DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1875.

In police circles, yesterday, everything was quiet.

Yesterday was warm, cloudy, and unpleasant.

Several of the delegates lingered in the city yesterday.

Some of the pavements are sadly out of repair, and should be fixed.

When is the street railroad to be revived? Is it to be revived at all?

A wagon load of apples from Henry county was in the city yesterday.

Rev. Dr. Stringfellow will be absent from the city until next Saturday.

Cotton is now coming in fast. The merchants are all busy, and sales are very good.

The oyster dealers along Monroe street state that more oysters are now consumed than ever before.

Workmen were engaged yesterday in putting down pipes to carry water into quite a number of houses.

The attention of the readers of the Journal is called to the various new advertisements in this morning's issue.

R. W. Offutt, at his news depot, next door to Post-office, is selling a good cigar for five cents. Read his notice.

A. T. Stewart, the merchant prince, said that every dollar he ever spent in advertising made him a thousand dollars in return.

Sunday was a fickle day—on the order of a coquette. It was pleasant, however, as the thermometer showed it to be a spring day.

The nights are very dark now, and the lamplighter ought t be careful that all the street lamps are lit. Sometimes they fail to shine—if they are lit.

Obituary.—Mr. Fred. Tyler, well known to many of our readers, died on Sunday morning last, and was buried yesterday morning.

There is considerable moving still going on, it was almost impossible to get a dray, most of them being engaged in moving small families.

We are glad to note that business on the river is greatly improving. Three boats are kept busy transporting goods to and from Mobile and along the river towns.

The new government postal cards have been received at the Post-office. They are plainer and of higher color than the old cards, and no lines for the address, as on the old ones.

We are glad to announce that the Montgomery Water Works Company have satisfactorily adjusted its financial matters, and will now go on making improvements on their work.

We are informed that on the medical certificate of doctors Means and Jones, Judge Buckley decided John N. Parmer as insane. He will be taken to the Insane Hospital at Tuscaloosa.

Mr. W. S. Irving, the agent of the popular mimique troupe of Sheridan and Mack, called on us yesterday. This troupe will give but one exhibition at our theatre, on the night of October 13.

Prof. McDonald will inaugurate his dancing school on next Saturday. Prof. Dillard will open his school on Thursday. The young people will have ample opportunity to "trip the light fantastic toe."

Read the advertisement of the opening of the Exchange Bar this morning at 10 o'clock. It will be resplendant with glass, mahogany, walnut and frescoing. Major D. P. West is well known to our citizens, and assures the public that he will make this second to no place in the country.

New Music.—We have just received from Horace Waters & Sons, publishers of music and dealers in musical instruments, a piece of new music entitled:

"Father Bring Home Your Money To-night."

This is a temperance song and chorus, and is said to be a very pretty piece.

The market stalls were rented on yesterday by City Clerk Hughes. There were fourteen meat stalls rented at $100 each; thirty-eight vegetable stalls at $30 to $34 each; two poultry stalls at $30 each; three fish stalls at $50 each; two eating stalls at $100 each, and one fruit stall at $111. There are still some stalls to be rented.

Public Schools.—The public schools of the city opened yesterday under very encouraging auspices. The school houses were crowded with little and big girls and boys, who wore smiling faces, and seemed to be in the best health. The public schools of this city are the only means for educating the poor children and we are glad to see them so well sustained.

We are pained to announce the death of Major A. H. Gillette, who was an old citizen, and for many years one of the lessees of the theatre in this city. He was a quiet unassuming man, but possessed a warm heart. He was an honest man and good citizen. He will be missed from the busy walks of life, and a large circle of friends will mourn his death. He had been sick for a long time, and suffered much without a murmur. His funeral takes place this afternoon at half past three o'clock.

St. John's Choir.—The choir of St. John's Episcopal Church has been reoaganized, and is now composed of the following well known ladies and gentlemen:

Soprano—Mrs. J. H. Butts.
Alto—Mrs. F. H. Warren.
Tenor—Mr. N. E. Elersiee.
Baritone—Mr. W. H. Bayliss.
Organist—Mrs. G. Jordan.

The new choir performed some exquisite pieces on Sunday. The congregation was unusually large and were delighted with the music. The Te Deum Laudarmus was chanted in magnificent style, and in a manner unsurpassed in this or any other country. As now organized St. John's choir is one of the best in the South, and the members of the church and the public are highly pleased at their success. With a splendid organ and the present choir the Sabbath music at St. John's will be unexcelled.

The friends of the late Albert H. Gillette and Mrs. A. H. Gillette and Mr. J. A. Diaz are invited to attend the funeral of the former from his residence on corner High and McDonough streets, this evening at half-past 3 o'clock.

He receives the finest and freshest, daily, by express on ice, and sells them at the lowest prices. He will supply dealers or families with oysters in the shell or in the can, on favorable terms. 1t

A great deal of cotton is being brought to the city at this time. Many persons are compelled to sell it because o the high rates of storage and of advances. This can be avoided by all who desire o hold their cotton, if they store it with Gilmer & Donaldson, the pioneers of cheap storage in this city. They will make advances at lower rates, and hold the cotton longer at less storage than any house in the country. They have great facilities for storage and shipping and will always give their customers the advantages of prices and in the rates of freight. This firm has a reputation for fair dealing which needs no word of commendation from us. The people know the gentlemen well, and will patronize them as they should. They will furnish baggin and ties at factory prices, less freight. Their warehouse is convenient to railroads and steam boats, and is fire proof. They give their personal attention to the business and only ask a trial to convince all what they say. 1t

Wm. Schmabel, on Monroe street, has always on hand, and will receive by express daily, Oysters, Fish, Poultry, and all kinds of country produce. He receives Grapes Apples, and other fruits from the North. He will not be undersold by any house in the city. He has a good stock of Groceries and Liquors, which will be sold cheap.

Bleeding from Lungs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption.—A Wonderful Cure.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 13, 1874.

R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I had suffered from Catarrh in an aggravated form for about twelve years, and for several years from Bronchial trouble. Tried many doctors and things with no lasting benefit. In May, '72, becoming nearly worn out with excessive Editorial labors on a paper in New York city, I was attacked with Bronchitis in a severe form, suffering almost a total loss of voice. I returned home here, but had been home only two weeks when I was completely prostrated with Hemorrhage from the Lungs, having four or five bleeding spells within two weeks, and first three days of nine days. In the September following, I improved sufficiently to be able to be about, though in a very feeble state. My Bronchial trouble remained and the Catarrh was tenfold worse than before. Every effort for relief seemed fruitless. I seemed to be losing ground daily. I continued in this feeble state, raising blood almost daily until about the first of March, '73, when I became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I was extremely skeptical that they would do me good, as I had lost all heart in remedies, and began to look upon medicines and doctors with disgust. However, I obtained one of your circulars, and read it carefully, from which I came to the conclusion that you understood your business, at least. Finally, obtained a quantity of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets, and commenced their vigorous use according to directions. To my surprise I soon began to improve. The Discovery and Pellets, in a short time, brought out a severe eruption, which continued for several weeks. I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three months every vestige of the Catarrh was gone, the Bronchitis had nearly disappeared, had no Cough whatever, and I had entirely ceased to raise blood; and, contrary to the expectations of many of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had suffered so much and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for this blessing I have received from your hands knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medicines will master the worst forms of that odious disease Catarrh, as well as Throat and Lung Diseases. I have recommended them to very many and shall ever speak in their praise. Gratefully yours,

WM. H. SPENCER.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup for the Cure of Consumption, Coughs, and Colds.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic, for the Cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills, for the Cure of Liver Complaint, etc.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1875.

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean lies by note, and inflates by the pound.

FLATULENT.

The Chicago Inter Ocean is for rag money and inflation. This accounts for its flatulent notices of the editor of this paper. President Grant has cooked its "ham"

GENERAL GRANT.

The Philadelphia Times is wonderfully moved over President Grant's Des Moines speech! The vagaries of the Times are really wonderful. Its last performance on the President is absolutely astounding. The Times is almost as flatulent as the Atlanta Constitution and its neighbor, the Herald.

THE WASHINGTON REPUBLICAN.

As the Washington Republican has seen fit to meddle with Alabama matters, perhaps it will be somewhat enlightened if its editor will read carefully the article elsewhere, entitled: "Dissensions in the Republican Party of Alabama."

ATLANTA HERALD.

Is the Atlanta Herald preparing to print a book as its wide columns would seem to indicate? Will the Constitution which never fails to meddle in other people's business, please look into the matter and advise the public what it may expect upon this grave and all important subject?

HON. JAMES HARPER.

How He Disposed of a Bore.

Many of our readers, no doubt, remember James Harper, ex-Mayor of New York city. He was also the manager of the great publishing house of Harper Brothers. While Mr. Harper was sitting in his private office one day, a well known bore of the city walked in, took a seat, and made himself familiar and easy. Observing that Mr. Harper was sitting quietly, not doing anything, the bore remarked: "Why, Mr. Harper, you don't seem to have anything to do." "Oh, yes," replied Mr. Harper, "I have the most laborious duties to perform about the office. I have to entertain all the bores." The bore was sensible enough to see the point, and taking leave never visited the office of James Harper again, except when he had business.

MINISTER WASHBURN AND PRESIDENT GRANT.—THE ATLANTA HERALD AND JUDGE LOCHRAUE. THIRD TERM, &C., &C.

Judge O. A. Lochrane said a good thing yesterday: "Bard's advocacy of Washburne for President reminds me of 'a voice in the crowd' that interrupted a pale-face lecturer, by saying, 'God pity the Indian, when the lecturer said 'Lo! the poor Indian has turned his face toward the setting sun.'"—Atlanta Herald, October 3d.

Will the Herald and Judge Lochrane be good enough to tell us, when we ever advocated Mr. Washburne for the Presidency? A friend at our elbow proposes to bet a hat, that Judge Lochrane never said anything of the kind.

The statement put on foot by one or two newspapers, such as the Herald, that the JOURNAL is for Mr. Washburn for the Presidency in 1876 has not the slightest foundation in truth.

The JOURNAL will give an unqualified support to the nominees of the National Union Republican Convention, whoever they may be. We give it as our opinion, however, that President Grant will be re-nominated, notwithstanding his distaste to such a programme.

In consideration of his splendid financial record he would distance all other candidates and be re-elected by an overwhelming majority. The Herald and Judge Lochrane may snarl at this statement, but time, which proves all things, will make us a truthful prophet on this line at least. We know whereof we speak. The quiet thinking masses are for a sound currency, and President Grant is too sound on the great financial question to admit of a single doubt. We know of his positive aversion to a third term, but as the voice of the people is the voice of God, President Grant will be forced to accede to the popular will and allow the use of his name as the means of saving the country from bankruptcy, repudiation and ruin.

As the Herald has adopted the wide column style, we trust it may become more expanded in its views and be able in the future to read the signs of the times with greater accuracy. From present appearances the Herald is terribly clouded and exceedingly muddy in its ideas of the future. If it will give more attention to close, searching thought and less space to every day common nonsense, it may in future be able to give its readers more light on the approaching Presidential question, as well as upon other grave matters of nice statesmanship. The Herald should make haste to put aside boyish ideas, and endeavor as quickly as possible to inaugurate a higher standard both of thought and expression.

Dissentions in the Republican Party of Alabama.

A Clear Statement of the Case.

A Few Facts for Careful Consideraton.

General Grant and Senator Spencer Considered.

THE MISSTATEMENTS OF A WASHINGTON (D. C.) REPUBLICAN CORRESPONDENT.

[TO BE CONTINUED TO-MORROW.]

THE STATE JOURNAL is positively averse to the policy of encouraging the feuds which have, since 1869, more or less distracted and divided the Republican party of Alabama. On the contrary we have endeavored to soften the asperities engendered by this unfortunate quarrel. Although we have been greatly provoked of late, we have persistently refused to add any fuel to the flames which threaten to engulph the party in ruin. We learn it has been the habit of some individuals, calling themselves Republicans, to create discord and strife in the party, by making war upon Senator Spencer and the Republican representatives in Congress. During the two years, last past, a bitter personal warfare has been waged upon these Republican representatives and many of the Federal officers in Alabama. Indeed the strife has assumed such proportions, and involved so many Republicans that an open attempt has been made to overthrow the Republican organization as it now exists in Alabama, and substitute therefor the leadership of those who have been foremost in engendering the disaffection and distrust which caused the defeat of the party in 1874.

These are unpleasant truths, but they will be admitted, we are sure, by every candid Republican reader. In stating them, we declare that our purpose is not to widen the breach, not to offend those who have promoted or encouraged them, not to assail the leaders thereof, nor to become the champion of one or the other of the parties to the unfortunate controversies. Our aim is higher than that of a factionist or a partisan of partisans. We shall endeavor to point out the dangers that lie in divided counsels, the disasters that always befall houses that are divided against each other.

Heretofore it has been the custom of first one then another of these factions, to send representative men to Washington to influence President Grant and his cabinet. To such an extent was this habit indulged that the President publicly declared last winter that he would not appoint any Montgomery Republican or Mobile Republican to a public office, until they settled their quarrels. Our Republican readers will remember that the fact was printed in these columns last spring, that more than five different factions of Republicans were then in Washington, each engaged in traducing the other, while each recommended its particular leader for public office. What was the result? That a stranger, not allied to either of the factions was chosen for the office which all so eagerly sought.

No sooner was this accomplished than a fierce, wicked and unnecessary war was opened upon Senator Spencer and other Republican representatives and to some exient upon President Grant, who had no connection whatever, directly or indirectly with any of the factions or their unhappy quarrels. During all this unfortunate controversy the STATE JOURNAL firmly refused to enter into the struggles of the several parties. It sought to calm the troubled waters. Since the present editor assumed control of these columns, he has directed his efforts to the unity of the party, the obliteration of past differences, the healing up of wounds which chafed the several factions, and the restoration of perfect peace and harmony within the party ranks. We have sent no emissaries to Washington to harass the President and his cabinet; we have engaged in no secret caucuses to drag down Republican leaders; we have given no aid and comfort to those who are disposed to put themselves forward, at the expense of Republican unity. We have pursued nobler game than that. We have striven to strengthen the administration of President Grant and to restore peace and prosperity at home. In view of these facts, which all our readers will admit, we were greatly surprised yesterday at finding, in the Washington Republican, of Friday October 1st, a lengthy communication from this city, so full of the seeds of discord and strife that we are astonished that any Republican paper would print it. This communication among many other canards states that:

Your article on the supineness or imbecility of the Republican members of this convention meets the hearty approval of the Republicans here. They had as well stay at home as to be members, for they have done nothing, and have attempted to do very little even in putting these rebels on the record.

The record of the Constitutional Convention shows that the Republican members introduced quite a number of propositions in consonance with the great Republican principle of civil and political equality; that they voted against every proposition which they construed as curtailing this grand principle, and that they refused to indorse the the wholesale denunciation of reconstruction. It may be possibly true that these members did no good in the convention—as they were but about one eleventh of all the members—but we are sure they did no harm either to the party or the State.

The last paragraph in the communication referred to states that:

Your article on the ALABAMA STATE JOURNAL is merited from the course it has pursued since last winter. It attempted to run as an independent paper from April till August and found it would not pay, then Bingham imported Sam Bard, of Georgia, to run it on the Grant schedule. In doing so he says a word occasionally in favor of Grant, but has never attacked any of the infamous propositions before the Convention. On the contrary, he contents himself with saying what he did as a rebel, and has an ex-rebel (a Government wiskey gauger) to write personal sketches of the members of the convention. Keep on in your battle for us. We appreciate it and thank you with all our heart for your labors.

The STATE JOURNAL, as we have already remarked, refused to take part in the unhappy dissensions which, last spring threatened to annihilate the Republican party of Alabama. There were so many differences of opinion on the Convention question, that no public journal could have indorsed either without surrendering its self respect. Those who know anything about the general conduct of Southern Republican newspapers, know that there is never a quarrel in the party here, but each faction seeks to use the columns of the party paper in their interest. The JOURNAL announced its bold independence of all such quarrels and factions.

When the author of this communication says that the JOURNAL never attacked any of the propositions of the Convention, he asserts a deliberate misrepresentation. He either does not know of what he writes or he purposely stated what he knew to be erroneous. He can take either horn of the dilemma. When he states that "Bingham imported Sam Bard, of Georgia, to run this paper on a Grant schedule," he stated a falsehood.

The editor of the JOURNAL has been and is, a warm and decided friend both personally and politically, of President Grant. He has supported the administration of Gen. Grant with all his ability. He still supports and sustains it. And it is an infamously brazen insult to the President to charge that he uses his friends like cattle, to go from place, and hurrah on the street corners for his administration. President Grant has too much respect for his friends to exact any such service, because his administration speaks for itself, and no friend of the President is required to blow it through the land. The author of this communication shows both his ignorance and stupidity when he attempts to belittle a friend of the President as he has in our case. All the editorial employes of the JOURNAL are decided Republicans and have been for years. They are not responsible for the accident of their birth. Gen. Grant does not regard it as any detriment to them that they were born in Alabama. If the author of this communication does, he exhibits a spirit of meanness which is so contemptible that we would scorn to notice it; and we deal with him as we do with all jacobins—turn them over to public opinion for everlasting execration.

This subject will be continued to-morrow, and so long thereafter as may be necessary to sift the matter to the bottom. We mean business, and will not spare the dissecting knife where it can be properly, advantageously and judiciously used.

WHY WE PRINT IT—THE WASHINGTON REPUCLICAN.

We print the following attack on the STATE JOURNAL which was made by a paper calling itself the National Republican, of Washington, D. C., and which professes to be the organ of the National Administration. This attack appeared in that paper on Septemter 22d. We print this article that our readers may see why we have been forced to defend ourself from the attack of the Republican. We inaugurated no fight with that paper. We simply stood on the defensive, which we shall continue to do, as long as we lay the slightest claim to that manhood which should characterize a Republican editor and high-toned journalist:

"There are a few Republican newspapers in the South that are worthy of the name, but the majority of them are simply leeches upon the party. Among these exceptions are the New Orleans Republican, the Greensboro New North State, the Valley Virginian, the Tallad ga Mountain Home, the Mississippi Pilot. There are others equally worthy of special mention; but the majority of them are something like the Alabama State Journal, in the columns of a recent sample number of which which we find no explanation or criticism of the proceedings of the revolutionary constitutional State convention now in session under its very nose, nor to any subject of political importance. Sam Bard's name flies at the masthead in bold, black type; but when we come to look for evidence of the Doctor's ability as a journalist, we find it indicated by articles bearing the significant titles: "Hogs intended for Porkers;" "The Wheat Crop;" "The Potato Rot;" "Sugar as a Remedy for Wounds;" "The Wheelbarrow;" "Heading up Cabbages," and a startling announcement that "a circus, operated by a Mr. Rothschilds, is coming "towards Montgomery via the Western "railroad." No doubt this is very acceptable reading matter to Sam Bard's readers; but the next time he comes to Washington seeking office and boasting of his fierce support of the principles of Republicanism in a place where it takes a man to be a Republican, we hope the powers that be will head up his cabbage and send him back to Georgia or the lunatic asylum, where he belongs. As matters now stand, we are compelled to rely upon the Associated Press, the opposition newspapers and other Democratic agencies for information regarding Republican affairs in Alabama, when we have a right to expect that a Republican daily, printed at the capital of the State, will furnish us with it. We omitted in the proper place to say that the issue of the JOURNAL referred to contained a poetical effusion entitled "The Lost Hour."

WE need a fast mail train in this section. Why not let the South have a taste of the benefits of the fast mail trains?

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH AT DES MOINES.

The People Warned that Unseen Dangers Threaten the Republic—The Duty of the Hour.

President Grant being called on came forward, and after a few remarks in reference to the calls for himself and General Sherman, in which he said it had been customary at the reunions of this army to call on him just because he made the shortest speech, the President said he had concluded to disappoint them this time, and he had therefore jotted down what he wished to say, which he read as follows: "It always affords me much gratification to meet my comrades in arms ten and fourteen years ago, and to tell over again, in memory, the trials and hardships of those days—hardships imposed for the preservation and perpetuation of our free institutions. We believed then and we believe now that we have a government worth fighting for and, if need be, dying for. How many of our comrades paid the latter price for our preserved Union! Let their heroism and sacrifice be ever green in our memory. Let not the results of their sacrifices be destroyed. The Union and the free institutions for which they died should be held more dear for their sacrifices. We will not deny to any of those who fought against us any privileges under the government which we claim for ourselves; on the contrary, we welcome all such who come forward in good faith to help build up the waste places, and to perpetuate our institutions against all enemies, as brothers in full interest with us in a common heritage. But we are not prepared to apologize for the part we took in the war. It is to be hoped that like trials will never again befall our country. In this sentiment no class of people can more heartily join than the soldier, who submitted to the dangers, trials and hardships of the camp and battle field, on whichever side he may have fought. No class of people are more interested in guarding against a recurrence of those days. Let us then begin by guarding against every enemy threatening the prosperity of free Republican institutions.

I do not bring into this assemblage politics, certainly not partisan politics, but it is a fair subject for the soldiers in their deliberations to consider what may be necessary to secure the prize for which they battled. In a republic like ours, where the citizen is the sovereign and the official the servant; where no power is exercised except by the will of the people; it is important that the sovereign, the people, should foster intelligence, that intelligence which is to preserve us as a free nation. If we are to have another contest in the near future of our national existence, I predict that the dividing line will not be Mason and Dixon's; but between patriotism and intelligence on the one side, and superstition, ambition and ignorance on the other. Now the Centennial year of our national existence I believe is a good time to begin the work of strengthening the foundations of the structure commenced by our forefathers years ago at Lexington. Let us all labor to add all needful guarantees for the security of free thought, free speech, a free press, pure morals, unfettered religious sentiments and of equal rights and privileges to all men, irrespective of nationality, color or religion. Encourage free schools and resolve that not one dollar of money shall be appropriated to the support of any sectarian school. Resolve that neither the State nor nation, nor both combined, shall support institutions of learning other than those sufficient to afford to every child growing up in the land the opportunity of a good common school education, unmixed with sectarian, pagan, or atheistical dogmas. Leave the matter of religion to the family altar, the church, and the private school, supported entirely by private contributions. Keep the church and the State forever separate. With these safeguards I believe the battles which created the Army of the Tennessee will not have been fought in vain." The President's speech was greeted with repeated applause.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, October 5.—The medical advisors of Vice-President Wilson have compelled him to abandon his intention to leave this season, as they fear that the strain on his constitution, in addition to his official duties and the completion of his book, would prove too much for him.

Acting Secretary Cowan yesterday detailed one clerk from the Indian office and one from the pension office to proceed alone to the Indian Territory and examine the claim to pensions of the Cherokee Indian soldiers who served in the war of the rebellion.

A handsome clock and piece of mantle-ornament made of nickel and gold and elaborately chased will be presented to ex-Treasurer Spinner by the employees of the treasury office. The articles were purchased at a cost of $500, and are now on exhibition at the department.

The treasury department has discontinued the purchase of silver for the present on account of its high price. It is probable that the operation of the scheme for silver resumption will be deferred until after the meeting of Congress, in order that it may be modified by further legislation. There are grave doubts entertained as to the possibility of the plan, and some fears that the reduction of fractional currency will produce great annoyance to trade because of the danger of boarding and melting of the silver given out to supply the place of the small paper change. The secretary of the treasury will make some suggestions regarding the scheme in his annual report.

NEW YORK.

There is considerable agitation in the petroleum market, caused by efforts of refiners here and elsewhere to advance prices. They have formed a combination, but are strongly oppressed by exporters.

It is reported Mosely and Sanky propose erecting a building somewhere in the vicinity of 14th street to hold their meetings in. Its said it will be erected by Commodore Vanderbilt.

ALBANY, October 5.—The report of the committee investigating the canal fraud has been made to Gov. Tilden. It relates principally to Senator George D. Lord's connection with contracts of Hand & Barnett, for declining the position on the Erie canal, at Buffalo and Black Rock, and shows that over $70,000 has been paid out on these contracts by fraudulent bids to defraud the State. Some have originated with Lord and consummated by him with assistance.

BROOKLYN, October 5.—The libel suits of Henry C. Brown vs. the elder Bowen vs. McDermott & Tilton vs. the Eagle were on the city calender to-day, but were not called, as the counsel on both sides have made arrangements for the future disposition of the suits.

The police prevented a duel between two Cuban refugees in Prospect Park. Money was the cause of the difficulty. It was reported to the police by a mutual friend named Castillian.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the firm to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where it is a chance for a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $3,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The action of the New York Democratic Convention, although a strictly partisan assembly in its origin, composition, and leadership, reveals a fatal feud in the party as a national organization. The platform and speeches recognize the financial question as the supreme political issue, but the very ardor and vehemence and prolixity with which a sound doctrine is asserted, while giving it no greater force, emphasize the irreconcilable difference in the party. Upon the issue which the New York Democrats recognize as the most vitally important in national politics they are absolutely and inflexibly opposed to the Democratic party in Ohio and Pennsylvania. If the New York Democrats are sincere, they earnestly desire the defeat of their party and the success of the Republicans in the other two great States, while the Democrats of those States revile those of New York as their bitterest opponents. If the Democrats of Pennsylvania and Ohio should succeed in the election, the New York Democrats must be prepared to bolt in their National Convention, should the Ohio Democratic doctrine there prevail, or confess that they were dishonest at Syracuse. The spectacle is significant. A party which in the State advocates one national policy, and in another passionately denounces and exposes and scorns it, is not, in any intelligible sense, a national party. It is a body of voters quarreling over a party name. It is two factions, each claiming to be the legitimate representative of a familiar political organization. The position of the Democratic party is what that of the Republican party would have been in 1860 if it had declared in Massachusetts and Ohio against the extension of slavery, and in New York and Pennsylvania for it.

There is no reason to suppose that the New York declaration will become that of the national party, unless the Republicans carry Ohio and Pennsylvania. In that case the Democrats would be again forced to take the Republican platform, and declare that they would be truer to it than the Republicans. As a matter of principle, there is nothing in the party to warrant the expectation that financial honesty will be more popular with it than respect for human rights and justice a generation ago. At that time there was an impulse of humanity and true Democracy in the party both in Ohio and New York, known as the Free soil movement. But it soon ended in the exclusion of the Free-soilers and the absolute tyranny of the party by the slave power. It was not until the Republican party arose, conquered the slave power in arms, abolished slavery, renewed the Union as a bond of liberty, and held power for more than ten years, making equal rights the universal law, that the Democratic party, under its leaders of 1860 and of to-day, dared to declare the only fundamental democratic doctrine, which the party of that name in this country has always denied and defied, of equal and exact justice to all men.

There is no reason whatever, therefore, in the history of the party, certainly nothing in its present condition, which authorizes the expectation that the sound financial views of the New York Democracy will become the faith and practice of the national organization merely because they are right. The attempt of the Syracuse platform to prove that New York and not Ohio is the legitimate party heir by reference to the national Democratic platform of 1872 is futile. That platform was the work and the declaration of the Liberal Republican Convention at Cincinnati, and was merely appropriated by the Baltimore Convention. It was no more Democratic than its candidate, Horace Greeley, was a Democrat. Its adoption was part of the crude and open trick by which three years ago the Democratic managers in New York who now control the party sought to gain possession of the national government. And while the New York Democrats appeal to the financial plank of that platform, those of Ohio and Pennsylvania discard and deride it. The truth is that the last Democratic platform which was actually the work of the party, and meant to express its sentiments, not to secure the government by an artful dodge, was that of 1868, upon which Horatio Seymour stood, which Governor Tilden and Senator Kernan supported, and which was a platform of financial dishonor. Every thing shows that the Democratic party is wholy disorganized upon the very question which it declares to be the chief national interest of the time. In one of the three great States the sound-money Democrats claim to be its heirs, in the other two the inflationists make the same claim.

In the State of New York Republicans are urged to support the Democratic ticket. Why? Are their own candidates less honest or able? Nobody asserts it. Will they support less vigorously the war upon public speculators? It is not pretended. Is the Republican position upon the currency less sound and positive? Even the Democrats do not assert it. Would a Democratic victory in New York tend more than that of the Republicans to insure a just and wise national financial policy? Obviously not. If the Democratic party should carry all the three great States of New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio at the approaching election, nothing whatever would be determined, and the national policy would be as uncertain as ever. All that could be known would be that the two factions of the party would transfer their radical and fatal differences to their National Convention, with the chances in favor of the triumph of the inflationists, who would have carried two of the great States. The result of a party victory in all three of those States in any election ought to be decisive as to the victorious party. It ought to show the country that the party policy is fixed beyond question. But at this time it would show nothing whatever, except that the inflationist Democrats were the stronger, and that the hard-money Democrats, if they were overpowered in their National Convention next year, would be bound in honor to withdraw and make a third nomination, or to support the Republican candidate. But it would by no means follow that they would withdraw, as the conduct of Senator Thurman, Governor Hendricks, ex-Senator Pugh, and other hard-money Democrats at the West shows.

Thus the only chance for a rag-money triumph in the autumn elections, and consequently in the election of next year, lies in a Democratic victory. That is the cardinal fact for honest hard-money men, whether Democrats or Republicans, to remember. If the great issue be a sound currency, as the Democrats claim, a Republican victory would be a pledge of it, while Democratic success in two of the greatest States that held elections this autumn would be the crowning victory of rag money. With how much more urgency, therefore, should every voter who sincerely desires to see industry revived and prosperity restored by a sound financial policy be exhorted to support the Republican party, which has nowhere pronounced for inflation, although it has not everywhere spoken so positively and unmistakably as in New York! The financial declaration of the New York Democrats, although it was what patriotism and common honesty demanded, and was but the following of the Republican example, has destroyed the unity of the Democratic party showing still more emphatically than ever that upon so vital a question of public policy the party has no common conviction or aim. And the whole situation presents to honest and patriotic voters the same question: If the old parties are actually disorganized, whatever the assumptions of their continued existance may be, if there really be no common ground upon which their adherents may continue to stand, still the names, the impulses, the traditions, the tendencies remain, the party organizations remain; and to which may all the questions of the present and immediate future be most safely intrusted—to a party composed of those who have the convictions and sympathies and purposes known to all of us as Republican, or those which are known as Democratic?

[From the Washington Star.]

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS.

The State Convention To-day.

WORCESTER, MASS., Sept. 29.—The Republican State Convention to nominate a candidate for Governor met here this morning. The interest felt in the result, and the excitement over the organization of the Convention, fully equals, if it does not exceed, that of two years ago, when Gen. Butler was a candidate, but who now appears as one of the delegates from Gloucester.

The prominent candidates for Governor are Dr. George B. Loring, of Salem, and Hon. Alex. H. Rice, of Boston, and the feeling among their respective adherents is very bitter, and is farther intensified by the closeness of the figures which are counted for each. This morning the friends of Mr. Rice counted 243 and those of Dr. Loring 240, with a scattering for Hon. Charles Francis Adams who may it is barely possible, come to the surface and be nominated. The leading Republicans, however, scout any such compromise, and assert that they might as well support Gov. Gaston, who has been renominated by the Democrats.

Mr. Adams has some strength in the country, but the city of Boston is a unit against him. Should Dr. Loring be nominated there are fears of a bolt in the party, or at least such a serious disaffection as to give the State to the Democrats again. Dr. Loring's supporters talk the same way about Mr. Rice, and predict Gaston's election if Rice is nominated. It is this condition of affairs that prompted George William Curtis to write a letter here advising the nomination of Adams and the reuniting of the Republican party on his selection.

Vice President Wilson is here, and it is understood, favors the nomination of Adams. He is, as usual, very desirous for peace and harmony in the party. Senator Dawes is also here, and favors the nomination of Rice.

The contest is really one of men, rather than of measures. The liquor question having been settled during the past year, does not enter into the contest. Both parties think alike on the currency question, and the popularity of the Democratic ticket, strengthened by the nomination of Gen. William F. Bartlett (a Republican) for Lieutenant Governor, is in the main to be overcome

VICE PRESIDENT WILSON PRESIDING.

WORCESTER, Mass, Sept. 29.

The Republican State Convention was called to order this morning by Col. W. W. Clapp, of the Boston Journal, who read the call, and said it was deemed best to dispense with a temporary organization. Committees on permanent organization and on resolutions were then appointed. Hon. Henry L. Dawes being made chairman of the latter. Mr. Putnam, of Blackstone, offered a resolution indicating that there was a crisis in the party, and that there should be arduous work done, and calling on the State Central Committee to devise ways and means not only to secure a large majority but an overwhelming one at the next election. This motion, after some discussion, was referred to the committee on resolutions. The committee on permanent organization reported a list of officers, with Hon. Henry Wilson as President of the Convention, and he took the chair amid loud applause. Rev. Mr. Sampson, of Worcester, having invoked the divine blessing upon the assembly, the Vice President proceeded to address the Convention.

THE VICE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

He spoke of the grave responsibilities confronting the Republican Party of the State, urging unity of action and honesty of purpose in the selection of candidates. He referred to the Republican party in its fight against slavery, saying it carried the country through that great epoch of the civil war and made itself a record of which it was justly proud. It could not, however, live on past memories; it should meet the living issues, be watchful of the administration of the government, quick to detect abuses and prompt to correct them. Wars invariably brought with them great abuses, and our great contest had its effect on the nation. Speaking of the currency question, he said: "In the stress of the war, when creditors and armies were unpaid, the government issued its 'Promises to pay,' and made them legal tenders. When that enactment was made the United States Government in good faith intended that these notes should be redeemed in gold or in interest-bearing bonds. But ten years have passed, and these "Promises to pay" still remain unfulfilled. The greenback has, indeed, largely appreciated, and we are justly proud of the credit of the nation in the markets of the world. But we do not, and we cannot as Americans, take pride in the singular fact that a stray note from an unknown bank in one of the British provinces can be sold in State street for a premium of more than twelve per cent. over one of our legal tender notes with all the wealth of forty million of people behind it. The plighted faith of the nation, the honor of the government, the enduring interests of the people, of the rich and of the poor, of capital and labor, all demand that the government by wise and prudent legislation and administration; should at the earliest practicable period make its notes equal to and convertible into gold. He urged the Republicans of Massachusetts and elsewhere, who had separated from the party in the Presidential election of 1872, to again join their old associates and aid in correcting the errors of which they complained in vindicating the claims of the party to public confidence and in placing it in a position to win the enthusiastic and persistent support of the friends of liberty and union, pacification and reconciliation, plighted faith and national honor.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines preserved in. A Private Counselor to the Married, or those about to marry on the physiological laws and revelations of the sexual system, with the latest discoveries in the science of reproduction, prescription, &c.

This is an interesting work of two hundred and sixty pages, with numerous engravings, and contains valuable information for those who are married or contemplate marriage, still it is a book that ought to be kept under lock and key, and not left carelessly about the house.

It contains the experience and advice of a physician whose reputation is world-wide, and should be in the private drawer of every male and female throughout the entire globe. It embraces many subjects of importance that are never published in any other work.

Sent free of postage, in sealed envelopes, for Fifty Cents.

Address Dr. Potts' Dispensary, No. 11 S. Eighth street, St. Louis, Mo.

Notice to the Afflicted and Unfortunate.

Before applying to the numerous quacks who advertise in public papers, secure the services of a physician of large experience, no matter what your disease is or how duplicitous he may be in his statements.

Dr. Butts occupies a double house of seventeen rooms, is indorsed by some of the most eminent medical professors of the country, and can be consulted personally or by mail, on the most delicate diseases of the sexual system, at No. 11 South Eighth street, between Missouri Avenue and Locust, St. Louis, Mo.

BEYOND THE STARS.

BY SARAH BRIDGES STEBBINS.

There is a place, the great star-gazers say,
In distant space wherein is always light;
No shadow falls there, darkness is unknown,
There time is not, where is no day or night;
Unchanging, steadfast, glowing, it exists
Far, far beyond unnumbered stars unseen,
A landscape too bright for eyes or flesh,
That only Thought can reach of things terrene.

Oh, is it there they go who leave this earth,
The loved and lost, winging a flight sublime
Past shining worlds, and o'er the paths of suns,
Into the glory of that celestial clime?
What wonders there are hidden? Shall the sight,
Obscured by earth, with vision clear behold
What here was dim? Learn life is but a veil
Interior brightness briefly to enfold?

Why rest we, then, o'er unaccomplished aims?
Why grieve for opportunity ungained?
Why mourn o'er hours to the soul's pursuits?
Why weep o'er gifts by circumstances restrained?
In that illumined peace, that boundless depth
Of timeless lustre, all ills disappear,
And infinite development of power
May bless for ever in that shining sphere!

And still beyond, oh, still beyond this light
Some unimagined splendor there may be,
Some glory that unto this radiance seems
As a son to darkness here! O mystery
Of unconceived creation! Shall we grow
Through immortality in worth and grace
To enter such grander realm, till life shall glow
In loveliness in each supernal place?

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

Senator Morton will speak in Pennsylvania during the campaign.

Vote of Hurricane Island, Maine—Republican, 104; Democratic, 4. No tidal wave.

The Prohibitionists in New York are nominating county officers at a furious rate.

The colored men of the State of New York will hold a Convention at Oswego on the 14th of October.

The Massachusetts Democrats have but two "old liners" on their ticket, the others being raw recruits.

The Pennsylvania Democrats struck a "fat thing" when they took up Piollet. He weighs 300 pounds.

Rev. T. C. Tilton, of Wisconsin, declines the Prohibition nomination for Governor.

Madame Adelina Patti recently laid the foundation-stone of the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, and contributed $500 toward the charity.

Mrs. Partington may now step down, as there is a prominent farmer in White county, Indiana, who can discount Mrs. P. in the use of choice "outlandish" in appropriate jaw-breakers. In describing his new residence and surroundings the other day, he innocently grew eloquent, as follows: "It are a brick house, painted all over white, on a pre-eminence kanole, condescending every way with a degrading gravel walk from the gate to the front door, and pertains a conception room big a nough to consume all my family, and has shrubbery all round it."

Chateaubriand said Mme. Chateaubriand would not dine later than five. I was never hungry until seven. But we compromised and dined at six, so that we could neither of us enjoy it, and that is what the people call the "happiness of mutual concessions."

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL

LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,

PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine book paper, each number containing from 36 to 40 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding, and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."

TWENTY SIX MILES FROM NASHVILLE.

TENTH ACADEMIC YEAR

The school is in one of the richest and most charming agricultural countries in America, in the heart of the famous blue grass country of Sumner county, Tenn., a lovely valley lying between a range of the Cumberland mountains and the Cumberland river, in a beautiful little city of vines and flowers, containing 3,500 inhabitants, distinguished for intelligence and refinement, hospitality and generosity. This place was selected after canvassing the advantages and inducements offered at all the most noted points in the country.

Sixteen members of the faculty, a number of whom have the highest national reputation, both as teachers and authors, and will be increased to twenty-five the next academic year.

THE FIVE SCHOOLS OF THE COLLEGE COURSE.

1. School of Humanities.
2. School of Ancient Language.
3. School of Mathematics.
4. School of Philosophy.
5. School of History and Moral Science.

DEPARTMENTS.

1. Preparatory School.
2. Normal School.
3. Music School.
4. Art School.
5. School of Modern Languages.
6. Agricultural School.
7. Commercial School.
8. Law School.

The present term began February 15, 1875. Fall term will begin first Monday in September. Board, tuition, fuel, washing, etc., $88. 20,000 catalogues for gratuitous distribution. Students can attend Baptist, Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian or Catholic churches. Students received at any degree of advancement at any time.

SEVEN STERN FACTS.

1. It is the cheapest college of like grade in the world.
2. In four specialties it challenges competition.
3. No institution is less slavish or more progressive.
4. It exemplifies that an institution may be very good and very cheap, though contrary to the dogma of some.
5. It educates males and females, which is natural and right—now so decided by experts, but long ago by common sense.
6. No expense will be spared to secure teachers of the first talent in Europe and America.
7. It is truly a national institute, and the youths of all sections are solicited to come and form friendships that will so greatly tend to make us in truth a united people, and perpetuate our liberties.

The Home College for the North and South. Sectional prejudices must be destroyed, or true national patriotism will cease to exist. There is no way so effective as the bringing together the noble youths from all sections, and having at heart the making them devoted friends in college days.

Patriots and philanthropists everywhere are requested to consider and encourage enterprise.

Twenty $1,000 scholarships and one thousand $100 scholarships to be disposed of.

100,000 copies of the next Illustrated Annual Catalogue, containing ninety-six pages each, will be issued, thirty-six pages of which are offered to the public as an advertising medium.

For Catalogue address John M. Walton, A. M., LL.D., President.

NO. 1—SCHOLARSHIPS, MALE AND FEMALE.

Wishing to extend to a great number of students the privilege of attending Neophogen College and enable those in limited circumstances to acquire an education, the managers of Neophogen College have determined to sell one thousand scholarships in this college at the sum of $100 each, and that when one thousand are sold, each purchaser shall forever thereafter have the right to send a student to this college free of all tuition fees. All who wish to avail themselves of this arrangement or aid in the cause are requested to transmit to J. M. Walton, Gallatin, Tenn., a bond for scholarships as follows:

For and in consideration of one Scholarship at Neophogen College, which guarantees to the purchaser forever thereafter the right to send one student to Neophogen College free of all tuition fees, the undersigned promises and binds himself, his heirs, his executors and administrators, to pay to the Treasurer of said College one hundred dollars, to be paid so soon as one thousand Scholarships have been sold, and the undersigned has been notified of same, and the same to bear interest from time notice being given until paid, at six per cent. The right of said Scholarship vests when the one hundred dollars are paid and lasts forever. I hereby bind myself, my heirs, etc., to fulfill this obligation.

As witness my hand and seal this —— day of ——; [L. S.] Attest: ——

Upon receiving the preceding bond, which will be deposited in one of the National Banks of Gallatin, a receipt will be returned to the purchaser. The right to the Scholarships are transferable, and any one holding the same may send any one to college free of tuition fees. In this way a collegiate education is forever secured to the holder of the scholarship, his descendants or assigns.

NO. 2—FEMALE SCHOLARSHIPS.

$1,000—To Parents and Philanthropists: Ten female students will be received into the family of the President of Neophogen College, and trained as his children, boarded, clothed, books and stationery furnished, and graduated in a regular collegiate course, for $1,000 each, payable in advance by the first of September, 1875. They must not be under twelve years of age, and able to read and write. The chief inducement in presenting this is to give the President an opportunity to train remarkable characters to the honor of the college, and to enable him to verify his views in regarding the development of youth of medium organization, when full control is given and implicit confidence reposed.

NO. 3—MALE SCHOLARSHIPS, $1,060.

Board and tuition perpetual to one student for $1,000, payable in advance. The holder of a scholarship can introduce one student after another, from time to time, free of charge for board and tuition. There are only twenty of these scholarships for sale.

J. M. WALTON, LL.D., President, Gallatin, Tenn.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The teachers of Neophogen College have the highest national reputation both as teachers and authors. DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1875.

SPRING weather now.

WE are enjoying delightful weather now.

THE morning air is keen and invigorating.

THE STATE HOUSE is quiet and serene once more.

HAZELNUT picnics are cracked up as the latest novelty.

THE crop of pomegranates this year is said to be larger than for ten years previous.

THE FUNERAL of Mr. Gillette yesterday afternoon was largely attended by friends and acquaintances.

ACCORDING to the weather reports for the past month, we are likely to have a very pleasant month in October.

"October's come; fair Summer's broidered shroud,
Red autumn drops from all his branches bowed,
His careless wealth upon the costly bier."

HON. JOHN BRUCE, Judge of the United States District Court, with his family, is in the city, stopping at the Exchange.

LOCAL news was a at discount yesterday. Our reporters were not able to gather up anything of a startling nature.

ANY person desiring a copy of Cram's Map of Alabama can find out where one can be had by calling at the JOURNAL office.

THE ELECTION for the ratification or rejection of the new constitution will take place on the third Tuesday in November, so it is said.

SOON the the familiar words: "Partners to the right" will be heard ringing in Estelle Hall. Then the little girls and boys will be happy.

BUSINESS men were inquiring about city licenses yesterday. Some of them thought they were compelled to pay for licenses yesterday, and were troubled in consequence.

The railroads are now doing a lively freight business. We understand that there has been more freight brought to the city in the past three months than for a year before.

As the Western railroad has determined on special rates during the fair at Selma, will the other roads not join in the arrangement? They would make money by so doing.

COTTON FACTORY.—Owing to the inclemency of the weather last night the meeting of the subscribers to the factory, which was to have taken place at the Exchange Hotel, was postponed.

WE pity all those who have families to support, and who are out of work. The laboring man does not see his interest when he engages in a strike, which deprives him of a position that sustains his family.

OUR theatrical season will soon open now, and we are promised a series of amusements of the first class. Under the gallant Professor McDonald we may expect our theater to be all that the name implies—a success.

THE habit of spitting tobacco juice over floors is very unrefined and inelegant. It is a very filthy habit, and is unknown in refined society. It is too commonly practiced, we discover, about offices and places of business in this city.

NOW is the most fitting time for our merchants to advertise. The subscription of the JOURNAL is rapidly increasing. On Sunday we sold an unusually large number of extra copies, and every day the demand increases. Blood will tell.

SPECIAL attention is called to the little statement on the first page about James Harper. It might fit some persons in this community. The sin of lounging is not only unprofitable, but is exceedingly disgraceful, in this fast and enlightened age. Such people always become poor and get run over. They not only inconvenience themselves, but everybody they come in contact with.

LIGHTS.—We call the attention of the proper authorities to the great need of lights in the surburbs—as they are called. All along Clayton and other streets reside many of our business men who are compelled to remain at their places of business until late at night. They pay taxes and are entitled to the benefit of their good citizenship to the same extent that other citizens are. They should be protected by the city authorities. Let us have light now, and peace will come of its own volition.

IN BAD CONDITION.—We have had rains of late, and in many places the streets have been badly torn up. There are places along some of the principal thoroughfares which are really dangerous to walk over at night. In several places large gullies have been washed across the sidewalks, and rendered them dangerous to the night pedestrian. While our gas lights are so few and far between, we think that we ought to have smooth and safe streets to walk over to say the least. We do not know that any one is to blame, nor do we refer to the matter for the purpose of casting imputations upon any particular person or persons, we only say that we ought to have smooth, safe streets to walk over at night.

AN effort, we understand, will be made at the next session of the General Assembly, to have the corporate limits of Montgomery, so extended as to include in the city the several hundred thousand dollars worth of property. It is desirable, no doubt, to have the taxes of the city strengthened as much as can be reasonably done, but then, if the extension is to be made, we will have to ask for more policemen and several gas lamps. Already there are hundreds of tax payers who get no benefit from the gas lights, and as many who get no protection from the police because the force is too small to patrol the city. It is no fault of the police. The trouble is we have too much reform and retrenchment in one direction, while none at all in the other. Time will set all things even, we hope.

THE HOUSEKEEPER is an illustrated monthly, unique in plan, that will please an immense number of housewives and husbands. Its aim is to show how a household may be conducted with the least care and expense, and with the greatest attractiveness and comfort. Special attention is given to marketing, shopping, the exposure of shams and frauds, short weights, adulterations, and other household dangers; the kitchen, dining room, parlor, sitting room, library, bedroom, nursery, laundry,—every department of the home, from cellar to garret, is represented, and comfort, convenience, luxury, health, beauty, economy, all considered. Special depaptments of "Home Occupations," and "What to do for a Living," will prove of very great interest and practical value to many. It is practical rather than theoretical, contains a host of new ideas, valuable suggestions and useful recipes. It is full of good, useful matter, a real encyclopaedia of knowledge for the housekeeper. Price, $1.50 a year, or 15 cents a copy, with special terms to agents and clubs. Chas. F. Wingate, Publisher, 52 John Street, New York.

LOMAX.—At a meeting of the members of Lomax Fire Company, No. 4, held at their hall last night, the following gentlemen were elected as officers to serve the ensuing year:

Joseph Baumer, President.
Charles R. Dickinson, Foreman.
Silva Jacobi, First Assistant.
Fred. Watts, Second Assistant.
H. W. Bernheir, Secretary.
J. H. Crenshaw, Treasurer.

Messrs. B. Jones, W. W. Herron and D. C. Hanson were elected the Finance committee.

MUSIC.—We have been shown specimen copies of the major and minor scales, written by some pupils of Mrs. Dudley Robinson, from memory. The specimens are an evidence of Mrs. Robinson's success as a music teacher. Her experience extends over a period of fourteen years, during which time she has successfully conducted many classes of music, all of which were creditable alike to her talents and her accomplishments. Many of her pupils are now the most accomplished musicians in the city and surrounding country. Mrs. Robinson is now teaching music at the Home School—Miss Pollan be, principal. She will also teach at her residence, corner Bainbridge and Adams streets. Those of our readers who have daughters to educate should send them to Mrs. Robinson if they desire [illegible]e accomplished in music.

PETIT LARCENY.—There appears to be a gang of small thieves who continually prowl about the residences of those citizens who live in the outskirts of the city. Although these citizens reside in the city limits and pay taxes to the city government, they complain that the principle of retrenchment has been so reduced to fact that they are deprived of the protection of police officers altogether. We do not know that any great harm has befallen any one, but we can inform the city fathers that there are portions of Montgomery, very near the city buildings, where the services of policemen are needed every night, to prevent small thieves from depredating upon the property of our citizens—all of whom are taxpayers.

THE HOTELS are well crowded notwithstanding the absence of the delegates.

Bleeding from Lungs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption.—A Wonderful Cure.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13, 1874.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I had suffered from Catarrh in an aggravated form for about twelve years, and for several years from Bronchial trouble. Tried many doctors and things with no lasting benefit. In May, '72, becoming nearly worn out with excessive Editorial labors on a paper in New York city, I was attacked with Bronchitis in a severe form, suffering almost a total loss of voice. I returned home here, but had been home only two weeks when I was completely prostrated with Hemorrhage from the Lungs, having four severe bleeding spells within two weeks, and first three inside of nine days. In the September following, I improved sufficiently to be able to be about, though in a very feeble state My Bronchial trouble remained and the Catarrh was tenfold worse than before. Every effort for relief seemed fruitless. I seemed to be losing ground daily. I continued in this feeble state, raising blood almost daily until about the first of March, '73, when I became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I was extremely skeptical that they would do me good, as I had lost all heart in remedies, and began to look upon medicines and doctors with disgust. However, I obtained one of your circulars, and read it carefully, from which I came to the conclusion that you medicines stood your business, at least. I finally obtained a quantity of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets, and commenced their vigorous use according to directions, to my surprise I soon began to improve. The Discovery and Pellets, in a short time, brought out a severe eruption, which continued for several weeks. I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three months every vestige of the Catarrh was gone, the Bronchitis had nearly disappeared, had no Cough whatever, and I had entirely ceased to raise Blood; and, contrary to the expectations of many of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had suffered so much and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for this blessing I have received from your hands knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medicines will master the worst forms of that odious disease Catarrh, as well as Throat and Lung Diseases. I have recommended them to very many and shall ever speak in their praise. Gratefully yours,

WM. H. SPENCER.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all disease of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines prescribed in, Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

THE NEW CONVENTION.

When and How we will Dissect it.

We will say for the benefit of the Washington Republican, and other members of the Grumbletonian Society that we are preparing a cautious series of articles on the new Constitution, in connection with some of the ablest lawyers in the State of Alabama. We stated some time ago that we should take time to dissect this Constitution, as we did not desire to enter into a discussion of its provisions without careful study and examination, and bringing to our sanctum competent legal aid. So soon as the articles are prepared we shall print them, and not before. Flippant, unstudied articles may do in the ordinary routine of every-day subjects, such as the Washington Republican is in the habit of getting off. But they will not answer in grave Constitutional questions—which demand profound thought and legal knowledge.

We do not propose in discussing the Constitution to go off half spring, and be compelled, perhaps, afterwards to eat our words. In several articles heretofore, we had stated as much as this, but these grumbletonians, we presume, found it convenient to their own selfish purposes, to deny the facts. We merely desire, to let it be known to all whom it may concern, that we shall give proper attention to all subjects which now, or may hereafter, engross the attention of the people of Alabama and of the Nation.

THE ADDRESS OF MR. LYON'S COMMITTEE ON THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

We were favored yesterday morning, with the address of Mr. F. S. Lyon and eleven other members of the Constitutional Convention, setting forth the advantages as they assume, of the new Constitution. The committee contented themselves with very few comparisons between "the new and the old" Constitution. There is really so little substantial difference that the committee did not care, we presume, to make themselves ridiculous by comparisons. With them the cry was not that "comparisons are odious," but simply this: The present Constitution was made by aliens and corruptionists. We have made one containing about the same provisions, but we are of the people; we are representative men. Hence we think you ought to throw away the present Constitution and adopt the new one, that your children can say hereafter their fathers voted for the men who made the Constitution. There is a great deal of Bunsby in this business, and we are surprised that such men as F. S. Lyon, E. H. Moren, J. L. Pugh and C. C. Langdon should involve their names and reputations in a measure which has nothing to commend it but sectional prejudice and party animosity. There is no use in trying to hide the fact that the late convention was originated in animosity to the Federal Government—under the auspices of which the present constitution of Alabama was put in operation. It was in defiance of the reconstruction policy of Congress that the late convention was founded, and the distinguished gentlemen we have named above, have added nothing to their reputations as patriotic citizens, by the part they have played and are now playing, in foisting a new constitution upon the impoverished people of Alabama.

The question of calling a Constitutional Convention was mooted once or twice, during the canvass of last fall, but leading Democratic politicians hastened to deny that they had any such intention. When the charge was made by Republican papers and speakers, that, in the event of the success of the Democratic party in this State, the leaders of the party would force a Constitutional Convention upon the people, in a spirit of hostility to the Union sentiment, the Democratic press and speakers denounced the charge as a falsehood—a Radical lie, etc. In that canvass wherever and whenever this question was broached the people emphatically opposed it, and gave the Democratic leaders to understand that the present was no fitting time to call a Constitutional Convention; that we were not far enough from the reconstruction period; that the people of the North would regard such a movement with distrust and suspicion; that the people, as a final argument, were too poor to endure the cost of such a Convention. The argument was made that so long as the Democratic party had entire control of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial departments of the State Government, they certainly could prevent the evils they proposed to arrest and destroy by a Constitutional Convention. In view of these facts, we repeat, that we are greatly surprised at the weakness of the address, and the evident manner of begging every question of importance to the people. There is not a single argument in favor of the new constitution which is at all detrimental to the present one. The cutting down of the number of Judges and Chancellors, and the salaries of these and other State officials, will result in disaster to the people of the State. A too cheap judiciary is a blight to a free people; and in our humble judgment the people of this State will yet regret that the recent Convention ever had an existence. We propose to refer to these matters more fully hereafter.

Dissensions in the Republican Party.

Written and Unwritten History of the Past.

A Reference to President Grant, Senator Spencer and Representative Hays.

In a lengthy article yesterday we alluded to the divisions and quarrels in the Republican party of Alabama. To-day we continue our remarks upon the subject for the purpose of bringing to a proper understanding, the condition in which the Republican party was found after the election of 1874. It is well known to many of our readers that there were serious divisions in the party during the canvass of that year, and that several persons, who had been regarded as party leaders, openly opposed the ticket nominated by the Republican Convention. This ticket and the party organization were assailed by those who claimed themselves Republican leaders. The result was the election of the entire Democratic ticket, the overthrow of the Republican party in many of the counties of the State, where Republican majorities ranged from 500 to 2000. It is thus seen that to gratify personal spites and prejudices, men who had gained a prominent influence in the Republican party of Alabama, used all their power to defeat the party and crush out its organization. That they were successful is a matter of unanswerable history. By some it has been charged that these Republican leaders were in secret co operation with the Democratic leaders. We make no such charge, because we have no evidence to sustain it. But we state these facts, known of all men in Alabama, who are at all familiar with the political history of the State, during the past three years. In view of such sad facts, the STATE JOURNAL, deeply impressed with the attitude of the party to the National administration heretofore, found itself almost alone, as the representative of what had been but a few short months before, the dominant party in Alabama. When the disastrous result of the election last fall was known, Republican leaders commenced the unhappy work of crimination and recrimination. They charged and counter-charged, one upon the other, that he or they were responsible for the disastrous rout of the party at the polls. Some of the leading Republicans hastened to publish long dissertations upon the political outlook, in which they declared with emphasis, amongst other things, that there was no longer any necessity for a Republican party in Alabama. These men, who had been honored and trusted by Republicans; men who had been elevated to high and responsible and remunerative positions, at the very first de eat which overtook the party, deserted it and marched into the camp of the successful enemy. Now, then, of all those who had stood at the head of the party as leaders, but two were left who were in a position still to rally the defeated and scattered hosts—Senator Spencer and the Hon. Charles Hays, a member of Congress. In the rout which ensued, hundreds of men were driven from official positions, from which they derived support for themselves and families. Many of these hastened to Washington and began a fearful and prolonged siege upon Senator Spencer and Representative Hays, for the few Federal offices in Alabama. There the factions reorganized—promises after promises were made to reward each other; charges of treachery, of dishonesty and every imaginable dereliction were hurled as fast and as thick as hailstones, from faction to faction, until Senator Spencer and Representative Hays, the President and his Cabinet, according to the Washington Star, were harrassed to an extent unparalleled in the history of politics. The leaders of these factions sought the JOURNAL, by turns, to bolster up their claims for party patronage and preference. Men who were recognized as leaders, we learn, assailed the organization of the party, declared it a fraud and engaged in the questionable business of maligning and villifying all the ac knowledged Republican leaders in the State. Amidst all this interminable mass of confusion and vituperation, the declaration was made that this paper was independent. It assailed no one—it sought the injury of no living creature. Its highest purpose then was to steer clear of the factions and semi-factions, and the rings and rings within rings which kept the party in a seething state of ebullition. Of course those who had sought to use the JOURNAL and failed, turned upon it and heaped malediction after malediction upon the paper. Emissaries were sent to Washington to prejudice the administration against it; all manner of misrepresentations were made to the Republican leaders there, and the effort was made to antagonize the Republican Senator and Representative at Washington with the paper, in order that, in turn, the Senator and Representative, would themselves be destroyed, their influence overthrown, and a new regime set up in Alabama, hostile to the liberal and progressive Republicanism which triumphed in Alabama in 1872. We state these matters of history as we understand them, that the minds of ourreaders may be refreshed upon the incidents which have followed each other in rapid succession in the effort by disaffected Republicans to rule or ruin the destinies of the Republican party in Alabama. Our purpose is to show, as we hope, to all fair-minded men, that our policy in planting this journal upon the National Republican Platform—in sustaining the National administration and strengthening the hands of our Senator and Representative in Congress—and allowing factions here to take care of themselves, was the only course for us, as a true Republican, to pursue. We wish it unequivocally and positively understood, that we are taking no part in the past quarrels of the JOURNAL, or of the Republican party. We simply state, as far as we understand it, the written and unwritten history which goes to make up the past record of the Republican party in this State.

If it can be properly shown that we have been led into the slightest historical error, we stand ready in the largest liberality of journalism to correct any such errors. We will purposely wrong no man or men in this history, because our purpose is to do right, to bring Republicans together by aiding in bringing about perfect unity of party action. As a comparative stranger in the State, we have no enemies to punish; and these articles will be continued in that spirit of charity and kindness which should characterize wise, patriotic and enlightened journalism.

The pilgrimage of Roman Catholics from church to church, at Toronto, although accompanied by the police and a large body of military, was assailed by a mob with stones. The police charged the rioters, firing several shots. Two policemen and a number of others were seriously wounded, but none killed. The procession numbered 2000, and the crowd at some points 8000.

The Fall River strikers threw loaves of bread at the Mayor who advised them to keep the peace. This waste of bread indicates more folly than hunger on the part of the strikers. Yet we are told that these operatives have been reduced to the verge of starvation. Less bread at the Mayor's head would be better for their stomachs.

The Maryland campaign is beginning to warm up. The school question, and the bad management of the State finances have had the tendency to draw from the regular Democratic ticket a large number of Conservative voters. The outlook is favorable for the Reform movement.

Ex-President Johnson during his life received a twig taken from the willow which bends over the grave of Napoleon Bonaparte on St. Helena, which he planted in the garden of his late residence, and which has now grown to a stately tree. A twig from this tree will be planted over the grave of Mr. Johnson, on Johnson's Hill.

Says the Chicago Journal: "Edwin Boothe can not use his arm; Clara Morris' backbone is all awry; Fechter has a stiff knee, and George L. Fox, of 'Humpty Dumpty' fame, can not move the muscles of his face. What's coming over our actors? Can it be that the prayers of De Witt Talmadge are heard?

The Spanish minister at Washington has received a cable dispatch from Spanish consul at Kingstown, Jamaca, informing him that the cargo of the steamer Uruguay, consisting of arms and ammunition for the Cuban insurgents, has been seized by the authorities of that port.

A dispatch to the Cincinnati Times from Washington says that Senator Thurman's son has announced his intention of voting for Hays. The Senator, himself, is said privately to feel a strong desire for Allen's defeat.

The Post says Mr. A. T. Stuart's proposition to purchase the Bethesda Church, adjoining his Grand Union Hotel at Saratoga, so as to enlarge the latter building, has been rejected by the vestry of the church by a vote of 23 to 22.

The divided Democracy is wasting much precious time in hurling to and fro epithets and defiances between Ohio and New York. They had better be preparing to lay out Bill Allen.

The Hon. Henry B. Payne has retired to his hole and drawn the hole in after him, as far as financial issues are concerned. The Cleveland papers are engaged in an effort to smoke him out.

It is surprising how many people, who have never been able to do anything successfully in a business line, blossom into financial statesmen in these days. They inflate themselves, so to speak.

Before Delano's successor is appointed it should be ascertained that he is thoroughly rested. It took Columbus 42 per cent. of his time to get over his fits of fatigue.

Ex-Senator Tipton has been stumping Ohio for the Democrats. If this fails to defeat Allen, it will be because the Nebraska orator came into the canvass a little late.

Nasby thinks that when money can be made on a printing press, it is very foolish to expose a man's life in a gold mine, to get the material for hard money.

In Hays we Trust: in Allen we Bust, is the way the people talk up in Ohio.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, October 6.—The new Commissioner of Patents was again beseiged by applicants for office to-day. He expresses the uselessness of making appointments or removals at present, so that all applications will be useless.

Chief engineer Wood, of the Navy Department, has invented a new motive power which he will exhibit at the Centennial. The power consists of carbolic acid gas, which is obtained by means of electricity and galvanism. A correct patent has already been granted.

In the court of commissioners of Washington claims, the following business was transacted to-day: In case 252 Armes & Dallam, judgment for $420,793, with interest, on separate sums at different dates. In case 253, T. C. Jordan, judgment for $2800, not including primage. In case 254, O. W. F. Woodruff, judgment for $2,041.03. In case 327, Aaron Asper, judgment for $5675. In case 125, David Bidwell vs. United States, dismissed. In case 185, Fred. R. Hall, judgment for $8,817.93. In case 221, Jules P. Sarragin, judgment for $1353.84. Frank W. Hackett, Esq., was announced as designated as assistant counsel for the United States before the court.

THE WEATHER.—For the Gulf States slightly higher pressure and possibly falling temperature, with cloudy or partly cloudy weather and occasionally rain.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 6.—The general term of the Supreme Court this morning returned a decision in the Tweed case, affirming an order refusing to reduce the three million dollars bail and reversing an order requiring bail. Particulars are to be furnished by the city.

The Herald this morning prints a nother letter from Wendell Phillips in favor of greenbacks. The letter is addressed to the secretary of the United States Legal Tender Club of New York, and is in reply to Carl Schurz's speech at Cincinnati. He discusses Schurz's speech at much length, and makes long argument in favor of more greenbacks and less checks. He claims that the inflationists were the first to bring out the fact that 93 per cent. of the business transactions are by checks, notes and bills of exchange, while only 7 per cent. are effected by the bank currency and green backs, and this is the corner-stone of one of the gravest charges against our present system of finance.

The Herald also publishes a letter from General Butler to the Secretary of the same club, dated Boston, Sept. 30th, on the subject of reductions of values of property in this city, and of the slavery condition of the working class. He quotes from a Fall River dispatch of the 17th: "The courage is all taken out of the operatives; they will submit to anything for work," and asks "how long shall such things be?" He says the working men and women will be obliged to call for wages invested in savings banks; and when that call comes the money loander at issuing must stand from under, and may find himself as much broken in spirit as the working man is now, and ready to submit to any thing to get work.

TENNESEE.

MEMPHIS, October 6.—The latest dispatch from Frair's Point, Mississippi, states that Sheriff Brown yesterday ordered an attack on the town by the negroes, but the latter were driven back. The whites are organizing under command of Generals Alcorn and Chatmore. The Sheriff has fled the country, and a requisition has been received for him. Other dispatches received here claim that the telegrams previously sent regarding the troubles at Frair's Point were greatly exagerated, and were intended to influence of the coming election.

MASSACHUSETTS.

FALL RIVER, October 6.—There are more applications for work at the mills than can be received. The old hands lose their places, which have been given to new comers, who are very numerous and came from distant places.

WORCESTER, October 6.—The Sober Reform Convention, which met here today, was thinly attended; only twenty-one persons present including reporters.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, October 6.—Last night robbers entered the dry goods store of J. E. Bield & Co., 213 Baltimore street, and carried off silks valued at from $3,000 to $10,000.

OHIO.

TOLEDO, October 6.—At the Toledo, Wabash & Southern Railroad election to fill the vacancies caused by the retiring of one third of the classified board of directors, the meeting was unanimously for those interested in co operating.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, October 6.—It now seems that the sea stove in the Mantanza's forecastle and deck, but she is otherwise uninjured. Her return was merely a precautionary measure. Lord and lady Dafferin will return to Canada next Friday.

The Berlin press states that Germany and Russia have agreed to entrust Count Andrassy, the Austrian Premier, with the task of drawing up reform propositions for the pacification of Insurgents in Turkey.

SOUH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, October 6.—The election passed off quietly here. Cunningham, independent Republican, is elected Mayor.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds where the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance for a large premium. An investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $2 50, $500, $1,000, $7,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, in this case is distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when the are surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

PEOPLE AND THINGS.

Von Bulow is on the ocean, coming over to play piano for us.

Whew! Even Harry C. Bowen is delivering addresses at agricultural fairs.

Judge Davis, of the United States Supreme bench, is visiting friends in Danville, Ill.

Harper's picture of Hans Christian Arderson shows him to have strongly resembled Mr. Disraeli.

One good thing will result from the Prince of Wales' visit to India; the Princess will get a little much needed rest.

King Louis II. of Bavaria will declare a general amnesty on the coming dedication of a monument to the memory of his father.

George L. Fox has used stage cosmetics so long and in such quantities as to produce a partial paralysis of one side of his face.

The World says Captain Adams, Supervising Special Agent of the Treasury Department, will probably be appointed Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department.

It is a shame to think that the President's horse, ridden by him at Vicksburg, brought only $56 at the sale. It was worth more than that for a relic, if for no other purpose.

The Cat, and Omnibus News is the handsome name of a new London periodical. Hope it won't drag.—Pitsburg Commercial. Wheel see. It has fare prospects.

The only religious daily left in New York since the Witness died is the Herald.—Rochester Express. Well, well. And we suppose the religion referred to is the religion of slush.

Some one in Vermont owns a sheep that can whip all the fighting dogs in the neighborhood. He had better join stock with the man who owns the whistling claim and start a menagerie.

This is a good idea. "It seems to be the drift of things, among the soldiers attending the reunion here," says the Des Moines Register, "that all the army societies will next year be merged into one—a Centennial fusion, at Philadelphia."

It is arranged that the widow and daughters of Stonewall Jackson shall be guests of the State of Virginia, or the city of Richmond, on the unveiling of the statue of the great soldier, on the 26th of October.

Tenny Claflin is to go upon the stage. Her first appearance will be as Pauline, in the "Lady of Lyons." Lady of Lyons is pretty good for an old cat. And you may just make up your mind that the poor man who plays with her will be Clawed.

Here is your champion straddler. The Bishop of Toulouse is not to be cornered. When attacked by the spiritualistic theorists he nimbly shins up the fence and shies back an opinion that "a medium may converse with spirits, but they are spirits of Satan."

D. S. Dickinson, a grandson and namesake of the late distinguished statesman, is a musician of no mean ability, and has organized a superior orchestra, which furnished music, under his direction, throughout the season at the Dwight House, Binghamton.

We are obliged to the Elmira (N. Y.) Gazette for the information that "Victoria Woodhull is an angel lent to earth for a few days. Very kind in Satan to loan her out, we are sure; but then he has so many other damaged angels in stock that we don't suppose he'll miss her.

The catalogue of paintings exhibited at the Industrial Exposition in Chicago numbers 858 pieces, some of them by the leading artists of this country, and others by old masters and other deceased painters of celebrity.

As an enterprise appropriate to the seat of Pottawattomie County, Council Bluffs is to have an immense chair factory which will make a needed market for the Cain which is so extensively raised in that vicinity. However, we hope the Bluffs won't become Cain-seated.

Toledo has a justice of the peace who denies the rotary motion of the earth, and declares that the sun travels around it every twenty-four hours. He only fines the lawyers ten dollars for calling him a d—d old fool, which the Toledo bar thinks quite considerate.

The posthumous papers of Hans Christian Andersen contain verses by Mrs. Browning, Leigh Hunt, Wordsworth, and others, together with the most interesting of the extraordinary number of letters he received from the most eminent literary men in England during the last fifteen years of his life.

Mr. Dana has had a present of a "sea serpent" which, he says, is no serpent at all, but the old snake that escaped from John Robinson's circus three years ago. It is probably a much older serpent than that, wherefore we must be thankful that the editor of the Sun is yet spared to us; next time it will come with horns and tail and a bad smell of sulphur.

One Tarr, who murdered a man in Quincy, was arrested in Keokuk by a party of vigilants in search of him. Before they returned to Quincy they strung him to a tree and left the body dangling there. That wasn't anything like capital punishment, was it? Simply a piece of Tarr rope. So fortunate that hanging is abolished in Iowa!

United States Treasurer New has sent to a relative in Indianapolis a cinder of about the size of a large apple formed from the chemicals in treasury notes to the amount of $2,000,000 which were burned some time ago. Thus, our Democratic friends, is the nation defrauded of its property. That cinder belonged to the people.

Here we have it that dancing is passing out of style, and about to be relegated to theatrical coryphees. One by one, and a dozen at a time, the cherished amusements of our ancestors pass away. "Bundling" went first, witch-burning, that moral and exciting exercise, went next, wine-drinking next, kissing is supposed to be on the decrease, and we shall not be surprised to hear that the social authorities decree that no family shall stand on its head around the table before breakfast and repeat the ballad of "eeny-meeny-moany-my" backward before sitting down to eat.

PROCLAMATION.

We print elsewhere, for public information, the proclamation of Gov. Houston, commanding the sheriffs of the several counties to hold election to vote for the ratification or rejection of the new constitution.

PRESIDENT GRANT.

The President hit the nail squarely on the head when he said, in his Des Moines speech, "Let us all labor for more security of free thought, free speech, free press, pure morals, unfettered religious sentiments, and equal rights and privileges of all men, irrespective of nationality, color or religion. Encourage free schools and resolve that not one dollar appropriated to them shall be applied to the support of any sectarian school: resolve that neither State nor nation shall support institutions save those where every child in the land may get a common school education unmixed with atheistic, Pagan or sectarian teaching. Leave matters of religion to the family altar; keep the church and State forever separate." Pittsburgh Commercial.

Of the October lookout for business the New York Bulletin says:

With the incoming of October the autumn is sufficiently advanced to enable the observer to form some judgment as to the drift and extent of the fall trade, concerning which there are so many diverse opinions. Without entering into minute details—which would only be a repetition of facts we have been recording from day to day during the past month—it need only be said, that while trade for September was probably not up to the anticipations of people who are accustomed to indulge sanguine hopes without duly considering whether they are warranted by the surrounding conditions, but little is risked in saying that in many of the leading branches the sales in the aggregate have been quite up to those of previous seasons, when there was less croaking. If all the others have not done as favorably as was expected, it is well to bear in mind that the autumn is not half over yet, and that with a continuance of the present delightful weather, considerable accessions to the large number of country buyers now here are certain.

IMPORTANT.—Commissioner Pratt, of the internal revenue bureau, decides that a farmer who has bought a barrel of liquor for his own use cannot sell any of it without taking out a license as a retail or wholesale liquor dealer. Neither can a retail dealer close out his stock at wholesale—that is in quantities of five gallons or more—without a wholesale dealer's license. But he can transfer his liquors to a dealer that has paid the tax, to sell for him on commission, without incurring a further liability.—Exchange.

"THANK GOD!" cried General Ewing, of Ohio, in reply to General Woodford, in their recent joint debate. "We don't owe England a cent!" If Ewing can satisfy England on this point, we shall favor a handsome purse for his services. Cary says, "we don't owe the bond-holders a dollar!" Ewing and Cary probably think alike, that repudiation of our indebtedness squares accounts.

GOVERNOR ALLEN said in a recent speech: "If I die, mark you, the people will know it, for I shall die in their arms." If the Governor has any idea of dying, he had better begin soon, so as to give all the present generation a chance to hold him.

The Republicans in Massachusetts appear to be well satisfied with the ticket nominated by the State Convention. They have all entered into its support, ardently and cheerfully, and the party is free from all the quarrels which have heretofore distracted it. There is little room for doubt that they will redeem the State from the disgrace which fell upon it last fall.

When Carl Schurz supported the Democratic ticket, the Democratic papers thought him an intellectual giant, and the foremost man in the Western world; but now, when he supports the Republican ticket, they speak of him as an "old Dutch humbug." It is strange that he should have depreciated so much, intellectually, in so short a time.

Tilden is traveling about the State of New York delivering agricultural addresses. The principal burden of his theme is "bugs," and how to exterminate them. The voters of the Empire State will exterminate Tildenism next November, and then there will be one noxious thing less—humbug.

DEMOCRATIC DECLARATIONS.

I. ON DEMOCRACY.

"Corruption has crept into the Democratic party."—Hon. George E. Pugh.

"I believe the historical Democratic organization is spoiled."—Groesbeck.

"The Democratic party is no longer an instrument of reform in American politics."—Gen. Tom Ewing.

II. ON REPUBLICANS.

"The Democrats came into use last January after our political opponents had held control of the State of Ohio for nearly twenty years, but we couldn't find, after a most careful examination, a single case of corruption. They had done some things that were very wrong, nothing that was corrupt. They spent more money than a heavily taxed people well could bear, but they didn't steal any."—Gov. Allen.

"Your committee take pleasure in reporting that, so far as elective officers and their subordinates are concerned, very commendable honesty and fidelity have been observed; and that in the official conduct of no public officer, whether elective or appointive, has corruption been disclosed."—Gen. Ball, Chairman of a Democratic Ohio legislative investigating committee.

The visible improvement which is taking place in the various branches of trade and commerce is gall and wormwood to the Democratic press. Apparently these papers would be rejoiced to see the country go to the bad this fall, generally. They croak that there is no trust, no strength, no recuperation in the railroads, whose managers dare not tell how little they are earning; in life insurance, represented to be in a bad way; in the banks, that are making no money; in the new crops, for which there can be only a limited foreign demand; and, finally, in the merchants, whose trade is fitful and uncertain. We do not claim that the times are really good for all these various interests, but it is certain that matters are working more satisfactorily, and that the outlook is more cheerful and encouraging, than for a long time past. The chief aim of these papers would seem to be to discourage improvement and depress confidence in the interest of party success. And a shameful purpose it is.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines perse vered in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

MY VANISHED PAST.

I will write on the tomb of my vanished past
This is the "nevermore;"
Here lies the sunshine too bright to last,
This was the golden shore.

This was the land of the poet's song,
This was the artist's dream;
Here were the flowers love dwelt among,
Here was life's fairest gleam;

This was a heaven come down below,
And in it was left God's smile;
Yet now must the green grass over it grow,
It lived such a little while—

Such a little while, like an island bright,
That has risen far out at sea,
Which on some morrow we find the night
Has changed to a memory.

A memory mine, one that sadly thrills;
And ofttimes I wearily pray
That it may again, if it be God's will,
Come back to my life some day.

But it cannot come. Oh, my dead, dead past!
You are silent forever and still;
But the sunset glories that fade so fast
Shall arise o'er the top of the hill.

And I'll touch the stone with a gentle hand,
And train o'er it flowers fair,
For I think, when I wake in the other land,
Perhaps you will meet me there.

WEDDED.

Some quick and bitter words we said,
And then we parted. How the sun
Swam through a sullen sea of gray!
A chill fell on the Summer day.
Life's best and happiest hours were done,
Friendship was dead.

How proud we went our separate ways,
And spake no word and made no moan;
She braided up her flowing hair,
That I had always called so fair,
As though she scorned my loving tone,
My word of praise.

And I?—I matched her scorn with scorn,
I hated her with all my heart,
Until—we chanced to meet one day;
She turned her pretty head away;
I saw two pretty tear drops start,
Lo! love was born.

Some fond, repenting word I said,
She answered only with a sigh;
But when I took her hand in mine
A radiant glory half divine
Flooded the earth and filled the sky;
Now we are wed.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL LIVE-STOCK JOURNAL,

PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 36 to 40 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, by live stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer, that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."

TENTH ACADEMIC YEAR

The school is in one of the richest and most charming agricultural countries in America, in the heart of the famous blue grass country of Sumner county, Tenn., a lovely valley lying between a range of the Cumberland mountains and the Cumberland river, in a beautiful little city of vines and flowers, containing 3,500 inhabitants, distinguished for intelligence and refinement, hospitality and generosity. This place was selected after canvassing the advantages and inducements offered at all the most noted points in the country.

Sixteen members of the faculty, a number of whom have the highest national reputation, both as teachers and authors, and will be increased to twenty-five the next academic year.

THE FIVE SCHOOLS OF THE COLLEGE COURSE.

2. Normal School.
3. Music School.
4. Art School.
5. School of Modern Languages.
6. Agricultural School.
7. Commercial School.
8. Law school.

The present term began February 15, 1875. Fall term will begin first Monday in September. Board, tuition, fuel, washing, etc., $88. 20,000 catalogues for gratuitous distribution. Students can attend Baptist, Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian or Catholic churches. Students received at any degree of advancement at any time.

SEVEN STERN FACTS.

1. It is the cheapest college of like grade in the world.
2. In four specialties it challenges competition.
3. No institution is less slavish or more progressive.
4. It exemplifies that an institution may be very good and very cheap, though contrary to the dogma of some.
5. It educates males and females, which is natural and right—now so decided by experts, but long ago by common sense.
6. No expense will be spared to secure teachers of the first talent in Europe and America.
7. It is truly a national institute, and the youths of all sections are solicited to come and form friendships that will so greatly tend to make us in truth a united people, and perpetuate our liberties.

The Home College for the North and South. Sectional prejudices must be destroyed, or true national patriotism will cease to exist. There is no way so effective as the bringing together the noble youths from all sections, and having at heart the making them devoted friends in college days.

Patriots and philanthropists everywhere are requested to consider and encourage enterprise.

Twenty $1,000 scholarships and one thousand $100 scholarships to be disposed of.

100,000 copies of the next Illustrated Annual Catalogue, containing ninety-six pages each, will be issued, thirty-six pages of which are offered to the public as an advertising medium.

For Catalogue address John M. Walton, A. M., LL.D. President.

NO. 1—SCHOLARSHIPS, MALE AND FEMALE.

Wishing to extend to a great number of students the privilege of attending Neophogen College and enable those in limited circumstances to acquire an education, the managers of Neophogen College have determined to sell one thousand scholarships in this college at the sum of $100 each, and that when one thousand are sold, each purchaser shall forever thereafter have the right to send a student to this college free of all tuition fees. All who wish to avail themselves of this arrangement or aid in the cause are requested to transmit to J. M. Walton, Gallatin, Tenn., a bond for scholarships as follows:

For and in consideration of one Scholarship at Neophogen College, which guarantees to the purchaser forever thereafter the right to send one student to Neophogen College free of all tuition fees, the undersigned promises and binds himself, his heirs, his executors and administrators, to pay to the Treasurer of said College one hundred dollars, to be paid so soon as one thousand Scholarships have been sold, and the undersigned has been notified of same, and the same to bear interest from time notice being given until paid, at six per cent. The right of said Scholarship vests when the one hundred dollars are paid and lasts forever. I hereby bind myself, my heirs, etc., to fulfil this obligation.

As witness my hand and seal this —— day of ——; [L. S.] ———— Attest: ————

Upon receiving the preceding bond, which will be deposited in one of the National Banks of Gallatin, a receipt will be returned to the purchaser. The right to the Scholarships are transferable, and any one holding the same may send any one to college free of tuition fees. In this way a collegiate education is forever secured to the holder of the scholarship, his descendants or assigns.

NO. 2—FEMALE SCHOLARSHIPS.

$1,000—To Parents and Philanthropists: Ten female students will be received into the family of the President of Neophogen College, and trained as his children, boarded, clothed, books and stationery furnished, and graduated in a regular collegiate course, for $1,000 each, payable in advance by the first of September, 1875. They must not be under twelve years of age, and able to read and write. The chief inducement in presenting this is to give the President an opportunity to train remarkable characters to the honor of the college, and to enable him to verify his views in regarding the development of youth of medium organization, when full control is given and implicit confidence reposed.

NO. 3—MALE SCHOLARSHIPS, $1,000.

Board and tuition perpetual to one student for $1,000, payable in advance. The holder of a scholarship can introduce one student after another, from time to time, free of charge for board and tuition. There are only twenty of these scholarships for sale.

J. M. WALTON, LL.D., President, Gallatin, Tenn.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1875.

MORE rain yesterday.

PLENTY of mud about now.

READ the notice of Gilmer & Donaldson to planters.

A COMMUNICATION from Mr. E. R. Mitchell will appear in these columns to-morrow.

REMOVED.—Mr. W. H. Smith, the well known cotton buyer, has moved his office. See advertisement for particulars.

THERE is a story going the rounds of the streets that a wedding in high life is soon to furnish the gossips with a winter theme. 'Tis not good for man to be alone.

IN referring to the election of officers, by the Lomax fire company yesterday, we omitted to state that Messrs. Joe Lighter and Wm. Schnabel are hydrantmen.

IT IS encouraging to see the drays on Commerce street all laden with goods for the depot, going hither and thither every minute of the day. Yesterday the street was all bustle and business.

THAT steam plow, used by the M. & M. Railroad Company, in excavating for a foundation for the new depot buildings, is one of the greatest inventions of modern times, as a labor saving machine.

IF you tread on a banana peel and find yourself laying out on the pavement as a consequence, please don't hunt up the local editor to find out who left the peel on the walk. Ask the next man you meet.

J. H. WOOLDRIDGE, a blind man, who lost his eyes at the battle of Perryville, will deliver a lecture this evening at the Arlington club room. He deserves the support of our people, and we hope may have a full audience.

THE attention of the city authoritis is called to the condition of the streets generally. Work in time will save considerable expense. The washed places can be easily repaired now. By waiting until they get worse, they will not be so easily repaired.

FAST MAIL.—Mr. R. W. Offutt, at the City Building news depot, has our thanks for New York papers one day in advance of the mails. These papers are furnished through Messrs. Lloyds, newsdealers of New York. Mr. Offutt is an enterprising man and should receive the support of the community. Good morning, Mr. Offutt.

DAMAGES.—Our readers will remember the unfortunate death of Mr. B. Boyle, not many months since, caused by being run over by the cars near Opelika. A few days since, Messrs. Herbert & Murphey, attorneys, entered a suit against the Western Railroad Company, for $20,000 damages. The case will probably come on for trial at the approaching term of the court.

POLICE NOTES.—Since the season of apples, oranges, bananas, etc., has arrived, the mackerel brigade has been reorganized. They will depredate on small dealers only, and will never steal more than one orange at a time.

Yesterday the serenity of the police circle bordered on the monotonous. Money is getting scarce, and the cops are thirsty.

HON. THOS. J. JUDGE, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, who has been in ill health for several months, is improving, and hopes are entertained that he will be able to sit at the approaching term of the court. He has been spending some time in Atlanta with his son-in-law, Mr. Garrett, and the cool Georgia breezes have been beneficial to him. We hope he will be speedily restored to his accustomed health.

SOMETIME ago we stated that three boats would be required to do the river business this season instead of two as usual. Yesterday, however, we learned that there will be four boats kept in the trade during the season; and it is believed by some sanguine business men that five will be needed if the trade keeps on increasing. We are really rejoiced to see so many evidences of returning prosperity. Oh! for the good old days once more!

THE opening of the Exchange Bar on Tuesday was quite an event. The spread of edibles was very fine, and a large crowd partook of it, and were more than satisfied. If men will drink, they should use the best spirits, and we are assured that the stock in this establishment is of a superior quality, having been purchased out of bond. The Exchange, with its mirrors, glasses, mahogany, walnut, silver and frescoing is the most elegant place of the kind in the country. It will be kept as a first-class place, and only first-class articles sold.

KATE SMITH, who is not exactly a blonde, nor yet a brunette, but rather more on the order of the Malayan princesses—copper, if you please—was arraigned in the Mayor's court yesterday morning upon a charge of having disturbed her neighbors by singing too loud. She had sang one or two very unpopular songs, and at last touched off on "Darling, do you love me." She slipped up on that, and agreed to pay the city five dollars in consideration of free license to sing herself to sleep whenever she could do so without keeping everybody else awake.

NEW MUSIC.—We have just received from Mr. H. S. Mackie, the great music publisher of Rochester, New York, several pieces of excellent music, which have recently been published. Amongst the number is the following:

"Will you have me when I'm Old?" a song and chorus.

"The Summer Sun will Shine Again," a song and chorus.

"You are Life and Light to Me," a song and chorus, and the companion song to "Silver Threads," etc.

Those of our readers who desire late musical works, should not forget to send to H. S. Mackie, No. 82 State street, Rochester, New York, for a catalogue. He also deals in all kinds of musical instruments, and can sell as cheaply as any Northern or Eastern house.

OPENING OF THE COOSA.

Meeting at Rome, Georgia.

The merchants and property owners of Montgomery are interested, more than any other class of citizens, in the opening of the Coosa river to navigation. If we had steam navigation to Rome, all the year, Montgomery would be the central chief point for supplies all along the route. A wholesale trade would certainly be built up in dry goods, groceries and all other merchandise, and all the products along the route would seek Montgomery as a market. When these products should reach this city they would then be ready to go to the four-quarters of the globe by rail or river. Montgomery could offer better inducements to merchants and others along the route, than any other city in this section, for the simple reason that we are nearer the great trade center of the West and East. Already some of our business men have taken hold of this subject, and propose to place Montgomery down right on the record. Yesterday the convention at Rome was attended by representatives from Montgomery, who no doubt, will see the great necessity of urging the project. And considering the advantages to be derived, the cost is a mere song. We spend every year thousands and thousands of dollars which do us no good whatever. Here is a movement which promises to make Montgomery one of the greatest inland cities in the country. We hope, then, our people will look at the project, as we do, and lend their aid and influence to its prompt accomplishment. We must do so now, or the ardor of our neighbors may be cooled, and the prizes lost to us for many years.

THE FREE SCHOOLS.—We remarked a few days ago that the free public schools of Montgomery were re-opened on Monday last, under most encouraging auspices. We understand that there were more pupils than ever before, and that the interest of the people in the success of the schools is unabated. The number of pupils is already as large as can be well accommodated. The readers of the JOURNAL are, no doubt, all deeply interested in the public schools, and we trust the following statement of places of schools, teachers, etc., will not be out of place:

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school is situated on the corner of Moulton and Montgomery streets. Principal of this school—Professor Alexander Hogg. Assistant—Miss E. F. Ready. First intermediate—Miss H. H. Werth. Second intimediate—Miss M. E. Boyle. First primary—Miss F. Graham. Second primary—Miss V. H. Vickers.

SECOND INTERMEDIATE.

This is situated on Hull street, near Market. Mrs. Bell Blandon is teacher.

SECOND PRIMARY.

This is situated on Adams street, opposite the Adam's Street Baptist Church. Miss E. R. Lewis, teacher.

BOOKS.

The books used in the public schools are: Independent Readers and Spellers, Davies' Arithmetics, Brown's Grammars, Papson's, Dunten's and Scribner's Writing, Barnes' Histories and Davies' Algebras and Legendre.

WE call attention to the advertisement of that popular grocer, D. S. Rice, which appears in another column. He has removed from Court street to No. 95 Commerce street, where he will be pleased to see all his friends. By close attention to his business, and fair dealing, and selling nothing but the best articles, he has built up a fine trade and a reputation which is second to no dealer in our market. He keeps a full supply of staple and fancy groceries, provisions and plantation supplies, which he will sell at the lowest market prices. He makes a specialty of the finest brands of flour which are brought to this city. Mr. Mark Campbell, long and favorably known as one of the oldest business men of our city, is connected with this house. He will be pleased to see all his old friends and the public, and assures them that he can offer them better bargains than can be had elsewhere.

PERSONAL.—We had a very pleasant conversation yesterday with Professor McDonald, the lessee of the Montgomery theater. We learn from him that the prospect of a successful season of amusements is quite flattering, and that several of the most popular organizations of the theatrical world, will visit us during the winter. Professor McDonald is an industrious gentleman, and his efforts to furnish our people with first class entertainments should meet the prompt and hearty indorsement of all amusement-loving citizens. Let first class theatricals be sustained, and our readers can rest assured that it will redound to the benefit of the entire community. Success to you, Professor McDonald.

A GENTLEMAN was walking along Court street, near the Central Bank building, very rapidly, yesterday morning, and all of a sudden his feet flew from under him and he sat down quickly on the pavement. In casting his eyes about to see what was up, he espied a small piece of banana peel. He repeated the twelve commandments to the peel and hastened off to have his pants patched. The boy who threw the peel will be in the penitentiary in less than five years.

THEATRICAL.—The famous Minstrel troupe of Duprez & Benedict will delight our amusement loving people to-morrow evening and again on Monday evening. It is certainly one of the best burnt cork combinations in this country.

Sheridan and Mack's celebrated theatrical troupe will be at our theatre on the 13th inst. They come well recommended by the press of the country generally.

Why will you sell cotton at present low rates (under the cost of production) when Gilmer & Donaldson offer you almost its value and hold it a reasonable length of time, at less rates of storage and less rates of interest than any other house, which they assure us. Local and Business Notices.

W. A. DEAN, the great cigar dealer on Court street, has just fitted up his cigar store in handsome style. He has just received a large and choice stock of Havana and domestic cigars, fine cut and plug chewing tobacco, which he has put down to the very lowest cash prices. He calls especial attention to his five cent cigar, made of Havana tobacco, and which he warrants to be superior to any other cigar sold in this market for anything near the price. His stock has been purchased of first hands, and he is determined not to be undersold in the market. Remember the place, on Court street.

JOE ROBINSON, the original Oyster and Fish dealer, will keep constantly on hand the finest and freshest Fish and Oysters in the market. Remember the place is the ice house of D. P. West. tt. & s.

A NEW ESTABLISHMENT—CITY HALL SALOON.—Phillip Preiss has opened a first class saloon in the new city building. He will keep none but the very choicest wines, liquors and cigars. The popular and polite gentleman, Charles Rosenstihl, manager and clerk, will be pleased to meet his old friends. All who desire a pure article, and wish to enjoy a pleasant hour, should call. Their lager beer is superior to any in the city, and is always on ice. oct5-10t

Bleeding from Lungs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption.—A Wonderful Cure.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13, 1874.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I had suffered from Catarrh in an aggravated form for about twelve years, and for several years from Bronchial trouble. Tried many doctors and things with no lasting benefit. In May, '72, becoming nearly worn out with excessive Editorial labors on a paper in New York city, I was attacked with Bronchitis in a severe form, suffering almost a total loss of voice, I returned home here, but had been home only two weeks when I was completely prostrated with Hemorrhage from the Lungs, having four severe bleeding spells within two weeks, and first three inside of nine days. In the September following, I improved sufficiently to be able to be about, though in a very feeble state My Bronchial trouble remained and the Catarrh was tenfold worse than before. Every effort for relief seemed fruitless. I seemed to be losing ground daily. I continued in this feeble state, raising blood almost daily until about the first of March, '73, when became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I was extremely skeptical that they would do me good, as I had lost all heart in remedies, and began to look upon medicines and doctors with disgust. However, I obtained one of your circulars, and read it carefully, from which I came to the conclusion that you unedrstood your business, at least. I finally obtained a quantity of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets, and commenced their vigorous use according to directions. To my surprise I soon began to improve. The Discovery and Pellets, in a short time, brought out a severe eruption, which continued for several weeks. I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three months every vestige of the Catarrh was gone, the Bronchitis had nearly disappeared, had no Cough whatever, and I had entirely ceased to raise blood; and, contrary to the expectations of many of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had suffered so much and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for this blessing I have received from your hands knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medicines will master the worst forms of that odious disease Catarrh, as well as Throat and Lung Diseases. I have recommended them to very many and shall ever speak in their praise. Gratefully yours,

WM. H. SPENCER.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schneck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

PROCLAMATION.

We print elsewhere, for public information, the proclamation of Gov. Houston, commanding the sheriffs of the several counties to hold election to vote for the ratification or rejection of the new constitution.

A LAZY LOAFER FOR INFLATION

"What do I care for a depreciated currency," said a lazy loafer to a man who tried to prove that inflation meant depreciation; "fifty cents on a dollar will do for me," continued the loafer. "I'll take your dollar at ten per cent. on its face. You fellows that work may object them, but I go for the value I find in them. I don't care to sweat over a gold dollar, if I can get enough depreciated currency for nothing. I go for inflation!" This philosopher ought to stump Ohio for old Bill Allen and Sam Cary.

GENERAL WHEELER.

A sad story of "a tall, haggard and ragged looking individual," with "all the marks of dissipation about him—blood shot eyes, inflated skin and bruised face," and over sixty years of age, who found his way into the Cumminsville pest-house," and represented himself as ex-Confederate cavalry General Wheeler, is related by the Cincinnati Enquirer. As Gen. Wheeler is under size, not tall, about thirty six and not sixty years of age, a tectotaler and there fore without "marks of dissipation," and at present in Alabama, where he resides, attending to his business, his old army friends are not likely to be startled by the sad fate of the "tall, haggard and ragged-looking" fraud who aroused the sympathies of the Enquirer's reporter.—Memphis Avalanche.

A BRIEF SKETCH.

The Present and Future of the Journal.

AN ENCOURAGING BUSINESS PROSPECT.

We are greatly encouraged at the many evidences of substantial indorsement of the present management of the STATE JOURNAL, which we are daily receiving. It is gratifying to us, indeed, to have our labors in behalf of honest and truthful journalism meet the approval of the good people of this commonwealth. It is encouraging to us to know that our efforts to build up a National Union Republican paper are appreciated by thoughtful and influential citizens of all parties. Every day we are greeted with fresh evidences of the approval and indorsement of the business and reading community. There are but few people who know the almost insurmountable difficulties we have to encounter, in conducting this journal. It requires no only constant and unceasing toil, mental and physical, and expense to issue such a paper as the STATE JOURNAL. There are hundreds of difficulties to overcome and surmount in giving to the community a daily paper like this, combining, in the news and editorial matter properly classified and presented. But, notwithstanding all this, we are abundantly encouraged not only to pursue our well surveyed path, but to redouble our exertions and attain that degree of excellence which cannot fail to receive the countenance and support of all good citizens. We are fully posted upon the work we have in hand, and our experience of a quarter of a century in Southern Journalism we hope is a guarantee that we will come fully up to our promises to make the STATE JOURNAL the paper of the people, and in every respect worthy of their confidence and support.

To the old Whigs and to the enlightened and liberal members of the Democratic party, we are placed under obligations, for the generous support which they have kindly bestowed upon us.

In order to make a newspaper felt, to make it useful, it must be a daily expounder of the current events of the day, to all classes and conditions of men. It must address itself to all. It must not be circumscribed to a particular class of the community, because in that event it can have neither influence or support. But it must seek out and permeate every class, grade and condition of people. It must become to all these a teacher in the broadest and most comprehensive sense of the term. Finally its chief aim must be to build up the community in which it is, and to promulgate a spirit of contentment and good will among all classes of men. Such a paper shall be the JOURNAL, now and hereafter.

In view of these facts, it may not be amiss to state that we are profoundly impressed with the grave responsibilities which rest upon us as the editor of this JOURNAL, and under all circumstances, whether trying or otherwise, we shall keep in constant view the good of the State and the eternal perpetuity of the Union.

We may also state in this connection, without laudation or egotism, that our well stocked and ample Job Office, which is unsurpassed in this State in its mechanical facilities, is doing a lively business, with a constant increase, and with a solid prospect of a more brilliant and prosperous future.

Lieutenant Commander Gerhard C. Schultze, of the navy, died in New York, on the twenty-eighth of September. He had lately returned form the Nicaraguan surveying expedition, where he contracted the disease of which he die

Party Dissensions Continued.

THE DISASTERS OF 1874.

Strife Inaugurated by Judge Busteed and Others.

Let us have the Truth, the Whole Truth, and Nothing but the Truth.

[TO BE CONTINUED TO-MORROW.]

When the recent election of 1874 had been known, and the fact was established beyond any peradventure, that the Republican party in Alabama had sustained an overwhelming defeat, a systematic effort was made, by Democratic enemies of the State and people, to involve the Republican party in vicious Legislation, to the end that the party might appear to occupy a position hostile to the general interests of the State. It was then that open rupture took place in the ranks of the party, between acknowledged leaders. The fears which had been aroused that the successful party would inaugurate a reign of cruelty and terror over Republicans, was increased beyond expression, by the bitter warfare which Republicans themselves had commenced upon each other, aided by Democrats. The fact is well known that effort after effort was put on foot to destroy the Republican organization which had fought the campaign of 1874; and when it was finally ascertained that the organization remained intact, notwithstanding the assaults made upon it, a still further effort was inaugurated to force the heads of the organization to abdicate in favor of other men to be selected by members of the General Assembly. In their hot haste to overthrow the party organization, these Republicans, urged on, no doubt by disappointed seekers after office, and disaffected ex-Federal officials, absolutely made war upon our Representatives in Congress. Representations, we learn, were made at the National Capital, that the mass of Republicans in Alabama were, and had been, dissatisfied with the leadership of Mr. Alexander White, Mr. Lewis E. Parsons, Senator Spencer, Representative Hays, and others who were recognized, if not as leaders, at least as advisers of the party. We only repeat history—stubborn facts—when we say that the disastrous defeat of 1874, was the direct result of divided counsels, of angry personal feuds in the party, and the indecent quarrels which began in the Selma Congressional Convention, and finally came near destroying the organization of the party in the State Convention, subsequently held in this city. Republican readers of this journal will remember that men regarded, heretofore, as leading members of the party, publicly repudiated the work of the State Convention, published letters in Democratic papers vilifying five nominees thereof, and heaping volumes of abuse upon our United States Senator and Representatives in Congress. Their conduct brought into life sundry factions, all opposed to each other, and each engaged in tearing down the organization of the party. Not only this, but we learn, that various secret caucusses were held in this city and elsewhere, the leading purposes of which was to cripple the efforts of the party leaders to carry the State for the Republican party. It may be prudent for us to remark in this connection, that we refer to these unpleasant matters of history, to keep constantly before the eyes of our Republican friends, the disastrous result of all these family dissensions. They caused thousands of Republicans to support Governor Houston, and his colleagues, on the Democratic ticket. They certainly elected Democratic representatives in Barbour, Marengo, Sumter and other large Republican counties. In view of these facts, does any patriotic citizen desire to see the unfortunate quarrels, of 1874, repeated at any future election in Alabama? These dissensions not only injured the Republican party—but they caused great injury to the State. They were heralded all over this country, for partisan purposes, it is true, but immigrants who were seeking homes among us, were shown these things by western Agents, and all manner of horrors were pictured to them as existing in Alabama. Of course immigrants do not carry their wives and children where people are quarreling and trying to destroy each other. Some of our readers will perhaps remember that a copy of a circular which western agents were at that time distributing at Castle Garden, and throughout the West, found its way down here—which represented the people of Alabama as a lot of human butchers, regardless of party. All sorts of kuklux stories were reported and misrepresentations too numerous to mention were scattered broadcast. It is thus seen that party and political dissensions always redound to the injury of those who participate in them. We ask again, does any patriotic citizen—Democrat or Republican, wish to see the strife of 1874 ever repeated in Alabama? We sincerely hope not. It, then, behooves all patriotic and sincere Republicans to yield everything of personal feelings, interests and aspirations to the general good. Let all who have the welfare of their State and party at heart, put their shoulders to the wheel and aid in pulling up the party out of the mire of defeat. Those who have resolved to go to the foot of the class and spell up, in the general pacification of the factions and disaffected, should make known their purpose to atone for all past derelictions by honest and patriotic efforts henceforth. We owe it to ourselves no less than the general good, that we should strengthen the hands of our Senator and Representative in Congress. Already the cry of repudiation has been sounded through the land. In Ohio and Pennsylvania, two of the most prosperous and important States of the Union, the Democratic party has openly declared for a currency which has in its direct logical sequence, National disgrace, individual dishonesty, and the general bankruptcy of poor and rich alike. The faith of the government pledged to its own people is rudely assailed, and these Democratic leaders demand repudiation of National pledges. Republicans, therefore in Alabama, who stand for honesty and sound currency—who believe in rewarding the laboring people of the State with sound money—who believe that the merchants of the country should be paid for their goods in honest money—all these we say, should rally under the standard of hard money, sound currency and National glory. Let all those Republicans who have failed to get office, and who are foolishly sucking their thumbs in discontent, come boldly forward and take their positions in the ranks, prepared for the great struggle of 1876, which is now taking shape throughout the Union. Let past dissensions be forever buried; let all personal differences be promptly reconciled, and let all men who believe in honesty, sound currency and the final redemption of Government pledges, rally under the Republican standard—the emblem of National honor, of universal peace and the forerunner of prosperity. Republicans, Democrats, and old Whigs of Alabama, who hate repudiation—we appeal to you, one and all, to come forward and aid in saving our land from bankruptcy, and the flood of irredeemable paper money demanded by the Democratic party.

We again repeat that if any historical errors shall occur in these articles, we trust our friends will promptly point them out, that we may correct them. In this great country of ours, mind should meet mind in bold and open contest, and honest discussions should be the order of the day, when necessary. To err is human, but to forgive is divine. Let us have the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and upon this foundation let us build our house of rock, which shall stand the waves and the beating storms of ages yet hid in the womb of undeveloped time.

THE WASHINGTON (D.C.) NATIONAL REPUBLICAN ON "SAMMYBARD"—THE ATLANTA POST OFFICE, ETC., ETC.

The following sublime, grand and lofty tumble of the National Republican is printed, verbatim, from that paper of October 5th, for the amusement of our readers. In days past the Republican has done, and is still doing, good service for the Republican party, and we hope from this time forward, it will wash its face and cease its nonsensical references to Republican papers like the JOURNAL, which are striving, from day to day, to beat the Democracy, inflation and bankruptcy, by raising the standard of Republicanism higher and higher in the estimation of the American people. We are amused and gratified at the palpable "come down" of the Republican—amused at its evident desire to drop the subject, ashamed of itself—gratified that it exhibits a sense of recollection of the services we have rendered the party of which it is a leading and influential organ. Notwithstanding our great age, we left the Atlanta post office without a stain—and its affairs in a clean condition—a fact which does not apply, in some cases, to others. In our career as a public officer, we have never caused a blemish upon our reputation. The Republican, therefore, ought not to seek to make light of these things. The standard of official honesty should not be lowered. Upright, capable and honest officials of the government should be sustained in the interest of the public service, and not assailed and vilified by those who profess to have the public interest at heart; and especially such as claim to represent the pure and spotless administration of President Grant.

We have no unkind nor unfriendly feelings towards the National Republican, its proprietor or its editorial staff. We have simply administered a timely chastisement to it for its thoughtless, and may be, unintentional insolence. Those whom we love we chastise. We are glad to observe that the castigation has produced a healthy and wholesome effect, as the following article will show. Having thus administered a good tempered rebuke to it, we still propose to stand with it in the promulgation of great National Republican principles. Let us have unity—let us have peace. Here is the article! —read it:

Sammybard, "which" was postmaster at Atlanta, and "which" is at present writing a few leaded articles for the Alabama STATE JOURNAL, has awakened from a lethargic sleep superinduced by his drowsy secesh ideas during the war, and announces the startling fact that if the National Republican can afford to stick a sharp stick in his back he will not be slow to strike back "with a vigor and point which should characterize papers entertaining a proper self respect." The old gentleman is now crawling rapidly down the shady side of life, and we kindly beg leave to advise him to turn his thoughts away from the vulgar things of the world and fasten them on the beautiful things of the future. Why the idea, Samuel, of striking back! It would look so ridiculous, you know, and, besides, it would be so vain and fruitless. No, you had better be serious and think of serious things, for we have much respect for venerable political scare-crows like yourself, but we would rather not have them continually shaking their old bones at us, whose rattle has the ring of a second political childhood.

THE CHICAGO INTER-OCEAN.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean has made, and is still making, ungracious attacks upon the Hon. B. H. Bristow, the able and popular Secretary of the National Treasury, because of the removal of Charles H. Ham, late an Appraiser of Merchandise in the Chicago Custom House. It is our judgement that Gen. Bristow will survive these assaults; and hereafter when the Inter-Ocean is forgotten, the impress of this distinguished statesman will be recognized and felt from one end of the country to the other.

The Inter-Ocean, we deeply regret to say, is one of the recognized organs of the inflation programme put in operation by the Democratic party, and is contributing its influence to the bankruptcy of the Nation, and the repudiation of the pledges of the Government to the people. The Inter-Ocean ought to know that in inflation National dishonor and general ruin are involved, and that, therefore, no sincere Republican Journal ought to touch, taste or handle the unclean thing.

The gentle fondling of Bill Allen's rag baby, by the Inter-Ocean, not only deceives Republicans, but tends to divide and disrupt the party. Between its abuse of Secretary Bristow, and its laudation of this ghastly image of repudiation, the Inter-Ocean is surely dragging the good name of the government down into the abyss of ruin and shame. All good men will regret that a paper of the ability of the Inter-Ocean, and in a position to do the country great service, should give itself up to the inflation factionists, thereby surely carrying its party towards the wreck which awaits dishonesty and repudiation. We have no personal animosity towards the Inter-Ocean. It occasionally descends into abuse and vituperation of Republicans who do not indorse its inflation vagaries. It does not seem capable of rising to that high and dignified elevation where honest differences of opinion do not call for low abuse and personalities. We shall endeavor to call it from the error of its ways, and prevent it from going down into everlasting night with old Bill Allen and Sam Carey and their "rag baby." Just so sure as that the sun shines will that infamous inflation repudiation business meet the condemnation of the American people. "No resurrection" will be clearly and unmistakably written upon the tombstone of "inflation." We do hope the Inter-Ocean may be saved from the gulf of ruin which awaits dishonesty and repudiation, in the new future.

GENERAL GRANT.

The Montgomery JOURNAL (now Bard's paper), denying a report that it had declared in favor of Washburne for the Presidency, adds: "We know of his positive aversion to a third term; but, as the voice of the people is the voice of God, President Grant will be forced to accede to the popular will and allow the use of his name as the means of saving the country from bankruptcy, repudiation and ruin."—Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer.

SHALL WE RATIFY?

We suggest that all of those who are not satisfied with the new Constitution submitted by the recent Convention, hold a meeting at Montgomery at an early day, to determine what course they will take in reference to the ratification. It would be well to hold meetings in the different counties, so that the opinions of the people could be gathered, and the meeting at Montgomery should be a representative one.—Selma Republican, Oct. 6th.

NEW YORK.

JEROME PARK, October 7.—The races on programme for to-day have been postponed until to-morrow on account of stormy weather.

NEW YORK, October 7.—Stormy weather of yesterday visited this vicinity. Heavy rain prevailed at 8 o'clock and still continues, with some moderation.

A special from Philladelphia says Moody and Sankey, A. T. Stewart, and John Walamaker held a consultation yesterday and it was decided that ministers, laymen and revivalists would first visit Philadelphia. Laymen have expressed a unanimous desire, and the ministers will decide at a meeting to-day. The visit will be about the first of November. Negotiations are pending for a building to accommodate nine thousand persons.

Regarding the Tweed case, in which the Supreme Court yesterday decided against reduction of bond, and furnishing of bill of particulars, Wheeler H. Peckham, of prosecution counsel, considers no appeal can be taken from either decision immediately. Steps have been taken bringing Tweed to trial probably during the term of November. Tweed's counsel believe they can appeal from decision respecting bail but not on bill of particulars. The defence will probably make an effort to have the decision on the question of bail reversed.

An article in the Evening Post to-day, says: The money market has began to harden, not from stock exchange manipulations, but because of legitimate trade reasons. It will be surprising if when coupons fairly begin to move our money market does not advance very considerably. Speculation of every kind is dormant, and capitalists have not that full confidence in the future, which induces them to go in other enterprises of any kind. There is therefore an abundance of money.

Mr. Cohen, manager of the National Telegraph Company, lately organized in San Francisco, has arrived here on business connected with affairs of the Company.

The liabilities of John Gerham, of the Gerham, Delaware. Manufacturing Company, who failed to-day, are estimated at six hundred thousand dollars. The cause is said to be speculation. The Gerham company is not affected by the failure.

A prize fight for $500 between Jack Tierny and Steve Mallory, took place to-day near Port Morris. Tierny won in twenty-eight rounds. Both men were terribly punished.

The Rapid Transit route has been decided upon. The next step will be to organize a company and secure capital to build the road. The commissioners have thirty days in which to open books and organize. They propose to fix the capital at two millions dollars, and some definite steps will be taken during the next week.

TENNESEE.

MEMPHIS, October 7.—Dispatches from Friar's Point, Missisippi, claim that the trouble there is a small affair, and the story is simply struggles between rivals of Republican parties and supporters respectively of Ames and Alcorn to control the county of Coahoma in the coming election. The negroes lack organization and leadership, and it is not believed that there will be any serious outbreak. The enmity existing between Ames and Alcorn is reported as very bitter.

Special from Friar's Point says General Chalmore continued pursuit of the negroes on Tuesday to Schafville. Frank Scott, white, was fatally wounded by the negroes. On Tuesday a squad of cavalry, under Captain Burke, charged on the negroes, killing three, wounding one, and capturing three. Fighting is reported on Major Alcorn's place, twelve miles from the Point. A cavalry corps will be held at Johnston's.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, October 7.—For the Gulf States rising barometer, northwest to northeast winds, cooler, clear or partly cloudy weather.

In the court of commissioners of Alabama claims the following business was transacted to day: In case 346, Julius Hoon, of New Orleans, judgment for $1,053.03 with interest. Case 506, James Shavarty, judgment for $587.03. Case 250, Abraham Redleck, judgment for $14,603.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, October 7.—The captain of the bark H. C. Merryman, of Boston, from Calcutta, April 24th, a few days ago fell in with a vessel showing signals of distress, which proved to be the Stophia, of Chattengong, British India, and all the crew were transferred to the Merryman. The crew of the Stophia were all foreigners, and the captain of the Merryman could not sufficiently understand them. He found that the vessel belonged to Ceylon. They were transferred to a vessel a few days after, and started back. The Stophia was abandoned.

VIRGINIA.

LYNCHBURG, October 7.—About three o'clock this morning, a negro named Mitchell was arrested for attempting to set fire to a frame building adjoining Ford & Winfree's factory. He was tried at the mayor's court and sent over to the grand jury by the officers from Huntingdon, West Virginia, with one of the bank robbers that was captured at Knoxville, Tenn. They passed through this city this morning. The thief had $4500 in his possession, with which he tried to bribe the officers to release him.

COLORADO.

DENVER, October 7.—A dispatch from Pueblo, Colorado, says President Grant and party arrived yesterday and were cordially received by the city authorities. He is suffering from cold.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, October 7.—A San Antonia special says: Information has been received at Headquarters that the Indians are depredating in the vicinity of Fort Griffin. Zoo Ochoa, Governor of Chihuisua, has notified General Ord that Col. Trazos in command of the Mexican troops will co-operate cheerfully with the U. S. troops on either side of the Rio Grande in exterminating hostile Indians. Gen. Ord has instructed post commanders to co-operate with troops from Mexico just the same as if they were our own troops.

CONNECTICUT.

HARTFORD, October 7.—Prof. Thos. Reyder, pastor of Stoney street church, Nottingham, England, was found dead in his bed at Prof. Stowe's, at 5 o'clock this morning. He complained of heart disease before retiring. The funeral takes place Saturday.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURGH, October 7.—Judge Eaing in the common please court to-day issued injunctions restraining McKee Rankin from producing the play of the Two Orphans in this city. Parties to the case have been fighting over the matter all the week. Rankin producing the play two out of three nights. Judge Eaing decided that under common law, originators who brought suit had exclusive proprietorship.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, October 7.—A a dispatch received here this morning from Constantinople, says that the Turkish government has announced its inability to redeem the government bonds, but offers to compromise by the payment of half in cash and half in new five per cent bonds.

The Times publishes the following: "War has commenced at Cape Palmer between Liberia and Abaereges, under command of educated negroes. There was some fighting on September 17th, in which 500 were killed and wounded. The Leberian government has despatched troops to the scene of action, and a great battle is expected."

HALIFAX, October 7.—The late gale was severely felt on the Newfoundland coast, and some fishing boats were lost. The coasting steamer Oriel wrecked at Lunshead Bay. The crew were saved. Fishing on the Newfoundland shore and Labrador for the present year will not amount to half the catch of last year, and a famine is feared in some fishing settlements during the coming winter.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, AND COLDS.—The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and thus it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, ETC.

These Pills are alternative, and produce a healthy action of the liver, without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, creates a healthy bile, and removes all diseases of the liver, often a cause of consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consumption, if taken in time, and he use of the medicines perscribed in. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his office, corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

HOW POE REALLY WROTE "THE RAVEN."

In a discussion of the mental condition of Edgar A. Poe, in Scribner for October, under the title of "A Mad Man of Letters," Mr. F. G. Fairchild gives the following conflicting account of the composition of "The Raven."

Another fact that seems to witness to his epileptic condition is constituted by the habitual lying that marked the last and best known part of his career. One instance must illustrate the many. I shall take it for granted that the general reader is familiar with that remarkable analytical paper in which he describes the composition of "The Raven," and the plan upon which it was constructed. American literature contains nothing cleverer in its way, and its cleverness is manifoldly enhanced when it is understood that it is simply and unequivocally fiction, as the actual circumstances under which the poem was written conclusively show.

Poe then occupied a cottage at Fordham—a kind of poet's nook, just out of hearing of the busy hum of the city. He had walked all the way from New York that afternoon, and, having taken a cup of tea, went out in the evening and wandered about for an hour or more. His beloved Virginia was sick almost unto death; he was without money to procure the necessary medicines. He was out until about 10 o'clock. When he went in he sat down at his writing table and dashed off "The Raven." He submitted it to Mrs. Clemm for her consideration the same night, and it was printed substantially as it was written.

This account of the origin of the poem was communicated to me in the fall of 1865 by a gentleman who professed to be indebted to Mrs. Clemm for the facts as he stated them; and in the course of a summer in the South, the summer of 1867, I took occasion to verify his story by an interview with that aged lady. Let me now drop Mrs. Clemm's version for a paragraph to consider another, resting upon the testimony of Colonel du Solle, who was intimate with Poe at this period, and concurred in by other literary contemporaries who used to meet him of a midday for a budget of gossip and a glass of ale at Sandy Welch's cellar in Ann street.

Du Solle says that the poem was produced stanza by stanza at small intervals, and submitted by Poe piecemeal to the criticism and emendation of his intimates, who suggested various alterations and substitutions. Poe adopted many of them. Du Solle quotes particular instances of phrase that were incorporated at his suggestion, and thus "The Raven" was a kind of joint-stock affair, in which many minds held small shares of intellectual capital. At length, when the last stone had been placed in position and passed upon, the structure was voted complete.

The reconciliation of these conflicting versions lies propably in the hypothesis that he wrote the poem substantially, as stated by Mrs. Clemm, and afterward, with the shrewd idea of stimulating expectation a little, or by way of subtle and delicate flattery, submitted it to his friends stanza by stanza, adopting such emendations and substitutions of phrase as tickled his ear or suited his fancy. Such alterations would scarcely affect the general tenor of the text as Mrs. Clemm first heard it, and considering the length of the poem appear to have been very few and of small importance, granting all that Col. du Solle claims. Besides, it was like him to amuse himself in this way, hoaxing his friends and then laughing in his sleeve at them.

CARD FROM HON. E. R MITCHELL.

MONTGOMERY, Oct. 6, 1875.

Editor Alabama State Journal: I was elected by the people of Montgomery county at the last general election, as one of the Representatives in the popular branch of the Legislature—I was elected as a Republican -am still a Republican—I voted with my party generally and always in favor of such measures as in my judgment were best suited to the wants of Montgomery county and the State of Alabama. I voted "No" upon every proposition which favored the call of a Constitutional Convention because I thought that the changes that were needed could be made by amendments—that the election for Convention would be a useless expense to the people, upon the idea I had of the character of the Constitution which would be adopted by the Convention—regarding it a fixed fact that the Democracy would have control of the Convention. From the feverish excitement of the hour, it was thought by our party generally, that the Democracy, flush with the pride of victory in the last fall elections would adopt a fundamental law at variance with the spirit of the times, and restrictive as to the rights of the colored people of the State, and do many other things as original secessionists, repulsive to the peace, quiet and good order of the body politic, which would be repudiated by the people at the polls.

In this I have been agreeably disappointed, while there are some minor articles of the new Constitution proposed to be ratified by the people which I may not fully agree with—I can find no objection to its main features. Its political complection agrees fully with my own long established views, and taken as a whole, I consider it not only a great improvement upon the old one, but admirably adapted to the wants and necessities of the State.

The Convention being composed almost entirely of Democrats, the proposed Constitution is emphatically their work, and as such satisfies me that there is no distinctive difference in the political principles and aims of the two great political parties of this State, and that the main difference exists in the personnel of the parties.

Under all the existing circumstances—my voting "No" in the Legislature against calling a Convention—I feel it a duty incumbent upon me to state frankly that while politics has never been my vocation, having all my life been devoted to business, I shall in my future short political career be controlled alone by considerations of the public wants, regardless of party.

Very Respectfully,
E. R. MITCHELL.

THE VOTE IN OHIO.

We give the vote of Ohio at the Presidential elections of 1864 and 1868, and at other elections since then. The highest vote polled in the State was in 1872, which was 98,000 greater than in 1872, when Allen was elected by 871 majority. Of this 98,000, about 30,000 were Democrats and 68,000 were Republicans:

Year.		Rep.	Dem.	Whole vote.
1864,	President,	264,918	205,956	470,874
1867,	Governor,	243,605	240,622	484,227
1868,	President,	280,232	239,652	519,254
1869,	Governor,	236,082	228,581	464,663
1871,	Governor,	238,273	218,104	456,378
1872,	Sec. State,	265,930	251,780	517,710
1872,	President,	281,852	244,321	526,173
1873,	Governor,	213,837	214,654	428,491
1874,	Sec. state,	221,204	258,406	479,610

It is probable that this year the vote will be a full one, in which case it ought to reach 540,000, requiring the victorious party to have over 270,000 votes. A light vote will be disastrous to the Republican ticket, as the full Democratic vote will be polled, but we look for a full Republican vote.

THE AUTUMN RACES.

The meeting at Jerome Park yesterday was an interesting event. The races were unusually fine, and there was a promptitude about the starting which we have not observed at former meetings, and which added largly to the interest of the sport. The accident which befel Calvin was a melancholy event and threw a gloom over the gathering, every one of whom seemed to feel a personal interest in the misfortunes of this noble beast. Accidents will happen; but we are glad to think that in this case it was not the result of mischief or malignity. The weather was beyond criticism. It was everything October could be. This is saying a great deal, for in our Northern climate October is rich with sunshine, fresh breezes and clear, life-giving air.

The interest shown in the races yesterday bids fair to continue throughout the whole meeting. The best stables in the country were represented, and the leaders of our turf rejoiced in the opportunity of showing what they had done in bringing the horse to perfection. In reference to the suggestion by our reporter, that it might be well to make these races more popular by limiting admission fees to the stands and the quarter stretch, we have only to say that, practically, the race course at Jerome Park is open to the public, for, as was seen yesterday, there were as many people out side of the gates looking on from the hills and the points of observation beyond the park grounds as there were within. At the same time anything that makes horse racing popular by enabling the people to take part in these annual meetings will be of advantage to the turf and to the people. The value of racing is not simply in these trials of skill, but in the results which come from the education of the horse. When we see the ability, devoted to this pursuit, when we observe the affectionate interest which racing men feel in their noble chargers, we can well understand how the popularity of the turf must result in the improvement of the horse.

The fear that the turf would sink into a mere gambling concern is not justified by any experience in England or America. Of course venturesome people will gamble on horses as they do upon stocks or church pews or in railways. The gambling spirit would find occupation if there were not a horse or racing track in America. There would be just as much justice in recomending the abolition of horse racing because pools are bought and sold as there would be in recommending the abolition of the Central Railroad because jobbers in Wall street buy "puts" and "calls" on its stock. The real value of the turf is in the popularity it gives to horsemanship and the interest it excites in the development of the horse. For this reason we congratulate the people upon the opening at Jerome Park yesterday, as showing that we have a hearty, manly interest in this Anglo-Saxon sport.—N. Y. Herald, Oct. 3d.

On Saturday last the Bank of California closed one hour later than usual. The deposits exceeded the checks $250,000, and the bank was congratulated on all sides. The syndicate agreement, by which $7,920,000 was subscribed to liquidate indebtedness and liabilities in the continuance of business, was published, was numerously signed.

GRAY HAIRS.

It cannot be! Hold up the light—
Closer, the other way!
Yes, child, your laughing guess was right—
My hair is turning gray.
Ah! those tresses long my pride,
Among their brown so wisely hide
A tiny coil of silvery sheen,
Like threads of frosted gossamer between.
Thus, when youth and childhood seem
Scarce to have passed away,
Time's finger prints on care's dream
And mocks one's heart is gray.

I know the new looms in my heart
Are weaving as it used to start
In days so long gone by.
I know I talk, I love, I hate,
As keenly as of yore;
I laugh as much, I feel as late—
I sleep as sound, I snore.
I delight in food at the door,
I hug close as ever fall,
I have been seen more than ever bull,
And I am still seen every day.
Why their current it stirs a lull—
My hair is turning gray.

Yet some comfort, darling—say
Is there for us at last?
Some promise it will not stay
Long ere my hair was gray.
Will it come—the silver sign—
Ere in the chest
Of drawers so spicily mine
A soft robe shall be pressed?
Ah, well! there falls no silver rift
Their mass or dark between;
So suddenly the topmost lifts
A veil of rich sheen.
Or, as when clouds break the clouds
And the heaven's glory through
In their dearness reveals
Its own blue.
If I cannot tell part of light
Which marks my upward way,
And so gives promise this light
My hair is turning gray.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL
LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,
PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.
Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock in terests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly on fine, tinted paper, each number containing from 96 to 40 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over fifteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the various breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.
The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, as well as the Dairy, and no pains are spared to make it practical and complete in every department.
Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, in the keeping of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted ex clusively to the interest and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."
TERMS—Single copies, one year, postage paid, $2.15; Clubs of five, postage paid, $9.00; Clubs of ten, with an extra, free copy to person making up club, $17.00; 25 cents extra for Canada.

TENTH ACADEMIC YEAR
The school is in one of the richest and most charming agricultural countries in America, in the heart of the famous blue grass country of Sumner county, Tenn., a lovely valley lying between a range of the Cumberland mountains and the Cumberland river, in a beautiful little city of vines and flowers, containing 3,500 inhabitants, distinguished for intelligence and refinement, hospitality and generosity. This place was selected after canvassing the advantages and inducements offered at all the most noted points in the country.
Sixteen members of the faculty, a number of whom have the highest national reputation, both as teachers and authors, and will be increased to twenty-five the next academic year.
THE FIVE SCHOOLS OF THE COLLEGE COURSE.

Students can attend Baptist, Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian or Catholic churches. Students received at any degree of advancement at any time.
SEVEN STERN FACTS.
1. It is the cheapest college of like grade in the world.
2. In four specialties it challenges competition.
3. No institution or less elevated or more progressive.
4. It exemplifies that an institution may be very good and very cheap, though contrary to the dogma of some.
5. It educates males and females, which is natural and right—now so decided by experts, but long ago by common sense.
6. No expense will be spared to secure teachers of the first talent in Europe and America.
7. It is truly a national institute, and the youths of all sections are solicited to come and form friendships that will so greatly tend to make us in truth a united people, and perpetuate our liberties.
The Home College for the North and South. Sectional prejudices must be destroyed, or true national patriotism will cease to exist. There is no way so effective as the bringing together the noble youths from all sections, and having at heart the making them devoted friends in college days.
Patriots and philanthropists everywhere are requested to consider and encourage enterprise.
Twenty $1,000 scholarships and one thousand $100 scholarships to be disposed of.
100,000 copies of the next Illustrated Annual Catalogue, containing ninety-six pages each, will be issued, thirty-six pages of which are offered to the public as an advertising medium.

NO. 1—SCHOLARSHIPS, MALE AND FEMALE.
Wishing to extend to a great number of students the privilege of attending Neophogen College and enable those in limited circumstances to acquire an education, the managers of Neophogen College have determined to sell one thousand scholarships in this college at the sum of $100 each, and that when one thousand are sold, each purchaser shall forever thereafter have the right to send a student to this college free of all tuition fees. All who wish to avail themselves of this arrangement or aid in the cause are requested to transmit to J. M. Walton, Gallatin, Tenn., a bond for scholarships as follows:
For and in consideration of one Scholarship at Neophogen College, which guarantees to the purchaser forever the reafter the right to send one student to Neophogen College free of all tuition fees, the undersigned promises and binds himself, his heirs, his executors and administrators, to pay to the Treasurer of said College one hundred dollars, to be paid so soon as one thousand Scholarships have been sold, and the undersigned has been notified of same, and the same to bear interest from time notice being given until paid, at six per cent. The right of said Scholarship vests when the one hundred dollars are paid and lasts forever. I hereby bind myself, my heirs, etc., to fulfill this obligation.
As witness my hand and seal this ——— day of ———: [L. S.] ——— Attest: ———
Upon receiving the preceding bond, which will be deposited in one of the National Banks of Gallatin, a receipt will be returned to the purchaser. The right to the Scholarships are transferable, so that any one holding the same may confer on one to college free of tuition fees. In this way a collegiate education is forever secured to the holder of the scholarship, his descendants or assigns.
NO. 2—FEMALE SCHOLARSHIPS.
$1,000—To Parents and Philanthropists: Ten female students will be received into the family of the President of Neophogen College, clothed like his children, boarded, clothed, books and stationery furnished, and graduated in a regular collegiate course, for $1,000 each, payable in advance by the first of September, 1875. They must not be under twelve years of age, and able to read and write. The object of this announcement in presenting this is to give the President an opportunity to train remarkable characters to the honor of the college, and to enable him to verify his views in regarding the development of youth of medium organization, when full control is given and implicit confidence reposed.
NO. 3—MALE SCHOLARSHIPS, $1,000.
Board and tuition perpetual to one student for $1,000, payable in advance. The holder of a scholarship can introduce one student after another, from time to time, free of charge for board and tuition. There are only twenty of these scholarships for sale.

THE Mayor's Court yesterday was almost a failure.

THEATER opens to-night. Duprez & Benedict's minstrels.

SEE letter from Hon. E. R. Mitchell, on the second page.

YOM KIPPUR—or "atonement day," begins at sunset this evening.

IT IS said that the State Treasury is empty. It ought to be full.

THE business tide has at length turned, and "Hope smiles reviving round."

OF all seasons of the year this is best to take a contemplative look at the country.

THE city court commences the fall term Monday next. Hon. John A. Minnis, presiding.

THE cotton market has been steady for several days, with low middling ruling at 12 to 12½ cents.

MR. PAT ROBINSON has a notice in this morning's JOURNAL, to which particular attention is called.

UNLESS the breaks in our streets are repaired somebody will be hurt walking about these dark nights. Then will come a suit for damages—and more attorney's fees.

"Then came October full of merry glee;
For yet his noule was totty of the must,
Which he was treading in the wine fat's See,
And of the joyous Ogle, whose gentle gust
Made him so frolic and so full of lust."

PERSONAL.—Col. Long, the able and accomplished Special Agent of the Post Office Department for the Money Order Bureau, is expected in the city this morning.

HON. JOHN BRUCE, Judge of the United States District Court, was in the city yesterday, on his way to Huntsville, where he will hold a term of the U. S. Court, commencing on Monday.

THE sweet potato crop is unprecedented—so the farmers say. There has been more of this delightful food raised this year in this section than since the war. We are gradually getting down to "hard pan."

THE oyster trade is said to be larger than ever before known in this city—notwithstanding the complaints of no money. There is plenty of money here—if there was only enterprise enough to put it in motion.

THERE is an evident coolness felt for the proposed cotton factory. Why this is true, it is hard to tell, but it is presumed by some that our capitalists do not care to embark in public enterprises until the inflation question is settled.

READ the notice of Paul Sanguinetti in another column. He is well known to our people and has a business experience of many years. He deserves encouragement, and we know he will receive it. Call and see him, at No. 23 Market street.

ATONEMENT.—This is the day of Atonement of our Jewish citizens. The observance commences at sunset this evening and continues until to-morrow evening at the same hour. To-morrow all the business houses of Israelites will be closed in order that they may properly observe this occasion.

COTTON wagons were numerous on Court Square yesterday. Some business houses were exceedingly fortunate in making sales. The merchant who has money to buy cotton generally sells all the goods that he can put up. Nearly everybody speculates in cotton, however, and it is on this account, we presume, that the merchants were forced to enter the field.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of a visit, yesterday morning, from Major P. G. Clarke, the efficient postmaster of Eufaula. Major Clarke has just returned from a visit to Salisbury, N. C., where he had been to meet his wife, who was on her return home from a trip to the North. Maj. Clarke will visit Huntsville on some private business, and will return to his post at Eufaula in about a week.

THE THEATER.

Duprez's & Benedict's Minstrels To-night.

The famous minstrel troupe of Duprez & Benedict will appear at our theater to-night. It is one of the best troupes now in this country, and as they open our season of amusements, we trust they will be greeted with a crowded house that those to follow may be encouraged. This troupe performed in Chattanooga on Wednesday night, and one of our exchanges from that city says of them:

Duprez & Renedict's Minstrels had a much better house last night than was to have been expected, in view of the presence here of a celebrated circus. Duprez's name is a host, however, and his careful, generous management so well known that it is a hard matter to keep people from going to see him. He has this year a good company, full of fun and novelty. The brass band makes music that is not often equalled; the quartette is good; the dancers and comedians of the company amusing to the point of endangering one's buttons. The programme was well arranged, varied and laughter-provoking. We commend the company to all show-goers who want a most pleasant evening's amusement.

STREET RAILROAD.—There seems to be an impression among our citizens that the street railroad will be revived when the General Assembly convenes, in December. We have made efforts to ascertain if there is any probability of the road being put in operation again, but thus far we have been unable to find out anything definite on the subject. We trust that the owners of the road will revive it, as it would be certain to succeed, if the fare is fixed at five cents. It is impossible to force our people. They will not submit to monopolies or impositions of any kind. If the road is again put in operation, and the fare fixed at five cents, we believe that the road would be a success.

OUR GREAT CROP.

Estimate of the Number of Bales of Cotton, for 1875.

Some time since a prominent Montgomery cotton buyer predicted that the crop this year would reach over 4,500,000 bales. Whether this estimate will be realized or not, it is a fact which cannot be disputed that the crop will be much larger than the general estimate which has been made. The Chattanooga Commercial, of Wednesday, referring to this matter, says:

The shrewdest cotton men of Georgia and Alabama estimate the crop of this year at not less than 4,000,000 bales, with a probability that it will reach 4,250,000 bales. The price, they think, will soon fall to eleven cents for middlings, and that there will be no wide fluctuation from that figure during the season. The years of steady prices and full crops are the safe years to handle cotton. What are those gentlemen now doing who talked some time ago of establishing a cotton market here. This is not only a good year to begin such an enterprise, and this a good point at which to begin, but this is the natural market for a large scope of Alabama and Georgia cotton territory, the citizens of which are forced to sell elsewhere, because there are no buyers here. Start the matter again, gentlemen.

While we are upon this subject, we desire to call the attention of those who are interested in buying cotton, to the great need of systematic co-operation, to the end that our farmers may get all that is possible for their cotton. Whenever the effort is made we hope the business men of this city will inaugurate a Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce.

AH! well, Mrs. Jenkins, them as lives longest sees most; but as I often says to my old man—says I, a kind word's an easy obligation, and goes a good deal further than a hob-nailed boot or a quart pot, says I.

To a small boy, telegraph wires appear to have no other purpose or use than that of tangling kite tails.

NEWS AND MUSIC DEPOT.

Paul Sanguinetti, at No. 23 Market street, has opened a news and music depot, where he will keep all the literary and news papers and the latest sheet music. He will also keep a large stock of stationery and fancy articles. A good stock of the finest brands of tobacco and cigars will always be on sale at the very lowest prices.

Why will you sell cotton at present low rates (under the cost of production) when Gilmer & Donaldson offer you almost its value and hold it a reasonable length of time, at less rates of storage and less rates of interest than any other house, which they assure us. He calls especial attention to his five cent cigar, made of Havana tobacco, and which he warrants to be superior to any other cigar sold in this market for anything near the price. His stock has been purchased of first hands, and he is determined not to be undersold in the market. Remember the place, on Court street.

JOE ROBINSON, the original Oyster and Fish dealer, will keep constantly on hand the finest and freshest Fish and Oysters in the market. Remember the place is the ice house of D. P. West. tt. & s.

A NEW ESTABLISHMENT—CITY HALL SALOON.—Phillip Preiss has opened a first class saloon in the new city building. He will keep none but the very choicest wines, liquors and cigars. Bleeding from Lungs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption.—A Wonderful Cure.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13, 1874.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I had suffered from Catarrh in an aggravated form for about twelve years, and for several years from Bronchial trouble. Tried many doctors and things with no lasting benefit. In May, '72, becoming nearly worn out with excessive Editorial labors on a paper in New York city, I was attacked with Bronchitis in a severe form, suffering almost a total loss of voice. I returned home here, but had been home only two weeks when I was completely prostrated with Hemorrhage from the Lungs, having four severe bleeding spells within two weeks, and first three inside of nine days. In the September following, I improved sufficiently to be able to be about, though in a very feeble state. My Bronchial trouble remained and the Catarrh was tenfold worse than before. Every effort for relief seemed fruitless. I seemed to be losing ground daily. I continued in this feeble state, raising blood almost daily until about the first of March, '73, when I became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I was extremely skeptical that they would do me good, as I had lost all heart in remedies, and began to look upon medicines and doctors with disgust. However, I obtained one of your circulars, and read it carefully, from which I came to the conclusion that you understood your business, at least. I finally obtained a quantity of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets, and commenced their vigorous use according to directions. To my surprise I soon began to improve. The Discovery and Pellets, in a short time, brought out a severe eruption, which continued for several weeks. I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three months every vestige of the Catarrh was gone, the Bronchitis had nearly disappeared, had no Cough whatever, and I had entirely ceased to raise blood; and, contrary to the expectations of many of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had suffered so much and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for this blessing I have received from your hands knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medicines will master the worst forms of that odious disease Catarrh, as well as Throat and Lung Diseases. I have recommended them to very many and shall ever speak in their praise. Gratefully yours,

WM. H. SPENCER.

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, if left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWBERG, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTHROP: Will you favor me the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium, I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of nervous weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm. Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1875.

HON. JOHN A. LOGAN.

Senator Logan has been traveling in Colorado recently, for the purpose of recuperating his health. He has just reached his home in Chicago greatly improved—a fact which should be cause of National gratification. General Logan will return to Washington, we trust, in robust health, to encounter the arduous and laborious duties which surround a Senator from a State so full of interest as the one which he, in part, so faithfully, constantly and ably represents. He is personally popular with all classes, and is a shrewd, sagacious, wise and enlightened Statesman, as he was a brave, generous and noble soldier. With such patriots in the service of the government, the people can rest assured that their interests will be well guarded. General Logan is an honored type of the representative men of this boasted land of the free and home of the brave. Long live the Union—long live Logan!

PRESIDENT GRANT NOT TICKLED IN THAT WAY.

His Treatment of Gen Lee.

We have a class of Republican papers in the South, unfortunately, which imagine that it is their special mission to please the President by the vile and brutal abuse of every gentleman who differs with him upon matters of public import. Now, if the editors of these papers really imagine that they are tickling the taste of the President, they are most egregriously mistaken, for he is a man of wonderful common sense, modesty, sagacity and far-sightedness; and reads these designs with silent distrust and solid contempt. To a man of Gen. Grant's peculiar temperament, such sickening toadyism is absolutely nauseating and superlatively disgusting.

The President is a person who allows every man to think and act for himself. Like the late great Dr Fiske, he is in the highest and most exalted sense of the term, an American citizen. We will say farther that the President entertains and exhibits a high respect for ex-Confederate soldiers who have kept their paroles inviolate, and has, on numerous occasions, shown his personal respect for men who fought him hardest and longest, on the battle field, by appointing them to places of high trust and responsibility in the service of the Government. His noble treatment of Gen. Lee, when Andrew Johnson would have hung him, should make him loved and honored by every South'n soldier and citizen.

We trust this gentle hint to unadvised Republican editors may have the effect of making them modify their style of abuse of public men, who may think differently from the President on great questions of theoretical and practical statesmanship. We look upon the President as one of the most able and practical of living statesmen. This is simply our opinion, and Colonel Grant neither thinks the more or less of us for so thinking, if we thought differently, the President would neither ostracise nor abuse us, nor would he thank anybody else to undertake a task so unkind, illiberal and degrading.

THIS NONSENSE TO BE STOPPED.

Southern Republicans As True to the Flag and the Union, as Northern Republicans.

Some Northern, Western and Eastern editors have a very unpleasant way when referring to Southern Republicans, who served in the Confederate army until the end of the war, and afterwards became law-abiding and loyal citizens, of twitting them with rebellism. Recently this style of offensive treatment of Southern Republicans, has been indulged to an extent that is simply disgusting to all decent people. There are no rebels now. And unless these Northern editors cease their pompous and tyrannical airs towards Southern Republicans, the Republican party will pay the penalty in 1876, with a depreciated vote.

To be candid, such miserable nonsense has got to cease. We, as a Southern Republican, are as loyal and law-abiding as any Republican living north of Mason's and Dixon's line. We love the flag and the Union as well as they do, and would fight for it as long and as vigorous as they would dare to do. And for one, we don't intend to be taunted in this manner any longer—as their allegations have not the slightest shadow of a foundation in truth.

Southern Republicans have enough to contend with at home, without having a blatant he waved in their faces every day from the North.

Finally and forever, we wish it distinctly, positively and unequivocally understood, that the Southern Republicans have accepted the situation without any mental reservation whatever, and the flag of the Union is as much ours as it is theirs, and we intend to stand by it as long and as faithfully as those who have been born and bred in the mountains of New Hampshire or Maine, and who have never lived under the rays of a Southern sun.

The Democratic gentlemen would have us believe that the business of the country is in a condition of terrible prostration. And yet we notice that the revenue receipts for the month of September just past, exceed by one and a quarter million those for the same month in the year previous.

The Unwise Administration of Gov. Lindsay.

The Republican Convention of 1874.

All Good Men Invited to Rally Under the Republican Banner.

There are Republicans in Alabama who have steadily refused to ally themselves with any of the factions which have divided and distracted the party. They have regarded with alarm and indignation the evident purposes of some of the prominent men of the party, to allow their personal prejudices to overcloud their party patriotism. It was because of these personal feuds, these individual antagonisms that the disasters of 1874 are attributable. In the light of past adversities, Republicans now see that it will never pay to place the personal fortunes of members of the party in the scales against party unity and success. It was the misfortune of the party and of the State, that the canvass of 1874 was fought amidst divided counsels in the Republican ranks, and the triumph of the Democratic party was to have been expected. Indeed, there were those who claimed to embrace the principles of Republicanism, who distinctly declared, and the declarations of which are matters of history, that they would not contribute any of their time or funds to Republican success, but on the contrary, would render such aid as laid within their power, to the triumph of Governor Houston, and the consequent defeat of the Republican State ticket. The reasons assigned by these gentlemen for their refusal to support the Republican ticket, was that the State convention of the party, held in the city of Montgomery, was controlled, and all its actions directed by Senator Spencer, Representatives White, Hays and other Federal officials. It was claimed that the records of these distinguished members of the party, in Congress and elsewhere, were not only distasteful to the majority of Republican citizens in Alabama, but their course on the civil rights and force bills—so-called—was in defiance of the acknowledged public sentiment of the State, contrary to Republican principles, and fraught with great evil to Republican and Democratic citizens alike—in that it tended to arouse personal animosities, political prejudices and civil strife. Thus it is seen that the Republican party entered upon the campaign of 1874, divided against itself, its leaders embittered against each other, and the rank and file of the party torn and distracted by individual aspirations and ambitious bickerings amongst those to whom the party had a right to look for advice and discreet counsel. The success of the party in view of these facts was simply impossible. The experience of mankind furnishes no instance of the success of any party divided against itself, when confronted by opponents compact, well organized and led by those who are united upon every detail and issue. United we stand, divided we fall, is an adage which all human experience has sustained in the affairs of men.

With so many elements of discord in the party it is no wonder that it was defeated. The only wonder is that the majority of Governor Houston was not much larger than it proved to be. Seeing the result of all the bickerings and dissentions in the party, and the absolute demand henceforth for unity of action, we have laid before our readers some of the causes, as they well know, which operated to the defeat of the Republican ticket in 1874. The depression in the general business of the State the discouraging condition of the State, Treasury, the complications surrounding our railroad system, together with the extravagant expenses incident to Gov. Lindsay's unwise assaults upon the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad—and the wrecks of the school system—all bore their part in arousing a public sentiment antagonistic to the Republican party. With able, conscientious Republican officials, the affairs of the State were also a cause of apathy; and when it was apparent that some of the prominent leaders of the party had resolved to subordinate every interest to their own personal aggrandisement, there were Republicans who preferred the good of the State to party success. Such citizens gave their influence and their aid to the Democratic party.

Can we not all profit by these facts? Can we not see that wherever personal interests conflict with the public interests, individuals must always fall? It behooves us now to reason together, and having pointed out the breakers and the rocks upon which the party was wrecked in 1874, to avoid such disasters in the future. Good men should now step forward and take hold of the party reins and show to the world that they are willing and ready to help save the State and the Nation from the heresy of inflation, and the terrors of bankruptcy. As Republicans let us not falter in the grave duties before us. If there ever was a time when united counsels were needed, now is that time, and we trust that no resentment of personal factions will intervene to prevent the complete re-organization of the Republican party. The past is behind us with all its errors, faults and misfortunes, as well as its enmities, prejudices and animosities. Good citizens can now co-operate in the effort to maintain the faith, good name and credit of the country, from the assaults of communists wherever found. Every interest demands that the Republican party shall be maintained in the control of the Government. It may have committed errors, it may even have wronged citizens, because we are all human, liable to err and prone to the evil of selfishness. But there can be no evil greater than to destroy the business of the people by worthless, and irredeemable currency. The Republican party has had much to contend against, and can profit by its errors of judgement. It has never sought to oppress the business interests of the country; it has been the unfaltering champion of the laboring classes, and the advocate of universal liberty. Let every good citizen—old Whig, Douglas Democrat, or whatever may have been his past political predelictions—come forward now and unite in the great battle before us. There need be no fear of unworthy leaders. We can place men at the head of our columns who will not only command public confidence, but in whom all good men will recognize upright, capable and patriotic Statesmen.

The lines are forming, and the issues are rapidly taking shape. On the one hand there is the National faith, the honor and good name of the people, and on the other, dishonor, bankruptcy and universal ruin. Every citizen must stand for the one or the other, and we appeal to all who intend to rally under the standard of sound currency and National honor, to put aside their personal prejudices and enlist under the National Republican banner, for the great struggle which is to decide the destinies, for weal or woe, of this loved land of ours.

FOR YOUNG MEN.

Commodore Farragut At Ten.

We print the following for the benefit of the young men of Montgomery and Alabama. Every young man in the nation should resolve always to wear it about the neck of his remembrance:

Would you like to know how I was enabled to serve my country? It was all owing to a resolution I formed when I was ten years of age. My father was sent down to New Orleans with the little navy we then had, to look after the treason of Burr. I accompanied him as cabin boy. I had some qualities that I thought made a man of me. I could swear like an old salt: could drink as stiff a glass of grog as if I had doubled Cape Horn, and could smoke like a locomotive. I was great at cards; and fond of gambling in every shape. At the close of the dinner, one day, my father turned every body out of the cabin, locked the door, and said to me:

"David, what do you mean to be?"

"I mean to follow the sea."

"Follow the sea! Yes, be a poor, miserable, drunken sailor before the mast, kicked and cudged about the world, and die in some fever hospital in a foreign clime."

"No," I said, "I'll tread the quarter-deck, and command, as you do."

"No, David; no boy ever trod the quarter-deck with such principles as you have, and such habits as you exhibit. You'll have to change your whole course of life, if you ever become a man."

My father left me and went on deck. I was stunned by the rebuke, and overwhelmed with mortification. "A poor, miserable, drunken sailor before the mast, kicked and cuffed about the world, and to die in some fever hospital!" That's my fate, is it? I'll change my life, and change it at once. I will never utter another oath; I will never drink another drop of intoxicating liquors; I will never gamble." And God as my witness, I have kept those three vows to this hour.—Commodore Farragut.

BILL ALLEN'S MISSION.

(From the New York Mail.)

Providence, which impartially uses all sorts of material wherewith to grind out great results, has uses even for such noisy reminiscences of Jackson times as "old Bill Allen" and for such a pestiferous "blatherskite" as Sam. Cary. Without such spokesmen the vast underlying masses of ignorance, blind discontent, recklessness of obligations, and bad citizenship could not get organized and made vocal. In this land of universal suffrage we want to know—it is at the gravest risks that we do not know—just what fallacies, follies, and devilries are seething in the brains of the ignorant, the depraved, and the misled. Thus a roaring "Bill Allen" becomes of infinite service to the State. He shamelessly embodies in popular oratorical style the delusions that are floating among the masses, presents to thoughtful men obvious causes for alarm, and arouses, by the very magnitude of his following, the apprehensions of all intelligent patriots.

It is due to such men as he that the country has at length been made to realize the extent of the ravages made by the soft-money lunacy among the masses and among unprincipled politicians. Just as Vallandigham represented, led, brought out and exposed the disloyalty that existed among the Democracy during the war, so has Allen answered the same providential purpose. If he is elected—in spite of the advice of "hard money" Democratic papers in this region to the Ohio Democrats, to "vote for Hayes"—Mr. Tilden, Mr. Bayard, and all other "hard money" leaders of the party in the East, will have to either follow Mr. Thurman's inglorious example, or be silent, like Groesbeck, or come over to the Republicans on the financial issue, just as Mr. Tilden has asked the Republicans to come over to him on the question of canal reform.

A FULL vote in Ohio is now about 550-000. This supposes that the vote cast in 1872 was a full one. The total vote that year was 527,336, of which, 281,852 were Republican, and 245,484 Democratic. Allow 32,000 votes for the natural increase of three years. Give every one of these votes to the Democracy, and let the Republicans cast only as many as they did three years ago, and they will beat the Democracy, by over ten thousand.

Somebody was run over by the Fast Mail Train, the other day, at Pittsburg, and the Gazette cried with cheerful glee: "First Accident on the new train." Yesterday, a man was hurt at Mansfield, and the Commercial hilariously called for the "next." Such depravity as this weakens our faith in human nature.

BY TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, October 8.—Hon. E. P. Sneider, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, left this city to-day for New York, to transact certain Indian business, and will go thence to Massachusetts, where his invalid wife still remains. It was quite correctly rumored about the Indian office to-day that Mr. Smith would not return before the new secretary was appointed, and then tender to him a resignation of his position. As his name has been so closely connected with that of Mr. Delano, it is probable that his resignation would be accepted.

The Catholic ladies of Washington, with Mrs. General Sherman at their head, are organizing a permanent Indian Catholic missionary association. As soon as the home organization is gotten under successful headway, a number of prominent ladies of this city will visit New York and other cities to aid in establishing a national society intended to receive the co-operative and pecuniary support of the Catholic ladies in the United States. Missionary workers are to be sent amongst all the Indian tribes to woo and beguile the savage in laying aside his tomahawk and scalping implements and become a useful member of society.

It is stated at the executive mansion that the announcement of the new Secretary of the Interior will not probably be made until Monday.

The following is the financial exhibit of the Treasury at the close of business to-day: currency $4,900,351 40, special deposit of legal tenders for redemption of certificates of deposit 61,735,000, coin 67,751,213 71, including coin certificates 12,318,900, outstanding legal tenders 373,931,124.

A short time since a gentleman of this city, a personal and political friend of Mr. Kerr, wrote to him that there was a rumor current here that he would, on the assembling of Congress, release his claim for the speakership of the House of Representatives, with a view to increasing the strength of Gov. Hendricks for the presidential nomination, both being from the same State and warm political friends. He has received a reply from Mr. Kerr, in which he says there is not the least ground for the statement; that Gov. Hendricks does not need and would not ask the service of him. Mr. Kerr says he is a candidate in good faith, and has no idea of withdrawing from the contest.

WEATHER.—For the gulf States, rising barometer, cooler, clear or partly cloudy weather and northerly to easterly winds.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 8.—Only a very limited number of the creditors of Duncan, Sherman & Co. having accepted the proposition of Mr. Duncan, it has been withdrawn.

It is supposed that the murderer of Mr. Voe, who was killed by burglars in his store in Greenwich street, is in custody of the police. It is said there is but little doubt that the man is caught, and that Voe's watch has been secured.

Moody and Sankey, last night, after a prolonged consultation with a number of Brooklyn clergymen, decided to begin an evangelical work in Brooklyn Sunday, October first. The services will be held in the rink on Clermont avenue, Sunday morning, the 31st, and daily services will be held every evening except Saturday. It is not settled how long they will remain in Brooklyn, and Moody says it will be determined by circumstances. They begin with Brooklyn because there is no building in Philadelphia yet ready to accommodate large audiences.

The Red Cloud investigating committee is still at the Fifth Avenue hotel preparing a report, which is expected to be completed to-morrow, when it will be submitted to President Grant and to the President of the Board of Indian Commissioners. The printed testimony made about 800 pages in book form. The members of the commission state that the report consumed a considerable portion of their time, and they are now prepared to make a full report on the subject. The cattle at Red Cloud, from which the agencies were supplied, have been found in good condition, and it is said they will report that no evidence was discovered that gave any indications of fraud.

It is reported that Mayor Wickham has asked the police commissioners to resign, or show good cause for not doing so, before the 15th inst.

Delegates of the convention of chief engineers to-day witnessed parade of the fire department. The firemen made a fine display, and gave admirable exhibition of discipline and skill. In the evening the delegates were entertained at dinner at Delmonico's.

A run has taken place on Green's Savings Bank of this city, being the result of the collapse of the Third Avenue Bank. The president states that the bank is perfectly sound.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Post's Washington special says, information has been received that the Hayti government has carrried out the terms of the protocol signed recently in regard to the liberation of the rebellious fugitives who sought safety and protection from Minister Bassett's sentence of death, which has been changed to exile.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, October 8.—The epizootic is on the increase in this city and is a more serious form than at first supposed. Horses are sick in nearly all stables, and several lines of omnibusses have stopped running. No fatal cases have been reported.

TIFFINEY, Oct. 8.—A joint political discussion is being held here between Gov. Woodford, Republican, and Gen. Thos. Ewing, Democrat. The weather was very disagreeable early to-day, but cleared up later. The discussion attracted a large audience. The speakers were allowed each an hour and a half. The discussion was opened by Gov. Woodford who spoke one hour, followed by Gen. Ewing, who spoke an hour and a half. Gov. Woodford then closed with half an hour's speech. Great interest is taken in the result.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—This morning at 10 o'clock, Geo. W. Pemberton terminated his earthly existence upon the gallows for the murder of Mrs. Margaret E. Bingham, of Webster street, South Boston, on the afternoon of the 22d of March last. Since her death he has made a desperate attempt on his own life, while in Suffolk jail. His deportment has been exemplary and he has looked forward to this day with far different feelings. He has received with attention religious teachings, and submits to his fate as just. He has had the constant attendance of Rev. Dr. Lormier, and that reverend gentleman, by his request remained with him to the final hour. The final interview was one of extreme grief, his wife nearly breaking down under her affliction. About 300 persons witnessed the execution. Pemberton walked to the scaffold with firm step and showed no sign of fear, and gazed upon those before him with much concern. After religious services, the black cap and the noose was adjusted, and the next instant Pemberton was ushered into eternity, the body spinning around as it fell with a thud. An examination showed that the neck was broken. The body was subsequently cut down, placed in a coffin and delivered to his wife, who will follow the remains of her husband to his final resting-place.

WORCESTER, Oct. 8.—The mysterious disappearance of Lucius W. Hond, who was unaccountably missing from the Fall River boat, which arrived in New York last Saturday morning, still causes great anxiety in this city. All sorts of theories are afloat regarding his fate. He was known to have had upwards of $2500 in money on his peason, which induces many to believe he has met with foul play. His accumulation of financial obligations leads others to believe he committed suicide; while a large portion of the community think he is alive and will be heard from.

NEW MEXICO.

SANTA FE, October 8.—Col. John C. Van Duzer, of the United States Signal Department, has commenced the erection of teleraph lines for signal service from this city to Arizona.

A FORTUNE IN IT. Every family buys 1 Sold by Agents. Address, G. S. WALKER Erie, Pa. 4w

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where the people a chance for a large premium. An investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $ [illegible]—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $40, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $3,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is constantly distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in like manner distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole sum.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when its surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of the company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 5,320,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

ALABAMA REPUBLICANS.

Dissensions of the Party in Mobile.

A Good Place for a Live Paper.

Senator Spencer's Black List.

Nice Lot of Official Pretenders.

A Load that Would Damn any Party that Would try to Carry it.—Doings of the Convention.

We reprint the following communication on Alabama affairs, which appeared in the Washington (D. C.) National Republican, of October 5th. We reproduce this article that our readers may see what is being said concerning our home affairs in papers out of Alabama. We have nothing to do with the personal matters of the article. We merely publish it as we have printed the other articles—concerning the JOURNAL and ourself, which appeared in the Washington Republican:

MOBILE, ALA., Sept. 30, 1875.

The Constitutional Convention not having completed its labors, and not being likely to adjourn for a few days, I came to Mobile to take notes of the political situation in this part of the State. I find the Republicans of this city divided somewhat, but from what I can learn it is nothing unusual to have differences among themselves, even from the time the party was organized. I very much fear that it was more on account of the officers than from any real differences on the principles or management of the party, it is the same old story of the "outs" against the "ins." There are a few local politicians here who assume to lead each wing, and being backed by the voters, they keep up a dissension which is injurious to the party, and which has caused them to lose the county at elections which they should have carried it.

THE FEDERAL OFFICERS

here have been changed in many instances in order to harmonize and reconcile the elements, but still there are always men who are never satisfied, no matter what is done. Appeals and complaints are made to the Senator and Representatives in Congress, until they do not know what is best to be done. This county is in the condition somewhat of Montgomery, the capital county of the State. Each of these counties polled a large vote against the Constitutional Convention. Mobile gave an actual majority against the Convention, but the Democratic managers of election threw out enough votes to give a majority for Convention of about one hundred. Montgomery gave three thousand two hundred majority against Convention, but elected two delegates to the Convention as Republicans.

These facts show that where there are no offices of large salaries to be filled, and the Republicans are not distracted by dissensions, they will vote solidly for Republican principles. All that was needed in the election was a canvass of the State to have defeated the Convention. Had a canvass anything nearly as vigorous as that of the Democrats been made by the Republicans, the Convention never would have been held. Nearly one third of the voters did not vote on the question, and it is well known they were opposed to a Convention.

A GOOD, LIVE REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER

should be printed here, and I think would be supported. This would—if conducted on a national principle, and not in the interest of any ring or clique—do much towards harmonizing and uniting the Republicans for the grand struggle in 1876, when the question is to be decided by the freemen of the land whether the infamous doctrine of inflation, with all the evils that will follow its success, including repudiation of the debt of the Government, ruin of its credit, payment for the slaves, and repeal of the pension laws giving the maimed soldier a pittance in his declining years as he hobbles through life, or whether the debt contracted to put down rebellion shall be honestly paid, the credit of the Government sustained, and the meagre pension now enjoyed by the Union soldier be given him to keep his wife and children from becoming paupers.

From all the evidences I am convinced that on a fair vote, with each man allowed to deposit his ballot without ostracism, intimidation or violence, Alabama is a Republican State, and can be carried next year for the nominees of the Republican party. In order, however, to accomplish this result there must be amity in the party, bickerings and dissensions must cease, and personal jealousies must be buried, a general purpose to work for the good of the party, a thorough organization in every precinct and county made, and then every one do his utmost for success. Heretofore there have been local dissensions only, but I have been shown a circular which emanated from Montgomery, and purports to be signed by about a dozen Republicans, which calls for a reorganization of the party in the State, and declares it must unload. I am informed that the majority of the signers live in Montgomery, and that most of them have been bolters or disorganizers in the party. They claim "the party must be reorganized under the leaders who will inspire confidence, and who value party principles above their own personal advancement." This SOUNDS WELL AND LOOKS WELL ON PAPER, but I have taken the pains to find out who these patriots are and what they have done for the party. I am informed that the movement is a "second fiddle" to the legislative Democratic executive committee, who are going through the farce of investigating the right of Senator Spencer to his seat in the United States Senate.

The first name is C. W. Buckley, who was sent to Congress three terms, and who attempted to hire three members of the "Court-house Legislature" of 1872 to go to the "Capitol Legislature," as the Democrats had agreed to elect him to the United States Senate, in order to defeat Senator Spencer. He is now Probate Judge of Montgomery. The next is J. Q. Smith, who, it is said, got immensely rich as United States District Attorney after the war, and who refused to give aid to the Republican Executive Committee, and who bolted the regular nomination for Circuit Court judge in 1874, and in 1870 published a card in a Democratic paper that he was not a Republican, as he afterwards said, to save his property. He is now Circuit Court judge of Montgomery. The next is J. W. Burke, Register in Bankruptcy for the State, and has been anxious to get Spencer's seat. He was appointed by Busteed. The next is W. H. Hunter, who was a member of the Legislature in 1872, and tried to break up a quorum of the Legislature, or to keep away enough members of the Legislature to defeat

THE ELECTION OF SPENCER.

He is a United States commissioner, appointed by Busteed. The next is W. H. Black, Probate Judge of Bullock county, about whom little is known. The next is D. E. Coon, who had held various offices, given him by Senator Spencer, and was appointed to the important office of consul to Rio Janeiro. He is a member of the Legislature, and is the only Republican the Democrats would put on the Spencer investigating committe, as he was known to be hostile to Spencer. The next is Frederick Woiffe, County Treasurer of Montgomery county, and assignee in bankruptcy of the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad, by appointment of Busteed. The next is N. D. Stanwood, now a Custom House officer in New Orleans, and never has lived in the State. The next is Patrick Robinson, Tax Collector of Montgomery county, who was indicted several times in the courts. The next is J. V. McDuffie, Probate Judge of Lowndes county, who is almost unknown. The next is N. B. Cloud, whose conduct of the office of Superintendent of Education did more than anything else to defeat the Republican ticket in 1870. He wants an office, and, of course, he is in favor of unloading so he gets an office. The next is Robert H. Knox, who held an office under Spencer till he was elected Solicitor of Montgomery county. He has received especial benefits from the United States Court through Busteed. The next is Holland Thompson, colored, who was accused of selling the overflowed bacon sent to him by Congressman Rapier. The next is Hales Elisworth, colored, who

WANTS AN OFFICE BADLY,

and is in favor of unloading. The next is P. J. Smith, who has not been known as a Republican since 1870. The next is Robert Barber, who sold his office of Sheriff of Montgomery county to a Democrat, and who was the recipient of Spencer's bounty. He has admitted enough, if it were true, to convict him of bribery. The last name is Jacob Black, who was removed as Assessor of Revenue, and is State Senator of Barbour county, but does not live there. He wants an office, and is in favor of unloading by all means.

I am reliably informed that all these men have been at some time under obligations to Spencer, in order to secure positions; but now, because they cannot control him, they are his bitterest enemies. All of them have opposed each other at elections since the war. They hail from six different counties, but some of them do not live in them, and not one of them could be elected to an office in either. They are the fag end of the old Busteed "court-ring." I am told they fill all the offices under them with Democrats, while Republicans who are competent are left to starve. Yet they presume to set themselves up as leaders "who value party principle above their own personal advancement."

HOW CAN A PARTY SUCCEED

when men holding office, and who should use all their efforts to organize for success, are leading in a movement to disorganize the party, knowing that it will hand the State over to the Democrats? And yet they claim to represent the great Republican party of Alabama! I regret to hear that men in Federal offices are said to be secretly giving aid to these few malcontents. There should be something done to arouse the true Republicans to the danger of this cabal. Each one who is getting his living out of the Government in any office should be dismissed, and it will soon fall to pieces of its own corruption. The true Republicans will organize for 1876, but say they have poor encouragement to do so when all the offices are given to men who are doing nothing or, even worse, are trying to destroy the party if they cannot control it. There should be an organized opposition to the ratification of the constitution which will be submitted to the people this fall. I believe it can be defeated, but there must be unanimity in the party.

I have given a somewhat full account of the proposed new organization, and of the leaders who signed the call, that the authorities may know how much strength it has and who are the leaders.

THE SPENCER INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

of the Legislature has been sitting at Montgomery for some days. They have been in session about half the time since the Legislature adjourned. It is a good thing, as they get $6 per day and mileage. It will cost the State heavily, and after it is all over will amount to nothing. I am confident Spencer will retain his seat until his legal term expires.

The constitutional convention has made very few changes upon the present constitution. Those made are against the General Government and the people in every instance. They acknowledge the fact that they were whipped out of secession, but do not give up the right to secede.

ARGUS.

A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

A Railroad Incident in Germany.

It was a third-class carriage. She was a pleasant-faced woman, going, I think, for the first time since her marriage, to visit her parents at her old home, to show them their two fine grandchildren. At least, this was the little history I built up for her in my own brain from a word or two that I heard between her and her husband at the station, as he put her into the carriage with an affectionate farewell. I always watch with great interest the farewells and greetings of my fellow-travellers, and have a fashion of thinking out for myself the whole story of their previous lives from the little hint that I get in this way. It is to me as if I were permitted to open the second volume of an interesting romance, and allowed to read only one short scene in this and asked to guess as nearly as possible from this one scene the previous course of the story and the character of the actors in it.

The youngest child was an infant of about three or four months old, very quiet and good; the other was a pretty, restless little girl of three, who could not be still a single moment, and kept the careful mother busy by her questions and wants, and childish prattle. She was not at all bashful and soon talked to us also in such a natural, coquettish, condescending way that we were quite in love with the charming little lassie, and begged her mother not to check her innocent advances to us.

When we had been traveling together for two or three hours, and began to feel quite like old acquaintances, while the train was going at full speed, the mother half arose from her seat to place the little girl, who had left her place again on the opposite seat. How it happened I never understood. It was one of those accidents which seem impossible, and in fact, only happens once in a hundred thousand times; but just as she stood half erect, holding her sleeping babe upon one arm and her little frolicsome maiden somewhat awkwardly on the other, the little girl made one of her sudden quick movements, and in an instant she was gone from our eyes.

What a moment! The poor mother stood fixed and rigid in exactly the same attitude, her arm still bent as though around her child, gazing with wide open, fixed eyes at the place whence she vanished. She seemed literally suddenly turned to stone. How long this lasted I do not know; doubtless it seemed to us much longer than it really was. Then the young mother seemed to come to herself, and made a sudden movement as if she would spring through the window after her vanished darling, now far away. I caught her quickly and held her, while the kind lady who sat opposite to me took the baby from her arms, and we all began to talk together, no one listening to the other, about what was to be done for her. Somehow we managed in our excitement to do all that was possible; the guard came, the train was stopped, and the mother, without speaking to one of us, or even looking at us, left the train, supporting herself on one arm of the sympathizing guard, while he held the still sleeping baby fast in the other.

Of course the train must go with increased speed to make up for the moment of delay, so there was no chance for us to see more of the bereaved mother. "Telegraph to us at the next station," said one of the railroad functionaries to the guard. "Yes, yes, be sure to do it immediately" cried a dozen voices; for in some mysterious way the news of the accident had run through the train as if by electricity, and a long row of sympathizing faces watched from the carriage the disappearing forms of the mother and the guard.

"It will take her half an hour to reach the spot, and it is just 35 minutes now to the next station," said the stout gentleman in the corner, taking out his watch and holding it open in his hand, his eyes fixed upon it. He had struck me as one of the most selfish and disagreeable old gentlemen possible, scarcely answering a polite question from a neighbor, and then in the shortest and gruffest manner possible, he had seemed completely absorbed by his newspaper and his snuff-box, not having noticed the little fairy in any way except to glance at her now and then with a savage expression as her clear childish laugh had disturbed his reading. Now his whole soul seemed to be fixed on the watch before him, and he "chided the tiny flight of time" again and again in words more forcible than ornamental.

There was a young would-be dandy in one corner; light, straw-colored gloves, a slender cane, an infant moustache, and an eye-glass stuck in one eye, seemed to be in his opinion, tokens of vast superiority over the other travellers, and he spoke very little, except occasionally to make some supercilious remark or ask some questions about third-class travelling, apparently to produce on us the impression that he was a young nobleman or prince, perhaps, in disguise, seeing for himself how ordinary mortals fared. What a change had come over him now; the eye-glass hung hither and thither, with the kid gloves with which he had been so dainty, he had grasped the dusty facing of the door, and was straining his gaze backward, until the poor mother was no longer to be seen, and then forward to the next station, where the news was to meet us.

Now, at last, we are there, the train halts, and one of the guards runs quickly into the little office over which "Telegraph" is painted. Everybody who can possibly get his or her head out of the window on that side thrusts it out. There is a moment of suspense; here comes the guard again with a despatch in his hand; he stands about midway between the ends of the train, and begins to read it out in his clear, loud, official tones: "Child perfectly sound; alighted on a pile of straw in a field, not two feet from a stone wall."

Then what a scene! Every man at the train windows has his hat off in a moment, and is waiving it and cheering as if he would split his throat; every woman is buried in her pocket handkerchief, crying and laughing together. The stout old egotist and the vain young dandy have thrown arms around each other, and are embracing with that heartiness that belongs to the Vaterland, although they never met before this morning. The stiff old maid in the corner has shaken my hands in both hers so many times that I feel they are quite sore.

All the inhabitants of the little village come running around the train. "What is it? Is it the Kaiser himself, or is it the Kron Prinz?" they ask, in bewildered excitement at the sight of ours.

But all the Kaisers and Kron Prinzes in Europe put together could not have aroused the flood of feeling that surged through that train. It was sympathy with a sentiment far older than loyalty; older than the kings to whom loyalty is due—which was stirring every heart; it was sympathy with a mother's love.

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, it left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWBERG, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTHROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out. I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm.

Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

A TREASURE IN HEAVEN.

The happy winds are all astir,
And softly falls the snow,
As when my arms were holding her
In the winters long ago.
So long ago—and yet so late
I seem to feel her feet
Within my palms the while I wait
Her singing low and sweet.

Whether she strays—I may not know;
What flowers her fingers find
In fields in her mansion's snow
Or what she may be to me
I cannot tell but this I feel:
The fashion of divine
That all the angels round her knee
Are no more nor and no more.

So hath not found in all the land
Her pure utter lightness
Forgetfulness of the poor hand
She clung to long ago?
And often when the day is done,
I too clasp my scissors hold,
I feel her kisses on by one
Just as I did of old.

Something divides us? It may be
A sea of dulle grey;
A river of tears for me
To bear afer dieker way;
A barrier only for love's sake,
Or yet a rosef dawn?
When I am near he, when I wake,
She morning "will be gone.

So happily my palms it is,
While I watch the snow,
As when my arms were holding her
In the winters long ago.
So long ago—and yet so late
I seem to feel her feet
Within my palms the while I wait
Her singing low and sweet.

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL
LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,
PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.

Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on the 1st of each month, in a number containing from 40 to 44 pages, three columns to a page—presenting in the course of a year over fifteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of the stock breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.

The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and the separate departments for each breed of stock are conducted by writers who are specially fitted to make it practical and complete in every department.

Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, in the form of stock of different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely to make money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm or if it is improperly handled, the farm is likely to be little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it is a matter of the highest importance to every farmer that he should have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is sure to find a full discussion of every question connected with the subject. Such a paper is

"A Farmer's Business Paper."

NEOPHOGEN
MALE AND FEMALE COLLEGE.

Gallatin, Tennessee.

On the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and at the Junction of the Cumberland and Ohio R. R.

TWENTY SIX MILES FROM NASHVILLE.

TENTH ACADEMIC YEAR

The school is in one of the richest and most charming agricultural countries in America, in the heart of the famous blue grass country of Sumner county, Tenn., a lovely valley lying between a range of the Cumberland mountains and the Cumberland river, in a beautiful little city of vines and flowers, containing 3,500 inhabitants, distinguished for intelligence and refinement, hospitality and generosity. This place was selected after canvassing the advantages and inducements offered at all the most noted points in the country.

Sixteen members of the faculty, a number of whom have the highest national reputation, both as teachers and authors, and will be increased to twenty five the next academic year.

THE FIVE SCHOOLS OF THE COLLEGE COURSE

1. School of Humanities.
2. School of Ancient Language.
3. School of Mathematics.
4. School of Philosophy.
5. School of History and Moral Science.

DEPARTMENTS.

1. Preparatory School.
2. Normal School.
3. Music School.
4. Art School.
5. School of Modern Languages.
6. Agricultural School.
7. Commercial School.
8. Law school.

The present term began February 19, 1875. Fall term will begin first Monday in September. Board, tuition, fuel, washing, etc., $88. 20,000 catalogues for gratuitous distribution. Students can attend Baptist, Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian or Catholic churches. Students received at any degree of advancement at any time.

SEVEN STERN FACTS.

1. It is the cheapest college of like grade in the world.
2. In four specialities it challenges competition.
3. No institution is less slavish or more progressive.
4. It exemplifies that an institution may be very good and very cheap, though contrary to the dogma of some.
5. It educates males and females, which is natural and right—now so decided by experts, but long ago by common sense.
6. No expense will be spared to secure teachers of the first talent in Europe and America.
7. It is truly a national institution, and the youths of all sections are solicited to come and form friendships that will so greatly tend to make us in truth a united people, and perpetuate our liberties.

The Home College for the North and South. Sectional prejudices must be destroyed, or true national patriotism will cease to exist. There is no way so effective as the bringing together the noble youths from all sections, and having at heart the making them devoted friends in college days.

Patriots and philanthropists everywhere are requested to consider and encourage enterprise.

Twenty $1,000 scholarships and one thousand $100 scholarships to be disposed of.

100,000 copies of the next Illustrated Annual Catalogue, containing ninety-six pages each, will be issued, thirty-six pages of which are offered to the public as an advertising medium.

For Catalogue address John M. Walton, A. M., LL.D. President.

NO. 1—SCHOLARSHIPS, MALE AND FEMALE.

Wishing to extend to a great number of students the privilege of attending Neophogen College and enable those in limited circumstances to acquire an education, the managers of Neophogen College have determined to sell one thousand scholarships in this college at the sum of $100 each, and that when one thousand are sold, each purchaser shall forever thereafter have the right to send a student to this college free of all tuition fees. All who wish to avail themselves of this arrangement or aid in the cause are requested to transmit to J. M. Walton, Gallatin, Tenn., a bond for scholarships as follows:

For and in consideration of one Scholarship at Neophogen College, which guarantees to the purchaser forever the reafter the right to send one student to Neophogen College free of all tuition fees, the undersigned promises and binds himself, his heirs, his executors and administrators, to pay to the Treasurer of said College one hundred dollars, to be paid so soon as one thousand Scholarships have been sold, and the undersigned has been notified of same, and likewise to bear interest from time notice being given until paid, at six per cent. The right of said Scholarship vests when the one hundred dollars are paid and lasts forever. I hereby bind myself, my heirs, etc., to fulfill this obligation.

As witness my hand and seal this ——— day of ———, [L. S.] ———
Attest: ———

Upon receiving the preceding bond, which will be deposited in one of the National Banks of Gallatin, a receipt will be returned to the purchaser. The right to the Scholarships are transferable, and any one holding the same may send any one to college free of tuition fees. In this way a collegiate education is forever secured to the holder of the scholarship, his descendants or assigns.

NO. 2—FEMALE SCHOLARSHIPS.

$1,000—To Parents and Philanthropists: Ten female students will be received into the family of the President of Neophogen College, and trained as his children, boarded, clothed, books and stationery furnished, and graduated in a regular collegiate course, for $1,000 each, payable in advance by the first of September, 1875. They must not be under twelve years of age, and able to read and write. The chief inducement in presenting this is to give the President an opportunity to train remarkable characters to the honor of the college, and to enable him to verify his views in regarding the development of youth of medium organization, when full control is given and implicit confidence reposed.

NO. 3—MALE SCHOLARSHIPS, $1,000.

Board and tuition perpetual to one student for $1,000, payable in advance. The holder of a scholarship can introduce one student after another, from time to time, free of charge for board and tuition. There are only twenty of these scholarships for sale.

J. M. WALTON, LL.D., President, Gallatin, Tenn.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The teachers of Neophogen College have the highest national reputation both as teachers and authors. It is the cheapest college of the kind in the world, and is the best one for the males and females of the North and South. It is located in a beautiful section of the State, which was selected with great care.—Republican Banner, Nashville, Tenn.

Neophogen enjoys an enviable reputation as an institution of learning. Its faculty are amply qualified for the most liberal culture of those placed under their care.—Union and American, Nashville.

Neophogen is convenient and accessible to our section, and is one of the best literary schools of the State of Tennessee.—Osceola Times, Ark.

Your system of teaching the sexes together is right, and I trust you will meet with much success.—Dawson Journal, Georgia.

We take pleasure in heartily recommending it to all our readers, and hope they will read and reflect upon the superior inducements offered by the above institution.—Mountain Eagle, Jasper, Ala.

Neophogen is one of the most prosperous schools in the South.—North Ark. Times, Batesville, Ark.

Neophogen is a first class educational institution.—Sturgeon Leader, Mo.

Neophogen is the best in the State, and the Pen should be in every family.—Denton Monitor, Tex.

It presents many claims for the support of the public.—Madisonville Times, Kentucky.

Neophogen is one of the best institutions of the South.—The Advance, Wimona, Miss.

The principal, Prof. Walton, stands high as a public instructor. Dyer county has had several students at Neophogen, and they speak of the institution in terms of the warmest praise.—State Gazette, Dyersburg, Tenn.

The situation of Neophogen is altogether lovely. This institution, perhaps, possesses more advantages than any other in the South.—Sulphur Springs Gazette, Texas.

We have given its catalogue a critical examination, and believe it to be one of the best schools in the country, North or South.—Columbus Dispatch, Kentucky.

We recommend this excellent College.—Aberdeen Examiner, Miss.

DAILY STATE JOURNAL.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1875.

AND summer lingers in the lap of autumn.

THERE is fair business going on about, notwithstanding the hard times.

THE liver is the largest worksl op in the body. It is the "biler" shop.

THE oat crop is prime, the quantity being large and the quality fine. This is good news to horses.

"GIVE us this day our daily quinine," is the daily prayer in the river-bottom regions around and about.

YESTERDAY was a lovely day. The sun shone out as balmy as the soft rays of an Italian sun ever dared to be.

DON'T insult a man because he is seedy and ragged. He may have a better muscle than your's, notwithstanding.

AND now it is discovered that "freckles" indicate a defect in digestion, which adds still another advantage to this sort of domestic adjunct.

THANKS.—We return thanks to the Hon. Alexander White, the distinguished Chief Justice of Utah, for important public documents.

WE desire to mention to noisy little boys, that right in the center of the hind hoofs of every live mule, there is a little lump of gold, which can be very easily dug out with a pen-knife.

"Now soon on field and hill
The winds shall whistle chill,
And patriarch swallows call their flocks together,
To fly from frost and snow,
And seek for lands where blow
The fairer blossoms of a balmier weather."

LONGFELLOW slightly paraphrased to suit the times:

And the night shall be filled with burglars,
And thieves that infest the day
Shall pack up their traps like peddlers,
And carry the spoons away.

IN some parts of the country the atmosphere is said to be so light that a cord of wood left out over night will often shrink to three-quarters of a cord before morning. We have had that sort of weather about Montgomery frequently.

LOAFERS.—We have posted on the door of the JOURNAL composing room a notice labeled—"No place for loafers." Yesterday a loafer managed to find his way into our office, and cut the word "No" out. He will find himself sadly mistaken if he repeats his visit.

PSHAW! Its easy enough to put up stove pipes. All you have got to do is to put on your kid glover, take up your cane and leave word at the tinner's, and when he gets ready and can't think of any other job, and doesn't want to go fishing, he will put your stove up.

THERE is a story going the rounds that spitting in the mouth of a snake will kill him quicker than his bite will kill a man. The range is too short for frequent experiment for those not in practice, to say nothing of the possibility of the snaky work being done first.

"CAN I have the pleasure of seeing you home?" said a dapper young clerk last evening, at a social, to a spirited lady acquaintance. "No, sir, you can't," was the reply, and the amount of hair he pulled out of his head when he returned home would suffice to make a dozen sets of elegant hair bracelets.

PERSONAL.—Col. Long, the popular and efficient special agent of the Money Order Bureau of the Post Office Department, honored us with a call yesterday. Col. L. is sojourning in the city a few days on official business.

Hon. Sam. F. Rice, who has been absent from town for several days on legal business, returned home yesterday.

ROBERT COLLYER thinks that it is the correct and beautiful thing for all young people to get married, and so

Upon the skirts of time,
Sit side by side.

The skirts of time are rather cool clothing for winter, but they are about all that a good many poor fools, who rush to get married, will have to sit upon.

MAJ. B. N. WILKINSON advertises the celebrated Keep's Patent Partly-Made Dress Shirts, which are said to be superior in style and finish to anything in the market, and will be sold at less prices than ever before in this city. He sells an elegant ready made shirt for $2, and a single partly-made shirt for $1 30, or six for $7 80, six for children for $6, at his agency upstairs over No. 99 Commerce street.

THEATRE.—The opening of the theatre last night, for the season, drew together one of the largest audiences ever seen in that place of resort. The first appearance of Duprez and Benedict's Minstrels was almost an ovation, and that splendid organization has cause to be proud of their reception in Montgomery. The audience was delighted at the performances, and attested their appreciation by frequent and prolonged rounds of applause. The troop goes to Selma to-day, but will return and appear again at our theatre on Monday night.

The hour is late, and we can only say to our readers, go and see them. You will be pleased and delighted.

THAT COTTON FACTORY.

What a Stranger Thinks of It.

The effort to establish a cotton factory in Montgomery is regarded with interest beyond the city limits. There are many good citizens who would rejoice to see the capital city of the State become a prosperous and important business centre. If our own people can be brought to a proper appreciation of the importance of diversified home industries, they may rest assured that the people of the State generally will give their encouragement and support to such enterprises as seek the advancement of the community. The Russell Recorder prints the following paragraph concerning our proposed factory. In a few words it states much that is of vital importance to our citizens:

The people of Montgomery are agitating the enterprise of having a cotton factory. This is the right direction for the energies and industries of our people to take, and we are glad to note such indications and finger boards to proper progress and real improvement. If we had more factories and fewer railroads erected and built in the State the material resources and condition of the people would be better and more prosperous.

A SHARP BOY.—We read in papers and books, often, how honest boys get their first start in life. Some kind hearted gentleman always lends them half a dollar and starts them in business from which they emerge wealthy men in a few years. A friend had been reading this sort of pleasant fiction, and last week a small boy approached him with: "Mister, if I had half a dollar I could buy a box and brushes and earn bread for my sick mother. If I could get it, somewhere, I'd pay it back in a week." He was a noble, bright-eyed boy, who gave evidence of being tenderly reared, and the gentleman gave him the money and his address, feeling that he was casting bread upon the waters. Yesterday he saw the small boy on the street smoking a Wheeling stogy, and wearing an Alaska pin, that was perfectly gorgeous, for a quarter.

MACKERELS. — Yesterday morning a lot of mackerels congregated on Perry street, in front of the JOURNAL building, and played marbles all the morning, to the great disgust of all respectable citizens. There ought to be a work-house for these worthless characters. They now manage to eke out a miserable existence by pilfering from the fruit stands and market stalls. It would be a great saving of money to our tax-paying citizens if they would order a work-house erected, and submit to a tax annually for the support of such an institution. We hope that this subject will at once engage public attention.

His stock has been purchased of first hands, and he is determined not to be undersold in the market. Remember the place, on Court street.

A NEW ESTABLISHMENT—CITY HALL SALOON.—Phillip Preiss has opened a first class saloon in the new city building. He will keep none but the very choicest wines, liquors and cigars. Bleeding from Lungs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption.—A Wonderful Cure.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13, 1874.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I had suffered from Catarrh in an aggravated form for about twelve years, and for several years from Bronchial trouble. Tried many doctors and things with no lasting benefit. In May, '72, becoming nearly worn out with excessive Editorial labors on a paper in New York city, I was attacked with Bronchitis in a severe form, suffering almost a total loss of voice, I returned home here, but had been home only two weeks when I was completely prostrated with Hemorrhage from the Lungs, having four severe bleeding spells within two weeks, and first three inside of nine days. In the September following, I improved sufficiently to be able to be about, though in a very feeble state My Bronchial trouble remained and the Catarrh was tenfold worse than before. Every effort for relief seemed fruitless. I seemed to be losing ground daily. I continued in this feeble state, raising blood almost daily until about the first of March, '73, when I became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I was extremely skeptical that they would do me good, as I had lost all heart in remedies, and begun to look upon medicines and doctors with disgust. However, I obtained one of your circulars, and read it carefully, from which I came to the conclusion that you understood your business, at least. I finally obtained a quantity of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets, and commenced their vigorous use according to directions. To my surprise I soon began to improve. The Discovery and Pellets in a short time, brought out a severe eruption, which continued for several weeks. I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three months every vestige of the Catarrh was gone, the Bronchitis had nearly disappeared, had no Cough whatever, and I had entirely ceased to raise blood; and, contrary to the expectations of many of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had suffered so much and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for this blessing I have received from your hands knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medicines will master the worst forms of that odious disease Catarrh, as well as Throat and Lung Diseases. I have recommended them to very many and shall ever speak in their praise. Gratefully yours,
WM. H. SPENCER.

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself. If left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWBURG, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTHROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium, I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no especial desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sorted delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm. Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

VOLUME VIII. MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA, SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 10, 1875. NUMBER 21

DAILY STATE JOURNAL

SAM BARD, ...Editor

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1875.

FOR YOUNG MEN.

Commodore Farragut At Ten.

We print the following for the benefit of the young men of Montgomery and Alabama. Every young man in the nation should resolve always to wear it about the neck of his remembrance:

Would you like to know how I was enabled to serve my country? It was all owing to a resolution I formed when I was ten years of age. My father was sent down to New Orleans with the little navy we then had, to look after the treason of Burr. I accompanied him as cabin boy. I had some qualities that I thought made a man of me. I could swear like an old salt; could drink as stiff a glass of grog as if I had doubled Cape Horn, and could smoke like a locomotive. I was great at cards; and fond of gambling in every shape. At the close of the dinner, one day, my father turned every body out of the cabin, locked the door, and said to me:

"David, what do you mean to be?"

"I mean to follow the sea."

"Follow the sea! Yes, be a poor, miserable, drunken sailor before the mast, kicked and cuffed about the world, and die in some fever hospital in a foreign clime."

"No," I said. "I'll tread the quarter-deck, and command, as you do."

"No, David; no boy ever trod the quarter-deck with such principles as you have, and such habits as you exhibit. You'll have to change your whole course of life, if you ever become a man."

My father left me and went on deck. I was stunned by the rebuke, and overwhelmed with mortification. "A poor, miserable, drunken sailor before the mast, kicked and cuffed about the world, and to die in some fever hospital! That's my fate, is it? I'll change my life, and change it at once. I will never utter another oath; I will never drink another drop of intoxicating liquors; I will never gamble." And God as my witness, I have kept those three vows to this hour.—Commodore Farragut.

WE DEAL FAIRLY.—A WORD TO STREET MURMURERS.—LET US BE KIND AND CANDID.

We learn that there are murmurs on the streets of Montgomery, by some Republicans, that injustice has been done them in the series of articles we have printed entitled: "Dissensions in the Republican party," etc., etc. Now, we have intentionally wronged no man or set of men living. We have written and published what we supposed to be facts, and, until otherwise convinced, we shall stand by what we have stated. We have no enemies to punish, and we shall continue the publication of the series until we have exhausted the subject, and laid bare the truth, as we conceive it to be. When Republicans consider themselves misrepresented and become dissatisfied with the course of the JOURNAL, they should, in a kind and candid manner, point out, in writing, not on the streets, wherein we have erred. No man living will correct an error quicker than the editor of this journal. Our purpose is to do right, and to wrong no living man voluntarily or by the pressure of outside influence.

We repeat once for all that our voice is for party harmony and entire party unity, and when we apply the dissecting knife, it is to purify, to give strength to the party and not to wound. A party organ has no right to insult, injure or wound the feelings of the members of the party to which it belongs. Neither has it a right to insult the community, or any person of the community in which it is printed. In an experience of many years as a journalist we have never taken advantage of our position as such, to undermine and injure those who disagree with us on any statement of facts or in opinion. We are by far too magnanimous for that. Such a work becomes little minds, and will do for little men.

The Columbus Daily Enquirer is a very funny, spicy little sheet, and withal newsy—and at times a little impertinent. We like it however, (outside of its Radical Democracy) and hope it may "live long and prosper."

ADDITION.—Add to your faith virtue, and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience Godliness; and to Godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity.—2 Peter, i., 5-7.

The telegraphic service of France, which is under Government control, has never been worked to a profit until the present year. Down to 1873 the cost always exceeded the receipts, the deficit varying from 500,000 to 4,000,000 francs. In 1874 the income just balanced the expenditures; while for the present year the estimates show a surplus of of 2,200,000 francs.

The late cyclone was not without its advantages to the Texas Grangers. Some of them, living as far as ten miles inland, are gladdened by the discovery of kindling wood in the shape of a steamboat or two, stranded high and dry in their dooryards or turnip patches."

TO FATHERS, MOTHERS AND SISTERS—SEE THAT THE YOUNG MEN READ.

By request we reproduce on this page the article entitled "For Young Men," which appeared in yesterday's JOURNAL. It is like apples of gold in pictures of silver. Every father, every mother, every sister should advise the young men—their sons and brothers, to read and re-read this article every day in the year. Our young men are too much given to idleness, intemperance, and the vices generally. God grant that a reformation may be speedily inaugurated in their behalf. Such articles as the one we reproduce, if read and properly heeded, will do more to elevate the standard of morals among our young men, than all the talking which parents can do. Again we beseech every young man who reads the JOURNAL to cut this article out, paste it in his hat, or his diary and read it every spare moment he has, until it is indelibly and forever fixed upon the tablet of his memory. We love the young men, and look to them as the future hope of this Nation, which has no parallel, in undeveloped greatness on the face of this vast globe.

DARKNESS OF THE CRUCIFIXION.

The true greatness of the event which we commemorate at the Lord's table is impressively taught by these marvels. God never does anything out of proportion. It was, therefore, not a teacher, nor a martyr who was dying, when the heavens were spread with sackcloth; he was more than a man who expired on the tree: his sufferings and death were more than the sufferings of one who came to set men an example. The scenery was exagerated, if only a good man and prophet were dying.

If darkness came to mingle her dreary influence even amid the scenes of love and mercy on the cross, surely nothing can prevent the perfect usurpation of her power over those who finally reject that mercy, and are not won by that love. Even now, to those who do not receive Christ and his sacrifice for their sins, the doctrines of the gospel not being viewed in connection with that sacrifice are dark; the understanding is darkened, the future is dark, and so is the providence of God. That scriptural emblem of the forlorn state of the wicked, darkness, conveys a fearful idea of their future condition. Long and tedious are the night watches on a sick-bed, when we toss to and fro, with no power to sleep, and a disordered fancy fills us with direful images, and the morning seems as if it would never come. But what must it be to lie down in sorrow and endless night, when the day star never rises, and the night grows darker, and darker, and despair peoples it with horrors?

But to the believer, the darkness of the crucifixion is only an emblem of that darkest time of night, which, according to the proverb, is just before the day. By thy death, O Savior, in the midst of darkness and sorrows, we shall soon pass from under these shades and their gloom, to those scenes where we need no candle, neither light of the sun, for the Lord God Jeveth them light, and they shall reign forever.—Rev. N. Adams, D. D.

POE'S BRAIN.—The singular preservation of Shelley's heart when his remains were cremated, is matched by that of Poe's brain. A medical gentleman, present when all that was left of the author of the Raven was disinterred, states that the brain had not been destroyed. He adds that the cerebral mass, as seen through the base of the skull, evidenced no sign of disintegration or decay, though, of course, it was somewhat diminished in size. We are somewhat sorry that these sepulchral details should have been made public. They destroy an ideal. Do what we will, since reading what the pious resurrectionists disclosed the image, of Poe rises before us, not in physical beauty and sorrowful song, but as a hideous skeleton. Think of his teeth rattling in the coffin when his skull was lifted into a new repository.—Ex.

A Democratic idea of finances: "What's all this talk about the currency and the five-'wenties and the sivin-thirties that I hears about, Mike?" "Why, bliss your sowl, don't ye know, Pat? It manes that the government wants to make the laborin' min work from five 'twenty in the mornin' till sivin-thirty in the evening." "Och, the spalpeens! May the divil choke thim!"

The New Orleans Bulletin says: "Old negresses who still believe in Voudouism, every Monday morning resort to the wharf near French Market and throw nickles into the river to propitiate some unknown deity, and to secure good luck during the week. Sometimes the wharf is quite crowded with these fetish worshipers."

The drawing for the Montpelier Female Humane Association Lottery, to provide a home for aged and indigent women of Virginia, has been discovered to be a fraud, most of the money having been forwarded to New York, and not being subject to the draft of the officers of the association.

The New York Episcopal Diocese, whose annual convention is now in session, embraces 250 active churches and 307 clergy, and nearly fifty churches.

"There are no fragments so precious as those of time, and none are so heedlessly lost by people who cannot make a moment, and yet who waste years."

This is the way the hard money men compute "federal money" according to the inflation platform: "Ten mills make one cent, ten cents one dime, eight and a half dimes one dollar."

Nothing further has been discovered in the new Charley Ross sensation, except that Baker has returned to Philadelphia. He professes innate ignorance of the whole matter, except in so far as having done what Mr. Ross requested of him. The belief prevails that the whole business is a hoax.

In 1870 Grant received in Ohio 281,852 votes. With the exception of the vote cast for Gov. Brough in 1863, this is the largest vote ever polled by the Republicans of Ohio. It represents a Republican vote that can be called out on great issues, when questions of National importance and interest are at stake. It is the vote that the Republicans next week can cast, and ought to. It is more than thirty thousand more than was ever cast by the Democracy.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Expressly for the State Journal by the Southern and Atlantic Telegraph Line.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 9.—The run on the German Savings Bank has entirely ceased. The bank is as sound as ever.

Four steamers sailed for Europe to day, carrying one hundred and seventy cabin and six hundred and sixty-five steerage passengers, and large cargoes of grain, cotton and general merchandize.

Charles Baulon, tailor, doing business on Broadway, Williamsburgh, committed suicide to day, by cutting his throat with a pair of shears.

There has been an abatement of speculative feeling during the past week that prevailed in some trade circles the week previous. There has been, on the whole, active trade and steady tone. Values have been maintained, as trade on provisions have been of a speculative character so far as lard and pork are concerned. The export demand for wheat has fallen off temporarily. There has been a good export business in corn; flour has been in fair demand for export and home consumption. Other provisions have been in fair demand, both for home consumption and export.

Samuel Griffith, fireman of the ferry boat Arizona, was oiling the machinery this morning, when the engine started and he was so terribly crushed that he died in a few minutes.

Yesterday Mayor Wickham sent letters to all the police commissioners, requesting their resignation, and to-day he received letters from Commissioners Voorhees and Smith, resigning their positions. The resignation of Mitchell and Disbrecker are expected at an early day.

There is considerable excitement about the City Hall, on account of the arrest of the murderer of Mr. Voe, who is confined in prison, and is to be tried soon.

The United States Circuit Court this morning passed sentence on John Glenn, who pleaded guilty to the charge of mutiny on board of the schooner Jefferson Bonder. The State prescribes imprisonment at hard labor for life, but considering his crippled condition, he was sentenced to be fined one dollar and imprisoned in the State prison for ten years.

In reply to an invitation to advocate the Republican cause and ticket in the present canvass, Hon. R. R. Fenton has written a letter to Chairman Cornell, of the Republican State Committee, in which he declares he feels it his duty to give his support to the Republican candidates. He says the Republican platform adopted at Saratoga is in harmony with principles advocated by the liberals. He believes the Republicans are more in harmony with the independants notions than Democrats, and that the success of Democrats in this State would lead to danger on tendencies and influences. He pronounces himself in favor of Republican candidates in the present canvass, trusting that the advanced position now assumed by the Republican party will lead to permanent progress and reform.

ROCHESTER, October 9.—At 3:30 this morning on the East bound freight, the train jumped the track at the State street crossing, while coming into the depot. It crashed through one of the heavy columns and taking a curve crashed through the wall into the waiting room. The crash tore the engine into a tomspilling car after car by the side of the wall. The engineer, Wm. Vianco, was found under the engine and the fireman named Northrup, was found under the debris of twelve cars, which were piled up in the depot. Owing to the early hour there were no passengers in the depot.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, October 9.—The Attorney General of Mississippi, ex-Senator Pease, Postmaster of Vicksburg, and the District Attorney of Vicksburg district called on the Attorney General to-day to represent affairs in that State. They state that the recent troubles are of a personal nature, and are now over. They do not want Federal troops sent into the State, because as they set forth, if the troops are sent the negroes will elect to office men plastered over with indictments, for various misdemeanors, and if troops are not sent to the State they are of the opinion that the legislature will be lost to the Republican party, but that the successful candidates will be lovers of good order, etc., and patriotic legislators. They say that the Republican party can revive its majority by the Presidential election, under good government. The Attorney General requested the delegation to remain until the President returns, and make the statement to him.

The Chicago distillery of Cochrane, Hutchins & Co., near the city was seized on Thursday night for defrauding the government. They were caught removing unstamped barrels from the establishment. They have left the city to avoid arrest.

ALABAMA.

MOBILE, October 9.—The Board of Health reiterates its announcement officially that there is no yellow fever in the city, and denies all reports to the contrary.

NEW JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY, October 9.—Charles H. Trisher, representing himself as proprietor and manager of a mercantile bureau, and independent collection company of America, with principal office in Philadelphia at Taylors Hotel, was arrested last night on charge that the said mercantile bureau is a fraudulent concern, and also on charge of embezzlement. His arrest was made on complaint of Phillip J. Diller, of this city, and other complaints made to-day. Several victims wil also come from Philadelphia to make complaint before Police Justice Keeser. Trisher has just returned from a trip in the Eastern States.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, October 9.—A special from San Antonio says: Night before last armed masked men broke into Plaisanton jail, twenty miles from here, and rescured a white man incarcerated for the maiming of a negro and the rape of his wife.

The grasshoppers have made their appearance in vast numbers.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

An Agent Wanted for each Town and County in the United States.

Parties desiring to act as agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and respectability from and signed by the Editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 Each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc., etc.

Each newspaper published in the town where agent is located will, as soon as agency is established, be given an advertisement advertising such agency and the company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the company. Such advertisement will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where the 2 is a chance for a large premium. An investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $1—one dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $50, $100, $200, $400, $1,000, $2,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 or $100,000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The prisoner of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance in the above named premiums, which are simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bond participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled.

The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will arise from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the company from taxation and assessments for five years, and has also conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to a successful termination.

Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party, and when he views the structure erected with his money he may say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and the inventors of America are peculiarly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold.

The building will contain 9,920,000 square feet of space.

Purchasers desiring Bonds before an agency is established where they reside, can communicate direct with this office from where they can be supplied.

Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address

SCARCITY OF MONEY IN THE COUNTRY.

We resume the further consideration of the subject this week. We have shown that the balance of trade is against us, in that we do not raise at home, on our own plantations the common necessaries of life, though no country is better fitted for it, and we hurriedly and without system make but one market crop, cotton, which we but too blindly rely upon for bread, bacon and clothing! The result is that in this driven, starving condition, our cotton, the moment it is packed, in marketable shape, is hurried out of the country, not for values we think it worth, but at prices fixed on it by those who have advanced us the money to buy bread, bacon and labor to make it! So long as we pursue this ruinous system of plantation policy, just so long will money remain scarce in the country. And how can it be otherwise? We are permitted to borrow just money enough, in bread, bacon and stock to enable us to make so much cotton! Then, when made and ready for market, the scale of values arranged, but not by us, we planters are permitted the poor privilege of pretending to sell the cotton to pay back the borrowed money, interest, insurance, freights, &c., &c.

Now we are not railing against the shrewdness of these wiser and more discreet capitalists, who loan us the money, far from it! Our object is to induce our planting friends to hold up their heads and open their eyes and look upon the enormity, and deformity, too, if you please—of this self-imposed vassalage! What we want as planters, is not to make any less cotton, but it is first that we exert our native, manly, characteristic will—determine to live and plant no longer in this dependent, beggarly way, that hereafter, on our own generous soil, in our genial clime, and under the smiles of a benificent Providence, we will make our own bread at home, raise and cure our own bacon and bread and graze our own stock on our grains and native grasses that so beautify and carpet the "soil of the South," in its fresh, green hues, for nine months of the year. And then in the use of judicious, intelligent tillage on surplus acres, fertilized from the stock-lots of your fat, stock mules, cotton and pigs, make your cotton, and sell it at your pleasure for gold and at values that you have a voice in fixing. Then and not till then will money be plenty in our country.

We can not look to partisan action or to any artificial conventional systems of barter and traffic for an increase of money in our midst. There is a plethora of currency in the U. S. to-day, but none of it comes here, as cheap as it is; and why not? Because the moment the last bale of cotton leaves the country there is no other crop; not a bushel of corn or grain of any kind, not a native colt, horse or mule, or beef cattle or sheep or pigs or bale of hay, even, to send out of the country to New York, to sell for some of their cheap money! Is it any wonder, then, that such a shiftless system of plantation policy should be without money? You might just as well express surprise on witnessing, as you do every day, the smoke ascending upward from the burning brands!

What we want is this, that every cotton planter in the country shall, now while his laborers are engaged in gathering the crop, go over his plantation and stake off and map out the exact number of acres that will, in an ordinary season, make corn enough to do him the next year, with a few acres more for contingencies. Then map out his field for oats. Do the same for wheat, for rye and barley. It is true, here at the South, we neither eat rye or barley, but they are most essential for healthy stock-raising, both in the grain furnished and the pasturage. All these grain fields should be staked out a little in excess of what the planter may really need for his own home consumption. Corn, wheat, oats, rye and barley may always be sold in our markets for fair prices in money. If this system of farming and diversifying our crops were common among the planters of the country, the prices of these grains would rule lower than at present. But still, raising at home his own supplies, the planter could very well afford to sell his surplus grain at lower prices and make money too.

Thus having arranged these several grain fields, determine the field and acreage for cotton say your ordinary crop is fifty bales. Then map out one hundred acres for cotton and put on it all your compost manure which should be carefully saved for the purpose, and with good, two-horse Brindley plows, early in January, bed out your land for cotton at least six inches deep. This will grow you forty bales of cotton, more, certainly, than a much larger number of acres improperly prepared and no fertilization applied. In addition to this, a good sized field should be selected, and near the house, for sweet potatoes; any surplusage in this crop can always be sold for money, and it is a crop that is alike good for the family and for all stock. Now, no sensible person need be told what would be the effect of such system of plantation policy upon the prosperity of the country in the space of the year, if generally practiced by the planters of the country. There would be no western corn or bacon to buy, no flour or oats, and the money for which we sold our cotton the second year would remain and circulate at home, among those who produced it, and with the horn of plenty, full in our midst, our people would be prosperous and happy.

PLANTATION AND GARDEN WORK FOR OCTOBER.

The main work for the plantation this early in the month is cotton picking. The crop is now made, and it is the planter's interest to give his undivided attention to picking it out. It may be picked out much more rapidly now, while the weather is mild, and is worth more, or samples better, than when delayed to a later period.

Rye for Winter Pasturage.—If you have not yet, you should by all means sow a good-sized rye-lot for grazing your milch cows and calves on in winter. Few planters are aware of the advantage there is in a ten acre lot seeded down to rye, or barley, which is even better than rye.

Fattening Hogs.—Your fattening hogs should be carefully attended to now. They will take on flesh more kindly in the mild weather of October, than later, when the cold weather comes on. They are, perhaps, on your pea-fields now, and should be watched to see that they are healthy, and that they have access to plenty of water, with occasional supplies of salt and ashes.

Manures.—All weeds and falling leaves about the yards and lots should be gathered up carefully and thrown into your stock lots, with everything about the plantation of a vegetable character, such as stalks, vines, leaves, and indeed, everything of a manurial nature. Let nothing of the kind go to waste about the plantation.

Sows and Pigs.—These must not be neglected, because it is upon them you rely for your next year's porkers. They should be kept separate now from the fattening hogs. There is no attention more important to the welfare of your sows and pigs, and to your porkers too, than to be sure that they are driven up from the field every night, and inclosed under lock and key in your compost lots.

Field for your Wheat.—This should be selected now and the corn stalks chopped down and broken, or chopped small preparatory for the plow. Three hundred bushels of cotton seed sown broadcast, and carefully, on ten acres of land and in that proportion for a larger field, to be plowed under, when you commence preparing the land for wheat, which should be done early in November, will secure you an early and good crop of wheat. We trust many of our readers intend to sow largely of wheat this fall.

Make Hay Yet.—The unusually abundant late rains have brought forward the grass in a most luxuriant growth, which in many places on the plantation will afford fine mowing for hay. This should be carefully cut and made into good sweet hay. It should be cut as soon as it gets good into bloom before the seed mature and ripen. Hay thus saved is much more valuable than when cut after the seed have ripened; the stem and blade has then parted with all the saccharine matter and have become merely straw, hardly worth feeding to stock.

The Vegetable Garden for October.—The moist, rainy weather we have had during the latter part of September and first of October, has afforded fine seasons for all vegetable seed that have been sown up to this time. The rains have also caused quite a rise of young grass and weeds, rendering it necessary to give attention to all vegetables by gently flat-weeding the beds so as to clean the vegetables of the young grass and weeds. Cabbage plants and lettuce, also, should be mulched. Endive may be sowed yet, and do well. Keep the spinach and beets and onions clean and the land gently and frequently stirred and they will come forward and have balls sufficiently large to protect themselves through the winter. Asparagus beds should have attention now, by clearing off the old stalks and mulching the bed with a coating of long manure. It is a favorable time for preparing the land by deep plowing or spading (the latter best), and heavy fertilization, for new beds of asparagus. This is a fine, healthy and most excellent market vegetable.

Turnips and Potatoes.—These are more appropriately field crops, and should be treated as such, but at present we will treat them under this head. The late turnips should be carefully hoed yet, as the grass and weeds from the late rains will overpower the young plants. Sweet potatoes are doing well and will need but little attention as yet, as it is too early to commence gathering. Of this we shall say more in our next number.

ALL ABOUT SPICES.

BY H. F. A. PINCKNEY.

No. 1.

It is surprising how little heed is given to the merits of many of the common articles of food of the civilized world, but especially is this the case in our own country. This heedlessness is not confined to the consumer, but is shared in to nearly an equal extent by many of the dealers themselves. This is caused in a great measure by the apathy of the people, a willingness to remain content with what they have until something of a superior nature is forced, as it were, upon their attention, when for the first time they will begin to enquire or rather study into its qualities, and then wonder why they never knew all this before and how they ever put up with the former trash so long. If the people would only arouse themselves sufficiently to look into the matter and demand what their money calls for, many of the poor adulterated and nearly worthless goods (for which they are paying a price high enough to secure a genuine article) would be either driven from the market or made to tumble to a price commensurate with their true value. To no article so generally used are these remarks more applicable than to spices.

Spices of nearly all kinds are of such a peculiar nature that they will admit of more adulterations when ground than most other goods, and with the least chance of detection, hence the fact that scarcely any of the ground spices sold in this country are really pure. This is no secret amongst the dealers, and even the consumers are aware of it; indeed, there are houses in most large cities that deal exclusively in "spice mixtures," or articles manufactured to adulterate spices. In many instances "ground pepper" consists of one part pepper to four or five parts of some cheap substance. Cloves, cassia, cinnamon, ginger, pimento, nutmegs, etc., are treated more or less the same way. So long as the ground pepper is hot (if enough is used) it is argued one should be satisfied. But give the subject a moment's thought and you will be at a loss to know of what benefit is all the substituted stuff that comes with it. If four-fifths of the so-called pepper is pea dust, or whatever it is, and it is a necessary ingredient, why don't you buy it for pea dust and pay pea dust price, for it comes a deal cheaper; if the latter is not necessary for your seasoning, why not buy the pepper alone (one-fifth of the quantity) and pay pepper prices? Would it not be more satisfactory and far less expensive? So with all spices.

If people were to purchase them crude in this country as they do more generally in England, they would have an opportunity of getting what they called for, although in the latter country the government will permit of no adulteration whatever, unless the ingredients used in its manufacture are specified on the outside of the wrapper. Consequently, as a rule, English goods can be relied upon for quality, purity, uniformity and full weight. Into England, too, is imported a much wider range and finer quality of spices than are used in America; though more recently a much finer and more cultivated class of spices have been introduced here and, no doubt, are destined to come, as they get known, into general use, for although they are a trifle or more expensive, they are of such high flavor and contain so much more essential to their quality that they are really far preferable to and much cheaper than the ordinary kinds. We cannot too forcibly urge upon the people of this country to look into this matter of what they are eating, and through no channel can it be easier to call the attention of the consumers to this important particular than through the retail grocers, for they are the ones who directly supply the people. If they, the grocers, furnish fine and genuine goods to their customers the latter get what their money entitles them to, and then they cannot fail to appreciate them. Indeed in no case has any grocer failed to improve his trade where he has given his customers a good, genuine article at a fair price, and when the customer once uses such he will be satisfied with no other.

Firmly believing in the efficacy of this theory and feeling convinced that the apathy both on the part of the dealers and also consumers is due almost wholly to the want of a better knowledge of the nature and intrinsic merits of these indispensible articles, I propose to use my humble efforts in a series of weekly articles on spices, treating on each spice separately, and giving what general information I have acquired from an extensive travel and experience devoted entirely to the trade, giving in detail the various qualities and grades, and how distinguished, the mode of cultivation, the curing and purchasing for export, style of packages, trade usages, allowances, terms, etc., and their various handling down to the consumers, and should a more familiar and better acquaintance with an article of diet so much used increase the demand for a finer, purer and altogether better grade of spices my object will be attained, and I shall ever feel grateful to the American Grocer as the champion of pure, fine quality, and full weight articles of consumption.—American Grocer.

SAVING SEEDS FOR PLANTING.

As a rule, too little attention is given to the saving of seed for planting, and this shows that the importance of careful selection of seeds, year after year, is not generally appreciated. Much has been written and published upon the subject, but it is one that will bear repeated reference. Notwithstanding the fact that cases are occurring every year, demonstrating the value of good seed, the lesson is, oftener than otherwise, lost upon a majority of those under whose eyes they come. Marked differences are often seen in the same field, where all the conditions are identical except in seed. We recollect a case in point, where the difference in the yield of corn could be traced to no other source. The kind planted over the whole field was the same, but a part of it was obtained by the farmer from a neighbor. The yield of this portion of the crop was much larger and the corn very much better in quality than from a corresponding area anywhere else in the field.

In one case the seed had been carefully selected and saved, while in the other like care and judgment were wanting. It is but a day or two since we noticed in an exchange a statement of the production of two portions of the same field of wheat, both of which were prepared alike, and treated in the same manner with the exception of seed. On one portion clean, plump seed, costing $2 per bushel, was sown, on the other, ordinary wheat was used. The good seed averaged 23½ bushels per acre; the poorer quality but 18¼ bushels per acre.

Marked differences between fields of grain upon lands alike in quality may be seen during the growing season on a day's ride over the country. In searching for an explanation, the true reason is often overlooked, for it resides in the quality of the seed. That there should be so much remissness in this matter is certainly singular, for it is a question of dollars and cents, and generally a man's pocket is about the most sensitive point that can be touched.

Seeds for planting should be gathered as they ripen, and none should be retained for this use except those that are plump and perfect. Nothing is more certain than that the planting of inferior seed will result in loss. If a farmer has no good seed of his own raising, he should, by all means, obtain some from careful cultivators, who guard against mixture and save only the best.

In regard to seed corn, it should be gathered before any heavy frosts occur, and stored in some dry, well-ventilated situation in a barn, granary, or house. The largest and finest ears should be gathered, and there will be no trouble in getting a good stand next year.

The same thing applies to vegetables as to grain. The best should always be selected for seed, and if this policy is followed in farm crops generally there will be far less of failure, and far better returns for the labor expended in cultivation.—Prairie Farmer.

ON PRUNIG GRAPE VINES.

M. B. Bateham, in the Ohio Farmer, says: Presuming that the reader is familiar with the mode of growth and bearing of the grape vine, and having in mind the fact that the fruit is produced only on shoots growing out of the previous year's wood or cane, the alternate system consisted in growing these canes that every alternate one along the main branch or arm should be allowed to bear fruit and then be cut away at the annual pruning, while the next one, having the blossoms removed, is to be cut back to two or three buds, and in its turn become the bearing cane the succeeding year. This method may work very well, for a year or two, with some vines, but it is too much trouble and difficult to be continued, as in a few years the shoots and canes refuse to grow as required.

What is called the spur method in the books, with modifications to suit the growth and habits of different vines, is found the most practicable for vineyard purposes, and for garden trellises; but of course the height of trellis and age of vines has much to do with the mode of pruning. For training on stakes, and sometimes on trellises, what is called the long cane method, with annual renewal of the bearing cane, is practiced by grape growers.

Any person desiring to inform himself on the subject of grape growing should procure and read one of the several practical treatises that have been published on the subject. Mr. Fuller's book is perhaps the cheapest and best—for sale at the Ohio Farmer office, price $1.50. With such reading and a year or two of observation and experiment, any person can learn to prune and cultivate grape vines successfully.

The time for pruning is not at all material, after the leaves come off in autumn and before the sap starts in spring. If the cuttings are wanted for planting, the fall is the better time for pruning; and when done at that season, the cut should be made an inch or two above the bud, to prevent its being injured by drying during winter.

The above item meets our views exactly, and therefore we lay it out before our readers. The fact is, there is no laid down rule, nor can there be one that will apply in all cases. We have grown gray in the cause and are still learning.—Rural World.

NAMES OF PARTS OF A GRAPE VINE.

N. F. Lund, in an address before the Northwestern Wisconsin Agricultural society, thus defines the principal parts of a grape vine: The stock is the main parts of the stem above the root and below where it branches. The stem includes those portions which have ceased to bear shoots and are two years old and over. The arm is a portion of the stem trained in a horizontal position. The cane is a ripened shoot from six to eighteen months old, or until it comes to bear shoots directly from its own bud. The spur is a cane cut short. The shoots are the growth of the current year until the fall of the leaf. The laterals spring only from the buds on shoots, and are simply the shoot reproducing itself from its own buds. The nodes are the joints in the shoots and canes, from which spring leaves, buds, tendrils, or clusters and laterals. The internodes are spaces between the nodes; both these disappear in the stem. The tendril is a twining support. The cluster or bunch is a tendril perfected into fruit. The buds on the shoots occur only at the nodes in the anils of the leaves. They are of two kinds, growing side by side. From one springs the lateral, making its growth the current year; the other remains dormant, perfecting for the growth of the shoot the coming year. There are also the blossom buds, which appear only on the tendrils and the berries. The whole make up the vine. Let it be borne in mind that the vine has not leaf buds and fruit buds distinctly, like the apple, but leaves and fruit comes from the same buds, borne on the shoot, the growth of the present year itself growing from the bud perfected for that purpose the previous year. No part of the vine which has once borne leaf or fruit will bear a second time.—Rural World.

OUR EXCHANGE TABLE.

The American Farmer for October is at hand, with a list of contents varied, interesting and useful, as usual. All branches of farm and garden work have their due space, and no intelligent and progressive farmer in this section should be without the monthly visits of this old farm journal. THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, if left to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWBURN, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTHROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had nothing been a sufferer to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that some other would have the same beneficial effect upon me that the Cordial Balm was going to have upon the disease I had formerly been a slave to. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious effects of the opium—but I could always find help and strength to resist the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm.

Gratefully yours, N. GREGORY.

JOHN M. BRID

GUILD'S SIGNAL.

BY BRET HARTE.

I.

Two low vehicles, quaint and clear,
That was the signal the guilders—
That was the signal that Guild, "its said,
Gave to his wife at Providence—
Have to his wife at Providence—
As through the clouding town, and thence
Out in the night,
On to the light,
It was past the lamps lying white he sped.

II.

Guild's greeting, scant no doubt,
Was to a woman to king out,
Watching and waiting no se emale,
Long song or midnight roundelay,
Such was that one word to say:
"Tems trust true,
S. love to you,
Waiting or waiting, it said, night!" it said,

III.

Rosy young lovers, tourists fine,
Gay roisterers along the line,
Bridegroom and parters glanced ahead,
Seeing the signal, sharp, intense,
Pass on the night the shadow of Providence
"Nothing amiss—
Nothing—it is
Only the calling his wife," they said.

IV.

Summer and winter, the old refrain
Flung o'er the billows of ripening grain,
Pierced through the bending boughs overhead,
Flew past the bark where the red leaves
Lay on the deck,
Lay on the wheels from the engine spurned,
Sang as it flew
"To our trust true,
Good to all Duty—Good-night," it said.

V.

And then one night, it was heard no more,
From Stonington o'er Rhode Island shore;
And the folks in Providence smiled and said,
"They've gone to bed—The engineer
Has one forgotten his midnight cheer."
"Curiously knew—
To his trust true,
Guild lay under his engine—dead.

LOVE'S BELIEF.

I believe if I should die,
And my breast should kiss my eyelids where I lie,
Cold, pearl and numb to all the world contains,
Love would come gladly back along my veins.
I believe if I were dead,
And from its cycle in the Isles of Death,
Love would come gladly back along my veins.

I believe if I were dead,
And the heart within my breast should tread—
Knowing what the poor relief chances to be—
It would set my pulse beneath the touch
Of a hand as cold as such,
And a mouth again, warm, tender, true to thee.

I believe if in my grave,
Pitied by my enemies, and by the waves,
Unto which I drop some warm tears of regret,
Fresh as only need of your deep grief
Could keep pulse leaf,
Some fair spring would keep pulse leaf
Such could not make my love Forget.

I believe I would fain
Into the ruins where light is made,
And, as young men say of you when you're dead,
Love, you are my life to me,
I believe I might
Look through the gates of Night, till thy sight,
Pearly through mists, fell full on me.

I believe if I were thus
Folded in Death's deep calm and perfect peace,
Under the trees and the solemn moon,
Could I but feel that you loved me so much,
I would not wish to see the sun
Rise on a world less lovely than the one
I left when I went to sleep.

Could I but feel that you loved me so much,

THE BEST FARM PAPER.

THE NATIONAL
LIVE - STOCK JOURNAL,
PUBLISHED AT CHICAGO.
Is the leading exponent of the Live Stock interests of the United States and Canada. It is published monthly, on fine, book paper, each number containing from 48 to 64 pages, three columns to a page—furnishing in the course of a year over thirteen hundred columns of matter relating to Live Stock. Each number is elegantly illustrated with portraits of noted specimens of Horses in breeds, and is sent to the mails stitched and trimmed.
The JOURNAL is devoted exclusively to Live Stock, and has separate departments for each kind of Stock, and Veterinary and Dairy matters are spaced to make it practical and complete in every department.
Generally, over half the products of the farm is consumed on the farm, in live stock of the different kinds. If the live stock is of the right kind and judiciously handled, the farm is likely making money. If the stock is not adapted to the farm, or if it is improperly handled, the farm makes little or nothing. It is right here that money is made or lost on the farm, and it's a matter of the greatest importance to every farmer that he have a paper devoted exclusively to the breeding and feeding of Live Stock, in which he is so largely interested. Such a paper should be considered "A Farmer's Business Paper."
TERMS—Single copies, one year, postage paid, $2.00. Clubs of five, postage paid, $1.60; Clubs of ten, with an extra copy to the person making up club of ten, postage prepaid, $16.00.

This place was selected after canvassing the advantages and inducements offered at all the most noted points in the country.
Sixteen members of the faculty, a number of whom have the highest national reputation, both as teachers and authors, and will be increased to twenty five the next academic year.

SEVEN STERN FACTS.

1. It is the cheapest college of like grade in the world.
2. In four specialties it challenges competition.
3. No institution is less slavish or more progressive.
4. It exemplifies that an institution may be very good and very cheap, though contrary to the dog ma of some.
5. It educates males and females, which is natural and right—now so decided by experts, but long ago by common sense.
6. No expense will be spared to secure teachers of the first talent in Europe and America.
7. It is truly a national institute, and the very elite of all sections are solicited to come and form friendships that will so greatly tend to make us in truth a united people, and perpetuate our liberties

The Home College for the North and South. Sectional greatness must be destroyed, or true national patriotism will cease to exist. There is no way so effective as the bringing together the noble youths from all sections, and having at heart the making them devoted friends in college days.
Patriots and philanthropists everywhere are requested to consider and encourage enterprise.
Twenty $1,000 scholarships and one thousand $100 scholarships to be disposed of.
100,000 copies of the next Illustrated Annual Catalogue, containing ninety six pages each, will be issued, thirty-six pages of which are offered to the public as an advertising medium.

NO. 1—SCHOLARSHIPS, MALE AND FEMALE.

Wishing to extend to a great number of students the privilege of attending Neophogen College and enable those in limited circumstances to acquire an education, the managers of Neophogen College have determined to sell one thousand scholarships in this college at the sum of $100 each, and that when one thousand are sold, each purchaser shall forever thereafter have the right to send a student to this college free of all tuition fees. All who wish to avail themselves of the arrangement or aid in the cause are requested to transmit to J. M. Walton, Gallatin, Tenn., a bond for scholarships as follows:
For and in consideration of one Scholarship at Neophogen College, which guarantees to the purchaser forever thereafter the right to send one student to Neophogen College free of all tuition fees, the undersigned promises and binds himself, his heirs, his executors and administrators, to pay to the Treasurer of said College one hundred dollars, to be paid as soon as one thousand Scholarships have been sold, and the undersigned has been notified of same, and the same to bear interest from time to time being given until paid, at six per cent. The right of said Scholarship vests when the one hundred dollars are paid and lasts forever. I hereby bind myself, my heirs, etc., to fulfill this obligation.
As witness my hand and seal this ——— day of ———. [L. S.] ———
Attest: ———
Upon receiving the preceding bond, which will be deposited in one of the National Banks of Gallatin, a receipt will be returned to the purchaser. The right to the Scholarships are transferable, and any one holding the same may send any one to college free of tuition fees. In this way a collegiate education is forever secured to the holder of the scholarship, his descendants or assigns.

NO. 2—FEMALE SCHOLARSHIPS.

$1,000—To Parents and Philanthropists: Ten female students will be received into the family of the President of Neophogen College, a thousand as his children, boarded, clothed, books and stationery furnished, and graduated in a regular collegiate course, for $1,000 each, payable in advance by the first of September, 1875. They must not be under twelve years of age, and able to read and write. The chief inducement in presenting this is to give the President an opportunity to train remarkable characters to the honor of the college, and to enable him to verify his views in regarding the development of youth of medium organization, when full control is given and implicit confidence reposed.

NO. 3—MALE SCHOLARSHIPS, $1,000.

Board and tuition perpetual to one student for $1,000, payable in advance. The holder of a scholarship can introduce one student after another, from time to time, free of charge for board and tuition. There are only twenty of these scholarships for sale.
J. M. WALTON, LL.D., President, Gallatin, Tenn.

MUSIC AT ST. JOHN'S.—Magnificent music may be expected at St. John's church to-day. The new choir is now fully organized. The Te Deum Laudamus will be chanted with great power, and we have no doubt with wonderful effect upon all who admire sacred music.

BY an act of the General Assembly of Alabama, approved on the 19th day of March, 1855, every manager of a theater who sells a ticket must designate a particular seat to be occupied by the purchaser of every ticket. It will be found a very great convenience to theater goers, as a quarrel over seats not unfrequently happens—especially when our theater is crowded.

NEWS.—We have been presented by the champion Newsdealer, R. W. Offutt, with this week's literary papers, including Harper and Frank Leslie. Harper's Weekly has the recent terrible cyclone in the harbor of Galveston, touchingly illustrated. Leslie has also some beautiful illustrations. Don't fail to go to Offutt's news depot, to get your Sunday reading. There you will find everything in the reading line. The STATE JOURNAL of to-day can also be found there.

BUSINESS.—Yesterday was lovely for business, but the fact that all the stores of our Jewish business men were closed, made the principal business streets look a little dull. There were numbers of country wagons in town, some laden with potatoes, some with hay, but the majority were loaded with the great staple. The price of low middlings ruled between 12 and 13 cents. Sales were lighter than for several days. Most of the country wagons returned home loaded with family and plantation supplies. Business for the season has fully opened, and the merchants are all prepared with full stocks.

ATONEMENT.—The services at the Synagogue yesterday were very impressive and peculiarly interesting. Rev. Dr. Jacobs, the respected Rabbi of Kahl Montgomery, officiated, and the congregation was unusually large. This is an event of great importance with our Jewish friends, and they never fail to observe it with becoming reverence. The music by the choir was beautifully rendered. Their organ is one of the best in the city, while the choir is composed of some of the most accomplished musicians in the State. The observance of the day of atonement—YOM KIPPER—ceased at sun-down yesterday evening, after which most of the business houses were opened. The next event of importance with the Israelites is the FEAST OF TABERNACLES, which occurs some weeks hence.

CENSUS.—Mr. H. H. Parker, a worthy young gentleman, who has been engaged in the Probate Judge's office for several years, has recently finished taking the census of persons between the ages of five and twenty-one years, in the city, with the following result:

In Ward No. 1—White males, 139; white females, 124; colored males, 169; colored females, 229. Total in the ward, 658.

In Ward No. 2—White males, 136; white females, 178; colored males, 72; colored females, 136. Total, 522.

In Ward 3—White males, 90; white females, 82; colored males, 45; colored females, 58. Total, 275.

In Ward 4—White males, 180; white females, 164; colored males, 178; colored females, 202. Total, 784.

In Ward 5—White males, 189; white females, 207; colored males, 212; colored females, 347. Total, 955.

In Ward 6—White males, 64; white females, 58; colored males, 46; colored females, 71. Total, 239.

Grand total, 3,433.

District Court criminal cases—Fifth and sixth weeks, and until finished.

THE MINSTRELS.

Duprez & Benedict at the Theater.

To-morrow night the celebrated Duprezs & Benedict's Minstrels will reappear at our theater. Their appearance on Friday night was greeted with an overflowing house, and a better pleased audience has never congregated in Montgomery's temple of amusement. In minstrelsy, the lively and comic side of life is presented, and there are but few of our people who do not occasionally delight in passing away from the sublime to the ridiculous—or rather, from the reality to the shadow. A little fun now and then, it has been very truly said, is relished by the best of men. And we are sure that George Edwards and Sam Price can get up a real enjoyable laugh which no one will be the worse off for having embraced. Frank Dumont can also do his share in making one feel kindly to all mankind.

The Atlanta Herald, referring to the recent appearance of the troupe in that city, says:

The attendance at DeGive's last night, to witness the performance of Duprez & Benedict's Minstrels, was not so good as it was the night before, for on that occasion they had the largest audience that ever assembled in the house. The performance was simply up to the standard of minstrelsy. Sam Price was undoubtedly the funniest man on the stage, while the singing of Mattie was excellent. At the mention of the fact that Frank Dumont was to receive a complimentary benefit on the 27th, there was a round of applause. The performance throughout was simply splendid.

HON. N. S. MCAFEE, United States District Attorney, will leave the city for Huntsville this morning to attend court there. Defendants in cases here, had better take note of the calender of cases elsewhere published, for court here.

WE strolled down to the river yesterday, and found business with merchants and cotton men very brisk. We find that business is working its way towards the river very fast. All the stores on Commerce street are occupied, and warehouses below the lower Artesian Basin are now filled with cotton. We stepped into the office of that clever firm Gilmer & Donaldson, cotton brokers, shippers and warehousemen, and found them busy as bees in a sugar barrel. Their large yard was filled with wagons and drays, loading and unloading cotton, and men storing the bales away in their fire-proof warehouse. They do a large business and certainly are entitled to it, as we learn they are the "pioneers of cheap storage" in this city. They have a free wagon yard, and extend every advantage to planters. They advance money on cotton at a very low rate of interest and store it cheap, and will hold it a long time, so that planters need not sell at the present low prices. They sell ties and bagging very low.

Bleeding from Lungs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption.—A Wonderful Cure.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13, 1874.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I had suffered from Catarrh in an aggravated form for about twelve years, and for several years from Bronchial trouble. Tried many doctors and things with no lasting benefit. In May, '72, becoming nearly worn out with excessive Editorial labors on a paper in New York city, I was attacked with Bronchitis in a severe form, suffering almost a total loss of voice. I returned home here, but had been home only two weeks when I was completely prostrated with Hemorrhage from the Lungs, having four severe bleeding spells within two weeks, and first three inside of nine days. In the September following, I improved sufficiently to be able to be about, though in a very feeble state. My Bronchial trouble remained and the Catarrh was tenfold worse than before. Every effort for relief seemed fruitless. I seemed to be losing ground daily. I continued in this feeble state, raising blood almost daily until about the first of March, '73, when I became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I was extremely skeptical that they would do me good, as I had lost all heart in remedies, and began to look upon medicines and doctors with disgust. However, I obtained one of your circulars, and read it carefully, from which I came to the conclusion that you unedrstood your business, at least. I finally obtained a quantity of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets, and commenced their vigorous use according to directions. To my surprise I soon began to improve. The Discovery and Pellets, in a short time, brought out a severe eruption, which continued for several weeks. I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three months every vestige of the Catarrh was gone, the Bronchitis had nearly disappeared, had no Cough whatever, and I had entirely ceased to raise blood; and, contrary to the expectations of many of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had suffered so much and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for this blessing I have received from your hands knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medicines will master the worst forms of that odious disease Catarrh, as well as Throat and Lung Diseases. I have recommended them to very many and shall ever speak in their praise. Gratefully yours,

WM. H. SPENCER.

OBITUARY.

DIED, at his residence in this city, at half-past two o'clock P. M., on Monday, October 4th, 1875, ALBERT H. GILLETTE, in the sixtieth year of his age.

He was born in Glastenbury, Connecticut, August 27, 1815. He came to Alabama in the fall of 1856. For some time he was engaged in supplying planters with the osage orange hedge, and hundreds of planters remember him as a man of unassuming manners, of strict integrity, and of high personal honor, characteristics which marked his career in life. He became associated in business with Gen. Diaz many years ago, and with him was, for several years, the lessee of the theatre in this city. As a business man he was urbane, honest and liberal. As a citizen, he was progressive and charitable. As a friend, he was of the warmest heart and true as steel. In the home circle he was a devoted husband. The wife of his bosom, his relatives and friends who mourn his loss should remember these lines:

"Weep not for him
Who sinks within the arms of death
Ere yet the chilling wintry breath
Of sorrow o'er him blows.
But weep for them who here remain
The mournful heirs of pain.

The soul too soft its ills to bear,
Has left one mortal hemisphere,
And sought in better world the need
To blameless life by Heaven decreed."

To him the appeal of distress found a listening ear, a moistened eye, and a sympathizing heart

"For may we search before we find
A heart so manly or so kind,
And frequent falls the poor one's tear,
For benefits the world will never bear."

He lived as one who loved his fellow-man, and like the true christian forgave others as he expected to be forgiven. He had been a sufferer for years, and yet bore it with such fortitude and patience that none but his most intimate friends ever knew his sufferings. He was confined to his room some weeks before his death. All that medical skill, devotion of family and care of friends could do was done for him, but in vain: the insatiate archer, Death, had marked him, and when the fatal shaft struck he fell not in the throes of agony, but as one who falls to sleep. He was ready, and closed his eyes on this world with a full hope of a better world beyond the tomb. He seemed to say—

"The world recedes, Heaven opens on my eyes,
My ears with sounds seraphic ring:
Lend, lend your wings! I mount! I fly!
O, death where is thy sting!
O, grave where is thy victory?"

THE GREAT

English Remedy.

The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

Nervous Debility,

However obscure the causes may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact, that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

It is of the highest importance, then, that individuals should be able to judge for themselves by their own feelings, if and to what extent they are attacked by this insidious enemy to health, comfort and even life itself, it lets to run its course unchecked, by the early and prompt application of curative remedies.

NEWBURG, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTHROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no special desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm.

Gratefully yours,
N. GREGORY.

NEWBURG, Nov. 6, 1874.

DR. LOTHROP: Will you have the goodness to send me a further supply of the Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills, as I am nearly out? I have now been taking it about five months, and have every reason to be satisfied with its effects. You know that I commenced taking it with a good deal of doubt about it doing me any good, as I had so long been accustomed to the use of opium. I thought that nothing short of the drug itself could ever satisfy me; or, rather, I had come to the conclusion that I must continue the opium, and my only hope was that your medicine would furnish merely an antidote to its injurious effects. I never for a moment dreamed that the Cordial Balm was going to cure me of the desire for opium. But I believe it will. I have no special desire for it now. When I left it off and began to take the Syricum I felt uneasy for a week or so, but the medicine seemed to stay me up, and after a few days the longing for opium began to grow less and less. Sometimes I felt a sort of delirious weakness and a desire to again realize what I used to call the glorious visions of dreamland—but I could always find help and strength to overcome the temptation by taking a single dose of the Cordial Balm.

Gratefully yours,
N. GREGORY.
