and bringing them to punishment. They deserve the gratitude of all good citizens for their efforts in breaking up this den of robbers.

P. S.—Since writing the above we learn that Policeman Payne arrested Maynard Lawton, a desperate character, who he had a warrant for, and that the sheriff and his deputies have succeeded in arresting seven more of the thieves and their wives, who have been concealing them, all of whom are now in prison. Frank Morris, one of the robbers is a desperate character, and was the one who was shot. Bill Hannon, another one of the rascals was arrested, and will get the full penalty of the law.

REMEMBER the office of Mr. Pat. Robinson to-day, go and pay your taxes and save costs.

HON. GEORGE GOLDTHWAITE, United States Senator from Alabama, is now at his home in this city.

J. H. GRAHAM gives notice of his appointment as assignee in bankruptcy of parties in Perry county.

WE shall hereafter keep standing in the JOURNAL the arrival and departure of the mails at our postoffice, and the hours of closing the mails.

—Why call him the "groom" as eight out of ten people do? A groom's business is to look after horses. A bridegroom's business is to look after his wife's mother.

YESTERDAY was a very dull day with business men, and merchants and clerks have ample time for reflections upon the times that were better, and which it is hoped may return.

WE call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Sanborn & Hardy, of the Belmont European Hotel, in Boston. This is one of the most popular hotels in the East, and our citizens who visit Boston will fare well if they stop with these gentlemen.

WE learn that a widow lady of this city was compelled to pay $5 to a gentleman who lives a short distance from the city in order to get her milch cow which he had taken up. The pound law as we understand it does not apply within two miles from the city.

THE Grand Commandery of the Knights Templar of Alabama, will meet in Selma, on the 5th of May. A banquet will be given and a grand ball. The citizens of Selma are preparing to receive a large delegation of the Knights, and will entertain them in fine style. Montgomery will be well represented on the occasion.

PERSONAL.—Capt. B. H. Keiser, of the Opelika Times, was in town yesterday, looking as fresh and rosy as a June apple. He says the Times is spreading herself generally. The Captain said he was hunting money, which he has been doing for the last forty years. He will find the article one of these days.

COL. ROBERT MEEK, superintendent of the South and North railroad, was in the city yesterday. He says the coal and iron business on the line of the road, is very good. He informs us that Mr. Henry Debardeleben will soon start the iron furnace at Oxmoor, on this road, in a short time. The furnace will be run to its full capacity. It will not be long we hope, until there will be scores of furnaces in operation in this State.

CARD OF MR. GILLETTE.

He Declines—First Blood for the Advertiser Ring.

MONTGOMERY, April 29.

Editor Journal—A notice appeared in the JOURNAL some days ago, nominating me for alderman for Ward No. 4. As I do not aspire to said honorable position, I would respectfully decline to accept the nomination, at the same time thanking those of my friends who honored me by mentioning my name in connection therewith. Very respectfully,

A. H. GILLETTE.

WE were around at the Baker show last evening, on the corner of Montgomery and Washington streets, where they will be for several days. They give general satisfaction in every instance, particularly the part that the educated hog plays. None should fail to see the show while it is in the city.

THE CIRCUIT RIDER.—We have received from J. B. Ford & Co., New York, through Joel White, Esq., this most intertaining and interesting book, by Edward Eggleston, author of the "Hoosier Schoolmaster," "The End of the World," etc. It is handsomely illustrated with amusing cuts. We recommend it to our readers as one of the most instructive books published this season. It is handsomely bound in library style. Call at Mr. White's and secure a copy. If you have the blues, it will cure them.

ABOUT 9 o'clock yesterday morning the alarm of fire was sounded. It was soon found to be in the first ward. The engines and hook and ladder companies were soon on the grounds. It proved to be a very old frame building, known as "Buzzard's Roost," which has not been inhabited for some time. It was finally torn down, but although water had to be brought a great distance, through the hose of three engines, yet it was so rotten that it did not all burn up. It is thought to have been set on fire by some bad characters who were seen about there.

THE City Sexton has gone to the country to farm.—Advertiser yesterday.

The City Sexton has been confined at his home by the severe illness of his wife, for several days. He is a good man, a faithful officer, and a good citizen. The Advertiser ought not to do injustice to a citizen so universally respected and esteemed, and so devoid of partisan prejudice, as is Mr. Griffith. The politicians and place-hunters of the city may often merit condemnation and abuse, but the quiet, inoffensive citizen, who attends to his business without giving offense to any, should be secure from such assaults. The Advertiser was no doubt misinformed by some one who desires to displace Mr. Griffith.

BY reference to the advertisement it will be seen that J. D. Towner has leased that popular Southern summer resort, known as Blount Springs, and will open it on the 20th day of May. The medical properties of the waters are highly spoken of by all who have tried them, while the situation is one of the most healthy in the country. The trains of the South and North railroad pass these springs at all hours, which makes it very convenient for communication with all parts of the country. The table will supply the best the country affords, while the prices will be very reasonable. We hope the South and North railroad will issue excursion tickets to our citizens at moderate rates so that they can go up on Saturday and return on Monday of each week.

MONTGOMERY, April 29, 1875.

Editor Journal: Permit us through your paper to deny the report published in the Advertiser of yesterday, saying that we had been "endorsed" by the Republican party of Ward 6, as candidates for aldermen. As there had been no meeting for such purpose in ward 6, the author of that report must have known it to be a gross misrepresentation of facts.

PH. PREISS,
JOS. BIHLER.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his trouble are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them.

WASHINGTON.

Present Condition of the Treasury—Indignation of Discharged Postal Clerks—The "Republican" on the Third Term—Another Name for the Attorney-Generalship—New Minister of the Netherlands—Attorney General Pierrpont—The Cuban Question—Secretary Fish Does not Like the Outlook.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—There is considerable inquiry from merchants and others as to whether the Secretary of the Treasury will sell gold on the 1st of May. He has not yet decided, but it is ascertained that the condition of the Treasury now is as follows: Amount of coin $66,000,000; estimated receipts from customs between now and July 1st, $30,000,000; coin liabilities between now and July, interest 26,000,000; sinking fund $27,000,000. $3,000,000 of the last named have been paid. This will leave nearly $3,000,000 surplus on the 1st of July.

The expenses of the State Department for salaries of Ministers and Consuls, and expenses of the Navy Department abroad for salaries of officers and men, and repairs to vessels, are more than met by consular fees collected abroad, and at this writing we have a very considerable balance with Morton, Rose & Co., at London.

Some say that the Secretary will be obliged to sell gold in order to maintain his currency reserve. This now amounts to about $2,000,000.

The Republican of to-day, criticising a call upon the President to speak out on the third term question, repeats in the same terms the statement it made in an editorial some days since, and the paragraphs have excited considerable curiosity. It says:

"Since Appomattox the President has not had occasion to speak out loud to his enemies and the enemies of the country, but when he does they will be astonished at the certainty of his tones, and the result will be as ever to prove him a loyal and patriotic citizen."

The Chevalier Von Pestel was to-day introduced to the President by the Secretary of State, and delivered his credentials as Minister Resident of His Majesty the King of Netherlands.

The appointment of Judge Pierepont to be Attorney General is regarded here as a sure indication of a change in the Southern and Cuban policy of the administration. It is asserted that the influence which has hitherto been exerted to prevent the interference of our government in Cuba will, before many weeks be clamorous for some action on our part to prevent the wholesale destruction of property in that Island. It is not believed that Mr. Fish will soon retire from the cabinet. It is thought that he will be as zealous before long for some measures toward Spain as he has been for the opposite policy of the past. The relentless manner in which the insurgents have applied the torch in the four richest sugar growing districts of the Island has thoroughly frightened the money lenders of New York and Philadelphia who have invested their millions in slaves in Cuba. The influence of these men has been hitherto used against the success of the patriots, because they knew that such success would destroy slavery, and then their security for money loaned was gone. Now they see that not only the slaves are being set free in five districts, but the sugar plantations are being destroyed and the whole country laid waste. They are, therefore, as anxious now to have our government interfere as they were to prevent it a few years since.

It is unquestionably true that representations have been made to Madrid, through Minister Cushing, which have not been received in the most friendly manner.

In diplomatic circles it is regarded as almost certain that our government has made an offer of its friendly offices as a mediator, and it is regarded as equally certain that Spain will reject the proposition. The Alfonso government could not live twelve hours if it was discovered in a scheme of this sort. This failing, then our government will be urged to notify Spain that the property of American citizens in Cuba must be protected. If Spain would accept the proffer of mediation at the hands of this government, the money lenders believe that a basis of compromise could be agreed upon which would prevent a sudden emancipation, and thus enable the sugar planters to provide Coolie labor to take the place of slave labor. But, this failing, they want the President to interfere and put a stop to these wholesale burnings.

Secretary Fish does not like this outlook at all, but the issue is inevitable, and it may be that he means to step down and out, and thus avoid self-stultification. At all events the Cuban question is certain to be the all-absorbing one before next fall.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Resistance to Officers—A Constable and Aid Shot—The Outlaws Captured and Dispersed.

WILKESBARRE, April 29.—This morning Constable Casey attempted to levy upon the goods of James Cassel. He was resisted, but returned and employed a police officer to assist. The second time he attempted the levy he was fired upon and both he and the policeman were dangerously wounded. The Cassel's, about a dozen in number, barricaded themselves and fired upon the sheriff with a second posse. They were finally driven out, two of them captured and the others ran into the woods where they are surrounded.

NEW YORK.

Fire at Oshkosh, Wis.—One square mile of Houses destroyed—Several men killed by Powder Explosions—The city overrun with thieves—Belgium and Bismarck settled their differences—Belgium to be Prussianized.

NEW YORK, 29.—A Milwaukee special states that a terrible fire occurred at Oshkosh, Wis., yesterday, the most destructive ever known in the West. One square mile of buildings was consumed. Twelve mills, one hotel, the opera-house, two telegraph offices, one railroad depot, and many other important buildings were destroyed. During the fire several explosions occurred, and several men were killed by powder explosions. All the banks and printing offices were consumed. The city is now overrun with thieves. Vigilant committees are actively forming.

A Brussels special says that arrangements have been made between the liberal party and in Belgium and Bismarck. The latter by diplomatic pressure undertakes to overthrow present Belgian ministy. In return the liberals are to suppress everything Bismarck don't like; also establish compulsory military service, and build new fortifications. This means Prussianizing Belgium.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

These Pills are alternative, and will place a healthy action of the liver, without the least nausea, or change of diet, from salt to fresh, and yet more effectual in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, create a healthy bile, and remove the obstructions of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. For combination and use of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

FEMALE REGULATOR!

It will bring on the Menses; relieve all pain at the monthly period; cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia; Back and Uterine Leucorrhœa or Whites; and partial Prolapsus Uteri; check excessive flow, and correct all irregularities peculiar to ladies.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder, and relieve Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can rely on this Female Regulator in all the above diseases, without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 2, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs: I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I regard it as a boon to suffering humanity, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, Ga., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs: Some months ago, I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cheerfully recommend it to the public.

Yours respectfully, REV. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, History of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of electing the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to roost, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Under this head, and in this column, the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL will publish communications for which the State Journal Publishing Company will not hold itself or any individual member thereof responsible, but will always furnish names of authors of articles appearing therein on proper application. Communications for this column must be short, as they will not be allowed room in any other.

ALL SORTS.

—Murdoch is giving readings from the Scriptures in Cincinnati with great success.

—"Boston" Corbett, who killed John Wilkes Booth, is at present at hat-maker in a Cleveland manufacory.

—The happiest couple in Troy, N. Y., is a man and wife who have lived together nine years without saying a word to each other.

—The Spanish residents of New York held, on Sunday, a religious memorial service in honor of the great Cervantes, author of Don Quixote.

—Governor Samuel Bard, the man who talks, has bad luck. While he was getting out of the Atlanta Post-office, his trifling son was getting into jail for stabbing a young man.

—Charlotte Cushman was saved from downing fifty years ago by Cornelius Lovell, a resident of Boston, and now he is sorrow he didn't conclude the romantic adventure by marrying her.

—Dr. Kenealy, the legal fanatic who defended the Tichborne claimant, has received a proposition to make a lecture tour in this country. With his client the butcher Orton, he would draw well in a side-show.

—A half century ago an old gentleman in Southern Massachusetts caused every shingle with which he covered his roof to be first dipped in boiling whale oil. The other day his grandchildren replaced the shingles on the old mansion for the first time, and found many of them in a perfect state of preservation.

—General Hood, who didn't capture Nashville in the winter of '64-5, denies having any intention of going to Minnesota. The people wouldn't snub him. He would sadly miss in Minnesota the refinement and culture which are characteristic of the people of Louisiana and Texas, the two States with which he is identified.

—Brown, the mind-reader, has become a reporter of a Washington daily. All that Brown does to get up his news is to throw himself into his chair, put his hand over his eyes, concentrate his mind on his business, and then he grinds out everything that happens all over the city, and everything that anybody of any consequence is doing or contemplates doing.

—Old Mother Hubbard: A photograph of a group in Connecticut, representing five generations of the Hubbard family, is on exhibition. The group consists of Mrs. Hannah Hubbard, aged seventy-nine; her daughter, aged fifty-nine; her granddaughter, aged forty; her great-granddaughter, aged seventeen, and her great-great-grandchild, aged one year.

—"Mr. Estilette, the new Speaker of the Louisiana House of Representatives, is a native of Illinois. He is forty-two years of age, was graduated at Yale in 1857, and was a rebel."—[New York Post.

—Mr. Estilette is a native of Louisiana, which is not in the State of Illinois. He is a little deaf—a much more agreeable defect for the Speaker than for the House.

—An old man named Green, feeble, and almost blind, while feeling his way along the streets of Orange, N. J., a few days ago, was followed by a number of boys, who tormented and annoyed the old man until he struck out violently with his staff, the blow falling on the head of an urchin named Welsh, and inflicting an injury that caused his death. Mr. Green should receive a comfortable pension for the rest of his life.

—A man in Chicago publishes a proposal (first addressed to Bishop Cheney) to pay $50,000 to any person who will prove to a jury to be chosen jointly by the proposer and accepter that the Christain Bible is inspired, infallible, and authoritative in distinction from and superior to all other "sacred books" of the world's literature. Elias Colbert, of the Chicago Tribune, without preference for either side, consents to receive overtures toward the acceptance of the challenge.

—Cincinnati is rivaling Chicago in the number and character of crimes committed in the city. Pickpockets, thieves, and ruffians are getting their names and exploits in the papers every day, while nearly every week a foul murder takes place which momentarily shocks the community. On Saturday night a German named Linsser, the possessor of considerable money and property, was murdered and robbed in his own house, and was only discovered Sunday morning. The "vigilant detectives" will have an opportunity to distinguish themselves.

—Sharkey, the despicable murderer, is still in Havana. Mr. Fish is understood as saying that he would not make a request on the behalf of the Government for the return of Sharkey, because this would give the Spanish the opportunity of asking from us the return of Cuban exiles now here and under sentence of death in Cuba. Rather than give the Spanish authorities, in Cuba especially, this pretext, Mr. Fish waives the gratification that would naturally result from the return of a murderer like Sharkey to justice.

ADDRESS

LOCK BOX C,

MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

By the Journal Publishing Company

SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1875.

THIRD TERM AGAIN.

The Dayton, Ohio, Journal, and various other Republican papers, say that they know of no one who is in favor of a third term; and they argue that if no one is in favor of it, there should be no uneasiness about it. They urge that there can be no danger of a renomination of the President, if there is no one to favor that policy.

In noticing this argument, the Pittsburgh Commercial, as we understand it, contends that it is not that the people or the Republican party are in favor of the third term, but that the President himself entertains the ambition to be again elected. If he does not cherish this purpose, why does he not speak out and say so? It has been charged upon him, and the statement has been brought to his attention; and the public conclude, from his silence, that the statement is true.

It is to deliver the public mind from this conviction that the President has been asked to say, plainly, that he is not a candidate for re-election. Washington found no difficulty in obtaining the opportunity to say, openly, that he would not permit himself to run for a third term; and Jefferson was equally prompt to put a squelcher upon the report that he had an ambition to serve a third time; and if Washington and Jefferson thought it due to the public of their day to remove all doubts upon that subject from the popular mind, why should President Grant hesitate to follow their example?

There was, probably, a little public sentiment, in Washington's and Jefferson's time, in favor of their election for a third term, as there is to-day in favor of Grant's re-election. It was talked of, and that was all. There was no organized movement to further their re-election, and there was no general or extended expression of opinion in favor of it. But the thing was talked about as a possible contingency, and both Washington and Jefferson felt it to be a duty to say, publicly and promptly, that such a use of their names could not and would not be permitted.

The trouble, just now, is not that there is any special danger that a movement will be made to renominate the President, or that there is any one actively in favor of urging him again as a candidate, but that the President himself is supposed to entertain an idea of that kind. The offense, to the public eye, consists in his cherishing such a purpose. There has been no open declaration from him, or authorized by him, to that effect; but there has been no denial of it; and the people who respect the unwritten law of the land, to which Washington and Jefferson did homage, demand that the present occupant of the Presidency shall be no exception to the rule which they obeyed.

LET US HAVE PEACE.

While the Montgomery Advertiser is engaged in tearing open the graves of the Confederate dead and rattling their bones in our faces, we are glad to observe that nearly all the influential newspapers of the South are encouraging the people with arguments of peace and good will. The Mobile Tribune a few days since reprinted the following toast which was proposed at the Lexington centennial:

"The State of South Carolina." Never will Massachusetts forget the proud response of South Carolina the very night she heard the war note from Lexington. Gov. Chamberlain may veto everything he wishes, but he must not veto our earnest respect for a voice from the Palmetto State to the Pine.

Gov. Chamberlain, of South Carolina, responded to the toast in the most kindly language. His remarks were received with the most gratifying evidences of indorsement, and were loudly applauded. The Tribune referring to this fact, says:

What conclusions our Mobile readers may draw from this event, we leave to them. We do think that they teach us people of Alabama to endeavor to think less of what is bad in the past, and keep in remembrance only that which is good. We needn't forget the bad; but there is neither necessity, nor thrift, nor wisdom, in constantly keeping it alive, and thus only inciting what is pernicious.

In this connection it affords us great pleasure to print the following noble words of Gen. Evans, spoken at the Augusta, Ga., cemetery, on decoration day there, April 26th:

"Let us do nothing to keep alive the passions of war. To study its lessons is prudence. To profit by its teachings is wisdom, but to stir up the old animosities is madness. The voice of this monument will not be for war, but for peace. It will say to us: 'The Confederacy has expired. Its great life went out on the purple tide of blood that flowed from the hearts of its sons. We have buried it. We do not intend to exhume its remains. We were utterly defeated and we dismiss our resentments. Sadly we parted with the dear old cross of stars which we followed through many a storm of shot and shell; but we take with the true hand of Southern honor the staff that holds the flag of stars and stripes.'"

We trust the people who write for the Montgomery Advertiser will have the magnanimity, if they have not the patriotism, to cease dragging into contests for office, the deeds and memories of the gallant Confederate soldiers, who gave up their lives in the fatal cause of secession. The comrades of those brave men do not desire that their brothers, who are quietly sleeping in our cemetery, shall be made the stepping stones for any class of office seekers.

PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANTS.

Some of the prominent gentlemen on both sides, who have been mentioned in connection with the Presidency, are becoming restless, and seem to be extremely desirous of making demonstrations in their own favor that shall be felt. The Philadelphia Item noting the situation of these aspirants, thinks that it is good advice to these leading politicians that teaches them the impolicy of exhibiting any eagerness for the highest office in the gift of the American people.

The Presidential mania is certainly the most dangerous of political distempers, for any distinguished citizen. It has blighted the career of the most celebrated Americans of other days. The people have peculiar notions about the proper incumbents of the Presidential office. They are not apt to select the most brilliant persons, nor those pushing with persistency their personal claims. Popular choice frequently has quite a singular manifestation, giving rise to the query: Who is the comparatively unknown man that overrides all obstacles on the way to the White House? The unobtrusive gentleman, who has performed successfully whatever public service fell to his lot, may be preferred before him whose name begins to "pale" upon the lips of the masses. It is a fact that too much publicity has proved fatal to the hopes of more than one aspiring politician. We may indeed mourn that some of the most renowned individuals that graced and honored our political history in the past never reached the goal of their ambition; yet the fact is one of the dark spots in our annals. It should render less pertinacious, and more modest, those now openly in training for the Presidency.

The recent elections show that the next contest for the highest office in the country, will depend somewhat on the action of the Independent voters, and they mean to have for the next President one who will do their work of reformation and purification without hazarding everything that is supposed to have been constitutionally settled. They propose to have a man who knows that radical changes have been effected in our politics and in our institutions, and who will not attempt to carry the country backwards to grope in the misty old piles of records which contain nothing but human failures. Onward and upward is the cry under which we propose to rally the people of free America in 1876. The future is what we desire to deal with—not the past. The work has already commenced.

A CHICAGO man organized an expedition to go to the Black Hills. He collected five dollars each from all who had been enrolled, and went to Detroit to buy wagons. This was a good many weeks ago, and the impatient gold seekers are still "waiting for the wagon."

THE national banks throughout the country are compromising with the commissioner of internal revenue for their failure to see that stamps are affixed to checks. The sums paid range from twenty-five to five hundred dollars. The commissioner is desirous to avoid the necessity of bringing suit against the banks, and has given them the opportunity to compromise.

"DID you go to the Lexington Centennial?" inquired a Yankee of the captain of an English vessel lying at Boston. "No, I had no invitation," "You could have gone without one, was the response. "Not much," said the cautious officer, "some of my people went out there a hundred years ago, and came back disgusted with their reception. I'd rather be excused from following in their footsteps."

THE cotton growers of the South do not place half as much confidence in the "direct trade to Europe theory" now, as they did a year ago. Some four thousand two hundred bales of cotton have been shipped from Georgia alone direct to Europe, under the auspices of the "Direct Trade Union," and the Savannah Advertiser says there has been a loss of five dollars on every bale from the figures that could have been realized at the nearest home market. The home promoters of the fanciful scheme for direct trade between Europe and the Mississippi Valley might do well to reflect awhile on this matter.

BOARD OF IMMIGRATION.

From the Mobile Register of the 29th ult., we clip the following information in reference to the State Board of Immigration. The Board is now in session in Mobile:

Lawler, of Talladega, additional members to supply vacancies, proceeded to a permanent organization by electing Hon. A. Murdock, President; General L. P. Walker, of Madison, Hon. D. Clopton, of Montgomery, Hon. Lewis M. Stone, of Pickens, and Hon. E. S. Shorter, of Barbour, Vice Presidents. Col. Price Williams, of Mobile, was elected Treasurer, and W. V. Chardavoyne, of Lawrence, Secretary of the Board. Messrs. Murdock, Williams, and Herndon, were appointed to prepare an address to the people of Alabama, on the subject of immigration.

STATE NEWS.

[By yesterday's mail to the State Journal.]

—Selma is suffering badly from an attack of "spelling bees." The Echo shows signs of terrible wrestles with this humbug.

—The Selma Times of yesterday, says: "We are informed that —— Nicholson, a route agent on the Alabama Central railroad, who was in trouble with the postoffice department a week or two since, committed suicide near Macon, Mississippi, on Monday last, by shooting himself in the head with a pistol. The supposition is that the troubles alluded to brought on the rash act."

—From the Mobile Register of the 29th, We learn that Mrs. Lomax, widow of the lamented Colonel Tennent Lomax, of the 3d Alabama, was serenaded on Monday night by the Mobile Cadets, at the residence of A. J. Turner, Esq. After the serenade the boys were invited in by Mr. Turner and entertained most hospitably.

—The Mobile Register says that the epaulettes of the late Col. Tennent Lomax, of the Third Alabama regiment, Confederate States of America, which was presented to Col. John H. Higley, Colonel First Infantry Battalion, A. V. M., by Mrs. Lomax, on his recent visit to Montgomery, Alabama, can be seen at John Pippen's jewelry store.

—The Talladega Reporter of the 29th, says: "Crazy Jim, an inmate of our county Poor House, has had a legacy left him in South Carolina."

—The following items we clip from the Tuskegee News of Friday:

There have been a number of drummers in town during the last week. They are partial to Tuskegee as our merchants are all reliable.

W. H. Felts, Esq., has been appointed by the Governor, Registrar for Macon county, and the appointment of sub-registrars will soon be made. The selection was an excellent one.

The recent frosts did some damage to crops, fruit and vegetables in this vicinity, though no considerable harm was done. We are having beautiful weather now and the prospect is good.

Dr. R. J. Thornton, Chairman of the Central Executive Committee of Macon county, and M. B. Swanson, Esq., a prominent merchant here, left last Tuesday to prospect among the orange groves of Florida. We wish them a pleasant trip and safe return.

—Hon. John M. Chilton delivered the memorial address at the Opelika decoration of Confederate graves. His address is worthy of its author—chaste, eloquent and touching. Judge Chilton is destined to make a mark that will be envied in the profession of law. We hope so, at least.

—The Scottsboro Herald calls its subscriptions "conscience money," and publishes weekly lists of those who pay up. This week its list embraces only four names.

—We learn from the Independent that Huntsville is wrestling with a "spelling bee;" and has just established a pubic library. Antidotes when properly taken are very good things sometimes. Go on, Huntsville.

—We learn with much regret that Arthur Harris, son of Dr. G. M. Harris, of this city, met with a serious accident a short time ago. He was out hunting near Auburn, where he is attending college, and by some mishap shot himself in the leg. Ibid.

—The young men of Huntsville have established a literary society known as the "Pope Walker Society."

—We learn from the Selma Republican that the Western Railroad has made arrangements with all connecting lines, so as to be able to reduce the rates of first-class passenger tickets to different points as follows:

New York	$20 00
Philadelphia	30 00
Baltimore	28 00
Richmond	26 00
Washington City	27 00

And low in proportion to all other points, East, West, North and South. Local tickets over the road, 5 cents per mile.

—The grand jury of Pike county found sixty true bills, and reports the county in a prosperous condition.

—A strawberry supper was given in Birmingham Tuesday night last, for a benevolent purpose.

—The mortuary report of Mobile for the week ending April 25th, shows that no deaths occurred in that city from small-pox during that time. We are glad to note the cessation of the disease in Mobile.

—Married, near Morgan Springs, on the 27th day of April, 1875, by the Rev. B. D. Gayle, Mr. J. D. Holifield and Miss Mattie Liles, all of Perry county.

—The people of Wilcox are preparing to erect a monument to the Confederate dead of that county.

Died, in Huntsville, Monday evening, April 26th, of acute bronchitis, Dora Vesta, daughter of Austin and H. Lillie I. Brittin. Aged nine months, sixteen days.

"WHERE do you intend to go this summer?" asked a customer of one of Boston's crack boot-blacks, the other morning. "Well, I am undecided as yet," replied the considerate shiner, "but I, of course, intend to follow Beecher. If the great pastor goes to the White Mountains then I shall go there, but if he strikes off to California, as I hear he intends to do, after the great scandal suit, why, then I shall go there. The fact is I can make more money following Beecher, as I do every season, than a side-show can in following Barnum."

INVITATION TO IMMIGRANTS.

Dallas Grange No. 264, Selma, Ala., respectfully represents to the great brotherhood of the Order in the Northern and border states particularly—

1. That the people of Alabama, always liberal hospitable and generous, warmly welcome to their midst bona fide immigrants from all parts of the world without regard to their religious or political opinions.

2. That the climate of our State is genial and healthy; that its soil is productive; that its lands are cheap; that its wealth of minerals is inexhaustible; that its water power is abundant; that its railroad facilities are sufficient; that its markets are convenient; that churches and schools abound within its limits; that good highways extend to every neighborhood; and that it offers to immigrants every advantage elsewhere combined in the oldest and newest sections.

3. That now the government of Alabama is in the hands of good and capable men; that good laws are impartially and firmly administered; that life and property are secure as in any of the New England or Northern States; that taxation is not high; and that the public debt is comparative small.

4. That considering its climate, the productiveness of its soil, its cheap lands, its churches and educational facilities, its navigable rivers, its good roads, its mineral resources, its honest government, the peace and security everywhere prevailing, and the cordial reception its people extend to those who come among them to live, no other State in the Union or in the world presents so many attractions to honest and industrious men elsewhere with or without capital, who prefer to better their condition by emigration.

ROBT. MCKEE, Master.
J. P. ARMSTRONG, Secretary.

TALLADEGA IRON.

We find the following encouraging item in the last issue of the Talladega Reporter:

The Alabama furnace is eclipsing the furnaces of the world in making iron. It is said there is no furnace of its size in existence that equals it in making iron. Originally constructed for a twelve ton furnace. It created quite a sensation among iron men by turning out from 18 to 20 tons per day. Recently, with the improved ores and increased blowing power, it has increased its yield to 26½ and 27 tons per day. Mr. Glidden thinks with everything in good condition as the dry weather approaches the furnace will reach 30 tons per day. Other localities may boast of their superior ores, but the practical test shows that the Talladega county iron ores are equal to any yet discovered.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your loved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and handsomer.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of elevating the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, beaming with exaggerations, but leave our work to speak more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

The Tonic relieves a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. A combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines preserved in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of SIXTH and ARCH streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

BRIEF ITEMS.

—Threatening weather again yesterday.

—Now is the time for merchants to advertise.

—The JOURNAL subscription list is daily increasing.

—It really begins to look as though old winter had stepped down and out.

—"The bird is singing in my heart," is the latest flowery equivalent for announcing that you're a little how come you so.

—The most characteristic feature of our modern civilization is, that we have reversed completely the old rule, pay as you. It is now borrow as you go.

—Sister Perkins was asked if she was going to celebrate her fifth marriage anniversary by the festival of a wooden wedding. She tartly replied, "No, that would be unnecessary, as I married a "stick," and he has done nothing but raise cane ever since."

—In consequence of the unexpected polar wave, a moderate supply of original poems will be accepted at this office for the coming week. Wide, open handwriting is the most acceptable, as it burns with a steadier flame.

—You are right, Charles Augustus; short-bosom shirts do not become any gentleman. In answer to your inquiry as to the quantity required, a reliable milliner has determined that twenty inches in the bosom would not be amiss.

"No railroad ring shall crack a whip over my head," it is rumored, will shortly be put to music. Look out for a cracking report.

—"There is an affection of the left ventricle of his cardiac organ," said the doctor, looking at her gravely. "By cardiac organ, madam, I mean his heart." "Oh, I know what his heart is. It's a lot of sausage skin without any stuffin'."

—A journalist in announcing his inability to give a governor's speech in full, offers as an excuse that the "lateness of the train's arrival and space in the paper precludes it."

—Wittles says the average lightning-rod man has brass enough to start a band.

—Annie Howe, who eloped with her lover the other day, was bound to be married Annie Howe.

—"Ah, parson, I wish I could take my gold with me," said a dying man to his pastor. "It might melt," was the consoling answer.

—The editor of a border exchange is out of patience. He says: "Pay up—thunderation pay up!"

—Umbrellas are now made with a glass in them. Like overcoats, we suppose, with a bottle in the side pocket!

—A Eufaula lady, who paid $50 to have a wart removed from her nose, wants to know what's become of the nose.

—We have received a note inquiring why, if the great river is the "father of waters," it should not be called Mississippi?

—Circus riders this year in this section will prefer the Advertiser to paste over their hoops. It is so full of weak places that it will be no trouble to go through it.

—A correspondent desires us to say that young ladies would probably live much longer if they could sit through an evening's entertainment without resorting to chewing gum.

—Patient to doctors after consultation—"Tell me the worst gentlemen: am I going to die?" Doctor—"We are divided on that question, sir; but there is a majority of one that you will live."

—"Do you want to kill the child?" exclaimed a gentleman as he saw a boy tip the baby out of its carriage on the walk. "No, not quite," replied the boy; "but if I can get him to bawling mother will take care of him while I go and wade in the ditch with Johnny Bracer!"

—We learn from the Opelika Observer that Hon. Isaac Heyman, U. S. Commissioner, bound over several illicit distillers a few days ago.

The Henshaw base ball club will soon appear in a new suit of white flannel with blue trimmings, and with the old fashioned knee-breeches. The suit is very pretty. This club stands ready to play any amateur club in the State.

IN the pacing race at the fair in Mobile, Montgomery's old favorite, the "Wild Irishman," won against two other horses.

HON. E. W. ATTAWAY, of Shelby county, called on us yesterday. He speaks favorably of the crops in his section.

YESTERDAY was a regular old fashioned spring fever day. A great many were affected with it, but none so seriously as that they will not recover by proper care and restoratives, especially if they are in liquid form.

THAT was an extraordinary game of base ball played in Hartford on Wednesday between the Atlantic and Hartford clubs. The game of nine innings closed as a tie, with each club having made but one run. What say our heroes of the ball and bat?

EVERYBODY—old, young, man, woman and child—had better get Webster's spelling book, and brighten up. There is to be an orthographical tournament at the city hall next Thursday night. So we are informed by those who are interested.

THE City Court is still in session, engaged on the civil docket, and will continue all of next week. Judge Minnis has determined to clear up the docket of hundreds of old cases which have been upon it for years, "if it takes all the summer."

THE cases of Mrs. O'Brien and Thos. Lundy, against J. L. Holt, for damages resulting from the falling in of the roof of the new city building, were called yesterday in the city court, and on motion of the plaintiff were continued until the fall term of the court. Mr. Holt had incurred great expense in getting his witnesses from other States, and was anxious for trial.

A good turn is done our readers in commending the American House, Boston. Its gentlemen's parlor, recently refurnished and refrescoed, is said to be one of the finest drawing-rooms in the country, and with its adoption of all late improvements it is equalled by few hotels. Courtesy to strangers has ever been a marked feature in its management, while its location, appointment and extent are all that can be desired for merchants or families travelling.

WE regret to learn that Mr. George M. Figh, one of the oldest builders in the city, finds it necessary to remove to Texas, on account of the dullness in his line. He was the contractor of the magnificent city buildings, which will stand as a monument of his skill after he has passed away. He carries with him the good wishes and prayers of our people. May his success in the future only be equaled by the high character he has borne in the past.

S. & A. SCHUESSLER, the popular butchers, will have at their stalls in the market to-day some of the finest, fattest, and sweetest Tennessee beef, mutton, pork, and spring lamb, which has ever been brought to this city. It is only necessary to say that Adam and "Uncle Steve" will be on hand to see that their customers and the world beside are served in a satisfactory manner. Their word is a guarantee that everything will be of the best quality. Those who want choice cuts should call early.

THERE are fourteen small boys in the Texas penitentiary. This is terrible to contemplate. Fourteen lads of tender years whose spirit is broken, and who when their term of service expired will be turned out upon the cold world alone without friends or the hope of any good in the future. Whose hearts are hardened by association with desperate criminals, and who will sooner or later die on the gallows or in the dungeon.

WE are glad to state that our information as obtained from the best source, warrants the belief that the late cold spell has not injured the wheat crop, nor any of the small grains to any very great extent in the counties in this section, and we may expect a much larger yield than for any year since the war. At the same time the planters have put in larger crops of corn than they ever have since the war.

ALTHOUGH the city election takes place next Tuesday, yet our people are quietly pursuing their business, and leaving politics to the very persons who seem to consider every election a field in which to reap a harvest. No one seems to have any desire to disturb the good order of the city. We hope it may be the case on election day. Let it not be said that an election cannot be held in this city without riot and bloodshed. Let there be no murders committed next Tuesday, as has been the case before. All good citizens should use their best efforts to prevent any disturbance.

THE fire bell rang out the alarm at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. It being an unusual hour, our citizens were slow in getting to the place. The steamer Alabama No. 2, was soon on the ground, and put water on the fire, but the flames had such a headway, and the building being a two story frame uninhabited, it burnt to the ground. It belonged to Colonel Reese of West Point, Ga., but had been occupied by J. P. Bailey, Esq., whose family is absent from the city. As there had been no fire in the house during the day, it is fair to presume that it was the work of incendiaries. If so, we hope they may be caught and punished severely.

SOIREE.

PROF. McDONALD'S FAREWELL.

PROF. McDONALD gave his closing soiree last evening, which was more than a success. At 8 o'clock the hall was crowded with Misses, Masters, and their parents. The examination of the little folks proves beyond doubt that the Professor is indeed master of his profession. At 10 o'clock the examination of the children closed. Master Berry Tatum then, in these very neat and appropriate remarks, presented the Professor with a handsome silver pitcher:

Professor McDonald:

SIR—Allow me, in behalf of your class of Misses and Masters, of which I am a member, to thank you for the many pleasant hours we have spent during the past season, under your instruction, in this hall. Also, allow me to present you this pitcher as a token of our esteem. Take it and think of the givers as they will think of you when you are away. To the world we can say that as a dancing master and a gentleman, we are always ready to endorse you. Good bye.

After which the young folks took the floor, and up to a late hour everything was forgotten but merriment and dancing.

MEMORIAL OFFERING.

AT THE THEATRE TO-NIGHT.

The Memorial Offering of the Ladies' Memorial Association of Montgomery, will take place at the theatre to-night. As the object of this offering is to raise funds to enable these patriotic and devoted ladies to defray the incidental expenses of the decoration ceremonies, every good citizen, who remembers the heroic deeds and sacrifices of the noble dead of the South, should attend, or if they cannot attend, at least purchase a ticket each, and add to the fund. The tickets are only fifty cents, and while these noble ladies do not beg any one to assist, they would gladly appreciate any aid tendered them. The times are hard, we all know and feel, but money spent in such a cause is not lost. Tickets can be purchased of any of the ladies of the Association during the day.

PERSONAL.—MR. F. WOLFE, county treasurer, arrived at home yesterday from New York. He is now ready to answer the call of any person or persons who may have business to transact with him.

THE Montgomery Greys, under command of that handsome officer, Capt. J. Gano Winter, returned home on the Mobile train yesterday morning. They looked bright and cheerful, considering that they have gone through such a campaign of travel, of march, of drill, of eating, drinking, dancing and compliments, and especially after having stood the fire from the bright eyes of Mobile's fairest daughters. We notice the ranks were not so full as when they left here. Some of the heroes may have fallen in the battle of the knife and punch-bowl, or have been captured by the fair ones. The boys speak in loud praise of their reception and entertainment in Mobile, and do not object to this kind of soldiering at any time. Lieut. Gilmer, with a squad, met the company at the depot with "Little Texas," and fired a salute in honor of their return.

WE see from the Echo that "the business houses on Broad street in Selma, are to close at 7 p. m. during the month of May," that the clerks may go out and take some exercise. Thoughtful employers! 'Tis wrong to keep those young men sitting all day long waiting for a customer, and trying to master Billings' orthography. Let the young men go out and cut down the grass and weeds that are taking possession of the streets and pavements, that they may suffer no harm from the snakes and turtles this summer that seek such retreats.

COMMUNICATED.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 30, '75.

Editor Journal:—While I have been acting, in some instances, with the Democratic party in their club meetings, I desire to say through your columns, that I have seen some things connected with the canvass now in progress in this city for city government officers that induces me to believe undue advantages are taken of many of my race, to deprive them of their right of suffrage at the coming election, and being desirous of seeing every man act his part untrammelled, I shall support Mr. Faber and friends, and ask my people all to do the same.

G. W. COX.

A CARD.

Editor Journal:—I carried the following card to the Advertiser office yesterday and after abusing me considerably Mr. Screws consented to publish it, after fixing it to suit himself:

JANUARY MARLBOROUGH.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 30, 1875.

Editors Advertiser:—I see in your issue of yesterday a card over the signature of Hamp Skaun's, Jack Spivey, Charles Malone and Martin Van Buren, which does me gross injustice. Their statements are false in every particular, and without the least foundation. I sincerely hope that my friends and patrons know me too well to believe this atrocious and unfounded statement from the above notoriously disreputable and unprincipled characters. JANUARY MARLBOROUGH.

MAYORALTY.

After careful consideration of recent events of public notoriety in this community, of the earnest solicitation of friends irrespective of party affiliations, and of my obligations to the people of the city of Montgomery, I feel bound to announce myself as a candidate for Mayor at the ensuing municipal election.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." WASHINGTON.

Edwards Pierrepont Accepts the Attorney-Generalship—Rumor of the Retirement of Secretary Fish—Secretary Delano Going to Ohio—The Grand Jury Investigating the Charges against Wm. S. King.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The attempt of Gen. Butler's friends to stop the appointment of Mr. Pierrepont as Attorney General failed, and to-day the latter gentleman notified the President that he would accept the position.

There is authority of one of the most prominent officials here that the understanding at the White House is that this will soon be followed by the retirement of Mr. Fish.

Secretary Delano left for Ohio this morning.

The Postmaster General leaves for home to-morrow, to be absent about a week.

Secretary Bristow will arrive from New York to-night.

The grand jury to-day took up the case of Bill King, and began an inquiry as to the charge of perjury, and Mr. Dawes and Mr. Kerr, members of the ways and means committee of the Forty-second Congress, were examined as to King's testimony during the first Pacific Mail investigation, and various New York parties as to the payment of money to King.

The Democratic Governor of Maryland received at the Executive Mansion, at Annapolis, yesterday, the Bishops and members of the African Conference, now in session in that city.

Hon. Wm. D. Kelly, of Philadelphia, who left here shortly after the adjournment of Congress for Florida, with the view of recruiting his health, returned yesterday, and left this morning for Philadelphia. Although he spent most of the time he was absent in Florida, the Judge travelled extensively through the States of Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia, keeping as he says, his eyes and ears open to ascertain for himself the condition of affairs in the South. Avoiding the Pullman palace cars while traveling he mingled freely with the people both black and white, questioning them upon their condition, wants and expectations. As a result of his observations and researches Judge Kelley says he found every part of the South, visited by him, extremely depressed. The financial legislation of the last Congress, he says, is driving the South into insolvency, and not until its repeal by a new Congress will there be any recuperation in that section.

What the South wants, says Mr. Kelly, is money, as is the case with a large number of people at the North who are out of work and find it difficult to make ends meet. The Southern people feel that there is something wrong, and not knowing exactly what it is, they attribute it to the radical rule of the Republican party.

Judge Kelly took particular pains to ascertain whether there was any foundation for the stories of a new rebellion in the South—questioning the negroes and the whites. The concurrent testimony was that such a position was an absurdity. The negroes laughed at the idea of their being reduced to slavery again, should the old Southern ex-slaveholders come into power.

The following letter was exhumed today in the Postoffice Department from a large number of letters which found their way to the dead letter office in 1861. The letter is dated May 4, 1861, and is addressed—

To His Excellency, Jefferson Davis, President C. S. A.:

As soon as you take possession of the White House I should like to receive the job for refurnishing the same, which I guarantee to do on the most liberal terms.

Yours respectfully,
CONRAD BREWSTER,
Upholsterer, No. 890 Broadway, N. Y.

The envelope is addressed "To His Excellency, Jefferson Davis, President C. S. A., Washington, D. C.—To be kept till called for.

For the Gulf States generally cloudy weather and easterly to southerly winds with no decided change in temperature, stationary or falling barometer and rain, except on the South Atlantic coast.

Election Returns—Republicans make Heavy Gains—The Largest Vote ever Polled at a Spring Election—Majority over 25,000.

DETROIT, April 30.—Official returns from all the counties in this State, except three very remote ones, show that the Republican victory this spring was a very decisive one. The vote was very full, being the largest ever polled at any spring election in this State, and but a few thousand less than the Presidential vote in 1872. The Republican majority is over 25,000. Last fall it was 20,000. Marston, for Judge, this year has 5,000 more votes than Bagley received for Governor last year.

ENGLAND.

The Case against Moody and Sankey—The Defendants pay each One Shilling.

LONDON, April 30.—The case of Cader vs. Moody and Sankey, has been settled by the defendants each paying one shilling damages and the costs. They agree not to use Her Majesty's Opera House hereafter in holding their revival meetings.

Another Libel Suit against the Chicago Times' Editor—Six more to follow—One Indictment Dismissed.

CHICAGO, April 30.—In the criminal court the indictment against Wilbur F. Story, of the Times, for libeling ex-Alderman McGratt, now tax-commissioner, by calling him a "jail bird," is in progress. This is the first of seven similar indictments found by the grand jury. One indictment was dismissed by county clerk Lieb.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic promotes a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood.

The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

FEMALE REGULATOR!

It will bring on the Menses; relieve all pain at the monthly "Period;" cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia of Back and Uterus; Leuchorrhœa or "Whites," and partial Prolapsus Uteri; check excessive flow, and correct all irregularities peculiar to ladies.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder; relieve Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can cure themselves in all the above diseases without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, GA., March 23, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

I am respectfully,

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs: Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public

Yours respectfully, REV. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted, when a four year old, the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:56. At the State Fair of 1865 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim), g g sire Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Washington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of eliciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all orders at once. For further particulars, address, G. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DIBBLE & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large, avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

THE MAN WHO WANTED INFORMATION.

The Detroit Free Press has this: Yesterday noon while the people around the office except the "head porter" were at dinner, the smell of smoke suddenly became apparent, and a fat man, smoking a big pipe, came toiling up stairs. When he had recovered his breath and taken a seat he inquired:

"Is der big editor what knows everydings in?"

"No—gone to dinner," was the reply.

"Und he shall come back purty soon?"

"In about two hours."

"I can't wait so quick as dat; I haf to go to a funeral."

"Did you want anything?"

"Yes, I want to know some dings about that Peecher scandal. You zee, one day about dree months ago a fellow comes mit my zaloon, and he says: 'Did you hear noddings about Mr. Peecher?' und I say nix, und he say Mr. Peecher sthole corn."

"Yes."

"Und der nexd day when I went home my wife says: 'Did you hear noddings about Mr. Peecher?' Und she said Mr. Peecher sithole a dog."

"Yes."

"Und when I was in der street car a man zays: 'Hello, Mr. Ritterman, what you dinks about Mr. Peecher?' Und I says no man can be a goot man who vhill steal a dog. Und den everybody laughs and winks, und I don't know about it."

"Und when I was in der Zitty Hall a man sthrikes me on der back, und zays: 'Hello, old frent, is Mr. Peecher guilty?' Und I said I durno, und he said Mr. Peecher hiret a man to blow up a schurch mit a parrel of powder."

"Yes."

"Und den ven I was in Dearborn a man looks pretty sharp at me und zays: 'You hf in Dadriot, don't you?' Und I said I hf in Dadriot. Und he zays: 'What is your shadgment on dat Peecher pisiness?' Und I said noddings. Und he said Mr. Peecher had a fight with a zircus man."

"Yes."

"I nd when my big boy comes home from Doledo, he zay: 'Fadder, what you dinks about dot Mr. Peecher?' Und I zays I dunno, Hans. Und he zays Mr. Peecher got some gloze und shummped der dailor's bill."

"Yes."

"Und when I goes home or in der street gar, or mit my saloon, or in der bost office, somebody say some dings about dot Peecher piziness, und I dunno. Who is dot Mr. Peecher? Where he lif?"

"He is a great preacher, and he lives in Brooklyn."

"Zo? Und what he do?"

"He got one of those tobacco boxes with a needle in the cover, and carried it around in his pocket. When a man tried to open it the needle went into his thumb about twenty-five feet."

"Is dat possible?"

"Yes, and he had his vest pocket made so deep that a cigar would go clear out of sight, and he kept it full and deceived the public."

"My zould but is dat zo?"

"Yes, and he keeps an old wild cat bill in his pocket to lend out when a man wants to secure the loan of a dollars for a few minutes."

"Vhel, I degiares! Vhen a breacher shall do like dat we shall wonder vhat next. Zo dat is der Peecher pisiness, eh? Vhell, vhell."

HE DECLINES THE HONOR.

Mr. L. W. Cutler, of Denver, Col., having been tendered the nomination of City Sexton, declines in the following style.

GENTLEMEN: Some men were born to greatness, some inherited it, while others have it thrust upon them. I will class myself with the latter. By reference to the proceedings of your honorable body on Wednesday evening last, I perceive that I was unanimously elected City Sexton—an office not sought by me, neither is it congenial to my calling in life. The idea of groping among tombstones and communing with ghosts and goblins for a livelihood causes a cold chill to run down my back; then, too, to know that I have not obtained the position on account of my fitness for the calling, but as a reward of merit for "political dirt" I have done, adds another terror to the thought. No, gentlemen, I must refuse. I would "rather be a toad and live upon the vapor of a dungeon" than wait for my fellowman to die that I might grow fat. Please leave me to pursue the quiet walks of private life, that may in the future, as in the past, assist to elect many a big-headed politician to places of trust and profit. Thanking you, gentlemen, for your kindness, I remain, as ever, yours politically, and hereby tender my declination of said office to the honorable Mayor and City Council.

L. W. CUTLER.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SUNDAY, MAY 2, 1875.

ALABAMA BONDS.

In the New York Tribune of the 28th ultimo, we find the following quotations of Alabama bonds, in that city, on the day before:

	Offered.	Asked.
Alabama 5s, '83.....	39	—
Alabama 5s, '86.....	39	—
Alabama 8s, '86.....	45	—
Alabama 8s, '88.....	45	48

During the canvass last fall, we were all told that when Houston was elected, with a Legislature to sustain him, not only should the credit of Alabama be regained—our bonds run up to par—but that business in all departments would be revived, hard times would be heard of no more, and Alabama would at once assume her position at the head of the column. Have we been deceived? Sadly indeed! Never before in the history of the State have Alabama bonds been quoted so low; never before in the history of the State have business men had of a revival in the business centers of the State, depression hangs like a hideous nightmare about the agricultural, financial and commercial interests of the State. No sooner had Houston and his legislature commenced operations than the cry of repudiation began. The appointment of a commission to adjust the liabilities of the State, when we have an Auditor, Treasurer and Attorney-General who can perform the same duties, entailed not only an additional expense upon the tax-payers of the State, but created distrust and suspicion in the minds of the creditors of the State generally, and especially those banks and bankers holding our bonds.

The people of Alabama have been driven into some very destructive measures by the "ring leaders" and the "party lash." Not the least of the fatal errors the people have been led into, is the indorsement of the acts amendatory of the Montgomery and Selma municipal charters. The passage of these partisan acts have disfranchised some of the oldest and best citizens of these two cities. In Montgomery this is the case surely, whether it be so in Selma or not. The brilliant and patriotic members of the legislature were driven by a "ring" of seedy lawyers, and place-hunting politicians of this city, to enact a law which deprives such men as Judge Rice from voting. In the effort to prevent a dozen dishonest votes—(for there is no evidence to show that any, save the friends of those who incubated this new election law, have ever violated the elective franchise)—they have disfranchised more than double that number of good and substantial citizens.

The "ring" lawyers and editors of the State have used the party lash so effectually and effectively that some men who are regarded as men of "grit" and independence, dare not open their mouths to question or oppose certain measures which they believe and know to just, illegal and oppressive. These men stand in deadly fear of being castigated by the politicians and editors of the hide-bound Bourbon dynasty, who appear to be the principal keepers of the party whip lashes. The Advertiser can, by charging that these men are following "Keffer and his crew," frighten certain men in this community to such a pitch that they would be unfit for any sort of business—through fear—absolute fear. If the best citizens of this city, or any one of them, were to publicly proclaim his opposition to the Moses ticket, he would forthwith be labelled by the Advertiser as a Radical associate of John C. Keffer; and if he were a merchant, he would be notified that his business must suffer to such an extent that he would be forced to wear the garb of falsehood and deception or be ostracised and ruined. While such a state of things lasts no wonder Alabama bonds are worthless, and find no buyers. In any community where men are such slaves of prejudice and falsehood no advancement need be hoped for. Until every citizen of Alabama can act and vote as he pleases, no real peace or prosperity can be expected. It is too unnatural, too devilish and dark—such a system of persecution and ostracism. And unless the people break loose from the control of these miserable politicians and foul mouthed editors, the day will soon come when their slavery of mind and conscience will be far more terrible, galling and unendurable than the late system of bodily slavery from which the South has been emancipated. We hope soon to witness the complete overthrow of the tyranical ring of place-hunters and the star chamber inquisition of editors in Alabama.

THAT truly good and loyal man, Mr. Bowen, of South Carolina, who once sat in Congress, and who got into trouble several years ago because he violated the fundamental law of modern society—monogamy—has failed to receive the vindication he asked at the hands of a Charleston jury, the trial having resulted in a disagreement. We are sorry for Mr. Bowen. It is about time that these audacious independent journals received some check. Mr. Shepherd has been libeled; Mr. Zack Chandler has been libeled; Mr. Delano has been defamed, and Mr. Bowen is also a victim, and a defenceless one, of the newspapers. If the thing does not stop pretty soon there's no telling where or whom it may strike.

THE TRIAL PROSPECTS.

Eighty-one days, we believe, have now been consumed in the Brooklyn trial, and it is fair to presume that the substance of the evidence has been produced on both sides. The direct testimony for the defense has come so near its close that Mr. Evarts has been reported as saying that he hoped to "rest" by Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning of this week. Then the rebuttal will begin, and will be confined to the contradiction of the defense and to new matter, either discovered by or become available to the prosecution since that side rested. How much time will be required in the hearing henceforth is a matter of pure conjecture. Even the defense say that they can call fifty-two more witnesses, altho' they shall subpœna as few as possible. The witnesses yet to be called by the prosecution will probably be numerous, although some of them may not occupy much time. It has been estimated, however, that about ten days will be required for this purpose, and that the defense's rebuttal will occupy a week more. This will take the trial to the second week in May. The summing up for the defense will be both by Mr. Porter and Mr. Evarts, while Mr. Beach alone will do the [illegible] It has been intimated that Judge Neilson would like a week's intermission between the evidence and the arguments, in order that he may attend to some neglected judicial duties. There is not much probability, therefore, that the trial will be out of the way before the first of June.

With regard to the evidence yet to be offered, it appears to be agreed that Mrs. Tilton will not be called to the stand, and that, therefore, neither Mrs. Beecher, Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Morse, nor Miss Anthony will be necessary. It is doubtful whether Miss Florence Tilton will be summoned. Mr. Bowen, it is said, will testify with respect to one topic alone, the version given by Mr. Beecher to the "heads of difficulties" matter. As for the rest, besides Moulton, Mrs. Moulton and Tilton, mention is made of Carpenter, the artist, the saloon keeper where Mr. Beecher says he lunched on the afternoon of June 2, 1873, Stephen Pearl Andrews, Gen. Tracy, J. B. Ford, Mr. Delmonico, John Swinton, Gen. Butler, Katy McDonald (Mr. Tilton's old housekeeper) and several physicians. These names will mostly suggest the topics to which the several witnesses will testify. As to the importance of their evidence and its power to affect what is already before the public—that is another matter, and the public has had its patience so well trained already that it can afford to wait with the requisite equanimity. If we were to express any hope on the subject, we should trust that the balance of the testimony may be such as to justify a decided verdict and leave the whole community unanimous as to its fairness. That would seem to be necessary in order that this deplorable episode may have some compensation by furnishing a clear and impressive and salutary lesson to the whole community. In default of much variation in the character of the remaining testimony, the hope of thoughtful men is in the ability of Judge Neilson to put the whole matter in a clear and convincing light in his charge to the jury; and his perfectly impartial bearing throughout his trying position thus far gives assurance that he will not fail in his final duty.

A CENTER SHOT.

We respectfully invite the attention of the gentlemen who are tearing open the graves of the noble Confederate dead, for the purpose of exhibiting their remains to force men to vote for Mr. M. L. Moses for Mayor of this city, to the following paragraph from the Philadelphia Times. The writers for the Advertiser are specially conjured to read and ponder these lines of truth:

The response by General Evans, of the Southern army, to the sentiments of General Bartlett, of the Union, at Augusta, on Monday, matches the generous declarations of the latter, and proves—if any proof were needed—that the only persons who desire to reopen and perpetuate the quarrel are the soldiers who fight from behind paper ramparts, and with pens which may be feathers from their own caps.

We are informed by reliable citizens that recent issues of the Advertiser have been sent to New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, to be laid away for use in the campaign of 1876. They will be extensively quoted by Northern politicians, to prove that we Southern people, instead of having forgotten, or trying to forget the war, never permit an occasion to pass without digging up the past and flinging it into the faces of the public. Not even can a contest here for the office of mayor occur, but certain ex-bomb-proof heroes have to "ring the changes" on the war, and bluster about the deeds of men whose shoe-latches they are not worthy to unloose.

THE Advertiser tries to frighten our citizens into support of the Moses ticket, by threatening to remove the capitol if he is defeated. Will the good people of this city, who do not wish to vote for Mr. Moses, please consider that the people of Alabama are not able to remove the capital just now, nor is it probable that they will be for some years. It would cost too much to remove the capital; and it is not likely that the tax payers of the State would be willing to incur an expense of $100,000 just because M. L. Moses is defeated for Mayor.

MORE OFFICIAL SPECULATIONS.

The Treasurer of Tennessee, a Bourbon of the straightest sect, has been speculating with State funds. He was not sharp enough to conceal his operation, and some shrewd old Tennessee tax payer has "blowed on him." We do not wish to be understood as rejoicing that the treasurer has been guilty of this outrage. Our joy is in the fact that he was detected. He was represented, while a candidate for the office which he now disgraces, as one of the most honest and upright men in the State; he was not a carpet bagger nor a scallawag, but "native and to the manor born," and therefore as pure as fresh water from a flowing spring. The following statement in a late issue of the Memphis Appeal, a hidebound organ of the Bourbons, shows that human nature is the same pretty much everywhere we find it:

Not many men can be found who are able to say "get thee behind me, Satan," to so great a temptation. For instance: Our present treasurer, Dr. Morrow, is generally credited with being efficient, capable, correct and honest. When first elected he was "dead poor." Now he is one of the wealthiest men in Nashville. His salary will only a little more than support his family; no rich relation has left him a fortune, and his accounts are all square. How did he get rich? By successful speculation. Whose money did he speculate with? He had no money or credit of his own, but as treasurer of the State of Tennessee he could command millions. Is not the inference almost irresistible? Now, suppose that he did speculate with the State money, as with the present law he certainly had the power to do; suppose also that instead of being successful his speculations had proved failures, where would the people's money be?

THE STATE JOURNAL'S information respecting the editorial management of this paper, like most of that paper's facts, is without warrant and wholly incorrect. Such remarks are breaches of journalistic etiquette—to say nothing of their incorrectness.—Advertiser yesterday.

So? Then we beg your pardon, neighbor. It was a subject of street gossip, and was, we believe, generally regarded as a fact. But if we were mistaken, we are ready to acknowledge the "corn." True, it was none of our business, but we thought a matter so generally discussed on the streets, was not within the pale of journalistic etiquette; and as you had, but a few weeks since, shown your regard for this etiquette, by falsely stating that a certain individual was holding the same relation to the JOURNAL we did not dream that we were violating any etiquette. Let this be a warning to you, dear neighbor, to deal with this paper as a journal of news, and do not meddle yourself about the gentlemen who write its articles or attend to its conduct. If it was such a breach of etiquette as you say, why did you not set us a good example when you had such a favorable opportunity not long since?

THE VALUE OF OUR CROPS FOR 1874

The total value of all agricultural products in the United States for the year 1874 was $2,447,538,659. The proportion derived directly and indirectly from the grass crop is estimated at $1,292,000,000, itemized as follows: Hay, 27,000,000 tons, at $20 per ton, $500,000,000; live stock $1,525,000,000; animals slaughtered for food, $300,000,000; butter, $214,000,000; milk, $25,000,000; wool, $25,000,000; cheese, $5,000,000. The estimated total derived from grass is probably too large, for the reason that the hay crop, the value of which is given in one of the above items, must have been used to some extent in swelling the other values. Still it is doubtless safe to say, allowing more than half the value of the hay to go to this account, that in round numbers, the value of the products depending upon the grass yield for 1874, was $1,000,000. The people of Alabama ought to make a note of this item.

A REVOLUTION IN BOLIVIA.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The steamer Henry Chauncey, which arrived to day from Panama, brings among other advices, the following from Bolivia:

On the 12th of March last, President Frias left La Paz for Oruro, taking with him one-half of battallion No. 1 of the line, the other half remaining in Viacha. The rebel citizens of La Paz, when once they thought the President far enough away, broke out in revolution on the 20th. The council of ministers and a small force of young men of good families shut themselves up in the government palace, determined to resist any armed attack by the people. A terrible and unyielding struggle took place. The people on their part tried to set fire to the palace. The women even took part with communist like ferocity, and threw burning sheets dipped in kerosene on the roofs. While this was going on a messenger set off for Viacha and informed the commander of the half battalion that was there of what was taking place in La Paz. Senor John Gramier, the chief in question, at once put his force in motion and pressed his men over the six leagues at a quick march, and arrived at La Paz just as the young men who defended the government house were about to give in. He once made a charge against the rebel crowd, and defeated it, with a loss of 58 killed and a great number wounded.

THE Tuskegee News is a very silly sheet. It doesn't seem to appreciate what every school-boy knows to be a fact, that the individual who blows his own horn just to hear his own praises, is hardly competent to instruct others in anything. If the young man who pens the effusions of the News will buy a grammar and a spelling book and apply himself to their study a few years he will be able to send out a much more respectable sheet than he now does.

WE have been placed in possession of a circular recently issued by Capt. W. L. Bragg, and signed by him, as chairman of the so-called Democratic and Conservative State Executive Committee of Alabama. This circular is certainly one of the most extraordinary documents ever addressed to a free and intelligent people. It assumes the position that the people of Alabama are a set of ignorant blockheads, and need to be specially taken in hand by the lawyers of the State. The editors of the State are also treated, by this circular, as a band of ignorant asses. They are told that they must give up their papers to the control of the lawyers in their neighborhood, who will instruct them, and conduct their papers for them during the canvass for the constitutional convention. In Tuesday's issue of this journal we will publish this extraordinary document, that our readers may see Capt. Bragg's estimate of the people of this State—especially the editors.

SPAIN does a very sensible thing in paying the first installment of the Virginius indemnity before it became due. The sum of 225,000 pesetas has been turned over to Minister Cushing, although it is not payable by the terms of settlement until the 11th of next month. This is an unexpected exhibition of financial strength. Paying debts before they are due is not common these days.

OF the ten oldest Congressmen now living, five have passed into or beyond their ninetieth year, says the Boston Courier. The oldest is Horace Binney, of Philadelphia, who was born in that city on the 4th of January, 1780, and who is also the oldest living graduate of Harvard College. Of the remaining nine no less than six are natives of Massachusetts—as follows: William Hall, of Wilmington, Delaware, born in that State in 1783; Artemas Hale, of Bridgewater, born in 1783; Perkins King, of Cairo, New York, born in that State in 1784; George Grinnell, of New Bedford, born in 1788; Ethan Shepley, of Portland, Maine, born in 1789. If Virginia is the mother of Presidents, Massachusetts would seem to be the mother of aged Representatives.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The New York Commercial Advertiser, of a recent date, referring to the general observance of Memorial Day throughout the South, says:

The South yesterday kept its memorial of the Confederate dead with imposing ceremonies. At Augusta, Georgia, the corner-stone of a monument was laid, and in the course of a speech on the late unpleasantness, Gen. Evans said: "Sadly we parted with the cross of stars and bars; but we take with the true hand of Southern honor the staff that holds the stars and stripes." The speaker and his comrades may rest assured that the people of the North are glad to hear this avowal, and sincerely hope that the "true hand of Southern honor" will not drop the flag again, or fling it away a second time for some strange banner. At the same time we cannot help but plume ourselves upon the fact that the true hand of Northern honor has never dropped the stars and stripes, but has an unbroken record of patriotism from Lexington and Concord in 1775 to its Centennial commemoration. Cannot the South spare us a compliment on this point?

THE NEWSPAPER.

The newspapers is the chronicle of civilization—the common reservoir into which every stream pours its living waters, and at which every man may come to drink. It is a newspaber that gives to liberty its practical life, constant observation its perpetual vigilance, its unrelaxing activity. The newspaper informs legislators of public opinion, and informs the people of legislation. And this is not all. The newspaper teems with most practical morality; in its report of crimes and punishment you find a daily warning against temptation; and not a case in a police court, not a single trial of a wretched outcast or a trembling felon, that does not preach to us the awful lesson how imprudence leads to error, conducts to guilt; how guilt reaps its bitter fruit of anguish and degradation. The newspaper is the bond that binds together man and man—no matter what be the distance of the climate or the difference of race. The newspaper is a law-book for the indolent, a sermon for the thoughtless, a library for the poor. I may stimulate the most indifferent, it may instruct the most profound.

SEEDS.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
WASHINGTON, April 8, 1875.

The Agricultural Department of the United States desires to communicate to its correspondents the following information:

1. The object and purpose of the Department is to procure the best and most approved seeds which can be obtained in this or any other country, and so distribute them as that they may be introduced into all parts of the United States to which they are respectively adopted.

2. Vegetable garden seed is put up in packages and varieties, having a reference only to the climate and soil to which they are to be sent. Any designation of these seeds wanted by individuals is useless, because they are already put up; except the general one of flower or vegetable, or particular field seed, such as corn, oats, barley, spring or fall wheat, or particular kind of grass.

3. The Department does not profess to have every variety of seed for distribution to supply the wants of any person, but only such as are particularly good and useful, and which cannot be readily obtained elsewhere.

4. The Department often receives from five to fifty letters from one place, and sometimes written by one hand. These are not responded to.

5. The Department has its own agents for distribution, therefore lists sent here are not attended to.

6. Money or stamps should not be sent to the Department for any purpose whatever. It has no authority to receive it.

7. No seed is delivered at the Department—but only by mail.

Seed sent, in pursuance of the special appropriation of Congress, to the grasshopper districts has not been subject to these rules.

Correspondents should save the product of seed sent them, for future use.

Commissioner of Agriculture.

STRAY NOTES.

—Rain yesterday.

—Spring time has come, gentle Annie.

—Business was pretty fair yesterday.

—House-cleaning time is at hand, and terrified husbands and fathers are devising excuses for absenting themselves from home for a few days, "on business."

—What can be more exasperating to the long-suffering soul of him who is "next," than to see the barber of his choice putting on his coat and starting for dinner?

—An exchange says: "Matrimony makes a man see double." Old Blougher says whisky will do the same thing—and besides it is much cheaper.

—In the very first number of a new paper was found a letter from an "Old Subscriber." His age was not given.

—It is calculated that in this country fifty men die daily from natural causes, who by good rights ought to be hung. The author of the calculation is believed to be the proprietor of a rope walk.

—Young ladies are growing colder and more selfish every day," said a veteran cynic, "and how few do we find now who love a man enough to hang around a barber shop for a lock of his hair."

—The electric telegraph.—"Wife, I don't see for my part how they send letters on them 'ere wires without tearin' 'em all to bits." "La, me! they don't send the paper, they just send the writing in a fluid state."

—"Girls," observes an experienced Brooklyn matron, "remember that those men make the best husbands who can swallow a dozen hairs to an ounce of butter, without knowing it.

—The ladies are keeping the sidewalks in excellent condition, but the mud on the crossings is too much for their costly dresses.

—Young ladies from twelve to sixteen, who are in the habit of chewing gum, must be told the painful news that the practice is going out of fashion.

—If you havn't bought your new hat yet, young woman, shroud your old one in a grenadine veil, look as distinguished as you can, and nobody will know the difference.

—"There is no profit in advertising," the fool saith in his heart, but the wise man taketh advantage of "the lever that moves the world," and straightway is on the high road to fame and fortune.

—Should the "Odorless Excavator" become as successful as it promises to become a hard-working and highly-perfumed class of midnight laborers will find "their occupation gone.

—It don't pay this cold weather to go fishing for shad. An attack of rheumatism or pneumonia is a somewhat dear price to pay for a day's pleasuring.

—Young persons should be careful how they hang on gates to gaze at the moon, as the horrid painters are not careful where they sling their brushes.

—Railroad competition renders it a good deal cheaper to go east that to remain at home. But there is sometimes trouble about getting home.

—The cemetery is resplendent with its new scent of green grass and verdant foliage.

—In certain households the question "Where shall we go this Summer?" is somewhat anxiously discussed.

—And yet the swallows have put off building their nests and Spring, as far as this unfailing sign is concerned, is practically as far off as ever.

—After all they say now that the strawberry crop has not been entirely ruined by the recent frosts, and some sanguine individuals even go so far as to predict an extremely abundant supply of the palate tickling luxury.

—Again the nightmare-producing lobster is making its impression upon the lower regions of our citizens, and carrying havoc to the slumbers of the righteous.

—A new thing to have with you for Summer reading would be a copy of the rules and regulations of the Centennial Commission in the Chinese lingo.

—Some foolish people have been heard to observe that after all they didn't believe that spring has come at all.

THE BLUE BIRD.

When ice is thawed and snow is gone,
And racy sweetness floods the trees—
When snowbirds from the hedge have flown,
And on the hive-porch swarm the bees;
Drifting down the first warm wind
That thrills the earliest days of spring,
The bluebird seeks our maple groves,
And charms them into tasseling.

He sits among the dainty spray,
With mists of splendor round him drawn,
And the spring's prophetic veil
Sees summer's rich fulfillment dawn;
He sings, and his is Nature's voice—
A gush of melody sincere
From that great fount of harmony
That thaws and runs when spring is here.

Short is his song, but strangely sweet
To ears aweary of the low,
Dull tramp of winter's sullen feet,
Sandaled in ice and muffled in snow;
Short is his song, but through it runs
A hint of dythrambs yet to be—
A sweet suggestiveness that has
The influence of prophecy.

From childhood I have nursed a faith
In bluebird's songs and wings of spring;
They tell me, after frost and death
There comes a time of blossoming,
And after snow and cutting sleet
The cold, stern mood of Nature yields
To tender warmth, when bare pink feet
Of children press her greening fields.

Sing strong and clear, O bluebird dear!
While all the land with splendor fills,
While maples gladden in the vales,
And plum trees blossom on the hills;
Float down the wind on shining wings,
And do thy will by grove and stream,
While through my life spring's freshness runs
Like music through a poet's dream.

ON yesterday during the wind storms, not only the people, but the horses sought the pavements, much to the fear of women and children.

PERSONAL.—We were pleased to meet in our city yesterday, J. S. Solomon, Esq., of Troy, who says there is not one-half as much corn being sold at Troy this year as last, and that the farmers are planting more grain than cotton.

We also met Major Kennedy, of Blount county, in the city, who reports the crop prospects as good in his section.

—It is good reading in these days—the narration of how those plain homespun yeomanry of a century ago leaped to the defence of Liberty. And how bitterly, too, the perusal makes us deplore the now irrevocable story of our more recent bloody civil war.

THE members of the church-door brigade will assemble to-day at the first ringing of the bells, in full dress uniform of faultless neck-ties and delicate gold-headed canes. All who are not able to get the canes can part their hair in the middle.

DR. MICHEL IN MOBILE.—Our distinguished fellow-citizen, Dr. R. F. Michel, delivered a lecture before the Franklin Society, in Mobile, recently, and the Register refers to him as follows:

The lecture delivered last night by Dr. Michel, of Montgomery, before the Franklin Society, was one of the most finished productions our people have listened to in years. The subject, "Paul H. Hayne and his Poems," found in the polished address and sympathetic heart of the speaker as well as in the appreciation of the large and cultivated audience a genuine and fervent recognition. Dr. Michel was happy in his theme, and Mr. Hayne should be happy in having a friend who can lay such a wreath upon his brow. The attendance upon the lecture was unusually large and the applause given the speaker was most flattering.

THE entertainment at the theatre last night for the benefit of the Ladies Memorial Association was one of the most elegant we have ever attended. The recitations by the ladies, and the eulogy by Col. Lockett, were of a national character. The vocal and instrumental music was very fine, while the tableaux were most beautiful. The music was under the direction of Prof. Bischler, and the tableaux the design of Mr. E. H. Jacobi. At this late hour we cannot particularize, but may do so on Tuesday.

SPRINKLE THE STREETS.—The near approach of the time when street sprinklers will be called into requisition to allay the evils which are wafted through space in clouds of summer dust, there arises the suggestion that it would be well if some general plan could be incepted so that the principal thoroughfares may receive a thorough benefit of the sprinkling process. Under the system heretofore prevalent, one man, willing to pay for the privilege, has had the street before his house or store nicely sprinkled, while, perhaps, his neighbor let his front go dry, and as a consequence the actual benefit to the public by the sprinkling of one portion has been neutralized by the flying dust from the other. The only way to make sprinkling effective, is for all residents on a certain street to make the work a general one. The expenditure is but trifling, while the blessings it will achieve for the masses will be considerable. Get the water works company to supply you with plugs and hose, and several families residing near each other can make up a fund to pay the expenses.

NOTICE.

There will be a grand mass meeting at the Courthouse, to-morrow night. All the friends of good government, and the enemies of "rings," caucusses and tyrants are invited to attend. The meeting will be addressed by able speakers in behalf of H. E. Faber and W. B. Hughes, for mayor and city clerk. Come all who are opposed to the whip lash masters and "ring" leaders. ***

A FRAUD EXPOSED.

Dealers in Registration Certificates Brought to Account—The Managers of the Co-operative Union Store involved—The Certificates Traced to the Office of M. L. Moses. Candidate for Mayor.

Ever since the registration of voters took place in this city, reports have been freely circulated that Mr. Moses' friends have been engaged in buying or securing such certificates from such voters as they could swindle out of them. Complaint has frequently been made to the authorities, and some arrests have been made, and occasionally a mean negro has been punished for swindling other men out of their certificates. In one case the evidence disclosed the fact that Mr. Thomas Casey, the manager of the Co-operative Union store, had loaned money to a man, and took his registration certificate as collateral, but on offering him the amount—two dollars—which he loaned, he returned it.

Since that time several colored men have complained that they had been induced by mean, unprincipled negroes to leave their certificates with Casey for safe-keeping till election day. As an assurance that it would be returned to the voter before election day, he was loaned $2 on it, which he was to return when he got back his certificate. Some negro men being in distressed circumstances, were induced to do so. On yesterday several of these men who had deposited their certificates with Casey, made a demand of him for them, and offering him, according to former contract the two dollars which he had loaned upon the certificate. One case that we heard of was an old nego man, named Hubbard, who on yesterday demanded of Casey his certificate, and was told it was not there—at Casey's store—but was in the iron safe of Mr. M. L. Moses, the candidate for Mayor; on going to the office of Moses, Hubbard was told by the book-keeper that the certificate was locked up in the safe, and the man who had the key was not in. By this time considerable interest was manifested by the negro men, and they gathered about the office of Mr. Moses, and as several others who had brought the money to redeem their certificates were in the crowd, demanding that Mr. Moses should come forth and give up their certificates, they were finally told by one of the Moses men that the Mr. Moses who had the key of the safe was not in, and they could not get their certificates yesterday.

Every man connected with this unlawful and rascally transaction should be punished to the full extent of the law. No matter if he be a candidate for Mayor or for Governor. The ordinances of the city will punish them, the grand jury of the city court can indict them, and as the United States Court will be in session to-morrow, they can be indicted by the grand jury for conspiracy to deprive men of their right to exercise their elective franchise. Let every one connected with these outrogeous acts be brought to speedy justice. We were told that this law was passed in order to give a fair and honest election. We opposed it, but it was passed, and now its friends are the first to violate the faith pledged in the law of their own making. Shame! Shame! Shame!

TORNADOES AND STORMS.

Destruction of Life and Property in Georgia and South Carolina.

At midnight last night the Southern and Atlantic Telegraph Company's wires were prostrated by severe tornadoes and hail storms in Georgia and South Carolina. By reference to our dispatches our readers will gather all the particulars which the telegraph could get before their wires were prostrated.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&w1w

Illicit Distilling in South Carolina—Deputy Collectors Shot while Attempting to Stop it—Troops asked for to Protect Government Officers—Responsible for Counterfeits—Sandwich Islands Sugar—Financial Affairs, &c.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The internal Revenue Bureau was to-day advised of an extensive system of illicit distilling in South Carolina. The Collector of the Third District of that State reports that five hundred gallons per day of illicit whisky are openly sold in his district. Within two weeks two deputies have been shot down in the public streets while attempting to arrest these fraudulent distillers. These illicit sales are made in public from a covered wagon, which is occupied by several desperadoes. Whenever a Government officer approaches these vans the distillers shoot from their place of concealment behind the canvas. Application is made to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for troops to assist in breaking up this system.

In a case where a national bank forwarded a package of money to the United States Treasury or redemption, and after the funds had been forwarded to the bank in exchange for its remittance, a counterfeit $500 note was discovered in the package sent here, the Secretary of the Treasury decides that the bank is liable for the counterfeit note, and the Treasurer can demand of the bank the refund of the amount in question.

The friends of Mr. Fish say the impression sent abroad that the appointment of Mr. Pierrepont as Attorney-General would result, after a short time, in the resignation of Mr. Fish, is altogether erroneous, and that the contingency of having two Cabinet officers from the same State was fully considered by the President before the place was offered Mr. Pierrepont.

Senator Mitchell prints a card here today, denying that he has taken any part in the effort to remove Mr. Delano, or that he desires his removal.

A Skeleton Mystery—Discovery of Remains in a Box—Detectives on the Track.

BOSTON, May 1.—A special dispatch to the JOURNAL says that great excitement was created at the Erie Railway depot by the discovery of a human skeleton in a box which had been brought there for shipment. The box was marked Mrs. M. Woodford, Van Wert, Wert county, Ohio. The man who left it at the depot gave his name as Dr. Wettheis. An offensive smell emanating from the box attracted attention to it, and on being opened the skeleton was found. The bones are small and delicate, and appear when put together to be that of a woman. The flesh had been entirely removed from the bones, and the work appeared to have been done hastily, as in some places shreds of flesh adhered to the bones. A detective has been investigating the matter, but as yet has been unable to discover any such person as Dr. Wettheis.

Special Notices.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from mineral, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines personally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

FEMALE REGULATOR!

It will bring on the Menses; relieve all pain at the monthly "Period" cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia of Back and Uterus; Leuchorrhoea or "Whites," and partial Prolapsus Uteri; check excessive flow, and correct all irregularities peculiar to ladies.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys and Bladder; Full Relief to Costiveness; purify the Blood; give tone and strength to the whole system; clear the skin, imparting a rosy hue to the cheek, and cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills and Fever.

Ladies can cure themselves in all the above diseases without revealing their complaints to any person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and clergy.

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 27, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

I am respectfully,

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public.

Yours respectfully, Rev. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply suthelent proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of eliciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines, New Albany, Ind. April 10, 1874

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

THE TROTTING STALLION,

HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or a acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

"HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Doady Jim"), g g sire "Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

Friends and Patrons

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high-toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large, avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that utter out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from the increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by redoubled efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

We will furnish the daily at $5 00 per annum, $4.00 six months, $2.00 three months—invariably in advance; or clubs may be made up from as many different postoffices as there are names; these may be sent in as obtained accompanied by the money, and when the club is completed, the extra copy will be forwarded to any address named.

The attention of advertisers is called to the

MOONLIGHT, MUSIC, LOVE AND FLOWERS.

BY LOLA MAY MONTABEL.

Moonlight, music, love and flowers,
Heavenly angels from above:
Sent to bless life's sweetest hours,
And to share with those we love.

Soft o'er fountains, rivers and homes,
The silvery light does fall—
Beguiling the traveler as he roams,
And sweet dreams doth recall.

In fancy, loved ones again I meet—
With recollections of a song—
For memory lingers over music sweet,
And shortens hours long.

Rosy Cupid his sweet charm weaves—
That binds true joys together;
His crown a chaplet of leaves,
That stands all sorts of weather.

The flowers lift up faces rare—
Fulfill their mission pure and true,
And tell of the Master's care—
Of a life work true to do.

Lives are like buds and flowers
The great God turns them all;
Sweet influences gild the hours,
And answer the Souls call.

PARTY LASH.

THE LAWYERS TO TEACH THE PEOPLE—THE PEOPLE TO DO THEIR BIDDING.

The following circular from the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee has been handed us for publication, by a lawyer who received it, but who does not propose to teach in the manner specified. We call special attention to the circular, and hope it will be carefully read by all. If this is not applying the party lash, not alone to the voters, but also to the newspapers who, as will be seen, are to have their editorials prepared for them by the lawyers, and thus be forced to earnestly co-operate in the scheme to call the convention, whether they desire it or not, then we are not judges. Here it is:

ROOMS OF THE STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE DEMOCRATIC AND CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

MONTGOMERY, April 21, 1875.

DEAR SIR: In entering upon the canvass for the constitutional convention now progressing in Alabama, the State Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative party relies with confidence on the power that will be exerted by the legal profession. No other profession or class of men is so intimately acquainted with all the enormities of the constitution now in operation in this State; and no other is so thoroughly competent, from the peculiar education and habits of thought of its members, to discuss for the information of the people, in public speeches and through the columns of the press, the odious and burdensome features of this constitution. These indisputable facts will give to the utterances of this profession a transcendant weight in this canvass, and to its members an extraordinary but just influence. This influence begins with a range as extensive as the professional and personal relations of its members with every class of society, and if exerted with energy and zeal will be very paramount in its character. Such a struggle for constitutional reform, so vital to all the people of this State, has devolved upon this profession a responsibility too great and serious for ordinary language to describe, for in this canvass the members of this profession stand in the attitude of teachers of the popular mind in the legal questions that will be presented, and if they are silent and inactive, apathy and timidity will pervade this canvass. In all the struggles of a thousand years this profession has always stood on the side of civil liberty, and its work is not yet done.

The valuable work that may be done by this profession can not be confined to the period embraced between the nomination of candidates and the election, but during the next six or seven weeks its members can do the people a great service by filling the newspapers with strong articles and pointed paragraphs, giving arguments and reasons in favor of a Constitutional Convention. All this is very much needed now, and our newspapers ought to be ablaze with these things. In addition to this the members of this profession can do most effective work, with very little expense to themselves, by making speeches to the people while in attendance upon the courts, or as they may be passing from one part of the State to another on business, and they are earnestly requested to allow no opportunities of this character to pass without speaking to the people.

The policy that will be pursued by our party in this canvass is indicated to a very large extent in the Report of the Joint Committee of the General Assembly recommending the call of the constitutional convention, in the Act providing for the call of the convention, and the recent address of the Executive Committee on the same subject.

For the purpose of the contribution to the press here indicated, it is respectfully suggested that some concert of action is important among the members of this profession in every town and city of the State in which a newspaper is published; and that without such concert of action there is not only danger that this valuable work may be neglected, but that damaging controversies and disputations may spring up among our friends.

A circular similar to this has been sent to the members of the legal profession generally throughout the State, and the committee trusts that it will be excused for respectfully calling your earnest attention to the matters set forth in this communication. Please acknowledge receipt.

By the State Executive Committee.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

THE BOURBONS.

The Philadelphia Item says that the Democratic party finds its most deadly enemies within its own ranks. According to the Item these enemies are the Bourbons who have not yet learned that there has been a war. We know something of this class here in Alabama, and they are a trifle more absurd than the "radicals" who have not learned that the war is over. These Bourbons, however, do not belong especially to either section. They exist in the North as well as the South. Wherever they are they stand in the way of progress, and they always will, until they fill their graves.

We have recently commented on the views of Senator Gordon, of Georgia. He is not a Bourbon. Besides being a gentleman and a scholar, he is a statesman, who recognizes the results of the war and understands the temper of the people here, and at the North. He knows that the people of this country want peace and reconciliation, and local self-government, but that they will never submit to any reversal of the results of the war in relation to the negro. The negro has his freedom, and the ballot. He must keep them and be protected in their exercise so long as he shall need protection. Senator Gordon, not being a Bourbon, recognizes this fact, and he says that the Democratic party should adopt, as a cardinal point of its platform in 1876, the full and frank protection of the negro in all his rights acquired under the constitutional amendments. He sees that it is necessary to put in that principle for success, and to stand by it for peace.

Of course he is right. We cannot fight over that question again. It must be considered settled. The Northern mind, as our people well know, dreads anything like re-action. It is not going to put the Democratic party in power so long as our people oppose the amendments, or until it is assured that we will not attempt to undo what has been done. But the Augusta Constitutionalist, edited by a Bourbon, and almost fresh from the perusal of the Connecticut returns, takes Senator Gordon to task. It protests against his opinions, which it regards as a sacrifice of principle to expediency. It argues that the people of the North protest against the abominations of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, that they have shown this by their votes in recent elections, and that they are ready to unite with the South to overthrow the legislation by which they have been made effective.

Now we desire to ask our readers which represents the true Democratic principle—Gen. Gordon or the Augusta Constitutionalist? Which of them enunciates the principles on which there could be a success or on which success would be worth having? And we have another case right here in our own State. Admiral Semmes has lately taken occasion to denounce the Centennial Exhibition, and to "fire the Southern heart" against it, as something that the people of the "conquered South" can have no interest in, and cannot, with self-respect, attend. Semmes is a Bourbon. With him the war is not over. He does not wish the people of this State to forget the bitterness of civil war; he does not wish the North and South to come together, and have a grand communion of National glory and greatness. The Mobile Register dissented from the views of Mr. Semmes, but with that exception not one of the papers in this State had the courage to denounce Mr. Semmes' incendiary letter. The Mobile Register and the JOURNAL are the only papers in Alabama which exposed Mr. Semmes' heresies and lawless teachings.

The Northern Bourbons, however, have less excuse than the Southern we admit. They have no personal feelings to overcome. They are simply stupid and stolid. They dwell in the past, and in the worst days of their party, when it was the slave of slavery. Their stupidity is relied upon by their opponents as the one factor in politics that will never fail. All the spelling schools have not taught them to spell negro with one "g." They are incapable of discriminating except by smell, and they refuse to accept anything as Democracy that does not smell old. They refused to vote for a Liberal Republican in New Hampshire, though he stood squarely on their platform. They were equally stupid in Connecticut when they voted for Barnum and against Hawley. They were as blind as bats in Missouri. There is nothing to be hoped of them anywhere, except by the other party.

We tell the people plainly that these Bourbons ought to be made to take back seats. If they are allowed to shape the policy of the South they will ruin us just as sure as the sun shines. They never learn anything, never forget anything, and they are incapable of the duties of government.

HENRY E. FABER has been a faithful and an honest Mayor. After five years of service he stands before us unimpeached. Why should he be exchanged for a man we have never tried, and who was not nominated because of any of the traits so absolutely demanded in a Mayor; but simply because he is a Jew? We hope our citizens will not support Mr. Moses at the expense of a faithful, competent and honest Mayor.

THE ELECTION TO-DAY.

We presume that every voter in this city has made up his mind as to whom he will cast his ballot for, in the municipal election which takes place to-day; and were it a party matter—a contest between two political parties—it would, perhaps, be useless for us to add one word to what we have already written upon the subject. But as the contest is between two respectable citizens—representing different views as to our local government—we deem it both prudent and proper, to call the attention of our people to some few facts, which perhaps, they may not have considered as we have.

The Advertiser charges that a vote cast for Henry E. Faber is a vote for negro government; that to vote for Mayor Faber is to endorse all the enormities of Radicalism—the force bill, civil rights bill, etc. In reply to these charges, we distinctly assert that Henry E. Faber opposed each, and all, of these measures and his opposition has been publicly expressed on all fitting occasions. Mr. Faber's opposition to these measures was the subject-matter of discussion in several caucusses of the extremists who claim to control the Republican voters of this city. Those leaders opposed Mayor Faber with all the vehemence of their natures, but they were taught that "Radicalism" has ceased to exist in the politics of Alabama. Had these extremists succeeded in gaining the control they so diligently sought after, we would have had three candidates instead of two; because the conservative and independent voters of the city were determined to oppose party candidates and party nominees to the last extremity. It must be remembered that the last Republican State Convention emphatically declared the opposition of the party in Alabama to civil rights and force bills. That declaration met the almost unanimous endorsement of the Republican voters throughout the State. Since the last election there has been no time when any prominent man, who had acted with the Republican party, who has attempted to hold the party up to a line of policy which threatened to stir up strife and disorder.

We are then met with the proposition that "Mayor Faber is the candidate of the Radical party." We deny the charge. Mr. Faber is not a Radical himself, nor does he represent that element in our politics. We are then asked "if Mr. Faber is not running as the candidate of the Radical party, why is it that they all support him in preference to Mr. Moses?" To this we reply that, bad as Radicalism is, it prefers an independent candidate to one who is the opposite extreme of itself. Mr. Moses is the nominee of a convention which was packed in his interest, against the expressed wish of a majority of the Democratic citizens. He was nominated not because he was the choice of a majority of the Democratic voters; but because he is a Jew, and the "ring masters" and "whip lash" keepers thought they would either get the entire support of our Hebrew fellow citizens, or divide their votes to such an extent as to insure the defeat of Mr. Faber. The opposition of Col. D. S. Troy, to the nomination of Mr. Moses—which was so pronounced in the convention—is strong evidence that many of the best citizens of the community do not heartily support Mr. Moses.

The Advertiser finding that there is no substantial objection to Mayor Faber; and that, as between the two candidates, a large majority of our best citizens prefer Mr. Faber, attempts to frighten them into support of Mr. Moses, by threatening to remove the capitol, if Moses should be defeated. If evidence was wanting to prove that Mr. Moses' friends believe he is to be beaten, such argument as this would certainly be sufficient.

Is it really contemplated that Mr. Moses' ring must have control of the city government, or they intend to use their influence towards removing the capitol? That looks like revenge. There is no reason nor argument in such a policy as that. What sensible citizen would ask the tax-payers of this State to incur an expense of probably $200,000, simply because a majority of the people of Montgomery should vote against Mr. Moses? Let us keep the capital, if we can, no matter who is elected. We have examined the papers throughout the State very closely, and we do not find any single one of them demanding that Mr. Moses shall be elected, or they will favor the removal of the capitol. If the press of Alabama reflects the views of the people of the State, we assure our citizens that the people do not demand that you vote for Mr. Moses—or suffer the removal of the capitol. That idea originated in the Advertiser office, and has not met with a response in any portion of this commonwealth. If any citizen desires to vote for Mr. Faber, he need not fear that he will lose the State-house by it. We do not believe that any reasonable citizen of Alabama would be guilty of such folly as advocating the removal of the capitol, because Mr. Faber is re-elected. If his re-election is regarded as sufficient ground for removing the capitol, why is it that this project has not been thought of before? He has been mayor for more than five years, and we have not heard of anybody's desiring to remove the capitol on that account. The Advertiser is ashamed of its silly threat already, we are sure, for it is conducted by sensible gentlemen, and they do not wish the capitol removed, so bad as that.

THE lightning-rod man and the nursery tree agent are once more abroad in the land, and the price of dogs has gone up in the rural regions accordingly.

CARD FROM MAYOR FABER.

The Advertiser of Sunday charged that Mayor Faber had told the negroes of Ward No. 4, in a meeting on Saturday night, that the Democrats were their worst enemies, and other things of the same sort. The Advertiser based its charges upon information furnished by Mr. W. W. Beasley. Mayor Faber denies that he used such language, while Beasley affirms that he did. Now, those who know Henry E. Faber certainly will not believe, after his denial, that he used the language imputed to him. Mr. Beasley is mistaken. He may have thought that Mayor Faber used such language. It is very easy for men to misunderstand language used by speakers in public meetings. We do not believe Mayor Faber used any such language, because he is not the man to deny what he does and says. He has lived in this community as long as Mr. Beasley has and is known just as well, if not better. A question of veracity on this subject amounts to nothing, because Mr. Beasley could easily mistake words in a public meeting, where excitement generally prevails. He expected to hear something of that sort, no doubt. Perhaps he went to the meeting for the purpose of hearing such language, and was determined to repeat it if he could construe Mayor Faber's speech into such shape. The following card is sufficient. Not a dozen fair minded citizens after reading this card, will believe that Mayor Faber used the incendiary language attributed to him:

A CARD.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., May 3.

In yesterday morning's issue of the Advertiser you state that I made a speech in Ward No. 4, in which I told the negroes that the Democrats were their worst enemies, and their liberties depended on securing a Republican administration, etc., etc. I most positively and emphatically deny having made any such remarks. I never entertained or expressed views of this kind and need only refer the people of this city to my past course, and the answer I gave to various correspondents of prominent newspapers of the North, on every occasion, both since and before the war. Rumors are also put in circulation of others making speeches, violent in spirit or in expressions. I simply desire to say that I am unaware of any, and cannot possibly be held responsible for the acts of others in which I have never concurred.

I have sought to coerce nobody, to cajole nobody; nor have I myself, nor by my friends or agent, in any manner sought to purchase certificates of registration, or by any means to interfere with the utmost freedom of individual choice.

During and since the Greeley contest for the Presidency, my uniform course has been in accord with the principles of Liberal Republicanism, as defined and advocated by Mr. Greeley during all his long life, principles which, if faithfully carried out, will secure the equal, civil and political rights of all citizens, the restoration of peace and prosperity to our common country, and the overthrow of that political intolerance, hate and proscription which practically denies to the individual citizen that personal liberty and freedom of choice between candidates, essential to the value of the ballot, and virtually tends to render the late constitutional amendments a dead letter, and to reopen the agitating questions which should be deemed as finally settled by those amendments.

In the language of the gallant and patriotic Henry Clay: "I had rather be right than to be elected to any office."

My appeal is to the reason and justice of the people, to their inborn hatred of intolerance and proscription, to their love of personal independence and liberty, to their ability and capacity in the exercise of their inalienable rights to choose for themselves their own public servants in defiance of any and all attempts to thwart or control their own free will, their own choice.

Respectfully,

HENRY E. FABER.

LETTER FROM THE FLATS.

Gov. Earthquake on the New Revenue Law—New Hope Colored Church Moved in an Unexpected Manner.

BOURBON FLATS, ALA., April 29, '75.

There was great rejoicing here on receipt of the Attorney-General's opinion modifying his former views on the License question; and we were more than pleased to see that he had followed the advice contained in our resolutions and decided that the law did not mean what it said; and that it was doubtful whether it ment what it did mean; and that whenever there was any disagreement as to what a law ment the doubt must be given in favor of the liquor dealers (they being the majority) which is good sound Democratic doctrine. I know that law was a joke from the start for no Democrat in his right mind would ever think of breaking up the party by taxing necessaries of life like liquor unless he expected another war. We would have liked the Attorney General go a little further and decide that grand juries must take no notice of this unconstitutional statute, but we can manage that by putting good sound liquor men on the jury—which point should be seen to by all who are interested in the success of the party. The committee appointed to notify the Deacons and Elders of Mount Hope nigger church waited on them immediately and notified them that as the church had been declared a nuisance by the citizens of Bourbon Flats they must move it within the 36 hours allowed by the meeting: To this polite request the nigger officers replied that the citizens of Bourbon Flats had no right to pass such resolutions, that the congregation had bought the ground and built the church with their own money; that they had as good a right to hold church as our meeting had to hold whisky—and finally that they stood on their rights as citizens of Alabama and refused to act in the matter. This answer of the niggers to our polite and reasonable request (in which we also stated that our liquor would be shut off) greatly exasperated the people, as it clearly showed a disposition among the leading niggers to set their judgment against intelligent white peoples', and would no doubt have caused trouble if the church had not got on fire and burned down that night. Learning that the niggers had written letters containing insinuations that it was set on fire by the White League and were trying to slander our peaceful and quiet community, and manufacture political sentiment against us in the North, I immediately addressed the following communication to the Attorney-General at Washington, and also to the independent press of the North, which was signed by all of the intelligence, virtue and wealth of the flats, including the grocery keepers, viz:

"BOURBON FLATS, ALA, April 26.

"To George H. Williams, Attorney General, Washington, D. C.:

"SIR—The undersigned, who comprise a great majority of the wealth, intelligence and virtue of said community being informed that an effort has been made to lay the blame for the burning of New Hope nigger church, near this city, onto the White League, take this occasion of informing you that there is no organization existing in this community known as the White League, and never has been; that from our knowledge of the said organization, it is purely charitable in its purpose, and intended to provide for the niggers, and see that they don't cheat the white people in business transactions, and are not fooled by the scalawags and carpet baggers out of their right to vote in the elections; that we are clearly convinced that said church was set on fire by the Deacons and Elders of the same who are all members of the Radical party, and in league with the leaders, for the purpose of influencing the minds of the Northern people against us; that two of the Deacons of said church have already been arrested and are now in jail waiting trial for burning the church, and the balance have left the county; that the people of this city are favorable to nigger churches and always encourage their establishment; and in this case actually gave them the half acre of land on which the church stood for the puttiful sum of $700, and would do so again.

Finally we repudiate with scorn and indignation the charge that the White League had anything to do with the destruction of the church, and reiterate that we are, and always have been, in favor of the education and elevation of the nigger, and the establishment of churches; that we are the best friends that the nigger has got, and were it not for the Radical party there would never have been any trouble in the South about the nigger, and he would be to-day getting along comfortably with the whites."

This document was duly signed and forwarded, and, with the aid of the independent press of the North, will show the people that they are the friends of the nigger, and have given up the idea of breaking up the government and only want to get charge of it and run it our way.

That idea of arresting the Deacons and Elders for burning the church originated with me, and I flatter myself was not bad for a man that never had a college education.

Yours in the cause,

JNO. RANDOLPH EARTHQUAKE,
of Bourbon Flats.

BILLIE HUGHES has made a noble clerk. He is as honest "as the days are long." Why should he be defeated and a man installed who has had no experience in this most important office? Mr. Smith is a nice gentleman, a worthy citizen, and an agreeable friend. Billy Hughes is all of these, and has the experience necessary for this office. Vote for him.

STRANGERS.—The city is full of strangers who are mostly attending the United States District Court.

WHEN bustles come into fashion again the Advertiser will resume its former size.

THE hard-fisted and horny-handed mechanics are required to vote for a kid-gloved and silk-stockinged aristocrat as a working man's candidate. Will they do it?

THE whip-lash party complain that the city is in debt, which is caused by their own refusal to pay their taxes. If they paid, the city would be out of debt.

AT every meeting of the city council upon the equalization of the assessments of the city real property, Moses consumed half the time for reductions of those whom he represented as agent.

IF Moses is to build up the city credit, it is strange he should have lent his influence in favor of injunctions which stopped the collection of taxes, and thereby adds interest upon top of interest.

AN interesting protracted meeting is now in progress at the Methodist Protestant church in this city. We are much pleased to lean that great interest is being manifested by those who attend. Let the good work be kept up.

THE Confederate soldiers have been called upon to come forward to the rescue of Moses. Where was Moses during the late unpleasantness? At home, represented by a substitute, providing the latter didn't run away. But where is his glory? Echo answers, where?

MAYOR FABER is charged by the Advertiser, after a term of office of four years, with but one offense to-wit: The appointment of Republican registrars when the law as lobbied through the legislature by Moses absolutely said that the same should be constituted by one of each party.

ONE of the ablest and noblest speeches ever heard in this city was made at the courthouse, last night, by Judge Rice. We endeavored to get a synopsis of it in this morning's JOURNAL, but our dispatches were so late we were forced to defer it until another issue.

THE Advertiser seems to think that the battle of Peacock tract was a farce. If the reporter had been stepping about while those bullets were piercing the air, he would have a heavier opinion of the fight than he now seems to have.

MOSES manipulated the legislation that disfranchised so many of the citizens of Montgomery, to make himself mayor, knowing that he controlled the homes of hundreds of humble citizens, as agent of the property of other citizens, and made many change their residences within the time he meant to make necessary for voting.

THE Democratic party as represented by Moses, Casey, McVey & Co., have been purchasing certificates of registration with a view to control the election which they falsely pretend to want to be fair and untrammeled. Are the honest citizens of Montgomery ready to be governed by such ways and means.

FOR TEXAS.—Within the past year several young men of Montgomery, who could see no future here for themselves, sought the Lone Star State in the hope of bettering their fortunes. Some were successful and remained, while others were unfortunate and returned. To-day another one of our young men will bid farewell to the scenes of the capitol city and seek for fame and fortune among the prairies of the Lone Star State. We refer to Mr. Simon of the wholesale liquor house of H. Freiberg & Co. Mr. Simon is a young man of energy and business tact, and could not stand the slow process of making himself in this city. He is a young gentleman of sober and steady habits, and during his stay here made many warm friends in the business community. His departure will be regretted by all his friends, though each one will wish him a safe journey to, and successful career in, the wilds of Texas. May fortune follow him wherever he goes is our wish.

THE ELECTION.

"Let us have Peace"—Let the City's Good Name be Respected by all Parties.

To-day Montgomery has a municipal election. It has been scarcely six months since the bitter and exciting State election of last fall, but we are proud to observe a disposition among our people to kick those wild shriekers of party, who at every election attempt to array the different races in hostility to each other. We are proud to state that the "party rings" are broken, and we no longer see the white people on one side and the colored people arrayed in solid opposition. The line has been broken which held the races apart, and now we see them working together as they should have done long ago. Mr. Moses has colored clubs, we believe, in each ward of the city, and there is no doubt he would have polled a very large black vote, had he not encouraged his friends to deprive ignorant and dependent negroes of their certificates of registration. This was an act so unbecoming a fair and just man, so far from being either honorable or respectable that not a dozen negro voters will now support Mr. Moses. His conduct in this respect not only drove from his support those colored voters, but there are hundreds of fair and honorable white men in this city who cannot and will not indorse so disgraceful an act. They do not indorse the act of Mr. Moses in taking advantage of the poor and needy to deprive them of their rights as men, for the extremists may howl as they may, those people have the right to vote and there are hundreds of christian gentlemen in Montgomery who will not support the bribe taker or the bribe giver. Mayor Faber has not resorted to any questionable acts to secure his re-election. He has not sent to Opelika and elsewhere to employ roughs to come here and overawe our citizens and force them either to vote against their will or not vote at all. We do not believe the good people of this city approve of the policy of bringing a gang of rowdies and roughs here to create disturbances and put the lives and property of our citizens in jeopardy. Yet certain men were yesterday boasting that "Mr. Faber would be taught a lesson to-day, he would not soon forget." It was asserted that certain reckless characters in Opelika had been offered large sums of money to come here, and ride roughshod over those who do not desire to vote for Mr. Moses.

In view of this fact, the friends and supporters of Mayor Faber, black and white, are conjured to obey the laws, respect the peace and the good order of the city, to give no one offense, to deposit their ballots and return to their homes and their usual avocations. If any disturbances occur, see to it that the friends of Mr. Moses are alone responsible for them. Let the election, so far as the friends of Mayor Faber is concerned, be fair and peaceable, and we believe that a large majority of the voters of this city will be found on Wednesday morning, to have cast their votes for Henry E. Faber.

REAL estate, when Mayor Faber took charge of the city government was worth twice as much as it is to-day. Who wants any better reason for desiring a change of administration? It deserves to rank as a political axiom that real property never declines in value in any well governed city or State. The shrinkage of such values is a sure indication of bad government. It is a political barometer which in the eye of the observer never fails to point out an approaching storm. The people, who instinctively recognize the source of their misfortunes, always apply the remedy of a change of administration.—Advertiser, May 3.

Since Mayor Faber took charge of the city government the great panic of 1873 has wrecked thousands of men in every section of the country. Millions of capital has been ever since idle. In addition to that great wreck, the city has been scourged with the yellow fever plague. If Mayor Faber is responsible for the depreciation of property, why not hold him responsible for the panic and the yellow fever? The panic certainly caused property to depreciate everywhere. The yellow fever also caused property in this city to depreciate. If he is responsible for the depreciation, he certainly must be responsible for the cause of the depreciation. The Advertiser will not be just to Mayor Faber. Our neighbor knows perfectly well that Mayor Faber is no more responsible for the financial condition of the city than it is. He wields no power which can affect the present depressed condition of things. The New York Tribune complains that property is depreciating in that city, and that the number of new buildings erected in 1875 is less by many thousands than in 1874. The Pittsburgh Commercial also complains of a like depression in that city. Montgomery is no worse nor better in this respect than other cities of the country.

But suppose the Advertiser puts it on that ground anyway, have we not something to boast of? The new market-house, city buildings, and water works, have they not all been built under Mayor Faber's administration? The Advertiser must admit that fact. And so far as the taxes are concerned, he had nothing to do with that $500,000 subscribed to the S. & N. A. R. R. If the Advertiser will only be fair, and do its opponents justice, it will succeed much sooner. Only a few weeks since, in giving advice to its readers, it used the following words: "Never speak ill of your opponents—rather praise them."

TIRED OF EARTH.

Heavy, heavy, indeed, must be the sorrow which impels its victim to seek repose in suicide. Yet we read almost daily of unfortunate men and women who bowed under misfortune, yield up their lives in seeking to throw off the galling chains of sorrow. It becomes our painful duty this morning to record a case of suicide which occurred in our peaceful city yesterday morning. A stranger among us, who sought our community with his business, fails to receive enough patronage to pay his expenses, and finding no consolation in hopes of the future, takes his life as a sacrifice to his misfortunes. Mr. Moir, one of the proprietors of the travelling show now exhibiting in this city, was once a man of affluence and prominence in the city of Chicago. The great fire which swept so many millions of dollars out in a breath destroyed his all. He did not sit still and think of what had been; but being a man of energy and enterprise, he began business as a traveling showman. Through all the varying vicissitudes of business since the great fire, he kept up a stout heart, and never despaired. His stricken wife shared all his joys and sorrows alike, and urged him to keep on in his work. On Sunday last Mr. Moir became depressed, and greatly discouraged—after a week's stay here he had lost every day more than he was able to bear. Sunday was a bright, beautiful, cheerful day. But the genial sunlight and cool breezes which brought so much joy and happiness to the thousands of men and women within our gates, brought nothing but sadness and sorrow to poor Moir. In the evening he told some of his associates that he felt bad and was going to take some morphine. No one dreamed that he would commit the fatal act, which sent his soul into eternity. During the early morning of yesterday, his wife, on waking, discovered that her husband was cold; she examined him and found he was not breathing. Calling for some of their friends in rooms near by, they answered her call, and upon entering the room found that Mr. Moir was indeed dead. The friends sent for coroner Marshall who held an inquest over the body of the deceased and rendered a verdict that he came to his death from an overdose of morphine (40 grains) administered by his own hand.

That is always the simple tale, for juries cannot travel back over the numberless days of trials, of sorrows, despondency and heart rending grief. Poor man, he preferred the unknown world—the silent still fields of eternity—rather than this life of ours, which so many make such sad failures. The Knights of Pythias, of which Mr. Moir was a prominent member, took charge of the body and they perform the last sad rites over the grave of the "stranger who died within our gates."

PERSONAL.—Ex-Governor Smith, of Randolph county, is in the city attending the U. S. Court.

D. B. Booth and W. B. Boone, Esqs., of Autauga county, were in the city yesterday.

Henry C. Bingham, Esq., of Talladega, arrived in the city yesterday.

SPELLIN BEE.—There wil bee a spellin match at the citty Haul, one day this weak. The ladis of this citty is gittin this Bee up, and tha wil be glad too have awl the spellists about town too attend the match. Awl the lovers of Webster, Worcester and Kirkham air by this notis respecfuly invited too polish up thare memmeries and bee on han. Uv coarse a small amount uv the "scads" wil bee expeckted bi the gitters up uv the bee. Cum one, com awl, and take a han in the spellin match. Dew notis of the time and plais wil bee given in these columns.

A CONUNDRUM.—The Advertiser has been publishing conundrums recently, and no doubt thought it was furnishing its readers something to work about. But we propound the following to the Advertiser: Will our neighbor inform us whether the hybernal frigidity of the antipodes passing in an orthagonal line through the homogeneous solidity of the centre, might warm the superficial convexity of our heels by a soft antiperiostasis?

RAIN.—Notwithstanding the cold weather of the past month, "old Probs" was not satisfied to give us a few days of pleasant weather, but he must send us a rain yesterday. The farmers about the city were rejoicing that they were to have suitable weather for prefecting their crops, but just as they began to think all was lovely, here comes "old Probs" with a shower. Let the United States District court indict the old rascal for malicious mischief.

THE Advertiser says that 3365 years ago, a people who had been in bondage in Africa, were led forth by MOSES into into the light of a glorious liberty. Upon this it calls for a supreme effort to-day in behalf of its candidate for mayor, M. L. Moses, in order that history may repeat itself. Now, why don't the Advertiser state the further biblical fact that Moses of old was not permitted to enter the promised land? It seems almost impossible for our neighbor to do the fair thing by its opponents, in the face of the following lines which it printed only a few days ago: "Never speak ill of your opponents, rather praise them."

DARK WORK.

That Certificate Business—Opelika Buys up Our Certificates—A Questionable Business.

A gentleman who came down from Opelika yesterday to attend the United States District Court, which convened yesterday, reports that he had a conversation with certain persons in Opelika relative to the municipal election which takes place here to-day. In the course of the conversation the Opelika individuals boasted that they had a large number of certificates belonging to voters here, which had been bought at prices ranging from two to five dollars. They also stated that certain Opelika roughs had been offered fifty dollars each to come here and assist Mr. Moses in forcing his election upon our citizens. Our informant is a prominent lawyer, who is at present in the city, and ready to substantiate this statement. It seems from this that Mr. Moses would be willing to involve our people in bloodshed, or even murder and riot, to secure his election. Mayor Faber would scorn to do either.

CERTIFICATES.

More Unfortunate Money Borrowers.

Yesterday the following named persons who had borrowed $2 each, on their registration certificates, from Mr. Thomas Casey, made demands for the same, tendering each the amount they had received:

Arthur Williams, of Ward No. 4, who was carried to Mr. Casey's store by Toliver Page.

John Wilson, of Ward No. 5, who was carried to Mr. Casey's store by Toliver Page.

In each instance Mr. Casey refused to deliver up the certificates, although the amount he loaned on them was tendered him by each applicant. If Mr. Casey can elect Mr. Moses by such conduct as this, he is welcome to all the glory he imagines awaits him.

MOSES is to be the economist of modern times, yet the minutes of the city council go to show that every vote cast by him was for extravagance.

PATTON TEMPLE No. 2.—On Sunday, April 25th, a meeting of the Patton Juvenile Temple No. 2, was held, at which the following officers were elected for this year:

W. C. T.—E. V. L. Finch; W. V. T.—Miss Clara Sweat; W. C.—Morgan Sweat; W. R. S.—F. Eustace; W. T.—J. R. Barr; W. F. S.—W. Glass; W. M.—H. Dimond; W. G.—Miss Carrie Waugh; W. S.—W. H. Bowman; R. H. S.—Miss Lottie Hull; L. H. S.—Miss Neady Butler.

At a meeting of the Temple Sunday afternoon last, the above officers were installed with becoming ceremonies.

WORKINGMEN!—Although the workingmen's club of this city did all in their power to elect Gov. Houston, not one of their number was on the committee of the inauguration ball, nor has any member been honored by appointment or otherwise, although several have sought places. The same club is now working for Mr. Moses, yet we do not see that any of them are admitted to the presence of the "big guns." Workingmen, you are being badly deceived, and the day will come when you will regret that you tied yourselves to any political party as hewers of wood and drawers of water for pace hunting politicians. Mark our prediction, workingmen of Montgomery.

For all Female Complaints

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&wlw

WASHINGTON.

The Grand Jury and the New York Sun—Judge Blatchford's Decision Declared Wrong—Ladies to Erect a Monument at the Centennial—Slatter taken to Albany—Internal Revenue Receipts—Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The fact that the grand jury of this District has had under consideration the charges of libel against Dana of the New York Sun, brought by ex-Gov. Shepherd, in conjunction with other parties, gives rise to the belief that a determined effort is to be made to bring Dana here to stand trial. Chief Justice Coster and many able lawyers hold that Judge Blatchford's decision cannot be sustained, and the revised statutes are cited to prove that the Supreme Court has the right as a Circuit Court of the U. S. to issue subpœnas to, and compel the attendance of, persons residing in other districts.

An executive committee of ladies, including wives of cabinet officers, has been organized to aid in erecting a monument to Independence at Philadelphia in connection with the centennial.

Slatter, who was recently sentenced to four years in Albany penitentiary for killing Hussey two years ago, has been taken to Albany, the President having refused executive clemency.

Internal revenue receipts $362,577. Receipts for April $7,022,321. Increase over last year $2,536,961.

The cabinet was in session. All members present but Delano and Jewell. No business of importance.

The Rope Halter—Expiating the Crimes of Murder and Rape—Great Crowds as Witnesses, Who are Disappointed—Hung in the Jail Yard.

GALVESTON, May 3.—Two negroes were hung at Brenham, Peter Cooper and Griffith Williams, the former for murder and the latter for rape. Thousands of people came to see them hanged, but they were disappointed, as the hanging took place in the jail yard.

LOUISIANA.

An Awful Crime—A White Lady Ravished by a Black Devil—He Confesses the Crime and is Lynched—Dry Goods Store Burned—Accidental Shooting—Auditor Clinton Resigns.

NEW ORLEANS, May 3.—On Bayou Mellett, on Saturday, a negro named Tayo, ravished the person of Mrs. George Lautie, and then chopped her head from her body. He had knocked her senseless to the earth before gratifying his hellish passion. He cut her almost in pieces. When her body was found her infant was trying to suckle the mutilated breast. Tayo was arrested, confessed his crime and was lynched by the people, both white and black engaging in it—the latter principally.

Mrs. Brown, on Montague street, while exhibiting a pistol to her friend, Mrs. Diermiddy, accidentally shot her, causing a fatal wound.

It is rumored that Auditor Clinton has resigned, and F. N. Scholtz, chief clerk, succeeds him.

The Dare-devils—The James' and Youngers'—They make Audacious Proposals.

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—A special to the Globe from Weir City states, that the James and Younger boys' crowd, five in number, spent last Tuesday at that place. It is understood they went there hunting Perkins, who was killed a few days ago. They spent the day trying to get up a horse race, offering to put their horses against any in the place, blowed a good deal about card-playing, wanted a game at $10 ante, wanted to play anybody, and concluded to go into a closed room. They sold a $200 mule for $125, made several other offers to sell horses, and left at night for the Spring River county. One of the Youngers is said to have lived in Weir City all winter, and is now living near Joplin.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected. Is it because you cannot afford a May Tomb? If so, P. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable as Time and Exposure only adds to its hardness and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of elevating the ultimate of all. We don't propose to paint a flaming circular teeming with exaggerations, but simply our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send your orders or call on agent. For further particulars, address G. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DEBBLE & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

CONSUMPTION CURED!

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines,
New Albany, Ind. April 7, 1874.

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not left on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

Independent Republican in principle, defending the Republican party when right and endeavoring to correct when wrong.

For the largely increased patronage and favor extended us during the past year we feel it incumbent upon us to return to our

Friends and Patrons

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in higher low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that have cut their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increasing circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

We will furnish the daily at $5 00 per annum, $4 00 six months, $2 50 three months—invariably in advance; or clubs may be made up from as many different postoffices as there are names; these may be sent in as obtained accompanied by the money, and when the club is completed, the extra copy will be forwarded to any address named.

The attention of advertisers is called to the

State Journal

As a medium for judicious advertising. The large and rapidly increasing circulation in every county of the State, renders it a desirable medium for the merchant, professional man, and in fact all classes who desire to bring to the notice of the people in particular localities or the State at large their business or desires.

Trusting for a continuance of your favors for 1875, Respectfully.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—A strike is in progress among the nail feeders at Wheeling, W. Va,

—A serious break is reported to have occurred in the Minneapolis tunnel.

—The Rochester Theological students are to have a "spell" with the University boys in a few days.

—Two men named Wm. Prescott and Willis Spencer were drowned at Clinton, Maine, on Saturday.

—It is ascertained that the peach buds in Delaware received very little injury from the recent cold snap.

—Several persons are suppose to have been drowned by the upsetting of two oyster boats in a gale at Norfolk, Va.

—John G. Lusser, a Cincinnatian, was found dead in his room yesterday morning, having been robbed and murdered.

—A fire occurred in the Herald office at Rutland, Vt., yesterday, and the building and contents were damaged several thousand dollars.

—Johnson, the Cleveland murderer, who was to have been hanged on the 27th inst., has had his sentence commuted by Gov. Allen to imprisonment for life.

—A Mr. Conway is to lecture in Chicago on "The Devil." The people of that city will turn out in large numbers to hear what may be said about their old friend.

—The body of Patrick Moran, who mysteriously disappeared nearly a month ago, has been found near Poughkeepsie under circumstances which indicate foul play.

—A woman named Fitzgerald, in Paterson, N. J., was fatally burned Saturday night by accidentally upsetting a kerosene lamp while half distracted with toothache.

—Some of the Adventists who expected to be "called home" last Monday and were not, are greatly disappointed, because they will be obliged to resume work for a living.

—An unusual flood is reported at Omaha, Neb., the railroad depots being surrounded with water and the tracks covered with water on both sides of the river as far as the eye can reach, and the water was still rising at last accounts.

—A serious fire occurred at the Union League Club House, in New York, yesterday morning. The main portion of the interior was badly damaged, as was much of the valuable furniture of the Club Most of the fine paintings and statu s were saved, though the relics were a l dest oyed. The loss will reach $7,500 or $8,000, covered by insurance.

—The Philadelphia Press says all hopes of the recovery of little Charley Ross have now been almost abandoned. It is reported that Westervelt, Mosher's brother-in-law, is now locked up in Moyamensing Prison awaiting trial on the charge of being concerned in and having a guilty knowledge of the abduction of the boy. The charge is based on certain remarks that accidentally fell from Westervelt's lips a short time ago in New York.

—The colossal statue of William H. Seward for the Central Park in New York, has been finished by Randolph Rogers at Rome, and has been sent to be cast at the Munich foundry, where it will be ready for delivery in August. The statesman is represented as seated in an armchair, holding in one hand on open scroll, in the other a pen, while beneath the chair are several great volumes. The likeness is said to be excellent.

—Mexican outrages on the Texas frontier still continue. Dr. Lovell, a well-known citizen, was murdered on the 19th instant, being shot six times, and the post-office of the place was robbed at the same time. Large bands of Mexicans, intent upon mischief, are reported to be moving into Texas, cutting telegraphs to prevent the news of their approach being spread. A fight occurred between one of these parties and fifteen Americans last week, and the latter were outnumbered and forced to retreat. The greatest indignation is felt throughout Texas.

—By a provisional agreement dated at Madrid on February 27, and formally ratified by Mr. Cushing and the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Spain upon March 11, 1875, after the presentation by the former of his credentials, the Government of Spain agreed to pay $8,000,000 (or 400,000 pesetas) on account of the Virginius, in three periods of two months each; $30,000 being the amount of two instalments to be first paid. Some days ago official information was received that the Spanish Government was ready to anticipate the payments and immediately pay $45,000, no amount whatever being then due under the convention. Official information has also been received that 225,000 pesetas—being $45,000—was received by Mr. Cushing and transmitted.

BEAUTY OF JEWESSES.

It is related that Chateaubriand, on returning from his eastern travels, was asked if he could assign a reason why the women of the Jewish race were so much handsomer than the men, when he gave the following:

"Jewesses" he said, "have escaped the curse which alighted upon their husbands, fathers and sons. Not a Jewess was to be seen among the crowd of priests and rabble who insulted and scourged the Son of God, crowned Him with thorns, and subjected Him to infamy and the agony of the cross. The women of Judea believed in the Savior, and assisted and soothed him under affliction. A woman of Bethany poured on His head precious ointment, which she kept in an alabasta vase. The sinner annointed his feet with perfumed oil, and wiped them with her hair. Christ on His part, extended mercy to the Jewesses. He raised from the dead the son of the widow of Nain, and Marthas brother Lazarus. He cured Simon's mother-in-law and the woman who touched His garment. To the Samaritan woman he was a spirit of living water, and a compassionate judge to the woman of adultery. The daughters of Jerusalem wept over him: the holy women accompanied Him to Cavalry—brought His balm and spices—weeping, saw him at the sepulchre. 'Woman! why weepest thou?' His first appearance after the Resurrection to Mary Magdelen. He said to her, "Mary! At the sound of His voice Mary Magdelen's eyes were opened, and she answered. 'Master!' The reflection of some beautiful ray must have rested on the brow of Jewesses."

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1875.

THE RESULT YESTERDAY.

The result of the election yesterday did not surprise many people in this city. The defeated candidates are perhaps less surprised than the successful ones. Mr. Moses received more than one half of the entire colored vote, a fact which will be received as an omen of future good to all classes of our people. The cry can no longer be made that the colored voters stand solidly against the white voters. We are proud that this is true. The lines of party have been shattered, and henceforth the elections in Alabama will not arouse the prejudices of race and color, and excite the animosities of either the white or black citizens on that line.

We acknowledge that the candidates we favored have been defeated. We regret this in a personal sense, because they are accomplished gentlemen and personal friends. The gentlemen elected will, we trust, discharge the duties of their positions with the same credit to themselves as those over whom they have triumphed. They have promised our citizens to advance the prices of their real estate, make business better and save us the Statehouse. We shall expect them to do all of these desirable things, and we can safely promise that they shall have all the assistance in promoting them that we can tender.

As the election is over, let us all turn our attention to business affairs; let the business men advertise their goods and endeavor to extend their custom in every section of the country. Our columns are open to them all, and our terms are very reasonable. Let the good work of regeneration commence at once.

THE DEVASTATION OF CUBA.

The island of Cuba seems destined to universal desolation. Its most fertile portions, from which its best productions have hitherto been derived, are now scenes of guerilla warfare of the most barbarous kind. Houses and buildings of all kinds are burned, plantations and estates are laid waste, and the inhabitants, unless they escape by flight, are ruthlessly murdered. The estates which have been thus laid waste within the past two months are said to be valued at $25,000,000. The distress and terror among the country people are very widespread, and are becoming profoundly felt in the cities. The suffering even in Havana is very great on account of the destruction of the resources on which its business has depended.

It is idle to call this wanton waste of life and property war, or insurrection, or any other name that can be taken from the vocabulary of civilized men. It is simply barbarism and murder, as unjustifiable and atrocious as the barbarities of our savage Indians on the plains, whose proceedings they very much resemble. The people who perpetrate these are a disgrace to civilization. The idea is preposterous that such people can ever win anything that will deserve to be called an independent national existence. They are simply destroying society, and annihilating all that civilization has ever created in the island. They are proving themselves to be wholly unworthy of the political freedom whose name they have invoked to sanction their cause. No well wisher of the human race can desire the success of such a people, whatever may be his feelings towards Spain. The prospect now seems to be that Cuba, which has been called the "Pearl of the Antilles," and the "Garden of the World," will be converted into a barren and unpeopled waste. Spain does not appear to be able to secure ttanquillity in the island, and the merciless guerillas are likely to accomplish nothing but a wholesale destruction both of property and life. There is at the present time no spot in the whole world which presents a spectacle so revolting. The only salvation for the island would seem to consist in rescuing it from these warring, butchering Spaniards, and placing it in the hands of those who will cultivate, rather than devastate, its fertile fields. The acquisition of it by the United States, undesirable as it is in itself, may yet become a necessity of humanity and civilization.

SALE OF THE ALABAMA AND CHATTANOOGA RAILROAD.

We learn from the Mobile Register of Monday evening, that the Alabama and Chattanooga railroad was sold on that day to the first mortgage bondholders for the sum of one million, two hundred thousand dollars ($1,200,000) over and above receiver's certificates and other court indebtedness. If this sale will relieve the State of the enormous burdens that road has heaped upon it, we shall rejoice with exceeding great joy. Ever since Mr. Lindsay's fatal seizure of the road it has been hanging on the State of Alabama like a hideous nightmare—all the time digging deeper and deeper into the public treasury. The people of Alabama will have cause to rejoice also if they are relieved of the interest heretofore made good by the State. The Register is silent as to the general terms and conditions of the sale, yet we can only hope for the best.

A PRACTICAL VIEW OF IT.

The Boston Journal thinks that those who really have any fears occasioned by the so-called third term talk, must feel like John Van Buren when he was asked by an old rural admirer if he thought Gen. Cass would be elected President. "Yes," said he, with an added epithet not worth while to quote; "yes, but where the votes are coming from is more than I can tell."

Somebody has got to do some pretty effective voting before there can be any practical life in the third term notion. The general theory on the part of those who profess to have given the subject the least attention is, that this voting will or can be done by the Southern delegates in the Republican National Convention. As we are a little interested in this business, let us examine the idea a moment. That convention, we suppose, will be based upon the representation of the States in the two houses of Congress, and this—allowing for the admission of Colorado as a State in the meantime—would give a total of 369 delegates, of which a majority would be 185. All the Southern States would be represented as follows:

Alabama	10	Missouri	15
Arkansas	6	North Carolina	10
Delaware	3	South Carolina	7
Florida	4	Tennessee	12
Georgia	11	Texas	8
Kentucky	12	Virginia	11
Louisiana	8	West Virginia	5
Maryland	8
Mississippi	8	Total	138

If, therefore, every possible Southern delegate to the convention should turn up a third termer they would be in a minority of 47. Can they obtain that reinforcement from the North? Not a man of it, if the constituencies at the time of choosing the delegates had the least idea that the question was likely to come up before the convention in any shape. There is absolutely nothing—not the question of turning the Union into a monarchy, or of making the Presidency a life office, or anything else—upon which the Republicans of the North (as we believe they are) are more unanimous and decided. And yet they are the men who are to choose the next Republican President if one is to be chosen—in the campaign of 1876. Allowing, then, that the Southern Republicans, as a rule were favorable to a third term, would it be any satisfaction to them to force, if they could, such action upon the convention as would instantly blast all their prospects? A nomination is not to be made as a sufficient glory in itself—it is designed for success at the polls; and the men of the South, of both parties, are altogether too shrewd and practical to forget where the decisive voting forces of this country are located. Besides, what evidence is there that third termism has taken any more serious hold here than at the North? None whatever! It really is hardly worth while to discuss this matter, but since it has been forced upon the notice of the country, and the President tacitly turns it over to the Republican masses, it is well enough to take one practical look at it, in order to see its utter triviality and emptiness. It is time to consider the questions which are really before us, and which are of real importance.

THE NEW ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The appointment of Judge Edwards Pierrepont as Attorney-General will be entirely satisfactory to the country. It secures an able law officer, strengthens the cabinet and gives improved tone to the Administration. In character and fitness it fills the bill and answers the popular ideal for so eminent a place.

Judge Pierrepont is an honest and scholarly gentleman of the highest personal repute and of thorough legal training. He ranks among the leading lawyers of the leading city in the country, and enters upon his new position with complete intellectual equipment for all its requirements. He will represent the government with credit wherever he appears, and his counsels in the cabinet will be prudent and well-considered. Among his other merits, it is satisfactory to note that he is conspicuously sound on the currency question, and that his influence will be on the right side of that issue wherever it presents itself. Besides his high legal attainments, he has scholarly tastes and training beyond that of the majority even of the ablest members of his profession, and he made one of the most notable of all the commencement addresses of last year, the other being by Gov. Dix. We believe he will win honor for himself and reflect credit upon the government.

His appointment gives two cabinet officers to New York. But Massachusetts had two for many months, and the President has a very sensible way of disregarding questions of locality in such cases as this where they properly have no concern. If the designation of a second member from New York were any indication that Secretary Fish might retire, it would be received with a different feeling. But we have good reason for saying that it does not point at all in that direction. The country cannot spare the Secretary of State who has rendered it such noble service, and we may all be gratified at the assurance that in gaining Pierrepont we do not lose Fish.

THE confidential circular of Capt. Bragg, which we published yesterday, deserves comment at our hands, but we are not in the humor to notice it now. At another time we propose to examine it, and expose it as it deserves.

A RADICAL KUKLUX AT LARGE.

One of the Republican Congressional leaders, prominent for years in the howl of Kuklux outrages in the South, appeared to-day (Sunday) on Newspaper Row, in a violent and excited condition, and inquired of three or four correspondents for Col. Don Piatt, with whom he intimated he had an account to settle. The ex-Congressman was armed with a navy revolver, which he cocked and flourished extensively, threatening to call to an account any newspaper correspondent who should hereafter assail him. He was so drunk that he was liable to shoot any one, friend or foe; but whether drunk or sober, armed or not, his Radical principles and affiliations with the Administration are a complete protection so far as the vile partisan police and judiciary of this District are concerned. If he were a Democrat or Southerner they would pounce upon him quick enough, hustle him into the police court, and put him through, while the Republican press all over the country would gloat over this exhibition of Kukluxism on the Sabbath.—Advertiser yesterday.

It would be folly to condemn such conduct as is above described. It happens, however, that every contemptible politician in the country imagines that glory only awaits him in assaulting or murdering a newspaper editor. We should like to have the name of the individual above referred to. Will not the Advertiser have the magnanimity to enlighten us on that point. A statement of that kind without the name is shorn of all its interest. Every reader of the JOURNAL would be glad to know who it is that goes about Newspaper Row with drawn pistol threatening to demolish the editors of that locality. We appeal to the Advertiser to give us the name of the drunken fellow, merely to gratify public curiosity.

THE Selma Times apprehends a split in its party in the municipal election soon to take place in that city. Our contemporary need not be so exercised about it. Let the parties split. It would be a blessed thing if they were to quarrel to such an extent as to insure their eternal destruction. They have well nigh ruined us with their schemes and their prejudices. If Alabama could only throw off the shackles of partyism our peace and prosperity would be assured. Do not fret therefore, neighbor Times. Let the parties split if they will.

THE Camden News, referring to the proposition of the friends of a convention to amend the exemption laws, and noticing our endorsements of the proposition, is moved to ask:

What do the planters say? Are they willing to give up property upon which they are absolutely dependant to educate their children, and to keep them and their wives from want when that property was not in any way considered as a part of the security upon which their credit was based? Repeal the exemption laws and in less than one year Liverpool, London, Boston and New York city would own three-fourths of all the land in the cotton belt in the State of Alabama.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 23, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with people, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of eliciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. THE TROTTING STALLION,
HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, of action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted, when a four year old, the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:36. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the great demand, I have used about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was best-dast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

PERSONAL.—We received a pleasant call yesterday evening from Mr. Stamp, correspondent of the Indianapolis Journal.

A GOLD thimble was lost in the market yesterday morning. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving the same at this office.

THE charge of Judge Bruce to the grand jury of the United States district court yesterday, crowds out nearly all the local news prepared for this morning's JOURNAL.

THE bankers of Montgomery will find something in our dispatches this morning in which they are perhaps interested to some extent.

ANOTHER COLORED MAN SHOT.

About 10 o'clock last night, at a ball of the colored people, at the frame house next to LeGrand & Co's store, on Commerce street, a colored man named Creed Scott, a street hand, was shot in the lower part of the back, the ball going through his bowels and coming out in front. It is not known whether the wound is dangerous or not. The person who did the shooting has not been arrested.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

JUDGE BRUCE'S CHARGE TO THE GRAND JURY.

When the grand jury was empannelled and sworn in the United States District Court, yesterday morning, His Honor, Judge Bruce, delivered the following able and patriotic charge:

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury:

You have been summoned as grand jurors for the Circuit Court of the United States for the middle district of Alabama.

Article 5 of amendments of the constitution of the United States, provides that "no person shall be held to answer for a capital or other infamous crime unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in certain classes of cases therein named."

It is thus seen that your duties lie at the very foundation of the administration of criminal justice. The manner in which the courts of the United States will be able to administer the criminal law depends very much upon the fidelity with which the grand juries shall discharge their duties.

I hope you will bring to the performance of the important duties now devolving upon you, the highest exercise of sound judgment and the clearest dictates of enlightened conscience.

You are entering upon an inquest and inquiry as to offenses against and violations of the laws of the United States. The criminal jurisdiction vested in the courts of the United States is defined in the Revised Statutes, sec. 711, to be "of all crimes and offenses cognizable under the authority of the United States."

You will confine your inquiries to such "articles, matters and things" as the National courts may lawfully take cognizance of, but your inquiries will extend to all violations of the laws of the United States, and crimes committed against an individual within or upon any territory or place within the exclusive control or authority of the United States, or upon the high seas.

The criminal laws of the United States are numerous, and I will name only some of the more prominent subjects around which Congress has thrown the protection of criminal statutes.

1. The laws relating to the currency of the United States for the protection of the same.

2. The laws relating to the collection of the revenue of the United States, including internal revenue, and duties on imports.

3. The laws relating to the postal service of the United States.

4. The laws relating to conspiracies to injure or intimidate citizens of the United States in the exercise of civil rights, or to deprive them of their rights.

5. The laws relating to the obstruction of officers of the United States in the discharge of their duties or to the impeding in any the administration of justice in the courts of the United States.

The violation of the laws of the United States in reference to these subjects and others which might be named properly come within the scope of your inquiries.

It is no question with you whether any particular law or laws meet with popular favor or disfavor, nor is it a question with you whether they are right or wrong in themselves, politic or impolitic. If offences against the laws of the United States come within your knowledge by proper proof, the oath which you have taken makes it your imperative duty to present by indictment any and all offenders against them.

The constitutionality or unconstitutionality of the enactments of the law making power of the government are questions for the courts to decide in cases properly brought before them. Courts and juries will not presume their unconstitutionality; on the contrary the presumption of law is in favor of the constitutionality of the acts of Congress properly approved by the President of the United States, until the contrary is shown by the decisions of the proper judicial tribunals of the country.

You will have the advice and assistance of the District Attorney, who has been appointed by the government of the United States to represent it in the prosecution of persons charged with offenses. He will point out to you the laws which he deems to have been violated, and will subpœna for you such witnesses as he may deem important and such other witnesses as you may direct.

You will not be confined however to such "articles, matters and things" as the District Attorney may bring to your knowledge, but your inquiry will extend to such "articles, matters and things" as may otherwise come to your knowledge touching the present service.

Offenses against the laws of the United States may be within the knowledge of one or more of the members of the grand jury, or you may have knowledge of facts tending to show that an offense or offenses have been committed. If so you are bound to disclose to your associates, and any one of you may be sworn as a witness before the grand jury.

Again, while investigating one offense, facts may be disclosed which will lead you to the investigation of other and different offenses, and if so you are bound to pursue the investigation, for your oath is that you will diligently inquire and true presentment make.

You are to make "true presentment" and you are to arrive at the truth by evidence presented before you. That evidence must be legal evidence, not rumors, reports or suspicions, but legal evidence given under oath, and the best of which the matter is capable. It must be not only legal in its character, but it must also be sufficient not only to make a case of probable guilt, but sufficient to convince you of the guilt of the accused.

You are not a trial jury and there is to be no defense before you, but you will consider all the evidence properly presented in any given case, and if it is sufficient to produce upon your minds a conviction of the guilt of a party, you will then be justified in finding an indictment, but if not sufficient to produce this conviction on your minds, you will not find an indictment; for the grand jury should be a protection to the innocent against unjust charges as well as a menace to the guilty.

I have said the evidence upon which you shall base the finding of an indictment must be legal evidence, and I repeat it, though the rules of law governing its admission before you cannot, from the nature of the case be applied with the same strictness as in a trial before a petit jury. You will keep your own counsel and that of the government. This is important, otherwise the standing and character of our fellow-citizens may be unjustly injured and the administration of justice defeated by the disclosure of what passes in your jury room.

In the National courts, grand juries consist of not more than twenty-three, and not less than sixteen persons. Twelve of whom must concur in finding an indictment.

Your foreman is authorized by law to administer oaths to witnesses before you, and it is made perjury for a witness to swear falsely.

Indictments must be indorsed with the words "a true bill," signed officially by the foreman of the jury and returned into court.

You will not allow yourselves to be influenced either for or against any accused party, otherwise than as the evidence may tend to show guilt or innocence and if any person or persons shall approach you with any reward or hope thereof, or seek to deter you from the proper discharge of your duties, by any species of intimidation or fear, such contact is an offense against the laws of the United States, and you will proceed to inquire into it.

I shall presume, gentlemen, that it is unnecessary for me to go further into the details of your duties. Most of you, if not all, are no doubt familiar with the duties of grand jurors.

There is one subject, however, to which I deem it my duty specially to call your attention. It is to the distillation of spirits in violation of the Internal Revenue laws of the United States. I am informed by the District Attorney, that there are numerous cases of this kind in this middle district of Alabama. I shall enter into no argument as to the right of the government to levy and provide means for the collection of the tax upon tobacco and distilled spirits.

I may perhaps without impropriety call your attention to the evil and demoralizing effects of this trade or business in ardent spirits as specially shown in this matter of illicit distillation.

In a time like this of commercial depression and stringency when many of our people are able to do little more than keep the wolf of hunger from their doors, these illicit establishments are consuming the corn not the surplus production of the country, but absolutely the bread and food necessary for man and beast to enable the people to make a crop upon which they and their families depend for the necessaries and comforts of life.

Whisky and tobacco are by common consent not only in the but in other countries regarded as luxuries and the legitimate subjects of large revenue to the government. The system of internal revenue which the Congress of the United States has adopted may or may not be the best that could have been devised.

Those who oppose it either from interest or from principle (if there be any of the latter class) may challenge the system either in whole or in detail in the modes known to the law. They may seek the amendment or repeal of the laws at the hands of the law making power, but wilful disobedience of the laws can only meet with the punishment which are denounced against those charged and proven guilty of their violation. There are persons legitimately and lawfully carrying on the manufacture and sale of spirits, and tobacco, and it is the highest injustice to them that others may produce and deal in these articles of merchandise without bearing the burdens which should be equally borne by all persons engaged in that class of business.

The government of the United States, like all other organized governments, requires the means by which it shall be able to carry out its purposes and objects; and in addition to the ordinary expenses incident to its administration, the public debt, the payment of which has been provided for in the fundamental law, makes large demands upon the public revenue. In whatever proportion, therefore, persons shall be able to defraud the government of its dues, by illicit distillation of spirits, or otherwise, just in such proportion will the burdens of the honest tax-paying people of the country be increased. This species of lawlessness has recently become so rife as to be a cause of much alarm to all lovers of law and order.

Persons have recently become so bold as not only to violate the law, but in some instances have gone so far as to offer resistance to the officers of the United States engaged in the collection of the revenue. Such conduct involves crime of a high grade, against which the law pronounces heavy penalties.

If these laws are allowed to be violated with impunity, persons will be ready to infer that other laws may be violated with like impunity. The people will lose confidence in the judicial integrity and power of the courts and officers to administer the law, and the consequences of such a state of things are fearful to contemplate. A corrective must be applied. All the high and sacred interests of society and government demand that this spirit of lawlessness shall not be permitted to usurp the seats of just power and authority. Courts and juries are charged with high and grave responsibilities in this matter, which they must not fail fearlessly and conscientiously to discharge.

Gentlemen of the grand jury, the government, social order, the public welfare present and prospective, make a loud call upon you to bring to the bar of justice those who put the laws of the United States at defiance. I trust you will so discharge your duties as to be "a terror to evil doers and a praise to them that do well."

A Colored Man Shot.

Last night about 8 o'clock, a quiet and inoffensive colored man was standing on the pavement near the Madison House when three drunken white men, as he states, came up and pushed him off the sidewalk, and one of them shot him. The bullet lodged in his back near the spinal column and just below the right lung. The men ran off as soon as he fell. He was taken to a drug store; but the bullet was not found. We learn that his name is Martin, and has recently came from Pensacola. A young man named James Clanton has been arrested charged with doing the shooting. It is strange that a city election cannot take place without colored men being shot. We hope the guilty person may suffer the severest penalty of the law.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1 11dX&wlw

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 24, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it more and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of elevating the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. For further particulars, address, G. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DIEBLE & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim"), g g sire Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

CONSUMPTION CURED!

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines,
New Albany, Ind. April 10, 1874

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

Independent Republican in principle, defending the Republican party when right, and endeavoring to correct when wrong.

For the largely increased patronage and favor extended us during the past year we feel it incumbent upon us to return to our

Friends and Patrons

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place beford the people a high toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

We will furnish the daily at $8.00 per annum, $4.00 six months, $2.20 three months—invariably in advance; or clubs may be made up from as many different postoffices as there are name; these may be sent in as obtained accompanied by the money, and when the club is completed, the extra copy will be forwarded to any address named.

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Under this head, and in this column, the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL will publish communications for which the State Journal Publishing Company will not hold itself or any individual a member thereof responsible, but will always furnish names of authors of articles appearing therein on proper application. Communications for this column must be short, as they will not be allowed room in any other.

THE TROUBLES OF A DAILY NEWSPAPER

It is easy enough to start a daily paper. Keeping it going is what exercises the inventive genius. The Chicago Tribune, however, knows some folks who have no doubt of their competency to wrestle with the problem. It observes:

"There are two kinds of business which every man feels himself to be entirely capable of conducting on an improved plan. We never yet met a person who couldn't run a hotel or manage a newspaper. Everything else under the sun seems to require some special training. One doesn't practice law, or prescribe medicines, or manage a bank, or manufacture clothespins, without previously devoting some study to the calling. But one edits and publishes a newspaper, or instructs others how to edit and publish a newspaper as a matter of course. It is a gift generally distributed among mankind, without distinction as to race, color, or previous condition." A peculiar characteristic of this general faculty is that any man who does not happen to edit and publish a newspaper knows how it ought to be done very much better than every other man who is actually engaged in the business. The horse cars swarm with those gifted journalists in embryo—these flowers of genius born to blush unseen. No household is complete without one or more of them. They infest the newspaper offices, and think their special mission in life is to visit editors and tell them how they ought to conduct their newspapers. When these good-hearted and talented amateurs have not time to make a personal visitation, they send forth their thoughts upon winged messengers in the shape of communications to enlighten the heathens whom accident has placed where accident has called, and to improve the world by improving the newspapers the world live on."

TRANSFUSION OF BLOOD—THE CASE OF FRANK BLAIR.

It is stated that the transfusion of blood in the case of Gen. Frank Blair is producing noticeable improvement in the condition of the patient. He has been so long prostrated under the effects of a paralytic attack that his physician, after resorting to various remedies, now entertains a strong hope that the new treatment will result in a cure. Already two operations have been performed on the patient. In the first experiment two ounces of blood were injected into the system, and a week thereafter over four ounces were transfused, the doctor having first depleted the patient of two ounces by bleeding. The blood for transfusion is drawn from the veins of a healthy man into a vessel where it is allowed to remain in contact with the oxygenizing properties of the atmosphere a short time, but not long enough to commence coagulating. It is thence sucked into an exhausted receiver, to which a tube is attached and connected with a vein of the patient's arm. The blood is then forced by a piston in the receiver into the general circulation of the system. On the scale of the lines, so that the quantity forced into the vein is graduated and timed under the practiced eye of the physician.

AN ANTIQUE BIBLE.

The Atlanta (Ga.) News says: Judge J. D. McConnell, of this city, has in his possession a very old Bible containing some valuable records of the 17th century. It has the litany used in the Episcopal Church during the reign of Charles I. In the prayers the name of the king and all the royal house is mentioned in connection with the Lord and Saviour. It gives the genealogy of the descendants of Adam and Eve, which is illustrated by a picture of a tree with its branches, etc. It has the apocrypha, and other additions not found in the Bibles commonly used nowadays. The book was printed in London in the year 1637, by Robert Barker, printer to his Majesty, Charles I. On the flyleaf is written the name of the purchaser of the book—'Ann Barnes. This is my book.' In the family record are the names of the children of Ann Barnes, the first of whom was born in October, 1642. It has also the name of her first grandchild, which was born in 1667. The family resided in Edinburgh Scotland, and during a sale of the household property this book was bought by an American, and brought to New York. It is really a literary curiosity, and a valuable relic of olden times."

OYSTERS FOR ONE

From the Baltimore Gazette.

A short stubby fellow, with his hat on one side of his head, and his pants rolled up, walked into a Congress street oyster-house last evening, and holding the stump of an unlit cigar between his clenched teeth, looked around and inquired, "Got 'py oysters?" "Yes, sir," said the oyster-man, as he cast his eyes over a half a dozen baskets full lying around loose; "Well, how much be they a dozen?" "Eighteen cents." "Eighteen cents?" "Yes, sir, eighteen cents." "Shucked?" "Opened, of course, if you want them opened." "Well, gi'me one not shucked.' One! What do you want of one oyster?" "Well," said the customer confidentially, leaning over the oysterstand and taking his cigar between his teeth, "You see, I'm goin' to a social party out here near Albia to-night an' some of the boys might get a foolin.' I've been around a good deal, and I tell yer there's nothin' so coolin' and healin' like for a black eye as a good, big oyster. I guess you'd better gi'me two. How much is it?"

INVITATION TO IMMIGRANTS.

Dallas Grange No. 264, Selma, Ala., respectfully represents to the great brotherhood of the Order in the Northern and border states particularly—

1. That the people of Alabama, always liberal hospitable and generous, warmly welcome to their midst bona fide immigrants from all parts of the world without regard to their religious or political opinions.

2. That the climate of our State is genial and healthy; that its soil is productive; that its lands are cheap; that its wealth of minerals is inexhaustible; that its water power is abundant; that its railroad facilities are sufficient; that its markets are convenient; that churches and schools abound within its limits; that good highways extend to every neighborhood; and that it offers to immigrants every advantage elsewhere combined in the oldest and newest sections.

3. That now the government of Alabama is in the hands of good and capable men; that good laws are impartially and firmly administered; that life and property are secure as in any of the New England or Northern States; that taxation is not high; and that the public debt is comparative small.

4. That considering its climate, the productiveness of its soil, its cheap lands, its churches and educational facilities, its navigable rivers, its good roads, its mineral resources, its honest government, the peace and security everywhere prevailing, and the cordial reception its people extend to those who come among them to live, no other State in the Union or in the world presents so many attractions to honest and industrious men elsewhere with or without capital, who prefer to better their condition by emigration.

Special Notices.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least change, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

ALARMING MORTALITY AMONG THE NEGROES.

The cause leading to the alarming death-rate among the colored race in this country is a question which is now being seriously discussed by the scientists and humanitarians. It is the belief of those who have given the subject careful study that this state of affairs is mainly attributable to a lack of stimulation to the attainment of higher and better positions in the usual walks of life. The colored people have not sufficient ambition in their present standing in this country; that they could not, if they were more energetic, improve their conditions materially. The field for exercise of energy by the negro is narrow, contracted, and quite inadequate; that the race is certain to decrease steadily as a minority element in this country, and realizing as prominent and intelligent leading men do, that the despondency of the colored people is occasioned by a hopeless inactivity and lack of emulation, for the purpose of exerting their energies, ability and influence to save their race from utter annihilation and reduction to a condition on a par with that of the American Indian, it is known that some of these leading men have been conferring upon this general subject, having in view the adoption of means by which the evil might be remedied. They, in conjunction with other parties, have been prospecting, and it is proposed to establish at once colonization societies for the purpose of organizing parties for emigration to San Domingo, Cuba, or other Southern countries. The object of these parties has been and still is to thoroughly investigate and point out to their people the countries wherein the climate is good and conducive to health and longevity, and also wherein industrial pursuits can and will thrive. The aid of President Grant is counted upon in this humanitarian undertaking, not because of any promises or expressions lately made, but for the reason that he has stated to certain individuals that his chief purpose in urging the purchase of San Domingo, was to enable this government to throw the Island wide open to immigration. This movement has now assumed shape and is expected to meet with hearty indorsement and salutary success.

FRANCE.

It is not to be denied that affairs in France have put on a new look within the past month, and that decidedly favorable to a settled government. Arguing from the past, from French character, from the love the peasantry bore the Empire, we have anticipated a speedy turn of the wheel that would bring the young Prince Imperial into prominence and power. We still believe that the great lesson of self-government is not learned by our French neighbors, although they have shown a good deal of republican sense for the past few weeks. The fact is not to be overlooked that MacMahon does not believe in the Republic; that, by instinct and prejudice, he does believe in an Empire; so that we have, in fact, a Republic with an Imperialist President. The permanent establishment of the seat of government at Versailles is the first promising sign of safety and perpetuity to the new order of things. In Paris, the mob governed, and nothing but grape-shot ever governed the mob. The fact that great difficulty was encountered in the adoption of the Constitution is not to be wondered at; it is only the history of all constitutionally governed countries. Our own was shaped and adopted with even more of wrangling and dissension. The final vote by which the Assembly adopts the document is so large as to indicate two things—a willingness to compromise, and a fear of the Imperialists. The corner-stone of a free or popular government must inevitably be compromise. Nothing can be done without it. Party willfulness and zeal must learn to yield. Ideals must be sacrificed. The best must be deferred. And this is what, to an extent, the French people is learning. The motto on all sides is "We wait." A more reasonable and placable era has not been seen since the Girondists fell before the Jacobins.

The provisions of the new Constitution elect the President by a majority of both Assembly and Senate, and he may be re-elected, for a term of seven years, indefinitely. He can be impeached for high treason, and any vacancy occurring is to be filled by the Council of Ministers. Here is a glorious chance for corruption and a display of true French enthusiasm. If ever the machine shall be set in motion, an Assembly and Senate elected, we may anticipate any amount of old English history repeated—State trials and impeachments, before the government, by constitution, shall come to an equilibrium. But even this is anticipating very largely. The stronger probability is at least one more trial of Imperialism. The masses love the name Napoleon. The capacity shown by France to pay her enormous war debt shows that the Empire meant prosperity and wealth. Napoleon III petted the populace and the farmers; they will not forget it.

—An old resident of this city predicts a cool summer. Thousands of people would like to interview that man for about ten seconds.

THE IRISH CENTENNIAL.

Our Irish friends across the water are determined that we shall not have the anniversary business all our own way this summer, and will get up a centennial, or centenary as they prefer to call it, of their own, in August, on the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Daniel O'Connell. We are curious to know, in the light of the recent to do over John Mitchel, just what will be done and said in the premises; for if any particular regard was paid to the truths of history, the birthday of the lamented Dan. would stand a very fair chance of passing unhonored and unnoticed. History, however, is rarely permitted to stand in the way of an Irish celebration.

It made no difference with John Mitchel's treatment, dead or alive, that he had deliberately given up his Irish citizenship, and sought worldly consolation under the slave laws of our Southern States; and it will, doubtless, diminish in no degree the honors paid to O'Connell's name that he joined the Whig party in 1846, and boldly declared that Ireland's only hope for comfort and prosperity lay in English supremacy. A people who could make a tutelary saint, patron and semi-divinity of an individual whose existence is seriously doubted, and who could not have been an Irishman by any accounts, can certainly afford to overlook O'Connell's backsliding rather than interfere with a public demonstration and a high old time.

Celebrate, therefore, they undoubtedly will; and it would be well for them, and their children, if, while glorifying the memory of the man, they would take closely to heart some of his teachings. In the warmest days of his career as a "Liberator," he entirely discouraged, as silly and suicidal, any resort to physical force, and warned his countrymen against lending any countenance to adventurers who sought, under the cloak of the Irish cause, only their own advancement; and yet they continue to waste their substance and fetter their cause in riot after riot, and to follow the lead of any demagogue that comes among them, be his name Mitchel or Butts, Dilke or Bradlaugh.

They might find subject for serious contemplation also in the causes which led to O'Connell's change of party, and of policy. We cannot here go into them at length save to remark that, his aim of securing the political emancipation of Catholics being secured, he was wise enough to understand that the only hope of his country lay in the obliteration of sectional prejudices, and in a common harmonious movement with the English Liberals against the prerogatives of rank and the existing land laws. The man that they propose to honor as a Liberator—a man of able intellect, great energy, and thorough devotion to his cause—perceived clearly that therein lay the only remedy for existing evils, and it is greatly to be hoped that the centennial celebration of his birthday may do something toward elevating his fellow-Irishmen to the same comprehension.

THE JAMES BOYS.

A Company of 150 Men Organizing to Hunt Down the Bold Brigands—Purchasing Shot-guns to Arm the Crowd—A Determination to Capture the Notorious Outlaws.

[Special dispatch to the St. Louis Globe.]

LIBERTY, CLAY COUNTY, MO., May 2.—Sheriff Groom has lately returned from Kansas City with fifty shot-guns, purchased there to arm a force to hunt the James boys. The people of Clay county have become tired of these outlaws, and have at length determined to hunt them to death. For this purpose, the sheriff has been secretly but busily engaged in organizing a posse, to arm some members, of which he has procured the guns. Many carry their own arms, and it is supposed they will number from one hundred to one hundred and fifty determined men.

Their plan of operations has not yet been revealed, and is kept secret even from the members of the force. The leaders claim nothing and do not pretend to say that their excursion will be fruitful of satisfactory results. They preserve a dogged silence when approached on the subject, and decline to afford any information.

In the United States District Court at Chicago, a few days ago, Judge Drummond rendered a decision against the right of a State to tax the capital stock and franchise of a corporation. The subject has been before the State courts in many shapes, and with various results. It will now, we presume, be taken to the United States Supreme Court, and will there receive a decision which will become the rule in all cases hereafter. Judge Drummond's opinion concludes as follows:

We have reached three conclusions with great hesitation, and the more because we have found that we differ, in some respects, from the opinion of the Supreme Court in this State, but the consequence to the property and rights of non-residents by the action of the Board of Equalization are so very grave, and the injustice, to use no harsher term, which has been done to the property and non-residents has been so great, that we cannot, consistent with our own sense of duty, yield our convictions to the opinion of the Supreme Court of this State, until the Supreme Court of the United States shall say that we want to do so; and it has been mainly with the view of giving the parties who may desire it the opportunity to test the sense of the latter tribunal that we have come to the conclusion that we shall sustain the injunctions which have been awarded in the various cases before us.

COL. TYLER AND MRS. GOODWYN.

In a recent issue of the Philadelphia Catholic Standard, the following deserved notice of a distinguished citizen of Montgomery appears. The compliment to his daughter is no less true than deserving:

A RARE TREAT—READINGS AND RECITATIONS—By Mrs. Priscilla Cooper Goodwyn, at the Amateur Drawing Room, Seventeenth street above Chestnut, on Wednesday evening, April 14th, at 8 o'clock.

This highly-gifted lady will give a Philadelphia audience the pleasure of enjoying the reading and recitation which, in ew York, have won for her so much honor. Apart from her rare talents, the Catholics of Philadelphia should feel a special interest in her, as she is the daughter of Robert Tyler, Esq., formerly of this city, a name venerated by every Catholic whose memory can recall the stormy days of Native Americanism, when Catholics were proscribed, churches and convents burnt, and when the united efforts made by the enemies of the Church seemed ready to crush out the liberties and even the lives of our people. In that dark hour Mr. Tyler, though not a Catholic, became their fearless champion at the risk of his professional popularity. Possessed of a lofty courage that no danger could daunt, an unflinching integrity that nothing could bribe, and a power of oratory that was perfectly irresistible, his fiery eloquence and sweeping denunciations cowed into silence the enemies of civil and religious liberty, and gave new hope to a crushed people.

Mr. Tyler was a warm and earnest advocate of the Repeal movement, being President of the Philadelphia Association. He threw himself into the cause of Ireland with the zeal and ardor of one of her own children. He was also an unfailing friend of the orphan, for whom he ever lent his gifted mind in delivering lectures and orations for their benefit. He has indeed earned from the Catholic people of Philadelphia both love and gratitude.

His daughter is now to appear before you, not, indeed, to claim that gratitude, but surrounded with the halo of genius which she inherits, not only from her distinguished father, but also from her grandfather, Mr. Cooper, the great English tragedian, whose wonderful dramatic power is a tradition left us by a past generation, but which the present generation may still enjoy in the living representative of this illustrious man. This talented lady delights the intellectual and cultivated by her refined and expressive rendition of her choice selections in both prose and poetry, and carries her audience by the power of her genius into the scenes she so graphically portrays.

In these days, when the course and sensational drama has driven every lover of purity from places of public resort, it is refreshing to find an opportunity of enjoying a pleasure like this, and we almost bless the circumstances that have forced this modest flower to show her rare beauties.

MR CHARLES NORDHOFF is writing excellent letters to the New York Herald from the South, and the Herald is violating one of its old and foolish practices in allowing the name of the writer to appear with each letter. "Impersonal journalism" has its merits, but "personal journalism" of the kind in which the Herald is now indulging is much better. For instance, if these letters were printed anonymously, they would be attributed to some of the cheap Bohemians of the Herald, and their statements would go for nothing; but appearing over a name which has long been connected with the highest branches of literature and journalism in this country, they have value and significance, and they tend to make the Herald respectable.

M. FERDINAND DUVAL, Prefect of the Seine, an office which makes him Governor of Paris for the time being, has placed before the Council of Health a new plan for burying the dead—namely, the substitution of cement coffins for those made of wood. The shell would be three-fourths of an inch thick; they would cost about as much as if the material was pine, and far less than oak, and it is claimed that the dead bodies would be more perfectly preserved, and for a longer period, besides that all mephitic exhalations would be prevented.

WE concur with the Advertiser, in the views expressed by it yesterday, relative to the recent outrage in Etowah county. The time has come when the people of Alabama should put a stop to murders and outrages of every description. Such deeds as that perpetrated at Gadsden are held up to the people of the West as evidences of the lawlessness of this people; and for the purpose of deterring immigration to Alabama. Let the majesty of the law be vindicated, and the peace and good name of our State secured.

WE desire to call the attention of our citizens to the fact that yellow fever is still raging at Key West. It is not many hours travel from here to that locality. We are not doing anything towards securing ourselves from the inroads of this fatal plague. The weather is now getting warm, and the probabilities are that the rains have ceased for some time to come.

New Albany, Ind., April 10, 1874.

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: DEAR SIR—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold a half dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last few weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not been out of one side for two years; hemorrhage almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Monument? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1-74. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only makes it more and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with marble, are adaptable to the most tasteless tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of eliciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming picture, decking with e xpre sions, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Geo gia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. For further particulars, address, F. M. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DEBBLE & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

THE TROTTING STALLION,
HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid or good paper given, at the beginning of service; and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Rebel filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of the style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted, when a four year old, the mile from a wagon, in 2:56. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim), g g sire "Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g, sire "Bashaw," g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

April, 1875.

IN BRIEF.

—Business dull yesterday.

—Picnics are now in order.

—All quiet in the wards now.

—The street railroad has about now.

—Advertise if you want to sell goods.

—No local news of interest yesterday.

—The weather is lovely, and the farmers are happy.

—Among the new employments suggested for women is that of couriers to travelers—probably on account of their gift of tongues.

—And now, close on the heels of the grasshopper plague, we are threatened with a plague of gnats. That would be a gnat-ional disaster.

—A hotel landlord, who is sadly troubled, has placed in his wash-room an inscription from Dante: "Who enters here, leave soap behind."

—We knew a man once who objected to sleeping on a straw bed, because, he said, it was beneath him.

—It is said that there are fifty-seven women editing newspapers in this country.

—Little girls are beginning to die of too much rope-jumping.

—What will they do one hundred years from now for a word to express the kind of a cent-ennial that will be? Webster forgot to make any such word as "bi-centennial."

—A Nashville clerk was very much astonished the other day, while washing his face, by the appearance through his mouth of a mine ball, which was lodged in his head eleven years ago, at the battle of Pine Mountain.

—It is proposed that everybody, man, woman and child, plant an oak, elm, maple or some other good tree on the ground where he lives this year, as a centennial offering to those who may come after them and sit in the shade of the same.

—White rolls should be mixed and set to rise the evening before, and made into rolls half an hour before baking in the morning. A pint of warm milk fresh from the cow, with salt, and half a cup of yeast stirred up quite stiff with flour, and molded until it springs under the touch of the fingers, makes a most delicious, light, short roll.

—The fellow who asked for a lock of his girl's hair was informed that "it costs money, hair does."

—Since Brown, the mind reader, has been giving seances at Concert Hall, not a few of our good people have imagined themselves, and have, with no little success, performed experiments equal to those of Brown, upon their unsophisticated friends and acquaintances.

—First class in geography—"How many States in the Union?" "The books say thirty-seven, but the newspapers have it thirty-nine." "The newspapers are ahead, as usual, my son. Go to the head."

—The divinity that shapes our ends doesn't seem to take hold very young—leastways, not until our mothers let up on us.

—When you see a young reporter biting his finger nails, scratching his cranium, rolling his eyes, and evidently wrestling in a hand-to-hand struggle with genius, in the vain effort to get out a three-line item about a fire or burglary, there's but one construction to be put upon it—Cupid's got him.

—"To base-ballists:" A coroner in a county not far distant, has purchased a silver ball, for the purpose of presenting it to the base ball nine that shall show the highest death rate at the close of the season. Such a man may well be considered a faithful instrument in the hands of a just Providence, and, we may add, one should live in every county.

—It is a creditable thing to the average American that so many of our eminent citizens, distinguished in all the walks of science and commerce, are willing to immolate themselves on the altar of duty by accepting office of any kind whatsoever.

REV. DR. FRANKLIN, Presiding Elder, and Rev. Dr. Jones, preacher in charge of the Monroe M. E. Church, will hold a three days meeting in this city, commencing on Friday next, 11 o'clock a. m.

MONTGOMERY STREET RAILROAD.

Its Proposed Sale Announced.

We regret to learn that the stockholders of the street railroad company, are contemplating the sale of the road and equipments. This means, of course, that the road is a failure, and is to be discontinued. Such an announcement will not be to our advantage abroad. People who have been here occasionally, and know but little of the general condition of our business affairs, will be disposed to attribute the failure of this enterprise to a decline in this city as a commercial center. In one sense of the word this is absolutely true, but the cause is not so apparent to strangers as to us who have been here and constantly watched the progress of affairs for the two years last past. In the first place the street railroad company made a serious mistake in charging so much fare. If price had been 5 instead of 10 cents, the company would have made a complete success of their enterprise. Thousands of people during the year, who would have paid five cents fare, refused to ride on the street cars and pay ten cents. In Selma th street railroads succeeded because they were conducted on a scale to meet the public wants. In New Orleans you can ride four or five miles for five cents. Every street railroad in that city, has paid its cost three times over and made a handsome profit besides. But our street railroad company did not seem to have any idea of the public want. Their idea was to run empty cars all day rather than put the fare at five cents. They were warned time and again by the newspapers that ten cents was too much to demand for fare. But they paid no attention to the warning. The result shows that we knew more about the public demands than the stockholders and officers of the street railroad company. They never advertised in the city papers that they were operating a road and desired public patronage. Strangers coming here never knew there was a street railroad until they came into the city. Like many of the business men of the city, they imagined that trade would come anyway, and they would save the "advertising fund." But the result shows such a course is wrong. No business can prosper in these days of railroads and telegraph lines, unless it is constantly brought before the reading public. Thousands of buyers are every day reading the newspapers to find where they can get their needs—their clothes, groceries, boots and shoes, and the hundreds of articles of every-day need. If the business men of Montgomery were to patronize the two daily papers here as they ought to, the trade of this city would revive beyond anything known in our local history. We hope they will soon see the situation as we do.

THE street brigade is kept busily at work putting the streets in repair.

SEVERAL picnics are on the tapis, among the Sabbath schools, the Good Templars, shooting club, Firemen and others.

THERE were many long faces in the city yesterday, caused by the city election on Tuesday. Barbers have not advanced the price of shaving.

THERE were three ex-Governors in the United States court room yesterday. One ex-Chief Justice and one ex-Associate Justice were also present.

HON. P. O. HARPER, of Greenville, was, on motion of Col. H. A. Herbert, on Tuesday, admitted to practice in the U. S. District Court. Judge Harper is regarded as a very able and talented lawyer, and a worthy gentleman.

ON the 15th inst this month, the Henshaw base ball club will make an excursion to Selma, and will play the Pettus club a match game. The price of railroad tickets are $1.50, very cheap to visit Selma and to see a good game of base ball. Both clubs are good players, and the game will be interesting.

WE learn from many persons who are in attendance on the United States court in the city, that the crop prospects in many parts of the State are in fine condition. In a few localities the late frosts have done considerable damage. On the whole there will be a much larger corn crop, and at the same time enough cotton to make a fair crop.

THE warm weather is helping the ice business in our city. D. P. West keeps his wagon busy supplying our citizens, and is shipping large quantities of the ice manufactured in this city. J. A. Diaz has received a large cargo of Northern lake ice, and is doing a large business. This luxury is now sold so low that every one can use it.

JAMES CLANTON, who was charged with shooting the colored man, Martin, on the night of the election, had a preliminary examination before Mayor Faber yesterday, and was discharged. Thos. McDonough, who was charged with shooting Creed Scott, a colored man, had his case continued until to-day. Several other persons were fined by the mayor for various offenses.

IN the United States District Court yesterday the case of Fergusson, the Selma banker, was considered. The civil docket is now being called, the criminal docket having been adjourned over to the 10th inst. Judge Bruce is giving perfect satisfaction to the members of the bar, all of whom speak of him in the highest terms of praise.

SPELLING MATCH.

A "Bee" at the City Hall—This Evening at 8 1-2 O'clock.

A spelling match will take place this evening, at the new City Hall, for the purpose of raising a Library Fund for the Arlington Club. It will be conducted under the management of Mrs. G. W. Stone, Mrs. J. T. Holtzclaw, and Mrs. C. W. Jackson, assisted by other prominent ladies of the city. The match will open at 8½ o'clock.

A long list of gentlemen who have consented to spell is now in the hands of the ladies, and if there are others willing to take part in the match they will please send in their names to our office as soon as possible. The ladies have also provided refreshments for the occasion, and a dance will conclude the entertainment.

The teacher selected by the ladies is Judge Stone; the referees are Maj. H. C. Semple, Col. Troy, Mr. Josiah Morris, Mr. M. P. LeGrand, Col. Clopton, and Col. Herbert. The monitor will be Dr. R. F. Michel. The captains of the two sides are Mr. Cliff A. Lanier and Captain F. L. Ferguson. The class already consists of forty members, and additions will be gladly received.

The price of admission is but twenty-five cents:

The ladies who have consented to contribute will please send in their refreshments to the hall by 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon—the ice cream not before 7 o'clock. There will be a committee to receive them.

RULES TO GOVERN THE MATCH.

1. There shall be a class of as many as are willing to spell.
2. This class shall be divided into two parts, each part led by a captain.
3. The two parts shall be chosen by lot—the captains alternately selecting.
4. There shall be a teacher, six judges or referees, two captains, and one monitor.
5. School begins promptly at 8½ o'clock p. m.
6. A prize of a dictionary will be awarded the best speller.
7. There will be no dunce class or dunce cap.

Look at those birds! See them crow! "Did ye na hear it? 'Tis the slogan of victory—the grandest o' them a'."—Advertiser yesterday.

Oh, yes! we looked at them; they were a fine lot of birds too. Birds of a feather will flock together. Put them out to grass, and give the poor things a chance to do their own blowing. We have a lot ourselves. They are for loan at a small per cent., or we will sell them cheap for cash.

THE appearance of the Advertiser yesterday indicates that its conductors have gone into the chicken business. It is said that the man who blows his own horn is not to be believed often. If our neighbor has embarked in the business of raising fowls, we hope it will remember its own words, expressed but a few days ago, thusly: "Never abuse your opponents, rather speak well of them." Eggs are cheap enough at twenty cents a dozen, and we see no good reason why a henmery should be run in connection with our neighbor's newspaper business. Too many fingers in the pie always spoils the "pudding." One hen at a time in the fire, etc.

PERSONAL.—Col. J. C. Stanton, Maj. T. J. Carlisle, and Capt. Charles Stanton, of the Alabama & Chattanooga railroad, were in the city yesterday. They report the railroad in good condition, and doing a fine business. Trains are now run regularly from Chattanooga to Meridian, Mississippi. Col. Stanton bought the road at the recent sale in Mobile, for the first mortgage bondholders.

Judge McDuffie and T. W. Armstrong, Esq., of Lowndes county, called yesterday.

W. W. Wynn, Esq., of the Union Springs Ledger, was in the city yesterday.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." WASHINGTON.

The Great Cotton Case—The new Assistant Secretary of the Treasury—Pennsylvania Politicians Juggling—Hartranft to be renominated for Governor—Yellow Fever Deaths at Key West—Gen. Sheridan to Marry.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—In the Elgee cotton cases appealed from the Court of Claims, Justice Strong delivered an elaborate and important opinion, affirming the old English doctrine relative to titles passing in sales of personal property. In the present case the sale was only an executory contract and did not pass title. Judgment below reversed; Justices Bradley and Hunt dissented. The case involved over $300,000, now in the Treasury, and it is decided belongs to executors of Elgee.

Curtis F. Burnham, of Richmond, Ky., the new Assistant Secretary of Treasury vice Hartley resigned, is a lawyer of high standing, and President of a National bank. He is in every sense a most reputable gentleman. He was a strong Union man from the start.

Pennsylvania politicians of note are in the city, talking up the political prospects of the State for next fall. The convention of the Republicans meets June 1st. It is believed that the ring will nominate Hartranft for re-election as Governor.

A letter received from a naval officer at Key West, reports two more deaths from yellow fever, and several new cases have appeared.

All the morning papers announce that Gen. Sheridan will marry Miss Imogene Rucker, daughter of Quartermaster Rucker of his staff, early in June.

The Treasurer has given directions to the Assistant Treasurer at New York to sell five millions gold this month. One and a half millions on the first and third Thursdays, and a million on the second and fourth Thursdays, each.

[An interesting letter from the bureau of internal revenue, relative to manufacture and sale of tobacco, was received with these dispatches last night, but the lateness of the hour and length of document precludes publication to-day. ED. JOURNAL.]

It is stated very positively to-day that the second and third Auditors of the Treasury, and the Commissioner of Customs, will be called upon to retire from their respective positions within the next ten days.

GEORGIA.

Another Terrible Tornado—Farms Completely Devastated—Destruction to Life and Property Unprecedented.

COLUMBUS, May 5.—Particulars have just reached here of a destructive tornado in Stewart county. Farms were completely devastated. Four or five deaths are reported. Several horses and mules and other stock were killed. The cyclone passed from west to east. The damage cannot be estimated. Fuller particulars will greatly increase the ravages of the storm. The heaviest rain ever known fell during the storm. In 1851 a similar cyclone passed through the same county doing great damage.

LOUISIANA.

A Louisiana Politician Convicted of Forgery.

NEW ORLEANS, May 5.—W. S. Calhoun, at one time a well known Red river planter, but more recently a notorious Grant parish politician, was yesterday convicted of forgery, and publishing a deed of quittance, whereby he attempted to defraud Olivia Williams, his former mistress (colored) of $23,000. The opinion is freely expressed that Calhoun knows too much of Louisiana politicians to serve a term in the penitentiary.

ENGLAND.

The Carlists Claim a Series of Great Victories.

LONDON, May 5.—The Carlist committee has received telegrams reporting great victories by Don Carlos' forces under the command of Sabalis, at Breda, Lorida, and Santa Coloma. King Alfonso's forces numbered 4,000 men. Another victory is claimed at Aragon. The Alfonsist troops lost all their artillery and their General, Delaire, was killed.

MICHIGAN.

The Wheat Crop All Right

DETROIT, May 5.—Later reports from the interior of the State report the wheat crop as really good, and an abundant harvest is anticipated.

AUSTRIA.

The Montenegro Question to be Referred to a Commission.

VIENNA, May 5.—The Turkish and Montenegro governments agree to refer their frontier question to a commission for settlement.

NEW YORK.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you can not afford a Marble Tablet? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a Stone Polish for you, and patented it Nov. 23, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and handsomer. Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with marble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of electing the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. For further particulars, address, G. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of Daniels & Rosenberger, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. At the State Fair of 1868 he obtained all the premiums of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" (Bundy Jim), grand sire Long Island "Black Hawk," grand sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles in America, in 5:15), grand sire "Bashaw," grand grand grand sire "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported Prussian grandson of "Messenger." CONSUMPTION CURED!

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines, New Albany, Ind. April 10, 1874.

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly etc.,

O. SACKETT.

Independent Republican in principle, defending the Republican party when right, and endeavoring to correct when wrong.

For the largely increased patronage and favor extended us during the past year we feel it incumbent upon us to return to our

Friends and Patrons

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high-toned journal we shall endeavor to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

We will furnish the daily at $8 00 per annum, $4 00 six months, $2 25 three months—invariably in advance; or clubs may be made up from as many different postoffices as there are names; these may be sent in as obtained accompanied by the money, and when the club is completed, the extra copy will be forwarded to any address named.

The attention of advertisers is called to the

State Journal

A SOCIAL TRAGEDY

Our readers will remember "the sad fate of a gifted woman." Such, we believe, was the title the news editor, who runs across many such items, and to whose mill they are grist, placed over the story of the shameful death of Ann Curtis, of New York, a few weeks ago. The woman was young, beautiful, and talented. She had a voice of rare strength and purity, and, under the tutorship of Mr. Max Strakosch, was preparing for the lyric stage, where, the impresario was certain, a bright future awaited her. She sang in the choir of a fashionable church, and was alone and unprotected, her husband—for she was married—a man old enough to be her father, and who was blind as well as poor, being in San Francisco, where he had gone to save what he could from the wreck of his fortunes. In his time he had been wealthy and respected, and possessed friends and influence. He had been President of the San Francisco Board of Public Works—and there is no lode in the Golden State that pays like a Board of Public Works, properly worked—a candidate for Mayor, and, good, easy man that he was, imagined that he had nearly filled the full measure of human fame. But business took him to San Francisco, and there he was when this sad, eventful tragedy begins. He had left his young wife behind him (she was an old man's darling), in the care of and to care for his two daughters by a former marriage, one of them being seventeen years of age and very nearly as old as her stepmother. The husband was absent many months, but kept up a correspondence with his wife and remitted money for her own and the children's maintenance. Letters passed between them, all breathing the same feelings of affectionate devotion and indicating that no wrong had been done or would likely to be done. But the wife in the meantime had become a member of the choir of the Church of the Atonement (hallowed name for such a foul deed), the leader of which was a wanderlish, young, rich, and dilettante in his tastes and habits. There, under the shadow of the sanctuary, the shame was accomplished. When next the old man heard of his wife it was of her death. He started to return immediately, but the full news of the manner of her end did not reach him for days later. He traveled three thousand miles, dazed and heart broken, and with such a load upon him as few men ever carry. The shock was too much, however, and a merciful Providence put an end to his sufferings on Sunday last. The period of the whole tragedy was less than a month. What has become of the children we do not know, and we almost tremble to think. Orphans, and inheriting only a legacy of sin and sorrow, and alone in the maelstrom of the metropolis, they may survive its perils, or may sink in its gulfs. God only knows. And what of the villian who wrought all the ruin—who murdered the mother, broke the heart of the father, and orphaned and beggared the children? Why, he is doubtless as happy, contented and prosperous as before—perhaps is still presides over the choir of the Church of the Atonement, that it is old prophets were not liars, and the old laws were not injustice, his heart will yet be wrung and punishment will follow him even to the third and fourth generation of his children; for hath it not been written that you shall pay an eye for an eye, a tooth, and a life for a life, and that the sins of the father shall visited upon the children?

Discussions on the subject of "brain-feeding," and on the proper diet for building up colossal minds, a Western paragraphist plaintively observes that if genius is to be sought in codfish and crabs, "and calves' brains are to be sucked in from the outside," we shall presently find ourselves deprived of the sole aristocracy of which we can boast—the aristocracy of intellect. He may console him with the reflection that it will not affect him, however. The practice of cannibalism is not at all likely to come in vogue, here.

FIFTEEN years ago a lazy sort of a chap found his way to Washington from Ohio, and calling on a political friend expressed a desire to have a clerkship. He was told to go back home and work at his trade at two dollars a day—do anything but submit himself to the awful slavery of a government clerkship. That young man—don't be astonished, gentle reader this is not that other young man—said he thought he'd try a $1,200 clerkship, "as it beat nothing a hundred per cent." The Congressman, sad and disheartened, procured him the desired place. That was only fifteen years ago, and the young man when he entered upon the degrading, slavish life of a clerk was honest, lazy, healthy, and entirely indifferent to labor. Now that young man is still a clerk, owns $50,000 worth of real estate, and never lets a contract leave his possession until he gets his percentage. He is not any fonder of work now than he was then, and proudly remarks, "If I took old Smozham's advice I'd been chopping cord wood at a dollars a day; but I didn't A clerkship is good enough for me."

INVITATION TO IMMIGRANTS.

Dallas Grange No. 264, Selma, Ala., respectfully represents to the great brotherhood of the Order in the Northern and border states particularly—

1. That the people of Alabama, always liberal hospitable and generous, warmly welcome to their midst bona fide immigrants from all parts of the world without regard to their religious or political opinions.

2. That the climate of our State is genial and healthy; that its soil is productive; that its lands are cheap; that its wealth of minerals is inexhaustible; that its water power is abundant; that its railroad facilities are sufficient; that its markets are convenient; that churches and schools abound within its limits; that good highways extend to every neighborhood; and that it offers to immigrants every advantage elsewhere combined in the oldest and newest sections.

3. That now the government of Alabama is in the hands of good and capable men; that good laws are impartially and firmly administered; that life and property are secure as in any of the New England or Northern States; that taxation is not high; and that the public debt is comparative small.

4. That considering its climate, the productiveness of its soil, its cheap lands, its churches and educational facilities, its navigable rivers, its good roads, its natural resources, its honest government, the peace and security everywhere prevailing, and the cordial reception its people extend to those who come among them to live, no other State in the Union or in the world presents so many attractions to honest and industrious men elsewhere with or without capital, who prefer to better their condition by emigration.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more effectacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. I recommend a union of those medicines, as this experience will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and because of the medicines [illegible] upon the liver. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

By the Journal Publishing Company

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1875.

BUSINESS.

We have been asked frequently of late why we do not have a canvasser among the merchants of this city to drum up patronage for the JOURNAL. Our uniform reply has been that the city is not large enough for that kind of work. During the canvass of last year several of the business houses of this city were induced to withdraw their patronage from this paper, because of the threats repeatedly made by the defunct News, that it would advocate the destruction of the business of every merchant who should advertise in these columns. The spirit which prompted such threats has long since driven the owners of that sheet to poverty. They might force merchants to withdraw their patronage from the JOURNAL, but they could never compel them to transfer that patronage to the News. Since that time many changes have been wrought in our condition, and we see no reason now why the merchants should not advertise their business with us. Our circulation is quite large and our paper circulates among the buying classes altogether. There is patronage enough in Montgomery to support two daily papers handsomely, and if the proper support was extended it would enable both the Adeertiser and the JOURNAL to make much better papers than now. Suppose that the JOURNAL, for want of patronage, should be forced to suspend its publication? We respectfully put this question to the business men of the community, and trust they will consider it. We propose to publish a newspaper—not a political organ subject to the control and dictation of office-seeking politicians, but a local newspaper devoted to the best interests of the city. The Adeertiser cannot be otherwise than a party organ—a political newspaper, making party questions and party success the paramount object of its existence. On the other hand we care nothing for parties, and do not propose to sacrifice our property and our capital invested in this paper, in the interest of any sect of politicians. The patronage we have is small when compared to that which we ought to receive. If there was but one newspaper in this city, we apprehend that our citizens would not have the opportunity they now enjoy of advertising at living rates. We desire to have the business community extend to us their patronage, in return for which we propose to issue a local newspaper having for its paramount object the circulation of all the latest news from abroad by telegraph, and at home in our local columns. We are perfectly willing that the Adeertiser shall have all the patronage it can secure. We are not possessed of that infamous spirit which has been exhibited in this community by the News. If we did not desire to aid our community in its advancement in business and commerce, we should not ask for the patronage of our merchants; but as we hope to be able to bring trade here, by showing the inducements we possess, to the advantage of buyers, we trust that the business men of Montgomery will find it to their advantage to bestow upon the JOURNAL a small portion of their advertising patronage. Our terms are more reasonable than any daily paper in the South, and the JOURNAL is read every day by at least twelve hundred people—one thousand of whom are citizens who spend much money among our merchants.

THE Memphis Avalanche, the leading Conservative paper in Tennessee, in influence and circulation, thinks the old Secession leaders are losing their hold on the Southern masses. It also thinks that the weakness of the Republican party in the South is due to the evil conduct of the "carpet-baggers." Upon this point the Avalanche speaks thus:

The few old secession leaders are Generals without armies. They no longer possess sufficient strength to issue commands, even to phantom battalions. Their hold upon the Southern masses is weaker than that of the Copperhead leaders of the North. They were largely in the minority in 1860, and to-day, the South reads in their exploits the history of a failure. Practically, no such an element is known in Southern politics. Carpet-baggers have for years persistently asserted that a large anti-Union or secession party exists in the South. It was their interest to do so, the easier to secure indorsement by appeals to popular prejudice in the North. The men whose evil deeds in the South have nearly destroyed the Republican party, which for so many years has upheld, and is therefore responsible for them, performed their work well. No person not in sympathy with them could obtain a hearing. They retained control of the blacks by convincing them that a division of their vote would re-enslave them, and deluded the Northern Republicans into the belief that the majority of the white people of the South were hostile to the Union, and were secretly preparing for rebellion. But for the effects of these persistent misrepresentations upon the North, the Southern problem would have been satisfactorily solved long ago.

WE wish it distinctly understood, that we have not hired the STATE JOURNAL to introduce us to the great world in which that leviathan majestically plows about like a minnow in the Atlantic ocean.—Selma Republican.

Pardon us, we would shrink from the task, were an introduction necessary. But you need none, the length of the ear and bray of the animal speak for themselves.

A NOTED OUTLAW.

A New Jersey Man Misses a Chance to Make Ten Thousand Dollars.—The Notorious Sam Hildebrand, of Missouri, in the East.

[From the Newark, N. J. Courier, April 28.]

It was currently reported in Bergen Point yesterday, that a former neighbor of Sam Hildebrand, while living in Southwest Missouri, both saw and spoke to this murderer the day before. Subsequently the rumor was confirmed by Mr. Silas Higgins, of that city, who had not seen Hildebrand since 1860, and was unaware of the many crimes he had committed, and of the heavy rewards offered for his capture. Higgins says that on Monday afternoon the fast Western freight train bound for Communipaw, stopped near the round house where he at the time was standing. Among those who got out of the caboose was a stout, thick-set man with heavy whiskers, whom he at once recognized as Hildebrand, despite the years that had elapsed since they were neighbors in Missouri. He approached him and extended his hand, said, "Why, Sam, what brought you East?" Hildebrand feigned surprise at being thus interrogated, and said that Higgins was laboring under a mistake, as his name was not "Sam." By dint of much talk Higgins finally got things down to such a fine point that Hildebrand acknowledged his identity, but bade his acquaintance not to mention the fact of the meeting, as he was in trouble and was trying to escape from a Missouri official. After shaking hands he again got into the caboose and the train moved away. The mystery attaching this meeting so wrought on the mind of Higgins that he made inquiries in New York, and learned to his dismay that he had unwittingly let slip through his fingers one of the most desperate outlaws and murderers of the Western country. In 1865 Governor McClurg, of Missouri, offered $10,000 reward for Hildebrand, dead or alive, for the outrages he and his band perpetrated in Polk county, that State. It is estimated that next to Quantrel he committed more murders than any of the cut-throats that infested Southwest Missouri during and after the war. He openly defied the sheriffs of different counties and was only compelled to flee when hard pressed by a large force of mounted men. He was last heard from in Texas, from which State he wrote an impudent letter to the Governor of Missouri. He has been reported as dead several times, but it would seem that these rumors were circulated simply to blind the authorities. Higgins is positive that he conversed with none other than this murderer.

BARBARIAN BEAUREGARD.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

Some objection having been made to the including of the late Confederate Gen. P. T. Beauregard in the invitation to the forthcoming re-union of soldiers and sailors of the United States at Chicago, upon the ground that he had declared himself in favor of shooting all prisoners taken under the American flag, Gov. Porter, of Tennessee, addressed a letter to Beauregard, inquiring how much truth there was in the charge. The reply of the latter has already been printed in the Tribune, and confirms the charge made by Gen. Frank Sherman. What had heretofore been a rumor or report is now established over Beauregard's own signature, and by his own declaration he stamps himself as a barbarian, unworthy the recognition of civilized soldiers. He not only avows that he was in favor of the black flag during the war of the rebellion, but takes occasion to let the country understand by the tone of his letter that he still entertains the same brutal spirit. He acknowledges giving expression to this sentiment upon two occasions. The first was immediately after the battle at Manassas, when, in connection with Stonewall Jackson, he urged that the Confederate government should then proclaim war to the knife, neither asking nor giving quarter, but killing all prisoners, in defense of which he makes the ingeniously economical plea that the war would thereby sooner come to an end. In view of the result of the struggle, it would be interesting to know what he thinks of his proposition now, had this brutal plan been carried out on both sides. The second occasion was when Gen. Lee invaded Maryland, at which time he says: "I again advocated the hoisting of the black flag, willing at any time to forfeit my life in the deadly struggle." This is a direct and unmistakable assertion of his Modoc sentiments at that time, and the defiant manner in which he announces them shows that they are his sentiments now. He seeks to manufacture some credit for himself by saying that he treated his prisoners with consideration, and that he was in favor of the exemption of women and children from massacre when captured. In view, however, of his real feelings and his desire to hoist the black flag, such assumptions are gratuitous. He did not slaughter his prisoners and non-combatants simply because he had no authority to do so. The spirit was willing, but the power was weak.

This declaration reduces Gen. Beauregard from the position of a civilized soldier to that of a savage. He would conduct war as the Indian conducts it. His plan of settling questions in dispute is indiscriminate massacre. He would have no recognition of the universal agreement among all civilized nations, both in ancient and modern times, that the prisoner is sacred, and that it is incumbent upon the captor to treat him with humanity and consideration, except in cases where he has been captured as a spy. In times past, Gen. Beauregard has made some pretense to chivalry and gallantry, but over his own signature he now stands confessed as the only commanding officer in the Southern service who advocated the hoisting of the black flag, who would show no mercy to a captured foe, who would butcher defenseless prisoners in cold blood, if he could have had his way. He would have put to death on the field of battle the wounded whom a retreating army was unable to bear away; the capture of crowded hospitals and the slaughter of the sick and wounded inmates would have been a prominent feature, a glorious achievement, in his policy; while the bayoneting of the weak and worn-out soldiers who dropped out of the ranks on the march would be a delightful incident of his campaign.

In view of these charges which Gen. Beauregard has announced to be true, the protest of Gen. Frank Sherman is well taken. The soldiers of the North, at least, would not willingly fraternize with him, and we do not believe that the Soldiers of the South indorse in any degree his brutal and bloody sentiments. These sentiments he affirms "out of respect to myself and to that cause whose high and holy purpose history will some day vindicate." He may rest assured that, whatever history may do in vindicating the attempt to disrupt the government and overthrow the republic, it will not vindicate him. History is impartial, and it has never yet vindicated the soldier who has employed murder and massacre of prisoners as the agencies of war, but on the other hand has inevitably held him up to the execration of mankind. These being his sentiments, it will be the very general verdict of the public not only that he should not be invited to join in this reunion of those who were not butchers, but soldiers, but that a grave mistake was made in removing his disqualifications. Gen. Beauregard, the advocate of the black flag, should have been banished from the country.

MANY of our readers have no doubt been tempted to inquire what sort of an insect is the Buffalo gnat? The telegraph brings us accounts of cattle and horses destroyed in great numbers by them, in Tennessee. An exchange thus describes them:

"The buffalo gnat, which is causing so much destruction among cattle in the Southwest, is a small insect, not more than half the size of the house-fly, which suddenly appears in the air by millions and settles upon all four-footed animals within reach. A horse or cow will be literally covered with them at night; in the morning the animal will be found dead and swelled to an enormous size. The bite is very poisonous, and the wound quickly festers. Cattle owners find that the most effective way of protecting their animals is to cover them with a coating of diluted tar, but if that cannot be done fires are built and the smoke drives off the insects. Amongst the wild animals, especially the deer, on the Arkansas side of the river, the ravages of the gnat are everywhere apparent. Without any protection, the deer fall victims in large numbers to this poisonous insect, which, however, does not touch man."

THE Selma Echo will please take notice that we do not propose to take any stock in the municipal election to take place in that city presently. When we replied to an observation of the Times, in reference to a "split" in its party, we intended our remarks to cover parties, of every name and description. That man who thinks more of his "party" than of his God, is not a good citizen. If in our own case, Mr. Moses had been the candidate of any other party, would that fact have detracted from his good name, his ability or his reputation as a citizen? Give us good men for public positions and let "parties" go to Halifax. We are henceforth for men—if they are good men.

THE Advertiser of yesterday struggles very hard to exhibit its enmity to Hon. Alexander White. But it can find nothing to say except some foolish reference to another person. Col. White is a distinguished citizen of Alabama; one of the most prominent, and certainly one of the ablest, lawyers in the country. Does our neighbor think it becoming to compare such a man with a common swindler? If it does, we beg leave to say that that is not dignified journalism.

A NUMBER of cases were called in the U. S. Court yesterday, but as the attorneys were not ready, the court adjourned at an early hour.

W. B. DONOUGH, of the Water Works Company, is in the city. He is engaged in building gas works at Danville, Va.

THE colored Baptist church of this city had an excursion yesterday to White Hall, on the Selma railroad, where they were met by the colored Baptist church of Selma.

THE nights are still very cool, and heavy clothing and fires are required. During the day the sun shines out hot enough for any one except Old Nick.

OUR force of compositors is lessened, at present, by sickness and otherwise, and for a few days we shall ask the indulgence of our patrons, should we not present as much news as usual.

THERE was a great deal of life and bustle about the city buildings yesterday. All day crowds of strangers were standing about engaged in discussing the proceedings of the United States Court.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Alexander White arrived in the city yesterday to attend the meeting of the Republican State Executive Committee. He is in good health.

The following gentlemen were in the city yesterday: Z. Thomas, of Huntsville; Maj. Isaac Heyman, and D. B. Smith, Esq., of Opelika; Dr. R. A. Moseley, of the Talladega Home.

SOME of our old citizens predict a sickly summer, on account of the excessive rains during the long winter, and the cold nights so late in the spring. Those who desire to secure healthy quarters at a low rate of expense, should not forget that Mr. Towner will open that Saratoga of the South—Blount Springs—on the 20th of this month—and should secure rooms in advance.

A RARE CHANCE.—The Sisters of Loretto will raffle at their Fair, a sett of gold-mounted single harness, the chances being fixed at one dollar each. Here is an opportunity for some one to get a splendid sett of buggy harness for one dollar; and we trust that the number of chances taken will be large. It is seldom that one has such an opportunity as this. Each one of our readers ought to be able to take a chance.

THE benefit of having water works is demonstrated to our people every day. In front of the houses where there are water plugs, the sidewalks and streets are kept clean and cool, and the dust kept down. It is hardly fair that one house should use their water plug to sprinkle the street for several. The cost is so trifling, compared with what it cost to sprinkle the streets with water carts that each business house should have a private water plug.

IF the Advertiser meant that sick chicken for us, we hurl it back with scorn and freezing contempt. A more healthy child than we are, never breathed the breath of life, or yelled for sweet milk. Fortune and misfortune, success and defeat, glory and disappointment may befall us, but come what come may, we intend to keep our head erect, our feathers all up, and our appetite always ready. But it may be that the chicken was intended for some one else—then all this eloquence is like so much sweetness wasted on the desert air. Business men will please send in their advertisements early in the p. m.

THE present is an eventful week in our city. We have had a city election; the city court of the county, and U. S. circuit and district courts in session; the meeting of the Republican State Executive Committee; the joint legislative investigating committee in session; two colored men shot on election night; the suicide of Moir, the showman, and—well, we can't remember all the extraordinary events, but will add that the latest sensation was the spelling match last night at the City Hall. It would take a half-dozen New York Herald sensational reporters to keep the run of everything, if the close of the week is as eventful as the beginning has been.

ILLICIT distilling in Tallapoosa and Clay counties, is being looked after by the grand jury of the U. S. District Court, now in session in this city. We learn that there are a great many cases being investigated. It seems that this traffic is being carried on largely, and the government is every year defrauded of thousands of dollars. Men who pay revenue cannot compete with those who do not, and the courts owe it to the law-abiding citizens to suppress this nuisance of illicit distilling. Judge Bruce and U. S. District Attorney McAfee will do all in their power to protect the liquor dealers who pay revenue, by enforcing the laws against these offenders. Col. McAfee is after them with a sharp stick.

IT is not certain that the recent purchase of the Western railroad of this State by the Georgia and the Central Georgia railroads, will be confirmed. A bill has been filed in the courts at Augusta, Georgia, by Gen. Toombs and S. H. Hardeman, attorneys for certain stockholders of the Georgia railroad, praying for an injunction to restrain the officers of that corporation from completing the purchase of the Western railroad of Alabama, or from paying the interest of the endorsed bonds of said road. Judge Gibson will hear arguments in the case Tuesday next. The Western railroad of Alabama was recently purchased jointly by the Georgia and Central railroads, which are endorsers of the bonds of the Western railroad.

FAIR.

THE SISTERS OF LORETTO AT ESTELLE HALL.

The promised fair of the Sisters of Loretto will take place at an early day, at Estelle Hall. The object of this fair is to raise funds to enable the Sisters to meet a payment on the Convent on Adams street. That the fair will be a success we have not the least doubt. Our people appreciate with lively gratitude the noble ladies who have given up their lives to the cause of charity. None more deserve our gratitude and our aid than these noble ladies—the Sisters of Loretto—and we trust that every reader of the JOURNAL will contribute to the sacred cause in which they are engaged.

THE NEW BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Resolutions—Office-seekers Step Aside! —A Dose for Ye Poor Politician.

The new Board of Aldermen had an informal meeting yesterday. A quietus was placed upon that class in our city who are itching for spoils. The new city fathers took the bull by the horns and twisted his neck off. The way in which this was done is so peculiarly terse and fine that we cannot withhold our admiration of the legerdemain which killed the office-seeking fellows of the faithful. Here are the resolves:

WHEREAS, Between six and seven months will elapse before the Mayor and Aldermen elect will enter upon the discharge of their duties; and

WHEREAS, The best interests of the city require that the selection of officers should be made with deliberation and from the best and most acceptable men who will serve in the various positions to be filled by election; therefore—

Resolved, That we, in the meantime, individually and collectively, agree not to pledge ourselves to any one for office.

IT is proposed that a number each of young ladies and young gentlemen organize a dramatic club to give entertainments during the summer months. It would be an interesting diversion from the dull routine of summer. We hope it will be done.

THE joint committee of the legislature to investigate the election of Senator Spencer is in session at the capitol. Senators Little and Parks, and Representatives Brewer, Price and Coon, compose the committee. We hear the committee has issued subpœnas for a number of witnesses, and will continue their labors into next week.

THE Advertiser needn't fret about Ward No. 7. The boys understand a thing or two. They may have been asleep on Tuesday, but you can risk your last dollar that they will be on hand hereafter. No one need abuse them for their conduct on Tuesday, as they were misinformed as to the day.

WE understand that a Grand Union Sunday School Picnic, to be under the general direction of the several superintendents, is contemplated at an early day. The place selected is Verbena, so we are informed; and the fare will be put at fifty cents for the round trip. We trust that this proposed picnic will meet with success.

THE spelling match at the City Hall, last night, was very largely attended by both ladies and gentlemen. Two classes were formed, one commanded by Capt. F. S. Ferguson, and the other by Capt C. K. Lanier. Quite a number of words were given out by Judge Stone, and some very simple ones were not spelled correctly. Owing to the lateness of the hour we cannot give the full report, but will do so to morrw.

PICNIC.—A few days since we announced that the Montgomery Shooting Club intended to give a picnic at an early day. The club has settled upon the 13th inst., as the day of their annual picnic. On that day the club and their hosts of friends will make an excursion to the cool shades of White Hall, on the Western railroad, and pass the day in the old pleasant country style. It will be a handsome affair, as the members of this club never do things by halves. We wish them a day of unalloyed enjoyment, and trust that all their friends who may accompany them will likewise enjoy the pleasant woods about White Hall.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS.—Our readers remember with pleasure the festivals given for the past two years by the Good Templars of this city. Their strawberry festivals have been very largely attended, and were more widely enjoyed than any of a similar character. On the evening of the 21st inst., as we are informed by members of the order, a strawberry festival will be given under the direction principally of the lady members of the lodge. Of course every one who can afford it will be sure to attend and enjoy the occasion. Success always attends these festivals of the Good Templars and we hope this one will meet with the same measure of success as all its predecessors.

For all Female Complaints

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&w1w

Douglass' Successor—Some Surprise in Official Circles—Uneasy Heads About the Departments.

WASHINGTON, May 6. — Ex-Senator Pratt, of Indiana, successor to J. W. Douglass, in the revenue office, is a gentleman of great influence, of the highest integrity and very popular with all classes in Indiana. His appointment is regarded as an evidence that the President intends to have a cabinet of the people. Great surprise was manifested by the officials of the office when the fact became known that Douglass had resigned. There is much uneasiness felt by certain officials in the departments at the sweeping investigations by the recent appointee. Honesty and economy is to be the future of the administration.

Meeting Between Emperor William and the Czar—Prussia Wants to Attack France—Specks of War Along the Rhine—Chofers at Bombay.

LONDON, May 6.—The Paris correspondent of the Times writes that a meeting has been arranged to take place between Emperor William and the "Czar." The purpose of the meeting is stated to be this: The Emperor William desires to ask the "Czar" what position Russia will assume if Prussia should attack France. Germany demands the surrender by France of the Fortress of Belfort, and the payment of ten milliard francs in twenty yearly instalments, and also demands that France shall reduce her standing army to a limit to be named by Germany. The situation looks warlike in the extreme.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our public buildings are capable of winning the admiration of all. THE TROTTING STALLION,

HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combination of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of speedy. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES.

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of the style and action, and is gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted when a four year old; the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:43. At the state Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka," (Dandy Jim,) grand sire "Lucy Island," "Black Hawk," grand sire "Andrew Jackson," (the first stallion that ever trotted in 2:30 in America,) by "Hawk Eye," sire "Hawk," "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee," grand dam a Manager's Paymaster mare. DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it to two cases of consumption. One case was hard-hasty had not laid on flat one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Under this head, and in this column, the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL will publish communications for which the State Journal Publishing Company will not hold itself or any individual member thereof responsible, but will always furnish names of authors of articles appearing therein on proper application. Communications for this column must be short, as they will not be allowed room in any other.

BUSINESS.

We have been asked frequently of late why we do not have a canvasser among the merchants of this city to drum up patronage for the JOURNAL. Our uniform reply has been that the city is not large enough for that kind of work. During the canvass of last year several of the business houses of this city were induced to withdraw their patronage from this paper, because of the threats repeatedly made by the defunct News, that it would advocate the destruction of the business of every merchant who should advertise in these columns. The spirit which prompted such threats has long since driven the owners of that sheet to poverty. They might force merchants to withdraw their patronage from the JOURNAL, but they could never compel them to transfer that patronage to the News. Since that time many changes have been wrought in our condition, and we see no reason now why the merchants should not advertise their business with us. Our circulation is quite large and our paper circulates among the buying classes altogether. There is patronage enough in Montgomery to support two daily papers handsomely, and if the proper support was extended it would enable both the Advertiser and the JOURNAL to make much better papers than now. Suppose that the JOURNAL, for want of patronage, should be forced to suspend its publication? We respectfully put this question to the business men of the community, and trust they will consider it. We propose to publish a newspaper—not a political organ subject to the control and dictation of office-seeking politicians, but a local newspaper devoted to the best interests of the city. The Advertiser cannot be otherwise than a party organ—a political newspaper, making party questions and party success the paramount object of its existence. On the other hand we care nothing for parties, and do not propose to sacrifice our property and our capital invested in this paper, in the interest of any set of politicians. The patronage we have is small when compared to that which we ought to receive. If there was but one newspaper in this city, we apprehend that our citizens would not have the opportunity they now enjoy of advertising at living rates. We desire to have the business community extend to us their patronage, in return for which we propose to issue a local newspaper having for its paramount object the circulation of all the latest news from abroad by telegraph, and at home in our local columns. We are perfectly willing that the Advertiser shall have all the patronage it can secure. We are not possessed of that infamous spirit which has been exhibited in this community by the News. If we did not desire to aid our community in its advancement in business and commerce, we should not ask for the patronage of our merchants; but as we hope to be able to bring trade here, by showing the inducements we possess, to the advantage of buyers, we trust that the business men of Montgomery will find it to their advantage to bestow upon the JOURNAL a small portion of their advertising patronage. Our terms are more reasonable than any daily paper in the South, and the JOURNAL is read every day by at least twelve hundred people—one thousand of whom are citizens who spend much money among our merchants.

NORTH CAROLINA BONDS—A SPICY LETTER ABOUT THEM.

An Albany manufacturer, in writing to a North Carolina correspondent, remarked that he saw the bonds of that State quoted at five cents on the dollar, closing with this remark: "We propose to economize on our cigar money so as to buy up your State." The following spicy letter came in reply:—

RALEIGH, N. C., April, 1874.

Don't think I could advise a friend to forego the luxury of his cigar two whole days for the sake of taking up the bonded debt of North Carolina. The game isn't worth the candle. I cannot read your figures, whether $25 or $5, as the quoted price of bonds; not that the difference is material; the only wonder is that they are quoted at all.

"The matter any how" would require a volume to describe, which has not yet been written—I suppose for the reason that when written it would be about as marketable as the bonds. We are a moral people, you know; and we have tried for several years to collect our assets and repudiate our debts, among which are the bonds, especially the special-tax bonds and others contracted by "carpet-baggers," "scallawags" and "niggers"; one of whom I am, to wit, the carpet-bagger. The only trouble about the scheme of repudiation arises from the fact that some of the Yankee creditors holding the bonds were not consulted, and are raising merry jinks in the courts. We only learned last winter that two could play in our little game as well as in draw poker; so the wiseacres of the Legislature concluded to throw a sop to the irrepressible Yankee purp, to see if he would not let go his hold on the vitals of mother Carolina, and they labelled it a "compromise," and advertised in New York and London that if the creditors would call off the dogs they would pay thirty or thirty-three per cent and be discharged. Don't know whether special-tax bonds were included or not. Haven't heard the result. You might make SOMETHING, possibly, by investment; but very doubtful. During the late "unpleasantness" "we had too much money; "we" redeemed it by new notes, taking two old for one new. A very successful financial measure it proved; and that's what's the matter now. We propose to pay off $1,000 old bonds with $333.33 of new ones; but "times ain't as they used to was"; and, privately, I expect that, like Mark Twain's bid for a cargo of kisses, this little financial scheme will prove a failure, owing chiefly to the fact that the moral influences surrounding Saint Jefferson's government, when he crammed that pill down "our" guzzles, are wanting to-day. In those happy days, no creditor dared squeak; but to-day they have us by the umbilicus. We can't repudiate, but we won't pay unless chawed up. Oh! we are a moral, relig ous and chivalric people; and all we want is, that our creditors will "let us alone"; and though for sale, dog cheap, we advise you to let us alone.

Yours, ***

INVITATION TO IMMIGRANTS

Dallas Grange No. 264, Selma, Ala., respectfully represents to the great brotherhood of the Order in the Northern and border states particularly—

1. That the people of Alabama, always liberal hospitable and generous, warmly welcome to their midst bona fide immigrants from all parts of the world without regard to their religious or political opinions.

2. That the climate of our State is genial and healthy; that its soil is productive; that its lands are cheap; that its wealth of minerals is inexhaustible; that its water power is abundant; that its railroad facilities are sufficient; that its markets are convenient; that churches and schools abound within its limits; that good highways extend to every neighborhood; and that it offers to immigrants every advantage elsewhere combined in the oldest and newest sections.

3. That now the government of Alabama is in the hands of good and capable men; that good laws are impartially and firmly administered; that life and property are secure as in any of the New England or Northern States; that taxation is not high; and that the public debt is comparative small.

4. That considering its climate, the productiveness of its soil, its cheap lands, its churches and educational facilities, its navigable rivers, its good roads, its mineral resources, its honest government, the peace and security everywhere prevailing, and the cordial reception its people extend to those who come among them to live, no other State in the Union or in the world presents so many attractions to honest and industrious men elsewhere with or without capital, who prefer to better their condition by emigration.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood, The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

By the Journal Publishing Company

SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1875.

SELMA is afflicted with a ring of politicians who have done the city all the harm they possibly could. An election is to take place in that city in a few days, for municipal officers, and these political place-hunters are lashing and coercing the voters of that city as if they were cattle. But the business men are evidently tired of party rings and caucus nominees, and they are encouraging independent candidates. It affords us much pleasure to see that such men as Judge B. F. Saffold, Col. P. D. Barker, Capt. Henry Cochran, Col. C. Cadle, Judge Gothard and others—good and true men, and influential citizens—are no longer to be driven by the dictations of party ring-masters; but will henceforth act with other good citizens in securing honest and capable officials. The following resolutions adopted by a meeting composed of the above gentlemen, and others, speak for themselves:

Resolved, That the Republicans of Selma prefer good government to party success, and believe that in municipal affairs the interest of the citizens and tax payers are best subserved by eschewing politics. We will therefore put forward no ticket for city officers at the ensuing election, but will support any ticket of competent men presented by citizens and tax payers independent of political considerations.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the lowest possible rate of taxation, and the most rigid economy in the management of the city government.

THE Washington Chronicle remarks that the season for the deadly White House fever is rapidly approaching. Several distinguished public men have already shown unmistakable signs of the disease. Once down with this fever, recovery is impossible. It attacks the brain first. The patient regards society as upside down, the machinery of government out of order, the nation going to the dogs rapidly, and fancies that he alone possesses the sovereign power to restore everything to the normal condition. He whispers into the ears of confidential friends, "make me President." The disease then attacks the legs, starts them on political missions, North, South, East and West, the brain trouble still increasing. If the fever culminates in a nomination, death is sudden, if it does not reach that stake, the patient dies slowly, some affirm pleasantly. Either way, death is certain. If you want to escape this terrible disease, keep your eyes off the Presidential chair.

MR. JOSEPH MEDILL, editor of the Chicago Tribune, is now in St. Louis, on his way South on a visit of recreation and observation. Mr. Medill is one of the ablest among the notable men of the west, and the journal he controls is the best, with a single exception, which modesty forbids us to mention. He should be cordially welcomed wherever he goes, because he is much more than a politician, and, if such a thing be possible, much more than an editor. He has devoted a great deal of thought and study to social and governmental theories and practices, and has a faculty for presenting his views in a clear and understandable way. His Republicanism is not always of the orthodox kind, but it is always very honestly entertained and very fairly presented. If the Southern people could get him to visit Alabama, Louisiana and Texas, and tell the country what he sees and learns, a great deal of good might result.

EDITING a paper is a nice business. If we publish jokes people say we are rattleheaded. If we omit jokes they say we are an old fossil. If we publish original matter they damn us for not giving selections. If we publish selections folks say we are lazy for not writing something they have not read in some other paper. If we give a man a complimentary notice we are censured for being partial. If we do not give complimentary notice folks say we are a hog. If we do not cater to the wishes of the ladies the paper is not fit to make a bustle. If we remain in our office and attended to our business folks say we are too proud to mingle with our fellows. If we go out they say we never attend to our business. If we do not pay our bills promptly folks say we are not to be trusted. If we do pay promptly folks say we stole the money. If we wear poor clothes folks say business is bad. If we wear good clothes they say we never paid for them. Now, what are we to do?

APPLICATION has been made at Washington for a patent on a new motive power, which is described as being a sort of cold steam generator from water and air. The inventor claims that it will supersede coal and wood for all purposes except for warmth and cooking, and that it will revolutionize the present system of motive power. The scientific experts who have examined it are reported as stating that the invention is entirely practicable. From the description it would seem to be a mechanical utilization of the forces liberated by carbonic acid gas.

THE Advertiser informs us that the drunken ex-Congressman who threatened to kill out a newspaper row in Washington, was Zach Chandler, of Michigan. We never knew before that Zachary was a fellow of that kind. If he is the man we take him for, he had better go home and let the "editorial boys" alone.

GALA DAY IN SELMA.

One of the Happiest and Most Eventful of the Year Round—The Visiting Sir Knights Templars—Brilliant Address of Gen. J. T. Holtzclaw—The Grand Ball and Reception at Gillman's Hall.

[From the Selma Echo, 7th.]

Yesterday was indeed a gala day in Selma, with the several masonic orders of the city. It was occasioned by the visit of the Sir Knights Templars to the city, for the purpose of holding their Grand Annual Conclave in our midst. The Grand Commandery of Alabama is one of the largest and best organized institutions in America, and its membership embraces the very best men in the State. It was no wonder then that our people exerted themselves to impress the visiting Sir Knights favorably with our beautiful little city.

The visiting Sir Knights and members of Selma Commandery No. 5, about half-past 4 p. m., formed in a line of march at the Masonic Lodge on Broad street, and accompanied by a band, marched to the Presbyterian Church, where, after prayer by the Rev. Dr. Andrews, of this city, and singing by the choir, and other formalities had been gone through with, Dr. Riggs, a prominent member of the Selma Commandery, led Sir Knight Holtzclaw, of Montgomery, forward and introduced him to the audience in a neat little speech, as the one selected to deliver

THE ANNUAL ADDRESS.

Not being able to publish the address in full this morning, and for fear of doing the distinguished speaker injustice, we shall not attempt to give a synopsis of it. Suffice to say, the address was delivered in that easy, nonchalant, yet withal, forcible and effective, eloquent manner characteristic of the speaker.

After the address the Knights Templars marched back to the Lodge and disbanded, only to prepare for the at Gillman's Hall tendered them by the Masonic Fraternity of Selma.

When it was announced that the Knights Templars were to entertain their friends last evening, it was equivalent to saying the affair would be a grand success, and every one was, of course, eager to be present knowing the hospitality which has ever characterized the organization. The invitations therefore, which were given out, found none of the recipients unwilling to respond, and there was assembled in Gillman's Hall last evening one of the most fashionable gatherings the hall has ever held, the "fairest and dearest" being out in multitudinous force. It seemed to us as if the whole fashion femininity of Selma was there; certainly we never saw a greater collection of beauty under one roof before. The Selma Commandery had made every preparation for the comfort and entertainment of their friends, catering to the eye, the ear, and the appetite alike with unbounded success. We are writing in no spirit of fulsome praise when we say that no previous like occasion had called together more of the genius, the beauty and fashion of this city—noted for the possession of all three.

The hour appointed was half past eight, but long before that time the hall was a mass of light. The hall was brilliantly illuminated, beautifully and tastefully decorated, and various emblematic flags, of were placed conspicuously around the large hall. Hot-house plants and beautiful bouquets of flowers were placed around the hall also in profusion, tastefully arranged and lending an air of cheerfulness to everything and every person. Of the ball room itself we can only say it was a marvel of beauty, elegance and refinement; its festooned walls, brilliant gas jets, beautifully and artistically formed emblems, etc., suggesting taste for ornament, not bordering on the gaudy, called forth admiration from the most cynical.

The gentlemen who had charge of the dancing did not allow the assemblage to become restive, but quickly put to dancing to the sweetest music it has been our fortune to listen to in many a day. And while they were threading the mazes of the quadrille, let us glance at the names of those who spared no pains to make the ball a complete success. The following are the committees:

Committee of invitation—Dr. B. H. Riggs, Dr. James Kent, Capt. R. M. Nelson, Geo. Pycock, Gen. John T. Morgan, Col. N. H. R. Dawson, Col. Robert McKee, A. Elkan.

Committee of arrangements—W. T. Daughtrey, J. D. Wilkins, J. C. Adler, James Lauderdale, John Smith, A. G. Wilson, George Woolsey, E. F. Griset, and Fred Hooker.

Floor managers—M. Watson, Frank Norris, and W. L. Smik.

We are no Jenkins—but we wish we were for this occasion, at least—consequently we cannot pretend to describe the magnificent toilets of the lady guests, but this much we do vouch for: more beautiful women were never before more beautifully attired—that is to our knowledge—nor do we believe any one else will maintain the contrary. Merry faces, on every hand, beautiful ladies, gallant and gracefully dressed beaux cavalier, a flood of light, sweet music, and a general air of home-like comfort; such is the picture presented to us at the Gillman Hall, and it is one that will live long in memory pictures of every one who had a glimpse of it.

The dancing was continued until the "wee sma' hours" had lengthened out, and the universal expression of every one was of regret that it was so soon over with.

A Georgia paper pitches into a candidates for political honors, and calls him an aristocrat. An analysis of the charges do show that he is guilty in some degree of the crime attributed to him, for it has been clearly proven that he wears a clean shirt every day in the week. We were not aware that this was so serious a matter at the South, although long acquainted with the fact that a "biled shirt" was sufficient to dig the political grave of a politician in the territories.

THE reading of a good and well conducted newspaper, even for the space of one quarter of a year, brings more sound instruction, and leaves a deeper impression, than would probably be acquired at the best school in twelve months. Talk to the members of a family who read the papers, and compare their intelligence and information with those who do not. The difference is beyond comparison.

CHARLES SUMNER'S MONUMENT.

Some time since the artists of the country were invited to prepare designs or models for a monument to Senator Charles Sumner. The statue is to cost $20,000, and is to adorn the city of Boston, where the late Senator was so well known and highly respected. In compliance with this call, one of the local artists, Mr. M. Schneiderhahn, a sculptor at No. 307 Convent st, Boston has prepared a model which has been on exhibition fors everal days in the Mercantile Library. The model is in plaster of Paris, and is but one fourth the size of the monument now in contemplation. It comprises a pedestal, on the summit of which Mr. Sumner is seated in a Senatorial chair, with a book in one hand and a pen in the other. Mr. Sumner's features are well expressed, his posture graceful, and his attire, including the toga, becomes him very well.

At the foot of the column there are several allegorical female figures. One of these represents Columbia, wearing a helmet and having the national flag and a sword in her hands. The next is Liberty, displaying a broken rod and broken chains. Justice holds the traditional scales in her hands, while history records on a roll the deeds of the heroic dead.

The entire work of art is five feet high, the different figures being sixteen inches each. The work is very creditable to the artist, and is a noble triumph of his perseverance and skill.

THE United States treasury has, at present, nearly eleven and ... million dollars more in its vaults than it had at the corresponding dat last year. There is now gold enough on hand to meet the requirements of the sinking fund and pay the July interest, with a surplus of several millions, if there should be no more receipts until the close of the current fiscal year. Last year, at this time, at the end of the tenth month of the fiscal year, the debt had been reduced during the year but little more than $2,000,000. The reduction at the end of the tenth month of this year is $11,000,000. This is doing considerably better than some of the leading treasury officers had expected.

A FUSSY official came to conspicuous grief in Louisville last week. He got the police authorities to seize samples of milk from every wagon selling the lacteal commodity in the city, and proved by chemical analysis that every sample was adulterated. Instead of being hailed as a public benefactor, and having his photograph sent on to New York for reproduction in the daily Graphic, he was told that as the people of Louisville never put milk in their whisky, they didn't care a copper how much adulteration there was going on in the former fluid; and the fussy official now thinks of going to St. Louis, and measuring the macadam that is paid for by the special tax bills.

In other words small things offer more inducements to the thief than larger ones. That is, the more a thief sees the less he steals, or the more he steals the less he wants. Well this may be the case in other places, but it is not so here.

THERE are plenty of applicants for every vacancy in public office. The trouble is, not in finding men to fill th offices, but in securing the right men for the place. We are not in favor of a lifetenure in the civil service, but would have good men retained by holding out such inducements as will secure their services.

OFFICE OF O. SACKETT, Drugs and Medicines.
NEW ALBANY, Ind. April 10, 1874.

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; two bottles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them.

Yours truly, etc.,
O. SACKETT.

SPELLING MATCH.

THE BEE AT THE CITY HALL.

Was It a Dunce School?

Montgomery has seen it. It was at the new city hall on Thursday night. Of course it was a "spellin' Bee." Hon. George W. Stone, of Ward No. 5, was the generalissimo. Capt. F. S. Ferguson had one company and Capt. Cliff Lanier had the other. Hon. David Clopton was monitor, or something of that kind. Col. D. S. Troy, Dr. M. P. Le Grand, Josiah Morris, Esq., and others were on the platform as a sort of Tribune to look over the proceedings. The Hall was crowded with fair ladies and brave men, and boquets of spring's fairest and sweetest flowers were here and there happily arranged on small tables exhaling their pleasant odors over the scene. The fairest and loveliest of the fair and lovely daughters were there in full force. Bright eyes flashed like diamonds under the hundreds of brilliant gas jets; and scattered here and there could be seen the eminent spellists, waiting the bugle call, to step up to the ranks. It was a beautiful scene. Here were the latest fashions of spring dresses, spring hats, neck-ties and fans; and the eyes of many a lovesick swain could be seen prying among the hundreds of lovely faces after that bright, particular star which he claims all his own.

But what has all this to do with the spelling match? it doesn't have much, we admit, but perhaps it is well enough to prefix this sad story with something rich, rare and racy.

After an hour of preparation, the exercises began. It was nearly 10 o'clock when Judge Stone took his stand in front of a ten-pounder dictionary. The first word given out was "vermillion." It may have been spelt with two "l's" but we didn't hear but one. Among those who formed the classes were editors, lawyers, doctors, clerks, and almost every other profession was represented. When the word "indellible" was sounded, a young man responded with one "l." He quietly drew in his tongue and looked as blank as a clean blackboard. Judge Stone, in a respectful manner, asked one of the young men to spell "peon." The young man responded with "peau." Here the ladies laughed, and this young man quietly wished he was at home with his mother. The next word Judge Stone hurled at the young men was "bawled." Silence reigned a few moments, when a nice young man, with his hair parted in the middle, slowly exclaimed: "b-a-w-l-l-e-d." If the ladies hadn't commenced laughing again, that nice young man would have went home under the impression that he was a first class spellist. The word "sycophant" next came rolling towards the class of Capt. Lanier, when Ben. Screws gathered it up and tusselled with it until he mastered it. We will wager a button that Capt. Ben. Screws can eat up as many words correctly, as any other man this side of Tar river. But when the word "freeze" came over from Judge Stone, and a light-haired young man, with a mustache about six month's old, took it up and made it "freaze," the ladies were so amused that they had to laugh out in school.

And so the spelling bee continued until way into the night. It was a success in every respect, except the spelling. Our neighbor over the way tusselled with a painter's "palleite," and "slang" it about until it was "pallet" simple and pure. Yesterday morning he drew old Webster on them and claimed the cap. Nevertheless we maintain that Webster is a dunce if he pretends to hold that a bed and a painter's board are one and the same thing. If our neighbor thinks he has the best of it, he is welcome to it.

But the match was a complete success. The ladies who exerted themselves in the effort to get up the Bee deserve great credit. Some people, however, call the Bee a Dunce School.

WE acknowledge the receipt of a ticket to the Mechanics and Blacksmith's picnic on the 20th inst., at Picket Springs Park. There is no other class of people, of whatever avocation, that has so fine an appreciation of these annual festivals as the mechanics. Endowed with every faculty which finds full development in the various branches and grades of mechanism, there is no other class so beneficial to the country, or adds so much to human comforts and happiness as the big hearted, deep souled fraternity. May we all have a happy picnic on the occasion.

THE contractor has nearly completed the ornaments and extras to the new city building. We notice a beautiful weather vane is being put up on the tower. The building is certainly the finest in the city and will be an ornament to the capitol city of Alabama.

BUSINESS is very dull. Merchants say they have leisure to go fishing or engage in other sports.

WORKMEN are engaged in laying down pipe to conduct water into the store rooms and the postoffice in the building.

THE U. S. Court is still in session. The civil docket is being disposed of rapidly. Judge Bruce has created a favorable impression upon the members of the bar and the public.

BOCK BEER.

THE GREAT SPRING BEVERAGE.

As many readers of the JOURNAL are very partial to that excellent beverage—Bock Beer—perhaps they would like to know its origin. The origin and meaning of the term "Bock Beer" is not known to every one. A German friend tells us that the name came into existence about a century ago. A North German and a South German Prince made a wager, foolishly it would seem, that the one could drink more beer than the other. The scene of the bout was at the home of the Southern Prince. Each Prince was to drink the beer furnished by the other. Now, the Northern Prince was a straightforward, honest fellow, and brought down several kegs of the beer common to his country; but the Southern Prince was a tricky chap, and had beer, sweet and smooth, but very strong, made especially for the occasion.

As the story goes, they at an appointed hour, set themselves down beside their flasks and flagons and began the singular contest. They quaffed mug after mug, chatting and smoking as they drank, until all of a sudden the Northern Prince felt the effects of his potations in his head, and stepped into the garden near at hand to cool off and straighten up. He had not taken a dozen steps till he fell headlong upon the ground. A servant ran to his assistance and helping him to arise, asked the cause of his fall. "A Buck ran against me from without and knocked me over, but has now disappeared. The reply of the defeated Prince went from mouth to mouth until it became customary when calling for very strong beer, to ask for buck or bock beer. And this, it is claimed, is the origin of the term. And, by the way, speaking of Bock Beer, reminds us that Fritz Hinderer keeps the best in the market.

PERSONAL.—Captain J. H. Goff, of Huntsville, called on us yesterday. Capt. Edgar of the same city also called.

THE Alabama Editorial Association will meet in Huntsville next Tuesday. The Association will probably make a trip to New York.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." WASHINGTON.

Letter from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue—Important to Tobacco and Cigar Dealers.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The following interesting and important letter was sent out to-day:

OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
WASHINGTON, May 6, 1875.

GENTLEMEN: I have received your letter of the 28th ult., enclosing for the approval of this office, the centre part of a strip, being a portion of what seems to have been intended to bear a resemblance to the import stamp required by law to be affixed to all cigars imported from foreign countries before leaving the Custom-house, and desiring to be informed if you can put it upon domestic cigars.

In reply I have to say that you are not unaware that the law (see section 3337, Revised Statutes), forbids that any person shall affix to any box containing cigars, a stamp in the similitude or likeness of any stamp required to be used by the laws of the United States, whether the same be a customs or internal revenue stamp, declaring the act a felony, and imposing a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, and imprisonment for not less than six months nor more than three years.

In a case involving the right of cigar manufacturers to use upon cigar boxes stamps in the similitude of the stamps put upon imported cigars at the custom-house, lately tried before His Honor, Judge Benedict, of the U. S. Circuit Court, of New York city, the Judge is reported to have instructed the jury that such "strips" to be in the "similitude or likeness" did not require that the respective stamps should be alike, but that there should be some semblance between them.

This view of the case is precisely in accord with that which this office always has and does still entertain, relative to this matter. After having affixed a proper internal revenue stamp to his cigar box, and the caution with such other marks, brands, &c., as the law requires, the manufacturer of domestic cigars may affix such other labels of his own, containing thereon such printed matter as he sees fit, provided such labels are not so affixed as to cancel or obliterate the matter printed or otherwise which the law requires to appear on the box. The manufacturer's private labels cannot legally be so made in form, design, style, or of such subject matter as to give them the similitude or likeness of a Government cigar stamp, either customs or internal revenue. Various samples of imitation stamps have from time to time been presented to this office for their approval by different persons complained of. There can be but one object in view in affixing to boxes of domestic cigars labels, if so they can be termed, made up in form and style and having in all cases a resemblance, and sometimes a very close resemblance to imported cigar stamp. They are intended unquestionably to convey to the mind of the inexperienced that the cigars having such stamps or labels affixed are really imported cigars, otherwise, why are manufacturers so persistent in urging their use? Why are the various experiments to see how closely in form, design, style and matter these strip stamps or labels may be made and used without a violation of the law. This fact of an imitation stamp, however slight the imitation, or of a stamp bearing the similitude or likeness, or in the language of Judge Benedict, "some resemblance" to the imported cigar stamp must be given up. This office will neither approve nor acquiesce in the use of a stamp, label or strip bearing even "some resemblance" to the government stamp though such resemblance may be too remote to prove a dangerous deception. Remove all such resemblance from your strips or labels, and you will require no approval from this office to use them, but while you shall use that which resembles or has the similitude or likeness of a government stamp on your boxes of domestic cigars, the approval of this office would not protect you from the penalties of the violated law. Yours respectfully,

Signed: J. W. DOUGLASS,
Commissioner.

Execution of Sturtevant—His Indifference to Death—He Makes no Confession, and has but a "D——d" Word to Send to Relatives.

PLYMOUTH, April 7.—Sturtevant passed a comfortable night and slept well. He ate a hearty breakfast, and was as cool and unconcerned as ever this morning. He still insisted upon his innocence. He has made no confession. He was very sullen and ugly all day yesterday. A surviving uncle called on him in the afternoon, and during his conversation asked him: "Have you any word to leave for your friends, or any message?" "Not a d—d thing," said he. "Have you no word for your father?" asked his uncle. "Not a d—d word," was his reply. A few days ago he was advised to confess his crime. He said: "No; I have been condemned on circumstantial evidence, am not guilty, and shall not confess. I shall leave a bad enough legacy for my children without that of a confessed murderer." Soon after 9 o'clock a few persons were admitted to the jail. Religious services were conducted by Mr. Hathaway, the chaplain of the jail. The prisoner was brought in and seated in a chair. The only indication of emotion was at times the heavy breathing of the prisoner. A few minutes after 10 o'clock Sturtevant, accompanied by Sheriff Bates and deputies, was marched from prison to the gallows. When asked if he had anything to say, he replied, "No." The black cap was pulled down and the execution carried into effect at ten minutes to 10 o'clock.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of exciting the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. For further particulars, address, G. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DIBBLE & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

THE TROTTING STALLION.

HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

Fifty dollars the season, and $5.00 privilege to use. Full for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combination of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted, when a four year old, the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:36. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim"), g g sire "Lucy Island" "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g g, sire "Bashaw," g g g g g, "Grand Bashaw, imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

DR. J. S. PEMBERTON, Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—I have received your circulars, and in consequence of the distribution, I have sold about six dozen Globe Flower Syrup in the last two weeks. The Globe Flower Syrup is gaining great celebrity. I recommended it in two cases of consumption. One case was bed-fast; had not laid on but one side for two years; hemorrhages almost every day; much emaciated, and expected to die. He has taken six bottles of Globe Flower Syrup; his troubles are all gone, except prostration, which is rapidly improving. He will certainly get well. The other case is similar, with same good results. I can send you many testimonials if you want them. Yours truly, etc.,

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large, avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

The attention of advertisers is called to the

State Journal

As a medium for judicious advertising. The large and rapidly increasing circulation in every county of the State, renders it a desirable medium for the merchant, professional man, and in fact all classes who desire to bring to the notice of the people in particular localities or the State at large their business or desires.

Trusting for a continuance of your favors for 1875,

THE BLAST AT POLYGAMY

GRAND JURY CHARGE OF JUDGE ROLLMAN AT BEAVER, UTAH.

[From the Salt Lake Tribune.]

* * * Polygamy or bigamy will require your attention. This is a crime that is very prevalent in this district and throughout the Territory. Its polluting effects are seen on every side and in every community. The children of said marriages are generally growing up as wild animals, without training, instruction, or parental care. It is, of course, utterly impossible, except in isolated cases, for one father to look after the training of children separated and in various families, and there is generally little or no effort made to look after them. The consequences are seen all over the Territory that polygamy, in every phase of its character, is degrading and beastly. It drags man down to the level of the beast. She is looked upon as a drudge and slave, fit only to perform the hardest work and to gratify the slavish passions of those to whom she believes herself married. She never hears the endearing name of wife, but always hears the cheerless title of "my woman." She knows nothing of love. No section of the United States is filled with people so negligent as are the families in Utah. Vice is very prevalent, and general degradation every where marks the footsteps of this loath, some crime. It is a crime that each of you know is practiced. Every community has numerous persons living in polygamy, and the leaders, nearly all guilty of the crime, persistently urge their deluded followers into committing the same degrading offense. Yet these very men will tell the world that they are law-abiding citizens! Such falsehoods are but two common, and men do not even hesitate to sometimes perjure themselves in regard to this offense. There are some are men in polygamy whom I should not like to see punished. I refer to a few instances in which an honest and perfect separation has taken place between the parties; and I believe all good people would rather that none should be punished if they will but cut loose from the system. Some talk about polygamy as a part of their religion. So far as the more intelligent are concerned, this is the silliest nonsense. They do not think it to be so. They used to claim that blood atonement was a part of their religion, but elevating influences and better civilization showed this to be sanctioning cold-blooded murder. It is now almost, if not entirely, dead. So will this twin crime, ploygamy, soon look to the eyes of the now deluded masses. The day is fast approaching when this hideous monster will be put out of sight as a thing too loathsome for public view.

HOW TO KEEP HOUSE ON A SMALL SALARY

We shall do our readers service by copying the following from Scribner's for March:

"After many years of married life passed in comparative affluence, reverses came, and my husband was obliged to accept a situation in a large city, with a salary of eight hundred dollars a year. I felt that this could suffice for our maintenance only by the exercise of the strictest economy. A little over fifteen dollars a week! How many times I divided that eight hundred by fifty-two, and tried to make it come out a little more. Still I determined to solve the problem of the day—namely, whether one could keep house on a small salary, or whether boarding-house life was a necessity, as so many clerk's wives assert. We had neither of us been accustomed to economizing, and I felt it was but just, if my husband worked hard for big salary, that I should make it go as far as possible.

Thirty replies were received to our advertisement for two unfurnished rooms without board. In a pleasant house and neighborhood, I found two adjoining rooms with closets and water conveniences, for twelve dollars per month. In one of them were two deep south windows where I could keep a few flowers in winter. I consulted my husband and engaged them. We had one hundred and seventy-five dollars in hand. With this we bought bright but inexpensive carpets, a parlor cook stove, an oiled walnut set of furniture, a table, a student lamp, a few dishes, and some coal. With the few pictures, a pack of books, and some ornaments which we had we decked the rooms tastefully, and began the serious business of keeping house on $800 a year. From the first we decided to have no accounts, but to pay cash for everything we bought, and if we could not afford an article we did without it. After paying rent and washerwoman, we had fifty dollars a month left for other expenses. Twenty dollars of this furnished us food, and paid our fare. I learned to love my work. Strength came with each day's labor, and renewed health repaid each effort to make my little home pleasant and restful to my husband. And how we did enjoy that little home.

When the stormy nights came we drew our curtains, and with a high fire and the soft glow of our lamp upon the crimson cloth, read a magazine or an evening paper, forgetting in our cosy home how many there were in the great city who would call us poor. We always kept within my husband's salary, wearing plain, but good, respectable clothing, and eating simple, substantial food. And now that circumstances have improved and we are living in a house all our own, with servants, and thousands instead of hundreds a year, we look back to the years spent in our simple, frugal little home and know that it will always be the happiest memory of our lives." Just so and yet how many are willing to try it? We sacrifice the substance of life for its shadow. We deny ourselves its comforts for the shake of its luxuries. We sleep in closets and endure the myriad nuisances of boarding houses in order to make a fair appearance upon the street. We starve when a little forethought and prudence would enable us to live. We board, when a little resolute self-denial, a little thrift and management would give us homes.

INVITATION TO IMMIGRANTS.

Dallas Grange No. 264, Selma, Ala., respectfully represents to the great brotherhood of the Order in the Northern and border states particularly—

1. That the people of Alabama, always liberal hospitable and generous, warmly welcome to their midst bona fide immigrants from all parts of the world without regard to their religious or political opinions.

2. That the climate of our State is genial and healthy; that its soil is productive; that its lands are cheap; that its wealth of minerals is inexhaustible; that its water power is abundant; that its railroad facilities are sufficient; that its markets are convenient; that churches and schools abound within its limits; that good highways extend to every neighborhood; and that it offers to immigrants every advantage elsewhere combined in the oldest and newest sections.

3. That now the government of Alabama is in the hands of good and capable men; that good laws are impartially and firmly administered; that life and property are secure as in any of the New England or Northern States; that taxation is not high; and that the public debt is comparative small.

4. That considering its climate, the productiveness of its soil, its cheap lands, its churches and educational facilities, its navigable rivers, its good roads, its mineral resources, its honest government, the peace and security everywhere prevailing, and the cordial reception its people extend to those who come among them to live, no other State in the Union or in the world presents so many attractions to honest and industrious men elsewhere with or without capital, who prefer to better their condition by emigration.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and are more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines preserved in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

LAGRANGE, GA., March 2, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, GA., March 21, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public

Yours respectfully, REV. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

PREJUDICE AND THE BLACK FLAG.

The Advertiser, being a strict party organ, and having but one purpose in view—the triumph of party ideas and partyisms—can see nothing good in any of its contemporaries, unless they subordinate themselves to its views and confine themselves to its narrow standard. For instance, the Advertiser imagines that it is a sacred duty on its part, to assail the character and reputation of every man who does not hold its views and its principles. It believes that, because Alexander White does not agree with it, therefore Mr. Alexander White is unfit to be recognized as a gentleman. It knows that Mr. White is an able lawyer, a prominent politician and because of his high legal attainments and experienced observation in public affairs, a gentleman of much influence. Yet because he differs with the Advertiser that journal would destroy his character, decry his abilities, and drive him from society. Not so with us. We differ with Col. White in some of his views. We think his support of both the civil rights and force bills were based upon a misconception of the actual condition of our political affairs. We are opposed to the force bill in all and every feature it contains. But because we differ with Col. White must we heap all sorts of foul epithets upon him? Must we charge him with being the consort of thieves and swindlers? This is what the Advertiser has done; and will, no doubt, continue to do, because it is a party organ and must do all the dirty work the party requires. Still, we do not believe that the great mass of the people indorse any such mode of conducting politics. Men have differed in all ages of the world. Ever since the confusion of tongues at the tower of Babel, the human family has made its history up of a great variety of opinions in religion and politics.

We are for the exercise, by every citizen of this free country, of the broadest liberty in conscience and expression. We maintain that our fellow men have the right to differ with us upon all subjects, and that they ought to be as good as we are. The Advertiser thinks differently. If anyone differs with the Advertiser, he is a scoundrel and unfit for association with decent men. That is its doctrine, and it takes occasion to express its sentiments every day. It assaults Alexander White as a degraded man, not because Col. White has violated any law, or committed any crime known to our laws. His crime is in not seeing as the Advertiser does. It is a narrow and heartless sentiment indeed which permits no difference of opinion in a land where our constitution itself declares that liberty of conscience and liberty of speech is one of the corner stones of our free government.

Again: We recently republished from the Chicago Tribune, an independent paper, and one of the most—if not the most—influential newspapers west of New York, an editorial article condemning the sentiments of General Beauregard in reference to the black flag which he proposed to fight under during the late war. General Beauregard never possessed a more ardent admirer than we are. We served under him faithfully while he commanded the Army of the Tennessee. Often have we been cheered and encouraged at his presence and his brave, gallant bearing upon the field of battle. Often have we seen the discouraged troops, whose noble deeds made him immortal, revived and made invincible by his daring and his soldierly appearance, in front of the enemy. But in all this time we never knew that General Beauregard had ever expressed the sentiments which he now, in a published letter, proclaims that he entertained. He was in favor of hoisting the black flag; he was ready to murder every prisoner that was captured. All the forms and rules of civilized warfare were to be disregarded, and men, women and children were to be butchered in cold blood. The firebrand was to play a prominent part in his warfare. The black flag spares neither age, sex nor condition. Had he carried out his designs, the South would to-day be a barren waste. In Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas, North Carolina and South Carolina, there would be nothing to-day but a few blackened chimneys and graves. General Beauregard affirms that he indorsed such warfare, and endeavored to have it inaugurated, but the South refused to do so.

The Advertiser indorses these sentiments of General Beauregard. We do not. But because we do not the Advertiser would crush us, destroy our business and starve us. We must confess that this is a rather novel—though certain—way of dealing with those who differ with us. But we do not believe that the brave soldiers of the South, whose heroic deeds are to-day the admiration of the civilized world, will indorse General Beauregard. They well know that had such sentiments been carried into effect during the war, thousands of happy and contented men would now be in their graves and their wives and children if not the same might be starving. Such sentiments ought not to be indorsed by the South. If they are, our people had as well prepare for another resort to the sword, for there can be no peace in this country if the people of the South are to indorse the black flag ideas, and hold that General Beauregard expresses their sentiments today. We were getting along very well, and the people North and South were just beginning to understand more of each other—mutual expressions of good will and kindly sentiments were almost of daily occurrence—when, like a bombshell in a quiet camp, General Beauregard steps to the front with the black flag.

The Advertiser may indorse such conduct if it desires, and is more than welcome to all it may make of it; but we desire to state emphatically that we oppose all such sentiments, let them come from what quarter they may. We are for peace and good order throughout the whole country; and we are opposed to every man and every journal that is not for the same.

HEALTH OF OUR CITIES.

The mortality of American cities for 1874, as reported by the Massachusetts Board of Health, occasions considerable comment in the journals.

The lowest average on the list is St. Louis, 16.27 per 1000 of the population; then following, Buffalo, 18.46; Milwaukee, 19.09; Philadelphia, 19.54; Washington, 19.54; Washington, 19.72; Providence, 19.86; Chicago, 20.31; Baltimore, 21.14; Detroit, 21.69; Boston, 23.60; Brooklyn, 24.46; Pittsburg, 24.69; New York, 27.01; Newark, 21.16.

In commenting upon this, the St. Louis Democrat calls attention to the remarkable differences caused by more ample accommodations in Philadelphia, and to the contrast between that city and New York.

But it seems that the average number of persons to a dwelling is higher there than in some other cities, namely: Cleveland, 5.5; Detroit, 5.4; Washington, 5.6; San Francisco, 5.7; New Orleans, 5.7; Philadelphia, 6. The highest averages are: New York, 14.7; Cincinnati, 8.8; Brooklyn, 8.6; Boston, 8.4; St. Louis, 7.8; Providence, 7.4; Newark, 7.3.

Our western cities are exempt from the evils of the foreign influx, while they get all the benefits of it; the seaboard cities have to cope with these burdens, and their pauper and prison statistics show the results.

Otherwise the Atlantic cities are all remarkably healthy, even in densely populated New York.

It must also be observed that the largest allowances are made for increased population in the western cities, which may be and probably are incorrect.

We think that Montgomery can make as good a show as any interior city of the country. Our city is well situated, and unless disease is brought here—such as contagious—the mortality among our people is quite small when compared with that of other Southern cities of even less population.

THE Philadelphia Times remarks that Mrs. Tilton's letter to Judge Neilson is the most painful climax in the Beecher case, and however the world may judge her as an innocent or guilty woman, most persons will feel the keenest sympathy awakened for her on reading her impassioned and sorrowful sentences. The letter is evidently her own, and the outpouring of a flood of grief that was forgetful of the law and of the proprieties of the occasion, and, whether sinning or most sinned against, her story is sad enough. In her distress she confesses "the frequent falsehoods" wrung from her, and she doubtless does not overstate her situation when she says that "my soul cries before you" at the prospect of a divided verdict that will leave the stain of guilt unwashed from her name. We cannot criticise this effusion as under all ordinary circumstances it would merit. She is not now, and she never seems to have been, responsible in the sense that most persons are responsible, and to judge her harshly would be not only uncharitable, but it would be cruel. A weak, cultivated, enthusiastic sentimentalist, and a religionist with a zeal and fervor that cut loose from all the directions of reason, she was capable of almost anything if exposed in her weakness to the tempter, and that too without deliberate moral turpitude. She is a pointed illustration that he or she "who has most of heart has most of sorrow," and her whole life seems to have been but one fitful play of the darkest shadows, with occasional sunshine. In weakness she bore false witness—so much she tells in her severe contrition—and in weakness she loved, she hated, she smiled, she wept, and finished the saddest testimony against herself. Even with those who accept the worst construction of her sayings and actions, there are few who will not feel that for her they should yield "in soft adoption of another's sorrow."

ON the whole, the nation is to be congratulated upon the change that has been made in the Attorney-General's slip, and if the President will only bring such a pressure upon Secretary of the Interior Delano as will compel him to follow the example of Mr. Williams, and will appoint in his place a man as satisfactory in all respects as Mr. Pierrepont, he will do very much to stem the tide of unpopularity which has of late been setting in rather strongly against his administration. It is obviously Delano's turn now to step down and out, and the sooner he is made to see the thing in a proper light the better it will be.—[Philadelphia Telegraph, (Rep.)

No one down South seems to regret the retirement of Mr. Williams except the Advertiser. It will not be happy because it cannot play upon the outrage string any more. We are sorry for our neighbor, but we know that the matter cannot be helped.

A KENTUCKY correspondent, discussing the coming campaign in that State, says, that the first requisite of the Democratic nominee for Governor must be "a clean war record from a Confederate standpoint," whatever Eastern and New England readers may think about this. The Republicans hold their Convention May 13, and the writer says that "General Apathy, the old commander of the party in Kentucky, is still at his post."

BEN HILL has been elected to Congress from the 9th District of Georgia, over two opponents, Messrs. Price and Estes, both claiming to be as good Democrats as Mr. Hill. The trouble with them, however, is that Ben Hill has more brains than a dozen of such combined. We regard Gen. Hill as one of the ablest men in the South. He has some few prejudices left from the olden time which we hope will wear away when he comes in contact with the new men and new order of things at Washington. Our people must drop the war and everything connected with it, and take hold of the live things of the hour. We need men of live ideas, men of nerve and energy in public places. We are moving along too rapidly for old fossils, and old politicians. Let us keep up with the age.

COLORED BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL.

MONTGOMERY, May 7, 1875.

The tenth anniversary of the First Colored Baptist Church Sunday School took place on the 5th inst. The school marched from the church to the depot at 8½ o'clock, and boarded the train bound for White Hall station. The band of Mr. James Turner accompanied the excursion. At Lowndesboro the school was joined by the Sunday school of that place, headed by Mr. J. E. P. Lucas and Rev. Marshall Tyler, pastor of the church. Arriving at White Hall, addresses were delivered by Revs. M. A. Foster, Stephen Hilliard and H. A. Loveless. The exercises of the day were then commenced, and the crowning of the Queen was the most interesting feature of the occasion. Miss Charlotte Jenkins was the Queen. Several addresses were made by the scholars from Lowndesboro and Montgomery; also by Mr. Solomon Terrell. A dialogue between M. E. Edwards and Mr. Geo. Adams was creditably rendered.

The one thing needful for the perfect enjoyment of love is confidence—same with hash and sausage.

WE had a small taste yesterday of what is to be in July and August. Ice water and fans are now the order.

YESTERDAY the market was the scene of the largest crowd of people we have seen for a long time.

IF there is anything more needed in Montgomery than factories, it is a public park. But, shucks, nobody will believe it.

THE attention of those interested is called to the advertisement of the colored Baptist Sunday school excursion.

STRANGERS visiting the city will not be surprised at the number of loose dogs they see walking about. There is no tax on dogs in this State.

COMMERCE street grocers are daily shipping large quantities of meat, flour, meal and salt, to the country. This shows that our people do not live at home.

COTTON MARKET dull; middlings 15 cents; low middlings 14¾ cents; strict good ordinary 14½ cents; good ordinary 14 cents; ordinary 10@11 cents.

IN the city court yesterday, on motion of Judge Rice, the cases against James Fitzpatrick, to cause him to turn over school funds, were dismissed, by Judge Minnis.

OWING to the sickness of editors and some of the compositors in this office, yesterday, we failed to get out our Sunday paper as we desired. The scarcity of matter must be attributed alone to causes over which we had no control.

THOMAS MCDONOUGH, charged with shooting the colored man, Creed Scott; on election night, was yesterday fined $50 by the mayor, and bound over to the city court in the sum of $500. Several other cases of minor importance were disposed of.

A COUPLE of gentlemen came very near having a little "unpleasantness" at the entrance to the market yesterday afternoon. Pistols were drawn and big "cuss words" used freely, but the police waltzed around that way and no blood was shed. Glad of it.

PERSONS desiring to improve their breeds of cattle will have an opportunity to purchase a very fine animal on Tuesday, at auction, at the artesian basin. This is considered the best stock in this county. Read the advertisement of Mr. John Strauss.

THERE is some trouble about the recent sale of the Western railroad, and the probability is that a long law suit will be the end of the thing. These railroads are a peck of trouble to some people—not to us.

THE Henshaw base-ball club have a beautiful belt, which they will present to the member of that club who does the best playing in the match game which the Henshaw's intend to play the Pettus club of Selma, on the 15th in Selma. Go in boys. May the best man win.

MONTGOMERY SHOOTING CLUB.—We return thanks to the Montgomery shooting club, for an invitation to attend their grand annual shooting club, at White Hall, on the Western Railroad, on Thursday the 13th inst. We have no doubt it will be one of the most pleasant and enjoyable occasion of the season, and attended by a large number of our citizens.

A COMPLIMENT TO MONTGOMERY.—We observe from the proceeding of the Medical Association of the United States recently in session at Louisville, that our popular fellow-citizen, Dr. S. D. Seelye, has been elected one of the Vice-Presidents of the Association for the ensuing year. This is a compliment which is duly appreciated by us. Dr. Seelye is worthy of the honor conferred upon him.

WE have heard the opinion delivered by Judge Bruce, of the United States District Court, in the matter of Shulman & Frankfurter, against Jacob Abraham, spoken of very highly as an able, clear and logical judgment. Judge Bruce is fast winning his way to prominence on the bench. His manner is calm, dignified and prompt. He is well liked by the members of the bar and by the people.

NEW REGISTER.—By some inadvertance we have failed to note the resignation of Mr. John W. Hughes and the appointment of Col. V. M. Elmore in his stead, as Register in Chancery for this county. Col. Elmore is a member of the firm of Elmore & Gunter, and is a gentleman well qualified in every respect for the position. If all Chancellor Austill's acts are as sound as the appointment of Col. Elmore, he will be the most popular Chancellor the State ever had.

AMIDST on times are hard and business dull, there is one interest which is increasing in magnitude in Alabama. We refer to the mining of coal. Col. J. T. Milner informs us that he is shipping coal from the New Castle mines to Pensacola, and that the ship, Valley City, is loading for a trip down the Southern coast. A line of vessels has been running from Cedar Keys, and the company intend extending to Pensacola so that cheap coal may be had. The New Castle coal has been thoroughly tested and is pronounced the best coal in the country for making steam. The coal and iron fields of Alabama are unsurpassed in extent and quality by any in the world. All that is needed is capital to develop their great wealth.

FAIR.

Sisters of Loretto at Estelle Hall.

Our readers will please remember that the Sisters of Loretto will give a fair at Estelle Hall, Tuesday evening, next. Every preparation incident to the occasion has been made, and there will be unusual attractions offered to the public. Besides the usual attractions of fairs, there will be quite a number of raffles for articles of value, and an opportunity will be offered for some one to get a handsome pair of gold mounted harness, manufactured in this city, by our old friend Eugene Mahoney. The purpose of this fair is to enable these noble ladies to meet a small amount of indebtedness against the convent, on Adams street. Every citizen of Montgomery who served in the armies during the war, will have cause to remember with gratitude and affection the heroic sacrifices of the noble sisters of charity who often imperilled their useful lives in waiting upon the sick and wounded. No soldier can ever forget these noble ladies and their still noble deeds; and we trust that Estelle Hall will be crowded on Tuesday evening to its uttermost. Let men and women and children, old and young, attend the fair and assist the sisters in making up the necessary funds to meet their needs. Let not one falter in this cause.

THE PENSACOLA EXCURSION.

A Rare Inducement for Enjoyment.

The excursion to Pensacola under the auspices of the Montgomery Lodge I. O. O. F., will afford our citizens a rare opportunity to enjoy themselves this warm weather. The price of round trip tickets is so low that almost every one can afford to participate in the excursion. Not only will a very pleasant railroad trip be offered, but visits will be made in boats to all the points of interest about Pensacola. The forts will be visited, and this will necessitate a most pleasant trip on the waters of the bay. Other points of attraction will also be visited, offering unusual enjoyment. Let every one who can afford to do so, buy a ticket and participate in the excursion.

By reference to the advertisement it will be seen that the Singer sewing machine company have reduced the price of their machine needles to 50 cents per dozen, and warrant them superior to any other. The word of Capt. Miller, the energetic and popular agent for Alabama of this excellent sewing machine is a sufficient guarantee to our people. The Singer manufacturing company sold during the year 1874, the wonderful number of 241,679 sewing machines in the United States, or within a small number of as many as all the seventeen other sewing machine companies in this country combined sold. The Singer justly deserves the title of the Queen of machines.

DOGS.—Probably the greatest nuisance that afflicts Montgomery is the superabundance of worthless dogs we meet with every day. They are a curse to the decent dogs that stay at home and mind their own business, and a scab on the community generally, besides being a dangerous impediment to vehicles. The obstinacy with which they try to usurp the streets and sidewalks is only excelled in disagreeableness by their presumptuous howling when kicked out of the way or run over. It is almost dangerous to let a horse out at full speed on some of the streets, especially about the market house. A dog trotting along the middle of the street is presently brought to a halt by half a dozen more who seem anxious to find out where he is going, or to make his acquaintance; or to lick him; the latter is most usually the case, for it is a rare thing to see a dog in Montgomery but an unfortunate straggler is contending against heavy odds. Our most respectable dog fanciers, too, seem to be inspired with the same brave that actuates the half dozen to pummel the single under dog in the fight. There is an old story about "times that tried men's souls;" but it would hardly be just to locate them in such a predicament. We understand that a gentleman in the country is raising four thoroughbred bull dogs, and it is only a matter of time when he will turn them loose upon the half breeds that obstruct the free passage of the streets of Montgomery.

"I wish I was a pudding, ma ma!" "Why?" "'Cause I should have such lots of sugar put into me."

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness, or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows: "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house-work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all dealers in medicines. 1-11d&wlw

FROM WASHINGTON.

Probable Panic—Increased Tax on Whisky—Illicit Distillation, etc., opens the Eyes of the Secretary of Treasury—Weather.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—There are causes for the panic among some of the principal office holders at Washington and their subordinates which the sudden removal of Mr. Douglas, late Commissioner of Internal Revenue, started that he much deeper than the reasons as yet given to the public.

It is an open secret that steps were were taken immediately after the passage of the law nearly doubling the tax on whisky to reorganize the old ring on a new basis. The elements were soon compacted and now the frauds by illicit distillation have taken such proportions as to alarm the Secretary of Treasury for revenue. This is all the more serious because whiskey thus produced is known to enter largely into the regular trade. How it gets there is no longer a matter of doubt. Investigation makes it certain that there has been collusion and corruption between distillers, middlemen and internal revenue officers. While it is not directly charged that Mr. Douglass was a party to these frauds, they certainly began and expanded under his administration. So too it may be said of the revenue from imports which has fallen off immensely through a fraudulent combination that could not possibly prosper without the personal complicity of a number of custom-house officials. Silks, laces, wines and other valuable articles have been and are sold openly at prices which exclude the idea of any payment of duties. The Secretary of the Treasury is giving strict attention to this business; and very soon there will be, no doubt, some startling development.

During Sunday in the Gulf States, rising barometer, southwest to northwest winds, partly cloudy and clear cooler weather and possibly a norther in the southwest.

GRENADA, May 7.—Train No. 4, ran off the track one mile south of this place at 10 o'clock a. m. to day. The engine, tender and baggage car were precipitated down an embankment twenty feet high, and were completely wrecked. The engineer, J. Murphy, and the fireman, William Weeks, were dangerously injured, and the express messenger, Thompson, and the baggage master were seriously injured. One passenger car was thrown from the track, but no one was hurt. The accident was caused by a cow, which attempted to cross the track in front of the engine. The railroad officials did all in their power to assist and make comfortable the wounded men.

PRUSSIA.

Abolition of Monasteries—Bismarck's Residence under Surveillance.

BERLIN, May 8.—The Federal Council meet shortly to consider a proposition to extend the bill for the abolition of monasteries so as to include the whole of the German empire. Certain modifications will be made regarding the operations of the bill in Bavaria.

Rumors are rife of a renewal of the ultramontane plots to assassinate Bismarck. Additional precautions are taken against any attempt on the life of the prince. The guards at his residence have been reinforced, and constantly guard his person and watch approaches to his house.

LOUISIANA.

Great Fire in Texas—Loss $ 10,000.—Insurance $50,000.

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—A Picayune special from Marshall, Texas, says a fire broke out at 3:15 this morning in a block of stores northwest of the courthouse. Every building was destroyed. Loss roughly estimated at $110,000; insurance $50,000 to $55,000.

ENGLAND.

Another Terrible Marine Disaster—Great Loss of Life.

LONDON, May 8.—Information just received reports another terrible marine disaster. The German steamer Schiller from New York for Hamburg, went ashore on the Ratarrier ledges last night, and is reported totally lost. The vessel had a large number of passengers on board, and great loss of life is anticipated.

The loss of life by disaster to steamship Schiller, it is believed, is 200 persons. The passengers, crew and Capt. Thomas was drowned. The vessel was wrecked on the Scilly Islands.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you can not afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of electrifying the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. For further particulars, address, G. L. ROSENBERGER, at the Photograph Gallery of DEBBLE & ROSENBERGER, 24 Market St., Montgomery, Ala. County rights for sale.

THE TROTTING STALLION,

HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, in Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Beecher colt and the Reed filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES:

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. At the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1869 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim"), g g sire "Long Island "Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye's" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee;" grand dam a Mambrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarjedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

Splendid Assorment of Type.

Splendid Assortment of Type.

One of the most complete Newspaper offices in Alabama is offered for sale at a bargain. The assortment of type comprises Brevier and Nonpareil enough to run a first-class paper in either quality.

The office also has a large cabinet of assorted type of all the late improvements. This assortment is a most beautiful one, and the type has been used but very little.

IMPOSING STONES, IMPOSING STONES.

PROOF PRESS, PROOF PRESS.

There are two splendid imposing stones, one of them, of a large size, is almost new, and has not a crack in it. There is a splendid Proof Press also, which is in good order and has been but little used.

Chases, Chases, Chases.

There are two pairs of Chases, one of ten columns and one of eight columns, which are in good order.

Quoins, Sorts, Cases, Galleys, Racks, Stands,

All in good order and ready for use at any time.

Much of the Brevier and Nonpareil type has never been used. All the material is in order to be used at once, and to any one seeking a good office at low figures, an opportunity is here presented of purchasing an office complete, lower than it can be had anywhere else.

This material was formerly used in printing the "Evening Ledger," of this city, which was acknowledged to have been the neatest and most attractive paper in the State.

Alabama State Journal

—FOR—

1875.

The cheapest and best

DAILY AND WEEKLY

IN THE SOUTH.

Giving all the latest Current and Telegraph news to the hour of going to press.

Circulation as Large as any Paper Published in the State.

Independent Republican in principle, defending the Republican party when right, and endeavoring to correct when wrong.

For the largely increased patronage and favor extended us during the past year we feel it incumbent upon us to return to our

Friends and Patrons

Regardless of party, our grateful and sincere thanks.

In our efforts to place before the people a high-toned journal we shall endeavored to give

MATTER AND FACTS

As they occur, and reliable reading matter of interest to the public at large avoiding sensational rumors.

As an independent Republican Journal we identify ourselves with that great National Party, at the same time we are determined as heretofore to expose corruption in high or low places, regardless of parties or cliques, and not cherish one thing in the heart and express another with the mouth nor gild the pill of corruption, come from what source it may. The Eagle in its upward and onward flight, suffers little birds to soar, and never stops to catch at flies, so shall we in our course, heedless of the Billingsgate that may be hurled at us by those that hire out their words and passions.

The efforts of the JOURNAL in the past as a

RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

Has met the approval of an appreciative public throughout the State, judging from its increased circulation and advertising patronage, and in return we intend to reciprocate by renewed efforts in behalf of the welfare of our State, and make the following liberal offer for 1875:

We will furnish the daily at $8.00 per annum, $4.00 six months, $2.00 three months—invariably in advance; or clubs may be made up from as many different postoffices as there are names; these may be sent in as obtained accompanied by the money, and when the club is completed, the extra copy will be forwarded to any address named.

Club Rates for Daily.

Club Rates for Weekly.

No name will be entered upon our subscription books unless accompanied by the cash. Remittances should be by check, postoffice order, registered letter or express. Specimen copies sent free on receipt of stamp.

The attention of advertisers is called to the State Journal

As a medium for judicious advertising. The large and rapidly increasing circulation in every county of the State, renders it a desirable medium for the merchant, professional man, and in fact all classes who desire to bring to the notice of the people in particular localities or the State at large their business or desires.

Trusting for a continuance of your favors for 1875, Respectfully,

THE WESTERN RAILROAD.

A Nice Job for the Lawyers. Chancery Suits in Order.

The readers of the JOURNAL will remember that the Western railroad of Alabama was sold not long since, to the Georgia Central railroad company, represented by Mr. Wadley. It seems now that there was "a rat in the meal tub" somewhere, and several chancery suits have either commenced, or are in preparation. On Saturday a bill was filed in the Chancery Court here by Messrs. Branch, Sons & Co., of Augusta, Ga., to have the sale set aside. The Montgomery and West Point railroad transfer turns out to be a huge elephant—a sort of credit Mobiler, which was to swamp the creditors of the M. & W. P. Railroad. The revelations which will be forthcoming on the trial, will, no doubt, develop a regular "bonanza" for Col. Wadley, who, it seems, just stepped over here and pocketted our railroads without any trouble whatever.

Gen. Toombs and others have filed a bill in the Augusta Cancery Court praying for an injunction to restrain the Georgia railroad from completing the purchase of the Western railroad. The Augusta Chronicle, referring to this matter, says:

As announced a week or two ago, the Georgia and Central Railroad Companies, through their representatives, had arranged to purchase the Alabama road. The bill filed by Gen. Toombs is on behalf of Green P. Cozart, Thos. C. Hogue, Gabriel Toombs and Stephen R. Palmer, large stockholders in the Georgia Railroad. They affirm that the charter of their road explicitly sets forth its privileges and powers, and does not give it the right to purchase other railroads or endorse their bonds. Its powers were defined to be "to construct a rail or turnpike road from the city of Augusta, with branches extending to the towns of Eatonton, Madison and Athens, to be carried beyond those places at the discretion of said company. [We suppose that the Directors claim the right to purchase the Alabama Western under this grant ot power of extension "at their discretion."] The bill declares: "Your orators distinctly aver that the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company had no power whatever to pay said interest on the bonds aforesaid; nor has it power to apply any further the funds of said company to any such purpose; nor to purchase the Western Railroad of Alabama aforesaid, nor to use the funds and credits of said company for such purposes. Your orators allege that the conduct of said company in the payment of said interest, was, and the purchase of said road if consummated and the payment of any further interest on said bonds will be, a violation of the charter of said Georgia railroad and banking company and a misuser of its franchises, and in the opinion of your orators, will greatly injure said Georgia railroad and banking company, and will very greatly lessen the value of the stock of your orators."

Judge Gibson appointed the 11th inst., as the day for trial of the application for injunction.

It is apparent that if the decision in this case should be adverse to the power of railroad companies to purchase other roads or endorse their bonds, great interests will be thereby affected. But possibly the failure of stockholders to make prompt legal opposition to transactions of that kind already consummated may be a bar to such proceedings now.

NATIONAL FINANCES.

The debt statement for the present month is presented in a most favorable condition. If it is correct it is indeed most gratifying. The reduction to date has been $3,579,000, and the condition of the treasury, in spite of a small currency balance, is satisfactory. There is represented as being now on hand, exclusive of coin certificates, $72,222,000 in gold, which is fifteen million dollars more than at the same time last year. It is the purpose of the Secretary, we presume, to hoard gold as far as possible, with a view to ultimate preparation for specie payments, and to use it in the purchase of currency. Even should there be no increase for sixty days, he has gold enough now to meet the demands of the sinking fund and pay the July interest on the gold bearing bonds, besides leaving a large surplus for the purchase of currency. Notwithstanding the continued hard times and the consequent decrease of revenue, up to the tenth month of this fiscal year more than eleven millions of the national debt have been paid. During the same time last year the reduction was only two millions. By direction of Secretary Bristow, we observe, five millions of gold will be sold in New York the present month.

This healthy condition of our national finances is encouraging to all patriotic citizens throughout the country. It shows that we are making sure and constant progress from the depression into which the panic threw us, and that the ground we now gain is firm and substantial. The business fabric now in process of rebuilding promises to be an enduring structure.

JEFFERSON DAVIS, in a letter to a friend at Shreveport, La., says:

"The majority of negro voters in this State (Mississippi) is already so large and so rapidly increasing that I cannot foresee the day of her deliverance. * * Texas is the only southern State which has advanced in prosperity since the war; and as a field for one who has sons to launch upon the world, offers the most inviting prospect."

TAX SALES.

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Montgomery County.

I, Patrick Robinson, Tax Collector, will sell at public outcry the following described real estate on the first Monday in June, 1875, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock a. m., and from day to day until I sell all which may be advertised as the property of delinquent tax payers for the years of 1873 and 1874, in front of the courthouse door.

PAT ROBINSON,
Tax Collector, Montgomery County.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

TUESDAY, MAY 11, 1875.

NOTHING of importance was done in the U. S. District Court yesterday. The grand jury is still in session.

PERSONAL.—Hon. P. D. Barker, the popular and accomplished collector of internal revenue for this district, was in the city yesterday. Henry Cochran, Esq., postmaster of Selma, was also in town.

THE City Court over which Judge Minnis has presided for several weeks, with great satisfaction to the bar and the people, will adjourn in a few days until the regular July term. The lawyers will have a little rest.

ADVERTISEMENTS.—The tax sales of Mr. Pat Robinson will be of interest to tax payers.

The water works company have notices elsewhere, to which we invite the attention of our readers.

Capt. J. W. Dimmick, clerk of the United States Court, has a notice in this morning's JOURNAL.

THE editor of the Advertiser will please take notice that on page 1024 of Worcester's dictionary, edition of 1868, the following will be found:

Pallet—A little, thin, oval board, or slab of ivory or porcelain, on which a painter mixes his colors, and holds them by means of a thumb hole at one end.

NEW PAPER.—We have received the first number of the Alabama Staats-Zeitung, a German paper published at Cullman. The Staats-Zeitung (State Gazette) is the only German paper published in Alabama, and is quite creditable to the little city of Cullman. We wish the new paper the greatest success, and trust it will be the means of bringing to Alabama the immigration we so sadly need.

TAX SALES.—Mr. Pat Robinson, tax collector of this county, has an installment of tax notices in this morning's JOURNAL. Mr. Robinson has collected the taxes pretty closely considering the hard times; and those whose lands are advertised this morning will, no doubt, call and settle their taxes before Mr. Robinson is forced to sell at public auction.

BUSINESS along Commerce street yesterday was not very encouraging. Yet we notice a great many people passing about. Our merchants ought to advertise more largely. Send in short spicy advertisements. Change them every day or two. Let the people see what you have got. The New York Herald says that every merchant who advertises in that paper states that he realizes daily from ten to fifty times the amount spent for the advertisement. When a customer walks in, he states at once that he read the card in the paper and wants to see if the merchant will do as he says in his advertisement. The richest merchant in the Union spent ten dollars a day advertising when his yearly sales only footed up $10,000.

MONTGOMERY FLORAL GARDEN.—A visit to the beautiful flower gardens of Mr. E. D. Halfman, on Monroe street, will be a most delightful pastime. No one would suppose that in so small a space as the lot on which the garden is situated, so many thousands of varities of flowers and plants could be raised. The whole ground is occupied with something of beauty, either in flower or in foliage. His place can truly be claimed the home of the Goddess Flora. In his green-house are thousands of the rarest and tenderest exotics, while his pits in the yard contain over 2,000 Camelias, and a thousand Geraniums. These are but a sample of the thousands of plants. Mr. Halfman has several specimens of the Eucalyptus Globulus, or "yellow fever tree," from Australia, and he is of the opinion that he can acclimate this wonderful tree to our latitude. It is said to be a preventative of yellow fever. One camelia, the "wilderu," when first raised by Mr. Wilder, of Baltimore, was bought by an English florist for $10,000. Very often rare plants command thousands of dolars. Mr. Halfman is a modest gentleman, and devoted to his garden, the idea of which he conceived only five years since, while an invalid. He deserves the encouragement of our citizens. He is also agent for the Talpadega and Atlanta nurseries, and supplies all trees at catalogue prices.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Secret of the Third Term—Gen. Grant has Abandoned the Idea—Jealousy of the Leaders of the Secret—Compliment to the New York Herald—Relief for the Oshkosh Sufferers—The New Attorney General Arrives—Court of Claims to Adjourn—Large Number of Decisions to be Announced, Etc., Etc.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—There are other gentlemen of prominence, besides Senator Sargent, who claim to have received Gen. Grant's bosom secret. The "other gentlemen" don't care to have their names mentioned in this connection, but they claim to have known for a long while the fact that Gen. Grant has abandoned entirely, if he ever really entertained the purpose, of running for a third term. The "other gentlemen" seem to be jealous of the notoriety which Senator Sargent is getting as the apparently most intimate confident of President Grant, and seem to want to show the country, not only that other gentlemen enjoy the confidence of the President, but also to take some of the wind out of Mr. Sargent's sails.

A private letter from New York says: "Cardinal McCloskey has distinguished the Herald by selecting John Russell Young as his secretary."

The small remnant of the fund raised here for the Peshtigo sufferers has been forwarded for the relief of the sufferers by the fire at Oshkosh, and subscriptions are being solicited for the latter.

Attorney General Pierrepont, who arrived here last night, had a long consultation with Mr. Williams to-day, in relation to official routine matters.

The court of claims will close its present session and adjourn Monday next. A large number of decisions will then be announced.

The government has not re-opened the argument in the suit of the U. P. Railroad Co., and a decision will be rendered on this case as heretofore presented, and if favorable to the company the government will appeal to the Supreme Court.

There is considerable anxiety felt in political circles relative to the removal of Douglass and appointment of Pratt. Pennsylvanians affirm that it will defeat Grant's aspirations for a third term, as Douglass was from that State. It is said that Grant is anxious to get an anti-third term [What?—ED. JOUR.] Cabinet complete. Certain Alabama politicians here state that removals of some of the officials in that State is in contemplation. The postmaster at Montgomery it is said has not made his bond as the law requires, and already applications for his place are being pressed. These removals it is alleged will reach much smaller officials.

The result of the municipal elections in Indiana has greatly encouraged the Republican officials. They state that the vote shows a majority of over fifteen thousand for the Republicans—counting the vote of towns and cities. In Indianapolis the Democratic majority of last year is overcome, and the Republicans make heavy gains there and throughout the State generally. Democrats attribute their losses to local causes, not reaching into either National or State questions.

NEW YORK.

The Steamship Disaster—Only 15 Passengers saved—The Offices Besieged by Distressed Friends—Centennial Celebration at Old Ticonderoga.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The following telegram was received at 6 45 a. m., at offices of Eagle Line:

PLYMOUTH, May 10.

Consul Kuhn, N. Y.—Only 15 passengers are saved from the Schiller—names telegraphed yesterday. We are doing all we can to recover and identify bodies.

Signed: TRANS ATLANTIC.

Numbers of persons continue to besiege the company's offices. Early this a. m. two well dressed young men were drowned while sailing in the North river at foot of 34th street. The managers of the Bryant benefit fear that the proceeds will fall short five thousand of their estimate which was $20,000. Consul General Schumaker said this p. m., that he has been beseiged by relatives of lost passengers of the Schiller, who asked that the bodies be brought back for interment. The German Consul will see that all are returned which are so desired.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Missionary Society—Richmond the Next Place of Meeting—Religious Education of Colored People Urged—Good Words and Fraternal Feelings North and South—The Baptists Still in Council, Etc

CHARLESTON, May 10.—Richmond has been selected as the next place of meeting of Warden's Mission Society. The religious education of the colored people was agreed upon not only as a duty, but as being desirable in every consideration of humanity and a love of the gospel. The most fraternal relations with Northern Baptists exist, and should be preserved, but it is not desirable that the Northern and Southern organizations should be merged. The foreign missions Journal was discontinued. Foreign missions were declared prosperous. The hospitality of the city is unbounded, and the greatest enthusiasm prevails.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

ENCOURAGING PROSPECTS.

The Columbia, S. C., Herald, discussing the division of the negro vote in the South, remarks that the masses are always in favor of good government, and that they are attached to political parties only by the belief that through them the best chance is offered to sustain it. When it becomes clear to them that a party fails to secure honesty, economy and ability in administration, there is but little hesitation in seeking those qualities in another. These changes are slow among the ignorant, because the evidences of party failure are less appreciated, the arts of the demagogue are less easily detected, and the modes of remedying the evil are not so quickly understood; but the ignorant are not unpatriotic or indifferent to the general good, and when the change is made by such from one party to another, the process is even more difficult when it is sought to win them back to their first love.

All over the south, just now, we see evidences of revolt among the colored voters from the further dictation of bad men. We are glad to see it. Whenever a man, black or white, goes to the ballot box he should prefer to vote for one whose politics are alone objectionable to him, rather than for one whose reputation is besmirched, or whose aims are known to be inimical to the public welfare. By such a course only can the wisdom and safety of universal suffrage be made apparent. It is because, in the last few years, the Republican voters, especially here at the South, have failed in this duty that we hear such grave doubts expressed as to the success of the experiment made in the reconstruction acts of conferring the privilege of voting upon a newly liberated people.

We see many signs that at last the danger has become apparent that the Nation may be compelled to confess the failure of the system and reverse its action. Should such a thing be done, the colored Republicans of the South will be the only sufferers. The few bad leaders will easily lose themselves in the vast multitude of remaining voters, and would doubtless return to the position of active enemies, from which they generally came, only to fatten upon and betray the weak and ignorant, while the race which have had such high hopes of an untrammelled development of its capacities will sink again to the position of serfs, if not of slaves. It would be a sad finale to an experiment which was prompted by motives of humanity and christianity alone; but the responsibility of which will rest not alone upon the bad men who have controlled this unfortunate race in politics; there will be a responsibility resting upon the people of the South—the former masters—who, knowing the frailties and characteristics of these people, failed to afford them examples of confidence and trust. We were too easily let astray by false principles of independence and dignity, from a proper view of the condition in which the conflict left us. But this being no proper subject to discuss at this late day, we leave it, in the hope that the promising future now before us as a people and as a nation, may not witness the degrading spectacle of a retrograde in our experiment of self government. Mutual forbearance and mutual co-operation in the cause of good government should ever be our watchwords, with the centennial of 1876 as our "guid-star."

We have been regarding the Selma Echo as an independent journal. That is, independent in the dignified sense of the term—independent of the control and dictation of politicians and place-hunters. But we are very much mortified to have discovered that we mistook the character of our contemporary. Its edition of yesterday exhibits the "ring collar" so plainly that we can no longer be deceived as to its true character. The Echo would sink the city of Selma in the Alabama river in order to secure party ends; it would destroy the business of every merchant in Selma in order to gain the triumph of its party. It can see nothing but "party;" whatever the "party" masters want done the Echo stands ready to perform; no matter what the consequences. The difference, then, between the JOURNAL and the Echo is just the difference of the antipodes in that respect. It is high time our contemporary should mend its ways.

The Mobile and Ohio railroad has changed management, and passes into the hands of the trustees of the first mortgage bondholders of the company. It seems that there is a general change of management of railroads throughout the country. Of course no harm is done to the people by these changes, unless to those who are so unfortunate as to hold the bonds of the railroad companies. The roads cannot be moved; they must remain and continue to furnish communication and lines of travel.

We see it stated in our exchanges that the Republican vote of the 9th Georgia district, was cast for Ben. Hill in the recent election for member of Congress. They preferred Hill because he is the ablest man who sought the position.

HINTS TO BUSINESS MEN.

The New York Times is of the opinion that advertising, discretly used, is one of the very best means of obtaining business. Indeed, there are only two others which are legitimate—the establishment of a good reputation, and the forming of a good connection.

But advertising may be so badly managed as to be a mere source of expense without any return; and one of the ways in which it may become so is the making it obtrusive. If a man has a big show, to which he wishes to attract the miscellaneous crowd of the streets, it may be well for him to thrust it upon their attention in as "stunning" a manner as possible; but the merchant, the respectable tradesman, the honest manufacturer, the professional man of good repute—in short, those who form the great mass of the business world, will not win a well grounded, enduring success by any such means. For when probable purchasers, respectable folk with money, wish for anything, and do not know exactly where to go for it, they look into the advertising columns of some respectable newspaper, like the STATE JOURNAL, and there, under its proper head, they find what they want—that is, if the dealer has been wise enough to advertise in a discreet and profitable way, instead of wasting his substance upon a sort of announcement which, at best, is useless, and which, with the better class of buyers, might cast suspicion upon him.

Newspapers have become the accredited and well-established medium of all kinds of announcements to the public.

From a proclamation of the head of the Government to the announcement of a housemaid that she wants a place, communication with the public is naturally and properly conducted through the newspapers.

It could not well be otherwise, considering the place which the daily newspaper holds in modern civilization.

Advertisements in newspapers have, therefore, a propriety, a sort of legitimacy, and a weight which pertain to advertisements in no other form.

A discreetly-worded advertisement, in a respectable paper, is in itself a sort of promise of discretion and respectability on the part of the advertiser.

Irregular and fanciful advertisements, on the contrary, are likely to do something at least to cast suspicion, in these very particulars, upon the person who makes use of them.

There is no way of forcing people to buy; hardly any of forcing the attention of those who wish to buy.

What can be done is to give information to intending purchasers where their wants can be supplied, and that is effectively done only in the columns of well conducted newspapers like the JOURNAL—and its contemporaries generally, here.

The New York Tribune of the 6th inst., referring to the recent municipal election here, says:

The extraordinary means by which the election of Mr. Spencer as United States Senator from Alabama was secured are not unknown to the readers of the Tribune, but the investigation now in progress at Montgomery throws some new light upon the subject. A Kuklux outrage was exploded yesterday by the testimony of a once valiant Republican who fired a bullet through his own hat, and then in pursuance of the Spencer programme, had the military called out for the apprehension of the fictitious assassins who had attempted to take his life. Fortunately for Alabama the day such fellows could hold the political destiny of the State in their hats has passed away. At the election in Montgomery on the 4th instant, nearly one half of the colored men voted with the whites for the first time since reconstruction, and the result was a defeat of the carpet-baggers, which seems to have thrown all the good people of the city into ecstacy. It is worthy of note that one of the successful candidates is an ex-Confederate officer who recently distinguished himself by a glowing tribute to the Federal dead.

The Tribune is mistaken as to "carpet baggers." There were none of this class seeking positions at the late election. We believe that they were all simon pure "scallawags"—at least they have lived here long enough to claim citizenship.

According to the New York papers, substantial evidences of a revival of business have at length made their appearance. Merchants are reported as representing their collections as unusually good, and that while trade is not as active as it might be, the volume nevertheless is generally above that of last season, notwithstanding the backwardness of the weather. So far as soundness is concerned, it is said that business could not possibly be more satisfactory.

The party candidate and caucus nominee for mayor of Selma, is having a rough road to travel. The Times and Echo cannot whip the business men of Selma into the traces. They have used the party lash fiercely and unsparingly; but a large number of good citizens, among whom we notice Mr. Sumter Lea, a prominent lawyer, refuse to swallow the dose. Good.

The cotton prospects this year are said to be more favorable than at any time since the commencement of the war. The acreage, too, is unusually large.

In the last Georgia cyclone every house in Rutledge, a village of three hundred inhabitants, was blown down, the railroad depot being left standing alone.

During this season South Carolina has shipped over two million dollars worth of fertilizers, manufactured from the phosphates of that State.

A MAN GROUND UP IN A WINDMILL.

[From the Rochester (Minn.) Post.]

A most horrible accident occurred at Potsdam last Friday. Messrs. Corsnesse & Buetow have a wind grist mill there. On Friday of last week, the windmill became unmanageable by reason of a high wind. A number of men were gathered about, and four of them went up into the tower supporting the windmill, to endeavor to turn the machinery so as to throw the fan into the wind. The party was headed by Wm. A. McCarran, a very athletic young man about twenty-seven years, who worked at a blacksmith shop at Potsdam. The others who went with him were John Hartt, August Tradup and Henry Peters.

On getting to the top of the tower the men were crowded into a very small space on a platform about three feet wide, and McCarran, standing on a timber and in a cramped position, thrust a crowbar into the machinery, which was running at a fearful rate, to stop it, but the motion of the machinery threw him off his balance and his foot slipped under a large cog wheel. As he felt himself drawn into the machinery he cried out, "Boys, save me, I'm caught!" and a couple of the men standing by caught him by the legs and body and tried to draw him out. They held on to him until he was drawn in nearly up to his shoulders, when, finding they could not help him, but were in great danger of being themselves drawn in, they let go, and one of them, Henry Peters, jumped a distance of twenty feet to a landing below in the tower. He was bruised but not seriously hurt.

Poor McCarran's last words were those given above; he is thought to have died almost at once after uttering them. His body was rapidly drawn in and passed through a space of not more than two inches in width between the wheel and a timber, crushing it into a pulp of quivering, bleeding flesh, held together by the torn clothing and hanging from the timbers in a horrid, shapeless mass. The arms and part of one of the legs were not so thoroughly crushed, but were badly torn and mangled by the cogs. The whole body was passed through in this way clear to the head, which was stopped by a crowbar that had been left in the wheel by one of the men. The head was afterwards severed from the body with a knife in order to extricate it. All this, we are told, took place within two or three minutes. The tower was dripping with blood. The horrified men attempted to stop the mill by throwing grain into the stones, but had to abandon the effort, and after a few hours it in some way stopped itself.

Does it pay? The American Colonization Society sent only twenty-seven negroes to Liberia last year, and it cost $10,800 25 to expatriate them.

—Push your business through the newspapers. It is just as legitimate as putting a sign over your door, and far more modest than sending out drummers to worry people into trading with you.

—Advertising has created many a new business, enlarged many an old business, revived many a dull business, resuscitated many a failing business, and preserved many a large business, and it insures success in any business.

—A stern father got wind of an intended elopement of his daughter on a certain night, and when that sweet thing was on the point of stealing down stairs, she beheld a ferocious looking bull-dog standing at the bottom; so she concluded to go back to her room and postpone her elopement. Her father never told her it was a stuffed dog, which he had borrowed from the man living next door.

—A Selma gentleman walking behind two school children, the other day, heard the boy inquire: "Will you be at the party tonight?" "I shall be there," answered the miss, "but I may as well tell you now that your love is hopeless. Mamma is determined, father is set, and it isn't right for me to encourage your attention. I can be a sister to you, but nothing more. Therefore you needn't buy me any valentine or give me any gum."

—If you ever feel uncertain about any of the details of your private affairs, consult your inquisitive friends. They always stand ready to give you "poison" about your own business that you never dreamed of.

—Misery loves company, no doubt; but does company love misery? This is a question to be considered, when misery intrudes upon the prosperous and happy.

—A Chicago tailor has secured a patent for what he calls "the married man's precautionary coat-collar." The collar is made of some glazed substance to which a hair cannot adhere, and which will bear the closest inspection of the wife of his bosom.

—"Boss, I'm a poor man with five children and a sick wife; I got blowed up in a powder mill, and can't find no work to do, and——" The person he accosted was one of those impulsively charitable individuals whose hearts are touched at the bare suggestion of misfortune and suffering, and so without waiting for the unhappy creature to finish, he put a 50 cent stamp in his hand. "And, as I was savin' when you stopped me," he continued, "this lovin' around doing nothin' is wearin' me away, and as I haven't been in the circus since I was a boy, I thought if you'd give me the price of a ticket I'd go."

THE meat and corn trade continues brisk in this city.

THE Montgomery "bonanza"—the Western railroad. Is she sold; or not?

THE courts are not doing much of interest to the general public.

ADVERTISEMENTS by the month inserted in these columns very cheap. Call and see the low rates.

—In this season of house-cleaning it is not safe to sit down on the carpet to play with the baby. The application of the tacks is too direct to be borne with equanimity.

WE notice that some of our merchants are selling below New York cost. How can any merchant do business by selling his goods for less than they cost him?

A. A. WILEY, ESQ., has been invited to deliver an address at Tuskegee, on the 14th of June next, on the occasion of the alumnae of the Female College at that place.

THE FAIR.—The fair of the Sisters of Loretto opened at Estelle Hall last night. It will continue three nights more. All who desire to spend a delightful evening should attend. The hall was crowded last night with the elite of the city.

THE cotton market is about as dull at present as it ever gets to be. But few bales are changing hands, and there is only a perceptible change in the price since the season opened. If our farmers have any on hand they would do well to keep it.

THERE are more Special Agents of the Postoffice Department in this city than we ever saw together at one time before. They are as numerous about the city building as were Confederate officers during the late unpleasantness. What's the matter?

WE met Mr. Downs, of the Alabama State's Rights Zeitung, of Cullman, on yesterday. He visits our city for the purpose of securing advertisements and subscribers to his paper. This is the only German paper published in Alabama, and deserves to be well patronised.

WE understand that the city authorities refused the use of the new city hall to the Catholic ladies for the purpose of the fair for the benefit of the school of the Sisters of Loretto. As this is a charitable object we see no good reason why the use of the hall should not be extended to them as well as to others who have had it gratis since its completion.

THERE are quite a number of citizens from Talladega, Tallapoosa, Clay and Randolph counties, attending the United States Court. Most of them are witnesses against parties charged with illicit distilling. It appears that these four counties have furnished quite a large number of illicit distilleries hiding places. The law reaches the offenders even in the hidden places of the forest.

"UNEASY lies the head," etc. By reference to our dispatches this morning it will be seen that Mr. Sheats, Sixth Auditor of the Treasury, at Washington, is about to step down and out. It appears that there is a general shaking up of the elements at Washington, and the officeholders are being mercilessly slaughtered. Who next? What next? Where next? When next?

THE all-absorbing topic of conversation is the County-Commissioners-Board-of-Revenue imbroglio. Who's who, and what's what is the question. For real live official sensations, Montgomery county lays over the deck. Well, times are hard, business dull, and the people must have something to enliven them. The lawyers are getting the best of the matter, in the liberal fees, of course. Lay on Macduff.

AT Mortlet's dry goods palace, on Court square, can be found the most beautiful and varied selections of spring and summer goods in Montgomery. The ladies can here get beautiful patterns and styles of dress goods, gloves, sashes and cravats. He also has a beautiful stock of fabrics, hosiery, shoes, parasols, etc. Those desiring cheap spring suits can get them at Mortlet's of the best styles and latest patterns. Give him a call at once.

RUNAWAY.—Yesterday about noon the team of Mr. Metcalf—those handsome greys—became frightened at something on the corner of Washington and Perry streets, and dashed down the latter street at full speed. Mr. John Metcalf, who was driving at the time, held on to the horses, and kept them in the street, until they had exhausted themselves, on the Pickett Springs pike. First runaway of the season.

THE smell of coal tar which pervades our city reminds us of the days of yellow fever. It is not too soon to begin the work of cleaning up and disinfecting the city, especially the yards and outhouses. The water works are a great benefit in keeping the streets and sidewalks sprinkled, the atmosphere cool, and the city healthy. Every business house should have a private water plug.

JOSEPH J. MARTIN, who was a mail route agent on the Mobile & Girard railroad, was arraigned in the U. S. Circuit Court yesterday, on the charge of abstracting money from letters. He plead guilty, and was sentenced by Judge Bruce to imprisonment in the Albany penitentiary for one year.

THE BOARD OF REVENUE.—Capt. Robert Barber has instituted a suit to test the legality of the Board of Revenue—or rather the constitutionality of the act creating the Board. He is the contractor for feeding the county paupers and having received a warrant from Judge Buckley for the amount due him for the first quarter, presented it to Mr. Wolffe, county treasurer, for payment. He was met by an order from the Board of Revenue, to Mr. Wolffe, not to pay any warrant unless passed upon by the Board. We trust that the case will go up to the Supreme Court at the June term, so the matter can be settled at once. It will be a great hardship to many innocent creditors of the country, if they have to wait for the case to be tried before they are paid.

A NEW COMPANY.—The young men of the city are preparing to organize another military company, and a meeting for this purpose was held at the Exchange hotel, on Saturday night last. Before the war the military companies were the pride and the honor of our Southern cities; they not only gave a zest to our society but they encouraged our young men to seek the more noble and honorable pursuits of life. Since the war, in which nearly all the members of our proud old battalions lost their lives, we have had but one company here—the Grays—and though they are a fine company of men, still there is plenty of room for another, and the more we have the better for our city. We hope the new company will be organized with success.

GIVE US A REST.—It is terrible, this spelling mania! You are stopped upon the street and asked to spell "pedlar," "spoddlar," or some other word. Your wife wakes you up in the middle of the night to spell "sarcophagus;" your children hasten to the breakfast table to ask you to spell "corymd," and devote all their spare time to the dictionary; your eldest boy comes home late at night in a weeping mood, and explains it thus: "I went to see Mary (his sweetheart) this evening; she met me at the door with, spell erysipelas, Tom! I spelled it with two i's and no y, and she said, sir, our engagement is at an end; I cannot love a bad speller." Her father, on being appealed to, says: "Give Tom one more trial. Spell consanguineous, sir." I spelled it with four n's, two i's, and he bade me leave the house and never hope to be his son-in-law."

PIC-NIC AT WHITEHALL.—Whitehall, on the Western railroad, is becoming famous for its picnics. Every year the people of Montgomery and Selma honor this spot with many pleasant reunions. Whitehall is a beautiful place. One of the most magnificent groves on earth is there. All that there is beautiful in nature is there enjoyed without stint. The majestic oaks, whose wide branches reach out, make it charming to the eye and to the soul. Nothing is more pleasant than a day spent in such a grove as this, where all the cares and troubles of life are forgotten. This is the place selected by the Montgomery Shooting Club for their annual picnic which takes place to-morrow. We almost envy those who have the opportunity to enjoy the excursion to the beautiful shades of Whitehall. Every preparation necessary to a day of thorough enjoyment has been perfected by the enterprising and energetic members of the club. Their hosts of friends remember with lively pleasure the picnic heretofore given under their auspices, and we shall not be surprised to learn that the one of tomorrow proves even more enjoyable, if possible, than its predecessors.

PENSACOLA EXCURSION.—On the 17th inst., the citizens of Montgomery will have an opportunity of visiting the beautiful city of Pensacola. The excursion to be given by Montgomery Lodge No. 6, I. O. O. F., promises to be the most pleasant affair we are likely to have an opportunity to enjoy this season. Pensacola is pleasantly situated on the bay of that name, and the trip on the vessel which will bear the visitors to the prominent places about the city and bay will afford a splendid opportunity to view the surroundings. There is the navy yard, the forts, the fishing banks, and the sail by moonlight. The programme is indeed a delightful one. Many of our readers have, no doubt, heard of the pleasant "moonlight sails on the blue waters of the bay," but no one who has not experienced it can imagine how pleasant and agreeable it is. It is not often that so favorable an opportunity is presented for the enjoyment of a sea ride. The charge is only five dollars for the round trip; and the proceeds will be devoted to the widows' and orphans' fund of the Lodge. All who can spare the time and the money, should purchase a ticket and help to increase this fund. The excursion will take place next Monday, and ample time is left for those who desire to go to make their preparations for the trip. By reference to the advertisement elsewhere, it will be seen that several enterprising gentlemen have the details in charge, from either of whom tickets can be purchased. Ben. H. Screws, T. J. Scott and the others, never undertake these things without making successes of them. Be sure to get a ticket.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

An adjourned meeting of the Stockholders of the Montgomery Water Works Company will be held at the Company's office at 12 m., this Wednesday.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Revenue Frauds—More Removals—Mr. Sheats to Step Down and Out—Miss Katie Putnam Takes Chloroform.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Relative to the removal of Mr. Douglass, it is stated that certain whisky frauds have been discovered of which he had knowledge. It was alleged by parties apparently cognizant of the facts, that in many cases the taxes on whisky and other articles were not rigidly collected. As this was a very serious matter, a secret investigation, of which the Commissioner was entirely ignorant, was made of the office. The information derived fully sustained the allegations. It was discovered that reports were lying in the office giving satisfactory evidence of frauds upon the Treasury, and had received no attention. The results of this investigation were laid before the President by the Secretary of the Treasury. These revelations finally disposed of Mr. Douglass' case. The President was astonished at the evidences of gross delinquency, and heartily approved the course recommended by the Secretary, which was removal. There is also every probability that Mr. Rogers, Deputy Commissioner, will be displaced for the same reasons which influenced the action respecting the Commissioner. There is a disposition to appoint Mr. Douglass to the office of Sixth Auditor of the Treasury, in place of Mr. Sheats, of Alabama, who was appointed about two months ago. Sheats, up to this time, has developed no capacity whatever for his office. Senator Spencer yesterday had an interview with the President in the interest of his protege, Sheats, but as some of the parties recommended by the Senator have turned out badly of late, his wishes have little weight. There is no authority for the statement, still repeated, that Mr. Douglass will be appointed to a judgeship, either in the Court of Claims or in the Western district of Pennsylvania. He may make the Sixth Auditorship, or some other office of that grade, but doubts are expressed on this subject, even by officials in a position to know.

Miss Katie Putnam, a member of a theatrical company which was performing in Paterson, N. J., on Monday night, inhaled some chloroform from a handkerchief to induce sleep. Her heavy breathing attracted the attention of a companion, who aroused all the people in the hotel where they were stopping by announcing that Miss Putnam had committed suicide. The services of a physician were required to restore her to consciousness, and he expressed the opinion that a very little more of the narcotic would have killed her. Miss Putnam is well known here.

The grand jury of this District to-day presented an indictment against Wm. S. King for perjury in swearing he never received bribes in the Pacific Mail subsidy. Trial at next term of court.

Secretary Fish has notified the President that he desires to retire from the cabinet on June 30th, close of the fiscal year. It is surmised that Pierrepont, the new Attorney General will succeed him, and some think Butler will be Attorney General.

Business in the patent office this year has been larger than ever before, the receipts last month being much in excess of expenditures.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the tonic medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. WAR CLOUD ON THE RHINE.

The dispatches from Europe which have appeared in the JOURNAL for several days, reflect the uneasy feeling and the dark forebodings which prevail rather than any immediate danger. The elements of war are apparent in the existing situation. The war cloud is plainly visible above the horizon. But it may be sometime before it bursts upon the continent, and it may be that diverse currents will avert it altogether. The conditions and dangers of war lie in the undisguised feeling of Germany and France toward each other. France makes no concealment of her purpose to wipe out, if she can, the humiliation of the rankling defeat she sustained at the hands of the great power beyond the Rhine. The French people, who are the most sensitive to military pride of any other nation in the world, keenly feel the stain of that unparalleled defeat. They equally bewail the despoilment of the two provinces of Alsace and Lorraine. To recover this lost territory and to blot out the stigma of defeat is the foremost impulse of every Frenchman's heart. The sentiment of the nation unmistakably points to a war of revenge. It is the talk of the capital and of the country, of the salons, the cafes and the streets, and the only question is one of time. When France thinks she is ready, she will strike the blow.

Germany understands this feeling as well as the rest of Europe. If there were no other influences contributing to mould the destinies of nations, if Europe were not a political system where the voice of all the leading powers must be respected, she would expect to confront France as soon as France felt herself strong enough for the combat. And under such circumstances it is not strange that some of her statesmen feel like precipitating the issue. They see the extraordinary recuperation of France. They see her rising like a giant from the dust of prostration. They see her pay the enormous indemnity as if it were a bagatelle. They see her moving forward with rapid strides to her old position of wealth and power. And they reason to themselves that it will be more prudent to force the conflict before her preparations are complete. It is to be hoped however, that this feeling is not generally entertained. Indeed, in spite of the remarkable financial and growing military strength of France, Germany need have little reason to fear to cope with her alone at any time. The most important element of the question is the attitude of the other powers. Russia, Austria, and Italy could exercise an almost decisive influence either by determining the alliance; or by putting their force against any war. The moral power of public opinion throughout Europe, if vigorously asserted might preserve peace.

CASSIUS M. CLAY was once a leader of the anti-slavery cause, and was regarded as one of the strongest opponents of the Democratic party. Two or three years ago he became a liberal. Last Thursday he tumbled gushingly into the Kentucky Bourbon fold; and has volunteered to stump the State for the ticket nominated. When a man once finds himself on the slippery descent of which Virgil speaks, he very seldom stops until he reaches the bottom.

By the way, does the Advertiser think that there is any more Democracy in Clay than there is Republicanism in ex-Gov. Parsons? Is it a most virtuous thing for old "Cash" Clay to repudiate all his life-long principles in the interest of Bourbonism; but a very mean thing for another man to repudiate Bourbonism in the interest of the advanced ideas of the age? Will the Advertiser enlighten us?

THE Cincinnati Commercial thinks that before the Hinds postal fraud examination is over, Senator Spencer, of Alabama, will be found to be implicated, if he is not presented for indictment, as there is pretty strong circumstantial evidence against him, going to show that he was a party to the whole transaction. The prosecutor for the government is satisfied that he can convict both Hines and Spencer, should indictments be found against them.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

Senator Spencer's pretended friends were over-anxious and over-zealous in attempting to vindicate him before any charge was made against him. This caused his name to be brought into the discussion of the postal frauds, and proved to be just what his enemies desired. No man is responsible for what his friends do; but in the attempt of certain lackeys to prove this fact to the public, they have done more harm to Senator Spencer than all his opponents could have done combined. Such friends are far more dangerous than avowed enemies.

MR. HORACE R. HOOD, editor of the Selma Echo, publishes a card in yesterday's issue of that paper, in which he states that certain persons informed him that Mr. N. Woodruff, the people's candidate for mayor of Selma, voted for Gen Grant in 1872. A friend of Mr. Woodruff prints a card in the same paper stating that Mr. W. did not vote for either of the Republican candidates—Greeley and Grant.

THE mortality of the United States last year was not so very great, considering that 1,633,335 pounds of arsenic and 116,053 pounds of jalap were consumed during that period.

THE SCHILLER DISASTER.

The loss of the steamship Schiller, an account of which has heretofore been telegraphed to the JOURNAL, with nearly two hundred passengers and crew off the Scilly isles, adds another horror to the long list of recent marine disasters. It would appear, from the accounts which have reached us, that the vessel was being urged forward through a foggy night, and this in a dangerous locality. The steamer was not disabled, she was not driven on the rocks by stress of weather; she appears to have been wrecked, as was the ill-fated Atlantic, on the coast of Nova Scotia, through some fearful mistake in the ship's reckoning, or by some reckless blunder on the part of those in charge. Will the time ever come when the safety of human life shall be placed above the necessity of quick time? We cannot control the storms which at times sweep the ocean, or the angry waves which swallow the strong ships, but we can control the movement of a steamer in a dense fog, and the laws of all nations should be sufficiently strong to make impossible the reckless running of a steamer through a fog bank. We shall probably have the usual investigation; a few days of public indignation; a few vain efforts to guard against like disasters; and then the ill-fated Schiller will be forgotten, except by those who have lost dear friends, and by those who were actors in the terrible scene, and who were saved by a Merciful Providence from a watery grave. We trust that none of our readers are included in either class.

THE principal feature of the platform laid down by the Kentucky Bourbons at their State nominating convention, the other day, is the bold enunciation which is made of the doctrine of State Sovereignty. Everywhere this pestiferous doctrine (which has cost us so much blood and treasure) exploded, as the masses of the people believed, by the war, is being reasserted by the men who plunged the nation into the war, in plump antagonism to the sovereignty of the nation. This doesn't look much like burying the animosities of the war, to us. It does look like opening all the old wounds, however, and reviving issues which cost us much of our best blood and nearly all our property. We hope the people will put their feet down on every agitator who attempts to revive the fatal heresies which led to secession and the war.

FRAUDS UPON THE REVENUE.

From Cincinnati Gazette, 11.]

Our special dispatches this morning furnish the details of the most extensive and successful system of frauds upon the revenue of which there is any record since the imposition of the tax upon distilled spirits. The action of the government culminated in the seizure yesterday, in St. Louis, Chicago, and Milwaukee, of sixteen extensive distilleries and sixteen rectifying establishments, and it is probable that additional seizures are to be made in other parts of the country.

For a long time it has been apparent to the trade who paid their taxes and did an honest business that the payment of taxes was largely evaded, and upon Mr. Bristow's appointment as Secretary of the Treasury, steps were taken to supply him with information. He at once became satisfied that extensive frauds were being practiced, and he promptly set to work to discover them. Having decided upon his plans, he laid them before the president, who heartily co-operated with him in the undertaking. The President, Secretary Bristow and Solicitor Wilson, alone of the department officers, were in the secret, which they kept closely, while the field of operations was worked vigorously.

Having detected the frauds and got ready for action, it was deemed advisable to procure a new head for the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This accounts for the sudden removal of Commissioner Douglass. We are informed that the personal integrity of Mr. Douglass was not suspected, but he was not efficient, and his surroundings were bad. It was found that there were no secrets in the department from the "whisky ring," so-called, and that every move against the thieves was promptly communicated to them. Secretary Bristow, instead of attempting to discover the leaks in the department, proceeded to organize outside for the discovery of the frauds, leaving the former to be attended to at a more convenient season. The season for this important part of the business is now at hand, and with the induction of ex-Senator Pratt, there will no doubt be important changes in the Internal Revenue Department also. The President and Secretary Bristow are on the war path, and startled as they are by the disclosures which duplicate many officials, a clean sweep will be made of every man in the service who has been mixed up in any way in this business. It is likely that a good many special agents and supervisors will also receive their walking papers. Where there has not been positive fraud there has been clearly a neglect of duty, and one will be likely to prove as fatal as the other to the official head. The fact special agents were sent from the East to St. Louis, Chicago, and Milwaukee, to execute the orders of the Secretary in the final movement, indicates the extent of the demoralization among western officials.

Commissioner Douglass, in favoring an increase in the tax on whisky, said that owing to the perfect system in his department a high tax could be strictly collected, provided the officers were honest. The laws and checks were no doubt very well, but laws and checks will not collect the taxes, and the facts now exposed show that officers are not always to be depended upon. From the details of these expositres it is found that forty per cent. of the stealings was paid to officials. Here is a tremendous fund with which to corrupt men, and nothing short of the great vigilance on the part of the government will prevent a repetition of the frauds now so thoroughly and so successfully exposed. There must, in other words, be a far more efficient officer than Commissioner Douglass has proved himself, at the head of the department, and a much more summary way of dealing with inefficient or suspected persons, than has heretofore been practiced.

The question will now come up as to punishment. It will not do to merely dismiss the corrupt officials, or to inflict a money penalty only on the distillers and rectifiers. If frauds are to be stopped and criminals punished, the penitentiary must be used.

But the President and Secretary do not need to be urged, we presume, upon this point. Enough has been brought to their own knowledge to show the necessity for severe treatment.

The country will rejoice to have additional evidence of the fact that there is now a MAN at the at the head of the Treasury department who knows what he is about, and knowing it is not afraid to perform. It is also gratifying to know that this able, fearless, and incorruptible Secretary has the full confidence of the President.

It is gratifying to find that these frauds do not touch Cincinnati. The fact is, the dealers here have aided Secretary Bristow in detecting the frauds. The headquarters seem to have been at St. Louis, while Chicago and Milwaukee had their full share, and the Southern and eastern markets were supplied with the contraband stuff.

PORTLAND, Maine, sees the Centennial business and goes it a hundred years better. She proposes to celebrate the bicentennial of the settlers' fight with some Indians in 1675.

THERE is nothing new under the sun. The latest Pompeiian discovery is a woolen factory, in which were found pieces of woolen cloth, quite carbonized, and many instruments for carding and weaving similar to those used in some factories of the kind at the present day.

GEN. JAMES G. BLUNT, of Leaven worth, Kansas, is about to institute a libel suit against the Chicago Tribune, claiming $50,000. His grievance consists of an editorial recently published in the Tribune, headed, "The Thief Blunt," in which the General was accused of having defrauded the Cherokee Indians.

THE last Democratic Speaker, James L. Orr, was elected by the Thirty-fifth Congress in 1857. The next Congress organized in December, 1859, by the election of Pennington, of New Jersey, a Republican, as Speaker. Galusha Grow was elected Speaker of the Thirty-seventh Congress in 1861. Colfax was Speaker from 1863 to 1869, and Blaine has held the position ever since.

WHOLESALE prices in New York, according to interesting tables published by the New York Express, are actually lower for wheat, corn, and cotton prints, than they were in 1869, and the currency prices of corn, cotton, provisions, sugar and coffee are but little higher than gold prices of those articles before the war. But no corresponding reduction has yet reached the consumer, nor can it be expected as long as a currency of fluctuating value exists.

NEXT on the list comes the Bunker Hill centennial, June 17. This will eclipse Lexington and Ticonderoga. It was the first bold stand of our revolutionary fathers against British troops. How well they stood the test is known to every school boy. Boston will no doubt be a blaze of glory on that eventful day. When the Hub gets excited it is excited all over. If the British lion survives that day, it can go through the next seven years without shaking its mane or switching its tail in anger.

GOOD READING FOR AMBITIOUS SPELLERS.

The most skillful gauger I ever knew was a maligned cobbler, armed with a pocket-rule, who drove a peddler's wagon, using a mullen stalk as an instrument of coercion to tyrannize over his puny shod with calks. He was a Galilean Sadducee, and he had a phthisicky catarrh, diphtheria, and the bilious intermittent erysipelas. A certain sibyl, with the sobriquet of "Gypsy," went into ecstasies of cachinnations at seeing him measure a bushel of peas, and separate saccharine tomatoes from a heap of peeled potatoes, without dyeing or singeing the ignitible quene which he wore, or becoming paralyzed with hemorrhage. Lifting her eyes to the ceiling of the cupola of the capitol to conceal her unparalleled embarrassment, making a rough courtesy, and not harrassing him with mystifying, fascinating and stupefying innuendoes, she gave him a couch, a bouquet of lilies, mignonette and fuchsias, a treatise on mnemonics, a copy of the Apocrypha in hieroglyphics, daguerreotypes of Mendelssohn and Kosciusko, a kaleidoscope, a dram phial of ipecacuanha, a teaspoonful of naphtha for deleble purposes, a ferrule, a clarionet, some licorice, a surcingle, a cancelian of symmetrical proportions, a chronometer with a movable balance-wheel, a box of dominoes and a catechism. The gauger, who was also a trafficing rectifier and parishioner of mine, preferring a woolen surtout (this choice was referable to a vacillating, occasionally occurring idiosyncrasy), wouldly uttered this apophthegm: "Life is checkered; heresy and villainy shall be punished." The sibyl apologizingly answered, "There is ratably an allegeable difference between a conferrable diæpsis and trisyllable diæresis." We replied in trochees, not impugning her suspicion.

THE EPIDEMICS OF 1873.

An interesting report on the yellow fever and cholera epidemics of 1873 has been made by Dr. Frank W. Reilley, Surgeon in the United States Marine Hospital service. The report was prepared for the Secretary of the Treasury, in accordance with a resolution of the Senate of the United States.

Dr. Reilley states that from the month of February until the 21st of November, 1873, there occurred in this country 2,569 deaths from malignant or epidemic cholera. During the same period of each year there occur about 21,000 deaths from diarrhœa, dysentery and cholera infantum. From May 23d, 1873, to Nov. 29th of the same year, there were 3,349 deaths from epidemic yellow fever. During the same period of each year, there occur an aggregate of 8,500 deaths from the various malarial fevers. The last preceding epidemic of yellow fever was in 1867, and from its subsidence to the close of 1872, there were 970 deaths from the disease; but during the same period more than 50,000 persons had died of malarial fever.

For six years preceding 1873, there had been an epidemic cholera in the country, but during those six years the group of diseases mostly resembling cholera carried off 125,000 of the population. "And year by year," says the Doctor, "such, more or less preventable diseases as small-pox, scarlet fever, typhus, enteric fever and consumption, are the causes of a tolerably constant average of over 100,000 deaths per annum." In regard to the origin of yellow fever, the mode of its importation into the Gulf States, and the specific modes of preventing and limiting its ravages, medical opinion remains as confused and conflicting, and medical skill as powerless as ever. That yellow fever is not epidemic in New York every year, the Doctor thinks is owing to the want of favoring conditions in the seasons themselves, as well as to the efficiency of the New York Board of Health.

It appears from the above report that, although cholera and yellow fever are objects of national dread, they do not carry off as many people in the aggregate, as many diseases which prevail every year, and are preventable to a greater or less extent. Defective drainage, improper ventilation, and neglect in removing offensive matter from under our very eyes, are productive of more deaths than those diseases which are apt to be considered as the direct visitation of God. Such facts should awaken vigilance in our municipal authorities, and suggest means of preventing disease in our midst.

Medical men all over the world are constantly endeavoring to impress upon the public mind the great importance of sound sanitary regulations, and still, upon no subject is there such apathy. Such stolid indifference is seen upon no other subject. People will pay physicians every year bills for medical attendance in their families, when but a small proportion of the amount will suffice to prevent the occurrence of those very diseases which have afflicted them.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Tonic and Pills act upon the liver, creating a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the most of the incurables pronounced by Dr. Schenck in person, at his office, corner of SIXTH and ARCH streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stone, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious taste, while our plain tombs are capable of elevating the admiration of all. We do not propose to print a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. IN BRIEF.

—Cool day.

—Whitehall to-day.

—Shooting club excursion.

—Fair at Concert Hall to night.

—A man is successful when he makes life give him all he wants.

—Half the discomfort of life is the result of getting tired of ourselves.

—The photograph business improves because new features are constantly introduced.

—Nature gives us volumes of fruit, which she always prefaces with flowers.

—We hear the rain fall, but not the snow. Bitter grief is loud, calm grief is silent.

—The priest threw his breviary at the devil because he had no other missal to throw.

—Adversity to a man is like training to a pugilist. It reduces him to his fighting weight.

—A question for a bachelor is whether to furnish a rented room, or rent a furnished room.

—Old farmers say that a cold January and February bring a good corn and fruit year. It is reasonable to conclude, therefore, that the present year will be a good one for apple-jack and Bourbon whisky.

—A new method of treating sugar cane has been successfully introduced in Louisiana during the past year, the chief merit of which is that it greatly reduces the cost of producing sugar.

—A witness in a Cahkill law office described the poverty of a field of corn as follows: "The crop was so stunted and short that the toads could sit on their haunches and pick bugs off the tassels."

—Parishes to his clergyman—"I suppose you don't know much about stock exchange matters, or I'd ask you what lends a man with money should be mostly off?" Clergyman—"Oh, I can tell you that—vagabonds."

—A heart full of coolness, a sweet lad of bitterness, pain full of pleasantness, which nakedness thought have eyes and hearts and ears, bred by desire, nursed by delight, weaned by jealousy, killed by dissembling, buried by ingratitude; and this is love.

—They got up a surprise party Tuesday night last on a young married couple, at whose house a similar affair was one of the social successes of the last season. The conspirators were not calmly but cordially at the gate, by the brass band, who rested on his chief gun, while its beautiful and accomplished wife, whose face and form were visible inside the porch, said she was very glad to see them, but she didn't think she could hold the bulldog back more than a minute longer.

—Isn't it about time to stop talking about "the lightning-rod man?" Nine-tenths of the residents of this city have never had a visit from one. Give the lightning-rod man a rest and renew the attack on the insurance agents, who are scarcely ever seen by any one except by request. The organ-grinder has had his run long enough. Everybody likes his music, and children cry for it.

"Do you lend money?" asked a farmer, as he accosted a broker recently. "Yes, sir," was the reply. "How much interest?" "One per cent. a month." "Well, that's a durn high interest, 'pears to me," continued the old man; "but I guess I'll take a dollar and a half for two weeks, as I've got to raise some boots for Bill Tatum, and I'm a leetle short."

—A countryman recently bet $10 with one of the sporting fraternity that his horse would weigh more after drinking a pail of water than before. The sporting gent was not slow to take a wager made by a man from the country, and the test on the horse was made, and, true enough the animal weighed thirty pounds more after drinking the water than he did before.

JUDGE MOSES, of the City Court, has granted an injunction to Robert Barker, contractor, to compel the county treasurer to pay certain claims for feeding paupers. Mr. Wolfe had been notified by the county Board of Revenue not to pay warrants unless the Board had passed upon them. Hence this injunction.

WE are requested to state that there will be a spelling match at the Arlington Club rooms to morrow night. We will print the rules, etc., in to-morrow's issue.

THE HEATED TERM.

Suggestive Notes—How to Pull Through with Moderate Comfort.

The weather for the last two days has definitely settled the question whether or not winter is going to monopolize the weather business all the year. Yes, there has been a change, a sudden and radical change. That is to say, we are now having it hot. The bureau at Washington has given us a number of fearful days, frightfully warm and ferociously windy. It is needless for us to remark that winter has stepped down and out; he no longer lingers in the lap of spring, running his fingers through her hair and enjoying the paroxysmal kisses of the voluptuous maiden. He has left the fair city of Montgomery, and spring now reigns supreme in these confines. In other words, permit us to observe, the "heated term," so well known in these parts, has begun, and we are in for it for another six months.

Now is the time, gentle reader, to make good resolutions. Resolve not to swear, not to chew, not to smoke, not to drink (?) not to get excited, not to do anything, in short. Keep cool. The hardest thing to do, this hot weather, you will find, will be to keep cool. Accept and act upon this admonition—don't exert yourself. Raise the windows, even if the wind should turn the house inside out; buy a fan, put up a fanning machine, get a bellows, go into the cellar—keep cool by some means or other. Life is not a pleasure, but a burthen when you are hot. Better go at once to Dry Tortugas if you are finally to be roasted to death. Give proper weight to the above suggestions, and you will probably be able to pass through the "heated term" very comfortably. There ought to be some Arctic soda fountains in town; but to save us we cannot say that there are. If there be any the owners are trying very hard to keep the fact secret from the two daily papers here. We shall let our readers know when the ice cream and soda merchants desire to make public that they are ready for business.

THE Spencer committee is not examining witnesses at the statehouse.

SPRINKLING the streets is now the occupation of the clerks in the quiet hours of the afternoon.

AT an adjourned meeting the stockholders of the Montgomery water works company this Wednesday, May 12, 1875, the following directors were elected to serve the ensuing year: John A. Elmore, Milo Barnett, L. B. Fauver, Eugene Beebe, John T. Milner, W. B. McDonough, and Joseph Flannery.

THE horses attached to a chichen wagon took fright near our office yesterday, and ran up Perry street. The chicken coop stuck fast to the wagon, but the chickens were scattered all over the streets.

J. A. DIAZ, agent of the "Montgomery Protective Ice Company," received on yesterday a cargo of the purest North-in-lake ice we ever saw. He will sell it at such low prices that every one, rich and poor, can enjoy the luxury during the hot season.

THE picnic of the Montgomery shooting club takes place at White Hall to-day. Carriages will leave the Western railroad depot at Sayre's block, and another at 11 o'clock. Persons who desire to attend can take passage on either train, if supplied with the necessary tickets.

AT the annual meeting of the Directors of the Montgomery Water Works company, Joseph Flannery was elected President, and J. C. Knox Secretary and Treasurer.

IT is said that Mr. Major Moses has received nineteen hundred applications for office since his election. That is more than all the votes he and Mayor Faber received combined. Perhaps some poor fellows applied twice. Uneasy lies the head that wears the Mayor's hat.

AN enterprising young man of Montgomery has been seeking the agency for the Magic Mine does Hyperion Hair Restorative. When he gets it, he will commence canvassing the city for patronage. Look out for him—bald heads!

ATTENTION.—We observe that Senator Jones is going to build artificial ice factories in the principal South-ern cities. We have one already in operation here, and it is one of the greatest institutions in this country. No ice famine need be apprehended here.

ALL RIGHT.—A short time ago a gentleman of this city—a printer—advertised his little dog which had strayed from home. The morning his advertisement appeared in the se columns his dog returned in perfect health and apparently happy. Who says advertising doesn't do any good.

OUR Merchants complain that if they ship any freight by the Western railroad they are compelled to pay the charges in advance, and yet they say that freights shipped from Selma are not paid until they arrive at their destination. It is hoped the new company will make no such discrimination against our city.

WE understand that a compromise is in progress between the city and those tax payers who got the injunction restraining the collection of the railroad tax. The longer that tax remains uncollected the more expensive it will be to the city, and consequently to the tax-payers.

LEGRAND & Co., always enterprising and liberal, had the street cars chartered yesterday for the benefit of their customers and visitors. The ladies were specially expected to visit the Temple Stores—the greatest in the State—free of charge, on the cars. LeGrand knows what it is to be liberal and enterprising, but still he doesn't use quite enough of printers' ink.

AGAIN.—Spelling matches are the mania now everywhere. A few evenings since a gay party of young ladies and gentlemen were assembled at the house of a Perry street resident, when the question of spelling was broached. The following words were given out, and spelled thus: Daily—dayly; Politeness—polyteness; Hautboy—hoboy; Bouquet—bocay. The gentleman who reports this to us says that more than one engagement was broken up by that spelling match.

PENSACOLA EXCURSION.—Our readers will please take notice that the fare for the round trip of the excursion to Pensacola, is five dollars. This does not include the trip over the bay, which will be about one dollar more. The price for the round trip is so low that the managers could not afford to include the expense of chartering a steamer to make the trips about the bay. The price is certainly low enough for a visit to Pensacola, which ordinarily costs over twenty dollars. If a large number desire to charter a vessel to go on the bay, no doubt one can be secured at a small cost to each—much less than where they go separately.

ATTENTION POLICE.—We have been requested to call the attention of the proper authorities to the fact that a number of reckless youths go in bathing near the ferry crossing every day, to the great disgust of all persons crossing the river at the ferry. Yesterday a number of ladies were shocked at these idlers bathing there as they crossed over from Autauga. Whenever a boy becomes so bold as not to respect ladies, then it is high time he should be taken in hand, and taught that it is the highest evidence of refinement to respect the feelings and sensitive modesty of ladies. Let the police use their clubs on these shameless rascals and teach them manners.

THE FAIR.—The fair of the Sisters of Loretto, at Estelle Hall, continues to be the attraction of the city. The hall is beautifully arranged, and the tables handsomely prepared, while the tempting delicacies with which they are loaded are enough to satisfy both the appetite and the fancy. One of the tables particularly—that over which Mrs. F. M. Kohn presides—is one of the most tastily arranged we have ever seen. Last night the hall was crowded to its uttermost with young ladies and gentlemen who seemed to enjoy the occasion with more than ordinary pleasure. The fair will last two nights longer, and we advise each of our readers to be sure and attend if they would spend a most delightful evening.

CAN I COME?—A young lady residing not far from Court Square, received a supply of confections from a Commerce street cleck, some days ago, and with them a polite note, asking the question: "Can I come, and when?" She quietly devoured the bonbons, and sent her youthful admirer a pretty note thanking him for his presents. She forgot to answer his question direct, until the next day, when she read his note the second time and found the question emphasized. The feelings of the youth can be imagined by those only who have been along that path. But the young lady, being up to snuff, went to see the young man, at his store and informed him that the confections were so nice she forgot to answer his question. "Of course you can come any time, but bring some more candy, please," said she, as she stepped out of the store.

The Reading and Recitation of Mr. J. Wm Moses, at Franklin Hall last evening, drew together a very select, cultured and demonstrative audience. At half past eight Mr. D. C. Anderson came forward and introduced Mr. Moses in a fitting and well delivered address, in which he alluded in complimentary terms to the Arlington Society of Montgomery, of which Mr. Moses is President, and spoke of the literary taste it was generating, and of the incalculable good it was doing the citizens of that place. Mr. Moses selected for his first piece the Forum scene in Shakspeare's "Julius Cæsar." We were not favorably impressed with his reading of this selection. There was a monotony in his voice that were not at all pleasing and did not seem suited to, this scene, which requires such passionate outbursts of oratory. He had a more correct conception of the next selection, "David Copperfield's Wooing," and not only read it in a free, easy and pleasing manner, but gave it that peculiar emphasis which kept the audience in a ripple of laughter. The rest of his selections were well rendered, and were rewarded with enthusiastic applause. The entertainment was a gratifying success, and we hope the enterprising members of the Franklin Society will favor us with similar literary repasts. They are beautiful green spots in the midst of intellectual desolation, and we know our people will always be ready and willing to give them that encouragement and support they so richly deserve.

WE notice that some of our merchants are selling below New York cost. How can any merchant do business by selling his goods for less than they cost him?

The Black Hills and Gold Hunters—The Political Situation—Gorham For Governor of California—The Whisky Frauds—Bristow Wringing off Official Heads—Seizure of Distilleries, &c.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A number of Senators from the Indian Border States and Delegates and Governors of the Territories interested, are here waiting the arrival of Red Cloud and his chiefs, with whom it is proposed by the government to negotiate a cession of the Black Hill country, which is part of the Sioux reservation. The outlook for the noble aborigines might well excite the apprehension of their chiefs. At no time within the last quarter of a century has a treaty of so much importance been up for consideration, and the presence of such an array of political influence is very likely to insure a treaty satisfactory to the whites and which may lead to an uprising of this warlike tribe.

Mr. Gorham, the Secretary of the Senate, it is learned here, is engaged in working up the Republican nomination for Governor of California for himself, with some prospects of success.

A number of the principal Indian contractors have reached here to protest against the recent award of contracts in New York city for Indian supplies. They allege violation of law and usage in the matter.

Large quantities of untaxed whiskies have been traced from Western distilleries to numerous cities in the South. Orders have been issued for the seizure of all these liquors. Large quantities have been already seized in New York, Boston, and elsewhere. Secretary Bristow seems determined to make no compromise. All the revenue officials implicated in these frauds will be removed. In addition to the seizures reported yesterday, a large number have been ordered in Milwaukee and other cities. All the whiskies shipped to Southern merchants by these distilleries will be seized wherever found, at once.

Weather—For the Gulf States rising barometer, northerly winds and generally clear and warmer weather, followed by southerst winds and coast rains on the western Gulf.

NEW YORK.

The Herald on the Situation—Grant the Strongest Man in the Republican Ranks—He should Step to the Front and make another Race.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Herald reviews the political situation again. This time it sees that Gen. Grant is the strongest man in the Republican party, and the only one who can grapple with the third term issue. None of the other leaders have sufficient influence to elect them. The Herald deprecates the apathy in the Republican party on the third term question, and says that the President should come frankly before the country on this issue. [We should all feel thankful to the Herald for its tatherly advice. We certainly do.—Ed. Jour.]

MILWAUKEE, May 12.—A large meeting was held last night at Bishop's Hall to make arrangements for the services for the elevation and consecration of Bishop Henri as Archbishop. Only 3,000 tickets of admission will be issued. Bishop Purcell of Cincinnati will preach the consecration sermon in English, and Bishop Heiss, of LaCrosse, in German. There will be a grand honorary torchlight procession and banquet in the evening.

THE LATE OCEAN DISASTER.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean remarks that thousands of people have doubtless been saying to themselves, during the last day or two, that nothing but necessity shall ever induce them to cross the ocean. The horrors of shipwreck and death at sea have been so vividly displayed by the foundering of the Schiller, that people begin to think it is better to see less of the world and remain in comparative security, than to venture where such a frightful disaster may overtake them.

There is a nameless horror surrounding death under such circumstances which hardly reaches any other. The black night; the roar of angry waters; the wall of agony from the doomed passengers; the cruel thought that thus, far from home, with friends and relatives unconscious of your fate, you must go down into the depths of the resistless sea, and be swallowed up as a mite in that vast expanse of foam and flood—all contribute to make this a fate from which the boldest must cower.

The accounts so far agree in according much praise to the commander of the ill-fated vessel, but it is yet strange that with all his experience of the dangers of his position he should have only partially halted in his course a half hour before the catastrophe occurred. Though, of caurse, not suspecting that he was in such close proximity to the treacherous coast, his reckoning must have told him that he was near the dread locality, and that extreme caution was required. The caution lost his life with the other victims, and we shall probably never have the full explanation of the disaster, but the surviving officers may be able to throw some light on what now looks like an unnecessary, as it proved to be a dangerous risk.

The anxiety of the friends of those on board must still continue to be great, notwithstanding the probable certainty of the fate of the latter. There is room for possible mistake regarding the saved as there is of the lost. Names and identity are sometimes confounded, and those who rejoice may be compelled to mourn, as those who mourn may yet have reason to rejoice. As much care as is possible, however, is exercised in these cases, and the probabilities are that the lists are correct.

In connection with the shipwreck the public will have their attention more than ever directed to the new floating apparatus lately tested in the British Channel, and for which so much is claimed. It certainly seems that modern skill and ingenuity ought to devise something by which such wholesale death could be avoided, and as a means at least approaching, if not accomplishing this end, the invention of our countryman merits more than ordinary attention.

THE VALUE OF COTTON.

The total value of the exports of every description from the United States for the last fiscal year was $652,913,445 in gold. Of this amount $211,923,580 was on account of cotton. Last year we exported 2,093,075 bales. Of this quantity England bought about $137,000,000 worth, or 900,000,000 pounds. France paid us for cotton about $17,500,000. Germany used of our leading staple in the past twelve months $17,500,000 worth. Of cotton goods manufactured in this country we sent abroad $2,360,000, over a million yards of which went to England. The greater part of our cotton fabrics, however went to South America. Brazil received over two and a quarter million yards alone. Chili bought $204,070 worth, and Mexico $158,000.

India bought about $100,000 last year. Of other classes of goods not classed as cotton fabrics, $750, were exported. We imported last year goods made of American cotton valued at $25,000,000. If the cotton States, in spite of the disorder of the times, can show such results as the sum total we have given, how much more could we produce if our agricultural interest had the fostering care which is properly their due? With this single article bringing into this country more than one-third of all the gold we receive from any source, it is the highest duty of not only the cotton States, but the General Government, to aid in every proper way the culture of such a valuable commodity.

In view of the fact that the resolutions adopted at Hannastown, Westmoreland county, May 16, 1775, declared "unshaken loyalty to His Majesty King George the Third, our lawful and rightful King," some people are inclined to think there is not much in their adoption that looks like a Declaration of Independence. The Chicago Journal, for instance, says: "If we were a Westmoreland countyite, we would keep quiet, and, drawing the kindly curtain of oblivion over our own, would quietly go off and help 'celebrate' some other fellow's resolution;" but then, the fellows who live out in a new country must naturally be mad and envious because they have nothing of the kind to brag of.

Fernando Wood recently said to an interviewer: "I feel the absolute assurance of easy victory." Absolute assurance was always Mr. Wood's strong point.

DR. BALDWIN AT LOUISVILLE.

Our distinguished fellow-citizen, Dr. W. O. Baldwin, President of the First National Bank, attended the recent session of the American Medical Association at Louisville, Kentucky. The convention of these disciples of Esculapius completed another link in the chain which is fast binding the people of this great Republic into one common brotherhood of hopes and purposes. The delegates in this convention were representative men—men of enlarged views, wide observation and matured experience in public events. They have better opportunities of forming correct judgments upon public affairs, than any other class of public men, because their profession necessarily throws them into contact with all classes of people. That they should understand more thoroughly the wants and necessities of the great mass of people, is a fact which needs no evidence to establish. A comparison of the views of the delegates, from every section of the country, in the recent convention, was productive of a most cordial understanding, while it drew together in firm bonds of mutual regard and friendship these representative men of one of the noblest of all the professions of man.

The patriotic speech of Dr. H. C. Bowditch, President of the Massachusetts State Board of Health, during the session of the Louisville Convention was responded to in the following felicitous and elegant address of Dr. Baldwin:

Dr. Baldwin said that long since Alabama had shaken hands with Massachusetts. He felt that he must give some expression to his feelings on the present occasion. As a Southern man he wished to express his profound gratification for the cordial and graceful courtesies extended by the medical brethren and citizens of Louisville. He likewise alluded in reciprocal terms to the greeting extended by the Northern brethren of the profession here assembled. In alluding to the latter, he complimented them highly upon the ingenuous manner in which they had offered the hand of friendship, which the acerbities of war had not paralyzed. The motives which actuated this proceeding seemed so pure and unselfish that they were regarded in no other light; and it was acts such as these that evoked the commendation of the gentleman from Alabama, who thanked them that they had not destroyed the right of their Southern brothers to love them still.

The Louisville Courier-Journal, a representative Southern journal, commenting upon the remarks of Dr. Baldwin, observes that:

The gentleman's effort was characterized by a tropical fervency of feeling, which worked up the emotional capacity of every one present, and when he took his seat the building resounded with an outburst of applause, the intensity of which gave evidence that a responsive chord had been struck, which would pulsate upon the social atmosphere from the savannahs of the South to the frozen lakes of the North, and from the rock-ribbed coast of Maine to the strands of the Golden Gate.

And as an evidence that the patriotic sentiments expressed by Doctors Bowditch and Baldwin found response in every breast present, we add the following from the report of the Courier-Journal:

This short address was succeeded by another from Dr. Davis, of Chicago, whose eloquence was as buoyant as ozone, or as exhilarating as the frosts of his Northern home. While he respected and reciprocated the expressions of good feeling, come from whatever section it might, he could not find it in his heart to locate or bound such a sentiment. He knew no North, South, East or West, but only his country; and whomsoever he loved, he loved not as a resident of a particular section, but as a citizen of his country, as a fellow-countryman.

Now, if the politicians of the South will learn from these addresses the great lesson that a tolerance of opinion and respect for those who differ from them, is more manly and honorable than ostracism and cruelty to opponents, the era of peace and good-will will soon bless this fair and sunny land we all love so well.

Stick a pin here. The Montgomery Advertiser retracts the charge it made against Mr. N. Woodruff of Selma, relative to his vote in 1872. The editors of the Advertiser voted for Horace Greeley, the father of Radicalism in this country, and the leader of the anti-slavery crusade prior to the late war. Yet it asked the people of Selma not to vote for Mr. Woodruff for mayor, because, as it alleged, Mr. Woodruff had voted for Gen. Grant, as against Greeley. Any person who voted for Horace Greeley ought never to make a point against any one who voted for Grant, on the score of Radicalism. The man who could swallow Horace Greeley ought not to grin and make ugly faces at one who voted for Grant.

A correspondent of the Advertiser from North Alabama, in a letter to that journal, states that the corn and convention prospects are very good. We rather suspect that Maj. "C." gets his information from the law offices in Courtland, relative to the prospects of the second article. We never knew that the farmers in North Alabama had planted any convention seed. From what we can learn relative to that article, the North Alabama farmers are not disposed to plant much of it, because they were ruined by it in 1869. Farmers are not apt to plant a second crop of seed of an article that despoils them of their property and their sons.

A few months since it was "old Cassius Clay, that foul-mouthed old Radical slanderer." Now it is the "Hon. Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, the great orator and statesman." Some people have just found out that Mr. Clay is "an orator and a statesman." Will brother Brownlow please lead in prayer?

THE KENTUCKIAN WHO IS TO MARRY MISS IDA GREELEY.

[New York Letter to the Baltimore Gazette.]

The latest in social circles is the engagement of Miss Ida Greeley, daughter of the famous printer and statesman, to Col. Nicholas Smith. Col. Smith graduated with high honors from Rufus Choate's class at Cambridge, and is a promising young lawyer. In appearance he greatly resembles Edwin Booth, and is often taken for that gentleman. One night he entered a box at the theatre, when he was immediately the object of all eyes. "There is Edwin Booth," they all exclaimed, as they leveled their opera glasses at what they supposed was the great actor. He was born at Shelbyville, Ky., where he spent his early years. He is now a resident of Leavenworth, Kansas. During the war he took grounds against slavery. He did not oppose it alone by words, but as an example he freed all his slaves and paid their fare to Kansas. Miss Ida Greeley, accompanied by her sister Gabrielle and her aunt and cousin, the Clevelands, will start for a European tour about the 1st of May.

[N. Y. Correspondence St. Louis Times.]

Mrs. Cleveland, the sister of Horace Greeley, has for years given (during the winter) afternoon receptions, which have been very popular among literary and artistic people. So famous have these gatherings been that it has become almost necessary if one would be at all known among the literary people of this city to have the entree to Mrs. Clevelands's house. Since Mr. Greeley's death his two daughters have resided with Mrs. Cleveland, and, as they are beautiful and accomplished girls, they have outshown the relative, and now these much-sought receptions are known as Greeley affairs, or the Misses Greeley "at home" on Tuesday. Your correspondent eagerly accepted an invitation to see the literary lions and the "blue stockings" of this city last Thursday afternoon. A cat, you know, may look at a king and queen as well. From 3 o'clock till 7 there was a constant coming and going, two rooms and the corridor being all the time comfortably full. It is purely an intellectual feast, there being no refreshments whatever. Mrs. Cleveland, her two daughters (one of them an authoress) and the Misses Greeley, were constant in their attention to their guests, conversing in turns with all with admirable ease. The eldest Miss Greeley is very pretty; indeed, both of them are very charming and resembling their mother, looking more like German girls with their dark eyes, clear brunette complexion and chestnut-colored hair, than like Americans or daughters of the fair and guileless Horace. They were dressed in half-mourning, and without ornaments of any description. Neither affects or pretends to be literary, yet both are well read as to books, and have traveled extensively, having made the tour of Europe some seven or eight times. Occasionally there was music, a song, or some instrumental performance by one or the other of the Misses Cleveland, which I shall not criticise, but most of the time was spent in conversation.

BREAD AND FATNESS—COTTON AND STARVATION.

[From Our Home Journal.]

Another planting season has opened, and soon will have passed away. Again the cotton growers of the South will doubtless pitch their crops for five million bales, and six or eight cents a pound. They would have made five million bales last year had it not been for the bad season, the overflows, and the cotton worm. Though the crop cost more than it was sold for, the producers would have been still worse off had they made a full crop.

Soon we will hear Paris green, arsenic, and medical inventions for destroying the cottonworm, discussed, that the five million bales and starvation prices may be reached, if possible.

And the railroads and steamers are bringing car loads and cargoes of corn, beans, onions, oats, potatoes, hay, pork, lard, chickens, eggs, butter, cheese, and other produce of Western farms, to feed the cotton and sugar producers, and all other people in the South!

The farmers owe the merchants of the South large sums of money for Western produce, to feed themselves, their laborers, their horses and mules on while they make cheap cotton and sugar for other States and countries. And many of the merchants are on the brink of bankruptcy on account of the poverty of their farmer debtors.

There is no key to this madness and folly—no way to explain this stampede towards a yawning gulf and certain destruction over millions of bales of cotton, unless it be that each cotton grower every year concludes that all at last have their eyes wide open to the folly of making so much cotton and so little corn and meat; that this year but little cotton will be planted, the crop will be small, and prices high, and now is the chance to make money out of cotton while others plant corn. This is perhaps the delusion every year, and will continue to be. Far seeing farmers, who have the steadiness of purpose to pitch their crops for an abundance of food for man and beast, and give the balance of their time to cotton, and prospering everywhere, while those who are deluded by the theory of short crops and high prices for their cotton are mortgaging their places, talling behind, living in short allowances, and ruining themselves and their merchants, depreciating the market price of cotton and sugar lands, and warming emigrants not to come to a country where a farmer cannot make a living.

It would be well if the following sentences could be printed in large capitals on the Southern sky: Cultivators of cotton, make your own provisions, and as much cotton as will not interfere with your food supplies. Where your lands are poor make them richer. Cultivate less, and cultivate better. Get out of debt, and keep out."

Judge Herschel V. Johnson concluded a recent charge to the Grand Jury of Tatnall county, Ga., thus: "I speak not as a Judge but as a Georgian. My course is almost run. I have nothing in the way of political honors to look forward to. All that I wish is to be useful in the position which I occupy. We have a herculean task before us if we want the rising generation to be anything. Money is not all. We may accumulate the riches of Golconda, and what will it all be to our children if they are destitute of character and principle?"

VICE PRESIDENT WILSON.

The Louisville Courier-Journal referring to the recent visit of Vice President Wilson to that city, says:

As was announced in yesterday's issue of the Courier-Journal, the Vice President of the United States passed the day at the Galt House, receiving marked attention from all classes of the people. Mr. Wilson goes to-day to Lexington by way of Frankfort and Versailles, to pay a visit to Gen. Breckenridge. It is regretted that his stay in Kentucky is so brief. An eminent citizen from a distant State, as well as the second official in the nation at large, his position would command the most distinguished consideration at the hands of Kentuckians in general, and from none more than from Kentucky Democrats. But Mr. Wilson has still higher claims upon our hospitality. He is in his own person one of the kindest and most estimable of gentlemen, a generous enemy in war and a liberal statesman in peace. His journey to the sick bed of an old fellow-Senator and friend is characteristic of his affectionate and manly disposition, and will arouse a warm and grateful response in every feeling heart. Should he prolong his stay in Kentucky the people everywhere will receive him as plain Henry Wilson, a stranger and a welcome guest, and not as in his official character as Vice President.

The latest intelligence from Lexington, Ky., is that Gen. John C. Breckenridge is slowly sinking, and his death may be expected at any moment. It is said that the visit of Vice President Wilson to the bedside of Gen. Breckenridge, was quite affecting, and the latter afterwards expressed much gratitude to the Vice President. The visit renewed the friendship of former years between these distinguished statesmen.

These Pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as truly explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines personally observed in. REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your beloved Dead neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tomb Stones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious tastes, while our plain tombs are capable of elevating the admiration of all. We do not propose to paint a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proven to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all work with neatness and dispatch. Send in your orders at once. FLOATING WAIFS.

—No runaways yesterday.

—Picnics are the rage now.

—Pleasant weather for farming.

—Pensacola excursion May 17th.

—Commerce street was lively yesterday

—Remember the orphans—go to Pensacola.

—Phil. E. Buster says he wouldn't give a straw for a feather bed.

—The lawyers of Erie, Pa., have formed a bar association for the "elevation of the members." We should really enjoy looking at the man who put that in.

—We know an odd genius who is in the habit of visiting auction rooms and purchasing all the odd commodes he can find. It's a strange idio-sink-racy of his.

—In Washington, when two long-separated friends meet, they shake hands and exclaim, "My dear fellow, I'm awful glad to see you;" but out in Denver they come up, and, whacking each other on the back, exclaim, "Old pard,. I've fouled ye. Let's booze.

—A few men, here and there—principally there—pass through life peacefully, and go down to the tomb with a quiet mind. In a monastery in Turkey there are twenty-three monks who haven't seen a woman since they were babies.

—There is a man in Nebraska who was being worried to death by people who came to borrow his wheelbarrow. His farm is six miles square, and his house is set three miles back from the road.

—An industrious Spanish hen at San Lorenzo, California, has laid an egg that is six inches in circumference, and eight inches from end to end, and the California newspapers are doing her cackling for her.

—Let a man keep the law, any law, and his pathway will be strown with satisfaction. There is more difference in the quality of our pleasure than the amount.

—Out of one hundred men you run against, you will find ninety five worry themselves into low spirits and indigestion about trouble that will never come.

—With love the heart becomes a fair and fertile garden, glowing with sunshine and warm hues, and exhaling sweet odors; but without it, it is a black desert covered with ashes.

—A daughter is almost always right when she endeavors to imitate her mother, but we do not think the mother is equally right when, at a certain period of life, she tries all she can to imitate her daughter.

—Men's lives should be like the days, more beautiful in the evening; or like the spring, aglow with promises; and like the autumn, rich with golden sheaves, where good works and deeds have ripened on the field.

—"You are all going to hell!" shouted an Arkansas camp-meeting preacher. "That's d—d a lie; I'm going to New Orleans," said a butternut on a rear seat; but he took it all back when the preacher marched down toward him, pulling an eighteen inch bowie-knife from his boot leg as he advanced.

—"I leave office a poor man," writes Gen. Spinner. He will have the sympathies of his countrymen, although the gallant but unfortunate General knows very well that "sympathies" won't buy bouquets for the ladies. If he had only reserved enough to equip and support a conservatory and then sworn off, such a reservation might have passed for no more than a casual recognition of the common standard of official integrity.

—Different points of view. Maud, (with much sympathy in her voice). "Only fancy, mama, uncle Jack took us to a picture gallery and there we saw a picture of a lot of early Christians, poor dears, who had been thrown to a lot of lions and tigers, and they were devouring them." Ethel, (with still more sympathy). "Yes, and mama dear, there was one poor tiger that hadn't got a Christian!"

THOSE who attended the fair of the Sisters of Loretto, at Estelle Hall, will not soon forget the cool draughts of sparkling soda dealt to them by Mrs. James McManus. Indeed, some of those who were fortunate enough to partake of it, compare it to the Ambrosia which certain of the ancient gods are supposed to have sipped on certain occasions.

We are requested to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in this morning's issue signed by Washington Stephens and Holland Thompson.

K. OF P.—A Lodge of the Knights of Pythias is to be organized in Opelika today, so we are informed, and several prominent members of the Montgomery Lodge visited that place for that purpose. We hope that they will meet with perfect success.

OUR reporters struggled hard yesterday to find something interesting for our readers this morning. All the talk was about the Pensacola excursion. The stores were all excited about it and all the clerks were fixing up to go down and see the great gulf seaport. Round trip tickets only $5. Get one.

THE Advertiser attempted a few days since to quote certain latin phrases. Not knowing anything of that language the writer made several ludicrous mistakes. In order to escape from the consequences of his ignorance the writer lays the blame on the printers. Now, Ben, ain't that a "little" too thin for this sort of weather?

THE clothing merchants of this city, all of whom are noted for their generosity, liberality and enterprise, will close their stores at 7 o'clock, in order that their employes may have an opportunity of afternoon recreation. A move that all our merchants should imitate.

AN article in these columns yesterday, referring to the testimony of Robert Barber before the legislative committee investigating the election of Senator Spencer, made certain allusions to ex-Governor Parsons and Hon. Alexander White. We intended to state that we knew that efforts were made to defeat both these distinguished gentlemen for the legislature. They had no earthly connection with, or interest in the frauds, if any, perpetrated in the election of Mr. Spencer. Those who know them need not to be thus assured; those who do not, can rest perfectly satisfied that they are high above corruption of any kind.

THE Henshaw base ball club of this city, will visit Selma to-day, for the purpose of playing a match game with the Pet us club of the latter city. The fare for the round trip has been fixed at $1.50, and we understand that a large number of persons will accompany the Henshaw boys on the trip. Should any of our readers have business in Selma we advise them to take advantage of this occasion to visit our sister city. They may not have such an opportunity again soon to travel at such low rates. We predict a triumph for the Henshaw club in the contest.

PATENT CIGAR BOX.—Retail cigar dealers are to be afflicted with a patent cigar box, which the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has invented to keep them from swindling. The box has perforated coupons on the inside edge, corresponding with the number of cigars in the boxes. The coupons are furnished by the government in place of stamps, and when a cigar is sold a coupon has to be destroyed before the purchaser. The design is to make the smokers detectives, but, like everything else of this kind, the smokers won't watch, and the patent box will invite a good deal of profanity among retail cigar dealers, who do not like to be continually suspected of cheating the government.

M. A. B. U. PICNIC.—The picnic of the Machinists' and Blacksmith's Union, which will take place at Pickett Springs on the 20th inst., promises to be one of the most pleasant affairs of the season. All those who had the good fortune to attend their picnic last year, will be glad to learn of the one now contemplated. The gentlemen of the Union having the preliminaries in charge, know exactly how to prepare for a day of real enjoyment, and we are sure that most of our readers will be ready when the day comes to participate in the pleasures of the occasion. The Machinists and Blacksmiths' Union know exactly how to fix up a picnic—and they never fail.

Y. M. C. A.—At the annual meeting recently of the Y. M. C. A. of Montgomery, the following genti men were elected as directors to serve the ensuing year; B. B. Davis, J. W. Sloss, P. H. S. Gayle, J. W. Hardie, H. M. Bush, J. M. Falkner, R. M. Barry, M. M. Sweatt, O. F. Warner, W. R. Hale, F. H. Warren, and W. L. Chandler. And at a subsequent meeting the following were elected officers: Jeff. M. Falkner, President; P. H. S. Gayle, Vice President; H. M. Bush, Recording Secretary; B. B. Davis, Corresponding Secretary; Willis L. Chandler, Treasurer. The following were elected delegates to the International Convention, to be held in Richmond, Va., May 20-30, 1875: J. M. Falkner, B. B. Davis, J. W. Sloss and S. S. Brewer.

HE left the spelling bee at 10 o'clock, and stopped in a saloon on his way home. Here he met several friends who "set 'em up" divers times, and he reached home about midnight with a confused brain and a very demoralized pair of legs. Then he swore that somebody had stolen the key hole, but his wife, with a fearful scowl on her brow and a lamp in her hand, admitted him. "Drunk!" she exclaimed. "D-r-u-n-c (hic) drunk. Thaz easy stuff." "Spell!" "D-r-o-o-t (hic); give us harder one." "Shot!" "Thatz hardbut I can spellum. I-d-i-o-t g-i-t, Idiot. Now give us a stunner (hic)." She picked up a poker and gave him a "stunner"—and the spelling bee adjourned sine die.

THE GREYS.

Presentation of the Old Flag—Addresses of Miss Morgan and Capt. Winter—A Happy Event.

The presentation of the flag so gallantly borne by the old Montgomery Greys through so many scenes of shot and shell and storm, was the principal feature of the fair at Estelle Hall, on Thursday night. The young lady selected to deliver the banner to the Greys was Miss Morgan, and she did so in the following beautiful and chaste address:

Gentlemen of the Montgomery Greys:

I am unaccustomed to speaking in public, but I accept with feelings of the most profound deference and respect the pleasing and melancholy duty of presenting to you, gentlemen, the battle-flag of the old Montgomery Greys.

There are but few of the old war-scarred veterans now present, but I say to you, in the name of that time-honored company, that through a long and bloody war, over many a blood-drenched battle-field they bore it with honor, defended it with pride, consecrated it with their life-blood, and at last, folded it saturated with the tears of a brave and noble people.

I do not wish to detain you with a long dissertation upon the valor of those noble men who bore this flag before you; suffice it to say they bore it without dishonor, they died in its defense, and a grateful nation honors and reveres their memory.

You, gentlemen, bear the same name, and occupy their places, and I beseech you in the name of the dead and in the presence of the living, to follow the bright example they have set you; be brave, be honorable, be true soldiers and christian gentlemen, and remember when you march under its silken folds that angel soldiers look over heavenly battlements and approve your actions.

"Take this banner—and if e'er
Thou stoopdst to rest the soldier's bier,
And the mufflet drum should beat
To the tread of mournful feet,
Then this crimson flag shall be Martial cloak and shroud for thee."

Capt. John Gano Winter received the flag, and responded in the following address:

It is with great pleasure, Miss Morgan, that we accept the tattered and war-worn flag which you have presented to us to-night in behalf of the scar-covered veterans of the Montgomery Greys.

Its silken folds are indeed torn and disfigured, its bright colors are faded from exposure in camp and field, to the rains of heaven, and the smoke of battles, but each blemish enhances its value, and renders it the dearer to us, and around it cluster memories dear to us all. Upon its hallowed stars and bars it bears a name which, you have well said, has never been tarnished, but has been borne in triumph on many battlefields—a name which is an honor to Montgomery—one which we are proud to perpetuate, and to claim as our own.

To those gallant soldiers—the survivors of the Montgomery Greys—which left this city long years ago, to battle for country and for home, and who, with those comrades who now sleep "on fame's eternal camping ground," bore this beloved emblem unsullied amidst every danger, we pledge ourselves that, in our hands, it shall never be forgotten, neglected or dishonored.

The fierce war in which this flag was born so loftily, is over. Its immortal dead are buried. The foemen who struggled beneath its folds in the death grapple, meet to day as brothers, as fellow-citizens of one great common country. Well may friend and foe look with pride and reverence to that halo of eternal glory, which gallant men from heroic deeds have woven around the stars and bars.

A MYSTERY.—One of the strangest exhibitions, or coincidences, or relations, or whatever it may be named, that we have ever heard or read of—very closely bordering upon the marvelous and supernatural—occurred not long since in the house of a Philadelphia gentleman. Its truth is vouched for by the gentleman, his wife and family, all of whom are credible witnesses, whose testimony would not be doubted by anybody, but whose names we do not feel at liberty to make known. The facts, as stated to us are as follows: One of those frosty mornings, of which we had such a superabundance, while the children of the family in which this strange revelation was made, were amusing themselves in the sitting-room, they observed a figure in the frosting on the window pane. It appeared to be the picture of a female, holding in her hand a paper. The outlines were so plain that even the stripes on the dress were plainly observable. The children at once called the attention of the mother to the strange picture, and finally the father was called, who recognized in it an exact representation of his mother. Having a correct photograph of her, he brought it out and placed the pictures side by side, and they corresponded even to the stripes on the dress, except the picture in frost was holding the paper document in her hand. The picture remained upon the window-panes for an hour or two till dissipated by the warmth of the room, or perhaps of the sun, outside. But now comes the strangest part of the story. The next day after this appearance, the gentleman received by mail a paper package exactly corresponding with the one in the hand of the image, which, on being opened, proved to be a notice to the gentleman that he had become the heir to a large legacy from his deceased mother in a foreign land.

PARTNERSHIP.—By reference to an advertisement in this issue it will be seen that a partnership has been arranged between the Messrs. Cantelou, at Wetumpka.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Whisky Excitement Continues—The Friends of the Ring very Active—Col. Sheats Requested to Resign—Meeting of Underwriters — Gas Light Association, Etc.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Secretary Bristow's move on the whisky ring continues almost the sole subject of general conversation. The first evidences that the friends of the illicit distilleries are rallying come in the shape of dispatches from prominent persons asking for delay in action, for release, and for compromise. All propositions of the kind were promptly declined by the Secretary, and in all cases the law will take its course.

Commissioner Pratt spent the day with the Secretary, President, and Solicitor Wilson, in learning the exact situation of affairs, and also called upon Mr. Douglass. He will take sole charge in a few days, meantime giving his attention to some matters of reorganization and some proposed new methods of using the force of twenty-five special agents. One of his first moves will be to organize a force of clerks to make careful examinations and comparisons, so that hereafter all returns made shall fully subserve the purpose for which they were designed.

The examinations of this character made during the late investigation were chiefly made by Mr. E. W. Winslow, Confidential Secretary to the Solicitor. He was one of the few gentlemen in the entire department trusted with all the secrets of the move from the first, and the services he rendered have proved exceedingly valuable. These comparisons are now being pressed vigorously in the case of Cincinnati and Louisville districts.

It is reported that Col. Sheats, Sixth Auditor of the Treasury, has been requested to resign.

The President of the International Board of Underwriters has called a general meeting of the Board, to be held at Niagara Falls at an early day.

The semi-annual meeting of the American Gas Light Association was held here yesterday. Vice President Price, of Cleveland, presided, and seventy-two members were present, representing all parts of the country and Canada. It was recommended that gas companies, as far as practicable, dispense with Sunday labor. [A good suggestion.—ED. JOURN.]

A second dispatch to the agent says all the passengers were safely landed. The vessel was about one day out from Liverpool bound for New York. She is uninjured.

SING SING, May 14.—About 8 a. m. today four convicts escaped by jumping on a passing freight train. They got as far as Tarrytown when the cylinder head blew out, and they leaped off the engine and made for the woods. Detectives are on their track.

Frauds Upon the Sioux—The Indian Ring at Work—The Black Hills Sale, etc.

OMAHA, May 14.—The stories of frauds practiced upon the Sioux Indians by their agents and contractors, published here yesterday, creates considerable excitement. They cannot negotiate for the sale of the Black Hills without the presence of more of the head men of the tribes.

MASSACHUSETTS.

THE TROTTING STALLION,

HARRY OF THE WEST,

Will stand the ensuing season at the EXCHANGE STABLES, Montgomery, Ala., commencing April 1, and ending July 1, 1875.

TERMS:

For the season, $25 00, with privilege of the Fall for mares not proving with foal. The money to be paid, or acceptable paper given, at the beginning of service, and $1 00 to the groom.

HARRY'S COLTS prove that he is capable of transmitting the rare combinations of blood, action and other good qualities inherited from a long line of ancestry. For examples, the Brecher colt and the Reid filly, show for themselves.

DESCRIPTION AND PERFORMANCES.

"Harry of the West" is a large bright bay, both hind feet white, sixteen hands high, of fine style and action, and so gentle and kind that any lady can drive him. He trotted when a four year old, the fifth heat to a wagon, in 2:50, at the State Fair of 1868 he distanced all competitors of the four year old class, and in 1870 he took the premium over "Black Hawk," for speed and other qualities. Owing to a severe injury received in the spring of 1870, he has not since been trained.

PEDIGREE:

"Harry of the West" was sired by the celebrated trotting stallion "Hawk Eye," grand sire "Eureka" ("Dandy Jim"), g g sire "Long Island Black Hawk," g g g sire "Andrew Jackson" (the first stallion that ever trotted two miles, in America, in 5:15), g g g g g sire "Bashaw," g g g g g "Grand Bashaw," imported from Arabia. "Hawk Eye" dam was the celebrated mare "Nancy Dawson," by imported "Trustee," grand dam a Mombrino Paymaster mare. "Harry's" dam was by the celebrated race horse "Wellington," by imported "Sarpedon," grand dam by "Stockholder."

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 2, 1870.

BRADFIELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.:—Dear Sirs I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine you are now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the diseases for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that I consider it a boon to suffering females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure a bottle, that their sufferings may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,

I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M. D.

NEAR MARIETTA, Ga., March 23, 1870.

MESSRS. WM. ROOT & SON—Dear Sirs: Some months ago I bought a bottle of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR from you and have used it in my family with the utmost satisfaction, and have recommended it to three other families, and they have found it just what it is recommended. The females who have used your REGULATOR are in perfect health, and are able to attend to their household duties, and cordially recommend it to the public.

Yours respectfully, Rev. H. B. JOHNSON.

We consider the above amply sufficient proof its virtues. All we ask is a trial.

For full particulars, history of diseases, and certificates of its wonderful cures, the reader referred to the wrapper around the bottle.

THE NEW UNION.

The New York Evening Post remarks that two events have occurred recently of dramatic significance in respect to the revival of fraternal feeling between our brethren of the Southern States and their fellow-countrymen of the North. One of these is the restoration to the State of Massachusetts, by General R. S. Ripley, of the regimental flag of the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts (colored) volunteers, which was captured in the attack of July 18, 1863, on Fort Wagner, in which Colonel Robert G. Shaw and the color-bearer fell side by side. The Confederate garrison of Charleston was at that time under the command of General Ripley. The other was the presentation of a beautiful flag by the military organizations of Boston to the Washington Light Infantry of Charleston, upon the occasion of the fair which that venerable military association held there for the benefit of its old companions in arms. Both events were attended with every mark of respect and of sincere desire for friendship.

General Ripley, who has lived in foreign parts most of the time since the war, and who now is in England, says in his letter to the Governor of Massachusetts that he deems it "decorous, if not a positive duty, to promote the oblivion of the animosities which led to and were engendered by the war." "Such being the case," he goes on to say, "I prefer to look upon trophies of the character of the one in question as mementoes of the gallant conduct of men who, like Shaw, Putnam and other sons of Massachusetts, sealed their devotion to the cause which they adopted with their lives, rather than as evidences of prowess on the one side or the other." The keepers of this memento "should be the authorities of the State served by these gallant men," he thinks, and he accordingly transmits the flag to their safe-keeping. Governor Gaston has acknowledged the communication, in a note in which he thanks General Ripley for his courtesy "in returning the flag, and for the great tribute which you (General Ripley) have rendered to the brave men who served their country with so much credit to themselves and so much honor to the State."

The reception of the flag sent from Boston to the Washington Light Infantry was enthusiastic. Col. A. O. Andrews of Charleston made the reception speech, which abounded with patriotic references to the earlier passages of our history, when South Carolina and Massachusetts made common cause against despotic rule. The skill of the artist who concealed the scar on the brow of Alexander the Great by painting that monarch in a sitting posture, with his forehead resting on his open hand, was used by him as a similitude of the generous effort of Boston to conceal the rancor and bitterness remaining from the war underneath this generous and graceful act of courtesy and good will. The banner, bearing "the locked shields of Massachusetts and South Carolina, encircled by the flag of our common country," was placed by him beneath a mammoth palmetto tree, decorating the stage, with the ardent wish that "henceforward and forever may they so continue united—in amity, peace and good will."

Whether we confess it or not, there are many reasons why the new union should be better than the old one. Slavery was always a cause of contention, and the peace which existed then was often patched up. The war left the union territorially intact, and it also removed this ancient cause of bitterness and strife. There is no valid reason now why our common country should not be as united in fact as it is in name. Our contention hereafter ought to be in the peaceful ways of industry and commerce, and our strife should be confined to the oratorical contests of the "stump" and the legislative chamber. The events we have mentioned betoken such a future.

Here and there certain scared and disappointed men in the South will raise a re-actionary cry, but the people will pay no attention to it, unless it be to laugh at their folly. The new peace will continue, founded as it is on a union of free States, and we shall all some day bless God that human slavery became so arrogant as to provoke the blow which killed it, and gave us a purified republic.

ALECK STEPHENS, as everybody knows, is a very small man, weighing, unshucked, less than ninety pounds, but how many know that his political rival, George Tilden, tips the balances at only 100, which is the case? Either of them in the Presidential chair would have to be picked out of the upholstery with a pin.

As was naturally to be expected, the Black Hills gold fever has crowded a number of the frontier towns to overflowing with adventurers, who are without money, without work, and unable to get away. And yet it is doubtful whether the lesson of their folly will teach other people afflicted with auriumania, wisdom.

"QUOTING TOURNAMENTS? Why not? There would be fun in in making Shakespeare responsible for "Consistency's a jewell," and the Bible for "tempering the wind to the shorn lamb."

IMPORTANT CAPTURE OF INDIANS.

A party of notorious Indians have fallen into the hands of the United States troops, and are on their way to Fort Leavenworth. They include Motiefie Water, who led the party that assisted in the Germaine massacre; Lone Wolf, the celebrated Kiowa Chief; Families Harrahuce, murderer of Osborn at the Wichita Agency; Woman's Heart, Heap o' Birds, and all the principal chiefs who have caused trouble for the last five years. Their capture is considered the finale of Indian troubles in that section. Kicking Bird, who delivered them to the troops, was poisoned by a squaw, and died at Fort Sill May 3.

THE PRUSSIAN CHURCH QUESTION.

In the lower House of the Prussian Diet the bill for the suppression of religious orders has been read a second time without amendment, and the giving the Old Catholics a share of Roman Catholic church property has passed its third reading by a vote 242 yeas to 75 nays.

Instructions have been sent to the provincial authorities of Prussia to treat the collection of money for priests who have been subjected to legal penalties as a punishable offence.

A pastoral from Cardinal Manning was read in all the Roman Catholic churches of England yesterday. It protests against the persecutions of the Church in Germany and Switzerland, and accuses Prince Bismarck of seeking to raise the animosity of the powers against freedom of the next conclave.

ONE of the feminine newspaper correspondents closes a critical review of Senator Booth's physiognomy with the remark that, "If there is any destiny in a man's face, Senator Booth's will carry him to the White House." But there isn't. The person who, of all others whom we have met, has the most sensitive, spiritual and poetical cast of features, and seemed destined to become the Tennyson of this country, is now clerk in an eastern coal yard, and has no idea of going into poetry.

ONE by one the sweet illusions of our youth are destroyed. Now comes another iconoclast, who says in a New York paper that "Old Put" did not ride down the stone steps at Horse Neck when being pursued by the British. His authority is Col. Mills, who served on Putnam's staff, and who, in his lifetime, declared that the General merely started close to the steps, and went at varying angles down the hill to a point in the valley below, about where the great unbank ment of the highway touches it. Next we shall have a denial of the tradition of Putnam entering the wolf's den.

"ARRAH, me darlint," cried Jamie O'Flannigan to his loquacious sweetheart, who had not given him the opportunity to "get in a word even edgewise," during a two hours, ride behind the little bay nags in his oyster wagon, "are ye afther knowing why your cheeks are like my ponies there?" "Shure and its because they're red, is it?" quoth the blushing Bridget. "Faith, and a better raison than that, mavourneen. Because there is one o' them ach side of a waggin' tongue."

SAYS Lucy Hamilton Hooper, in her Paris letter: "I was recently presented to M. Ernest Blum, the author of the triumphantly successful melodrama of "Rose Michel." He does not look at all like the imaginer of dark and dreadful deeds, being a jolly gentleman, between thirty and forty years of age, with a very bald head, and a very full reddish-brown beard. He occupies a prominent position on the Republican newspaper Le Rappel, at the head of which Victor Hugo reigns supreme."

THE husband of that spiritualistic Mrs. Palmer who testified in the Beecher-Tilton trial the other day, was married before he met her to a Georgia octoroon, who could not live with him, and secured a divorce. He was once dismissed with a rebuke from the United States service, and now figures as a long-haired cancer doctor in New York.

THE opening of a new police station in Baltimore calls forth the following graceful puff from a paper of that city: "The new Northeastern Police Station has been opened, and several citizens speak of it warmly as quite a public convenience. It saves them a great deal of walking, and has all the advantages possessed by the other stations."

THE indefiniteness of most recipes is capitally illustrated by a rule given by an excellent negress cook, who was celebrated for making delicious cornbread. Says Dinah: "Why, darlin', sometimes generally I takes a little meal, an' sometimes generally I takes a little flour, an' I kine o' mixes 'em up with some hot water, an' I pute in eggs enough an' a little salt, an' then I bakes it jest 'bout 'nough. An' you do so, joss so, honey, an' you'll make it as good as I do."

AN industrial enterprise of great magnitude has just been determined on in St. Louis; the construction, namely, of an immense steel mill, for the manufacture of steel for all sorts of purposes. Between two and three million dollars have been invested in the undertaking, which is expected to give employment to some fifteen hundred men, representing a population of five thousand souls.

THE GRAND JURY.

True Bills Against A. C. Buell and William S. King: the Former for Libel, and the Latter for Perjury.

[From the Washington Chronicle.]

A true bill of indictment for libel was returned by the grand jury yesterday, against Augustus C. Buell for having, on or about February 20, 1873, falsely and maliciously sent over the wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company, to the Detroit Free Press, of Michigan, the following language of and concerning Zachariah Chandler, then a United States Senator from that State: "Not a week ago Senator Sherman, of Ohio, had to take Chandler out of the Senate and put him to bed on a lounge in the room of the Finance Committee in a state of beastly intoxication."

This is the second bill that has been found against Buell for the same offense, he having been arrested on the first in St. Louis, Mo., and brought before Judge Dillon on a writ of habeas corpus. The Judge dismissed the bill on the ground that it did not allege that the offense was committed in this District, and hence a second indictment.

OTHER PRESENTMENTS.

The grand jury came into court yesterday, and presented true bills against Wm. S. King for perjury in having on the 22d of February, 1874, sworn before a committee of Congress that he had never received a dollar for the purpose of assisting in procuring an appropriation for the Pacific Mail Steamship company; Jerome J. Hinds, four cases, for offering bribes to government officers; R. B. Gill, G. H. Thompson, S. T. Luckett and T. J. Lazenby, obtaining warrants by false pretenses and conspiracy to defraud, and Guy H. Thompson, forgery. They also dismissed the case of E. P. Hall for detaining a letter, and D. M. Howard, using a postage stamp which had been before used.

A HAPPY FAMILY.

A Richmond (Ind.) newspaper vouches for the truth of the following story: "The lion has not yet been observed to lie down with the lamb, but something equal to it has happened. A white cat, with four young kittens, set up housekeeping in a box where there happened to be two young rats. Instead of devouring them, as would have been natural, she adopted them and afforded them the same nourishment that she supplied to her own kittens. One of the kittens and one of the rats died. Yesterday we called to see the happy family, and found the three kittens and the rat drawing their daily sustenance in happy promiscuousness. The mother cat bestowed frequent caresses upon her little ones, and the rat came in for a full share. It seemed to enjoy the 'love lick' and responded in as affectionate manner as possible for a rat. After all, as a matter of prudence, that young rat had better move out before his tail gets too long."

THE arrangements being made for camp-meetings this year are on a scale of unprecedented liberality and extent.

IOWA is Belknapping with one eye open for the United States Senatorship, and Howelling for the Vice-Presidency.

AN inter-State educational convention is soon to be held in Nashville, Texas.

A half brother of Henry Clay is a member of the muddy Missouri Constitutional Convention.

AN ex-judge of the Rhode Island Supreme Court is now propelling a hand-cart for his bread.

THE contest between Bismarck and the ultramontanes deepens. The Federal Council of Germany assembled recently for the purpose of deciding the question of extending the laws controlling the administration of ecclesiastical property and abolishing religious orders, throughout the whole empire.

Special Notices.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as I have explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

REMEMBER YOUR DEAD.

Why is the last resting place of your heroes Dead so neglected? Is it because you cannot afford a Marble Tomb? If so, F. M. Jones has discovered a happy relief for you, and patented it Nov. 28, 1871. It is an improvement in Tombstones, Monuments, and Ornamental Work, which is so cheap that it is within the reach of all, and so durable that Time and Exposure only make it finer and harder.

Our beautiful monuments, ornamented with pebble, are adaptable to the most fastidious taste, while our plain tombs are capable of resisting the admiration of all. We do not propose to put a flaming circular, teeming with exaggerations, but leave our work to attest more than we can say in its behalf. Our Tombs have proved to be more durable than Alabama or Georgia Marble. The undersigned is prepared to execute all orders at once. For further particulars, address F. L. BRIEF NOTES.

—Oh! fickle spring.

—Board of Revenue is legal.

—County warrants declining.

—Music by the band at eventide.

—Streeet sprinkling is the thing.

—Get ready for Pensacola to-day.

—Another spelling bee. How long?

—The market yesterday was the scene of an unusual crowd.

—Ice can be had now for less than one cent a pound.

—Storekeepers in the villages of Northern Wisconsin are using grasshoppers' wings for awnings.

—There is an unreconstructed Texan who is still in hopes of finding that last ditch. So moat it be.

—"Can fish hear?" asks an exchang. Very probably, for it is noticed that they often swim toward the Sound.

—From present appearances, the next appeal that comes from the west will be in behalf of the Black Hills sufferers.

—Don't be envious. Half the beautiful cakes you see sticking in other folk's windows are only saw dust covered with icing.

—It seems to us that those Mormon wives who have only a twentieth interest in a husband are wasting their sweetness on the desert air.

—After waiting four years, a Michigan lover finally popped the question, and the girl answered, "Of course I'll have you. Why, you old fool, you, we could have been married three years ago."

—Upon learning that a man out west is organizing greenback clubs, an Indiana editor remarks that he'll take a dozen or two, provided the price isn't too high.

—The psyllodeballismon is the simple name of a new projectile. What deadly execution it would do if hurled into the ranks of a spelling class.

—Boston enterprise in Florida: A seedy looking individual was arrested in Jacksonville last week for attempting to pass himself off as a man of brains. The feeling against him among the colored population is very bitter.

—We cannot question the sincerity of an enthusiastic German correspondent, who offers to bet that Bismarck, old as he is, can saw more cords of wood in a given time than any other statesman in Europe.

—A suburban resident of the city, who keeps a few chickens, casually remarks that it's wonderful how his hens have commenced to lay since his hired girl went off last Sunday for a week's absence with her relatives.

—The gypsies are on the move in strong force this season. In consequence of the hard times, their bands have consolidated, and a news item from Fonda, New York, speaking of a procession of them that passed through there last week, says: "Such a large number of this peculiar people have never been seen before at one time in this place."

—A venturesome imitator of the poet Whitman has written a poem intended for Centennial celebrations. These are the first lines:

—O, rantankerous, rebellionistic cyclistic centennial cataclysm.

—"Feel sick? Been moving?" said a gentleman, upon encountering a friend who seemed to be laboring under considerable depression. "No; nothing of that sort," he replied. "Only my wife's been taking medicine going on four months, now, and the drug clerk hasn't made a fatal mistake yet!"

—A clergyman at Kansas City said if there was any one within hearing of his voice who would try to put a stop to Sunday dog-fighting he would like to have them rise up. A small boy and an old woman rose up.

—"Is there any person you wish me to marry?" said a wife to a dying spouse, who had been somewhat of a tyrant in his day. "Marry the devil, if you like, was the gruff reply. "No, I thank you, my dear; one husband of the same family is enough for me."

—They go up a surprise party the other day on a young married couple. The conspirators were met calmly but cordially at the gate by the husband who, rested on his shot gun, while his beautiful and accomplished wife, whose face and form were visible inside the porch, said she was very glad to see them, but she didn't think she could hold the bulldog back more than a minute longer.

MONEY.

KEEP IT MOVING—SPEND IT AND MAKE IT LIVELY.

Now is the time to keep the greenbacks in motion. Whoso hath money to spend let him spend it now. If he needs something useful, and he can afford it, let him buy without delay. If he wishes anything artistic or ornamental, and he has money, let him get it and pay for it forthwith. Keep money moving. Hoarded money is dead money, worthless alike to the man who has it and the man who wants it. It may as well be at the bottom of the sea for the good it does. The mischief of to-day is that he who has money keeps it. He is afraid to part with it, either to pay debts or to buy something useful; and so the mill of business is idle from want of grist. Pass the money along, friends; pass it along. It will help everybody who touches it and keeps it moving, and it will come back in business increase. But the action must be general, the entire machinery must move simultaneously, and then how everything will hum? The panic should have been dead and buried long ago, beyond resurrection. All men are not cheats, nor rascals, nor liars. The most of people intend to do right by one another. Let us believe this and show our faith by our works; let us all go to work as if nothing were wrong, and we shall pretty soon find that all is right. Send in your advertisements, attractive and spicy, and keep the money moving.

All Not Gold That Glitters.—Our weary searcher for items, while going down Market street at a late hour last night, appeared in a new role. With naught to disturb the quiet solitude of the "stilly night," and with naught but the grim gas posts with flickering lights which stand as sentinels to guard the peace of the city, he met a lonely wanderer, wending his way home, just from the classic precincts, no doubt, of a keno room. He at once cried "halt"! in a stentorian voice, at the same time hauling from his pocket a candlestick minus a "clip," and pointed it at the stranger. Of course our item searcher was in fun, but alas! the stranger knew it not, and his knees began to quake, his voice to falter and he dropped—in the street dust. Seeing the mischief he had done our searcher for news went after the police to see what harm had been done. On looking back he saw the strangers walking 2:40 time, hatless, towards the capitol.

We call special attention to the excursion gotten up by the I. O. O. F. of Pensacola, in connection with the one from our city to that of our neighbor on the 17th inst. The advertisement appears in these columns, and every pleasure-loving gentleman and lady, who visits Pensacola on this occasion, will be richly paid for their time and money. The low figures at which these two excursions are put, comes within the reach of all, and we earnestly bespeak for each, a full and generous appreciation of their efforts by a crowded train and crowded steamer. It will be many days after this before parties are permitted to visit all the points of Pensacola Bay again for so small a sum of money. Remember the steamer excursion on the Bay.

Sarah, Come Down.—A middle aged man, with a fur cap and a linen coat and $2.50 came to town yesterday from Lowndes. His wife, a smiling cherub of 200 pounds, accompained him. After hitching his team and tucking his spouse away in a Court street dry goods store, he appeared on the streets and told a friend confidentially that he "came on a bust," and struck for a saloon. At half past three o'clock a gentleman passing by the city buildings observed this middle aged man intently gazing, with a weak, appealing countenance, at the spire on the top of the city hall and heard him speak in a gentle voice: "Come down—come 'own, Sarah, S'rah, come 'own!' I am your own true love—I'm your Thomas." Whether he took the spire for his wife, or was mistaken in the place is a question. The spire remained where it stood, and the middle aged man wandered on further down towards the police station.

Guilty.—The jury in the case of the United States vs. Wilson Williams, Probate Judge, and S. H. Tucker, Clerk Circuit Court of Lee county, brought in a verdict of guilty, about 9 o'clock last night. The jury asked the mercy of the court in behalf of the guilty parties, and Judge Bruce deferred his sentence until to-morrow morning. The offense with which those persons are charged is conspiracy to defraud citizens of their right to vote—they having thrown out over 1,920 votes cast at the last State election in that county. They failed to provide enough boxes but the Sheriff opened another box, and all the votes cast at this box were thrown out. This was a violation of the enforcement acts of Congress.

We are requested to state that an entertainment will be given at the New City Hall, on Tuesday evening; for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association. It will no doubt be a pleasant affair, as the members of this worthy organization know just how to please everybody. The price of tickets has been fixed at 25 cents—a small amount indeed—and every one should be able to attend. Tickets can be purchased at the book and drug stores.

BONNY HANDS THAT MAKE GOOD BREAD.

I love the charm of rounded arms,
Of eyes that love's soft lustre steel,
Of raven hair and tresses fair,
Of cheeks that toy with white and red,
Of pouting lips where Cupid dips
The arrows that all hearts are sped:
Yet none of these my fancy please
Like the bonny hands that make good bread.

Some hands have art to move the heart,
By waking music's sweet appeal:
Some by row flies from perfect skies,
And through the canvas make us feel:
Some make the dress fair forms caress,
To win the heart and turn the head:
For me more rare beyond compare
Are the bonny hands that make good bread.

Gay maiden, vain the rusing train,
These jewel'd hand—so idly erossed,
That id'e maid can pleasure find
In ever y hour but this best,
You jewels shine, your looks are fine,
But I'll not seek, whichever I wed,
For jewe'led hands or gold or bands,
But for bonny hands that make good bread.

Formula of a divorce as used by a negro justice in Arkansas: "As I jined you, so I bust you 'sunder. So you niggers go."

Evans—Page.—Will be married at the Methodist Episcopal church, in this city, on Tuesday, 18th instant, at 9 o'clock, p. m., Mr. Ferrie M. Evans to Miss Leonora Page.

Ice.—The Montgomery Protective Ice Company has an advertisement elsewhere, to which we invite the attention of all our readers who wish Lake ice.

Chancellor Austill did not render any decision in the Western railroad case yesterday. He will do so on Monday morning, however, as he announced yesterday.

The Henshaw base ball club went to Selma yesterday, and defeated the Pettus club in the match game, by a score of 14 to 15. The Henshaw boys speak very highly of the kind treatment they received at the hands of the Selma people.

Annual Election.—The annual election of officers of the Arlington Club will take place on Monday—to morrow evening—at the club rooms. This club is steadily moving forward to prosperity and assured success.

Montgomery ought to feel proud of her new market. It is a perfect success, and the crowds which visit it on Saturday afternoon could find room nowhere else in the city. Yesterday not less than five thousand people passed through the market building.

Ex-Gov. Patton, of Lauderdale Co., was in the city yesterday. Gov. Patton is deeply interested in the subject of immigration, and is using his best efforts to bring the many advantages of Alabama before the country. He is also one of the representatives to the centennial for this State.

Remember, reader, that the excursion to Pensacola takes place to-morrow. The fair for the round trip is only five dollars. A large crowd of ladies and gentlemen, and a band of music accompanies the excursion. A more pleasant affair will not be enjoyed this season.

"Time softens all things," except the young man who parts his hair in the middle and whistles on the street cars. Nothing can make him any softer than he is. [Advertiser.

Quite a mistake, neighbor. The I. C. who murdered your latin is a much softer fellow than the poor devil who slits his hair behind his head.

Exploded.—An oil lamp exploded last night in a room at the residence of Dr. Rambo, on Market street. No one was in the room at the time, and when one of the family entered it, the furniture, etc., in the room was in a full blaze. Look well to your oil lamps.

There is no fraternity or organization in our midst deserving more credit or doing more good for the temporal happiness of our people than the Good Templars. The fourth annual strawberry festival for the benefit of this order will be held at the City Hall on next Friday, as will be seen by advertisement. Read, and go witness the happy results.

A young man in Selma suddenly snatched a kiss from a young lady friend, and excused his conduct by saying that it was a sort of temporary insanity that now and then came upon him. When he arose to take his leave, the pitying damsel said to him: "If you ever feel any more such fits coming on, you had better come right here where your infirmity is known, and we will take care of you.

Bonds.—Under the recent act of the legislature relative to bonds of county officials, Messrs. J. T. McDonald and several other tax payers, yesterday made application to the Board of Revenue to compel Treasurer Wolfe, Sheriff Murphey, Tax Collector Robinson and the Tax Assessor, to give additional security. Chancellor Austill fixed the bond of the applicants at 1,000.

Montgomery Schuetzen Verein.—This long established club, composed of some of our best and most influential German citizens, have lately made additional improvements upon their grounds in Schuessler's Grove, having enlarged their battery and added two additional targets, making four instead of two as heretofore.

A called meeting was held yesterday to make arrangements for a grand excursion to Cullman, on the South and North railroad, at an early day. Should the club succeed in arranging for this excursion, it will no doubt be a grand treat for many of citizens who will avail themselves of the opportunity to visit that thriving little village.

The friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Caroline O. Hall, and those of her son Bolling M. Hall, are respectfully invited to attend the funeral of the latter this afternoon at 4 o'clock, from the residence of Mrs. Carson, on the corner of Columbus and Decatur streets.

A few nights since an old resident of Montgomery, heard a shuffling noise upon his back porch, and supposing it to be made by burglars, armed himself with a stick of stove wood and sallied out to find his own son, who had returned home, was practising the "glide" awhile before retiring. The young man says the music his side furnished for him was too fast to "glide" to.

It is whispered that the beautiful and highly accomplished daughter of one of our most prominent and enterprising merchants is soon to be led to the altar by a young merchant of Opelika—formerly of this city. He will rob Montgomery of one of fairest and sweetest flowers. For weal or woe Opelika will make a most enviable gain in the person of one of the most fascinating and popular young ladies our city can boast.

White Hall.—Quite a number of young gentlemen and ladies—Israelites—will make an excursion to Whitehall to-day, where they will be joined by their young friends from Selma. The day will be spent in enjoying the cool groves about White Hall. It will be a most agreeable visit, to escape for a few hours, the dust and monotony of the city. Messrs. H. Freiberg, H. Wise, M. Meyering and several other popular young men will be the managers of the excursion; and that it will be a perfect success their names is a sufficient guarantee.

He would keep company with ginghams beyond his years, and that's why they predicted his fall some day, but St. Valentine had no business to chisel out such a future as this for him:

When you are wed, your wife will be
A gift of thirty summers,
And every time she catches you
Carousin' with the "drummers,"
She'll thunder a rolling pin upon her knee
Amid the widow excitement,
And with her Sunday aversion
She'll warm your little basement.

Attention Gray Eagle Fire Co., No. 2.—You are hereby requested to meet at your engine room, in full uniform, on Tuesday evening, 18th instant, at 4 o'clock, to celebrate your 9th anniversary. By order of your foreman.

J. M. C. Logan, Secretary.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Whisky War—The Secretary of the Treasury Pushing Ahead—Secret Tanks Discovered—Indian Frauds.

Washington, May 15.—The Secretary of the Treasury is still vigorously engaged in the work of prosecuting the raids against all parties engaged directly or indirectly in illicit whisky distillation. Treasury agents are requested in all cases where United States Attorneys and revenue officials fail to give their full support to investigations in progress, to report their names to the Department.

The agent at Milwaukee telegraphs to the Solicitor to-day that he had discovered a subterranean tank with a capacity of 25,000 gallons, belonging to one of the Milwaukee distilleries.

The statement given out at the Interior Department to break the force of the report of Col. Hatch in regard to the lack of supplies at the Fort Still Indian agency, to the effect that Gen. Shanks has telegraphed the department that the failure was due to the condition of the roads, turns out to be manufactured. Gen. Shanks denies the whole story, and says the delay in forwarding supplies was a crime.

The case of Pike, Dole & Barrett, whose place was ordered to be seized to-day, in Cincinnati, has been under examination for the past three days, and has involved considerable telegraphic correspondence with Pekin, Peoria, and Chicago. The transactions which first attracted attention was the finding, on the return of Collector Wenzel, the dumping of a certain lot of fifty barrels, and finding two months subsequently, another lot with the same serial numbers of stamps and the number of gallons dumped—he rectifying house of Parker R. Mason, at Chicago. The examination of the books at Chicago showed a purchase from McIntyre of Pekin. Further pursuit fixed the sale to McIntyre upon Measbaum, a dealer at Peoria, who sold the lot for Pike, Dole & Barrett. The duplication was upon the stamps, which should have been destroyed while in the house of Pike, Dole & Barrett.

FRANCE.

The Czar Satisfied—Peace of Europe to be Maintained—Bonapartist Opinion—Prince Imperial.

Paris, May 15.—A telegram has been received at the Russian Embassy here, stating that the Czar has left Berlin thoroughly convinced that conciliatory sentiments of a nature to secure the maintenance of peace prevail there. Similar intelligence has been communicated to all Russian legations in Europe.

La Valeur Nationale, organ of Prince Napoleon, in a leading article declares that if the Prince Imperial should die Prince Napoleon would never claim the throne. The principle of hereditary succession is dead. A third empire, aiming at the restoration of Prince Napoleon or his nephew, would end in ruin. The article concludes: "We never doubted that France, even if consulted through a plebiscite, would energetically pronounce in favor of a republic which is a form of government most compatible with universal suffrage."

LOUISIANA.

Jefferson Davis—The Campaign of 1876 Opened.

New Orleans, May 15.—Jeff. Davis opened the Presidential campaign of 1876 for the Democratic party at Houston, Texas, day before yesterday, and yesterday was invited by a committee from the place named to visit Dallas and San Antonio, and will, it is said, visit all important points in the State.

WISCONSIN.

Combination of Distillers—They Intend to Fight the Revenue Department.

Milwaukee, May 15.—Yesterday the four distilleries which had been released by court on special bonds, resumed operations to-day. A dispatch was received from Washington ordering the officers to stop them unless they had given new bonds in place of those given on the first of May.

The distillers here telegraphed to-day to distillers at Chicago, St. Louis, and elsewhere, proposing to unite with them in testing the constitutionality of the internal revenue act. A favorable reply was received from Chicago, and the distillers have resolved to proceed. They have retained ex-Senator Carpenter to take the question into the courts.

GEORGIA.

Macon and Brunswick Railroad—A Petition to Restrain Receiver from Selling the Road—Bill to be Heard in the United States Court.

Savannah, May 15.—John P. Branch, of Virginia, is petitioning the United States Court to restrain E. A. Flewellen, receiver of the Macon and Brunswick railroad, from selling that road. The injunction is prayed for on the ground that complainant owns bonds of the road endorsed by the State; that as holder of such bonds he has a statutory lien upon the road, and that the State has foreclosed its mortgage and is about to sell the road without regard to his rights in the premises. The bill will be heard before the United States Court in this city.
